Israel says it won't free four Shiites

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel signaled Sunday that it would consider a truce with Shiite Moslem militiamen in southern Lebanon, but refused to release four Shiite leaders as a condition for resuming negotiations over troop withdrawals.

Talks on the withdrawal of Israeli troops, who have occupied southern Lebanon since June 1982, opened on Thursday. They were due to resume on Monday, but Lebanese Prime Minister Rashid Karami suspended them after Israel arrested 13 members of the Shiite Amal militia in south Lebanon on the talks' opening day.

The arrests came one day after an Israeli soldier was killed in an attack blamed on the Amal militia. Nine of the 13 men arrested were later released.

Karami said Saturday that Lebanon would not return to the negotiating table until Israel freed the remaining four militiamen, including Mahmoud Fakhri, the Amal commander in the region.

"We are not going to release the prisoners in order to continue the discussions," a senior Israeli official said after a meeting of Prime Minister Shimon Peres' Cabinet.

But the official, speaking on the condition he not be identified, said, "We are not being passive" in trying to resolve the dispute and restart the talks. Other sources said Israeli negotiators were holding discussions with United Nations representatives serving as hosts for the talks at their south Lebanon headquarters in Naqura.

An Israeli Defense Ministry statement indicated that Israel might stop its anti-guerrilla sweeps against Amal if the militia stopped ambushing Israeli soldiers.

"If the Amal organization will be willing to stop the attacks by declaration of intention and deed during the talks, Israel will behave in a similar fashion," the statement said.

Israel blames Amal for most of the almost daily attacks on Israeli troops, and the senior official said the timing of the arrests on the first day of the talks was coincidental.

"There was no connection at all," he said. "As far as we know those people were being sought for a long time and found on that day."

Town cleans up after tornado

By The Associated Press

Work crews using front-end loaders and dump trucks finished clearing wreckage from the central business district of Brownstown Sunday while other crews replanted utility poles in an effort to restore power to the tornado-ravaged community.

A series of twisters, accompanied by strong winds and hail, swept Southern Illinois Friday night destroying more than 12 homes and damaging at least 100 buildings. Gov. James Thompson declared Fayette County a disaster area Saturday.

Eleven people were injured, but only one — Henry Auton, 77, of Brownstown was still in the hospital Sunday. He was listed in fair condition with multiple cuts and bruises, according to a spokeswoman at St. John's Hospital in Springfield.

State officials estimated damage in Fayette County at more than $1 million, while the Red Cross and county officials said it would be close to $1.5 million.

About 300 residents of Brownstown and its rural surrounding area remained without power Sunday. Officials from Illinois Power Co. estimated that about 50 residents might have their lights back on by midnight Monday.

"Illinois Power is working their heads off to get it going," said Brownstown mayor Benny Miller, "but it's not going yet."

The scene in the Brownstown's business district — where seven utility poles were being replaced — resembled a "bowl of spaghetti on the ground" because of the tangle of telephone lines, electrical wires and television cables, said Andrew C. White, district manager for Illinois Power's Vandalia-area office.

Fresh utility crews — brought in from Granite City and Decatur — were concentrating their primary efforts on the downtown area first.

But crews were also at work on a stretch of Illinois Route 40 between Brownstown and Route 185. The roads were closed to non-local traffic to resurrect as many as two dozen utility poles felled by the storm.

An eight-block area in downtown Brownstown was devastated by the storm. The block walls of the town's civic center were torn down by the storm. Its roof was ripped off and sent sailing into a nearby frame house, "cutting it in half," said Eldon Dugan, coordinator for Fayette County-Vandalia Emergency Disaster Services.

Outside of the city limits, Dugan said he saw the roof of a trailer home "hanging way up in a tree... the complete roof wrapped around it like it was a package."

The storm also damaged one or two houses and destroyed two trailer homes about eight miles south of Vandalia, said Elaine Elliot of the Emergency Services and Disaster Agency.

"That there was no fatalities is unbelievable," Dugan said.

Emergency generators were being used to provide electricity to the town grocery and the local sewer plant.

The raw weather — overcast skies and occasional rain with a high of only 37 degrees and winds up through 15 miles per hour Sunday — slowed the progress of work crews, Dugan said.

"This takes it out of those crews much faster than temperatures in the 60s," he said.

Several other twisters touched down Friday night, damaging some farm buildings and homes across the state, but no other injuries were reported.

Baby Fae shows signs of rejecting heart

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (AP) — The month-old infant known as Baby Fae has shown signs of rejecting the baboon's heart transplanted into her chest, but was responding well to treatment, her pediatric cardiologist said Sunday.

"Yes, we have diagnosed an episode of rejection and have already started treating her, and she is showing a good response to treatment," said Dr. Robin Doroshov. She said the baby's condition was "not at all" critical.

Baby Fae, whose identity has been kept secret at her parents' request, received the baboon's heart in an unprecedented operation Oct. 26 at Loma Linda University Medical Center.

Medical center spokeswoman Jayne McGill said Sunday that Baby Fae still was listed in serious but stable condition, as she has since the week following surgery.

"Over the past 48 hours, we have diagnosed an initial brief rejection episode which is showing a favorable response to appropriate anti-rejection treatment," said McGill, reading from a prepared statement. "Baby Fae continues to do well clinically, feeding well, behaving normally and showing normal heart functions."

"As of this morning, Baby Fae showed no new signs of rejection," the statement said. "She shows no signs of infection and antibiotics have been discontinued."

Loma Linda doctors have said they expected episodes of rejection — in which the infant's disease-fighting immune system tries to attack the baboon heart as foreign tissue — but that they hoped to manage such episodes successfully with drugs.

Discovery stalks satellite; crew prepares for mission

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Discovery flew ever closer to the wayward Palapa B2 satellite Sunday as the astronaut crew repaired two sets of spacewalk lights and prepared for history's first attempt to take a satellite back to Earth for repairs. Mission commander Rick Hauck and pilot David Walker, who have been stalking Palapa around the globe since Discovery was launched Thursday, fired a series of rocket bursts to move the shuttle's orbit closer to the satellite. A final series of rocket bursts early Monday should bring Discovery to within 35 feet of Palapa. The shuttle will fly in formation while spacewalking astronauts Dale Gardner and Joe Allen capture the 1,500-pound satellite. The six-hour space walk was set to begin at about 8:20 a.m. EST Monday.

Bishops demand more jobs for unemployed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's Catholic bishops, in a major new effort to influence public policy, demanded on Sunday more jobs for the jobless and a narrowing of "morally unacceptable" gaps between rich and poor. The first draft of the bishops' new economic policy letter raises many of the "fairness issues" that Walter Mondale used during the presidential campaign in an attempt to portray President Reagan's policies as favoring the rich over the poor. However, the letter is not — as some conservative critics had predicted — an outright indictment of American capitalism in the 1980s nor a manifesto for more centralized government planning. Rather, it provides a moral framework for economic decisions, insisting over and over that they be made with more consideration for those too poor, ignorant or discriminated against to defend their own interests.

Oil group warns about energy complacency

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Americans who were turning down their ostas just five years ago have become complacent about saving energy, but oil shortages could develop again before the end of the century, the American Petroleum Institute warned Sunday. Even though the world market appears to be awash in oil, with the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries struggling to avert a price-cutting war, the industry group said demand is rising and imports are up. The warning came in the association's annual report, which was distributed as oil executives began gathering here Sunday for the 6,000-member organization's yearly convention.

Town evacuated after freight train derailment

ALLENTON, N.C. (AP) — About 40 families were evacuated for several hours after 10 cars of a Seaboard freight train derailed at a crossing and a car carrying explosive methanol overturned and burst into flames, officials said. No injuries were reported in the Saturday morning incident. Firefighters had doused the flames and residents were allowed to return to their homes by late afternoon, authorities said. The cause of the derailment, which occurred on a trip from Wilmington to Hamlet, was under investigation, said Seaboard spokesman Mark Sullivan. Tanker cars pumped out the remaining methanol from the derailed car, and workers expected to finish repairs and reopen the line Sunday, Sullivan said.

Federal agents seize truck full of bootleg rum

MIAMI (AP) — Federal agents arrested 12 people and seized 5,000 gallons of bootleg rum, which was camouflaged as a shipment of tropical food and smuggled into the United States from the Dominican Republic. Two Miami men were caught Friday with a rented truck full of little-known "Ron Sibona" rum in non-standard bottles marked with unauthorized labels, said Federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agent Ron Ohlzen. Ten other men were arrested in New York City earlier last week in connection with the bootlegging, Ohlzen said. Import taxes and duties would total about $60,000 on the 5,000-gallon shipment, which had no tax stamps affixed, the agent said.

Breaks in jeopardy in tax system overhaul

WASHINGTON (AP) — American workers pocket an extra $20 billion a year by not having to pay income tax on employer-financed medical insurance — just one of dozens of special benefits in jeopardy as President Reagan and Congress weigh overhauling the federal tax system. The only tax break that Reagan has ruled untouchable is the deduction for interest on home mortgages, which will be worth an estimated $20 billion in 1985. Presumably, every other tax benefit is subject to review although some are considered unlikely targets. That still leaves a long list of tax breaks that could be taken away or reduced, ranging from the credit for contributions to political candidates, to the deduction for medical expenses, to the exclusion for worker compensation, to the extra $1,000 exemption allowed the blind.

Gandhi's son scatters ashes over sacred Ganges River

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — In the final mourning ritual for assassinated Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, her son and successor scattered her ashes Sunday over the eternal ice of a Himalayan glacier she loved.

With the 12-day national period of mourning ending Monday, Rajiv Gandhi then turned to preparations for his first scheduled policy statement Monday night on India's towering problems.

In New Delhi, schools were due to reopen Monday, but thousands of fearful, riot-scarred Sikhs remained in makeshift refugee camps.

Gandhi accompanied by his Italian-born wife, Sonia, and their two children, flew to India's borders in an Indian air force transport plane to disperse his mother's ashes — in accordance with her wishes — over the always near-freezing headwaters of the sacred Ganges River.

Mrs. Gandhi was killed on Oct. 31, purportedly by two Sikh members of her own security detail. Her body was cremated in a traditional Hindu ceremony three days later. Thirty-five brass and copper urns containing her ashes were distributed briefly in the nation's major cities for tearful farewell ceremonies attended by millions of Indians. The urns were then returned to New Delhi, where the ashes were repackaged for the final journey.

Gandhi and two male cousins carried packages of ashes to a gun carriage for a slow procession to Delhi's Palam airport. His face was somber and lined with grief.

An honor guard presented arms and a military band played a lament, "Flowers of the Forest," as the ashes were carried to the transport plane.

Later, the aircraft circled over the 22,000-foot Gangotri glacier, the main source of the Ganges near India's border with Chinese-ruled Tibet. Under a brilliant, deep-blue sky, Gandhi released a woven basket bearing packets of ashes wrapped in scarlet tissue. The wind tore away the tissue, and the ashes floated silently out over the glacier.

The plane then turned north to Amarnath, in the mountains of Kashmir, not far from the 37-year-old cease-fire line with Pakistan. There, Gandhi released the remainder of the ashes, and the plane banked steeply southward for the 450-mile flight back to the capital.

Gandhi was to outline his immediate policy goals Monday night in a nationwide radio and television address, his first political speech since being appointed to succeed his mother four hours after her death.

DUI unit to pay for itself, official says

By John Krukowski
Staff Writer

David Frost, administrative assistant to the Jackson County Sheriff, said Friday that the DUI-Oriented Traffic Safety Unit which is pending approval by the Jackson County Board will be a self-sustaining entity.

Frost, at a press conference at the Jackson County Courthouse, said that reimbursements from the Illinois Department of Transportation and fines collected by the unit would not only pay for the cost of the unit, but amass a profit for the county as well.

Total costs to the Sheriff's Office and associated county costs for the unit in 1985 would be approximately $75,000, ac-ording to figures released by Frost. IDOT would put in nearly $70,000 and fines are expected to be about $83,000. That leaves about $77,000 profit for the county general fund, Frost said.

Frost said he compiled the statistics to show the board that the unit will not place too great of a monetary strain on the county. He said that even he was a bit surprised when he found that the unit will actually make money for the county.

The board is scheduled to vote on whether it will help fund the unit Wednesday.

Jackson County State's Attorney John Clemons attended the press conference and called the DUI Unit "an excellent program" which "goes a long way in dealing with the problem." Clemons said that his office presently works at its maximum possible DUI case load for each attorney.

Sheriff Bill Kilquist, who was not at the press conference because he had been called to an emergency, announced IDOT approval of the DUI Unit in October. The unit's purpose would be to create a public information campaign dealing with drinking and driving, and to increase the Sheriff Office's DUI enforcement capabilities.

The DUI-Oriented Traffic Safety Unit would be the first of its kind in Southern Illinois if it is approved by the board, and would begin operations in April of 1985.

Randy Patchett

Patchett undecided on request for recount

By Ed Foley
Staff Writer

Randy Patchett should know early this week whether he will be going ahead with a full-blown recount of the ballots cast in his apparent loss to Democrat Ken Gray in the race for the 22nd Congressional District seat.

Patchett is waiting for the results of an official "discovery" canvass — required before a recount can begin — of precincts in St. Clair county, where "suspicious allegations" of voting irregularities have been made, he said at a press conference Friday. About 1,100 votes separated the candidates in last week's election.

Patchett said he has received reports of vote fraud almost daily, and that he has experienced a "lack of cooperation" with officials in St. Clair county.

"I have a right and a duty to pursue this discovery," he said. "I think this is why they put it on the statute books. We're committed to finding out everything we can find out."

"I'm not saying there was any criminal wrongdoing involved here. But I am very surprised at the lack of cooperation given to a federal candidate," he said.

Patchett also said that this year's 22nd District cliffhanger could be interpreted as disproving a popular notion about the area.

"I hope this puts to rest the notion that this is a highly Democratic district. Two out of the last three elections have been very close. I think that this is a very viable district."

He said he thought he did "pretty well," considering that half of the counties in the 22nd District went for Democrat Walter Mondale in the presidential race.

"There were probably more (Senator-elect Paul) Simon coattails than Reagan coattails in this district," he said.

Asked about his plans for the future, Patchett said that he would not be ruling out politics.

Patchett said he will take the time following the election to clear up some "distortions" he said were made about his office during the campaign. He also said he hoped that now that the election was over his opponent's charges that he ran a "million dollar campaign" would be refuted by Federal Election Commission campaign reports.

Paul Simon receives a deserved promotion

IT WAS ALMOST A no-lose situation for Illinois voters when deciding who should be the U.S. senator from Illinois. Now that the decision has been made, the people of Illinois certainly look like the winners.

If the past is any indicator of the future, Paul Simon will be a great senator. Simon's record as a state legislator and U.S. congressman, characterized by strong commitment to civil rights and education, will serve him well in the Senate.

It's time that the state has a senator from Southern Illinois. Simon's 60,000 vote victory, which came despite a 600,000 Reagan margin in Illinois, depended heavily on Southern Illinois and Chicago votes, establishing Southern Illinois as a strong entity in Illinois politics.

Simon maintained his integrity in a campaign that had more than its share of negative campaigning. Percy's campaign tactic of criticizing Simon, which Simon either failed or chose not to match, probably worked against Percy in the end.

Simon's victory comes at a time when the Democratic Party needs all the victories it can get. The Republican majority in the Senate is not overwhelming, and Simon vows to battle the Reaganites on cutting domestic spending while increasing the rate of defense spending.

Simon's win over Percy, a popular and respected senator for 18 years, establishes Simon as a man with a future in the Democratic Party.

Simon may not immediately rise to the committee positions of his predecessor. However, given time and experience in the Senate, Simon is likely to rise to the heights of power in the Democratic Party and the Senate with his no-nonsense manner and straightforward style.

A clear message to victorious Gray

THERE WERE NO CRIES of "How sweet it is!" from Ken Gray last week after his narrow victory over Randy Patchett, Williamson County state's attorney, in the race for the 22nd District seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

The victory margin of less than 2,000 votes, in a race in which each candidate claimed about 50 percent of the vote, sent a clear message to Gray that almost as many people don't like his evangelistic style as do appreciate his pork-barrelling and favor-trading style of politics.

Gray's victory was closer than a 50-50 split, considering that Patchett received more votes in 14 of 21 counties in the 22nd District. Gray had to have been a little surprised and a lot humbled, because many people assumed that his race against Patchett would be a cakewalk.

Gray will return to Washington knowing that he will be watched closely by the folks back home. Two years pass quickly, and two respected and popular politicians who lost to Gray in 1984, Patchett and state Sen. Ken Buzbee, are waiting in the wings, possibly for another shot.

The voters' message to Gray was clear: leave the fur coats and diamond rings at home, roll up your sleeves and do a good job.

If Gray is intent on repeating his previous 20-year term, he will have to re-examine his style of politics. Unless it is a new and improved Ken Gray who runs for re-election in 1986, his return to politics could be short-lived.

Infirmiry visit a pleasant surprise

Although the allergic asthmatic reaction I experienced the week of midterms left me practically breathless, the treatment and service I received at the Student Health Center, specifically my weekend episode in the infirmary, was more than just a bag of wind.

I must admit that when my doctor recommended the stay in the infirmary my first impression was a ward full of all the unfortunate students who happened to become ill. So when the nurse showed me a private room equipped with a desk and a lamp, just perfect for my nocturnal concentration, it reassured me that my doctor had my best interests at heart.

Even though I'm not one for checking into these type of places on a regular basis, I still would like to think that I'd recognize a rare bird if I'd chance to come upon one. Well, that's just the category I'd place the quality of service I received during my three-day stay in the infirmary.

Initially, the nursing staff did more than the usual in their attempt to assure that I was comfortable and to get me back to pumping air with little difficulty or concentration. Seldom, to my knowledge, even in some of the best medical facilities in the country, do you receive bedside doctor visits on the weekends. Along with these visits, they took extra care to prevent a relapse, and to educate me about my condition and tell about my progress.

Finally, I was certain that my red-meatless diet would surely pose a problem. However, each of the student workers, whose duties range from changing beds to preparing meals and many other ancillary details, seem to have that unique talent of preparing a tray that would make you forget that you were sick. Needless to say I pigged out. My meals ranged from chicken parmesan with wild rice and mushroom gravy to late Saturday night snacks of homemade chili with cheese and sliced apples on the side and, of course, all the juice you could drink.

Whatever the exact qualifications are to be a part of the health service staff here at SIU-C is unknown to me; however, I'm willing to bet that an employee must possess genuine unrehearsed humanitarian qualities as were displayed by the doctors, nurses, clerks and especially the student workers that I encountered during my visit. You know, when I think about the price they charged me, I realized we've got a good thing going here at SIU-C. Just as one stroke deserves another, to the infirmary, this stroke is for you. — Norvell Carroll, Graduate Student, Rehabilitation Counseling.

Ali Bhutto wrongly identified

This is in response to your student writer's Nov. 2 viewpoint article on the Gandhi shooting. I want to correct the student writer on confused facts regarding Pakistan's ex-Prime Minister Ali Bhutto. He was not the ex-prime minister of Bangladesh. He was not executed by the Bangladesh military who assassinated Mujib-ul-Rahman, prime minister of Bangladesh. Take note dear student writer. — Farah Haider, Senior, Radio and Television.

Rec Center services already cut to minimum

Back in the early 1970s when funds were being appropriated for the Recreation Center, the administrators at this University mandated a "temporary" fee. They claimed once the Recreation Center was built, it would be self-sufficient.

Well, there have been many fee increases since then. Now they want to trim at least 18 hours, cut out intramural officials, slash the aerobic program in half and remove the help in the weight room. Heaven knows what else they are really planning to do.

As a graduate student and the mother of a young child, my time is severely limited. I already have to arrange my schedule around the library's hours now — because the administrators decided people who go to school don't really need to use the library all that much.

Now if the administrators have their way, and we all know they will, we will either be able to study or go to the Recreation Center. My daughter loves to go swimming and it is something as a family we all can enjoy. If they cut aerobics, people will be lining up 45 minutes ahead of time to make sure they get a spot.

Safety will be a factor if they pull the workers from the weight room. And without officials, the best intramural program around will go down the tubes. There has to be a way to save the Recreation Center, maybe if they installed a new entry system to save money. — Peggy Ford, Graduate Student, Rehabilitation.

Cranking 'em out

Hall and Oates concert highlighted their big radio hits

By Ed Foley
Staff Writer

A Concert Review

Besides not playing "Sara Smile," Hall and Oates probably did everything the near-capacity crowd at the Arena wanted them to Saturday night. Cranking out thirteen of their radio hits plus three more off the new album, the pair played a set that the audience cheering with recognition at the lead-in of nearly every song.

If there were any problems with the show, they were minor. It's hard not to think this band, like so many others, wouldn't have had a sax player before the E Street Band made that fashionable; Charlie DeChant was a bit of a fifth wheel for most tunes. Also, the nauseatingly perky John Oates' incessant bouncing around the stage is slightly irritating for the length of an entire show.

But all in all, Hall and Oates is a live act that delivers. They opened with their current single "Out of Touch," and in quick succession threw out "Family Man," "Rich Girl," "Kiss On My List" and "Say It Isn't So," pausing in their Top Ten run-down only for an uninspired reading of "Possession-Obsession." That's from "Big Bam Boom," and featured the nondescript lead vocals of rhythm guitarist Oates. After that show-slower, it really took something to get the duo from Philly back in the ballgame.

"You've Lost That Loving Feeling" was a wise choice to follow "Possession-Obsession." Never a major radio hit for Hall and Oates, it's the undisputed highlight of their live show. They began alone on stage, strumming their guitars under a white spotlight, singing the harmony parts every bit as stirringly as the Righteous Brothers did.

Then, at the song's bridge, all the stage lights came on and the band stepped out, turning the tune into a bonecruncher that a band like AC-DC would have been pleased with.

Many Hall and Oates fans who've never seen the band live may have been surprised at the hard edge the tunes take on-stage. Daryl Hall, smooth and conservative as can be on record — he's got one of the best voices in the business — was supported well by the crack band of unknowns behind the big names. Lead guitarist G.E. Smith did great job of dirtying up the sometimes squeaky-clean Hall and Oates repertoire. Even a tune as danceable as "You Make My Dreams Come True," the one that finally got every single human being in the house on their feet, benefited immensely from a feedback-ridden screamer from Smith's guitar.

"Art of Heartbreak," from H2O, is another tune that took on new life in its live performance. It's a fairly sinister notion they're dealing with, practicing the art of heartbreak, and that comes across really well with the stage bathed in deep reds and the (garishly-dressed) sax player skulking around the drum kit snarling his lines.

Arena patrons got a good return on their $11 or $13 investment Saturday night. It's not every concert people can go to and recognize that many songs, much less know all the words by heart.

Red Skelton brought his own brand of comedy to the Marion Civic Center stage Thursday.

Skelton's show clean, funny

By John Dyslin
Staff Writer

Comedian Red Skelton gave a performance at the Marion Civic Center Thursday night that had more life and energy than what most of today's young comedians give in their performances. Skelton is more than a comedian on stage, he's also an actor.

Watching Skelton perform on stage is like watching a child get attention in front of a group of adults. Nothing makes Skelton happier than seeing an audience having a good time, and the audience clearly enjoyed Skelton's comedic abilities. His jokes covered a wide range of topics, with no one or nothing escaping his brand of wit and humor.

But Skelton kept his jokes free from foul language and derogatory comments. At the end of the show Skelton said it was nice to see an audience have such a good time and laugh without the use of four-letter words. He said that people should not have to pay money at the box office to hear words that they can read on the public bathroom walls — and the audience seemed to agree.

More than half of the show was pantomimes by Skelton. He mimed a drunk, a couple visiting the Eiffel Tower, and a little, old man playing golf, taking care of a squeaky door and teaching his grandson to play baseball. Skelton also did three of his more famous acts — Klim Kadiddlehopper, seagulls Gertrude and Heathcliff, and the Guzzler's Gin Man. He finished the show with his impersonation of Michael Jackson.

The more the audience got into the show, the more energy Skelton put into it. Despite having a cold, he gave his all. For two hours Skelton joked and delivered his brand of slapstick comedy. His 61 years in show business paid off for Skelton as he knew how to get as much from an audience as possible.

Skelton shows his love for the audience by mingling and having a rapport with the people. At one point when a woman neared the stage to take his picture, Skelton invited her and her husband to stand next to the stage and asked someone in the first row take the picture. People appreciate attention like this from performers and it is part of the reason Skelton has been around as long as he has — he earns the respect of his audiences.

Skelton is one of this country's greatest comedians, but he is a more than a comedian, he is a clown. He laughs at many of his own jokes. Skelton says people are all childlike, and he is like a child on stage and the audience is like a group of children having a good time. Skelton brought lasting memories to the people of all ages who saw his performance.

Media overplayed the polls, prof says

By Justus Weathersby
Staff Writer

With the election over, news coverage of candidates has subsided and an abrupt halt has come to the battery of commercials and polling. However, political analysts say the performance of the mass media during the election process should not go unchecked.

John Jackson, professor in political science, said the media manipulated the masses with pre-election hyperbole.

"We can lay to rest the idea that the polls were wrong," Jackson said. "They were correct and have been since the 1948 elections. But the media vastly overplayed the polls. We can't outlaw polling, because freedom of speech and the press is covered by the first amendment, but we can downplay its significance a bit."

Jackson said the media should concentrate more on the goals of the nominees and "get out of the horse race aspect" of political campaigns.

Walter Mondale and Ronald Reagan organized their campaigns around different themes and it was Reagan's for which the public voted.

"Reagan is a consummate master of the mass media, especially on TV. He's very good at putting forth simple-minded themes that people generally like," Jackson said.

He said imagery and personality are nine-tenths of a candidate's battle for office.

"Mondale ran an issues-oriented campaign and the American people didn't buy it," he said. "People were warmed to the image of Reagan, not Mondale. Mondale didn't even break into their thinking."

Jackson said the only time Mondale held the public's attention was after the first debate, when the people began "wondering if Reagan could stay awake for the next four years."

In the second debate, however, people were reassured that Reagan knew what he was doing.

David Derge, professor in political science, said the masses knew exactly what they were doing and the media "grossly overestimate the control they have on people."

"The people evaluated the president's performance in office, compared that evaluation to what they felt Mondale would do and clearly preferred Reagan," Derge said.

He said that "in general, the media have been hostile" toward the president.

"A study was done which showed news editors, writers and columnists to be quite liberal and democratic. As a consequence, these people tend to be hostile toward Reagan," he said.

Derge said the president "was successful in spite of the media."

The media are "out to catch somebody in a terrible mistake," Derge said. Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein's Watergate and former president Gerald Ford's stumbling are characteristic of the "destructive instincts" of the media, he said.

"They tried to make him look like a wounded president, tired, sick, likely to die. They tried to create the age issue," Derge said.

Jackson said that Reagan's victory was "a triumph of symbolism" in a simple-minded campaign.

"Balloons, flags, the whole bit," he said. "They made it appear that if you're opposed to Reagan, you're against patriotism and the country, weak-kneed, against The Bear, and your manhood was in question."

"Sixty percent of the American people like Ronald Reagan. They were bamboozled by him and the mass media," Jackson said.

Derge said that regardless of who the opposing presidential candidate was, it would have made little difference in the outcome of the election.

Jackson said that, to make the country appear to be in unanimity, "the White House planned from day one and orchestrated rallies with concert music and the American people loved it."

Writer's club helps aspiring free-lance writers

By Cathy Brown
Staff Writer

The life of a free-lance writer can be very rewarding, but it can also be lonely and frustrating. But Southern Illinoisans who want to write can find advice and friends in the Writers Club of Southern Illinois.

Sharon Anthony, chairwoman of the club, said people who join can benefit by learning more about writing and getting published, meeting and socializing with other writers and possibly getting motivated.

"We have a wide interest level," Anthony said. The club's 36 members range from students to people in their 70s. Some are professional writers trying to break in, while others are writing just for their own pleasure.

At most of their monthly meetings, there are guest speakers who may talk about anything from photography to word processors to researching and interviewing.

The club was started about a year ago by Murphysboro free-lance writer Bill Atkinson, who knows well the ups and downs of free-lance writing. Eight years ago, Atkinson quit his job as a personnel director and settled down in front of a typewriter in his basement.

Since that time he has built up a $25,000 a year free-lance writing business. But it wasn't always easy. "For the first three years basically I just floundered," he said.

"I could not get motivated and I didn't understand the business aspect." One big mistake many writers make, he said, is that "They fail to ask if anyone else is interested (in what they're writing.)"

If no one else is interested, he said, "You can write 'till the day you die and you'll never make any money at it." Writers should write about things that both they and the public are interested in, he said.

Since forming the Writers Club, Atkinson said, he has discovered that many would-be writers really don't like writing. "A lot of people are kind of in love with the dream of writing. Less than 1 percent are in love with the work."

He said a sub-group of about six of the more serious members of the club has begun meeting every two weeks, where they set specific goals for themselves, give progress reports, and talk about specific problems they encounter.

His advice to aspiring writers is to ask themselves if writing is what they really want to do, and if it is, to look at writing in a businesslike, logical way and be persistent.

The Writers Club meets the last Wednesday of each month at Morrison's Cafeteria at the University Mall in Carbondale. Dues are $5 a year to cover the costs of a newsletter. Interested people can call Atkinson at 684-3571 or Anthony at 529-1660.

1984 Fall Semester Final Examination Schedule Information

The examination schedule attempts to avoid examination conflicts by providing separate examination periods for Tuesday-Thursday lecture classes. Other information about final examinations is listed below:

1. The class final exam period is scheduled based on the meeting time and days configuration listed on the first line of the class entry in the Schedule of Classes book (which should be the same as the first printed line for the section on the registered student's schedule print-out). For example, a class section is listed in the Schedule book on two lines in the manner:

08:00 T TH
09:00 - 10:50 W

The listed starting time for the first line of entry is "8:00". The meeting days of that first line are "T TH", and therefore are in the category "Only T or TH or T TH". The Exam Date and Period is by the attached Fall 1984 Final Examination Schedule to be Fri., Dec. 14, at 12:50-2:50 p.m.

2. Classes should plan to hold their final examination in their regularly scheduled class rooms. The space scheduling section of the Office of Admissions and Records will forward to departments information relative to the location for examinations for those classes that cannot hold examinations in their regularly scheduled rooms because of a space conflict. This will be done sufficiently in advance of the final examination days to provide sufficient notice for all.

3. Students who find they have more than three examinations on one day may petition, and students who have two examinations scheduled at one time should petition their academic dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that students may decide to miss the scheduled examination time and expect to make it up during this make-up period. This period is to be used only for students whose petitions have been approved by their dean.

4. Students who must miss a final examination may not take an examination before the time scheduled for the class examination. Information relative to the proper grade to be given students who miss a final examination and are not involved in a situation covered in the preceding paragraph will be found in the mimeographed memorandum forwarded to members of the instructional staff at the time they receive the final grade listing for the recording of grades.

Women harriers finish eighth in NCAA regional

By Steve Koulos
Staff Writer

The Saluki women's cross country team ended its season by finishing eighth out of nine teams Saturday at the NCAA Region 5 Championships in Springfield, Mo.

"Our athletes ran their best

... races of the season with the exception of (Lisa) Hicks," SIUC Coach Lon DeNoon said. "When we arrived and I saw the conditions, I just wanted them to run hard and competitively."

Weather conditions at the race was a 37-degree temperature, 30 mph winds and light snow. DeNoon said the weather conditions didn't play a factor in slowing down the times because of the quality of the competition.

Andrea Fischer of Missouri won the 5,000-meter race in 16 minutes, 14.3 seconds to lead the Tigers to a second-place team finish with 62 points. Kansas State had better depth and won the meet with 53 points.

The Salukis' top finisher was senior Sally Zack, who placed 41st out of 75 runners with a time of 18:18.

"Sally ran well," DeNoon said. "She went out early, and stayed competitive all the way through even though there was a lot of quality people in the meet."

The second and third Saluki finishers were Kathryn Doelling (50th, 18:34) and Amy Marker (55th, 18:51).

Other SIUC finishers were Chris Hangren (61st, 19:08), Hicks (62nd, 19:10), and Bonnie Helmick (19:12, 63rd). DeNoon said Hicks was slowed by stomach cramps.

Freshman Patty Kelly, the Salukis' No. 4 runner this season, didn't run because of strep throat.

Finishing behind Kansas

State and Missouri was Nebraska (65), Iowa State (86), Colorado (96), Drake (156), Kansas (183), SIUC (214) and Northern Iowa (224).

DeNoon said an indication of how much the Salukis improved was comparing this race to a dual meet against Kansas Sept. 15.

In the dual meet, Kansas had six of its runners in before the Salukis' first runner crossed the finish line. But in the Region 5 race, the Salukis had six of their runners in before Kansas' fifth runner.

Iowa. The Panthers needed a win against SIUC and a Drake loss to Eastern Illinois in order to get into the championships. SIUC prevented that, winning the match 15-5, 15-10 and 15-10.

"Northern Iowa was coming in here with three consecutive wins, and knew it only had a chance if they won here and Bradley lost at Eastern," Hunter said. "They had a lot of adrenaline flowing, and that was a legitimate factor. Our serving was the big difference."

"Our players understand the importance of a tough off-balancing serve," she said.

The wins give the Salukis third place in the GCAC. The championships will be played on Nov. 16-17 at Springfield, Mo.

Women swimmers beat Kansas in sweep

By Mike Frey
Staff Writer

The Saluki women's swimming team exceeded Coach Tim Hill's expectations in SIU-C's opening meet of the season last weekend.

The Salukis swept Kansas, Missouri and Illinois in a triple dual meet. SIU-C blasted Missouri 87-26 and Illinois 74-39, but their biggest win came over a powerful Kansas team 62-51.

Before the meet, Hill had said Kansas was the meet favorite based on their performance in the Big Eight Invitational a week earlier. But excellent individual performances by several Salukis lifted SIU-C to victory. "We had a lot of good individual performances, and we swam much better than we did in the intrasquad meet," Hill said. "The funny thing is, we thought the relays would be the key to the meet, but we didn't win a relay. Our individual performances carried us."

The Salukis' poor performance in the relay events was offset by the efforts of Amanda Martin, Wendy Lucero, Wendy Irick, Stacy Westfall, Armi Airkaksinen and Lori Rea, Hill said.

Martin won the 200-yard breaststroke with a time of 2 minutes, 23.76 seconds and also performed well in 400-yard medley relay. Lucero, performing in her first meet with the Salukis after transferring from Nebraska two years ago, won both the 1- and 3-meter diving competitions with scores of 471.8 and 494.00, respectively.

Irick won the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:10.73. She also turned in strong performances in the 400-yard medley relay and the 200-yard backstroke.

Westfall won the 1,650-yard freestyle with a time of 17:16.62 and Airkaksinen won the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 53.63. Hill said Airkaksinen's win clinched the victory for SIU-C.

"Her win pretty much iced the meet for us," he said. "We were not favored to finish first or second in the event."

Rea won the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 24.41. Hill said he was pleased with Rea's times in the sprint events.

"Overall, we were pleased with the meet," Hill said. "We have many things we need to improve on, and that's what we need to evaluate as a staff. But we have to be happy with the win. We expected to beat Illinois and Missouri, but we're very happy that we beat Kansas."

Men swimmers gain triple victory

By Martin Folan
Staff Writer

A triple dual meet Friday and Saturday was won by the Salukis, earning their first wins of the season by defeating Kansas 71-41, Missouri 72-40 and Illinois 64-48. The 400-yard medley relay team of Giovanni Frigo, Chris Shaw, Gerhard Van der Walt and Thomas Hakanson won Friday night, finishing in 3 minutes, 28.63 seconds, to start the Salukis on their way to winning nine of 13 events.

Andrez Grillhammar and Gary Brinkman finished one-two the 1,650-yard freestyle. Grillhammar won in 15:30.04, edging Brinkman by .2 seconds.

SIU-C also took first two places in the 200-yard freestyle. Saluki Hans Kroes won a close race with Grillhammar and the University of Illinois' Chris Lovin. Their times were 1:41.44 (Kroes), 1:41.50 (Grillhammar), and 1:41.66 (Lovin). Salukis Tom Nye and Brinkman finished fourth and eighth.

Hakanson and the U of I's Bill Mueller finished in a first-place tie in the 50-yard freestyle, winning the event in 21:31.

Saluki Ralph Edmonds finished third.

The Salukis won their fifth event in a row, as Erwin Kratz beat U of I's Jamie Barnett in the 200-yard individual medley. Kratz' time was 1:54.34, Barnett's was 1:54.57. Saluki Chris Shaw took third place in 1:57.44.

Freshman Chad Lucero finished seventh place overall in diving competition, taking fourth place in both the 1- and 3-meter events. Lucero's two fourth-place finishes were a surprise, Saluki diving coach Denny Golden said.

"Chad is steady. He scored better on the 3-meter (415.50) than he did on the 1-meter (381.30). He was disappointed with his 1-meter dive, but he probably nervous because this was his first college meet," Golden said.

Andy Przybyszewski placed eighth and fifth in the 1- and 3-meter events.

"Andy has made a big improvement," Golden said. "He was better on the second day. Some of his dives of a higher degree of difficulty he was able to get in pretty well."

Mike Mueller and Phil Wittry

finished 11th and 12th in the 200-yard butterfly.

Saluki swimming coach Doug Ingram said the team lacks depth in the breaststroke and fly events.

"We scored only one point each in the fly and breaststroke. That's where we got hurt," he said.

The Salukis won the next three events. Kroes finished first in the 100-yard freestyle in 46.60, beating Mueller by .95 seconds.

Frigo and Kratz swam the 200-yard backstroke and held onto first and second place throughout the second heat, finishing in 1:53.69 and 1:55.09. Saluki Monte Rank took first place in the first heat, winning in 2:03.80. Rank took the lead from the start and increased his lead throughout the race.

The 500-yard freestyle was another close race between Grillhammar and Brinkman. Grillhammar won in 4:27.02. Brinkman finished second in 4:27.37.

Ingram said other than the butterfly and breaststroke events the team is strong.

Bunyan places third, qualifies for NCAA finals

By Martin Folan
Staff Writer

The Saluki men's cross country team ran its last race of the season in the NCAA Region 5 Cross Country Championship in Springfield, Mo., Saturday and finished eighth in a 14-team field.

Saluki coach Bill Cornell said a small amount of snow and bad weather took its toll on the runners, but he was happy with the way the Salukis ran. "It was 70 degrees when we ran the course Friday, then it dropped to 38 when we ran on Saturday," he said. "They ran awfully well. I couldn't have asked more of them."

Chris Bunyan finished the 10,000-meter course in third place overall with a time of 30 minutes, 22.9 seconds, just 9.8 seconds behind first-place finisher and defending national champion Yobes Ondieki of Iowa State University. ISU won the meet with 66 points, and the University of Colorado placed second with 78 points.

The top two teams and the following three runners not on those teams qualify for nationals, so Bunyan has qualified to run for his third All-American title on Monday, Nov. 19, at University Park, Pa.

David Behm finished second for the Salukis and 29th overall with a time of 31:46.8. "That was his first time he ran faster than 32 minutes (on a 10,000-meter course). He ran well," Cornell said.

Scott Gill and David Lamont finished 38th and 43rd in 32:00.2 and 32:06.6. Both times were personal bests for the runners, Cornell said.

Mike Elliott and Brett Garrett ran in place of Andrew Pettigrew and Kevin Sturman and finished 73rd and 90th. Pettigrew and Sturman were not allowed to run for SIUC in NCAA-sanctioned events because their high school records didn't meet NCAA requirements for foreign athletes.

Cornell said the race would've been closer if Pettigrew and Sturman had ran the race.

Cornell said, "I think we would've been in the top three or four. Everybody did an exceptionally good job."

SALUKIS: End season with four losses on a fourth-down situation deep in Saluki territory. However, Morrison was injured on the play and didn't return to the game.

The Salukis drove to the SWMO 9-yard line after Tony Anderson caught a 19-yard pass from King and then ran for 16 yards on a reverse. King scored the touchdown by running in untouched on a naked reverse.

But Ron Miller, who holds the Missouri Valley Conference record with 80 consecutive extra points, missed the first extra point attempt of his college career.

"I looked up and said, 'Wow, it's not going to make it,'" Miller said. "It really freaked me out. I'll have to start over."

The Bears padded their lead to 24-6 by halftime. Williams scored on a 24-yard touchdown run and Danny Gasser hit a 39-yard field goal. The field goal came on the last play of the half, and it bounced off the right crossbar before falling through the goal post.

The second half was a near standoff, with the Bears scoring one touchdown late in the game. The Salukis continued to shuffle King and Graves, but neither quarterback could drive the club to a score.

TAILBACK DERRICK Taylor fell short in his bid to become the Salukis' all-time leading receiver. He needed six catches to surpass the 108 receptions made by John Ference from 1965-1967, but he caught only four passes for 57 yards.

Twice during a drive late in the game it appeared as if Taylor would tie the record. He caught one pass that was called back because of a holding penalty. On the next play, King delivered a perfect pass that Taylor was unable to handle.

"I wanted the record, but not as much as I wanted to win the last game," Taylor said. "It's been a long year looking back on last year and comparing it to this year."

The Salukis end the year with a 3-8 record, their worst since 1980. Dorr said he will make adjustments in the off-season.

Salukis end season with four-game losing streak

By Mike Frey
Staff Writer

The football Salukis ended the 1984 season in the same manner in which they began it over two months ago — with a losing streak.

A 31-6 loss to Southwest Missouri State capped a four-game losing streak to end the Salukis season at 3-8.

The same problems that haunted SIU-C during its first four-game skid in September were in evidence again Saturday. Turnovers, missed tackling and a tendency to give up big plays doomed the Salukis against SWMO, who had never beaten SIU-C in six previous meetings.

"I was disappointed because we didn't get better this week," Saluki Coach Ray Dorr said. "We kind of went backwards. The turnovers are disappointing because, in some instances, it's just a lack of executing fundamentals and we end up throwing a play away. I also thought our tackling was very poor."

FRESHMAN QUARTERBACK Pat King, who started his first collegiate game, said. "The turnovers really hurt. We knew coming in we would have to stay on the field because they have a ball-control offense, but we couldn't do it."

The Salukis had four turnovers against the Bears, increasing their season total to 44. King threw three interceptions and reserve quarterback Joe Graves fumbled a snap. The fumble led to a touchdown, as did one of King's interceptions.

The Bears scored first on a 43-yard run by halfback Keith Williams in the first quarter.

Williams finished the drive by running in from seven yards to cap the 65-yard march.

Williams proved to be SWMO's primary weapon against SIU-C. For the third straight week, he rushed for over 100 yards. On Saturday, he carried just 11 times for 149 yards and two touchdowns.

"He's blossomed into an explosive player," Bear Coach Rich Johannigmeier said of Williams, a junior from St. Louis. "He's very talented and has a lot of ability."

The Bears second touchdown was set up by Graves' fumble.

Linebacker Steve Ache recovered at the SIU-C 27-yard line, and SWMO increased its lead to 14-0 seven plays later when fullback Johnny Longstreet plunged in from two yards out.

THE SALUKIS scored their lone touchdown in the second quarter, driving 84 yards on 11 plays. The scoring drive was helped when SWMO was called for a roughing the kicker penalty after punter Drew Morrison kicked the ball away

GCAC finals next for spikers

The Saluki volleyball team qualified for the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference championships last weekend when it defeated GCAC opponents Drake and Northern Iowa. The Salukis defeated Memphis State Thursday night in a nonconference match.

The wins gave the Salukis a 7-2 record in the GCAC and a 22-8 record overall. The Salukis ended the season by winning their last six matches and 13 of their last 15. With the 7-2 conference record, SIU-C finished third in the GCAC.

Saluki Coach Debbie Hunter said she was happy about the wins, not just for the chance to go to the GCAC championships, but also because of the team's record.

"One of the team's preseason goals was to finish with a better than .700 record," she said. "With our wins this weekend, we have a .733 winning percentage. That's the highest we have ever had."

Playing against Memphis State in Davies Gymnasium Thursday, the Salukis had little problem controlling the Tigers, winning in three games 15-9, 15-10 and 15-7. Earlier in the season, the Salukis had defeated Memphis State in four games.

Drake came into Davies Friday needing to win one of its two conference matches of the weekend to qualify for the championships. The Salukis also needed to win at least one of its matches in order to insure a spot in the championships. Before the match, Hunter had said that both teams had a number of similarities, and that the difference in the match would come down to how well the two teams served the ball and the Salukis' blocking prowess.

The Salukis did manage to keep Drake's Kris Hey, the top-rated attacker in the GCAC, under control, but they did have some problems controlling Marcia Meyer, the top-rated server in the country. The Salukis countered with the serving of Darlene Hogue and defensive specialist Jill Broker and the hitting of Pat Nicholson and Chris Boyd. The Salukis won the match in four games 15-9, 15-9, 15-15 and 15-7 and guaranteed themselves a spot in the GCAC championships.

Hunter said the difference in the match was the Salukis' ability to dig and their passing ability.

While Hunter was pleased with the outcome of the match, she was unhappy with the way Meyer controlled the game when she was serving.

"I was disappointed that Meyer was as effective as she was," Hunter said. "It didn't have to go that way. It is just a matter of us making adjustments quicker. We just gave her a little more." Meyer had five service aces against the Salukis.

For the Salukis, Broker came off the bench in the first game and recorded three straight aces against Drake. For the match, Hogue had four aces and Boyd had two.

Having guaranteed themselves a spot in the championships, the Salukis faced another team hoping for a spot in the championships: Northern

Dickerson runs Rams past Bears

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Los Angeles' Eric Dickerson, outgaining Chicago's Walter Payton in a duel of the National Football League's top runners, rushed for 149 yards and scored twice early in the final period Sunday as the Rams rallied for a 29-13 victory over the Bears.

Dickerson carried 28 times as he became the first runner in 12 games to roll up more than 100 yards against the Bears' vaunted defense, which was tops in the league in total defense and stopping the run going into the contest at Anaheim Stadium.

Payton, who moved ahead of Jim Brown as the league's all-time leading rusher earlier this season, carried 13 times for 60 yards. Payton, did, however, have seven receptions — giving him a team record 361 catches — for 78 yards.

The outcome left both teams with 7-4 records. The Bears still hold a three-game edge in the NFC Central Division while the Rams are three games behind first-place San Francisco in the NFC West.

The Rams, bidding for a wild-card berth in the playoffs, came alive in the second half after being limited to a pair of Mike Lansford field goals in the opening half and trailing 13-6.

A 63-yard touchdown pass from Jeff Kemp to Henry Ellard, with Ellard wrestling the ball away from Chicago defensive back Mike Richardson, brought Los Angeles to within one point midway through the third period. Lansford missed the conversion, however, when Kemp bobbled the snap from center.

Dickerson, who gained 98 yards in the second half, gave the Rams the lead for the first time when he scored on a 1-yard run to cap a 95-yard drive with 1:40 gone in the fourth quarter.

Two letters say it all in college football action: S.C.

The college football weekend might best be summed up in two letters — S.C.

—S.C. for No. 14 Southern California, which won a Pac-10 Rose Bowl showdown from No. 1-ranked Washington 16-7 and threw the national championship race up for grabs.

—S.C. as in fifth-ranked South Carolina, which knocked off No. 11 Florida State 38-26 and vaulted to the top of the New Year's Day bowl lists.

—And S.C. as in Sensational Comeback, which was what Maryland did against sixth-ranked Miami. Trailing 31-0 at halftime, the Terrapins unleashed the biggest rally in major-college history and stunned the Hurricanes 42-40.

After several weekends that ran mostly true to form, shock waves once again swept through the nation's top teams. No fewer than seven members of The Associated Press Top Twenty were beaten, although Washington, Florida State and eighth-ranked Georgia — a 27-0 loser to No. 10 Florida — bowed to other ranked teams.

But No. 3 Texas was upset by Houston 29-15 and knocked out of first place in the Southwest Conference, 18th-ranked Iowa surrendered the Big Ten lead to Ohio State by losing to Michigan State 17-16 while the 13th-ranked Buckeyes were mauling Northwestern 52-3 and No. 19 West Virginia dropped its second straight game, falling to Rutgers 23-19.

Elsewhere, second-ranked Nebraska pounded Kansas 41-7, No. 4 Brigham Young beat San Diego State 34-3, seventh-ranked Oklahoma State whipped Missouri 31-13 and No.

9 Oklahoma hammered Colorado 42-17.

In the Second Ten, 12th-ranked LSU nipped Alabama 16-14 and saddled the 3-6 Crimson Tide with its first losing season in 27 years. No. 15 Texas (Christia) took over the SWC lead by defeating Texas Tech 27-16. Doug Flutie became major-college football's career pass yardage leader as No. 16 Boston College turned back Army 45-31. No. 17 Southern Methodist downed Rice 31-17 and No. 20 Auburn crushed Cincinnati 60-0. Cal State-Fullerton, which had been the nation's only 10-0 Division I-A team; lost to Nevada-Las Vegas 26-20 as Randall Cunningham passed for two touchdowns.

Southern Cal, 4-6-1 a year ago, joined Holiday Bowl-bound Brigham Young in nailing down a postseason trip. Fred Crutcher rushed for 116 yards — including a two-yard run in the fourth period that put the Trojans on top 13-7 — and Steve Jordan kicked field goals of 51, 47 and 46 yards to end Washington's best start ever at 9-0.
