The Daily Egyptian, July 16, 2003

Daily Egyptian Staff
Young people from all around the United States file into SIU Arena before their first session of the Christ in Youth camp, which began Tuesday evening.

Justice information systems to become one Illinois’ plan to be used as a model for nation

Amber Ellis Daily Egyptian

Gov. Rod Blagojevich announced last month a progressive plan to turn the Illinois criminal justice system with the means to electronically share information among state, county and local justice information systems throughout Illinois.

Blagojevich also signed an Executive Order that appointed a 23-member board to implement the plan.

The plan, which was put together by hundreds of criminal justice professionals, could serve to be a model for the nation.

“This has been ongoing since 9/11,” said Chief Justice, Family of the Carbondale Police Department. “This plan stems from concerns over domestic security. While many threats are found externally, it is important to remember that those threats can still happen as your own backdrop.”

“It has been coming for quite some time,” Finney said. “All agencies, both federal and local, need to coordinate their efforts.”

Information being shared throughout the criminal justice system would improve decision-making and the quality of justice, as well as enhance public safety and security. Privacy and confidentiality of the information being shared would also be ensured as long as proper safeguards are used.

“This is just another layer of security for the public,” Finney said. “It’s just something that their local officers know what’s going on in the national level.”

The SIUC Police Department, the Carbondale Police Department and the Jackson County Sheriff’s Department have a computer dispatch system that enables each officer to know what the other two offices are doing.

Sgt. of the SIUC Police Department said that this plan is in expansion of what the Southern Illinois area already has.

“In theory and principle, I think that this is a good project to pursue,” Sigler said. “We are going to do what we can to participate and uphold our end of things.”

“This program is going to make many current and future policies easier to the public.

“In general, anytime there is an exchange of information it benefits all parties involved,” Sigler said. “If the public is informed, then they will be able to make wiser decisions.”

The automated victim notification system, which allows victims to get updates on cases and the days that their incurred will be, is already in place, but Sigler thinks that this new plan will make things more free-flowing.

The first two years of this plan will be paid for by federal grant funds that were put aside for the transition, by the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Systems. What happens after the first two years is still up in the air.

Finney thinks that the plan will continue to be used after its first two years because it would be less effective to discontinue the plan because it is already set up within the infrastructure.

“However, Sigler is not so optimistic,” Finney said. “It’s hard to say what will happen in a few years.”

Approved proposals provide cost, effective results across University

Bertie Taylor Daily Egyptian

In accordance with the beginning of the fiscal year, the Board of Trustees met last Thursday to make key decisions about finances in 2004.

The division of duties following Glenn Poyhardt’s retirement, revamping student health care fees and salary increases proposals were three of the major topics at hand.

The motion to abolish the Vice Chancellor of Administration position officially passed, and two new divisions were established to absorb the workload.

Human Relations and Support, Facilities, and Business Operations are the areas scheduled to fill the vacancy left by Poyhardt. An executive director will head each area.

Catherine Halper, associate vice chancellor for Administration, will be the Executive Director of Facilities and Business Operations. Robert York, director of Labor and Employee Relations, will be the Executive Director of Human Relations and Support.

They will each continue to perform their old responsibilities in addition to the tasks previously managed by Poyhardt’s office. These tasks relate to an assortment of campus functions and facilities including labor and employees relations, plant and service operations, the SIU Arena, human resources and Shryock Auditorium.

In the midst of statewide budget cuts, such restructuring has the dual benefit of helping cut costs and helping administrative processes continue to run smoothly.

“By eliminating this one executive, we will ultimately help us retain more people,” said Holly D’Esposito, chair of the Board of Trustees, also supported the motion.

A large number of individuals had to be in considered in making this decision,” D’Esposito said. “Under the budgetary circumstances, administration agreed that the new appointments should be internal. It was decided that it would be better to increase the republican abilities between the two smaller groups, each under a director.

Poyhardt was very instrumental in the reorganization process.”

The proposal to restructure the Student Medical Benefits, extended care fees also was approved. Starting in the fall of 2004, students enrolled for fall and spring semesters can have medical student insurance for $34.60. This amount covers them for all three terms. In previous years, students not enrolled in summer school had to pay $543 for insurance.

Students will not have to be enrolled in the program to take advantage of the new lower annual rate.

“As a parent, I think this is great,” Davis said.

“We know that there are a lot of people who are worried about their parental medical plans, and having health insurance in place is already very important.”

The salary increase plan for the new year was also approved. Board representatives want to ensure that the language of the resolution would not give too much power to the public the wrong idea.

“Some of our constituency representatives were concerned that the language of the resolution ‘would cause the public to simply say, ‘Hey, they’re getting a raise increase,’ but that is not the way it’s going to work,’ “D’Esposito said.

The resolution simply gives the city the ability to review and vice chancellor to make decisions about salary increases at the individual campuses,” D’Esposito said.

“Does not mean an automatic increase,” Davis said. “Between the cost of the Student Medical Benefits, and the extended care fees, this does not mean that they’re going to make a significant change in the future.”

Sue Davis, director of facilities and business operations, also supported the motion.

“The resolution simply gives the city the ability to review and vice chancellor to make decisions about salary increases at the individual campuses,” D’Esposito said.

“Does not mean an automatic increase,” Davis said. “Between the cost of the Student Medical Benefits, and the extended care fees, this does not mean that they’re going to make a significant change in the future.”
The Thrift Shop

Daily Egyptian
Pick up your DB every Tuesday - Thursday.
On Fridays pick up your False for all your entertainment needs.

NATIONAL NEWS

Bush indicates that U.S. will send troops to Liberia

WASHINGTON - President Bush on Monday gave the strongest indication yet that he intends to send U.S. troops to Liberia as part of the plan to send American forces there, but he said it remained undecided on the timing of the mission and size of the contingent.

After a Oval Office meeting with U.S. Secretary General Kim Allan, Bush said he wanted to help when things were tense in Liberia, but it would be a "difficult decision." He added that the mission would be a "difficult decision." He added that the mission would be a "difficult decision.

The president's actions were the first indication since Tuesday that the United States was considering sending U.S. forces to Liberia, and after Bush's visit, it was reported that the president had not given clear signals on the issue.

"I think we ought to help when things are tense in Liberia," the president said. "This is a difficult decision, but we want to help." The president said he had been "very encouraged" by the results of the meeting with Liberia's leaders.

On Friday, Bush met with Liberia's leaders to discuss the situation in the country. The meeting lasted more than an hour, and afterward, the president said he was "confident" that the U.S. military could help.

"We've been working on this for quite some time," Bush said. "I believe we can help make a difference." He added that the U.S. was considering sending "hundreds" of troops, but he did not specify the exact number.

If the U.S. sends troops to Liberia, it would be the first time the country has used its military forces in Africa. The U.S. has been providing support to Liberia through its military and civilian agencies over the last few years.

"We know it's a difficult decision," Bush said. "But we believe we can help make a difference." He added that the U.S. was considering sending "hundreds" of troops, but he did not specify the exact number.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS

China, N. Korea in nuke talks

Diplomats say China's latest approach is a bid to apply pressure on Pyongyang, the North Korean capital. However, China has insisted on multifaceted talks, while P'yongyang demands direct talks with the United States before any major diplomatic discussion.

China's state-run Xinhua news agency on Tuesday said Chinese Vice Foreign Minister Zhang Jurchen would meet with North Korean officials as well as North Korean leader Kim Jong Il to whom he is supposed to send a message through an intermediary. China's foreign ministry spokesman, referring to the talks between China and North Korea, said the talks were highly significant to the current world situation.

The Chinese delegation is expected to discuss the issue of reunification of the Korean Peninsula. The talks are seen as part of China's efforts to mediate in the Korean Peninsula dispute.

Liberia rebels want U.S. troops

The call from the rebels, who control parts of Liberia and have been fighting under the banner of the United Liberation Movement for West African Freedom (ULMAF), is seen as a bid to get U.S. forces to the region to help them.

"We would like to see an overwhelming presence of American troops on the ground. Whatever that means, it means bringing in U.S. forces," said one rebel leader.

The rebels have been seeking a peace deal with the government of President Charles Taylor, who has been in power since 1990, but the talks have stalled.

"We would like to see an overwhelming presence of American troops on the ground. Whatever that means, it means bringing in U.S. forces," said another rebel leader.

The rebels say they want U.S. forces to help them in their fight against government forces and to help bring about a peaceful resolution to the conflict.

POLICE REPORTS

CARBONDALE

- Garrett Russell, 36, Carbondale, was arrested and charged with failure to pay child support, according to a police report. Russell, who is a resident of the 500 block of 1st Street, was arrested on a warrant issued by the Carbondale Municipal Court.

- Jeffrey L. Frazell, 29, Murphysboro, was arrested and charged with assault after allegedly attacking a victim with a baseball bat.

- James D. Gray, 25, Murphysboro, was arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance after allegedly being found with a small amount of a controlled substance.

BRIEFS

CARBONDALE

- 3-on-3 basketball tournament

The annual 3-on-3 basketball tournament is being held this weekend at the Carbondale Civic Center. The tournament is open to all age groups and skill levels. The final game will be held at 5 p.m. on Sunday.

The Daily Egyptian is the student-run newspaper of SIUC, is committed to being a trusted source of information, commentary and public discourse while holding readers accountable for the issues affecting their lives.
Another GOP hopeful considers Senate bid
Lincoln attorney prepares for race
Vatte Davis Daily Egyptian

Logan County Assistant States Attorney Jonathan Wright last week announced he is exploring running in the Republican U.S. Senate race, though he intends to delay his official decision until Labor Day.

Millionaire John Cox of Northbrook, Andy McKenzie Jr. of Glenview, Dr. Chirinjeev Kathuria of Chicago and entrepreneur Jack Ryan of Wilmotte have already announced their candidacies and have subsequently hit the campaign trail.

Ryan was the first to officially enter the race, though his campaign began in early June.

Wright, said while he believes himself to be the best candidate for the job on the Republican side, he is unsure whether or not he'll be able to raise the capital necessary to run a successful campaign.

Several of his opponents have pledged to throw in millions of dollars of their own money.

Ryan vowed to spend $5 million in the primary race, much of it his own money, and Cox also said a portion of the funds would come from his own bank account.

In early July, Gen. John Boelling of Chicago and James Oberweis, chairman of Oberweis Dairy, of Aurora also announced their intentions to consider bids for the U.S. Senate seat.

Oberweis also said he intends to spend about $4 million on the primary run, while Boelling refrained from comment. McKenzie has raised nearly $500,000 for his campaign so far.

"Fund-raising abilities are really what I'm focusing on right now," Wright said.

"Labor Day is a self-imposed deadline in terms of raising funds and commitments. At this juncture, we will sit down and see if I am a viable candidate financially."

Wright, who in 2001 completed the term of John Turner in the Illinois legislature but did not run for re-election in 2002, is one of the few candidates with more hours in the Illinois legislature.

Though Cox ran for congressional and Senate seat in 2000 and 2002, respectively, he has not been placed in office.

He hopes in third in the primaries in his recent 2002 bid, which places him closer than declared candidates so far.

"At this juncture, working off those that have already declared, I would have the most experience in terms of legislative background and grasp of the issues," Wright said.

"Bring from downtown, I bring a broader perspective of agricultural and domestic issues and being a different face than the others candidates in terms of where I come from and background."

Wright said he does not feel delaying entry until September, giving some candidates a three-month head start on campaigning, will hurt his chances in the GOP race.

Boelling also said he intends to make a decision around Labor Day.

"Labor Day is a critical time," Wright said. "I want to test out the primary."

"I don't subscribe to the notion of television commercials. I don't believe people to follow them in terms of who they vote for. We're setting up a grassroots network. It's the most effective way to campaign. Without us, you must spend a lot of money and still not win a race."

With the primary elections slated for March, Wright said he expects to see a number of potential candidates enter the race on both the Republican and Democratic sides, which he feels is healthy and beneficial.

"The one thing I'm expecting is to expect the unexpected - this is going to be a wide-open, hard-fought primary," Wright said.

"The Republican Party is really struggling to determine itself and which direction the party will go in the next 10 to 15 years."

Reporter Katie Davis can be reached at ktdavis@dailys Egyptian.com

A new study says video games help students socially
Nicole Sack Daily Egyptian

A new study by the Pew Internet & American Life Project examined the impact of video games on the lives of college students found that entertainment medium has virtually none consequences for the student population and is more of a social activity than expected.

The study group consisted of students from four public and private colleges and universities in the continental United States. The study was conducted between March 2002 and October 2002. The results were released July 6.

The findings of the study show that of those surveyed, 70 percent of all college students reported playing video, computer or online games at least once a week.

While some educators have noted a relaxing game of 'Halo' at Duckett's Game Station on the Strip, Duckett's customers are able to play games on nearly any gaming platform they choose.

New study says video games help students socially
Nicole Sack Daily Egyptian

A new study by the Pew Internet & American Life Project examined the impact of video games on the lives of college students found that entertainment medium has virtually none consequences for the student population and is more of a social activity than expected.

The study group consisted of students from four public and private colleges and universities in the continental United States. The study was conducted between March 2002 and October 2002. The results were released July 6.

The findings of the study show that of those surveyed, 70 percent of all college students reported playing video, computer or online games at least once a week.

While some educators have noted a relaxing game of 'Halo' at Duckett's Game Station on the Strip, Duckett's customers are able to play games on nearly any gaming platform they choose.

A new study says video games help students socially
Nicole Sack Daily Egyptian

A new study by the Pew Internet & American Life Project examined the impact of video games on the lives of college students found that entertainment medium has virtually none consequences for the student population and is more of a social activity than expected.

The study group consisted of students from four public and private colleges and universities in the continental United States. The study was conducted between March 2002 and October 2002. The results were released July 6.

The findings of the study show that of those surveyed, 70 percent of all college students reported playing video, computer or online games at least once a week.

While some educators have noted a relaxing game of 'Halo' at Duckett's Game Station on the Strip, Duckett's customers are able to play games on nearly any gaming platform they choose.

A new study says video games help students socially
Nicole Sack Daily Egyptian

A new study by the Pew Internet & American Life Project examined the impact of video games on the lives of college students found that entertainment medium has virtually none consequences for the student population and is more of a social activity than expected.

The study group consisted of students from four public and private colleges and universities in the continental United States. The study was conducted between March 2002 and October 2002. The results were released July 6.

The findings of the study show that of those surveyed, 70 percent of all college students reported playing video, computer or online games at least once a week.

While some educators have noted a relaxing game of 'Halo' at Duckett's Game Station on the Strip, Duckett's customers are able to play games on nearly any gaming platform they choose.

A new study says video games help students socially
Nicole Sack Daily Egyptian

A new study by the Pew Internet & American Life Project examined the impact of video games on the lives of college students found that entertainment medium has virtually none consequences for the student population and is more of a social activity than expected.

The study group consisted of students from four public and private colleges and universities in the continental United States. The study was conducted between March 2002 and October 2002. The results were released July 6.

The findings of the study show that of those surveyed, 70 percent of all college students reported playing video, computer or online games at least once a week.

While some educators have noted a relaxing game of 'Halo' at Duckett's Game Station on the Strip, Duckett's customers are able to play games on nearly any gaming platform they choose.

A new study says video games help students socially
Nicole Sack Daily Egyptian

A new study by the Pew Internet & American Life Project examined the impact of video games on the lives of college students found that entertainment medium has virtually none consequences for the student population and is more of a social activity than expected.

The study group consisted of students from four public and private colleges and universities in the continental United States. The study was conducted between March 2002 and October 2002. The results were released July 6.

The findings of the study show that of those surveyed, 70 percent of all college students reported playing video, computer or online games at least once a week.

While some educators have noted a relaxing game of 'Halo' at Duckett's Game Station on the Strip, Duckett's customers are able to play games on nearly any gaming platform they choose.
Happiness is always before you

As I played Hearts over the weekend on my grandmother's hardwood kitchen table, I often found a somber feeling beneath the utter humiliation of suffering numerous sound defeats. Loss is to be endured, I reasoned. It's not just the player who matters; it's the random distribution of the cards, too.

Last week, I visited a local pub at the invitation of a prodigious young woman who was endowed with soft, brown eyes and a circuitous route outdoors beneath the breezeway. I

Then it's back to note. On special occasions, the instructor will ask the students to reassemble the desks into the shape of a circle.

Oh no, I panic, it's the dreaded circle formation.

I've slowly evolved into a coffee junkie. Each morning, I drive to the nearest place that distributes liquid caffeine for a cup of the black stuff. By the time I wander into the classroom at 7 a.m., I'm sleepy, but wired.

When the professor finally releases us for a short break, after 90 minutes of backbreaking notes, I consider myself lucky to have survived the insurmountable tides of several Power Point presentations.

Armed only with a box of Marlboro cigarettes and usually accompanied by my associate, Mike the Italian, I venture outdoors.

If I take breaks, I usually will walk and stroll on a circuitous route outdoors beneath the Wham breezeway. I walk; I circle and smoke — people must think I'm crazy.

Then it's back to notes. On special occasions, the instructor will ask the students to reassemble the desks into the shape of a circle.

Oh no, I panic! It's the dreaded circle formation.

I've slowly evolved into a coffee junkie. Early each morning, I drive to the nearest place that distributes liquid caffeine for a cup of the black stuff. By the time I wander into the classroom at 7 a.m., I'm sleepy, but wired.

When the professor finally releases us for a short break, after 90 minutes of backbreaking notes, I consider myself lucky to have survived the insurmountable tides of several Power Point presentations.

Armed only with a box of Marlboro cigarettes and usually accompanied by my associate, Mike the Italian, I venture outdoors.

If I take breaks, I usually will walk and stroll on a circuitous route outdoors beneath the Wham breezeway. I walk; I circle and smoke — people must think I'm crazy.

Then it's back to notes. On special occasions, the instructor will ask the students to reassemble the desks into the shape of a circle.

Oh no, I panic! It's the dreaded circle formation.

I've slowly evolved into a coffee junkie. Early each morning, I drive to the nearest place that distributes liquid caffeine for a cup of the black stuff. By the time I wander into the classroom at 7 a.m., I'm sleepy, but wired.

When the professor finally releases us for a short break, after 90 minutes of backbreaking notes, I consider myself lucky to have survived the insurmountable tides of several Power Point presentations.

Armed only with a box of Marlboro cigarettes and usually accompanied by my associate, Mike the Italian, I venture outdoors.

If I take breaks, I usually will walk and stroll on a circuitous route outdoors beneath the Wham breezeway. I walk; I circle and smoke — people must think I'm crazy.

Then it's back to notes. On special occasions, the instructor will ask the students to reassemble the desks into the shape of a circle.

Oh no, I panic! It's the dreaded circle formation.

I've slowly evolved into a coffee junkie. Early each morning, I drive to the nearest place that distributes liquid caffeine for a cup of the black stuff. By the time I wander into the classroom at 7 a.m., I'm sleepy, but wired.

When the professor finally releases us for a short break, after 90 minutes of backbreaking notes, I consider myself lucky to have survived the insurmountable tides of several Power Point presentations.

Armed only with a box of Marlboro cigarettes and usually accompanied by my associate, Mike the Italian, I venture outdoors.

If I take breaks, I usually will walk and stroll on a circuitous route outdoors beneath the Wham breezeway. I walk; I circle and smoke — people must think I'm crazy.

Then it's back to notes. On special occasions, the instructor will ask the students to reassemble the desks into the shape of a circle.
participants in the Christ in Youth conference who sat in the upper bleachers could clearly see and hear Robin Sigars, director of the conference, as he addressed the nearly 2,000 high school students inside the SIU Arena Monday evening.

Youth

Continued from page 1

"It's really a joint effort between a lot of different units on campus," Campbell said. "We've received a great deal of cooperation." Sigars also said that "the program sees a high rate of interest in churches, and that there is a 1:30 ratio of chaperones to students. Chaperones also bring their children sometimes, so there are occasionally younger kids running around as well.

The stuff of about 40 people remains the same throughout the conference. "It's a very hectic three weeks," Campbell said, "but very positive in a lot of ways." Sigars has been the director of conferences for Christ in Youth for the past 13 years and has been involved for 15 years total. As a result, he worked voluntarily and is paid to do his job.

He is from Webb City, Mo., which is close to Christ in Youth's headquarters in Joplin, Mo.

"It's a very intense spiritual week, with a very Christian emphasis," he said.

Campbell to choose from, had some of which are "We're just trying to get them to with..." from a group that specializes in contributing to events like this.

Sigars also said that research on youth groups involved, and each one does a small group meeting in the morning and at night.

"It's going great; very smooth," he said, "The student center is doing a great job in feeding them; people need us well. The kids love it here.

"We're just trying to get them to have a closer walk with God."

This is the second session of Christ in Youth for Carly McNeill, a 16-year-old senior at Greenwood, Ind. "I really like it because it's a different setting from your normal church," she said. "You get to meet a lot of new people and you get to have different teachers who share different perspectives. You get to interact with other kids your age who are all here for the same reason.

Seventeen-year-old Anna Bradley, also from Greenwood, is here for the second time. "I like the worship because people come from all over the country," she said. "It puts you in awe."

"Free time is fun, too," she noted with a laugh. McNeill and Bradley also agreed that they really like Mac Smith, where they are staying for the week.

Joel Greene, a 21-year-old senior at Gray Lakes Christian College in Michigan, is here for representing his school and teaching the high school students classes such as "Bible" and a prayer course called "When Teen Pray."

Original from Tupson Springs, Fla., this is Greene's fifth year attending Christ in Youth and his second year as a leader.

"It's a lot of fun," he said. "Students really get to grow with God and grow together. The program helps them stay strong throughout the school year, and helps them stand up for their faith."

Alex Dayde, a 16-year-old from Newburg, Ind., is attending Christ in Youth for the second time.

"It's like a bass," he said, "You can make it whatever you want it to be. It can be a life-changing experience, or fun with your friends. I found it to be a life-changing experience."

Reporter Liney Maughan

linmaughan@dailyEgyptian.com

Shannon Clute, from Largo, FL, devoted herself to the music of worship presented by the band, Frontline. Band members are all students from Ozark Christian College in Joplin, Mo.

---

FOOD

---

3 FOR 5

---

Schnucks CEREALS

13.2 oz. box-Fruit Fibers 30,
13.75 oz. sun-Cocoa Crunch, 14 oz. Cocoa, 14.5 oz. Honey Wheat, 15 oz. sun-Apple O'cron, Toasted Oats, 16 oz. sun-Corn Flakes or 19 oz. sun-Asian Barn

---

2 FOR 3

---

Schnucks RAVIOLI

40 oz. can-Original or mini

---

Hunt's SNACK PACK PUDDING OR GELS

4 oz. pack-All varieties

---

HUNGRY DOGS

16 oz.-$1.98 or bigger than the bun

---

COFFEE

---

Folgers REG. $3.19-$1.39-$1.39

---

BARBECUE SAUCE

45 oz. bottle-All varieties

---

OPEN 24 HOURS

---

BROWSE YOUR AD ON-LINE! Click & Connect to www.schnucks.com

---

Click ON THE BUTTON BELOW.

---

We accept all major credit cards

---

We accept all major credit cards

---

We accept all major credit cards

---

We accept all major credit cards

---

We accept all major credit cards

---

We accept all major credit cards

---

We accept all major credit cards

---

We accept all major credit cards

---

We accept all major credit cards
Kroger Plus Special...

Six Flags
St. Louis
26.00
SINGLE DAY PASS

Cottonelle
Bath Tissue
SAVINGS UP TO 4.20

16-OZ. FRESH CALIFORNIA Red Ripe Strawberries
SAVINGS UP TO 1.01 EA.

ALL Lean Generation Pork
SAVINGS UP TO 30%

12-Pack Pepsi
SAVINGS UP TO 1.52 EA.

Zesta Saltines
SAVINGS UP TO 1.00 EA.

Seedless Watermelons
SAVINGS UP TO 1.50 LB.

Whole Chicken Breast
SAVINGS UP TO 1.20 LB.

34 OZ. LIT. 7UP DRINKING WATER
SAVINGS UP TO .56 EA.

36-OZ. JUG REGULAR SCENT Clorox Ultra Bleach
SAVINGS UP TO 1.99 EA.

36-OZ. JUG REGULAR SCENT Tide
SAVINGS UP TO 1.50 EA.

DOUBLE COUPONS
Up to 50% Every Day
with Kroger Plus Card

Copyright 2003 Kroger, licensee rights reserved. Items and/or prices subject to change without notice.
Cheeonee Kim, an instructor in the School of Art and Design, was chosen to redesign the glass entrance wall of a police department in Chicago. Her proposal for the project was selected by a committee in 2001, and was funded by an art program in the city. The installation, as seen above, was completed last month.

Cheeonee Kim's work uses formal constructionism—meant to explore color and structure from both the physiological and aesthetic basis," said Joel Feldman, a professor in the School of Art and Design, who has watched Kim's work progress throughout her time at SIUC.

Kim said she does not consider any artist a direct influence and is most influenced by music and the power of color. She cited 20th century color and music and the power of color. She cited 20th century color abstract painter with a very close relationship with certain forms of sound. "I focus on color and how I can create a certain level of emotion," Kim said.

It also has a very close connection with music. My work is influenced by music more than visual aspects. Color represents sound, which is what she is most interested in, she said. "It helps people to recognize the complexity within simple shapes. Sometimes does not have to look complex to show its complexity," Kim's ability and dedication, according to her co-workers, is guaranteed to earn her success this year as well as for years to come.

"It’s an incredible place," Kim said. "Beauty received, Kim’s work has earned her a great deal of praise, including the Outstanding Artist Award, and a place in the SIUC chapter of the honor society of Phi Kappa Phi." Kim's work has grown considerably over the past few years.

"Displaying this type of work in public changes how the world looks and people's perception and vision," Kim said. "It helps people to recognize the complexity within simple shapes. Sometimes does not have to look complex to show its complexity."

"It also has a very close connection with music. My work is influenced by music more than visual aspects. Color represents sound," Kim said. "I focus on color and how I can create a certain level of emotion," Kim said.

"It also has a very close connection with music. My work is influenced by music more than visual aspects. Color represents sound," Kim said. "I focus on color and how I can create a certain level of emotion," Kim said.

"It also has a very close connection with music. My work is influenced by music more than visual aspects. Color represents sound," Kim said. "I focus on color and how I can create a certain level of emotion," Kim said.

"It also has a very close connection with music. My work is influenced by music more than visual aspects. Color represents sound," Kim said. "I focus on color and how I can create a certain level of emotion," Kim said.
NOW RENTING
remal fist at 306
bath, quiet
$525/mo, effiency
house, glass end
NEWRENTALUSTavai1cmtroril.

NOW RENTING
remal fist at 306
bath, quiet
$525/mo, effiency
house, glass end
NEWRENTALUSTavai1cmtroril.

NOW RENTING
remal fist at 306
bath, quiet
$525/mo, effiency
house, glass end
NEWRENTALUSTavai1cmtroril.

NOW RENTING
remal fist at 306
bath, quiet
$525/mo, effiency
house, glass end
NEWRENTALUSTavai1cmtroril.

NOW RENTING
remal fist at 306
bath, quiet
$525/mo, effiency
house, glass end
NEWRENTALUSTavai1cmtroril.

NOW RENTING
remal fist at 306
bath, quiet
$525/mo, effiency
house, glass end
NEWRENTALUSTavai1cmtroril.

NOW RENTING
remal fist at 306
bath, quiet
$525/mo, effiency
house, glass end
NEWRENTALUSTavai1cmtroril.
TWO MILES EAST

TWO BEDROOMS

DSCDISPLAYED, well maintained, 2 bedroom, 2 bath, 1,100 sq ft, air con, heat, storage cage. Must be an owner occupant. $625 mth. 985-7427.

NEAR 12, 2 BDRM, $580+TAX, lawn, pool incl, mgmt & maint. 342-6904.

Hi.

Do you want to live in a beautiful 7000 sq ft home, 6 bedrooms, 4 bathrooms, 3.5 acres, 1000 sq ft facing S and leave a beautiful life?

We are looking for a confidant, outgoing and motivated sales person to join the team.

Skills:
- Marketing
- Customer Service
- Computer software
- Cash Register
- Spreadsheet
- Experience helpful
- Basic accounting skills helpful.

Wages based on commission + mileage, Must be registered, for at least 6 credit hours at SIUC.

Must be registered for summer and fall semesters 2003.

Advertising majors preferred but open to all majors.

So, if you can sell ice to an Eskimo, call Jerry at the Daily Egyptian today! 536-3311 ext: 229

Looking For A Prosperous Future in Advertising Sales?

The Daily Egyptian sales staff is looking for a confident, outgoing and motivated sales person to join the team.

Requirements
- Wages based on commission + mileage.
- Must provife own transportation.
- Must be registered for at least 6 credit hours at SIUC.
- Must be registered for summer and fall semesters 2003.

Advertising majors preferred but open to all majors.

2003 CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING POLICY

Please Be Sure To Check YOUR Classified Advertisement For Errors On The First Day Of Publication

The Daily Egyptian will not be responsible for errors in your classified ad. A callback will be given on the day of expiration. If customer is not at the phone number listed on their account it is the responsibility of the customer to contact the Daily Egyptian for an ad switched.

All classified advertising running with the Daily Egyptian will not be automatically renewed. A callback is required on the day of expiration. If customer is not at the phone number listed on their account it is the responsibility of the customer to contact the Daily Egyptian for an ad switched.

All classified advertising must be processed before 2 p.m. to appear in the next daily publication.

Any advertising after 2 p.m. will go in the following day's publication.

Classified advertising must be paid in advance except for those accounts with established credit. A service charge of $25.00 will be added to the advertiser's invoice for every check that the Daily Egyptian considers to be fraudulent.

Classified advertising will be placed in the classified section of the Daily Egyptian.

Classified advertising will be placed in the classified section of the Daily Egyptian. The Daily Egyptian will not be responsible for any reason it becomes necessary to omit any advertisement.

A sample of all mail-order items must be submitted and approved prior to publication for publication.

No ads will be mailed.

Please make your ad payable to 618-536-3311 Monday-Friday 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. or visit our office in the Communications Building, room 1259.

Advertising only Fax # 618-453-3240
Daily Egyptian

Crossword

ACROSS:
1. Way to foot shuffle
6. Not sicker
9. Game
14. Food under
10. Tat or beaten
16. Bank money
19. Between the
20. Pall
23. Friend
24. A little
26. Church
27. Watch
28. Famed
30. There's lone
32. Central board
34. Insipid
35. Don't make
36. Sing along
37. Don't hold
38. Want what
41. Peace...
42. Give me
43. Highest level
44. French
47. Utter's look
51. Pastoral
53. Farm tending
56. Actress Adoree
62. Actress
63. Numb, sweet
66. Structure's IDs
68. Not eastern
70. B.C. or.
71. Ultimate...

DOWN:
1. shores A
2. End of fable
3. Fries
4. Broad
5. Bad
5. Back
6. One for you
7. Share
8. Thrusts
9. TAUL
10. Tent
11. Thus
12. Pass out
13. Airport
14. Annuity
15. Still
16. Save
17. Crime
18. Jingle
19. See
21. Suburb
22. Unix
24. Numbers
25. 22
26. 22
27. 22
28. 22
29. 22
30. 22
31. 22
32. 22
33. 22
34. 22
35. 22
36. 22
37. 22
38. 22
39. 22
40. 22
41. 22
42. 22
43. 22
44. 22
45. 22
46. 22
47. 22
48. 22
49. 22
50. 22
51. 22
52. 22
53. 22
54. 22
55. 22
56. 22
57. 22
58. 22
59. 22
60. 22
61. 22
62. 22
63. 22
64. 22
65. 22
66. 22
67. 22
68. 22
69. 22
70. 22
71. 22

Solutions:

Daily Horoscope

De Li Lee C. Black

Today (Wednesday, July 16) you should be calm. Find some time to take a special interest in your mate, but don't push for sex. Keep the candle burning, but don't light it.

To get the advantage, check the day's position for the weekend, 0. It's the most challenging.

Aries (March 21-April 19) — Today is a 7. You'll do better in love if you're kind and considerate. You'll be more patient, and you'll get far more done.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) — Today is a 7. Someone from your family is a help, and could provide you with what you need. Use one of them to help you answer the answer you've been seeking. Let them know what you're trying to do.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) — Today is a 6. If you set your position, you can finally go shopping! If you take the time to search for the best deal, the odds are good you'll find it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Today is a 9. Don't worry about a change or a change of plans. You might get your message across more effectively by not saying anything at all.

Lei (July 23-Aug. 23) — Today is a 5. Once you've set up your position, you can finally go shopping! If you take the time to search for the best deal, the odds are good you'll find it.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Today is a 6. A person with an imaginative idea could make a great partner. Work with their ideas even before you're ready with your team. This could be the best time for you.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Today is a 9. Don't worry about what you'll get in return. The push will be worth it. Live your life and you will get what you want.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Today is a 10. A slight financial shortage barely affects your income. You've got plenty of love and plenty of opportunities. Besides, the money is not going to be held.

DEALMANAC

On this Date In History...

1968 - Egyptian Drive-In theatre advertises $1.25 tickets for adults.

1991 - Chicago Bears open training camp.
Judy hectic for college basketball coaches

Pete DiPrimio
Knight Ridder Newspapers

INDIANAPOLIS (KSTP) — They circled through the dress rooms and into the gym at the University of Illinois. They had worked for weeks, months, even years to prepare for this. Now it was time to lay it all on the line.

Juniors Alex Monord, an All-American, and All-American guard David Scarpino, had been the cornerstone of the team's success. Their presence was felt even in the little things, like the way they stood up for each other, the way they related to the fans.

But tonight was different. It was the last game of the season, a game that could mean everything or nothing. The Sabres were in the same boat. They had worked hard for this moment, but now it was time to see if they were ready.

INDEPENDENT • • •

Chicago Bulls

Deji

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

debuting six assists as his Cleveland Cavaliers defeated the Magic's team by 27.

James, who had a double-double of 22 points and 15 rebounds, choked back tears as he talked about the meaning of the win.

"It's the moment I've been waiting for," he said.

In the loss to the Heat summer league team in just his second game, James started 17 points, dished out two assists and grabbed two steals.

The Heat's bench had been told before the game.

"I've never been this excited in my life," said one Heat official.

INDEPENDENT • • •

Chicago Bulls

Cape Cod

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 12

even though he is not old enough to drink.

"I see all kinds of things around them, stock shoes, mallets, all kinds of fun stuff," he said.

He is also a bit of a sprinter, having run the 100-meter dash in high school.

On Monday, James scored a career-high 29 points while grabbing nine rebounds and passing out five assists against Boston in the Celtics' summer league.

However, the Celtics roster featured names like Boston, New York, New Jersey, and even Carlos Boozer and Dikembe Mutombo.

TRIVIA ANSWER: On July 6, 1985, in Chicago's Comiskey Park, Fred Lynn of the American League hit the first All-Star grand slam to win the MVP honors. The NL won 9-1.
Former Saluki Scott returns to his roots

Ravens linebacker Bart Scott comes to SIU to train for 2003 season

Adam Scoebbing

Dail Egyptian

Ravens linebacker Bart Scott, a former Saluki, returned to the town where he starred for three years at the University of Southern Indiana. Scott is now training for the NFL's Baltimore Ravens, with whom he signed in the first round of the 2001 NFL Draft.

"Being back here in Carbondale and SIU is a great feeling," Scott said. "It's like coming home."

Despite not being drafted, Scott signed with the Ravens and is now back again to provide a positive example for the current Saluki players.

"I'm always impressed to coach Kiki and his whole coaching staff because a lot of things were said about me, but they gave me another chance," Scott said.

"I've always been an example to the coaches and the seniors in the team. And now, I'm back here with them, and I want to give back to them."

"When you say the line for me like Kiki did, I'll stick with you forever," Scott said.

For the reason and many more, Scott continues to come back to Carbondale to train and to provide a positive example for the current Saluki players.

"In fact, he can't stay away," Scoebbing said. "So in town during the summer to attend the Ravens training camp, which begins July 28 at McKechnie Field in Carbondale, Ill.

"I have to come back here because it keeps me humble, and it keeps me grounded," Scott said. "Also, I have a lot of people who live here and love to see me."

"I always show up to the matches and try hard to be a great role model for the current Saluki team.

"As a young player, you have to be humble and keep your head down."

"You're just a young player, and you have to really appreciate the opportunity that you're given."}

Newman, Finigan make cut in top summer baseball league

Salukis change teams, but remain in Cape Cod

Ethan Eckerson

Daily Egyptian

SIU baseball players Cory Newman and PJ Finigan have been getting used to unfamiliar faces this summer — playing for different teams.

Newman, a senior outfielder, and Finigan, a junior pitcher/shortstop, began the summer as members of the Yarmouth-Dennis Red Sox of the prestigious Cape Cod League.

But he was given a clean slate when Athletic Director Paul Kruzyk brought in two coaches for the Salukis' banquet and is now back again to provide a positive example for the current Saluki players.

Kill said.

"When you say the line for me like Kiki did, I'll stick with you forever," Scott said.

For the reason and many more, Scott continues to come back to Carbondale to train and to provide a positive example for the current Saluki players.

"In fact, he can't stay away," Scoebbing said. "So in town during the summer to attend the Ravens training camp, which begins July 28 at McKechnie Field in Carbondale, Ill.

"I have to come back here because it keeps me humble, and it keeps me grounded," Scott said. "Also, I have a lot of people who live here and love to see me."

"I always show up to the matches and try hard to be a great role model for the current Saluki team.

"As a young player, you have to be humble and keep your head down."

"You're just a young player, and you have to really appreciate the opportunity that you're given."}

Newman, a senior outfielder, and Finigan, a junior pitcher/shortstop, began the summer as members of the Yarmouth-Dennis Red Sox of the prestigious Cape Cod League.

"I have to come back here because it keeps me humble, and it keeps me grounded," Scott said. "Also, I have a lot of people who live here and love to see me."

"I always show up to the matches and try hard to be a great role model for the current Saluki team.

"As a young player, you have to be humble and keep your head down."

"You're just a young player, and you have to really appreciate the opportunity that you're given."}

Newman, a senior outfielder, and Finigan, a junior pitcher/shortstop, began the summer as members of the Yarmouth-Dennis Red Sox of the prestigious Cape Cod League.

"I have to come back here because it keeps me humble, and it keeps me grounded," Scott said. "Also, I have a lot of people who live here and love to see me."

"I always show up to the matches and try hard to be a great role model for the current Saluki team.

"As a young player, you have to be humble and keep your head down."

"You're just a young player, and you have to really appreciate the opportunity that you're given."}

Newman, a senior outfielder, and Finigan, a junior pitcher/shortstop, began the summer as members of the Yarmouth-Dennis Red Sox of the prestigious Cape Cod League.

"I have to come back here because it keeps me humble, and it keeps me grounded," Scott said. "Also, I have a lot of people who live here and love to see me."

"I always show up to the matches and try hard to be a great role model for the current Saluki team.

"As a young player, you have to be humble and keep your head down."

"You're just a young player, and you have to really appreciate the opportunity that you're given."}

Newman, a senior outfielder, and Finigan, a junior pitcher/shortstop, began the summer as members of the Yarmouth-Dennis Red Sox of the prestigious Cape Cod League.

"I have to come back here because it keeps me humble, and it keeps me grounded," Scott said. "Also, I have a lot of people who live here and love to see me."

"I always show up to the matches and try hard to be a great role model for the current Saluki team.

"As a young player, you have to be humble and keep your head down."

"You're just a young player, and you have to really appreciate the opportunity that you're given."}

Newman, a senior outfielder, and Finigan, a junior pitcher/shortstop, began the summer as members of the Yarmouth-Dennis Red Sox of the prestigious Cape Cod League.

"I have to come back here because it keeps me humble, and it keeps me grounded," Scott said. "Also, I have a lot of people who live here and love to see me."

"I always show up to the matches and try hard to be a great role model for the current Saluki team.

"As a young player, you have to be humble and keep your head down."

"You're just a young player, and you have to really appreciate the opportunity that you're given."}

Newman, a senior outfielder, and Finigan, a junior pitcher/shortstop, began the summer as members of the Yarmouth-Dennis Red Sox of the prestigious Cape Cod League.

"I have to come back here because it keeps me humble, and it keeps me grounded," Scott said. "Also, I have a lot of people who live here and love to see me."

"I always show up to the matches and try hard to be a great role model for the current Saluki team.

"As a young player, you have to be humble and keep your head down."

"You're just a young player, and you have to really appreciate the opportunity that you're given."}