CCFA injured by budget cuts

Loss of faculty contributes

By Beth Clavin
Staff Writer
and Brent Honcharenko
Staff Writer

Poor pay, loss of faculty, no spending and depressed education are all factors haunting the College of Communications and Fine Arts.

There are a lot of mixed feelings and opinions among the directors and chairpersons. None of them know for sure what is in store for the upcoming semesters, but all have a good idea: cuts, cuts and more cuts.

One problem affecting each department and the college as a whole is the loss of faculty and staff and not being able to replace them, academic heads said.

The other-than-salary budget, which includes money set aside for mail and telephone use, and general supplies is another problem.

All the college's directors and chairpersons agree that the combination of these problems will have a negative effect on the quality of education at SIU-C.

The combining of classes between departments will be an option to save money but it is also a victim of debate and mixed feelings.

Brent Kington, director of the School of Art, said he agrees with the combining of classes among departments, but said a dilemma will start when deciding which department should teach them.

"Which department is better qualified to teach graphic communications: art or journalism?" Kington asked.

According to Kington, the biggest problem is giving quality education. He doesn't see how that can be accomplished with all the cuts.

"I don't think we're providing adequate or quality classes here," Kington said. "I personally believe that if a student pays for an education

Obelisk scrapped for 1988

By Jackie Spinner
Staff Writer

Graduating seniors will have to write their own book of memories since plans for a 1988 Obelisk II yearbook have been scrapped.

A delayed 1987 Obelisk II yearbook, however, is expected to be ready for publication in early October, Pat Hart, Obelisk student editor, said.

"Time spent finishing the 1987 book has resulted in no 1988 book," he explained.

With all the money paid to the publisher for the 1987 yearbook, it was simply too much to just forget the 1987 book, Hart said.

The delay stemmed from dissension between the Obelisk's student volunteer staff and its former general manager, A. Steve Warnelis. The staff dropped from about 45 to 6 because of that, Cindy Zeigler, 1987 student editor, said in a January.

When Warnelis' contract was not renewed in December 1987, the position of general manager was terminated, Hart said.

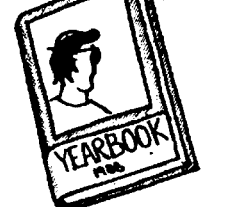

The Obelisk is now staffed by a graduate assistant and student editor. Instead of many departmental editors, associate editors are now under one student editor.

Sue Shelton was hired from John Wood Community College in Quincy to fill the position of graduate assistant. She is working toward a doctoral degree in higher education.

"Not much has been done in the past six months, so we are just trying to put the puzzle back together," Shelton said.

"The people working on the Obelisk now are trying to get it back on its feet from mistakes in the past," she added.

Former Carter adviser endorses Bush

By United Press International

Democrat Michael Dukakis accused George Bush of poor foreign policy judgment Monday, but the governor's attempt to shore up his international affairs credentials was undercut by a former Democratic national security adviser's endorsement of the vice president.

In Washington, Bush named a 13-member task force on national security affairs for his GOP presidential campaign that includes Zbigniew Brzezinski, former national security adviser to President Jimmy Carter.

"In my view of the two candidates for the presidency, George Bush is the one who can best fashion an effective bipartisan foreign policy," Brzezinski said. "In saying so, I remain proud, very proud of my national service under President Carter.

"But now is the time to look ahead," the conservative Democrat said. "To choose the best leadership for the next four years."

The words must have stung the Massachusetts governor,

"In my view of the two candidates for the presidency, George Bush is the one who can best fashion an effective bipartisan foreign policy."

—Zbigniew Brzezinski

whose chief aim of his campaign trip this week was to set out his foreign policy goals and reverse a perception among voters that he is weak on national security issues.

As the opposing presidential candidates threw barbs at each other on foreign policy and national security issues, the Bush campaign braced for what was expected to be more forced resignations on its advisory ethnics panel amid allegations of anti-Semitism.

The co-chairman of Bush's American Nationalities Coalition, Jerome Brentar, was ousted from his post last week for having vocally defended John Demjanjuk, the Cleveland autoworker convicted in Israel of Nazi crimes.

In addition, Frederic Malek, Bush's choice as deputy chairman of the Republican National Committee, resigned Sunday following a newspaper report he once compiled a list of Jewish employees in a branch of the Labor Department.

In other campaign action:

■ A Harris poll commissioned by Business Week showed Dukakis, who led Bush by 17 percentage points after the Democratic convention, now trailing by 6 points. Moreover, the poll provided evidence that the public has bought the GOP line that Dukakis is inexperienced in foreign affairs.

■ Republican vice presidential candidate Dan Quayle received polite applause at a Rotary Club luncheon in Kalamazoo, Mich., where he charged that a vote for Dukakis is a vote for higher taxes.

■ Democratic vice presidential candidate Lloyd Bentsen remained in his Senate office in Washington and was not expected to go back out on the campaign trail until Wednesday.

In Philadelphia, Dukakis ripped Bush for his role as head of a task force on terrorism and participation in the Iran arms initiative, and said the record in both cases points to a question of "the judgment and the steadiness required in the Oval Office."

Dukakis also challenged Bush to defend the administration's anti-drug efforts, its dealings with Panama Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega, and declared, "My friends, we need answers and we need better leadership from the president than we are going to get with George Bush."

Nitz upset over 'intrusion in territory'

By Carrie L. Ferguson and Richard Goldstein
Staff Writers

The brother-in-law of accused murderer Richard Nitz testified for the prosecution Monday at the Williamson County Courthouse that Nitz was the leader of the "Trog Club" and was upset because homosexuals were intruding on "Trog territory."

Charles Bookmyer, of Desoto, said Trog territory was a "a place (around Crab Orchard Lake) we went to when we rode motorcycles together." The area Nitz called Trog territory, Spillway Road around Crab Orchard Lake, is a gathering place for homosexuals men.

Bookmyer said "everyone knew" Nitz hated homosexuals.

In opening statements, State's Attorney Charles Garnati alleged Nitz is a "homosexual hater" and murdered Michael D. Miley, who was a practicing homosexual.

Miley's credit cards were used April 7 at the Kentucky Oaks Mall, Paducah, the day after he was reported missing.

Sandra Neal, a J.C. Penney employee, did not identify Nitz in a photo lineup, but did remember an April 7 sales transaction involving a woman and a man with bandaged hands.

Elizabeth Mitchell, a J.C. Penney employee, said she couldn't identify the man who came into the store because "he didn't look as bad as in the (photo lineup)."

Two Sears salespeople identified Nitz as the man who used Miley's credit card, and a loading dock worker said he remembers loading a set of speakers into Nitz's car.

The witnesses said they

Hurricane rakes Jamaica with 140 mph wind gusts

KINGSTON, Jamaica (UPI) — Massive and dangerous Hurricane Gilbert raked Jamaica with torrential rains and wind gusts up to 140 mph Monday, blowing down palm trees, snatching windows and causing widespread flooding across the island. Thousands of people fled outlying areas and sought refuge in Kingston's concrete and steel sports arena and other shelters. Jamaica's weather forecasters said the giant storm caused heavy damage to Kingston's airport and aircraft parked on the field.

Bangladesh president vows to prevent famine

DHAKA, Bangladesh (UPI) — President Hussain Mohammad Ershad said Monday the millions of dollars in emergency aid pouring into Bangladesh barely put a dent in the suffering caused by the worst floods in the 17-year history of the country, but he vowed "there will be no famine." Ershad said parts of the country still were cut off from food and medical supplies and he warned that the threat of epidemics loomed greater as the floodwaters slowly began to recede.

Multi-party elections offer spurned in Burma

RANGOON, Burma (UPI) — Hundreds of thousands of demonstrators spurned a government offer to hold multi-party elections within three months and marched through the capital Monday demanding the Burmese regime step down immediately. They were supported by 1,000 students who began a hunger strike Monday to press for the resignation of the Rangoon regime and the establishment of an interim government before any elections are held.

Bomb explodes in New Delhi bus, killing two

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — A bomb planted by suspected Sikh militants exploded in a bus Monday at a New Delhi bus terminal, killing two people and wounding 18 other commuters, police said. Authorities immediately declared a citywide full security alert in response to the blast and the discovery of three similar devices planted across the Indian capital.

Drought cuts crop production by 31 percent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. grain production will drop 31 percent this year, the government estimated Monday, but officials said food supplies will be adequate and prices will rise only modestly due to the months-long drought. Total U.S. grain production is forecast at 191 million metric tons, compared to the 277 million tons harvested in 1987.

Bank Board accused of paying illegal salaries

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Home Loan Bank Board created three subsidiary agencies to avoid federal salary caps and attract executives with illegally high salaries, the General Accounting Office said in a report Monday. The bank board created the three agencies as separate entities to attract top-flight talent in its race to close the nation's foundering thrifts before they bring down the entire savings and loan industry.

Yellowstone firefighters relieved by weather

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (UPI) — An army of firefighters, snary from a hot summer on the line, took advantage of snow, rain and cool temperatures to attack Yellowstone National Park area wildfires Monday while another blaze rampaged through the Gold Rush country in drought-dry northern California. National Park Service officials said the break in the weather gave crews their first opportunity to take the offense against the wildfires which began in May and have ravaged more than 1 million acres of forest, brush and grasslands in the Yellowstone area.

Wildfire in California destroys 30 houses

GRASS VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) — A 12,000-acre wildfire touched off by an illegal trash burn leaptfrogged through northern California's historic Gold Rush country Monday, endangering scores of homes. More than 30 houses had been destroyed. "It's a real devil," spokesman Ralph Rutherford said at the California Department of Forestry command center at the Nevada County Fairgrounds. "With winds up of up to 20 miles an hour, it's really bouncing around."

Church lady show hits Shryock stage

By Beth Clavin
Entertainment Editor

Dana Carvey, better known as the church lady on "Saturday Night Live," wanted to be a comedian for 14 years before he finally got into the business.

"It definitely picked me, I didn't pick it," he said.

Carvey will appear at Shryock Auditorium Sept. 18 as part of his comedy tour.

In a recent interview, Carvey, who was born in Misoula, Mont. and raised in San Carlos, Calif., said he was a comic from the start, with Jonathon Winters as one of his favorite childhood comedians.

As a child, he entertained his family with his impressions of Lyndon Johnson, the Beatles, and Ed Sullivan.

It wasn't until he attended San Francisco State University, however, that he began doing his routine for crowds.

Carvey began doing his routine at clubs in the area, eventually winning the San Francisco Stand-Up Comedy Competition the year after Robin Williams placed second.

It was also during his night club acts that "Saturday Night Live" recognized his talent.

"The producer saw me doing a stand-up show and eventually hired me," Carvey said.

Since then, Carvey has become known for his portrayal of the church lady on the show, a character he derived from his Lutheran upbringing.

Carvey said he grew up in a family that attended church irregularly.

"I remember when my family would be late to church, we'd be embarrassed, and we'd have to say, 'Hey, we had a barbecue, lighten up!' and those church ladies would go, 'Oh, I see, we only come to church when it's convenient!'"

He said he has "loads of ideas" to broaden the horizons of the character, including a "Church Lady Workout."

"Hopefully (the character) won't get outdated," he said.

Since April, Carvey has been on tour, dividing his time between it and the show.

Some of the highlights of his routine include his impressions of Casey Kassem, Robin Leach, Katherine Hepburn and the church lady.

Carvey said he will also work with the crowd and take suggestions.

"I love college crowds," he said. "They're very enthusiastic."

Because he must be back in New York to work on the show, Carvey said he won't be able to spend much time in Southern Illinois.

"I really feel bad," he said.

Carvey said he plans to do a movie this summer.

"It's a comedy with shenanigans and a good time for all, I hope," he said.

He has appeared in "Spinal Tap," his film debut, and "Tough Guys," where he portrayed the parole officer of Burt Lancaster and Kirk Douglas.

Carvey's main goal, however, is to "stay employed," something he has not had trouble doing recently.

For now Carvey intends to entertain the audiences he encounters while on tour.

"I'll go all out," he said. "I give it my all with every show."

Tickets for Carvey's performance are $14 and $16 reserved and are available at the Shryock Auditorium box office from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays.

Guyon to discuss task force status

President John Guyon said he will speak about the formation of a permanent task force on the status of women on campus Wednesday at a program presented by the women's caucus.

The responsibilities of a permanent task force will be discussed, Guyon said.

Pamela Brandt, co-chair of the women's caucus, said that the establishment of a permanent task force was one of the first recommendations by the task force because they didn't feel they had sufficient time to address the issues.

Age doesn't matter to swimming prof

THE EMERGENCE of a world record holder at a University desiring to shore up the image of its athletic department is good news. When the record holder is a 73-year-old professor emeritus, the news is astounding.

Ed Shea, a professor emeritus in physical education and a member of the University's Master Swimmers Club, not only set his fourth world record two weeks ago, he defeated a former Olympic champion in the process.

Shea's story should be a lesson in perseverance to young athletes fond of looking up to modern-day sports heroes who, at best, last a few seasons before fading in their memories.

SHEA'S NEXT stop will be Brisbane, Australia, where in October he will defend his world titles in the 50-, 100- and 200-meter events at the World Masters Swimming Championships. About 40 swimmers are expected to compete in Shea's 70- to 74-year-old age division.

We hope Saluki fans give Shea the kind of support and recognition he deserves. We don't expect many of us will make the flight to Australia, but we can offer him a spiritual pat-on-the-back.

SHEA OBVIOUSLY is not in the games for recognition. He has had an outstanding coaching career and could easily rest on his laurels in retirement. What sets Shea apart is his willingness to keep trying, to rise each morning and swim at 6 a.m. at the Rec Center pool, doggedly chasing a dream with the spirit of a much younger man.

Shea caught a piece of that dream two weeks ago in Buffalo. Among those Shea defeated there was Albert Vanderweghe, the captain of the 1936 U.S. Olympic team and Shea's boyhood hero. Shea's victory gives everyone a reason not to give up, no matter how great the odds.

THOSE IN THE MEDIA who are quick to criticize SIU-C for its partying students, administrative decisions and so forth, weren't as quick to pick up the story of Shea's achievement. The news industry that prides itself for fairness and equal opportunity for all should question the reasons that the story received so little attention. In our eyes, Shea is a world class individual, regardless of age.

Hart gets first down

ATHLETICS DIRECTOR Jim Hart surpassed his first goal: He raised more than $86,000 in his first 50 days on the job. He should be commended for his success, but we must keep this achievement in perspective.

He has reached what could be compared to a first down early in a very long and crucial game.

Hart realizes he must raise at least $200,000 to meet the athletics department budget. We hope he accomplishes this fund-raising feat and in the process more money is generated for academics and other endeavors of the University.

HART WAS hired because of the perception that he will be able to raise more money for athletics. We don't know yet if he is better than past athletics directors at ferreting out those willing to donate to Saluki athletics.

At the end of the year, we will be able to see how well Hart has fared, by comparing his total with those of past years.

After several years, we will be able to say whether Hart's early success was a flash-in-the-pan attributable to the presence of a new, well-known name in the area, or the result of a comprehensive plan.

We eventually can compare figures and learn if the new-found donors came from a pool of those who might have given to academic programs, had they not chosen to put their resources in athletics.

SO FAR, Hart appears headed in the direction he was hired to go. He came in on a whirlwind and got right to work with a coherent fund-raising plan that appears to agree with Saluki fans. We hope he is able to maintain the level of excitement he created with his "First $50,000" campaign.

If he continues generate enthusiasm among donors, we hope alumni and sports reporters of other areas of the University catch the fever too.

New Republican has problem with liberty and justice for all

My conservative friend Grump had a scowl on his face, which surprised me. So I asked what was bothering him.

"Don't play the innocent with me," he snarled.

I don't understand. Now that I have become a newborn Republican, I had hoped your hostility would subside. Especially with our heroes, Bush and Quayle, leading in the polls.

"That's what I mean," Grump said. "You don't think for a minute that I believe there is any sincerity in your conversion to our Grand Old Party."

BUT I AM sincere, cross my heart, hope to die, Scout's honor.

"You weren't a Scout, you were a delinquent."

Well, my brother was a Scout. So I'll use his honor.

"Fiddlesticks. I know what you are. You are a mole."

Like an undercover enemy agent?

"That's right. You're just saying you're a Republican to subvert our cause."

Grump, you've seen too many Cold War spy movies. I've seen the light, and it's as simple as that. Come, let us drink to the latest polls.

"Wait, it's not as easy as that. You're going to have to answer some questions. And you'd better have the right answers."

TRY ME.

"What was Watergate?" It was just a nickel-dime burglary, blown all out of proportion just to bring down Richard Nixon.

"Who blew it out of proportion?"

"That's easy. The no-good, low-down, dirty media."

"Hmmm, not bad."

Good. Let's have that drink. "We're not done. Tell me, what was Martin Luther King Jr. really like?"

A troublemaker, a rabble-rouser, stirring people up, making them want to use public washrooms, sit at lunch counters. Why, they were happy with their own washrooms, lunch counters, not voting and being lynched.

"What was that?"

Mike Royko

Tribune Media Services

SORRY, A SLIP. Old habit. I'll be more careful in the future.

"You'd better. Now, who made this country pitifully weak, defenseless, a helpless giant in the eyes of the world?"

That's easy. The despicable peanut farmer, Jimmy Carter.

"Good. How did he do that?"

By standing by helplessly while our embassy in Iran was in the clutches of the Ayatollah's mob.

"Very good."

Of course, none of the embassy hostages were killed and he didn't get any of our Marines blown up.

"What's that?"

I'm sorry, another slip. Bad habits are hard to break.

"You'd better be careful. Next question: Who made this country strong again, got it moving, made us stand tall and proud and let the world know it can't mess with us?"

EVERYBODY KNOWS that: The Gipper. And he made Grenada a decent place to live again. Of course, our own big cities are falling apart for lack of federal funding, but nobody's perfect.

"Another slip, hey?"

Habit. It's as hard to shake as smoking. But I'm trying.

"And who got the economy back on its feet, brought down inflation, put people back to work?"

Again, the Gipper. Of course, we're printing money like confetti, and Japan now owns Hawaii, but we'll let the kids worry about that when they grow up.

"I'm beginning to doubt your sincerity."

Please, give me a chance. Do you want me to recite the Pledge of Allegiance?

"Not now. Just tell me who the best man is to keep the Reagan revolution going?"

OBVIOUSLY, GEORGE Bush. He has come into his own, shedding the wimp image. Or as George Will used to call him—a lap dog. Now he has become firm and decisive, yet open-minded; tough and aggressive, yet kind and compassionate. Say, how do you think his staff pulled it off? Megavitamin shots, or doses of ginseng?

"I warn you, your answers are..."

Please, Grump, give me a chance.

"All right. What has the media engaged in with Dan Quayle?"

A feeding frenzy. Oh, it's terrible. Worse than "Jaws." I thought Sam Donaldson would bite him in half.

"Not bad. And just what kind of person is Dan Quayle?"

A fine young man, with a loyal wife and wonderful children.

"Good. And what did he honorably and patriotically choose to do?"

TO ENLIST in the branch of service of his choice?

"Very good. There might be hope for you yet."

Yes, and people don't realize what a sacrifice it is for a six handicapper to give up one weekend of golf a month.

"I knew it, you're a mole."

Please, Grump, you must permit me a bit of levity.

"Try to control it. Now, what will happen if the opposition wins?"

Oh, it will be terrible. We'll be weak, helpless, a pitiful, helpless giant.

"And what is the opposition lacking?"

He lacks foreign policy experience, the little twit. He's never been in the federal government. He's never been vice president. All he's ever been is the governor of a state. Just like Reagan in 1980.

"Enough. I've found you out, you con-symp."

Grump, give me a chance. Look, I pledge allegiance, to the flag, and a quyle in the hand is better than two in the bush, and to the..."

he or she should receive the best possible education available."

"We're overenrolled," he said. "We have three people more than normal in 60 sections in the 100 or 200 level."

KINGTON ADDED, "If a student chooses SIU-C and the cuts keep coming every year, then that student is being deceived and that doesn't say much for SIU-C."

"I suppose the science department can teach biology without a microscope, and I can probably teach ceramics without firing and glazing, but the student won't be getting the education that he or she paid for."

Kington said within the last four years student enrollment in the school has increased 60 percent, but he still has the same size staff as he did four years ago.

Kington won't be gaining any faculty members this year either, but he won't be losing and he said he is thankful for that.

"I JUST cross my fingers every year," Kington said, "I'm projecting I'll need four new faculty by 1990, but I doubt I'll get them."

Walter Jaehrig, director of the School of Journalism, also sounded more dissatisfied with the losing of faculty and quality education than he did about the combining of classes.

"Combining classes is just something we'll have to do," Jaehrig said. "My problem is that I'm losing my two most senior faculty members."

Jaehrig added, "I'll have to replace them with younger, more inexperienced people who'll work for less."

Jaehrig said enrollment is larger than last year and so far he'll be one faculty member short.

"I'll just have to keep one vacant spot in the school to help save money," he said. "I have 11 faculty instead of 12."

JOE FOOTE, chairman of the Department of Radio-Television, said it's not only budget cuts that hurt the department, it is the salaries the department has to pay instructors.

"We can't even get quality people in for interviews to replace those faculty who have left or will be leaving," Foote said. "Other universities pay better than SIU-C."

Foote added, "I had three top people lined up for interviews, and when I told them the salary, they told me that they wouldn't even waste my time to come in."

Foote said he lost three instructors this year and was lucky to replace them with one permanent and two temporary positions.

THE SCHOOL of Music has the same problems as the rest of the schools and departments in the CCFA, according to Robert Roubos, director.

Roubos said he sees a reduction in teaching assistants; the operating budget, which includes travel, and the budget for the different ensembles.

"All this cutting will reduce performance and service," Roubos said. "The school won't be doing as many concerts or traveling."

Roubos added, "Performing is learning." Roubos said the school did manage to keep the Marching Salukis, when at first he thought they might have to cut it out.

As far as his staff, Roubos lost two faculty and will be replacing them with three.

"I WAS really lucky," Roubos said, "I hired one professor and for the other replacement I hired a piano team."

Roubos said the combining of classes won't affect the school very much.

"This school only has one

class in common with the other departments," Roubos said. "That's with the theater department, a class helping to protect the voice."

Marvin Kleinau, chair of the Department of Speech Communications, said he'd like to see the University give an exceptional education rather than an adequate one.

Kleinau said, "Right now this institution is providing students with an education that momma says, 'fine, my boy got an education,' but I'd like to see SIU-C provide an exceptional education."

"IN ORDER to provide an exceptional education," Kleinau said, "the University has to start paying its instructors more."

"Professors just can't sit around," Kleinau said. "They have to do research. They have to learn, too. But right now the University isn't paying them to do that, and they're getting restless and leaving this University for others."

When asked about cuts in the department and what's in store for the upcoming semesters, Kleinau said, "If you don't have it, you don't miss it."

"Heck, we've been going years without things the department needs," Kleinau added.

KLEINAU SAID he has filled one position on a temporary basis.

David Stevens, former chair of the Department of Theater, said he cut two graduate programs in order to save money and still give undergraduate students an adequate education.

Stevens said that undergraduate students are getting a lot more than they're paying for in terms of education.

Stevens said, "Compared to a private university or a school that specializes in theater, I think SIU-C is giving just as good of an education for a lot less money."

Stevens said it seems every year the budget gets less and less, but the department seems to get by with what they have.

HE SAID the department eliminated four graduate assistant programs to hire another faculty member.

David Gilmore, chairperson of the Department of Cinema and Photography, said his department is a very expensive one to maintain.

"We're in desperation," Gilmore said. "For instance, in the film department, to replace or repair a movie camera is almost out of the question."

As for education, Gilmore said, "I think we're on the edge of adequate and good."

Gilmore added, "I'd like to think we're good, because it's very expensive to graduate from our program."

"SOME GRADUATING seniors spend as much as $10,000 on their final films," Gilmore said.

Gene Brutton, chairperson of Communication Disorders and Sciences, didn't want to comment on the situation, claiming it was "very sticky," but did say now was not the time to be a director or chair of a department.

Overall, the department chairs and directors are noticing the same problems and none has a sure way to solve them.

According to Michael Youngblood, associate dean of the CCFA, he and the other deans need to take a closer look at where cuts should be made in each department.

"We have the same budget as in 1987, prior to the reductions," he said.

"ACTUALLY, WE'RE better off. We didn't have to cut what hasn't already been cut," Youngblood said.

"We encouraged some cuts, but they weren't as serious as we thought," he said.

"In the future, we must manage to be more cost-effective," he said.

Street to close

Part of Stoker Street will be closed Wednesday and Thursday while a water line for the Recreation Center is installed, University Architect Alan Haake said.

Haake said the street, which is east of the Recreation Center, will be closed from the intersection of State Street to the Recreation Center's parking lot.

April 6 murder of Miley.

Miley's decapitated body was found in the trunk of his car near Rocky Comfort Road in Union County on April 10 by high school students who were camping.

The students vandalized Miley's car and the trunk popped open, revealing Miley's body.

Miley's head has not been found.

The trial will resume at 9:30 a.m. today.

remember the man because he had his hands wrapped in Ace bandages.

Betty L. Boyer, of Carbondale, testified Thursday that she saw Nitz beat a man with a baseball bat until he fell to the ground outside Nitz's trailer on April 6.

Boyer also alleged that Rita Nitz took the keys from the man's pocket and both of them dumped the man into the trunk of the car.

EUGENE L. Ringuette, Murphysboro, associate professor of psychology, with 21 years of service.

Ringuette earned a bachelor's degree at Jamestown (N.D.) College and master's and doctoral degrees from Purdue University. He came to SIU-C in 1968 as an associate professor from the University of California at Los Angeles' Neuropsychiatric Institute. He served as the acting director of clinical psychology at SIU-C from 1971 to 1972.

HERBERT ROAN, Carbondale, instructor and lecturer in comprehensive planning and design, with 23 years of service.

Roan officially retired Aug. 31, but he has been on disability leave from the University since 1981. Roan joined the SIU-C faculty in 1957 as an instructor of design. He helped coordinate the Vision '65 world congress, billed as a major world conference on human communications when it was held at SIU-C in 1965. He earned a certificate from the Cooper Union Art School (1938) and completed course work at Columbia and Mississippi State universities. In the mid-1950s he taught design at New York University (1954 to 1955) and at the Pratt Institute (1955 to 1957). Roan is a native of New York City.

WAYNE L. St. John, Carbondale, professor of vocational education studies, with 13 years of service.

A research chemist, St. John came to SIU-C with 20 years of experience working for Proctor and Gamble. He holds three chemistry degrees: a bachelor's degree from the University of Iowa (1948), a master's degree from Northwestern University (1951) and a doctoral degree from the University of Oregon (1954). St. John taught at Kansas State University for three years before he joined SIU-C in 1975 as chairman of the clothing and textiles department. His hometown is Danville.

Harry R. Soderstrom

He retired May 31.

HARRY R. Soderstrom, Cobden, associate dean and professor in the College of Technical Careers, with 28 years of service.

Soderstrom served as the chief academic adviser for the old Vocational Technical Institute in the mid-1960s and was acting director and assistant dean in the '70s. He first taught in the institute's machine shop from 1954 to 1956, then joined General Electric in E. vendale, Ohio, as a manufacturing engineer. He returned to SIU-C as an assistant professor in 1962. He has been associate dean of the College of Technical Careers since 1986. Soderstrom holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Bradley University. He is a native of Moline.

DONALD S. Wham, Carbondale, earned his medical degree from the University of Illinois-Chicago campus in 1952. He worked for the State of Illinois in Chester before he joined the SIU-C Health Service staff in 1974.

MILDRED WILKINSON, Carbondale, assistant professor of foreign languages and literatures, with 28 years of service.

Wilkinson taught business courses and accountancy when she first came to SIU-C in the late 1950s. She returned to school for her second master's degree—in Spanish—and began a new teaching career in the Department of Foreign Languages in 1961. She holds a bachelor's degree in business from Indiana University (1945) and two master's degrees from SIU-C: educational guidance (1959) and Spanish (1965).

She retired May 31.

Retiring Civil Service employees are:

DONALD D. Ballance, Cobden, a technician for the SIU Arena, with 18 years of service.

Ballance joined the University staff as Arena technician in 1969. His retirement was effective Dec. 31, 1987.

BARBARA E. Benz, Murphysboro, administrative aide in airport operations, with 27 years of service.

Benz has worked for airport operations since 1960, when she started as an inventory clerk. She later became a cost accountant at the airport, worked for three years with University Laundry, transferred back to airport operations and was promoted to administrative aide in 1973.

DARL C. Braswell, Carbondale, superintendent of SIU-C's Printing Service, with 31 years of service. Braswell started at SIU-C in 1956 as an offset pressman. He was promoted to cylinder pressroom foreman in 1962, and to superintendent of the print shop in 1969. He became Printing Service superintendent in 1973. Before coming to SIU-C he managed the Carbondale Kroger store. He retired Dec. 31, 1987.

MARVIN L. Braswell, Carbondale, police officer IV, with 22 years of service. Braswell joined the SIU-C Security Office as a policeman in 1965 and was promoted to sergeant in 1967. He had held his present position since 1970. He has also served as the department's community relations officer. He retired Dec. 31, 1987.

University Farms to provide public tours of new facilities

By Loria Roberson
Staff Writer

The tour of the University Farms at 6:30 tonight is open to the public even though it is a meeting for local farmers, said Elden Shaffner, farm manager.

"Anyone is welcome," Shaffner said. "It's an open house type of format and not just for the farmers."

The two-hour tour will begin at the Physiology Research Center on Union Hill Road at the University Farms and will include tours of the new beef and swine facilities, said Robert Arthur, associate professor of animal science at the College of Agriculture.

Arthur said they will mainly discuss research being conducted at the animal centers and the facilities in general.

There will also be informal talks for farmers about beef and swine production techniques, he said.

Arthur said he will be speaking on the use of wet corn gluten feed for swine.

Wet corn gluten feed is a by-product of the corn wet-milling process, said Arthur. Corporations use the corn-wet-milling process in the production of ethanol and corn sweeteners, and, in the past, have sold the gluten to European countries, he said.

"Now it has turned into a case where production is outstripping utilization because the milling business has become so large," Arthur said. "We're looking for new uses for the wet corn gluten."

Those new uses include using the corn gluten as feed in swine, as a substitute in rations for pregnant sows or as finishing rations for cattle, Arthur said. Finishing rations are fed to cattle that are almost ready to go to market, he said.

Farmers would have to buy the corn gluten directly from the milling corporations, Arthur said, and depending on the time of year, it could be less expensive than buying corn for feed.

Also speaking is Anthony W. Young, associate dean for research at the College of Agriculture. Young said he will be discussing the research being conducted at the Beef Center concerning the use of fish oil in beef to reduce heart disease.

Fate of diesel tax uncertain

Farmers and other off-road users seek repeal plan

CHICAGO (UPI) — The fate of a proposal to repeal the tax on diesel fuel used on farms and other off-road purposes remained uncertain Monday.

The tax of 15.1 cents per gallon collected on all diesel fuel since April 1 goes into the National Highway Fund. Farmers and all off-road users must pay the tax, then apply for a refund.

Rep. Jim Jontz, D-Ind., a member of House Agriculture Committee and one of those pushing for repeal, said in a telephone interview Monday the law requires the government to collect a tax which the farmer doesn't owe because of the exemption for diesel fuel used on the farm.

"The farmer, in essence, is making an interest-free loan to the government and although he gets his money back it's only after some period of time and some inconvenience," Jontz said. "The last things farmers need are more forms to fill out and more hoops to jump through. They need the money worse than the government does."

Jontz said there have been some abuses of the diesel fuel exemption for off-road use, but does not think they were as bad in the agricultural sector as in some other areas.

"I don't think the remedy is appropriate for the crime," he said. "Obviously, I support proper investigation and prosecution of those who evade their responsibility for paying taxes on fuel that is not tax exempt, but this is like using a sledge hammer to kill a flea and is an unreasonable hassle and expense for the farmer."

Bus trip to debate scheduled

Students and members of the community wishing to attend the first of three debates Wednesday evening between Congressional candidates Patrick Kelley and Glenn Poshard can catch a ride on a bus at no charge.

Southern Illinois University College Democrats and Glenn Poshard for Congress have joined together to offer free transportation to Shawnee College in Ullin for the debate, which is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Buses have been furnished by the University for use by college students. Registration for a spot on the buses will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. today and Wednesday. Students must be registered to ride.

The buses will leave from the Student Center at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, with a stop being made at 6 p.m. at John A. Logan. The buses will return at about 10:30 p.m.

For details, contact Andy Leighton at 457-4854.

Miami vaults ahead in college football poll

Scripps Howard News Service

Despite not playing this weekend, Miami increased its lead in the Scripps Howard college football poll. Thanks to UCLA's walloping of Nebraska, the Hurricanes received 24 first-place votes and 591 poll points. Last week, Miami had 14 first-place ballots and 573 points. Nebraska fell eight notches to 10th. A week ago the Cornhuskers had 12 first-place votes. Moving up a spot, to second, is UCLA. The Bruins got two firsts and 562 points. Oklahoma's 28-0 victory at North Carolina was good enough for third, up three spots. The Sooners received a first-place vote. Clemson, with two first-place votes, remains fourth.

Georgia is up three to fifth. Southern California slipped two to sixth. Rounding out the top 10 are Auburn, Louisiana State and Notre Dame.

IAAC meets at Anthony Hall

The Intercollegiate Athletic Advisory Committee will hold a meeting from 2 to 4 p.m. today in the Balcony Conference Room at Anthony Hall.

Jim Hart, athletics director at SIU-C, will be giving a report, as will Charlotte West, associate athletics director.

NCAA membership grows

For the first time in the history of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, school membership reached the 1,000-mark, the recent issue of The NCAA News reported.

Membership in the NCAA is at 1,020, a 1.6 percent increase over 1987. It is the largest percentile increase since 1984.

Saluki women race to third place at twenty team SIU-E Invitational

By Robert Baxter
Staff Writer

The largest meet of the year so far for the women's cross country team proved to be a successful outing for the Saluki women as they captured third place in the SIU-Edwardsville Invitational.

The top finisher for SIU-C was senior Jane Schumacher, who after placing fourth in last week's triangular in 19:25.7, came back with a repeat performance this week finishing in fourth, again with a time of 19:25.

Coach Don DeNoon predicted the top three teams in the tournament would be Dayton, Southeast Missouri and SIU-C, and that's exactly the way it turned out as Dayton came in first with 74 points, followed by SEMO at 66 and SIU-C and SIU-E tied for third at 91.

The Salukis were awarded third place on the basis of their fifth runner placing higher than that of SIU-E.

DeNoon said he was happy with the overall outcome of the race but he still doesn't know where his team truly stands.

"The athletes ran well, but I'm not sure we have identified ourselves yet," he said.

DeNoon said the situation was like a jigsaw puzzle with the Salukis not quite putting all the pieces together yet.

"I don't know whether we are a full grown Saluki dog yet, or just in the puppy stage," DeNoon said, referring to possible untapped potential he feels the team has yet to show.

"Overall, I was pleased with the outcome, especially with the athletes we had running," DeNoon said. "The course is considerably tougher than ours, and we ran well despite not having (No.1 runner Lisa) Judiscak there."

DeNoon said Judiscak is doing light workouts now, running as much as 1.5 miles. He still does not know when she will return.

But Judiscak was not the only runner the Salukis were missing. Several runners did not compete because of injuries and sophomore Michelle Sciano, who placed fifth last week, did not make the trip. The reason for Sciano's absence was not disclosed.

DeNoon said a completely healthy team might have given the Salukis the edge they needed to win the meet.

"It definitely diminishes our capabilities when we are not running at full strength."

In all, 132 runners finished the race and SIU-C placed three runners in the top 20 and eight in the final 100.

Junior Cathy Brown was 14th, Rosanne Vincent was 18th, Pam Quarenghi was 22nd and Dona Griffin was 33rd.

Bears' McMahon ailing after win

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (UPI) — Chicago Bears quarterback Jim McMahon came out of the Bears' 17-13 victory over Indianapolis Sunday with assorted bumps and bruises as well as a game ball from Coach Mike Ditka.

"McMahon is a little sore," Ditka said Monday. "He got ripped on three plays. He got ripped on the touchdown (pass to Dennis McKinnon). He saw the kid coming all the way, still took the pump, threw the touchdown perfectly. He laid it right in and takes that shot. I gave Jim a game ball because he deserved it."

McMahon completed 19 of 31 passes for 186 yards and one touchdown but also threw an interception, the first turnover in two regular season games for the Bears after they gave up 17 in four preseason games.

Ditka said defensive tackle Steve McMichael also received a game ball for the fine job he did along with the rest of the defensive line in holding Eric Dickerson to 95 yards. The Bears have not allowed a 100-yard rushing game against them in the last 26 games.

Ditka said McMahon will be fine for the Bears' upcoming game against the Minnesota Vikings Sunday. He said he had no idea whether defensive end Richard Dent would be available following his hearing this week before NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle for failing to take a drug test.

bicycle accident, left a hole that needed to be filled.

"I can't say I was particularly pleased with the doubles," Auld said, "but we haven't been able to practice any doubles, either."

Tough tennis players were not the only obstacle to overcome for the Salukis this weekend as injuries and illness also crept into the picture.

"There's a lot of respiratory problems going around," Auld said. "I had trouble with everyone throughout the entire weekend."

Besides defaults from illness, two Salukis, Maria Coch and Lori Edwards, suffered groin pulls.

"Hopefully they will be healed by Thursday," Auld said. "Dana ought to be back Wednesday, too."

Looking ahead to the next meet this Friday at Indiana, Auld said she isn't worried.

Freshman finishes first as cross country begins season

By Robert Baxter
Staff Writer

The men's cross country team opened its season with a loss at Kansas on Saturday, but they made their presence known as two runners placed in the top three at the meet.

A gutsy performance by junior Paul Burkinshaw and a surprise first by freshman John Dennis showed why this is a team to be reckoned with the rest of the season.

Cornell said he knew the freshmen would be competitive from the start and their performances really gave him something to smile about.

"He (Dennis) looked awfully good," Cornell said, as Dennis came across the finish line in 26:52. "I am very pleased. The course there is much tougher than ours and it was a hot and humid day."

Cornell said he was proud of Vaughan Harry and Mark Stuart, who finished ninth (27:53) and 11th (28:02) respectively.

Burkinshaw, who finished third in 27:16, collapsed after crossing the finish line.

Cornell said he knew the freshmen would be competitive from the start and their performances really gave him something to smile about.

"He really showed me what he's made of by running himself to a complete stand still during the race and still finishing," Cornell said, adding that it took over an hour for Burkinshaw to recover.

Sophomore Mike Kershaw finished a strong 12th with a time of 28:14, which rounded out the scoring for SIU-C. Only the top five finishers for each team are calculated in the final point-tallies.

Cornell said senior captain

David Beauchem had been suffering all week from flu-like symptoms and this definitely affected his performance as he finished 18th with a time of 29:38.

Other Saluki finishers were senior Paul Glanville in 15th, senior JBre Kelly in 16th and senior Bret Garrett in 19th.

"Since we don't have a meet this weekend I plan on running the guys a little heavier," Cornell said. The Salukis' next action is Sept. 24 at the Kentucky Invitational in Lexington.

Qualifying rounds held for golf teams

Defending conference champ fails out

By John Walblay
Staff Writer

The defending Gateway Conference women's golf champ, Julie Shumaker, failed to qualify among the top six players on the team following the first set of qualifying rounds.

Shumaker shot an 87, 93 and 86 for a 54-hole total of 266.

Last spring Shumaker was the conference medalist with a 54-hole total of 233. She also ranks among the all-time school leaders in several categories.

Women's golf coach Diane Daugherty said Shumaker had some bad rounds and made some swing changes during qualifying.

"She has a history of not playing well on qualifying rounds," Daugherty said.

Daugherty said Shumaker will, however, go with the team Saturday to the Illinois State Invite in Normal and compete as an individual. Her scores will not count as part of the team totals.

Shumaker will have to wait some time before she has another chance to regain a top spot in the lineup. The team returns late Sunday after it's meet in Normal and will not have time for a second qualifying meet before leaving for the Lady Northern at Purdue the following weekend.

The No. 1 spot on the team was captured by Lisa Meritt, a junior, who finished ninth in the conference last season, and shot a three-round total of 236 for the 54-hole qualifier.

The three freshmen recruits finished in the Nos. 2, 3 and 4 spots. They are Debbie Minter, Gina Giacone and Anne Childress.

The No. 5 spot was won by senior Peggy Ellsworth and No. 6 by junior Lisa Johnson.

Daugherty said of the 15 schools competing in the tournament this weekend, SIU-C could finish in the top three.

The men's team opens at the Northern Iowa Golf Classic in Cedar Falls on Friday.

Freshman Dirk Klapprott shot a team-low average of 75.7 to take the No. 1 spot for the men's team. Four of the remaining seven players filled the roster, including sophomore Britt Pavelonis, sophomore Mark Bellas, freshman Sean Leckrone, and junior Mike Cowen.

The three remaining players will not compete this weekend but will be able to qualify for a position among the top five later in the year.

Cowen, an all-conference pick last year, was in question early in the season because he suffered from mononucleosis. However, he was able to return to action a week ago.

Hartzog said the tournament will be tough competition with several Big Ten teams and a strong Illinois State team competing.

Staff Photo by Cameron Chin

Julie Shumaker, the defending Gateway champion, practices at Jackson Country Club. Shumaker, a favorite for the No. 1 spot on the women's golf team had a disappointing qualifier and failed to rank in the top six.

More diverse wall featured at Rec Center

By Nora Bentley
Staff Writer

A more versatile climbing wall is to be installed at the Recreation Center this semester, Peter Hatlestad, of the Adventure Resource Center, said.

The wall will be different from the one now in place because it uses Metoleus blocks instead of wooden ones, Hatlestad said. It also can be used in more diverse ways because it isn't stationary, he added.

Metoleus blocks are simulated sandstone that can be turned to make different hand grips, Hatlestad said. "I don't think any other school has this," he said.

With the wooden blocks, the hand grips and the layout of the climb can't be changed, and if a person practices on the wall for a long period of time the challenge is lost, Hatlestad said.

"With the new wall, climbers can simulate a climb they know about and practice it in a safer condition," he said.

The wall also will have two roofs which are like overhangs on cliffs, Hatlestad said. Footholds are harder to find on the roofs because the climber is more horizontal than vertical, he said.

"Hopefully with the new roof people will learn how to use it (the wall) safely so they can change the wall themselves," Hatlestad said. Now climbers can use the wall only during climbing hours and with supervisors present.

Men's tennis near perfect in win

By Megan Hauck
Staff Writer

The men's tennis team took the University of Evansville to the cleaners this weekend, losing only two matches by default to injury.

Juan Martinez, playing at No. 5, defaulted his singles match after completing the second set. Chronic inflammation of the patellar, an area just below the knee cap, forced Martinez to give up the third set to Indiana's Jason Suscha.

LeFevre said Martinez has been undergoing physical therapy exercises to strengthen the knee, but it hasn't done the trick.

"It's a medical thing and we'll have to take (the doctor's) word for it," LeFevre said. "They'll use some anti-inflammatory medicine for it, and rest should help it along."

LeFevre said he was pleased with the way the Salukis played, but it was hard to tell how well the team will do this season since Evansville is relatively weak.

LeFevre said Evansville, a division I school, has some potentially good players. "We play them again later in the year. They'll be tougher then," he said.

The Salukis' No. 1 player, Jairo Aldana, blasted Evansville's top player, Greg Smith, 6-0, 6-1 Saturday.

"I'm hitting much better than last semester," Aldana said. "Playing people better than me this summer really helped my game."

Aldana, who spent part of the summer working at the Nick Bollieteri Tennis

Academy in Florida, practiced this summer with Andre Agassi, 1988 U.S. Open semifinalist. Aldana appeared on ABC's "20-20" practicing with Agassi.

"(ABC) went to the Academy to interview Agassi and I happened to be practicing with him," he said.

In other singles matches: SIU-C's No. 2 Joe Demeterco beat Bob Green, 6-4, 6-1; SIU-C's No. 3 Mickey Maulie beat Brad Slack, 6-3, 6-3; SIU-C's Fabiano Ramos beat Matt Fehn, 6-7, 7-5, 6-3 and SIU-C's George Hime beat John Degracias, 6-0, 6-1.

In doubles matches: Maulie and Ramos beat Smith and Fehn, 6-0, 6-0; Demeterco and Aldana beat Green and Slack, 6-1, 7-5 and Suscha and Degracias beat Martinez and Hime, 6-0, 6-0.

Auld optimistic after defeat

The women's tennis team lost more matches than it won at the Midwest Fall Invitational, but Coach Judy Auld said she isn't too worried.

"The fall isn't our main season," she said. "You mainly just want to take a look at everybody. If you can see progress and improvement — that's the main thing of this tournament."

The Invitational consisted of seven teams, four of which are in the Big 10.

"The level of competition at this tournament was really, really high," Auld said.

"These teams will be finishing high in the top 10."

Notre Dame, Illinois, Purdue, and Indiana were the toughest contenders in the tournament. Other teams included Miami of Ohio and Northern Illinois.

"My players feel good coming away from this tournament with one or two wins," Auld said. "It's that tough."

Auld said her doubles teams had not practiced together and were not prepared for such stiff competition. The absence of Dana Cherebetiu, injured last week in a
