Council Determines Reparations Due For Raid Damages

In a special called meeting of the Student Council held Monday, the Council decided that reparations were due from SIU students to those who suffered loss, damages, or injury during the recent campus raid.

Council president, Doug Shepherd, has requested all organized houses to set up boxes in their houses for the collection of clothing that was taken and of money donations. Others who would like to share in damage costs may send donations through the mail to the Student Council.

ALSO IN CONNECTION with the raid, a Board of Inquiry has been established to investigate damages and students' participation in the damages and to investigate bodily harm. The Board of Inquiry has held three meetings to date. Members of the board consist of eight student members and nine faculty members.

According to Clark Davis, acting director of Student Affairs, "It seems necessary to bring the following statements to the attention of the student body."

(1) A STUDENT is responsible to his community and state for his actions and therefore is subject to civil laws for all of his actions as well as to the University rules and regulations.

(2) A student who is a member of a group cannot expect to blame the group for his own misconduct, nor can he expect to escape blame for the misconduct of a group of which he is a voluntary member.

(3) Each man and woman student at Southern Illinois University is expected to conduct himself or herself in a manner becoming an educated person. This implies that conduct will be such as to bring honor and respect to the University.

(4) A student who inflicts bodily harm to another person without cause must be responsible for his actions and should expect to be

Southern All-Stars To Present Jazz Concert Tonight

An 18-piece SIU All-Star band including musicians from 11 Illinois cities will present a concert of modern jazz in Shryock auditorium tonight at 8 p.m. The concert is being sponsored by the Theta Xi fraternity.

Since the All-Stars formed last fall, they have played for numerous dances and college functions. The organization is self-financed by sponsored jobs and donations from band members.

John Small, arranger and pianist for the band, worked as Stan Kenton's arranger several years ago. Gene Stiman, musical director, has played with Benny Goodman's band.

Ray Yancey, who plays the trumpet for the All-Stars, was formerly a member of Ray McKinley's band. Troy Zimmer has played saxophone with Teddy Phillips and Tiny Hill's bands.

Tonight's concert includes several of Stan Kenton's jazz compositions. Robert Resnick, saxophonist and a member of the SIU music department, stated, "At the concert we will play the type of jazz music designed for concert use."

Lila Lee Taylor, SIU student, is the featured vocalist with the All-Stars.

Till We Meet Again

Since this is the last edition of the term, we of the staff will hereby lay our pencils down for a vacation—and we certainly feel in need of one. Of course, on the other hand, we have to admit that it all has been fun and there have been lighter moments in spite of disappointments, errors, and work.

This summer, while we take it easy under a shade tree with a tall glass of lemonade, we will be everything but envious of the summer Egyptian staff members as they slave away in a hot office—but then when fall comes around again, we'll be more than ready to get back into the swing of meeting everyone twice weekly through the pages of the Egyptian.

So here's to a swell summer for all! We'll see you again this fall—that is if everyone makes it through exams. (Funny thing, though, exams have never killed anyone yet!)

But wait! A second thought just reminded us that we wouldn't be seeing everyone this fall. Yes, in a few days, Southern will be turning out another class of graduates into the wide, wide world. To be serious for a moment, we would like to sincerely wish all 1952 graduates the best of luck and success as they take their places in society.

As for the not-so-fortunate underclassmen, we'll see you back in classes come September. The Editors.

Our Dreams Came True

We got our wish! Yes, a large group did turn out for the pep rally held on campus Tuesday of last week. So now we of the staff can truthfully say that Southern hasn't lost all of its spirit as seemed to be the evidence previously.

Perhaps this rally, which was a kick-off for the cheerleading try-outs held Wednesday night, will set a precedent in the spirit shown at pep activities next year. The fourteen lettermen who attended the rally probably know what it feels like not to have a good backing—here's hoping they won't have that feeling anymore. B.V.B.

Medea, played by Dorthy (Bunky) Paterson, speaks to Jason, played by Don Fearseley, in a scene from the play, "Medea," which was presented by the Little Theatre last Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday nights.

Looking Back—

'Medea' Is Over, But It Lives On With The Cast

by Don Fearseley

Shades of Euripedes! The Greeks never had it so good.

I'm referring of course to that delightful experience embodied in the preparation and performance of that most illustrious drama of Greek antiquity, namely — "Medea."

In modern parlance, that means, "We've had it."

The Little Theatre presented the modern version adapted by Jeffers in a three night stand last week.

Most people have the idea that being in a play takes a lot of time. They're right, but before the beautiful butterfly must come the crawling caterpillar. On this analogy hangs a tale.

First phase in the production of "Medea" was sight reading. At this time the cast sat around in a circle and read from the play books. The problem here was to make the Greek characters sound as though they were not from Southern Illinois.

SECOND PHASE was blocking. In contrast to the football connotation, the purpose of blocking is not to take someone out of the play, but to put someone in. Actions are synchronized with words. Lines were supposed to be memorized by this time. Nothing much extraordinary happened at this time, though I did have trouble with my lines. Someone misplaced my book.

Third phase was acting on the platform. These were crowded into the first room in the speech barracks. Now, real acting began. Everyone moved through his part, sitting down on the platform, jumping up. Every member of the cast could not help but take a part of the play with him as he left. The platforms were dusty.

Fourth phase was dress rehearsal. The platforms were moved to the stage. The costumes had arrived. The make-up was applied, hair grayed or dyed, faces lined, eyebrows darkened, skin reddened. This is a very touching job, as make-up girl Virda Sill can tell you.

EVERYTHING WAS in readiness. Sam Hunter was ready with music on the tape recorder. Light men Bill Meininger, Bob Lupella, and Nancy Yost were at their posts. Doc McLeod had five hundred sheets of blank paper to write criticism. Lights dimmed to a weird red, and the play began.

All went smoothly as the plot thickened, until Sue Smith, portraying the "Nurse," was to exit. Upon saying, "I'll go to the palace and seek Aegeus. There is no other hope," Sue hurried out the door. The silence suddenly reverberated with a loud noise. After a startled silence everyone rushed backstage to find Sue flat on the floor. A platform had given away. Luckily Sue was not hurt, but at the moment the "Nurse" needed a nurse.

Everyone managed to remain in a more or less upright position until the final scene between Medea and Jason. Medea, played by Dorthy (Bunky) Paterson, had taken her revenge on Jason by killing their children. In a final burst of triumphant hatred Bunky shouted, "Now I go forth under the eyes of heaven, those weakness despising stars: not me they scorn," and went into her house closing the doors behind her.

JASON MEANWHILE, groped his way up the stairs to bang on the doors. The scene has to be carefully timed so the doors close in his face. This meant that Bunky had to move quickly. In her hurry she stepped off the small platform that was nearly four feet high. Bunky landed on her back and a seven year old child landed on her.

The night before the first performance there was another dress rehearsal. Since all the shoe stores were out of Greek sandals, home made ones were in order. They were contrived from insoles and

For 16 Years—

Senior Graduates With Perfect Slate

Perfect school attendance for 16 years is the record of Martha Jane Lancaster, Harrisburg, who will be graduated June 8, from Southern's College of Education.

For her entire school career, since 1936, Martha has never been tardy, missed a day of school, or cut class.

While a fourth grade student at the Horace Mann school in Harrisburg, she encountered what she considered "a real calamity." Martha underwent minor surgery and faced the probability of missing school for several weeks. However, at her insistence, she was carried into the school room where she patiently sat at her desk until the close of each school day, when her parents called for her.

Martha's Sunday school record is equally perfect. She has not missed a single class in 16 years as a member of the First Methodist churches in Harrisburg and Carbondale.

This fall Martha will teach in the public schools at Park Forest.

black ribbon, but they wouldn't stay on very well. Everyone dressed in the speech barracks and walked costumed to the auditorium. Bare feet on cold rocks is a nightmare you would wake from in a hot sweat. Everyone suffered, but at least no one suffered in silence.

The play is history now, but for the cast it will live on in memory for many a year.

Service Shop building number two, which is being constructed here on campus. The building will house all university trucks and cars, thus acting as a campus garage building.

Construction of Service Shop Number Two Now Underway South of Southern's Campus

by Bob Sergeant

Construction of service shop number 2 of the Southern Illinois University physical plant is hoped to be completed around July, according to W. A. Howe, director of the plant. The new service shop, which is now better than half erected, is located directly northwest of the power plant south of the campus.

Shop number two will be used to house the university trucks and cars as well as equipment which is used by the physical plant.

"The new shop will allow us to give much better service to the schools automotive vehicles," stated Howe. "Whereas now a car will come back from a trip and not be checked over, the new shop will enable us to at least give each car a minor checkover after it has been used. This will save many major repairs which could otherwise result."

The garage will house approximately 25 cars and trucks. Unit number two will be used to park the autos and trucks and the remaining unit will store small tools used by the campus groundsmen. Dimensions of the new shop are 47 feet wide and 262 feet long. Approximate cost of the structure is $182,800.

Begin Plans For 1953 Edition of Obelisk

Members of the 1953 Obelisk staff spent last weekend in Indianapolis, Ind., planning an over-all dummy for next year's Obelisk.

Wyona Smith, editor-in-chief, Betty Seip and Bud Harms, associate editors, Donald Grubb, fiscal sponsor, and Bill Horrell, editorial adviser, made the trip.

For the first time in school history, the 1953 yearbook will contain a 100 per cent representation of faculty pictures.

Next year's Obelisk will set a precedence for 100 per cent faculty representation in every fifth edition of the book. The administrative section will appear each year as usual.

The new book is to contain 160 pages, but the theme has not been officially announced as yet.

Hurons Win IAC Meet, Coleman Wins Twice

Everything went off as expected in the IAC track meet at Ypsilanti last week-end. Michigan Normal's Hurons made the experts look good by running away, literally, with the whole shebang. You didn't have to be an expert to predict that, though. And Phil Coleman of Southern came home as defending champion in the mile and two-mile runs. You didn't have to be an expert to predict that, either.

Michigan Normal finished with 83 6/7 points, 46 points ahead of second place Illinois Normal. Central Michigan finished third with 29 5/14, Southern fourth with 26 6/7, Eastern fifth with 22 5/14, Western in sixth with 17 5/14, and Northern last with 7 1/2.

TWO DAYS of steady rain turned the track into an elongated mud puddle, and dampened the hopes of Coleman and his fans that the precision-like running of the Carbondale senior would set new records in the mile or two-mile, or both.

Despite the muddy track, Coleman knocked off the mile in 4:24.8, and the two-mile in 9:53.5. Conference marks for the events are 4:20.2 and 9:45. Coleman's record for the two-mile, established a week earlier, is 9:40.2. His record in the mile, established the same week-end, is 4:21.

Eleven of the twelve men who accompanied Coach Leland (Doc) Lingle on the trip finished in the money for the Salukis. Jim Massa, the twelfth man, finished sixth in the javelin.

PROBABLY ONE of the biggest individual triumphs of the meet came when Harry Clark of the Saluki squad tied for first in the pole vault. Clark, a Carbondale senior, went through the season squeezing in any practice sessions in the time lapse between the end of his last class and the beginning of his night job with the I. C. railroad. Consequently, he missed several meets, and probably never reached top form all season.

Clark didn't accompany the team to Ypsilanti. His job forced him to catch a last-minute train to the meet. He arrived in time to tie with Scott of Central Michigan for first place with a mark of 11-4.

Golf Squad Takes Fourth, Net Crew Fifth in IAC Meet

Coach Lynn Holder's golf squad, playing in a steady rain, finished in fourth place, one stroke over third place Michigan Normal, in the IAC golf meet at Ypsilanti last week-end.

Western Illinois led the pack, with Northern placing second, Normal fifth, and Central Michigan sixth. Eastern did not enter the meet.

THE SALUKI tennis squad, tutored by Jim Wilkinson, managed to salvage a fifth place tie with Michigan Normal in the IAC meet. Normal placed first, Western second, Eastern third, Northern fourth, and Central Michigan in last place.

Haile and Fly each won one round of singles for the Salukis, and split in two rounds of doubles. Charlie Pisoni, Southern's representative to the NAIB meet at Western this Friday and Saturday, lost out in the first rounds of both doubles and singles.

SIU Nips Menard Penitentiary 6-2

Ray Ripplemeyer pitched the Salukis to a 6-2 victory over the Menard penitentiary team at Chester last Saturday. The big freshman held the Menard bunch to eight hits, the same total collected by the Salukis off of two rival pitchers.

SOUTHERN was able to hunch their hits for two three-run innings. They put together three singles, a walk, and a fielder's choice for three tallies in the third. The Martinnen concluded their scoring in the fifth with three more runs. Again, three singles and a walk accounted for all the scoring.

Menard scored their lone run in the third on three singles and a fielder's choice.

Ripplemeyer gave up three walks and struck out six in gaining the victory. His battery mate, Jack Chor, led the Salukis at the plate with two singles in three trips. All eight of Southern's hits were good for only one base.

DAVISON & ROBERTS FLORISTS

212 E. Main Ph. 1277

LARRY BURNS, Saluki first sacker, gets ready to level off on one in last Tuesday's game against Eastern Illinois. A double victory over the Panthers, 8-5, and 4-1, insured the Salukis of their IAC championship.

Salukis Face Bradley Friday and Saturday

Southern's baseball squad, 1952 champions in the IAC, finishes up the season here this week-end with a two-game series against the Bradley Braves. The Salukis and their Peoria guests will meet for the first time Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. The second game will start at 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

Coach Leo Schrall's Braves boast a 12-6 record for the year, with victories over St. Louis U., champions of the Missouri Valley League, Arkansas, Indiana, Iowa, and Illinois. Earlier this season, they shut out the Illini, 4-0.

COACH GLENN (Abe) Martin's charges will be searching for their 17th and 18th wins in intercollegiate play, as compared to four losses. But the searchers may run into a major obstacle in Bradley's pitching ace, Zack Monroe.

Bradley Coach Leo Schrall rates Monroe "among the finest college pitchers." Schrall isn't alone with his belief. Six major league clubs are reported to be interested in the Bradley junior. The champion New York Yankees are first in line, reportedly waving a $15,000 bonus check under his nose.

SOUTHERN will probably start the two stand-bys, Wayne Grandcolas and Ron Hagler. Grandcolas will be working for his ninth straight win. Hagler climaxed Southern's conference play by hurling a no-hitter against Eastern Illinois last week.

This two-game series will be the last two for Charlie Valier, Pinckneyville senior and third baseman on the varsity for two seasons. Ed Theis, Campbell Hill senior, will also end his baseball career at Southern against the Bradley Braves.
