AFL-CIO wary of security crackdown
Liberties activists fear new policies will violate rights

ALEX CRABBE
DAILY EGYPTIAN

Security measures across the United States are tightening in response to last week's terrorist attacks. And civil liberties groups are on the watch to make sure the new policies are not a knee-jerk reaction, according to an American Civil Liberties Union official.

On Wednesday, the Justice Department announced that it had expanded its power to detain immigrants suspected of crimes. Previously, the department had a 24-hour deadline to either release detained immigrants or charge them with a crime.

Now the department has extended that to 48 hours, or longer "as the event of emergency or other extraordinary circumstances."

This new rule allows the Justice Department to detain the 35 immigrants arrested in connection with last week's attacks.

Ed Yohaski, director of communications for the ACLU in Illinois, said that while new security policies may be needed, they need to be implemented in a fair, deliberative manner.

Last Thursday, Congress voted to approve a $40 billion aid package to help with the disaster. Included in the package was a provision that makes it easier for federal law enforcement to wiretap computers.

The idea for the panel developed from a discussion between Shirley Clark Scott, dean of COLA, and Jeremy Hoffman, Hoffman, senior counseling psychologist at the Counseling Center, said the idea came from the lack of information the center was able to provide on how the United States became a target for the bombings.

"There is a history here and people need to understand that. People need to understand some of the reasons why many countries happen to be angry at the United States," Hoffman said. "It won't help our country's situation if we don't understand how other people feel about us at times."

Panel searches for truth behind terror
Old-school 'teach-in' will discuss history, aftermath of attack

WILLIAM ALFORD
DAILY EGYPTIAN

The first of a series of discussions venturing concerns derived from the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks begins today.

The first panel discussion will begin at noon in the Old Baptist Foundation Recital Hall. It will focus on how events like the attacks have the potential to generate hate crimes and violations of civil liberties.

CRISIS:
U.S. deploys fighter planes to Middle East

The Sept. 11 attacks renewed fears of terrorism in the Middle East. The Sept. 11 attacks renewed fears of terrorism in the Middle East. The Sept. 11 attacks renewed fears of terrorism in the Middle East.

Other proposed changes include new surveillance capabilities and increased security at federal facilities. For federal agents to ensure that last week's attacks are not repeated.

But these are not the only changes that civil liberties groups fear will be enacted without input or deliberation.

Ed Yohaski, director of communications for the ACLU in Illinois, said that while new security policies may need to be implemented, they need to be implemented in a fair, deliberative manner, with full hearings and debate.

Last Thursday, Congress voted to approve a $40 billion aid package to help with the disaster. Included in the package was a provision that makes it easier for federal law enforcement to wiretap computers. Yohaski said he was concerned by this provision.

The idea for the panel developed from a discussion between Shirley Clark Scott, dean of COLA, and Jeremy Hoffman, Hoffman, senior counseling psychologist at the Counseling Center, said the idea came from the lack of information the center was able to provide on how the United States became a target for the bombings.

"There is a history here and people need to understand that. People need to understand some of the reasons why many countries happen to be angry at the United States," Hoffman said. "It won't help our country's situation if we don't understand how other people feel about us at times."

The first panel discussion will begin at noon in the Old Baptist Foundation Recital Hall. It will focus on how events like the attacks have the potential to generate hate crimes and violations of civil liberties.

CRISIS:
U.S. deploys fighter planes to Middle East

The Sept. 11 attacks renewed fears of terrorism in the Middle East. The Sept. 11 attacks renewed fears of terrorism in the Middle East. The Sept. 11 attacks renewed fears of terrorism in the Middle East.

Other proposed changes include new surveillance capabilities and increased security at federal facilities. For federal agents to ensure that last week's attacks are not repeated.

But these are not the only changes that civil liberties groups fear will be enacted without input or deliberation.

Ed Yohaski, director of communications for the ACLU in Illinois, said that while new security policies may need to be implemented, they need to be implemented in a fair, deliberative manner, with full hearings and debate.

Last Thursday, Congress voted to approve a $40 billion aid package to help with the disaster. Included in the package was a provision that makes it easier for federal law enforcement to wiretap computers. Yohaski said he was concerned by this provision.

The idea for the panel developed from a discussion between Shirley Clark Scott, dean of COLA, and Jeremy Hoffman, Hoffman, senior counseling psychologist at the Counseling Center, said the idea came from the lack of information the center was able to provide on how the United States became a target for the bombings.

"There is a history here and people need to understand that. People need to understand some of the reasons why many countries happen to be angry at the United States," Hoffman said. "It won't help our country's situation if we don't understand how other people feel about us at times."

The first panel discussion will begin at noon in the Old Baptist Foundation Recital Hall. It will focus on how events like the attacks have the potential to generate hate crimes and violations of civil liberties.

Governor's race stalls in wake of disaster

MOLLY PARKER
DAILY EGYPTIAN

The 2002 governor hopefuls hit the brakes on campaigning and went into a waiting mode as the disaster affected things that seemed irrelevant after hijacked planes crashed into the World Trade Center and Pentagon.

Certainly, before the terrorist attacks, the governor's race appeared to be a foregone conclusion, with eight democrats and three republicans fighting for the priminary nomination.

Political pundits had it that Rep. Dick Durbin, D-Ill., would win the nomination with ease after his nearly sure victory in the 1996 Senate race.

But events changed everything. The Sept. 11 attacks renewed fears of terrorism in the Middle East. The Sept. 11 attacks renewed fears of terrorism in the Middle East. The Sept. 11 attacks renewed fears of terrorism in the Middle East.

The Sept. 11 attacks renewed fears of terrorism in the Middle East. The Sept. 11 attacks renewed fears of terrorism in the Middle East. The Sept. 11 attacks renewed fears of terrorism in the Middle East.

Other political events also seemed to be of little concern.

U.S. Rep. Rod Blagojevich, a Chicago democrat running for governor, was expected to finish his three-day campaign in Carbondale on the day of the attacks. What was expected to be a day of campaigning for Blagojevich was canceled.

And although Illinois politicians have little to do with foreign policy, state candidates previously occupied with self-righting turned their efforts to the national crisis.

Attorney General Jim Ryan, who announced he was running for governor on the Republican ticket in early August, said a string of Illinois gas stations for price gouging.

Wood was tapped to coordinate Illinois' relief efforts with the American Red Cross. And playing catch-up with the statewide officials, State Sen. Patrick O'Malley, also republican, sent out a statement showing his support for the United Muslim Americans Association.

U.S. Rep. Rod Blagojevich, a Chicago democrat running for governor, was expected to finish his three-day campaign in Carbondale on the day of the attacks. What was expected to be a day of campaigning for Blagojevich was canceled.

And although Illinois politicians have little to do with foreign policy, state candidates previously occupied with self-righting turned their efforts to the national crisis.

Attorney General Jim Ryan, who announced he was running for governor on the Republican ticket in early August, said a string of Illinois gas stations for price gouging.

Wood was tapped to coordinate Illinois' relief efforts with the American Red Cross. And playing catch-up with the statewide officials, State Sen. Patrick O'Malley, also republican, sent out a statement showing his support for the United Muslim Americans Association.

U.S. Rep. Rod Blagojevich, a Chicago democrat running for governor, was expected to finish his three-day campaign in Carbondale on the day of the attacks. What was expected to be a day of campaigning for Blagojevich was canceled.

And although Illinois politicians have little to do with foreign policy, state candidates previously occupied with self-righting turned their efforts to the national crisis.

Attorney General Jim Ryan, who announced he was running for governor on the Republican ticket in early August, said a string of Illinois gas stations for price gouging.

Wood was tapped to coordinate Illinois' relief efforts with the American Red Cross. And playing catch-up with the statewide officials, State Sen. Patrick O'Malley, also republican, sent out a statement showing his support for the United Muslim Americans Association.

U.S. Rep. Rod Blagojevich, a Chicago democrat running for governor, was expected to finish his three-day campaign in Carbondale on the day of the attacks. What was expected to be a day of campaigning for Blagojevich was canceled.

And although Illinois politicians have little to do with foreign policy, state candidates previously occupied with self-righting turned their efforts to the national crisis.

Attorney General Jim Ryan, who announced he was running for governor on the Republican ticket in early August, said a string of Illinois gas stations for price gouging.

Wood was tapped to coordinate Illinois' relief efforts with the American Red Cross. And playing catch-up with the statewide officials, State Sen. Patrick O'Malley, also republican, sent out a statement showing his support for the United Muslim Americans Association.

U.S. Rep. Rod Blagojevich, a Chicago democrat running for governor, was expected to finish his three-day campaign in Carbondale on the day of the attacks. What was expected to be a day of campaigning for Blagojevich was canceled.

And although Illinois politicians have little to do with foreign policy, state candidates previously occupied with self-righting turned their efforts to the national crisis.

Attorney General Jim Ryan, who announced he was running for governor on the Republican ticket in early August, said a string of Illinois gas stations for price gouging.

Wood was tapped to coordinate Illinois' relief efforts with the American Red Cross. And playing catch-up with the statewide officials, State Sen. Patrick O'Malley, also republican, sent out a statement showing his support for the United Muslim Americans Association.

NY offers free tuition to victims

NEW YORK — Gov. George E. Pataki announced Tuesday that New York State will offer free college educations for family members of victims of the World Trade Center disaster. The law takes effect in New York.

Pataki said the state wants to show compassion by helping family members with free tuition, tuition, room, board, fees and remaining costs. The benefits would be available to children, grandchildren and stepchildren of victims, he said, and would cover cost for any New York state college or private college in the state.

He said the benefits would also apply to survivors of the attack who were left disabled and their family members.

Pataki also said he would reject legislation to increase benefits for police, firefighters, emergency medical technicians and members of the ambulance corps, should they be injured while making rescue attempts.

Taliban strikes back

KABUL, Afghanistan — The leader of Afghanistan's ruling Taliban has accused the U.S. government of using suspected terrorist Osama bin Laden as a "merchandise to finance" the Taliban's system of government.

In a statement released to about 600 Muslim clerics meeting in the capital of Kabul Wednesday, Taliban leader Mullah Mohammed Omar said that the Taliban no longer allow bin Laden to use Afghanistan as a base for his attacks. The statement also said that the Taliban has taken all communications equipment away from bin Laden so that he cannot contact people outside Afghanistan's borders.

The Tuesday meeting comes after a delegation of Pakistani experts went to the Taliban to try to persuade bin Laden or face the threat of U.S. military retaliation. Bin Laden is the prime suspect in last week's terrorist attacks.

Pakistan leader speaks publicly about helping U.S.

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — Threats of U.S. retaliation against Afghanistan have led the leader of the country's southeast neighbors, Pakistan's Gen. Pervez Musharraf, to create an image for his people of the nation's tough geopolitical position. In a lengthy television address Wednesday, Musharraf pleaded with his people to understand why he sided with the United States in its efforts to hold Saudi millionaire Osama bin Laden at least partially responsible for the September 11 ter­

WTO authorizes Taiwan's membership

GENEVA — Taiwan, just a day after China, gained membership to the World Trade Organization.

The WTO agreed Tuesday to accept a 1,200-page document outlining conditions for Taiwan's membership and setting rules on international trade. The admission terms were made 18 months ago, but membership was delayed because Taiwan had not been accepted by the United States.

Taiwan's economic minister Lin Hsin-ho said the nation's tough geopolitical position.

Taliban no longer allows bin Laden to use Afghanistan as a base for his attacks. The statement also said that the Taliban has taken all communications equipment away from bin Laden so that he cannot contact people outside Afghanistan's borders.

The Tuesday meeting comes after a delegation of Pakistani experts went to the Taliban to try to persuade bin Laden or face the threat of U.S. military retaliation. Bin Laden is the prime suspect in last week's terrorist attacks.

Pakistan leader speaks publicly about helping U.S.

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — Threats of U.S. retaliation against Afghanistan have led the leader of the country's southeast neighbors, Pakistan's Gen. Pervez Musharraf, to create an image for his people of the nation's tough geopolitical position. In a lengthy television address Wednesday, Musharraf pleaded with his people to understand why he sided with the United States in its efforts to hold Saudi millionaire Osama bin Laden at least partially responsible for the September 11 ter­

WTO authorizes Taiwan's membership

GENEVA — Taiwan, just a day after China, gained membership to the World Trade Organization.

The WTO agreed Tuesday to accept a 1,200-page document outlining conditions for Taiwan's membership and setting rules on international trade. The admission terms were made 18 months ago, but membership was delayed because Taiwan had not been accepted by the United States.

Taiwan's economic minister Lin Hsin-ho said the nation's tough geopolitical position.

Taliban no longer allows bin Laden to use Afghanistan as a base for his attacks. The statement also said that the Taliban has taken all communications equipment away from bin Laden so that he cannot contact people outside Afghanistan's borders.

The Tuesday meeting comes after a delegation of Pakistani experts went to the Taliban to try to persuade bin Laden or face the threat of U.S. military retaliation. Bin Laden is the prime suspect in last week's terrorist attacks.

Pakistan leader speaks publicly about helping U.S.

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — Threats of U.S. retaliation against Afghanistan have led the leader of the country's southeast neighbors, Pakistan's Gen. Pervez Musharraf, to create an image for his people of the nation's tough geopolitical position. In a lengthy television address Wednesday, Musharraf pleaded with his people to understand why he sided with the United States in its efforts to hold Saudi millionaire Osama bin Laden at least partially responsible for the September 11 ter­

WTO authorizes Taiwan's membership

GENEVA — Taiwan, just a day after China, gained membership to the World Trade Organization.

The WTO agreed Tuesday to accept a 1,200-page document outlining conditions for Taiwan's membership and setting rules on international trade. The admission terms were made 18 months ago, but membership was delayed because Taiwan had not been accepted by the United States.

Taiwan's economic minister Lin Hsin-ho said the nation's tough geopolitical position.

Taliban no longer allows bin Laden to use Afghanistan as a base for his attacks. The statement also said that the Taliban has taken all communications equipment away from bin Laden so that he cannot contact people outside Afghanistan's borders.

The Tuesday meeting comes after a delegation of Pakistani experts went to the Taliban to try to persuade bin Laden or face the threat of U.S. military retaliation. Bin Laden is the prime suspect in last week's terrorist attacks.

Pakistan leader speaks publicly about helping U.S.

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — Threats of U.S. retaliation against Afghanistan have led the leader of the country's southeast neighbors, Pakistan's Gen. Pervez Musharraf, to create an image for his people of the nation's tough geopolitical position. In a lengthy television address Wednesday, Musharraf pleaded with his people to understand why he sided with the United States in its efforts to hold Saudi millionaire Osama bin Laden at least partially responsible for the September 11 ter­

WTO authorizes Taiwan's membership

GENEVA — Taiwan, just a day after China, gained membership to the World Trade Organization.

The WTO agreed Tuesday to accept a 1,200-page document outlining conditions for Taiwan's membership and setting rules on international trade. The admission terms were made 18 months ago, but membership was delayed because Taiwan had not been accepted by the United States.

Taiwan's economic minister Lin Hsin-ho said the nation's tough geopolitical position.

Taliban no longer allows bin Laden to use Afghanistan as a base for his attacks. The statement also said that the Taliban has taken all communications equipment away from bin Laden so that he cannot contact people outside Afghanistan's borders.
Police look to prevent problems in light of attacks

Mark Lambard

A new dimension was added to the already long list of race problems in Carbondale Tuesday night.

Concerns were raised about international and Muslims’ students’ safety at Tuesday’s Carbondale/SJC Joint Task Force on Race and Community Relations. Worries spurred from the recent jetliner hijackings and crashed four planes into New York World Trade Center, Pennsylvania in Washington D.C. and a field in Pennsylvania’s last week.

Aaren Clem, an SJC alum, said he was worried that people may look out as Arab-Americans and Muslims in light of the terrorist attack. Clem wants everyone to stop worrying about what the University and the City of Carbondale has taken to ensure the safety of its Muslim community.

If a wave of unification behind the victims, then we will see a backlash of violence against Muslims,” Clem said.

Meanwhile, students receive fast-hand experiences, working with local and their law school professors who have come to teach the classes.

The students have the opportunity to work on real cases and develop experience to guide them in the future without being paid.

The Law School was established in the 1950s, to help those from members of the public understand the law.

The Law School claims that every effort is made to ensure that the students are taught by the best teachers available.

The Law School teaches the students the important principles of the law, helping them to understand how the legal system works.

The Law School also offers a number of services, such as legal advice, to help people understand their legal rights and obligations.

If you are interested in finding out more about the Law School, please contact the Law School for a brochure or visit their website:

www.law.siu.edu

U.S. fighter planes deployed

Joseph D. Johnson

Pentagon sources indicated that dozens of warplanes were deployed to the Persian Gulf on Monday, as America begins to build up for the "new war" against terrorism.

As soon as today, a second deployment of aircraft, not yet issued, could push up the number of aircraft involved by 5,000, reports said. The Pentagon's final orders were not expected until today.

The additional aircraft will provide Bush with a variety of options for any military response to the terrorism suspect responsible for the recent tragedies in New York, Washington and Pennsylvania. The Pentagon did not want to tip its hand as to what may be in store.

Ghassan Bin Laden, who participated in an Al Qaeda attack on the USS Cole in Yemen last year, has been identified as the current target.

The next step is to find and capture Bin Laden, a plan first outlined in August. Since then, the al Qaeda network has been weakened, say sources.

Seven countries have offered to assist the United States in the search, the most recent being Jordan.

"We do not want to tip our hand", said one official, "but we are very confident of our ability to find Bin Laden and bring him to justice."

Lecture cancelled

The University Museum lecture featuring Mosque President and·Hi. Sigg has been cancelled.

The event was scheduled for Thursday in the Carbondale Civic Center. For more information, call the University Museum 535-5388.

Carbondale task force to face new concerns

Special council meeting tonight

There will be a special meeting of the Carbondale City Council tonight at 7 p.m. in the Carbondale Civic Center.

The meeting will include an overview of the current situation and the steps being taken to address it.

The meeting will be followed by a reception at the City Hall for all those interested in attending.

Walker to speak at Shryock

SIU President James Walker will deliver his 20th Annual Address at the University Auditorium on Tuesday, April 5 at 7:30 p.m.

The lecture will be followed by a reception at the Carbondale Civic Center.

The lecture will focus on the future of the university and its role in the community.

Lecture cancelled

The University Museum lecture featuring Mosque President and Haji Sigg has been cancelled.

The event was scheduled for Thursday in the Carbondale Civic Center. For more information, call the University Museum 535-5388.

Carbondale task force to face new concerns

Special council meeting tonight

There will be a special meeting of the Carbondale City Council at 7:30 p.m. in the Carbondale Civic Center.

The meeting will include an overview of the current situation and the steps being taken to address it.

The meeting will be followed by a reception at the City Hall for all those interested in attending.

Walker to speak at Shryock

SIU President James Walker will deliver his 20th Annual Address at the University Auditorium on Tuesday, April 5 at 7:30 p.m.

The lecture will be followed by a reception at the Carbondale Civic Center.

The lecture will focus on the future of the university and its role in the community.

Lecture cancelled

The University Museum lecture featuring Mosque President and Haji Sigg has been cancelled.

The event was scheduled for Thursday in the Carbondale Civic Center. For more information, call the University Museum 535-5388.

Carbondale task force to face new concerns

Special council meeting tonight

There will be a special meeting of the Carbondale City Council at 7:30 p.m. in the Carbondale Civic Center.

The meeting will include an overview of the current situation and the steps being taken to address it.

The meeting will be followed by a reception at the City Hall for all those interested in attending.

Walker to speak at Shryock

SIU President James Walker will deliver his 20th Annual Address at the University Auditorium on Tuesday, April 5 at 7:30 p.m.

The lecture will be followed by a reception at the Carbondale Civic Center.

The lecture will focus on the future of the university and its role in the community.

Lecture cancelled

The University Museum lecture featuring Mosque President and Haji Sigg has been cancelled.

The event was scheduled for Thursday in the Carbondale Civic Center. For more information, call the University Museum 535-5388.

Carbondale task force to face new concerns

Special council meeting tonight

There will be a special meeting of the Carbondale City Council at 7:30 p.m. in the Carbondale Civic Center.

The meeting will include an overview of the current situation and the steps being taken to address it.

The meeting will be followed by a reception at the City Hall for all those interested in attending.

Walker to speak at Shryock

SIU President James Walker will deliver his 20th Annual Address at the University Auditorium on Tuesday, April 5 at 7:30 p.m.

The lecture will be followed by a reception at the Carbondale Civic Center.

The lecture will focus on the future of the university and its role in the community.

Lecture cancelled

The University Museum lecture featuring Mosque President and Haji Sigg has been cancelled.

The event was scheduled for Thursday in the Carbondale Civic Center. For more information, call the University Museum 535-5388.
Creation of a new research position within administration should be handled delicately

SIUC Chancellor Walter V. Wendler is looking to bring into fruition one of the University's long-sought goals: creating a position within the administration for research. The University prides itself as a research-based institution. A vice chancellor for research would be an obvious and important aspect of our identity.

The position has been discussed for numerous years by past administrators. Chancellor Wendler's move could be monumental in placing a larger light on research at SIUC. Between now and October, when the chancellor makes his recommendation to the Board of Trustees, will be a critical period as the process unfolds.

The vice chancellor for research would report directly to the chancellor. Under the current structure, research falls under the jurisdiction of the vice chancellor for Academic Affairs and Provost. This new position would eliminate the barrier that currently exists between faculty and the chancellor when it comes to research.

The process in creating such an important position should be one that is fair and timely, however. The position itself and its relationship to the chancellor and provost must also be clearly defined. The appointment of Graduate School Dean John Koropchak to the new position is under consideration.

The two-to-three-year time frame Koropchak would serve before a national search is conducted may be necessary to stabilize the position, but students and faculty do not want that time dragged out beyond the initial tenure.

In addition, a national search is the right approach to finding the best candidate. If Koropchak, or whoever the chancellor chooses, is the best person for the job after three years, then that will be evident if he/she is among the candidates.

To unilaterally install a person in the position without the benefit of a national search, particularly one that was already promised, would reek of unfairness, favoritism and business as usual, all of which are problems University officials have tried to rectify.

If a national search is to mean anything, it must occur at its scheduled time, barring some unforeseen situation that would result otherwise. The search must be followed through as well and with input from campus constituencies.

Chancellor Wendler has followed through on his promise to have better communication with constituents by consulting faculty and other University officials concerning the proposed position. It would be a disservice to the University, its commitment to research and the researchers themselves to leave them out of the heart of the process.

Our University has come so far in bringing stability within our administrative ranks. It would be a shame to tarnish those achievements with a muddling of the process.
COLUMNS

Logic and reason must prevail in the wake of tragedy

On Sept. 11 our country suffered an unprovoked attack that took the lives of thousands of our citizens. We were sorely tested. With our allies in the United States, foreign policy or not makes no difference. There was no rational basis for this terrorist act.

What happened last week cannot be justified and, by any standard of ours, there is no justification. That doesn't mean that we don't need to move forward. Just as you did Sept. 11. I'm not foreign policy maker, but I know that we absolutely must do what we can to this doesn't happen again. What we need is a swift, aggressive, efficient response.

Some of our fellow students think that war is the not the answer and that more killing only adds to the devastating toll. They're right to the extent that more killing will not take away the pain that has now been done. They're also right if they take into consideration the damages.

It's not that we disagree with the flag that was stolen off of my porch. It's just that my feelings are blackened by the event that happened to me. I've been too often and always with a jerk of tension that this is not the answer.

Avoiding war is not easy. We must consider the problems in a rational manner. We should continue to support our friends and stand against our enemies.

Isolationism has proved to be ineffective in the past, nor will it be in the future. So, we need to go on the offensive. What we absolutely need is Bill Bob Redick running around in his Bronco harassing Muslim students.

Isolationism doesn't do the nation any good. If we take into consideration the damages that have been done to our nation. Should we withdraw from the global arena and our own borders so as to avoid future attacks? Certainly not. If there are problems with our foreign policy, we solve those problems in a rational manner. We should continue to support our friends and stand against our enemies.

Isolationism has not proved to be effective in the past, nor will it in the future. So, we need to go on the offensive. What we absolutely need is Bill Bob Redick running around in his Bronco harassing Muslim students.

LETTERS

AD, football coach welcome students to home opener

To SIU Students:

We would like to invite the entire student body to join us for our home football opener this Saturday against regional rivals, Murray State.

We have been working hard to guarantee renewed excitement for SIU football and we are excited to have you be a part of it. We are embarking on a new era, one which will bring this fine institution great deal of notoriety. I hope you will enjoy this time together. I hope you don't feel hounded though we have to stop this from happening. It's also, you also can't do it alone. We need you to achieve success. Come out and support us this Saturday and help create the reputation. Tallgrass, carry our maroon and blue flag with pride.

This is a wonderful neighborhood and everyone who was with us will remember for the rest of their lives and keep us safe and free.

Tina Wright
Graduate student

AD, football coach welcome students to home opener

To SIU Students:

We would like to invite the entire student body to join us for our home football opener this Saturday against regional rivals, Murray State.

We have been working hard to guarantee renewed excitement for SIU football and we are excited to have you be a part of it. We are embarking on a new era, one which will bring this fine institution great deal of notoriety. I hope you will enjoy this time together. I hope you don't feel hounded though we have to stop this from happening. It's also, you also can't do it alone. We need you to achieve success. Come out and support us this Saturday and help create the reputation. Tallgrass, carry our maroon and blue flag with pride.

This is a wonderful neighborhood and everyone who was with us will remember for the rest of their lives and keep us safe and free.

Tina Wright
Graduate student
President James E. Walker will deliver his

Shared Vision for Southern Illinois University

Today
September 20
3:30 p.m.
Shryock Auditorium

Reception to follow on the lawn.

Everyone invited to attend.
Residents discuss Main Street tax support at council meeting

Main Street programs may continue using tax to fund events; ordinance expires

Jennifer Wig
Daily Egyptian

The Carbondale City Council is reviewing a possible ordinance that will extend a tax to support the Main Street downtown program.

A public hearing was conducted at Thursday night’s council meeting, during which several Carbondale residents shared their views of the tax and the program with the City Council. The tax is a separate tax for residents of the downtown area who benefit from the extension.

Resident Stephen Howe complained his house was included in the tax and the program with his views of the tax and the program. Howe said, “The tax is not justified because it is not needed for the downtown area. It’s a way for people to help put their money where their mouth is.”

There are actually two separate ordinances - one at the Jaguar Lake location in the Student Center and another at its sister station in the Wham Educational Building. Purchases are not necessary to order the council and Howe said he has seen a positive and diverse response.

There are actually two separate ordinances - one at the Jaguar Lake location in the Student Center and another at its sister station in the Wham Educational Building. Purchases are not necessary to order the council and Howe said he has seen a positive and diverse response.

Contest lightens mood in Student Center

Guessing coffee bean total rewarded with gift certificate

Sarah Roberts
Daily Egyptian

The atmosphere in the dining area behind the Student Center Subway is noticeably different.

Busy conversations have been reduced to whispered whispers. Televisions normally showing soap operas or sports recaps are set to CNN as students sit transfixed watching the latest news from last week’s terrorist attacks unfold.

Connie Howell works near the television every day and has noticed the solemn faces on many of the Jaguar Java patrons. She said it’s the thought that counts. Howell, who provided the money for the prius, said it’s the thought that counts. Howell, who provided the money for the prius, said it’s the thought that counts. Howell, who provided the money for the prius, said it’s the thought that counts.

"We're not making light of the attacks," Howell said. "But we're not going to put our money where our mouth is."

There are actually two separate ordinances - one at the Jaguar Lake location in the Student Center and another at its sister station in the Wham Educational Building. Purchases are not necessary to order the council and Howe said he has seen a positive and diverse response.

"Two classes got sent over here to guess as a class project," she said. "A couple of math and physics professors have tried to use equations to figure it out."

Jenny Wig can be reached at jwigg@hotmail.com

Hertha Isadon, a freshman in mass communication from Joliet, eyes a bag of coffee beans at Jaguar Java in the Student Center Tuesday afternoon. Jaguar Java is giving a gift certificate to the person who comes closest to guessing the number of beans in the bag.

There are actually two separate ordinances - one at the Jaguar Lake location in the Student Center and another at its sister station in the Wham Educational Building. Purchases are not necessary to order the council and Howe said he has seen a positive and diverse response.

“Two classes got sent over here to guess as a class project,” she said. “A couple of math and physics professors have tried to use equations to figure it out.”

Howell estimates she has received more than 500 guesses, ranging from “more than one” to “one million.” She said she has no idea how many beans are actually in the bag — that’s an upcoming weekend project for her and her husband — so she couldn’t help anyone out if she tried.

The premise may be nothing new, but Howell, who provided the money for the prius, said it’s the thought that counts.

“I just thought it would add something a little light,” she said. "Maybe whoever wins can afford to come here a little more often." Winners will be notified on Oct. 1.

Sarah Roberts can be reached at sarahs15@hotmail.com

Heatha Isadon, a freshman in mass communication from Joliet, eyes a bag of coffee beans at Jaguar Java in the Student Center Tuesday afternoon. Jaguar Java is giving a gift certificate to the person who comes closest to guessing the number of beans in the bag.

There are actually two separate ordinances - one at the Jaguar Lake location in the Student Center and another at its sister station in the Wham Educational Building. Purchases are not necessary to order the council and Howe said he has seen a positive and diverse response.

“Two classes got sent over here to guess as a class project,” she said. “A couple of math and physics professors have tried to use equations to figure it out.”

"Two classes got sent over here to guess as a class project," she said. "A couple of math and physics professors have tried to use equations to figure it out."

Howell estimates she has received more than 500 guesses, ranging from “more than one” to “one million.” She said she has no idea how many beans are actually in the bag — that’s an upcoming weekend project for her and her husband — so she couldn’t help anyone out if she tried.

The premise may be nothing new, but Howell, who provided the money for the prius, said it’s the thought that counts.

“I just thought it would add something a little light,” she said. "Maybe whoever wins can afford to come here a little more often." Winners will be notified on Oct. 1.

Sarah Roberts can be reached at sarahs15@hotmail.com

Hertha Isadon, a freshman in mass communication from Joliet, eyes a bag of coffee beans at Jaguar Java in the Student Center Tuesday afternoon. Jaguar Java is giving a gift certificate to the person who comes closest to guessing the number of beans in the bag.

There are actually two separate ordinances - one at the Jaguar Lake location in the Student Center and another at its sister station in the Wham Educational Building. Purchases are not necessary to order the council and Howe said he has seen a positive and diverse response.

“Two classes got sent over here to guess as a class project,” she said. “A couple of math and physics professors have tried to use equations to figure it out.”

Howell estimates she has received more than 500 guesses, ranging from “more than one” to “one million.” She said she has no idea how many beans are actually in the bag — that’s an upcoming weekend project for her and her husband — so she couldn’t help anyone out if she tried.

The premise may be nothing new, but Howell, who provided the money for the prius, said it’s the thought that counts.

“I just thought it would add something a little light,” she said. "Maybe whoever wins can afford to come here a little more often." Winners will be notified on Oct. 1.

Sarah Roberts can be reached at sarahs15@hotmail.com

Heatha Isadon, a freshman in mass communication from Joliet, eyes a bag of coffee beans at Jaguar Java in the Student Center Tuesday afternoon. Jaguar Java is giving a gift certificate to the person who comes closest to guessing the number of beans in the bag.

There are actually two separate ordinances - one at the Jaguar Lake location in the Student Center and another at its sister station in the Wham Educational Building. Purchases are not necessary to order the council and Howe said he has seen a positive and diverse response.

“Two classes got sent over here to guess as a class project,” she said. “A couple of math and physics professors have tried to use equations to figure it out.”

Howell estimates she has received more than 500 guesses, ranging from “more than one” to “one million.” She said she has no idea how many beans are actually in the bag — that’s an upcoming weekend project for her and her husband — so she couldn’t help anyone out if she tried.

The premise may be nothing new, but Howell, who provided the money for the prius, said it’s the thought that counts.

“I just thought it would add something a little light,” she said. "Maybe whoever wins can afford to come here a little more often." Winners will be notified on Oct. 1.

Sarah Roberts can be reached at sarahs15@hotmail.com

Hertha Isadon, a freshman in mass communication from Joliet, eyes a bag of coffee beans at Jaguar Java in the Student Center Tuesday afternoon. Jaguar Java is giving a gift certificate to the person who comes closest to guessing the number of beans in the bag.

There are actually two separate ordinances - one at the Jaguar Lake location in the Student Center and another at its sister station in the Wham Educational Building. Purchases are not necessary to order the council and Howe said he has seen a positive and diverse response.

“Two classes got sent over here to guess as a class project,” she said. “A couple of math and physics professors have tried to use equations to figure it out."
USG president may be called to military duty

Perry remains alert while preparing USG administration

Michael Perry's duties in the U.S. Marine Corps have him fighting fires as a student senator. His new role as USG president may change his role as a student and leader in the student government body. Perry will be called up for active duty in the U.S. Marine Corps.

September Night will also offer live music with different music groups performing at three locations. Genes ranges from Mercy, a music group to Planit Ira Radke, and the night of Sept. 25.

Food and Drink Specials 7 days a week

Karaoké & Pool Leagues

Live Entertainment Thurs, Fri & Sat

Open at 4:00 p.m. everyday

1620 W. Main Street...457-MUGS

ABC Liquor Mart

KEG CAPITAL OF SOUTHERN

Natural Light

GET YOUR PETS SPAYED OR NEUTERED.

Humane Society of Illinois
card, 115 South Main

Pope County (618) 672-6995

CARE...CARE...CARE...

(618) 961-2797

National Spay and Neuter Pet Month
Thursday
September 20
Booby's
Beer Garden
Herman Sig's Recent
Work opening reception (art exhibit)
Hot Spot
Carbox
Live DJ
Club Trax
Kasukke
Gatsby's II
Live DJ Show
Hangar 9
Lawrence Arms
Through It All
Sat 7 Fines
Mugy McGuire's
Memory Lane Karaoke
Pink Penny Pub
Mike & Joe
PK's
Big Muff presents
Breast Fest: A Breast
Cancer Benefit for Our
Drummer Lynn w/ Tawli
Paul
-$1 Bowl
Rock N Bowl
Sidetracks
Zeno
Stix
Live DJ Show
University
Teletack
Off-Track Betting
Marion Kleinman
Theatre
SIU Communications
Building
If This Guitar Could
Talk: Three Eras of
Feminism through
Song/ Sex across the
Curriculum
Mango Jerry's Fat
Cat Cafe
Brad Delt
Friday
September 21
Booby's Beer Garden
Fighting 407
Carbox
Live DJ
Club Trax
Live DJ
Copper Dragon
The Urge
Gatsby’s II
Live DJ Show
Hangar 9
invasion of the Site
Necessitas
Sweat/ Toss/ 7.25
Jill/ Dickless
Key West
By Request DJ Show
Mugy McGuire's
Live Piano w/ Cynthia Figel
Pinch Penny Pub
Hello Dave
PK'S
Woodbox Gang
Planet XH
Planet CIL (live remote)
Sidetracks
Full Circle
Stix
Live DJ Show
University
Teletack
Off-Track Betting
Marion Kleinman
Theatre
SIU Communications
Building
If This Guitar Could
Talk: Three Eras of
Feminism through
Song/ Sex across the Curriculum
Hot Spot
Mango Jerry's Fat
Cat Cafe
Sat 200
Saturday
September 22
Booby's Beer Garden
Fighting 407
Carbox
Live DJ
Club Trax
Live DJ
Copper Dragon
The Urge
Gatsby’s II
Live DJ Show
Hangar 9
Pepperland
(Beatles Tribute)
Mugy McGuire's
Live Piano w/ Cynthia Figel
Pinch Penny Pub
Hello Dave
PK'S
Woodbox Gang
Planet XH
Planet CIL (live remote)
Sidetracks
Full Circle
Stix
Live DJ Show
Heaven's Lovers
(Beatles Tribute)
Mugy McGuire's
Live Piano w/ Cynthia Figel
Pinch Penny Pub
Hello Dave
PK'S
Woodbox Gang
Planet XH
Planet CIL (live remote)
Sidetracks
Full Circle
Stix
Live DJ Show
Stix
Live DJ Show
Tues Hombres
Motown/ Funk rave
DJ Show
University
Teletrack
Off-Track Betting
Marion Kleinman
Theatre
SIU Communications
Building
If This Guitar Could
Talk: Three Eras of
Feminism through
Song/ Sex across the Curriculum
Mango Jerry's Fat
Cat Cafe
Brad Delt
Sunday
September 23
Booby's Beer Garden
Fighting 407
Carbox
Live DJ
Club Trax
Live DJ
Copper Dragon
The Urge
Gatsby’s II
Live DJ Show
Hangar 9
Pepperland
(Beatles Tribute)
Mugy McGuire's
Live Piano w/ Cynthia Figel
Pinch Penny Pub
Hello Dave
PK'S
Woodbox Gang
Planet XH
Planet CIL (live remote)
Sidetracks
Full Circle
Stix
Live DJ Show
University
Teletrack
Off-Track Betting
Hot Spot
College Night
Mango Jerry's Fat
Cat Cafe
Minor Setback
Our belief is that while there should be changes, those changes should be made as a part of a deliberate process.

Ed Yohska
communications director, ACLU

The ACLU upheld the internment.

In the midst of the Cold War, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld another law that made it illegal to teach communism. The court stepped back from that ruling years later, however, citing that American citizens cannot be prosecuted for their ideology without evidence they are inciting lawlessness.

After the 1995 bombing of the federal building in Oklahoma City, a federal anti-terrorism law was passed. Contained in the law was a provision that makes it a crime to provide material support for any designated foreign terrorist organization, even if it is for lawful activity.

While the three prosecutions currently in place under this law are for weapons sales, something as benign as medical supplies would be considered an infraction.

A statement from the ACLU stated that "we cannot let our grief and anger overwhelm our democracy. Now is the time for the people's representatives to be even more thoughtful and deliberative than usual."

Reporter Alexa Aguilar can be reached at aaguilar19@sol.com
Real Estate

Classified Display

For Sale

- Homes
  - Owner one of a kind home. Newer, slab, split floor plan, 6 bed, 5.5 bath, 4 car garage, 10,200 sq ft, list price $649,000.00. Call 457-0394.
  - Home, 4 bedroom, 3.5 bath, 3 car garage, 2900 sq ft, list price $429,900.00. Call 535-1083.
- Mobile Homes
  - 1976 16 X 70. 3 bedrooms, 1.5 bath. Good condition. Call 684-0085.
  - 1966 single wide, 2 beds, 1 bath, 1200 sq ft, mobile home trailer. Call 535-1455.
  - 1977 single wide, 3 bed, 2 bath, well maintained. Call 529-1385.
  - 1979 16x80, 2 bed, 2 bath, at 303-302-2155, located near freeway, in Citrus, call 545-2325.
  - 1982 16x80, 2 bed, 2 bath, owner lives on prem. Call 529-0394.

Classified Display

For Sale

- Appliances
  - Gas range, gas water heater, washer, dryer, refrigerator, Call 529-0539.
  - 4 bdrm, master bdrm, on west side of durango. Call 684-0539.
  - 3 bdrm, mobile home on south side of durango. Call 529-0539.
  - 2 bdrm, mobile home on east side of durango. Call 529-0539.
  - 1 bdrm, mobile home on north side of durango. Call 529-0539.

Classified Display

For Rent

- Rooms
  - 2 bed, 2 bath, 1200 sq ft, mobile home trailer. Call 535-1455.

Classified Display

For Sale

- Electronics
  - Sony, 32", HD TV, 2 remotes, and accessories, can be found at 684-0539.

Classified Display

For Sale

- Mobile Homes
  - 1976 16 x 70. 3 bedrooms, 1.5 bath. Good condition. Call 684-0085.
  - 1966 single wide, 2 beds, 1 bath, 1200 sq ft, mobile home trailer. Call 535-1455.
  - 1977 single wide, 3 bed, 2 bath, well maintained. Call 529-1385.
  - 1979 16x80, 2 bed, 2 bath, owner lives on prem. Call 529-0394.

Classified Display

For Sale

- Homes
  - Owner one of a kind home. Newer, slab, split floor plan, 6 bed, 5.5 bath, 4 car garage, 10,200 sq ft, list price $649,000.00. Call 457-0394.
  - Home, 4 bedroom, 3.5 bath, 3 car garage, 2900 sq ft, list price $429,900.00. Call 535-1083.

Classified Display

For Sale

- Appliances
  - Gas range, gas water heater, washer, dryer, refrigerator, Call 529-0539.
  - 4 bdrm, master bdrm, on west side of durango. Call 684-0539.
  - 3 bdrm, mobile home on south side of durango. Call 529-0539.
  - 2 bdrm, mobile home on east side of durango. Call 529-0539.
  - 1 bdrm, mobile home on north side of durango. Call 529-0539.

Classified Display

For Rent

- Rooms
  - 2 bed, 2 bath, 1200 sq ft, mobile home trailer. Call 535-1455.

Classified Display

For Sale

- Electronics
  - Sony, 32", HD TV, 2 remotes, and accessories, can be found at 684-0539.

Classified Display

For Sale

- Mobile Homes
  - 1976 16 x 70. 3 bedrooms, 1.5 bath. Good condition. Call 684-0085.
  - 1966 single wide, 2 beds, 1 bath, 1200 sq ft, mobile home trailer. Call 535-1455.
  - 1977 single wide, 3 bed, 2 bath, well maintained. Call 529-1385.
  - 1979 16x80, 2 bed, 2 bath, owner lives on prem. Call 529-0394.
American Red Cross

Give a Gift to your Country from the Heart...

Donate Blood.
New Saltlicks comics will resume on Monday.

Doonesbury

"Lights, Camera, Action!"
Keynote Speaker: Mr. Ray Blanco
Thursday, September 20
7:00 p.m. @Student Center-Ballroom B

Want to succeed in television, the movies, Me! Want to do it without compromising your values? Then come take notes as this Emmy award winning television and movie writer and producer, co-founder of the Independent Film Critics Association, founder of Cutting Edge Entertainment, and true renaissance man shares his insights and strategies for both professional and personal success in the media industries and other professions. Mr. Blanco is recognized as one of the 100 Most Influential Hispanics in the USA by Hispanic Business magazine.

Contact: Carl Ervin (453-5714) (U-Card Approved)

REAL MEAL DEAL
Fast Free Delivery 549-5326
one medium, one topping pizza and 2-20oz bottles of Pepsi

Welcome to Sundial Dining Hall: Carriagelake
222 W. Freeman Campus Shopping Center
It was 21 years ago to the day that Ochoa determined she wanted to be a tennis player. After years of being coached by her father, Armando, she decided she was ready to give it a try herself.

Ochoa arrived in Durango, Mexico, at about 10 years old and started competing in junior tennis tournaments. She quickly established herself as one of the top players in the country. She won her first national tournament at the age of 12 and continued to excel, reaching the No. 1 ranking in Mexico in 2001.

Ochoa was a student of the game from a young age, and her dedication to tennis paid off. She was the only person besides her family to believe in her, she said. Even after all her hard work and effort went unnoticed, she never gave up on her dream.

Ochoa's love for tennis was instilled in her by her father, Armando, who was a former professional tennis player himself. Armando believed in Ochoa's potential, even when others did not.

Ochoa's journey to success was not easy, but she remained committed to her goals. She knew she had to work hard and make sacrifices to achieve her dreams.

Ochoa's passion for tennis extended beyond the court. She enjoyed playing other sports, but tennis was always her priority. Ochoa excelled at tennis in Durango and even played soccer, but she preferred to stick with tennis.

Despite the challenges she faced, Ochoa remained focused and determined. She knew that with hard work and dedication, she could achieve her goals.

The support of her family was crucial to Ochoa's success. Her parents, Armando and Maria, always encouraged her to pursue her dreams, even when others did not.

Ochoa's love for tennis was not just about winning; it was about the camaraderie and the bond she formed with her teammates. She was a leader on the team and always made people around her feel good.

Ochoa's success was not just about her own accomplishments; it was about the impact she had on others. She was a positive influence on those around her and always made time for her teammates.

Ochoa's determination and focus paid off, and she became one of the top singles players in the world. She was even named the top woman singles player in the world in 2003.

Ochoa's legacy will live on, not just for her achievements on the court, but for her attitude and her commitment to her sport. She was an inspiration to all who knew her, and she will be remembered as one of the greatest tennis players of all time.
Cortez: I did really well at it and it kept me out of trouble

Jeremiah Cortez is a senior as the SIU swimming and diving team. He recently got some time off from the pool to focus on his upcoming season to speak at Final Digs of the Daily Egyptian.

Daily Egyptian: What got you interested in swimming?

Jeremiah Cortez: Well, I started out kind of getting in trouble when I was younger. My parents needed to direct my activities to something constructive, so I used a lot of things, like, I tried baseball, didn’t like any of it, then I tried swimming. I did really well at it, and it kept me out of trouble. So I stuck with it, and I enjoy it. It’s one of my most favorite things to do. I love it, true love for the sport.

Daily Egyptian: Growing up, did anyone ever give you crap about picking swimming as your sport?

Jeremiah Cortez: No, I was kind of in junior high and my freshman year of high school, I caught a little bit of flak, but when I’d explain to people that I understood that swimmers have a great work ethic, and we do get out and train, even though I train five miles a day, they understood that.

Daily Egyptian: What goes through your mind during the actual race?

Jeremiah Cortez: Well, I tried thinking about points that I’ve got to score in order for the team to prevail. You’ve always got that in the back of your mind. Whether I’d lose because I can’t get past you or win because you cannot beat me. It’s a constant battle against good and evil in your head. You’ve got to fight the pain off and you got to stick through it. You’ve had to do that race with everything you got.

Daily Egyptian: Do you remember what was going through your mind during the MVC Championships last year during that last relay?

Jeremiah Cortez: I remember that last day. It was last year. Evansville was in the water and Southwest Missouri done in after them and Matt Mares, our 100 free guy, was already in the water and he was going into the fast turn and I saw Evansville gaining and I was, ‘Okay, Mares is going to hold them off.’ Mares took that third wall and they were dead even and I could tell he was tired. He had a rough meet man, he swam like a champ. It was great. There was nothing more I could’ve done. But I remember seeing him when he hit that wall, I remember those last few yards when they just forgot about the guy and they got us. That was too close of a margin to lose by and yeah. I was heart-wrenching. It hurt a lot.

Daily Egyptian: Do you think it was a good idea to cancel sporting events last weekend?

Jeremiah Cortez: Yeah I do, in respect of the World Trade Center [incident]. I totally respect it. How can you be cheering at a time like that? You just can’t. You just can’t get up and cheer for a team or anything. I do think that sports are going to get this country back on track. Just like baseball saved the country centuries ago, I think sports will save the country again, or at least help. Maybe not save it completely, but at least help.

Daily Egyptian: What got you interested in swimming and diving?

Jeremiah Cortez: When I was in junior high, I started out swimming and diving team. I really got interested in a pool all of sudden and I love it, true love for the sport.

Daily Egyptian: What got you interested in swimming and diving?

Jeremiah Cortez: Growing up, did anyone ever give you crap about picking swimming as your sport?

Jeremiah Cortez: No, I was kind of in junior high and my freshman year of high school, I caught a little bit of flak, but when I’d explain to people that I understood that swimmers have a great work ethic, and we do get out and train, even though I train five miles a day, they understood that.

Daily Egyptian: What goes through your mind during the actual race?

Jeremiah Cortez: Well, I tried thinking about points that I’ve got to score in order for the team to prevail. You’ve always got that in the back of your mind. Whether I’d lose because I can’t get past you or win because you cannot beat me. It’s a constant battle against good and evil in your head. You’ve got to fight the pain off and you got to stick through it. You’ve had to do that race with everything you got.

Daily Egyptian: Do you remember what was going through your mind during the MVC Championships last year during that last relay?

Jeremiah Cortez: I remember that last day. It was last year. Evansville was in the water and Southwest Missouri done in after them and Matt Mares, our 100 free guy, was already in the water and he was going into the fast turn and I saw Evansville gaining and I was, ‘Okay, Mares is going to hold them off.’ Mares took that third wall and they were dead even and I could tell he was tired. He had a rough meet man, he swam like a champ. It was great. There was nothing more I could’ve done. But I remember seeing him when he hit that wall, I remember those last few yards when they just forgot about the guy and they got us. That was too close of a margin to lose by and yeah. I was heart-wrenching. It hurt a lot.

Daily Egyptian: Do you think it was a good idea to cancel sporting events last weekend?

Jeremiah Cortez: Yeah I do, in respect of the World Trade Center [incident]. I totally respect it. How can you be cheering at a time like that? You just can’t. You just can’t get up and cheer for a team or anything. I do think that sports are going to get this country back on track. Just like baseball saved the country centuries ago, I think sports will save the country again, or at least help. Maybe not save it completely, but at least help.

Daily Egyptian: What got you interested in swimming and diving?

Jeremiah Cortez: When I was in junior high, I started out swimming and diving team. I really got interested in a pool all of sudden and I love it, true love for the sport.
New era for football, same old stadium

Beitler leaves cross country team

Sports fans gain needed perspective