11-13-1992

The Daily Egyptian, November 13, 1992

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_November1992
Volume 78, Issue 61

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1992 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in November 1992 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
Puppy love

Greg Fitzgerald, a senior in finance from Chicago, plays with his two-month-old puppy, Shelby. Fitzgerald was training his puppy to jump Thursday afternoon in front of Brush Towers.

Social work given grant of $839,775

By Chris Davics
Administration Writer

SIUC’s School of Social Work has received a three-year grant totaling $839,775 as an incentive for students in the school to pursue careers in child welfare.

Mary E. Davidson, director of the school, announced the award and its recipients Thursday afternoon.

Davidson said the award is the first of its kind because it gives both undergraduate and graduate students money for school, related travel and living expenses.

“This is a direct response to the lack of professionally trained child welfare workers in the United States,” she said. “This grant helps...”

see GRANT, page 7

Clinton pledges fast economic action

The Washington Post

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — President-elect Bill Clinton, in his first press conference since the election nine days ago, pledged Thursday that he would take “aggressive and prompt action” to revive the ailing economy and would reverse Bush administration policies on abortion counseling and Haitian refugees.

Clinton made clear in the 35-minute session at the Old Statehouse that he would turn his immediate attention as president to getting “this economy working again.” He said he would ask Congress for an investment tax credit that could create 500,000 jobs annually and for an accelerated program of spending on highways and other public-works projects. He also spoke of two linchpins of his economic program.

“I expect to keep the focus on these economic issues,” Clinton said. “And I’m not trying to scale back or scale down, or anything else. I think the American people understand that these problems are of long duration and there won’t be any overnight miracles. But I think they expect aggressive and prompt action and I’m going to give it to them.”

Clinton said he was having a “wonderful time” settling in to his new job and, in answering questions from reporters, sounded confident in his mastery of subjects that ranged from policy toward Korea to the savings and loan crisis. He did not “stay from the positions he staked out as a candidate, but sent a clear signal that the transition was under his direct control and that — despite the clamor from the press — he was not going to be pressed into appointing top advisers or making significant policy announcements before he is ready.

With Vice-President-elect Al Gore standing by his side, Clinton said he was moving his transition “into high gear” with the appointment of some four dozen aides to help him formulate policy proposals and fill key jobs during the transition. Those appointments were drawn mainly from his campaign and from among officials of President-elect Bob Winner of Harvard, who will be in charge of an economic-policy cluster.

Friday, Clinton will announce ethics rules for the transition, the first part of a three-step ethics package that will also include rules for those who take jobs in his administration and a campaign-finance and lobbying-reform proposal to be sent to Congres...
SIUC women sign 6-1 Eureka forward

By Jay Reed
Sports Writer

Saluki women's basketball coach Cindy Stein signed her third recruit of the season on Tuesday, with the inking of Tiffany Spencer, a 6-1 forward-center from Eureka, Missouri. Stein said Spencer's signing will give the Salukis a stronger, deeper team.

"She has great potential to be a real good scorer for us," Stein said. "Spencer's high school coach Jan Wissmeyer said that she has the skills to be successful at SIUC."

"I think she will do all right for SIU because she has the tools it takes to be a good college player," she said. "Tiffany has a good attitude which will help her be successful."

Spencer played AAU basketball with Saluki freshmen and St. Louis area natives, Heather Slater and Nikki Gilmore this summer.

"We think she has got untapped potential because she hasn't had a lot of exposure," Saluki coach Cindy Scott said. "She has great natural instincts for the game, shoots the ball well and has good hands. We think we can develop her into a good Division I player."

SIUC to encounter tough action from KU, Nebraska

By Sanjay Seth
Sports Writer

The SIUC women's cross country team has a good shot at qualifying for the NCAA Nationals with a first or second place finish in the NCAA District V Championships, head coach Don DeNoon said.

DeNoon said the main competition for the Salukis will be the University of Nebraska, who will be with meet favorites, Kansas State and Nebraska.

"Kansas State, ranked 16th nationally is the top seed for the meet, while Nebraska, ranked 17th, is seeded at No. 2," DeNoon said. "But if we do what we've done all year round, we should succeed."

DeNoon said Kansas State was a team that ran in a close pack while Nebraska had two stand-out frontrunners and some good runners after.

"We will have to run against Kansas State and place in front of the third, fourth and fifth runner for the Nebraska team," DeNoon said. "That will be our strategy for the meet."

The women will not contribute to the competition as cold 30 degree temperatures and a soggy course is anticipated.

Has the bad weather affected the team's preparation in any way?

"I would say the weather has had some effect in workouts," DeNoon said. "But it is a tapering process, and we need to be more mentally ready than physically."

DeNoon said the only way SIUC could get to the National's is if Kansas State and Nebraska are beaten. The team cannot afford to place third.

"The mental factor is going to count a lot for this competition," DeNoon said. "Having talked to my athletes individually Wednesday night, I feel sure they are up for the challenge."

Saluki spikers gunning for best possible record

By Karyn Viverito
Sports Writer

With a stroke of luck on a weekend of superstitions, the SIUC spikers could make their last dance in the MVC a memorable one.

Friday the 13th brings Bradley to Carbondale, where the spikers will go for their 13th consecutive victory against the Braves. Saturday has Illinois State gunning for their 17th win in its last 18 matches against the Salukis.

Head coach Sonya Lacke said her team hopes to finish with the best record that they possibly can.

"We have three wins in our conference matches this weekend, we can end up where we were predicted to be in the preseason polls," she said. "I think we have to go below that."

Bradley, 4-10 in MVC action, has not won a match against the Salukis, but it came pretty close to breaking that streak when the two teams met earlier this season.

The Braves took the match to five games, with SIUC barely squeaking by in the last two games, 13-15, 17-15, to clinch the victory. SIUC used the tie-breaker system for block assists in that match with 34.

He said he expects the Braves to come to Carbondale ready to average their earlier season loss.

"Our victory against Bradley was a lucky one, and its players are probably hungrier after the loss," he said. "I am sure they considered, a bad loss, she said. "In turn, we are playing on our home court where we seem to play a bit stronger."

Sophomore outside hitter Lisa LaMontagne leads the Braves offense in kills while senior setter has been followed by freshman outside hitter Cindy Novak with 262.

The Salukis will have their work cut out for them when the face No. 2 ranked Illinois State, who with two wins on the weekend, will win the rights to the hosts for the MVC championship tournament.

In the teams' earlier season meeting in Normal, the Redbirds swept the Salukis in three games to win the match convincingly.

However, if the Salukis concentrate on certain areas of their game, an upset of the Redbirds might be in reach, Lacke said.

"Our passing is going to have to be good in order for us to have hopes with anything else," she said. "Then, if we can execute the one-on-one situation, such as the hitter against the blocker, and do it more than not, we could be in a good position against them."

SIUC will have to stop the Redbirds Kim Nelson and Michelle Rucker, who have put together an offense on the season of 615 kills between them.

The match will be played at Davies Gym with a 7 p.m. start time tagged on each match.

Uplifting exercise
Sophomore Amy Gende, who is on the SIUC diving team, practices her dives during a light practice at the Recreation Center. Both men's and women's diving and swimming teams were practicing Thursday for the five meets this weekend at the University of Illinois at Champaign.

Schwartz, Akal to run for NCAA

By Sanjay Seth
Sports Writer

The SIUC men's cross country team will not be aiming for the sky at the NCAA District V Championships at Ames, Iowa, this weekend.

The efforts and goals of the runners will be more down to earth as they realize their potential and capabilities, head coach Bill Cornell said.

"We don't stand a chance as a team," Cornell said. "We have a great one-two punch, and then we fade out."

He said both team captain Nick Schwartz and No. 2 Garth Akal have a tough chance at Ames. The only way the duo can qualify for the NCAA Nationals on Nov. 23 will be if they place in the top three individual standings at the Districts.

"Nick has the potential, it now depend on whether he is willing to pay the price by going the distance," Cornell said. "Garth has a tougher time, but he could pull it off."
Newswrap world

SOMALI FIGHTERS ATTACK AID CONVOY — Several people were killed Thursday when Somali fighters attacked an aid convoy of 37 trucks, hijacking nine, a spokesman for CARE said in Nairobi. The convoy was carrying 350 tons of food for the city of Baidoa, where some 70 people are dying of starvation. The convoy was stopped by militiamen, who began arguing with the convoy’s armed escort. The convoy subsequently turned back and was attacked by Mogadishu.

JORDAN KING GRANTS AMNESTY — Jordan’s King Husnian Thursday issued a royal decree granting amnesty to two Islamist deputies who were sentenced Tuesday to 20 years of hard labor for plotting to overthrow the monarchy. The decree, issued on the King’s 77th birthday, came as a surprise to many observers who did not expect amnesty to be issued after the verdict against deputies Latif Shbibat and Ya’qoub Qarrah was passed for their attempt at toppling the regime.

BOSNIA CEASEFIRE ENDS — The ceasefire meant to take effect Thursday held only briefly in the south of the republic, with heavy fighting and artillery duels breaking out near Sistac and Capljina, both sides said. Both the Croats and the Serbs claimed the other had broken the ceasefire near the two Herzegovina towns. Serbian media said in the early afternoon that the main Croat forces in the area broke the ceasefire agreement.

U.N. BEGINS BAN ON CHEMICAL WEAPONS — The United Nations passed the way Thursday for the adoption of a worldwide ban on all chemical weapons. The U.N. General Assembly’s First Committee approved without a formal vote a draft treaty banning chemical weapons. This means the treaty could be adopted by the General Assembly next week. The chemical weapons treaty will in principle go further than the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons Treaty of 1968.

nation

CLINTON AFFIRMS LIFT ON MILITARY BAN — In his first formal press conference since being elected, Bill Clinton affirmed his plan to lift the ban on homosexuals in the military. He said his policy would “focus sharply” on conduct — so that those who had served honorably would not be punished simply for being homosexual. Clinton also affirmed that he would repeal the “Don’t ask” on abortion counseling and lift the blanket policy of sending all Haitian refugees back to Haiti.

JUDGE RULES SEQUESTERED KING JURY — A federal judge ruled Thursday that the jury in the civil rights violation trial of four men convicted in connection with the Rodney King beating should be sequestered. U.S. District Judge John Davies also said the jurors’ names and addresses should be kept secret from the public. The names and other information will be given to lawyers “the confidentiality and protection of the jury in this case is paramount,” Davies said during the hearing.

DEAF MAN MISTAKENLY COMMITTED — Officials in North Carolina say a ninety-seven-year-old deaf man, who has mistakenly been kept in a mental hospital most of his life, will likely live out his years there. Junan Wilson’s social worker says the hospital is the only home Wilson knows. Wilson was never diagnosed as mentally ill, but was unable to communicate that to hospital workers because of his deafness.

TUSCUN CHILD BITTEN BY SNAKE AT SCHOOL — A third grader was bitten by a three-foot-long rattlesnake as he walked by the school’s sandbox this week. The eight-year-old student at “Old Elementary School was treated and released. School maintenance workers quickly caught the Western Diamondback rattler, which might have been reported to the school’s principal if the student had a cellphone.

from Daily Egyptian wire services

Accuracy Desk

If readers spot an error in a news article, they can contact the Daily Egyptian Accuracy Desk at 356-3311, extension 233 or 228.

Daily Egyptian
Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

Student Editor: Tony Manecke
Associate Student Editor: Brian Gross
News Editor: Kevin Berger
Online Editor: Joshua Filer
Editorial Page Editor: Gregory Herbrand
Entertainment Editor: Casey Hampton
Sports Editor: Norma Wilke
Photo Editor: Keith Johnson
Investigative Editor: Julie Staley
Student Ad Manager: Christine Ogren

Aging Memory Editor: Wanda Brandon
Business Manager: Cathy Lefevre
Display Ad Manager: Sheryl Allen
Classified Ad Manager: Yael Freitas
Production Manager: Gary Bublik
Assistant Prof. of Speech
Microcomputer Specialist: Kelly Thompson

Daily Egyptian (USPS 181020) published daily in the Journalism and Egyptian Laboratory Monday through Friday during the regular semester and Tuesday through Friday during the summer by the Daily Egyptian, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, IL 62901. Periodicals mailed at State University, Carbondale, IL 62901.

ICPA

Chapter of the Illinois College Press Association

Daily Egyptian (USPS 181020) published daily in the Journalism and Egyptian Laboratory Monday through Friday during the regular semester and Tuesday through Friday during the summer by the Daily Egyptian, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, IL 62901. Periodicals mailed at State University, Carbondale, IL 62901.

ICPA

Chapter of the Illinois College Press Association
Committee members chosen for USG study

By David R. Kazak
General Assignment Writer

Undergraduate Student Government President Brad Cole has announced appointments to ensure student input in city and University matters.

New members were selected for ad-hoc committees that represent students in city and SIUC issues such as mass transit for the area and University programming costs.

Cole said the ad-hoc committee on mass transit will have the task of reviewing a study on mass transit in Carbondale with the City of Carbondale.

The study is recently released Phase III report of the Carbondale Transit Study.

New members to the committee include USG Vice President Joe Hill, City Affairs Commissioner William Stevenson, governmental Relations Commissioner Felicia Leasure, Senator Mike Spirnak and Senator Rob Bostron.

The ad-hoc committee to study and respond to the report of the Committee on Long-term Planning has the responsibility of reviewing the recommendations made by President John C. Guyton’s committee in reference to proposed course eliminations, department consolidations, and other decisions concerning SIUC’s academic future.

New members to the committee are Cole and Senators Edwin Sawyer, Wendi Stephens, G-eg Carter and James Graham.

Cole also announced the executive cabinet gave its approval of the plans to make the attorneys of the Student’s Legal Assistance Office employees of the University rather than keep them at their current status as independent contractors.

Students’ Attorney Elizabeth Streeter said she pleased with the end of approval from USG.

“I know there have been a lot of concerns from the students about whether we would be representing their interests if we become employees of the University,” she said.

“The approval shows that their studies say that will not be the case.

“Our interests will be the same because the student still have control over the student fees,” she said.

Blood drive begins to fall below expected goal

By Jeremy Finley
Special Assignment Writer

Despite the students and area residents that crowded the upstairs hallway of the Student Center Thursday, leaders of the SIUC-American Red Cross blood drive are questioning if the goal of 1,600 pints will be met.

The leaders are stressing the urgency of the lower-than-expected number of pints collected, blaming the week long unfavorable weather. The goal for today is 540 pints.

In response to the low number, the drive times have been expanded today from 12 to 8 p.m., two hours earlier than originally scheduled.

Vivian Ugent, Southern Illinois blood drive coordinator, said extending the hours was imperative to meet the goal.

Mike Pyntel, director of publicity, said the blood drive gets the Red Cross ready for the holiday season when there is an increase in traffic and no blood drives at all.

“Because this is the largest blood drive in the 10-county Southern Illinois region, we really need a Southern Illinois regional effort,” Pyntel said. “Especially this time of the year we can’t afford to come up short and jeopardize the lives of hospitalized patients.”

Jonathon Serf, chairman of the drive, said the foul weather has taken its impact on the drive.

“Basically because of the weather, I don’t think we’re going to make it,” he said. “But yesterday (Wednesday) we had a big day, and today (Thursday) it looks like it might pick up.”

The drive collected 350 pints Thursday, bringing the total to see BLOOD, page 8.
Administration stalls on abortion benefits

SIUC STUDENTS VOTED LAST MAY to include elective termination of pregnancy as a health care benefit—but students still do not receive the coverage under the University's health plan.

The referendum, passed on this campus, with 733 students voting in favor of additional abortion coverage, will have had ample time to implement the health services that the referendum passed, Chi Alpha, a student Christian group, and provide student health insurance.

Because a majority of the students who voted supported the referendum, there is only one option available for pro-lifers who refuse to pay for a service they condemn—cancel their health insurance.

Students would be able to waive the fee if the inclusion of abortion as a health care benefit actually led to a fee increase. But no additional expense will be added to student health fees if the university approves abortion benefits.

Students who oppose the referendum and do not want abortion included as part of their health insurance will have two options. They can cancel their health insurance or contest the constitutionality of the abortion provision in the Educational Amendment of 1972 and the Civil Rights Restoration Act of 1987.

IT IS CLEAR THAT UNIVERSITY administrators have had ample time to implement the health services that the students demanded. But students have yet to see these services offered by the University, which continues to hide behind a screen of lawyers and excuses in an attempt to delay the referendum.

The opportunity of a woman to have an abortion covered under student health insurance is not isolated at SIUC. Abortion coverage is legal at other state universities as Illinois State University. University of Illinois and Northern Illinois University offer abortion benefits. It is time that SIUC join them.

The students have voiced their approval of the referendum. It is time for university administrators to quit stalling and make the new health benefits available.

Letters to the Editor

Human bodies have beautiful form; should praise instead of condemn

I am truly sorry that the idea of a naked female body offends you, but in case you haven't taken a walk through a museum or an art gallery in your lifetime, let me bring you up to speed.

The human body is a unique and beautiful form which has been emulated throughout history in every form of creativity imaginable. Since it is not even a creation of man, I am puzzled as to your sour attitude about it.

What really upsets me, and I'm sure I'm not alone, is how you can use Playboy's visit to this campus as an excuse for your own personal shortcomings

Students would be able to waive the fee if the inclusion of abortion as a health care benefit actually led to a fee increase. But no additional expense will be added to student health fees if the university approves abortion benefits.

Students who oppose the referendum and do not want abortion included as part of their health insurance will have two options. They can cancel their health insurance or contest the constitutionality of the abortion provision in the Educational Amendment of 1972 and the Civil Rights Restoration Act of 1987.

IT IS CLEAR THAT UNIVERSITY administrators have had ample time to implement the health services that the students demanded. But students have yet to see these services offered by the University, which continues to hide behind a screen of lawyers and excuses in an attempt to delay the referendum.

The opportunity of a woman to have an abortion covered under student health insurance is not isolated at SIUC. Abortion coverage is legal at other state universities as Illinois State University. University of Illinois and Northern Illinois University offer abortion benefits. It is time that SIUC join them.

The students have voiced their approval of the referendum. It is time for university administrators to quit stalling and make the new health benefits available.

Bible improperly quoted by letter writer

In responding to Mr. Stiegel, I'll cut to the point. Brad is quoting a passage from the Holy Bible. But yet, this passage is telling us only what Brad wants us to read. We can no longer hide behind the Bible because it's very easy to read between the lines to justify our own arguments.

The only point that I've received from all of this hoopla is that Brad is a hateful gay basher. His message is clear and this hate and ignorance is extremely frightening. It's obvious that his views of normality are conservative and traditional and therefore I feel it's time for him to accept that traditional views of "normal" lifestyles are changing. I mean, has Brad Stiegel been taking up residency in a cave for the past ten years?

My point is that EVERYONE deserves equal rights in this country, not just a selected "normal" few. Homosexuals are hurting no one and are only adapting their lifestyles to become more happy and fulfilled members of society. Brad, on the other hand, is hurting many people with his closed-minded attitude and has yet to justify his hate in any intelligent manner.

Your attitude about homosexuality saddens me greatly, Brad.

Your main goal is to hurt others who haven't harmed you in any way, shape, or form. Didn't anyone ever teach you that hating people is a massive waste of useless energy which takes up productive time from your life? You may be surprised to find out that if feels good to relieve yourself of hate and maybe pick up a few new friends along the way.

"We must learn to live together as brothers or perish together as fools." Martin Luther King, Jr.

-Kara Collins, Junior, Social Work

How to submit a letter to the editor:

A: You
B: Letter
C: Editor

300 words maximum
Womens Center turns 20

By Lynelle Marquardt
Special Assignment Writer

The Women's Center of Carbondale, a place for women to receive support, friendship, assistance and guidance, was not originally intended for this purpose.

Juli Claussen, executive director of the Women's Center, said the main focus of the center has changed since it opened in 1972.

"Community women wanted to have a gathering place for women. This was during the women's movement," Claussen said. "They wanted to have a place to get away and do some classes."

"There was one bed room they decided to use for transient women— a place for folks to crash," she said. "They charged $5 if the women had it."

However, the people using the bedroom were abused women, not transients, Claussen said.

"The shelter sort of came about because these are the women who were using the place," she said. "It was started for a totally different purpose than what it turned out to be."

The center, a not-for-profit organization celebrating its 20th anniversary this month, serves Southern Illinois but focuses on the counties.

For the last 20 years the center has provided many services to the community and more services will continue to be offered in the future.

Currently, it provides shelter for women and children who are victims of domestic violence, helps victims of sexual assault through the Rape Action Committee, and provides educational programs.

Programs on prevention and coping with sexual assault and abusive situations are provided by the Women's Center to the community. The shelter can provide housing for up to 25 people comfortably, with six bedrooms that have twin beds in each room. Currently the Women's Center provides shelter for 17 women and children.

Tracey Corbin, who provides counseling and support as a court advocate for the Women's Center, said the women in the shelter divide up the household chores at a meeting every morning.

"We have a morning meeting where the women can discuss concerns or problems in the last two years I didn't speak or feel any emotions—basically I was physically shut down."

In 1988, Jarvis said she underwent major surgery and was forcibly raped and sexually assaulted.

"Basically from 1984 to 1988, I was a prisoner of my own home," she said. "For two years I didn't speak or feel any emotions—basically I was physically shut down."

Currently, it provides shelter for women and children who are victims of domestic violence, helps victims of sexual assault through the Rape Action Committee, and provides educational programs.

Programs on prevention and coping with sexual assault and abusive situations are provided by the Women's Center to the community. The shelter can provide housing for up to 25 people comfortably, with six bedrooms that have twin beds in each room. Currently the Women's Center provides shelter for 17 women and children.

Tracey Corbin, who provides counseling and support as a court advocate for the Women's Center, said the women in the shelter divide up the household chores at a meeting every morning.

"We have a morning meeting where the women can discuss concerns or problems in the last two years I didn't speak or feel any emotions—basically I was physically shut down."

In 1988, Jarvis said she underwent major surgery and was forcibly raped and sexually assaulted.

She was able to find a house to rent and met a woman at the center who encouraged her to seek counseling.

"I learned a lot from the center and through the Displaced Homemaker Program and stayed for three weeks."

Although she had three cracked ribs that she kept hidden from everyone at the center, she returned to her abuser who promised not to hurt her anymore, she said.

Jarvis said her husband began to abuse her again, so she went to stay with a friend, but was hunted down by her husband with a gun and ordered to return home.

The center includes a rape crisis line, a shelter, and programs on prevention and coping with sexual assault and abusive situations.

The Women's Center serves 528 people last year through the shelter program, and 229 people were served through the Rape Action Committee.

Founding mothers rewarded for hard work of early days

By Lynelle Marquardt
Special Assignment Writer

Founders of the Carbondale Women's Center, established to establish a place for women to gather 20 years ago, will be honored at an event Wednesday.

Lillian Adams, a founding mother of the center, was involved in finding a house for the women to meet.

Twenty years ago when the center was only an idea, Adams and others began searching for a house.

"We found a house, rented it, cleaned it up, got people together and raised money to pay for it since it was all volunteers," she said.

Adams said the center was established to have a place for women to gather, but it was turned into a place for battered women to go to for refuge.

"Most of us didn’t know there was this tremendous need from battered women," she said.

"Now, she said one of the main purposes of the center is to give shelter to women who have been abused by their spouses and mates.

"The main purposes are for women to have a place to go to get counseling and to help them deal with their problems because most women have no idea what alternatives they have," Adams said.

Adams said the center has grown tremendously through the years, but areas that could be expanded do exist.

"I would like to see more housing," she said. "At present there’s not enough houses in the area for women who do not have an alternative."

A dream of the founding mothers was for Carbondale to have a very active women’s political caucus, she said.

"That didn’t happen for a number of years," Adams said.

"The fact that Carol Monley Braun and a number of women have been elected to the Classical chamber music feature of oldest string quartet in world

By Melissa Willis Entertainment Writer

The world's oldest string quartet in continuous existence will perform tonight in Shryock Auditorium.

The Pro Arte Quartet was first formed in 1912 by a group of Belgian musicians. As news arrived that Belgium was being invaded by Germany in 1940, the quartet fled to the United States to become artists-in-residence at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. It remains stationed there today.

Through the years, the quartet has continued its international career with several tours of South America and Europe. The ensemble is made up of four performers, Norman Paulu, violin; Sally Chisholm, viola; Perry Karp, violincello; and Jae-Kyung Kim, violin.

The group has made more than 20 recordings, including a recent release of the original version of Beethoven's Opus 18, No. 1, both quartets of Szymanowski, the Bloch String Quartet and Piano Quintet, and the Miklos Rozsa Quartets.

The quartet recently was honored as one of only five nominees for the Toscanini Lifetime Achievement Award. Bob Hageman, business manager of Shryock, said the performance would feature classical and contemporary chamber music.

"The quartet will provide a beautifully balanced program beginning and ending with very accessible classical music," he said. "This performance should encourage an opportunity for families to experience quartet chamber music, and classical music enthusiasts should be very pleased to experience the attention to detail and precise coordination produced by the quintet in concert.

The quartet will open its performance with Hayden’s String Quartet in D Major, Opus 35, No.6. Written in 18th century, it has been nicknamed “The Frog.” A technical device known as harmonia — rapid playing of the same note over two different strings — created a novel effect that spawned the name, Hageman said.

Quartet A Minor, Opus 17, No. 2, written by Bela Bartok in 1917, also will be performed, he said. "The Hungarian composer’s string quartets are recognized as the greatest works of their type in the 20th century," Hageman said.

After intermission the quartet will perform Mendelssohn’s String Quartet in E Minor. The Towne Hall will bring the audience back to the lyrical and emotional expansiveness of 19th century romanticism, Hageman said.

"Felix Mendelssohn is well known for developing a charming mannerism in his composition cultivating lighter than air movement," he said. "It's the light, silver-quick style which the composer used repeatedly, creating a polished jewel in sound.

Hageman said chamber music may be an acquired taste for many music lovers.

"It is a medium of expression least likely to be heard because of the scarcity of chamber groups and opportunities to play," he said. Another reason is the public's lack of information and a general misunderstanding of the form, he said.

"It is the nice lady who approached a very famous quartet following their performance and congratulated them with the words, 'What a pity your group is so small, but I'm sure it will grow in time,'" Hageman said. "Tonight's performance is a fine opportunity to experience the dynamic range of this intimate music form by a world-class ensemble."

Tickets are $10 and $12 for adults and $4 off the regular price for children under 12. The performance begins at 8 p.m.

For ticket information, call 549-8221.
As he discussed his economic plans, Clinton sidestepped a question about whether the planned $20 billion in economic stimulus package might have to be increased in order to stimulate the economy. Clinton said that the answer was "I'm going to try." "I'm going to try my hardest to make sure that this country is on a course of recovery."

Likewise, Clinton said he was not ready to discuss options he was considering to address the country's economic problems, including the possibility of a "progressive tax." He said he was working on ideas, but that he was not ready to share them.

CLINTON, from page 1

those who would lose jobs because of military cutbacks. He also said that he would not rule out the possibility of a "full and final resolution" to the POW-MIA issue.

PLEDGES, from page 1

not to be hypothetical in that."

But Clinton said he had no doubt about what he would do about some Bush administration policies. As he had during the campaign, Clinton said he disagreed with the Bush rules. "I'm not going to try to change the policy," he said. "I think we're going to do what we have to do."

He also said he disagreed with the administration's decision to send Haitian refugees back to their country without congressional action or congressional review of the policy. "I think we need to do more," he said. "I think we need to do more."

Clinton said that although there is a legitimate distinction between political and economic refugees, "I think that the Haitians should get a chance to make their case" that they are fleeing for political reasons.

I am not in a position now to tell you exactly how we're going to do it, or what the specific will be. But I think that we're going to try to change the policy," he said.

On another subject, whether to accept or to reject the Bush administration's decision to accept the resignation of Assistant Secretary of State Elizabeth M. Tamporsi, who allegedly directed State Department officials to search the homes of Clinton supporters for "misconduct," Clinton reiterated his promise to "move forward on that," but also cautioned that he was going to be cautious in his approach to the controversial subject.

Asked about President Bush's decision to accept the resignation of Assistant Secretary of State Elizabeth M. Tamporsi, who allegedly directed State Department officials to search the homes of Clinton supporters for "misconduct," Clinton reiterated his promise to "move forward on that," but also cautioned that he was going to be cautious in his approach to the controversial subject.

"I'm not in a position now to tell you exactly how we're going to do it, or what the specific will be. But I think that we're going to try to change the policy," he said.

On another subject, whether to accept or to reject the Bush administration's decision to accept the resignation of Assistant Secretary of State Elizabeth M. Tamporsi, who allegedly directed State Department officials to search the homes of Clinton supporters for "misconduct," Clinton reiterated his promise to "move forward on that," but also cautioned that he was going to be cautious in his approach to the controversial subject.

"I'm not in a position now to tell you exactly how we're going to do it, or what the specific will be. But I think that we're going to try to change the policy," he said.

On another subject, whether to accept or to reject the Bush administration's decision to accept the resignation of Assistant Secretary of State Elizabeth M. Tamporsi, who allegedly directed State Department officials to search the homes of Clinton supporters for "misconduct," Clinton reiterated his promise to "move forward on that," but also cautioned that he was going to be cautious in his approach to the controversial subject.

"I'm not in a position now to tell you exactly how we're going to do it, or what the specific will be. But I think that we're going to try to change the policy," he said.

On another subject, whether to accept or to reject the Bush administration's decision to accept the resignation of Assistant Secretary of State Elizabeth M. Tamporsi, who allegedly directed State Department officials to search the homes of Clinton supporters for "misconduct," Clinton reiterated his promise to "move forward on that," but also cautioned that he was going to be cautious in his approach to the controversial subject.

"I'm not in a position now to tell you exactly how we're going to do it, or what the specific will be. But I think that we're going to try to change the policy," he said.

On another subject, whether to accept or to reject the Bush administration's decision to accept the resignation of Assistant Secretary of State Elizabeth M. Tamporsi, who allegedly directed State Department officials to search the homes of Clinton supporters for "misconduct," Clinton reiterated his promise to "move forward on that," but also cautioned that he was going to be cautious in his approach to the controversial subject.

"I'm not in a position now to tell you exactly how we're going to do it, or what the specific will be. But I think that we're going to try to change the policy," he said.

On another subject, whether to accept or to reject the Bush administration's decision to accept the resignation of Assistant Secretary of State Elizabeth M. Tamporsi, who allegedly directed State Department officials to search the homes of Clinton supporters for "misconduct," Clinton reiterated his promise to "move forward on that," but also cautioned that he was going to be cautious in his approach to the controversial subject.

"I'm not in a position now to tell you exactly how we're going to do it, or what the specific will be. But I think that we're going to try to change the policy," he said.
Police offer travel tips for winter

By Joe Littrell
Police Writer

It is best for motorists to stay home when winter storms are "upsets," but if travel is necessary, some basic guidelines exist to increase chances for a safe trip.

Illinois State Police officials are trying to deliver a clear message to motorists as the winter months near.

Commander of State Police District 13 Captain William Powers said the safest place to be in a storm is at home.

If people must travel, however, they should let friends and relatives know all the plans for the trip, Powers said. People should include destination, route, and times of departure and arrival.

Travelers should monitor road and weather reports, Powers said, noting that the state police road condition hotline begins operation Nov. 15.

Motorists can call the hotline at 542-8432 for updated highway condition information.

"The special telephone line will provide pre-recorded highway condition information to help make winter driving as safe as possible for motorists," Powers said.

"The line will help to keep regular state police lines open to receive emergency calls.

If ice hits or snow becomes too deep on the roadway or restrictions vision, drivers should seek off-road shelter, he said.

If travelers become stranded in a storm, however, drivers and passengers should stay with the vehicle.

Exposure to the elements could be fatal, he said.

Stranded motorists should run the engine and heater sparingly in stranded vehicles--just enough to keep from getting unbearably cold, keep a window open slightly when running the engine and keep snow away from the tailpipe to allow exhaust to escape and reduce the possibility of carbon monoxide poisoning.

They also must keep moving from the car.

It is important to stay alert until help arrives, he said.

Scouts, B1B work to gather goods to aid area needy

By John Reznock
General Assignment Writer

The Egyptian Council of the Boy Scouts of America and SIUC's Blacks In Business are working together to provide food for local residents experiencing hard times.

Jack Norman, scouting executive for the Egyptian Council, said the food drive is a chance for local residents to help out people in their own community.

"This Saturday scouts will go out and put bags on peoples doorsteps and next Saturday they will pick up the food items," Norman said.

"The next part about it is that the food collected stays in the area. We deliver the food to local food banks and the local banks dispense the food to needy people," Norman said.

The food drive will cover a nine county area from Pickneyville to Cairo and will involve about 300 scouts.

In major communities food collection bags will be put out on Nov. 14 and picked up on Nov. 21, he said.

Letters about the food drive have been sent to all University departments, RSO's and other student groups, Haywood said.

The general goal is to collect 10,000 cans of food.

"We figure that there are about 24,000 students on campus," he said.

"If half of the students give one can we will meet our goal,"

The food drive at SIUC will begin today and end Nov. 20, when the food items are collected.

BLOOD from page 3

1,060 for the week. The Red Cross has called in additional staff for today.

Senft said basically the student population has come through for the drive.

"They've been receptive, but not as receptive as we could be," Senft said. "They need to see to urgency.

"This is not just for us to meet our goal, it's for the constant need for blood," he said.

Kevin Runkle, freshman in law enforcement/administration of justice from Litchfield, brought a 4-liter donation for the first time.

Runkle said he wanted to donate blood on a high school, but he didn't have enough time in between...finally he saw the drive after this month's donation this week.

"I've heard it takes about an hour, and I guess it could be a problem," he said.

Runkle said he wasn't scared at all about giving blood, and came to the drive after someone stopped him in the hallway and asked him to give blood.

destination, route, and times of departure and arrival.

Travelers should monitor road and weather reports, Powers said, noting that the state police road condition hotline begins operation Nov. 15.

Motorists can call the hotline at 542-8432 for updated highway condition information.

"The special telephone line will provide pre-recorded highway condition information to help make winter driving as safe as possible for motorists," Powers said.

"The line will help to keep regular state police lines open to receive emergency calls.

If ice hits or snow becomes too deep on the roadway or restrictions vision, drivers should seek off-road shelter, he said.

If travelers become stranded in a storm, however, drivers and passengers should stay with the vehicle.

Exposure to the elements could be fatal, he said.

Stranded motorists should run the engine and heater sparingly in stranded vehicles--just enough to keep from getting unbearably cold, keep a window open slightly when running the engine and keep snow away from the tailpipe to allow exhaust to escape and reduce the possibility of carbon monoxide poisoning.

They also must keep moving from the car.

It is important to stay alert until help arrives, he said.

Scouts, B1B work to gather goods to aid area needy

By John Reznock
General Assignment Writer

The Egyptian Council of the Boy Scouts of America and SIUC's Blacks In Business are working together to provide food for local residents experiencing hard times.

Jack Norman, scouting executive for the Egyptian Council, said the food drive is a chance for local residents to help out people in their own community.

"This Saturday scouts will go out and put bags on peoples doorsteps and next Saturday they will pick up the food items," Norman said.

"The next part about it is that the food collected stays in the area. We deliver the food to local food banks and the local banks dispense the food to needy people," Norman said.

The food drive will cover a nine county area from Pickneyville to Cairo and will involve about 300 scouts.

In major communities food collection bags will be put out on Nov. 14 and picked up on Nov. 21, he said.

Letters about the food drive have been sent to all University departments, RSO's and other student groups, Haywood said.

The general goal is to collect 10,000 cans of food.

"We figure that there are about 24,000 students on campus," he said.

"If half of the students give one can we will meet our goal,"

The food drive at SIUC will begin today and end Nov. 20, when the food items are collected.

BLOOD from page 3

1,060 for the week. The Red Cross has called in additional staff for today.

Senft said basically the student population has come through for the drive.

"They've been receptive, but not as receptive as we could be," Senft said. "They need to see to urgency.

"This is not just for us to meet our goal, it's for the constant need for blood," he said.

Kevin Runkle, freshman in law enforcement/administration of justice from Litchfield, brought a 4-liter donation for the first time.

Runkle said he wanted to donate blood on a high school, but he didn't have enough time in between...finally he saw the drive after this month's donation this week.

"I've heard it takes about an hour, and I guess it could be a problem," he said.

Runkle said he wasn't scared at all about giving blood, and came to the drive after someone stopped him in the hallway and asked him to give blood.
surgeries to remedy illnesses caused by internalizing all of her problems. She said her doctor recognized the condition, advised her to receive counseling and arranged for her to see a counselor once a week. Jarvis said she had a plan to send her two children to stay with her brother, and to the extent she intended to take her life easy.

But the counselor pointed out that if anything happened to her husband she would be of no use to the children. “They are my life, because my children were my survival,” she said. “Everything I did was centered around them, my children, best for them.”

Then she said with the coaxing of her counselor, she decided to go to the shelter at the Women’s Center. She stayed there for six months in 1988 and has been involved with the center ever since.

She said daily life was a struggle at first. “I was depressing to everybody,” Jarvis said. “I wouldn’t speak, and no matter what anybody was saying, I wasn’t hearing them.” Jarvis said she learned to help herself through the therapy groups and counseling provided by the Women’s Center.

She said she started volunteering at the center before she moved out, although that was illegal at the time. “I fought that,” she said. “It was the first time I stood up for myself.” Jarvis said because she has the personal experience, she can be helpful to other women.

“Having the knowledge is one thing,” she said. “But having experience you’re able to relate to the other women and that’s why I chose this.” Many other women have been helped by the Women’s Center in its 20 years of existence.

In a letter written to the staff at the center, one woman said, “The Women’s Center has helped me and my girls realize what life is all about.

It truly is an experience that I will remember and always cherish, she wrote. “When my family was in need for shelter, guidance and help, it was real nice to say I had some people and a place to stay that day.

Another woman wrote about what the Women’s Center meant to her. “The Women’s Center is a place for guidance and security, a place for homeless and battered women and children to go,” she wrote. “At the Women’s Center, everybody’s like one big family, and when one hurts deep down inside, we hurt with them and are there for them.”

A woman who stayed at the center for about two months said she learned much. “I feel the way we residents are treated with rules, chores and responsibilities is for our own benefit,” she wrote. “It makes us realize we are important and that we can do it on our own.

“I was made to realize I am worth something, and that gave me the strength to stand on my own.”

“Since I have been at the Women’s Center, I have learned to cope, day to day, gain the self confidence I need to be on my own and I have true friends.”

Another woman who came with her children to the center from a violent situation said the support and understanding she received helped her overcome the difficulties she faced.

“The collective support and understanding of the staff, volunteers and residents of the Women’s Center in Carbondale, have been of immeasurable aid to me and my children in our dire moment of need,” she wrote.

“Having nowhere else to turn and faced with a life-threatening situation, the Women’s Center provided a most needed protective haven... The Women’s Center promotes self-responsibility and independence. The Women’s Center preaches improvement—improvement in ourselves, improvement in domestic environments, and improvement in society in general.”

FOUNDERS, from page 5

Senate, House of Representatives and state legislatures indicates that things have been happening in the last 20 years.

The center has helped the community in many ways, she said. The Night Safety Transit at SIUC grew out of a Women’s Center program, she said.

“We rented a van and transported women home at night, and out of that grew the campus night safety transit,” Adams said.

Also, the Race Against Cancer Committee helped law enforcement officials in the area to be more understanding when dealing with victims of rape, she said.

“As far as law enforcement officials, it’s a lot better,” she said. “Now they treat victims with compassion rather than like a prostitute who maybe was asked for it.”

Libby Moore, another of the founding mothers who focused on raising money for the first year of the Women’s Center, said she was one of the seven women who met periodically to decide what was needed for the center and how to do it.

“It grew out of a women’s political cause that met at the Presbyterian Church one Saturday,” she said. “Clara McClur (another founding mother) gave us guidance.”

“She had enough background to know there was a need—the probably knew all along there was a need for a place for battered women to go.”

Moore said the center was established as a place for women’s consciousness-raising and for them to find out who they were as women.

“I found out women are a lot stronger than they thought they were,” she said. “I’ve noticed a great difference in women. Many now are going into all the professions.”

“I think this encourages women to be more self-confident,” she continued. “I don’t think we’ve licked the problem of women in our society.”

“It’s still a male-dominated society. There are many more women in poverty than was discovered,” she said.

Looking back 20 years, Moore reflected on the women’s movement of the time.

“It was just an interesting time when women were just beginning to feel their power,” she said. “I gave us all a sense of self-hood that perhaps not all of us have had before.”

“I think it started women on the way to equalizing the sexes but the congress hasn’t caught up with us yet,” she continued.

Moore said it takes a special kind of person to work at the Women’s Center, but the staff has done a great job.
Program aims at informing on African culture, issues

By Angela L Hyland
International Writer

A variety of cultural activities will entertain and educate students, faculty and staff through the end of this week.

The free program, which starts at 6 p.m. Sunday in Student Center Ballrooms C and D, will enable students to learn about people from different countries, said D. Abogarshali, a graduate student majoring in forestry.

"African culture is very diverse," said. "Each country has its own way of doing things."

To expose students to some of the different cultures within Africa, the group will present a fashion show featuring traditional clothing from each country. The show also will feature a Swahili and Zulu poem read in the native language.

Susan Makuuro, a Kenyan graduate student majoring in sociology, said most people are unfamiliar with the Swahili language.

"I hope to bring a consciousness of the language in Africa," she said. "If you're not conscious of something, it's very difficult to understand it. The theme of poem is that it's important to get in touch with Africa."

Many SIUC students feel this way, said Brenda Major, faculty adviser for Voices of Inspiration and the Black First Dance.

"Many African Americans talk about reconnecting and reaching back in touch with their roots," Major said. "This can be difficult because there are few opportunities offered through the school for African Americans to do anything social with African, Major said. African Night will provide the opportunity.

"Students don't have to imagine what their roots are like, but can actually talk with students they have a kinship with."

Also featured will be an African video and a presentation by political science professor Richard Dale on the United States foreign policy toward Africa.

Development of silent submarine under progress, researchers say

Zapnows

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. — Seawater and magnets could form the power source for stealthier submarines and propellerless ships, according to researchers at Newport News Shipbuilding.

An experiment conducted by the shipyard and Argonne National Laboratory in Illinois could help lead to undetectable submarines, similar to the fictional boat in "The Hunt for Red October."

"We were very pleased," said Ezzat Doss, a chemical engineer who was one of the researchers. "This is way ahead of the game."

The next step is to modify an existing craft, possibly an unmanned 35-foot-long submarine for ocean tests, Ranellone said. Congress has earmarked $3 million in 1993 defense budget for further research.

Last week the Japanese successfully tested the Yamato 1, a 110-foot-long ship powered by magneto-hydrodynamics, or MHD, as the process is known. The boat reached a top speed of 7 mph. "People think it's different but it's simple," said Ezzat Doss, a scientist at Argonne National Laboratory.

A tube, called a thruster, is surrounded by magnets. Seawater fills the tube and an electric charge is passed through the water.

"The efficiency of the device is very high," said Doss. "It is one of the most promising technologies for generating thrust."

According to the laws of electricity and magnetism, when an electric current passes through a magnetic field, a force is created. In MHD, this force is used to squirt water out the thruster, pushing the craft forward in the same way a jet engine propels an aircraft.

Thrusters on a submarine would be like large fans and could look like jet engines. "It would be a box with a hole in the front that sucks water in," Doss said.

JORDAN, from page 1

"Mr. Jordan has more than 17 years experience as a patrol officer," Tweddy said. "He owns SIUC and Southern Illinois and will be a fine asset to the University."

Jordan will replace Robert S. Harris, who retired in August.

The other candidates were Jackson County Sheriff William Kilquist, SIU Police Lt. Andrew Smith and Richard Woods, security director at Sequins University in Pennsylvania.

Jordan, a West Frankfort native, holds a 1977 bachelor of science degree in administration of justice from SIUC, with which he teaches criminal justice courses at Parkland College in Champaign.
SMILE ADVERTISING RATES $3.10 per inch

Space Reservation Deadline: 2 pm, 2 days prior to publication.
Requirements: Smiley ad rates are designed to be used by individuals or organizations for personal advertising—birthdays, anniversaries, congratulations, etc. and not for commercial use or to announce events.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY ADVERTISING

Open Rate: $7.80 per column inch, per day.
Minimum Ad Size: 1 column inch
Space Reservation Deadline: 2 pm, 2 days prior to publication.
Requirements: All column classified display advertisements are required to have a 2-point border. Other borders are acceptable on larger column widths.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING POLICY

Be Sure To Check Yourik Computer Against These Errors On The First Day Of Publication

The Daily Egyptian cannot be responsible for more than one day’s incorrect insertion. Advertisers are responsible for checking their advertisements for errors on this day.

Errors not the fault of the advertiser which lessen the value of the advertisement will be corrected.

All classified advertising must be received by 12:00 Noon to appear in the next day’s publication. Any payment for classified advertising must be made in advance and on those accounts with established credit, a $2.00 service fee will be added to billed classified advertising. A service charge of $75.00 will be added to the advertiser’s account for every check returned to the Daily Egyptian unpaid by the advertiser’s bank. Early cancellation of a classified advertisement will be charged a $2.00 service fee. Any refund under $20.00 will be forfeited due to the cost of processing.

All advertising submitted to the Daily Egyptian is subject to approval and may be revised, rejected, or cancelled at any time.

The Daily Egyptian assumes no liability for any reason it becomes necessary to cancel or reject an advertisement. A sample of all mail-order items must be submitted and approved prior to publication.

No ads will be re-classified.

E trespass* D E $33-3311

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

SMILE ADVERTISING RATES $3.10 per inch

Space Reservation Deadline: 2 pm, 2 days prior to publication.
Requirements: Smiley ad rates are designed to be used by individuals or organizations for personal advertising—birthdays, anniversaries, congratulations, etc. and not for commercial use or to announce events.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY ADVERTISING

Open Rate: $7.80 per column inch, per day.
Minimum Ad Size: 1 column inch
Space Reservation Deadline: 2 pm, 2 days prior to publication.
Requirements: All column classified display advertisements are required to have a 2-point border. Other borders are acceptable on larger column widths.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING POLICY

Be Sure To Check Yourik Computer Against These Errors On The First Day Of Publication

The Daily Egyptian cannot be responsible for more than one day’s incorrect insertion. Advertisers are responsible for checking their advertisements for errors on this day.

Errors not the fault of the advertiser which lessen the value of the advertisement will be corrected.

All classified advertising must be received by 12:00 Noon to appear in the next day’s publication. Any payment for classified advertising must be made in advance and on those accounts with established credit, a $2.00 service fee will be added to billed classified advertising. A service charge of $75.00 will be added to the advertiser’s account for every check returned to the Daily Egyptian unpaid by the advertiser’s bank. Early cancellation of a classified advertisement will be charged a $2.00 service fee. Any refund under $20.00 will be forfeited due to the cost of processing.

All advertising submitted to the Daily Egyptian is subject to approval and may be revised, rejected, or cancelled at any time.

The Daily Egyptian assumes no liability for any reason it becomes necessary to cancel or reject an advertisement. A sample of all mail-order items must be submitted and approved prior to publication.

No ads will be re-classified.

E trespass* D E $33-3311
Comics
Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

Doonesbury
by Gary Trudeau

Shoe
by Jeff MacNelly

Calvin and Hobbes
by Bill Watterson

Mother Goose and Grimm
by Mike Peters

Today's Puzzle

Pianos and Organs
by Pete and Carolyn Kelly

Bosko Chiropractic
Family Practice
Suffering from pain or headaches?
Find the relief you deserve.
Call 457-4241 today!
50% OFF FIRST OFFICE VISIT
Coupon necessary, one coupon per person
814 W. Main Carbondale 457-4241

ON THE ISLAND PUB
-CUISINE INTERNATIONALE-
Looking for a friendly conversation atmosphere?
Come relax and unwind with us!
LUNCH SPECIAL: Teriyaki Chicken $2.99
(Mon, Tues, Wed) w/soup & spring roll
LUNCH BUFFET BAR (Thu, Fri) $4.99
Espresso & Cappuccino Specials Everyday
COME TRY THE BEST ASIAN FOOD IN TOWN
1175 S. University, Across from Woody Hall, Near Kinko's

Walt Kelly's Pogo
by Pete and Carolyn Kelly

Installation $29.95
& 2 Premium Channels for $11.95
(for first month)
Carbondale Office will donate $10 of the $29.95 to go to the Newman Center Annual Thanksgiving Day Dinner in Carbondale
Marion office will accept tap or canned food valued at $10 or donate $10 of $29.95 to the Midwest Alpha Phi Marin
TCl of Illinois, Inc.
We're taking television into tomorrow.
Carbondale DeSoto-Murphysboro...559-3201
Marion-Hurricane-Johnston City Carterville-Curry Energy
Cathedral...997-3447
Hamburg-Benton West Frankfort
1-800-950-2228

Today's Puzzle answers are on page 14
Hornets sign former Georgetown center

Zapnews

CHARLOTTE—The Charlotte Hornets announced Thursday that former Georgetown center Alonzo Mourning, the second overall pick in this year's National Basketball Association draft, has signed with the team.

The Hornets reportedly reached an agreement with Mourning on Tuesday, but needed to fit his reported $2.5 million contract within the NBA's $44 million salary cap.

The Charlotte Observer reported Wednesday that the Hornets have agreed to a deal which will pay the 6-foot-10, 240-pound Mourning close to $1.5 million per season.

Mourning averaged 21.3 points, 10.7 rebounds and 5.0 blocked shots a game as a senior at Georgetown, earning Big East Player of the Year and Defensive Player of the Year honors. He ranked second in the nation in blocks behind Shaquille O'Neal of Louisiana State in blocked shots. O'Neal was selected first overall in the draft by the Orlando Magic.

Academics, from page 16

MVC's volleyball sports information director, Jim Gehrtz, told The Daily Egyptian that the conference for the volleyball teams will be held in Missouri. Gehrtz said that the conference is expected to be ideal for the teams.

The conference will be held in Missouri, and the teams will be divided into two categories: the Big East and the Missouri Valley Conference (MVC). The Big East will consist of seven teams, while the MVC will have eight teams.

Gehrtz said that the conference is expected to be ideal for the teams, as it will allow them to compete against each other in a competitive environment.

The conference will be held from November 15 to 19, with the final game scheduled for November 20.

For more information, please call 453-5220 or 453-4424.

SIUC HEALTH ADVOCATES

- Meet new people, develop lasting friendships.
- Build a resume along with professional references.
- Extra-curricular social activities.
- Health promotion training by professional staff.
- Develop positive communication and facilitation skills.
- Develop skills & knowledge in the areas of stress management, nutrition, sexuality, drugs & alcohol, medical self-care, and other health related issues.

Receive academic credit!

For more information, please call 453-5220 or 453-4424.

LA ROMA'S WkEND SPecIALS!!

One 16" 1 Item Pizza 2 Quarts of Pepsi... $9.99
* Two Medium 1 Item Pizzas 2 Quarts of Pepsi... $11.50

Specials include thin crust only and not valid with any other coupons... one at a time...

Fortune Teller: All is well.

$1.00 off Medium Pizza $2.00 off Large or X-Large

Good Only November 15-19, 1992

529-1344

STUDENT CENTER
BOWLING & BILLIARDS

Association of College Unions - International Regional Recreation Tournament Campus Qualifiers

Intercollegiate Bowling
November 13-15
Entry Fee: $12.00, 9 game scratch series, Top 5 men and top 5 women qualify, Minimum of 20 participants per division

8-Ball
November 17-19
Round Robin/Double Elimination, Entry Fee: $5.00, Minimum of 15 participants per division, Campus Awards for 1st-3rd place

Table Tennis
November 14-15
Round Robin/Double Elimination, Men's and Women's Division Co-ed and 1st and 2nd place campus awards for each division

Bridge
November 18, 7:00 p.m., Student Center MacKinnon Room Entry Fee: $2.00 per person, Deadline: 4:00 p.m., Friday, November 13, 1992

For more information about the Table Tennis tournament, call Kathy Halloran at 530-5531.

For more information call Marie Smock at 453-2803.

XEROX COPY SALE

3 1/2 cents per copy

Auto Fed or Self Service
Minimum 100 copies
10,000 or more

3 cents per copy (must have coupon)

Egyptian Photo

7717 S. Illinois 529-1431
Exp. 11/23/92

Puzzle Answers

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>New Tropical Fish</th>
<th>New Reptiles</th>
<th>Chinchillas</th>
<th>Ferrets</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>$1.19</td>
<td>$1.19</td>
<td>$1.19</td>
<td>$1.19</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Puzzle Answers

New Tropical Fish: $1.19
New Reptiles: $1.19
Chinchillas: $1.19
Ferrets: $1.19

Come see the widest selection of reptiles in Southern Illinois.

Hornets sign former Georgetown center
Pitcher Howe's lifetime suspension revoked

Zapnews

An arbitrator Thursday revoked the lifetime suspension imposed on pitcher Steve Howe by former Baseball Commissioner Fay Vincent. Vincent invoked the suspension after Howe was involved in a drug or alcohol related incident for the seventh time. The 34-year-old pitcher was with the New York Yankees at the time of the suspension, deciding the agency at the end of the season. Arbitrator George Nicoleau Thursday ordered the lifetime hand to be rescinded. The Major League Players Association had filed a grievance on Howe's behalf.

The Yankees issued a brief statement on Howe's reinstatement but gave no indication that they would attempt to re-sign him.

We are pleased for Steve and his family, the statement read. Perhaps all of us have developed a greater sensitivity to those who seek our support. We wish the Howes well and look forward to watching Steve display his talents during the 1993 baseball season.

Petty maintains humility after stardom

Zapnews

MOUNT PROSPECT — Richard Petty, n.k.a. King Richard. His fans have put him on a pedestal, a throne if you will, and have deemed him the embodiment of racing, plain and simple.

Petty has an amazing attribute that few superstars maintain: humility. It still comes as a surprise when somebody waits in line for hours for an autograph and then says thanks," said Petty. "I should be the cat doing the thanking."

It is this "good-old-boy" quality, along with the wondrous record in NASCAR history (200 Winston Cup victories, seven Daytona 500 wins and seven NASCAR Winston Cup Championships are among his many accolades) that has endeared Petty to racing fans for over three decades. Just as all good things must come to an end, the reign of King Richard is also winding down. And as Petty fans must already know, Richard will bow out of professional racing at the end of the '92 season.

To honor Richard Petty and pay tribute to a lifetime of racing excellence, Petty Enterprises has licensed CPEC/ENVIRONMENT, the same company that annually mint the official World Series, Super Bowl, Stanley Cup, and NBA Championship pure silver commemorative medals, to mint a special commemorative Richard Petty medalion in both silver and gold.

ENVIRONMENT will mint a limited edition of 15,000 pure silver medalion featuring Petty's likeness, complete with cowboy hat and sunglasses, on the front and the Official 1992 Fan Appreciation Tour Logo on the reverse.

Each one-ounce pure silver medalion is individually numbered and bears its own crushed-suede display case complete with an historical information sheet chronicling Petty's career. Retail price is $39.95 plus $5.00 shipping.

ENVIRONMENT will also offer, for the first time ever, a two-piece Petty display set containing a one-ounce pure gold medalion as well as a one-ounce pure gold medalion. Only 200 of these sets will be minted with both medalions containing matching serial numbers as well as an information/picture booklet HAND-PIEED by Petty himself.

Retail price is $895 plus $5.00 shipping.

Sunday Special

Rib Dinner s for $14.95 (coupon required)

Open Tuesday through Saturday at 5pm
Visa-Mastercard Accepted

Grilled Cheese and Soup with drink
Chili, Chorizo, Cheeseburger, Vegetable Cheese... $3.99
Italian Beef Sandwich with fries and drink... $4.07

901 S. Illinois
Open Daily 11am-10pm

ATTENTION KEYBOARD PLAYERS!

Today is your lucky day!

Hear the latest by ensonia:

Monday Nov.16 7:00 p.m.

ensonia, artist Mike Landine will preview the new...

• KS-32 Midi Studio Keyboard
• KMV-16 Midi
• Patch Bays
• ASR-10 Sampling Recorder & More!

"Call to reserve your seat!"

BYASSE KEYBOARD & SOUND
521 W. Main • Marion, IL 62959
993-8562 or 1-800-888-3112

GATSBY'S WEEKEND SPECIALS

Blue Hawaiians $5.85
Lynching Lemonade $6.50
Gin Holidays
Cherry Bombs $6.50
Melon Balls$6.50
Jello Shots

Friday Live!
The digits, Action Man & Nitro Junior Saturday Live!
The Rhythm Rockers
Sunday Dance Party!
25¢ Drafts 75¢ Speedrals

No body beats M'idas

ECONOMIZER MUFFLER STARTING AT $24.95*

50% OFF SECOND SHOCK OR STRUT

NOBODY ON THE RAMP

TOM'S PLACE
November Special
Nov. 10th through Nov. 21
Two Prime Rib Dinners for $14.95 (coupon required)

10 minutes North on Route 51 North inDeSoto
Reservations are Recommended (618) 867-3033
Open Tuesday through Saturday at 5pm
Visa-Mastercard Accepted

WE DELIVER - 549-3334
W.K. Mon. 11am-2pm 4pm-8pm Tues-Sat 11am-4pm
HAVING A PARTY? GIVE US 24 HOURS AND WE'LL MAKE YOU A 24-FOOT SUB (106" LENGTH)
* YOUR HOME MUST BE ON OUR ROUTE

QUATROS 549-5326
DELIVERY DEALS

SMALL WONDER
Small deep pan or thin crust pizza with topping and 16 oz. bottle of Pepsi...
$5.49

REPET MELT DEAL
Medium deep pan or thin crust pizza with topping and 2 - 16 oz. bottles of Pepsi...
$7.79

THE BIG ONE
Large deep pan or thin crust pizza with 1 topping and 4 - 16 oz. bottles of Pepsi...
$9.89

NOBODY BEATS MIDAS
CARBONDALE
900 E. Main St.
529-2811