New FOIA policies recommended

lack R. Dyer, University Relations executive director, said investigator Frederick Hess and SIUC have not begun setting the new policies yet. Dyer said Hess will be paid for his help, though a fee has not been set.

In May, SIUC hired Hess to Hess' report contained general proposals for tightening policy on FOIA requests. University officials say more specific recommendations will follow.

Hess declined to comment, citing attorney-client privilege.

The FOIA policy proposals include employee training on preparing, sending and disposing of information, setting up reviews of documents before release, and set-

In his report, Hess said SIUC legal counsel had no policy on how to block the names from legislative tuition-waiver documents requested by the press under FOIA.

The report stated one unnamed SIUC attorney used felt-tipped pers to black out student names before submitting photocopies of the documents to the press. The report stated the press was able to read some of the student names.

The report stated legal counsel on the Edwardsville campus placed a template over the student names before the documents were photocopied. No names were readable.

TWA disaster not pilot error, flying still safe

By Julie Rendleman Daily Egyptian Reporter

Aviation Management and Flight at SIUC has 150 to 200 alumni working at TWA and with the fiery crash of TWA flight 800 Wednesday, night, one University official says flights and training should continue despite suspected termoit activity.

David A. Newmyer, chair for aviation management and flight, said his department is receiving two new internships this fall through TWA, but the official signing of the internships was delayed because of the flight 800 crash.

Newmyer said the internships would not be affected by the delay in signing and TWA would sign in about four weeks.

"I talked to TWA and the time was not right," he said. "TWA is the second-largest employee-owned airline now. They lost over 50 employees."

Newmyer said in July of 1989, Jerry Kennedy, an SIUC aviation management and flight alumnus, was killed in an airline crash in Sioux City, Iowa, due to mechanical problems.

"This incident just brought back those memories," he said. "We have had five to six SIUC alumni hired for TWA within the last year and a half."

TWA has not mentioned an SIUC alumnus being on flight 800 and said the University would have been notified. Newmyer said.

Southern Illinois schools deserve more funding than the level they received this year from the state General Assembly, 115th district Democratic candidate John S. Rendleman III said.

Rendleman, a 1987 graduate of the SIU School of Law, said Sunday at SIUC Lesar Law Building the Illinois legislature didnot address the state's funding disparity in primary and secondary education in its last session.

"One of my first priorities will be to get education funding in line," he said.

State funding accounts for 32 percent of school districts' budgets in Illinois, and the rest comes from local property taxes. Public schools' funding per student can vary between 53,000 and $12,000 in the current system.

The state is not doing its share to make sure all children in Illinois have the same opportunity for education." Rendleman said. State Rep. Mike Bost, R-

State. Rep. Mike. Bost, R-Murphysboro, said the state should begin using income tax to fundeducation, instead of property taxes. He said if income taxes are used, the money will be sent to Springfield and reallocated to school districts according to enrollment.

"We want to make sure Southern Illinois gets its fair share," he said.

Bost said schools in the 115th district received $1.2 million more this year than last.

Sen. Paul Simon; D-III, endorsed Rendleman at the Sunday press conference.

Rendleman beat candidates Karl Maple and Elsie Speck in the March 19 Democratic primary.

MILLIONS DISPLACED, 800 KILLED BY FLOODING BEIJING — Torrential rains and floods have driven millions of Chinese from their homes, killing more than 800 people, cutting roads, rails and power lines, and threatening to breach entbankments along the mighty Yangize River. Hundreds of thousands of Chinese troops and factory workers were deployed along the Yangize to plug holes in the embankments with bags of sand and rice. An official told the Reuter nows service that one person was stationed every 10 feet along the river working to buttress the banks and hold back the flood waters. The Wuhan flood control headquarters said the water levels of the Yangtze in the city were more than a foot above the danger level; the highest in 65 years. Farther south, relief workers were battling to evacuate people in northern Guangxi and Hunan provinces, where the floods were said to be the worst in a century, Relief workers said that waters reached the fourth floors of buildings in the city

Saluki Express may run during intersession

An answer whether or not the Saluki Express will run during SIUC's Aug. 2-13 break should come Tuesday, and both University and city officials say

Thompson Woods spraying should wait until children, students are off campus

THE SPRAYING OF THOMPSON WOODS should be halted because it is placing those who are on campus in danger from the herbicide. The spraying takes place this week while the campus is busy with people finishing their summer semester work or area children attending camps. The herbicide is dangerous for those who come into contact with it. The University should spray two weeks from now when the semester is over when most have left the campus for the break.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the herbicide Roundup that is being used on Thompson Woods has an active ingredient which is the third most common cause of pesticide illness for humans. Some of the effects of being exposed to Roundup are: eye and skin irritation, headaches, nausea and heart palpitations.

EACH SUMMER, SIUC IS HOST TO HUNDREDS of area children who come to the campus to participate in various camps offered. While none of the camps place the children directly in the woods, the children frequently eat lunch outside of the Student Center near the woods and use the pathways in the woods to cross campus. This week and next there are still camps with children on campus. However, by August the camps will have ended and the children will have gone home.

There is little notice that the spraying that is occurring is harmful. No real effort is made to keep people out of the area being sprayed. The only barricades that are set up to notify people to steer clear of the area being sprayed are small signs that are virtually non-existent. People who are not aware that the spraying is going on are not noticing the small warning signs and are walking through the area exposed to the harmful chemical. SIUC officials should not allow the work to continue as long as it places people in danger.

THE WORK NEEDS TO BE DONE ON THE WOODS,

but not when the campus is busy with people who may be exposed to the herbicide. In 1994 Thompson Woods Committee Plan assessed the woods and said it would cost $50,000 to remove dead trees, plant new trees and spray herbicide. An area resident, tired of waiting for SIUC to act, generously offered to spray the woods for free with the herbicide that was donated to SIUC saving the University $4,000.

SIUC has waited some time to work on this problem. In 1984, the woods were sprayed for the same reason: exotic plants killing native plants and trees. The spraying was successful, but only applied once. Instead of maintenance to the woods to stymie the growth of the plants, they waited and now the woods again need a large application of the herbicide. The spraying will help save the woods, in which trees are dying. The trees that are dying occasionally fall on the paths, endangering those who walk on them. The spraying will help save the trees but can also harm those who enjoy them.

THE SPRAYING NEEDS TO STOP IMMEDIATELY to remove threat of harm to those who are on campus. SIUC has waited more than 10 years to work on the problem, they should wait an additional two weeks to spray. Then students and area children at camps are off the campus and away from exposure to the herbicide. The effects of exposure to the herbicide are serious and spraying while there is activity on campus is still placing everyone in harms way. SIUC should be responsible enough to halt the spraying until the summer break.

Commentary

Why I won't vote for Clinton

Los Angeles Times

Over the past three years, I have become increasing-ly distressed by President Clinton's environmental record. While I would certainly expect no better from Bob Dole, I think it is time to examine where we are ng as a movement and as a civilization.

My personal assessment has led me to support Ralph Nader's presidential campaign. Briefly, let me recount the reasons for my disaffection with the president.

His administration is responsible for:

- The passage of the "salvage logging" rider that is causing the destruction of ancient public forests and critical watersheds.
- The signing of the Panama Declaration, which undermines protection for marine mammals including dolphins and whales.
- The continued use of methyl bromide, a highly toxic pesticide known to destroy the Earth's ozone
- The weakening, if not the gutting, of the Endangered Species Act through administrative changes in its rules and regulations.
- The passage of the North American Free Trade Agreement and General, Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, international trade agreements that represent the biggest sellout of American workers in U.S. history and effectively remove environmental protections passed by Congress because any legislation deemed to "restrain free trade" can be declared illegal by interna-tional tribunals dominated by large-scale corporate
- The lowering of grazing fees on public land, despite promises by candidate Clinton to raise those fees. As a result, Clinton is subsidizing the cattle industry while overtaxing people and land.
 - Continuing to subsidize the sugar industry in Florida, which is poisoning the Everglades and diverting large amounts of water needed by wildlife.

- Opening wildlife refuges to hunting and fishing by presidential decrees.
- Weakening the Safe Drinking Water Act by allowing increased levels of lead and arsenic in drinking water supplies.
- Reversing the ban off the production and importa-tion of PCBs (polychlorinated biphenyls), which may cause more than 40,000 fatalities in the Great Lakes
- Increasing our dependence on Middle East oil by breaking the promise to not allow the export of Alaskan

President Clinton has done more to harm the environment and to weaken environmental regulations in three years than presidents Bush and Reagan did in 12

After an interim of reading lips, we have seen the regimes of environmental destruction move from the Great Communicator to the Great Capitulator. Even so, Clinton has tried to "greenwash" his record, claiming to be on the side of the environment.

Having fought for the environment for more than 50 years, I see planet Earth not only as our father and mother but also as our child, demanding our care and nurture. Neither of the major parties comprehends the scriousness of this responsibility.

In response, I am supporting a real alternative in 1996. I have known Ralph Nader for nearly 30 years, and in that time, be has never let me or the environment down. He is properly described as an idealistic if mod-

Nader understands that until we rein in the far-flung empires of multinational corporations and subject them to international sustainable environmental standards, the planet will continue to suffer.

The symptoms experienced by workers exposed to Roundup included eye and skin irritation, headaches, nausea and heart palpitations, Cox

Jason Frenzel, landscape foreman for Hillside Nursery, 1900 W. Sycamore St., applied about 45 gal-lons of a mixture of Roundup and water to the vines. He said the her-bicide is like a growth hormone that causes the plants to grow too fast and then die.

"I see Thompson Woods as need-ing a definite face-lift since it is being taken over from non-native species," Frenzel said.

We are cleaning up to restore the woods how it used to be, or how it should be."

Frenzel said they have placed plastic garbage bags over oak and hickory trees to protect them from the herbicide.

The spray dries up in about ten minutes, and does not cause from to non-plant life forms, Frenzel said.

At the F.C.A. meetings, usually 10 to 20 people attend. Most members are University athletes, but the club is open to anyone interested in

"I recommend the club to anyone seeking knowledge of Christ,' Timberlake said.

Line said members of F.C.A

come to the meetings to explore and expand a relationship with Christ.

A relationship with Christ fuels life as a whole, "Lipe said.

Members also have the chance to discuss hardships they have faced in their lives and how a relationship with Christ helped them through tough times, Lipe said.

"When someone unzips their heart and says, 'This is what I've been through,' that's pay d'ay for me," Lipe said. "It infuses everyone with the courage to go on."

Lipe said during the past two years he has enjoyed watching Timberlake grow as a person.

"The pay-off for me is to watch people's lives transform," Lipe said. Timberlake said F.C.A. has helped him lead a more positive life.

"It opened up my mind and heart Timberlake said. "I love Jesus, and I know Jesus loves me.

Two Olympic veterans talk about discrimination

Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON-Sixty years ago, during Adolf Hitler's showcase Olympics in Berlin, the coaches assembled the U.S. track team and announced that two athletes would be dropped from the 400-meter relay team that day.

A preposterous reason was offered. The American team was the heavy favorite, but the coaches said it had to be strengthened even more because there were rumors that the Germans had some powerful sprinters in hiding. This argument sounded lame and phony, however, for the two runners dropped were the only Jews on the U.S. track team; Marty Glickman and Sam Stoller, Glickman, now 78, told his story at a seminar last week that served as a prelude to a special exhibition at the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum on the 1936 Olympics. The exhibition opened Friday, coinciding with the opening in Atlanta of the 1996 Olympics.

Security unsure how man took gun into Olympics

The Washington Post

ATLANTA - The chief of security for the Atlanta Committee for the Olympic Games said Tuesday the system "did not work as well as it should have" Friday night and that officials may nev night and that officials may never know how a man with a loaded handgun penetrated several layers of checkpoints to enter the Olympic Opening Ceremonies. President Clinton and hundreds of foreign dignitaries attended the event last Friday, but the man was arrested before the president

'I don't think there's any way to determine how he got in because I don't think anybody is going to say they let him in," said ACOG security director William Rathburn. But the vast security Rathburn. But the vast security net for the Olympies, including hundreds of metal detectors, repeated searches and an army of 30,000 law enforcement officials "clearly did not work as well as it should have worked," Rathburn said. "It's supposed to take more than a uniform and a gun to get into a venue."

"Twery team played very well," said Ben Jenkins, president of the SIUC soccer club. "Everybody put their own team together."

All the teams had to battle through diverse weather conditions, including temperatures reaching almost 100 cegrees.

"We had rain, humidity, heat from the sun," Harasimowicz said. "We had it all."

"Victory" won the tournament using talent from the 1990-96 classes at Carbondale Community High School, said Harasimowicz, Some of the team members played high school soccer together, giving the team some extra knowledge of its abilities.
"Victory" represented CCHS

aduates including: Ben Shepard ('90); Scott Coracy ('91); Jason Childers, Nathan Wright and Matt Young ('93); Joe Hickey, Andy Van Awken and Matt Wadiak ('94);

Kylan Harasimowicz, Matt Lawrence and Peter Malone ('95) and from the '96 class, Eli Anderson, Kenny Lacy and Ian Crelling.

None of the teams play sanctioned games over the summer because the lineups are incomplete due to lack of students during the summer. All of the teams competing were made up from students who play recreational soccer during the summer months, Jenkins said.

"We play three games a week," said Jenkins. "We get together with the international teams for fun."

"Victory" received plaques for winning the tournament, provided by the revenue brought in by sponsors of the event, Jenkins said.

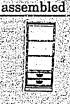

The rest of the money will be used to help the SIUC soccer club in the fall when they hold The 3rd Annual Saluki Invitational, which brings in club teams from Parduc, University of Missouri, Southwest Missouri State, Western Kentucky and Wichita State, Jenkins said. He hopes to bring in 12 teams and more than 150 people to compete in the event.

Carterville catcher goes to Junior Pan Am

By Bruce S. Lorenzana Daily Egyptian Reporter

Not all of the world's best athletes are com peting in Atlanta this summer — many of them are preparing for the Junior Pan Am-baseball championship tournament in Chiba-

Sean "Shotgun" Patrick, a freshman catcher for the Carterville Lions, will be among them as one of the United States' top 15 year-old players to represent Team America.

Patrick, one of only 18 ballplayers selected nationwide, was chosen based on his offensive and defensive ability...

"Shotgun," so named for his put-out per-centage of .800, said it is unlikely that many opposing team members will attempt to steal second base on him - at least not more than

"They usually try my arm once, early in the game," he said. "After I gun it to second, they usually don't attempt too many more steals," Patrick was noticed by John A. Logan base. ball coach Jerry Halstead in little league. Hal-tead had the opportunity to watch Patrick progress through mustang, bronco and pony leagues.

"For his age, he has an outstanding arm. For a young man, and a good athlete, I felt he need-ed to be looked at." Malstead said, explaining Patrick's nomination.

Halstead was a right-handed pitcher for SIUC in1981, when coach Richard "Itchy" Jones led the Salukis in capturing the Missouri Valley Conference title and playing in the NCAA regionals. Jones is also an adviser for

The Pan Am games.

"The Pan Am people told me that they needed a strong calcher for the team this year and I thought Patrick would be very good," Halstead said: "In addition to his arm, he bats the ball."

Patrick, never having batted under 400, said his best year was 1994-95 as a member of his grade school team in Carterville Cubs. He batted third and posted a .568 average, leading the

Patrick will leave Carterville July 26 to spend the night in St. Louis and then fly to Los Angeles on the 27th for two weeks of training with all of the other Team America players. "I'll be staying with a host family for my two weeks in Los Angeles," Patrick said. "That way, we (the team) don't have to worry about getting lost, or finding accommodations.

I think we're supposed to attend a Dodgers and Atlanta Braves game while we're there. "Just in case, I bought a Nomo jersey to wear to the game," he said, referring to the Dodger's Japanese pitcher phenom, Hideo

· He said aside from winning the enampi-onship in grade school, this selection was one of the high points of his life.

"This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity," Patrick said. "With less than a week to go, I'm starting to get excited about it.

"My dad taught me everything I know about baseball, how to catch, bat, and throw."

Patrick said that there is not one specific pitcher than gives him trouble as a batter, but as a catcher, he has a preference.

"I don't like catching pitchers who throw too slow. If they don't have a good fastball, at !zast in the low 80s, the runners can get too much of a jump off first base," he said.

Nearly $4,000 had to be raised for Patrick to attend the annual tournament and he gives a special thanks to the people of Carterville and surrounding communities who contributed toward his goal, he said.

"My mom coordinated most of the fund-raising efforts. She is the main factor in being able to go," he said. "We held car washes, had bucket brigades at the traffic lights, sold raffle tickets, sold food passes from Mary Lou's, sold movie passes that were donated, and sent out letters to a lot of local businesses requesting donations

Altogether, the community efforts raised nearly $2,200 of the money needed for Patrick to be able to attend the games. The rest of the cost covered by is parents and grandparents,

As for the future, Patrick said he would like to go as far as his ability will take him, including be chosen for the 15 — 16 year-old division of the Pan Am games again next year.
