Students To Meet For Leadership Conference Friday

Next Friday and Saturday, June 1 and 2, has been set as the weekend for Southern's first Student Leadership Conference in which members from the various campus organizations will participate. Dr. Robert Strozier, dean of students at the University of Chicago, will be the main speaker, and he will talk on the subject, "The Role of Campus Leadership," on the first day of the conference.

The two day conference will begin with a picnic at Giant City Park on Friday. Transportation will leave the flag pole at 3, 4, and 5 p. m. After the picnic, Dr. Strozier will give his speech which will be followed by an open discussion and question period for students.

SATURDAY'S EVENTS of the conference will begin at 8 a. m. with a coffee hour at the new Student Center on Harwood Ave. From 9 a. m. until noon several workshop periods will be conducted by student leaders in the Student Center.

At 9 a. m. five sectional meetings will be held for students on the following topics — organizational president, the vice-president, the secretary, the treasurer, and the social chairman.

Then at 10 a. m. group discussions will be conducted on departmental clubs, social fraternities and sororities, housing groups, honorary organizations, activity and interest groups, religious organizations, and governmental bodies.

From 11 a. m. until noon, the program will consist of three group meetings titled, "Organizations and Their Relation to the University," "Organizational Responsibilities to Members," and "Inter-organizational Relationships."

1951 Obelisks Are Still Available

"If you haven't picked up your copy of the 1951 Obelisk, you are urged to do so before the end of the spring term," A. B. Mifflin, editor, has warned students at SIU.

The yearbooks which have been available for distribution since May 1, are located at the cashier's cage of the men's gym. A staff member is on hand Monday through Friday from 1 to 3 p. m. to hand out the books.

A FEW BOOKS are located in the office of the journalism building for those who cannot get to the gymnasium at the specified hours.

Those students who were in attendance less than three terms during 1950-51 may get a book by paying $1.50 for each, quarter not in attendance.

The stockpile of Obelisks is rapidly dwindling, and Mifflin has indicated that few books, if any, will be available for outright sale after the end of the spring term.

honor of the event that Nu Epsilon Alpha is going national. A week from Sunday, Pi Kappa Sigma and Delta Sigma Epsilon will hold a joint open house at the Delta Sig house also in honor of NEA.

NU EPSILON ALPHA was founded as a Methodist boy's fraternity in 1941. Because of the war it was temporarily disbanded. Then in 1945 the NEA's reorganized—this time as a social fraternity. Nu Epsilon Alpha has remained in that status since, and has participated annually in Homecoming, Spring Festival Greek Week, and many other university activities.

Sigma Pi national fraternity was founded in 1897 and has continued to grow since that time. It now has fifty five chapters, and a membership of about 12 thousand. Its national publication is the "Emerald," its pin is the Greek cross, its flower is the lavender orchid.

Eight Women Become Members of Pyramid

Eight SIU women students became members of Pyramid, local senior women's honorary society, this week, according to Pat Colligan, president of the organization.

New members are Peggy Beasley, Leah Bradley, Eleanor Cable, JoAnn Eblen, Janet Mayer, Virginia Miller, Dorothy Paterson, and Jeanette Smalley.

At a meeting Monday night, plans were discussed for the coming year, and election of new officers slated for today at 12:30 p. m. in the WAA room of the Women's gym. Mrs. Julia Neely, Dr. Dorothy Davies, and Mrs. W. H. Harlan were present at the meeting as advisers for the group.

MEMBERS OF LAST year's Pyramid included Pat Colligan, Mary Boston, Lean Pantaleo, Paka Nordmeyer, Mary Ellen Dillard, Patte Maneese, and Jackie Davis Holler.

Pyramid, which originated spring term two years ago, has as requirements for membership the qualities of leadership, service, and scholarship. After meeting certain qualifications during a five-year period as a local organization, Pyramid is to petition Mortarboard, national honorary society, for membership.

In the race for Homecoming chairman, Bean won with a total of 338 votes. Running a close second was Jim Kahmann, who received 272 votes. Jim Campbell, a third candidate received 29 votes.

Students elected as sophomore representatives on the Student Council for next year and the number of votes they received are Phyllis Lord, 129; Rose Owen, 136; Jerry Fear, 145; and Bob Dake, 146. The sophomore representatives are all Independents.

Junior candidates who were defeated in the election and the votes they received are Don Bean, 90; Freida Gower, 84; and Guin Neely, 69. Douglas Shepherd, a write-in candidate, received 67 votes.

SENIOR STUDENT Council members for next year are Jack Donahue, who received 83 votes; Dolores Hamp, 82; Jim Parker, 82; and JoAnn Eblen, 82. Donahue and Hamp are Greeks, while Parker and Eblen are ISA members.

Jacque Bittner, 71; Art Menendez, 78; Dorothy Hanagan, 72; and Irving Kaufman, 61; were other senior candidates.

The new Student Council will be installed at a meeting of the old and new councils to be held Tuesday at 4 p. m. in Main 214. Also at that time officers for next year's council will be elected. Both old and new Student Council members should attend this meeting, according to Tom Sloan, president of the retiring council.

Journalism Fraternity Elects New Officers

Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity, elected officers for the coming school year at a dinner meeting at the university cafeteria Tuesday night.

Incoming president of the fraternity will be Virginia Miller; vice-president, Jean Dillman; secretary-treasurer, Jim Kahmann; historian, Willard Dawson. Mary Boston was this year's president.

During the business meeting a report on the recent national Pi Delta Epsilon convention at Blacksburg, Va., was given by members making the trip.

To The Seniors

Looking at the calendar, we find that there is just one more issue of the Egyptian this term (after today's issue), before school is out, and each student goes his own way—on that long vacation, home to work, or perhaps, even to summer school.

A glance at other college papers reveals that the editors are devoting a large portion of their editorial space to lengthy farewells to the graduating senior class, admonishing them to remember this and not to forget that. They say remember the the ivy-covered chapel tower, the stone water-fountain with its sparkling sprays, and various other impressive campus landmarks and characteristics.

So, dear departing seniors at SIU, we likewise charge you to hold deep in your memory certain campus features—the sight of the new training building tower, the water fountains on the third floor of Old Main that never produce at the right time, the Chautauqua street barracks, which are steam chambers in the summer and iceboxes in winter, and the many other facets of life at Southern so dear to our hearts.

"Seriously speaking," (and we quote) we would like to extend congratulations to the seniors for the determination and aggressiveness which has taken them through school, and for their part in the growth and improvement of Southern as a university. Best wishes for future success, seniors. It's been nice having you around.

And don't forget:

Old Sulukis never die . . .

Just Like A Woman . . .

The expression, "That's just like a woman," has been reiterated by males all over the world. And yet, we wonder what would happen if we asked the pertinent question, "Just what is a woman like?"

We don't know. After living for 20 years, and realizing firmly that women are basically different than men, we know little else. However, we have observed a few faults which we believed can be credited to the opposite sex.

When your girl friend stands up, that's just like a woman. When your wife can't seem to agree with anything you say, that's just like a woman. And when your English teacher gives you 200 pages to read over night, that's just like a woman.

In fact, everything unpleasant in this world is just like a woman. But how did the gentle miss acquire such a lovable reputation? Well, believe me, it wasn't easy. Ever since Eve handed Adam the apple, women have been doing naughty things. And one reason women are so unpredictable is because they have left no stone unturned to rouse up the spirit of men. If this can be accomplished only by saying something dumb, by crying, by playing possum, by flirting with other men, by gossiping, or by living recklessly, then that's the way they'll accomplish it.

And so, if women complain because they are referred to as numbskulls, flirts, dumbbells, show-offs and teasers, it's all their own fault, they've brought it upon themselves.

Taking the popularity question into consideration, we maintain that the only reason the female is popular today is because she is the only other sex.

Maybe someday this dazzling, but unpredictable creature will redeem herself in the eyes of the male world. But until that day, her every thought, word, and action will be described by the saying, "That's just like a woman." J. K.

'BLITHE SPIRIT'

Little Theatre Shows Zest in Spring Play

By Mrs. Julia Neely

At one point in Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit," Madame Arcati, the medium, exclaims that instead of throwing up the sponge she should have flung down the gauntlet. This week appreciative audiences have rejoiced that the Little Theatre cast did not throw up the sponge but rather flung themselves into their comedy assignment with the zest that the play demands.

Most of the credit for the success of the "improbable farce" goes to Betty Jeanne McConnell as Madame Arcati. In Miss McConnell the Little Theatre has a comedy talent of a high order. She made Madame Arcati's bizarre combination of mannerisms convulsingly funny. Yet Miss McConnell did much more than merely burlesque the dotty old creature; she made the eccentric medium's professional pride and her pathetic anxiety to please warmly and humanly appealing.

AS THE HARRIED novelist beset by the ghosts of his first wife, and later of his second, Tom Sloan was urbane and competent. He displayed a great deal of skill in his conversations with Elvira, the blithe spirit seen by himself alone. The quarrel with Ruth, his second wife, on the morning after the seance, had a truly comic dash and spirit.

Dorothy Paterson did well in the long and demanding part of Ruth, and Carole Krusen was an extremely decorative Elvira, though not so light and mischievous a one as Noel Coward intended. If these two roles seemed monotonous at times, the blame must be shared by the playwright. Witty and entertaining as Coward undoubtedly is, he occasionally seems repetitious, because he relies upon one situation for perhaps more than can be wrung out of it.

SUE SMITH maintained her British accent in seance and out, an accomplishment shared with no other member of the cast. She made the role of Mrs. Bradman thoroughly delightful. Don Manners brought a sly humor to the part of her skeptical husband. His shrugs and eyebrow-raising were perfect. Carolyn Reed was properly gawky and inept as Edith.

The technical details were smoothly executed, and special effects added appreciably to the evening's enjoyment. This production was able to capitalize on its arena staging; at the seance in the first act, the audience had an eerie sense of actually being in the room and sharing in the occult experience. This was only one of the enjoyable moments in a performance distinguished by many of them.

College Student Induction Orders To Be Postponed

Induction of college students seeking deferment under the new Selective Service student classification plan will be postponed to allow time for the men to furnish their local boards with the necessary evidence of their scholastic standing and their scores on the College Qualification Test, it was announced by Col. Paul G. Armstrong, State Selective Service Director. No student's induction order will be postponed for this purpose, however, beyond August 20, 1951.

Col. Armstrong emphasized that even though a student's present postponement for the academic year calls for his induction on a specific date, he will not be inducted on that date but a new induction order will be issued for a date subsequent to the termination of his postponement granted under the new plan.

It is the individual student's personal responsibility to see that his college or university reports his class standing to his local board, Col. Armstrong stated. The test scores, however, will be sent direct to local boards by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N. J., which conducts the tests for Selective Service.

IT IS MANDATORY for local boards to reopen and consider anew the classification of any student as soon as evidence of his class standing or test score is received, according to Col. Armstrong. If a student should be denied a deferment by his local board, he will have an opportunity to appeal the decision.

Col. Armstrong also announced that all students, high school as well as college who desire to enlist in the branch of service of their choice or find employment in critical occupations in essential defense industry, may have their induction postponed for that purpose for 30 days after the end of the current academic year in June. GRADUATION DAY

It won't be long now before several athletes who have starred here in the field of sports will be leaving Southern to go out and earn a living. We've always made it a point to mention these men in this column as athletes who deserve praise and recognition for their performances. And we don't know of any other year when there was a finer bunch of fellows to say, "so long" to.

IN BASKETBALL, Coach Lynn Holder will be missing the services of one Ernie Bozarth, a basketball player of rare ability, and an incomparable will-to-win. Ernie is the only senior cage man, in fact, the only senior who lettered. And it is fitting that the handsome athlete from Waltonville had his best season this year, his last. He was the spark-plug of the team, a go-getter from the opening whistle, and the outstanding defensive man on the first five.

FOOTBALL will miss Warren Littleford, Chuck Oylar, and Fred Brenzel. The last two are already active in the field of coaching, and Warren will be leaving in June.

Littleford will be remembered as the jolly tackle who was kind off the gridiron, but just as tough in a football game. He was always the biggest man on the field for Southern, and likewise gave a good account of himself. He was always in there trying, and although hampered by injuries, he never liked being out of the game—he wasn't happy unless he was playing.

Big Chuck Oylar was the closest thing to a triple-threat back that Southern had. He excelled in punting, and was a better-than-average passer. While not being too strong as a runner, Chuck was usually good for three or four yards at the line.

Brenzel, whose sharp wise cracks on and off the field always kept the men in stitches, wasn't a Lujack when it came to quarterbacking, but Coach Waller figured that Brenzel was his best bet at the signal-calling slot. He had a knack of calling a play whether it was orthodox or not—at times he threw sequence to the winds, but his plays won a couple of games for the Salukis this year. O! "Mumbles Brenzel" was a card, and he usually had his handful of tricks.

JOE JONES, captain of this year's baseball team, will be leaving SIU in June. And, although Art Menendez will be in school next year, he probably will graduate before baseball season rolls around.

As we see it, these two men have been two of the big stars of the team this year. Jones with his prowess at the plate, and Menendez for his fielding and leadership ability. And too, little Art has been quite a big man with the stick. At the present time, he's hitting around .320, and even better in conference play.

Men like Jones and Menendez don't come around every year, or even every four years. You can't always pick up a first-baseman who can hit .400, nor a shortstop who can take over your team as a playing coach. Without the big bat of Joe Jones and the spirit of Art Menendez, baseball at Southern just won't be the same.

TRACK will lose the great Joe McLafferty, conscientious Ray Palmer, and hard-working Bill Chapman. McLafferty must be given credit for being without a doubt the most diligent trainer, as well as one of the most talented distance runners ever to hit Southern. As a student, as a worker, and as a trackman, Joe has excelled.

Ray Palmer, captain of the 1930 cross-country team, was a wonderful distance runner in his own right. Along with McLafferty and Coleman, Palmer formed the runnin'est track trio in the conference. Palmer held the two-mile record at one time and always gave the winner a fight to the finish.

And little Bill Chapman gave the dashes all he had right down to the wire. Though not a great sprinter, Bill combined hard work, perseverance, and natural ability to gather quite a few points in his track career.

IN TENNIS, Bob Barnhart, co-captain of the present net squad, is the only senior. Bob lettered three years in tennis, and though he never has played No. 1, he won more matches than he lost playing No. 3 and 4 singles. He's been a valuable man to have around.

And so another graduation day will take its toll among the athletes of Southern. These men will leave to take their places as coaches, instructors, and for a time, fighting men. And wherever they go, we know that taking part in athletics at SIU has made better men of them. It's been great knowing these seniors.

St. Louis Nine Does It Again As Salukis Lose, 2-1

St. Louis U. scored their second victory in a week against the Southern Salukis last Tuesday. Again, one run was the decisive margin of victory, as a two run outburst in the seventh inning gave the Bills a 2-1 decision.

"Bub" Burns, southpaw pitcher who doubles as an outfielder, looked impressive in his first start this season. In the eight innings that Burns worked he gave up six hits, struck out seven and walked six. He was charged with both runs. The Bills scored after two were out in the seventh inning.

Three successive singles, plus an error by Schimpf, permitted the two runs to cross the plate. Don Knobbe, Bills' third-baseman and eighth in the batting order, singled in the winning run. Knobbe was a menace to Burns throughout the game, collecting three hits off the little southpaw in as many tries.

The Salukis got just five hits and three walks off St. Louis pitcher Jim Barry. Barry faced 34 Southern batsmen in all, just seven over par for his nine inning stint. The Martinmen bypassed at least four excellent scoring opportunities.

Joe Jones opened the second inning with a double, but remained there as the next three batters failed to get the ball past the infielders. In the sixth, Menendez tripled with one out. Barry struck out Schimpf, then got Valier on a ground ball to retire the side. In the eighth, West batted for Burns and walked with one out. Schmulbach chased him home with the Saluki's only run when he pounded a long triple. But again, the next two batsmen were set down in order, neither one being able to penetrate the ball past the Bills' infield.

Valier opened the ninth with a double, but bided his time on second while Barry dispensed with the next three batsmen to end the game.

"Abe" Martin's revamped batting order moved Art Menendez up to the second spot. Valier to clean-up hitter, and moved Jones to the fifth position. Menendez continued his hitting spree with two for four. The hustling shortstop now has hit safely six times in his last thirteen trips to the plate. Wayne Grandcolas worked the ninth inning, striking out two and getting the third batter on a weak tap to the mound.

Salukis Could Tie For Baseball Championship

By Don Duffy

Southern's hopes for a conference title in baseball will be either realized or thwarted by this evening. The Salukis traveled to Bloomington for a two game series with the Redbirds yesterday and today. A double victory for the Martinmen plus a double victory by Northern, who meet Western in a two game series, will give Southern a first place tie with the Western Leathernecks.

So Long, Joe

McLafferty Runs His Last Mile

By Jim Turpin

The era of one of Southern's finest trackmen is over. By the time you read this, Joe McLafferty will have run his last race for SIU. Whether he won or lost in his final appearance in the maroon and white doesn't matter, because smooth striding Joe won't be forgotten by track lovers of Southern Illinois.

A product of Carbondale itself, McLafferty has long been one of the money runners for Coach "Doc" Lingle. For points at the time when they were needed, it was McLafferty, the little man with the big heart that always came striding down the final straightaway in the lead.

He is the present holder of the school record in the half mile run with a fine mark of 1:59 which was set last year. At the beginning of this year he also had his spikes set as the school's top miler, but teammate Phil Coleman has since bettered that mark. Joe's old mark of 4:30 was topped by some seven seconds. But what records aren't made to be broken?

Everyone will remember Joe's thrilling Turkey Run win and they won't forget his stirring finish in many other long runs. When the pack moves into the last turn Joe may not always be in front, but he is the type of runner that makes fans hold their breath, they are always waiting for that last minute spurt of his that carries him into the tape in front.

Has he slowed down this year? Maybe yes and maybe no. It is true that Larry Taliana has bested him in the half several times and that Coleman has beaten him in the mile. It may be attributed to the fact that Joe, like many other seniors, is getting ready to graduate and that his studies and all the bustle of graduation has taken some of his training time away from him.

* The Leathernecks from Maccomb are now sole possessors of first place in the I. I. A. C. conference. The Western team, which has lost only one conference game thus far, can find itself in a first place tie with the Salukis. This would occur if they lost both ends of their two game series with the Northern Huskies, provided Southern walks off with both games at Normal.

Either Reid Martin or big Tom Millikin was slated to take the mound chores in yesterday's game, with Darrell Thompson ready to go today.

Joe may have won yesterday or he may have lost, he may have set a record or he may have faltered, but some of the things that Joe McLafferty has done at Southern and for Southern won't soon be forgotten.
