All-Campus Elections to Be Held May 6

Greeks' Week Starts Monday

Greek Week will open Monday for Southern's 13 sororities and fraternities. The week will start with members of the organizations canvassing Jackson County to collect cancer drive funds. The drive will continue through Wednesday. The fund raising chairmen are Mary Larson and Marjorie Malone. Greek Week activities will be headed by Judith Pope and Byron Taylor, cochairman, and John Nelson, adviser of Small Group Housing.

Traditional track and field events Thursday will highlight the week. The inter-fraternity chariot race will add a touch of "real Greek" atmosphere to the event.

On Friday, a banquet in the Roman Room will be followed by a semiformal dance in the Ballroom. This year's Greek Goddess will be crowned at the dance by last year's winner, Laurie Brown.

This year the annual Greek sing will be noncompetitive and informal. It will be held April 18 at Shryock Auditorium.

The program will consist of only fraternity and sorority songs and is open to the public. Money saved from buying trophies will go toward a scholarship to a Greek student.

The scholarship will be handled by President Delyte W. Morris and will become effective in September. It will consist of free tuition and fees for one year.

Any Greek resident in good standing with the University and in financial need may apply.

During the week the fraternities and sororities will invite foreign students to dinner.

SIU Enrollment Totals 17,858

Spring quarter enrollment at SIU totals 17,858, according to Registrar Robert A. McGrath. The figure is a 14.6 per cent or 2,277 increase over spring quarter enrollment last year.

McGrath's report shows 12,407 students enrolled on the Carbondale campus and 5,451 on the Edwardsville campus. The Edwardsville total includes 2,747 at the Alton center and 2,704 at the East St. Louis center.

McGrath said the decided enrollment drop which usually occurs between the winter and spring quarters failed to materialize this year, with a decrease of only 389 students from last term. "In fact," he said, "this year's registration pattern has shown a remarkable evenness."

Off-Campus Presidents To Meet Monday Night

The Off-Campus Presidents' Council will meet at 9 p.m. Monday in the Studio Theatre.

Latin Flavor Added

Southern's 1st Journalism Week to Open Monday With Ambitious 6-Day Schedule

SIU's first Journalism Week gets underway Monday, with a touch of Latin flavor added to spice up an ambitious schedule for the six-day affair.

Alumni, parents of journalism majors, members of the Southern Illinois Editorial Association and editors and publishers throughout the state have been invited to participate in activities during the week.

The event was initiated years ago as a one-day event for high school journalism students.

Journalism week is to be sponsored jointly this year by the Department of Journalism and the University's Latin American Institute.

The first two days of the program will be conducted in conjunction with the 11th Annual Pan-American Festival, which is to have a journalistic theme this year.

Monday's program will include a luncheon, panel discussions, speakers and a dinner.

Tuesday will be "Magazine Day," highlighted by the annual Latin-American dinner at 7 p.m. in the University Center Ballroom. Medals will be awarded at the dinner to the outstanding journalist or news medium of the United States and Latin America.

The ambassador of Uruguay in the United States, His Excellency Don Juan Felipe Yriarte, will be the keynote speaker.

A reception from 4:30 to 6 p.m. that day has been scheduled for Don Hesse, political cartoonist for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. A world premier showing of Hesse's cartoons will be on display in the Center.

Douglas B. Cornell, veteran White House correspondent for the Associated Press, returns to deliver the annual Lovejoy Lectures Thursday during the 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. convocations in Shryock Auditorium.

Cornell presented the first lecture in 1953, honoring Elijah Parish Lovejoy, famed Illinois martyr - editor who was killed at Alton in 1837 defending his press from an angry mob of slavery anti-abolitionists.

A film about magazines at 10 a.m. in the Agriculture Building Lounge, a 12:15 luncheon in the River Rooms of the University Center and a panel discussion on the "Miracle of Magazines" at 2 p.m. will fill out the Tuesday "Magazine Day" schedule.

Wednesday will be "Advertising Day," with Erik Isgrig, vice president of advertising, Zenith Radio Corporation, speaking at an opening convocation at 10 a.m. in the Agriculture Seminar Room.

An informal luncheon will follow at noon in the River Rooms of the Center.

Elving Anderson, advertising director of the Detroit Free Press, will address a group at 2 p.m. in the Agri-

Council Postpones Proposal For Voter Registration Shift

All-campus elections will be held May 6, the Student Council decided at its Thursday evening meeting.

Included on the ballot will be the positions of student body president and vice president, living area representatives to the Carbondale Student Council, Carbondale representatives to the all-University Student Council, and Most Popular Faculty Member.

Petitions will be available Monday at the Student Government Office.

The Council postponed action on Election Commissioner Fred Rauch's proposal to revamp student voter registration procedures. Members indicated that any action on the proposal probably would be timed to take effect for the fall election, rather than this spring.

The election date was set at the urging of Dick Moore, student body president. The Council earlier had sent to committee, on a motion by David Davis, student senator for our-in-town, a proposal to fill the presidential, vice presidential and council positions May 13 and to name the Most Popular Faculty Member May 6. The earlier date for the vote for a faculty member was necessary so the winner could be announced May 7 at Spring Festival Assembly. It was Davis who moved to reconsider.

Some discussion occurred over whether Council should sponsor another Most Popular - Faculty - Member vote, since suggestions have been made to abolish it.

"I don't think we should drop it," Davis said. "It's one of the few traditions we do have at this school."

A bill suggesting a study of ROTC leadership laboratory grades, introduced by Larry McDonald, proxy for Liberal Arts Senator Micki Goldfeather, was sent to committee. The bill suggests replacing the present grade of either "Credit" or "E" with a system such as "credit" or "non-credit."

English Exams Set For 1 p.m. Today

The Undergraduate English Qualifying Examination will be given by the Counseling and Testing Center from 1 to 3 p.m. today in Furr Auditorium.

Students who plan to graduate from the Schools of Business and Technology must pass the examination. Students in the College of Education and students who plan to practice teach and are enrolled in colleges other than Education may substitute a passing grade on the U. E. Q. E. in lieu of taking English 300 or 391.

Students in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences may satisfy the requirement of taking the test by making a "C" grade or better in either English 300 or 391.

Students who plan to practice teach and students of the College of Education may take the examination only one time.

Editor's Pan-American Talk Rescheduled Monday Night

A Pan-American Festival talk by Igor Gordevitch, originally scheduled for 7:15 p.m. Monday in the University Center Ballroom, has been switched to 8 p.m. in the River Rooms of the Center.

The speech will follow a dinner at 7:15 in the Ballroom. Gordevitch, vice president and publisher of Vision, Inc., will present "An Optimistic View of Latin America." The public is invited.

Vision, Inc., a 13-year-old organization, has developed a number of successful news, industrial and agricultural business magazines in Latin America, including "Vision," Latin America's most widely circulated news magazine.

Gordevitch, a 39-year-old journalist, has been correspondent on three continents.

New Rail Deadline Set April 24

WASHINGTON -- President Johnson warned Friday that the railroad work rules dispute is a crucial test of whether collective bargaining can solve major labor disputes in America. Johnson, who won a 15-day delay in a nationwide rail strike less than two hours before the strike deadline Thursday night, opened new negotiations between the railroads and the five operating unions with personal talks.

"an honorable solution—not a solution imposed by decree." Press secretary George Reedy said there were no plans for Johnson to propose solutions to the problem. "The national interest, in all cases, is overriding; but the national interest is never truly served when individual rights are suppressed," Johnson said.

The President voiced what appeared to be an indirect warning that if there is no agreement he will ask Congress to take a hand with new legislation. If the 15-day truce period fails to produce a settlement, he said, "We will follow democratic processes, and find other means."

He told them that he wanted

Republican Senators Disagree Over Changes in Rights Bill

WASHINGTON -- Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, told the Senate Friday it must not let itself be "pushed or panicked" into accepting the House-passed civil rights bill.

Urging restraint and reasonableness, Miller deplored talk that bloodshed and violence can be expected unless a bill is passed.

As the Senate went into the 27th day of debate on the civil rights issue, Miller emphasized he was not saying that "we should compromise the principles of the bill."

But he urged supporters of the measure to be willing to accept some changes to get a meaningful and reasonable bill. This prompted Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to reiterate that "unless we give full constitutional rights to Negroes, we cannot stop the issue from going to the streets of America."

Miller's talk of a need for compromise came after some Republican supporters of the bill refused to back changes in a section against job discrimination, as proposed by GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Democratic supporters of the measure said it appeared to be an intra-Republican fight in which they did not want to meddle, but they said they also vigorously opposed the changes.

There were indications Dirksen himself was backing off some of his amendments.

As details of his amendments were disclosed Thursday after they had been discussed at a closed-door conference of all Republican senators, it appeared his original proposals would drastically reduce the powers in the fair employment practices section.

Viet Cong Defeated In Fierce Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam -- Communist guerrillas fell back south of Saigon Friday after a heavy engagement that took a severe toll of casualties on both sides, including the life of a U.S. pilot.

The fight began when several hundred Viet Cong guerrillas overran an outpost defended by 15 government civil guards. An army company sent to reinforce the post apparently also was ambushed.

Three more companies of government troops were lifted into the area by helicopter. At the end of Thursday's fighting, Vietnamese authorities claimed 42 of the enemy killed and 32 Viet Cong weapons captured.

Student journalism awards will be announced at a 1 p.m. meeting Thursday in the Agriculture Seminar Room. The Alumni Association will follow with a meeting at 3:45 at Engel's restaurant.

Friday will be devoted to sessions of the Southern Illinois Editorial Association.

An estimated 450 high school editors and reporters are expected to participate in "High School Day" activities Saturday.

Paul Swensson, executive director of The Newspaper Fund, which has sent hundreds of high school teachers to college, will keynote the opening assembly at 9 a.m. in Muckelroy Auditorium.

George Killenberg, St. Louis Globe - Democrat city editor, has lined up 13 professionals from various media to help in the instruction sessions of the conference, now in its 14th year.

An awards assembly at 2:40 p.m. in Muckelroy Auditorium, will wind up the week-long program.

SIU Student Heads for Home --- Via Sahara Desert Route

Visitor to Ghana 'Hiches' Caravan Rides

Photos by Safari Members

When last heard from, an SIU student was crossing the Sahara Desert on his way home.

He is Terry Overeem, a senior majoring in design, and one of three SIU students who left New Year's Day for Ghana, Africa, by way of Europe.

His companions were Victor Seper and Roger Karak, also students in design at SIU. Seper and Karak took a relatively quick way home; they have since been keeping in touch with Overeem's progress.

He is hitchhiking across the Sahara, and when last heard from, was waiting for a caravan to Algeria. He was in Gao, Mali, which is approximately due east of Timbuktu.

In a letter to classmates, he said his plane leaves London on April 14 "and I hope I can get there in time." He described difficulties in getting rides and said, "I will do good to make it to London in four weeks going across the Sahara along the prime meridian."

He also described relying heavily on sign language in an area where French is the influential language. "I don't understand any, and use mostly all sign language and talk mostly with my map/cartel.

If someone crosses the desert (caravan) every two or three days, traffic is heavy. It's now a little lighter and down to once every four or five or six days. This really cannot be planned on, as very dependable service."

Overeem told of staying at the police station in Gao while waiting for a caravan. "The people all along the way so far have been very nice, some reluctantly nice, but I wasn't so tired and hungry all the time. It would be an enjoyable trip," he wrote.

The SIU design students decided to follow R. Buckminster Fuller, noted SIU design science professor, to Africa. They met him in Rome and arrived in Ghana on Jan. 10, where Professor Fuller was a lecturer in the Architecture Department at the University of Ghana, at Kumasi.

While there, they participated in the construction of what is commonly called a "Fuller dome," or a tensegrity dome. The materials used were pure red mahogany, held in tension by wire.

The SIU students stayed in a dormitory at the university, and Karak and Seper left early in February for their return trip. They traveled by ship to Marseilles, France, and journeyed through parts of Western Europe on their way to London for the trip home.

Seper said the trip cost each about $1,200.

THESE ARE STREET TAILORS IN KUMASI, WHERE THE SIU STUDENTS STAYED DURING THEIR VISIT TO GHANA.

THIS PHOTOGRAPH WAS TAKEN IN A SMALL COMMUNITY IN GHANA, AND SHOWS THE DRAINAGE SYSTEM. PING-PONG PADDLES HAVE BEEN LEFT TO DRY IN THE SUN.

THIS STRUCTURE, FAMILIAR ON THE SIU CAMPUS, IS COMMONLY KNOWN AS A FULLER DOME. IT WAS ERECTED BY UNIVERSITY OF GHANA STUDENTS WHEN R. BUCKMINSTER FULLER WAS A GUEST LECTURER THERE EARLY THIS YEAR.

Brazil Mops Up Leftists After Ousting Goulart

Compiled From Associated Press

Brazil's new leaders have been busy this week "completing the rebellion."

This operation consisted of the ouster of "extremists" and pro-Communists from the Congress and the arrest of thousands of Communists and leftists.

The shakeup followed the overthrow April 2 of President Joao Goulart by a combination group of military men, congressional leaders and state governors. Goulart was accused of trying to establish a leftist dictatorship and trying to lead the country down the road to communism.

The United States was happy to

Le Pelley, Christian Science Monitor
ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE

see Goulart chased out of Brazil. The new regime has the blessing of the Johnson Administration and an offer of U. S. economic aid.

But the change in leadership did little to alleviate the deep-seated problems of Brazil. For months the nation has been gripped by spiraling inflation; external debt is high, capital is lacking and the people have numerous causes for discontent. Land reform and extension of the suffrage are needed.

High on the list of organizational actions by the revolutionary leaders this week was the selection by the Congress of a president to finish Goulart's term, which ends in January 1966.

The popular favorite for the job was Gen. Humberto Castelo Branco, 63-year-old Army Chief of Staff.

Prime candidates for the October, 1965 presidential elections are Gov. Carlos Lacerda of Guanabara (city of Rio de Janeiro), Gov. Ademar de Barros of Sao Paulo, former President Juscelino Kubitschek and Gov. Jose Magalhaes Pinto of Minas Gerais.

The anti-Goulart revolt touched off some political skirmishes among the candidates. Governors Lacerda and de Barros have strongly demanded a housecleaning of Communist influences and have denounced Kubitschek.

In the drive against the Communists, the police reported finding several Communist cells in rural areas with arms, propaganda and large sums of money. Among those arrested were eight Chinese Communists and at least one Cuban.

The impoverished northeast has been a hotbed of Communist agitation. The pro-Goulart governor of the northeastern state of Pernambuco has been jailed.

In Montevideo, Uruguay, the deposed Goulart said he has never been a Communist and does not intend to give up politics.

Wisconsin Primary

Political attention during the week was focused on Wisconsin and what its governor called a "weird" set of election circumstances.

Gov. John W. Reynolds ran as a sort of representative for President Lyndon B. Johnson, but Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama ran with unexpected strength and this fogged the interpretation of the results.

Wallace considered his vote total, nearly a fourth of all cast in the presidential primary, as an indication of victory for his stand against the Johnson administration's civil rights bill.

Wisconsin hasn't voted for a Democratic presidential candidate since 1948, but in the primary more than 70 per cent of the votes cast were in the Democratic contest between Reynolds and Wallace. Reynolds polled more than half a million and Wallace about 261,000.

Write-ins for Illinois?

CHICAGO - Write-in votes may broaden interest in next week's presidential preference primary in Illinois.

The voters will see only two names in print, both on the Republican ballot - Sens. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

But an Associated Press survey showed that write-in groups are working for President Lyndon B. Johnson and Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy - for vice president - on the Democratic side.

There also are moves to keep voters aware of Republicans Henry Cabot Lodge and Richard M. Nixon, and they could result in write-in votes.

A move to get write-in votes in the Illinois primary for Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama also was under way.

MacArthur Interview of 1954 Stirs Dispute

WASHINGTON - Two former aides of Gen. Douglas MacArthur took opposing sides this week in a controversy whipped up by an interview quoting MacArthur as saying in 1954 that the British betrayed his Korean War plans to the Chinese Communists.

Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's close friend and associate, denounced as "pure fantasy" the statements attributed to MacArthur about the British government. Whitney said the report of the interview by Scripps-Howard correspondent Jim G. Lucas was "fictional nonsense."

Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, who was MacArthur's chief of intelligence, said he was "in substantial agreement with the ac-

Europe Called Prime Missile Target of Soviet

NEW YORK - In a major speech on United States policy toward the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Tuesday that Western Europe is menaced by "many more missiles than are aimed at the United States."

Western European nations thus should close ranks in support of collective action against Communist threats and aggression, he said.

New patterns of action are needed to deal with a wide range of trouble spots from Viet Nam to Cuba, Rusk said in the speech to the Overseas Press Club.

Rusk indicated that the Johnson administration will work with those allies who are willing to cooperate on specific problems and bypass those who refuse to do so. He did not mention France in this respect, but the United States and France are divided on other issues, including Southeast Asia and Cuban trade.

The missile threat to Western Europe is one of the reasons, Rusk said, that the allies need medium range ballistic missiles deployed in the European area. It is to meet this need, he said, that the United States is working for creation of the controversial multilateral missile fleet.

curacy of Jim Lucas' interview...

Despite the sharp reaction, there actually was not a great deal new in the general content of either the Lucas story or another 10-year-old interview written by Bob Considine of Hearst Headline Serv.

The five-star general died Sunday in Washington.

Much of the story of how MacArthur felt about what happened in Korea was told after he was relieved of his command by former President Harry S. Truman in 1951.

Lucas' story, however, included many comments on personalities of the day which he attributed to MacArthur and to which Whitney took sharp exception.

Earl Attlee, who was British prime minister at the time, denounced as "complete nonsense and perfectly ridiculous" the charges of British "perfidy" and betrayal.

A high State Department official said Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who was in charge of Far Eastern affairs during the Korean War, agreed with British leaders.

MacArthur let it be known in 1951 that he wanted to bomb the Chinese Communists' sanctuary in Manchuria, destroy the bridges over which they cross the Yalu River into North Korea, and bring in Chinese Nationalist troops from Formosa to help fight the Reds.

With reference to the alleged British betrayal in Korea, Gen. Whitney said:

"The general always felt that any such betrayal probably stemmed from the machinations of the individual British traitors, Burgess and Maclean, while they held positions in the British government giving them access to information concerning our Korean plans and operations and contact with the Red Chinese."

The Burgess-Maclean spy scandal involved two men who disappeared from Britain in 1951 and later turned up in Russia. One was Donald Maclean, who was chief of the American section in the British Foreign Office. The other was Guy Burgess, who had been with the British Embassy in Washington and who is reported to have died in Russia last year of a heart attack.

GREAT SOLDIERS NEVER DIE!

HAIL TO THE CHIEF — While it may appear that the football squad is paying homage to its new football coach, Don Shroyer (standing), actually they are paying the price of being off training. The pushups are part of the getting into shape process during Spring training which is now going on.

Shroyer Needs Only 40

Workouts to Cut Grid Squad From 98 Men Down to Size

With spring football drills in full swing, there's going to have to be some way of eliminating most of those 98 candidates who reported for the first session last Tuesday.

Coach Don Shroyer won't use the conventional way to weed out his best 40 or so—that is by the cut—but he says he'll just let them cut themselves.

If Tuesday's opening session was any indication, Shroyer won't have to worry too long about carrying excess weight, although some weighty prospects were in evidence.

The new coach and his staff used most of the hour-and-a-half workout for calisthenics and hard running, with a few minutes on fundamentals.

Aside from the 22 returning lettermen and holdovers from last year, some of the 60 other candidates could fit into Shroyer's plans for the 1964 season.

Heading the list of possible "futures" is Issac

Brigham, a 6-2, 220-pound tackle from Fort Campbell. Brigham is already being touted as one of the starting tackles when the Salukis open up the season against Bowling Green on Sept. 19.

Another possible starter against the Falcons might be an Illinois transfer, Dave Pike, a 6-3, 215 pound fullback. Pike was in the Illini starting backfield three years ago.

Other standouts are linemen Hal Reinhard, and Carl Zambo and fullback Bill Fudula.

Reinhard is a 6-2, 220 pound tight end from Peekskill, N.Y., while Zambo, a transfer from Navy Pier goes 6-4 and 250. Fudula is also a Chicago Illini transfer.

Rounding out the list of top candidates are 200-pound guard Bill Chmielewski from Drake, Bob Deck from North Park College, J.M. Hall from Northeast Missouri, Jerry Jackson from Danville JC, Steve Munson from Luther College, Dick O'Connell of St. Joseph's College, and 270-pound tackle, Tom Rodiewicz also from the pier.

Netters Will Battle Cincinnati U. Today

Coach Carl Sexton and his Saluki netters take on their second major college opponent in two days today as they compete against the University of Cincinnati sextet at 1:30 at the University courts.

The Bearcats will be out to revenge last year's defeat when the Salukis blanked them 9-0.

Sexton is expected to use the same alignment for today with Lance Lumsden at the number one position and Pachco Castillo at number two.

WHICH ARE YOU?

Shortly after Roy Heath became faculty advisor and friend to a group of Princeton University freshmen, he found his students developing as three psychological types: Non-committers (Xs), Hustlers (Ys), and Plungers (Zs). The students within each category matured during their college years, but several from all groups achieved an apex of development. They were the Reasonable Adventurers.

Dr. Heath writes of the Xs, Ys, and Zs, in his book The Reasonable Adventurer, and from his four-year experiment with them proposes a theory of personality development.

Golfers to Face Purdue Today

SIU's golf team, 3-0 in dual match competition this season, puts its winning streak on the line today when the Salukis meet Big Ten power, Purdue University at Lafayette, Ind.

Coach Lynn Holder's Saluki golfers, idle since their impressive March 31 win over the University of Missouri, will be looking for their first triumph over a Big Ten opponent in two years.

The Salukis, also victorious in dual matches over a talented Tulane crew and Southeast Missouri State College, will be led today by straight-shooting veterans Gene Carello and John Krueger.

Carello is undefeated in three matches and carries a respectable 74 average while Krueger owns a 2-0-1 record and a fine 75.5 average.

In addition to Carello and Krueger, veterans Jim Place and Jerry Kirby and improving sophomores Al Kruse and Phil Stamison are expected to see action against the strong Roller makers.

Southern to Meet Kentuckians In Murphysboro Doubleheader

Going after its third and fourth wins of the year in as many starts, Southern's baseball team engages Kentucky Wesleyan in a doubleheader today at Murphysboro's Riverside Park at 1 p.m.

The second game will be broadcast over WSIU at approximately 4:30 p.m.

Coach Abe Martin plans to use his two most effective pitchers, Gene Vincent and Johnny Hotz, against the Panthers. The coach was undecided as to which pitcher he'll pick for the first game.

Vincent has worked in relief in both of the Salukis first two games, and turned in fine jobs. Vincent threw four innings against Illinois State and

Actresses Featured On TV Tonight

Some of the foremost actresses of the American stage and screen will be featured on a program entitled "Elliot Norton Interviews Tallulah Bankhead" at 8:30 tonight on WSIU-TV.

Other highlights are:

5 p.m. What's New. "And Now Miguel I" -- The first of three programs dealing with a universal theme--the impatience of a young boy for manhood.

7 p.m. Perspective -- "A King's Revolution." This program documents the story of the Shah of Iran's campaign to transform his country into a modern civilization.

Team Points for AAU

Woman Gymnasts Seek National Crown

The Southern Illinois Women's Gymnastics Club of Carbondale soon will attempt to achieve what their male counterparts on the SIU campus did recently--win a national gymnastics championship.

Next week coach Herb Vogel's talented and attractive female gymnasts open their long and difficult drive for the coveted AAU gymnastics title and possible berths on the U.S. Olympic gymnastics team.

Competition for the national crown opens today with a warmup meet at Cleveland, Ohio. The Carbondale contingent will then match talents with other Midwest teams in the central AAU meet at Chicago April 19 and will take on the Midwest All-Stars in Chicago May 2.

The big AAU championship finals will be held May 14-15 at Long Island, N.Y. The Long Island meet also will be one of two Olympic tryouts to choose a team for the fall Olympics to be held in Tokyo, Japan. The final Olympic trials will be held at the New York World's Fair late in August.

Headlining the impressive list of female gymnasts is newcomer Dale McClements, an attractive 19-year-old blonde from Seattle, Wash., considered to be the nation's No. 2 woman gymnast. Miss McClements, who enrolled at SIU this spring, replaces talented Brigitta Gullberg of Stockholm, who recently returned to her native Sweden to try out for her country's Olympic team. Miss McClements finished second in the AAU all-around in 1963 after winning the title in 1962.

Other members of Vogel's widely publicized team are Donna Schnaenzer of Milwaukee who won the United States Gymnastics Federation all-around title last year; Canadians Gail Daly and Irene Haworth, both of Saskatoon, Sask., and Janis and Judy Dunham, sisters from Flint, Mich.

came in for Hotz in the Evansville win. Against the Aces, Vincent struck out five of the seven batters he faced.

Hotz turned in a great performance against the Aces, striking out 12 and allowing just three hits in the seven innings he worked. He gave up only one unearned run.

The Salukis will go with the same effective lineup they've been using, with Gib Snyder leading off and playing second base, John Siebel in centerfield and batting second, Kent Collins in right, and Jim Long batting fourth and playing first base.

Bob Bernstein, leading hitter on the squad with a .430 average, will bat fifth and play third base, captain Mike Pratte will be behind the plate and bat sixth, Al Peludat in left batting seventh, shortstop Terry Lynn eighth, and either Vincent or Hotz in the last spot.

GOETZ NEAR BEER®

Yes, it's true. If you are between the ages of 1 and 80 and are tired of that same old stuff, you have a big surprise in store with your next pizza. PIZZA KING is now offering a beverage called NEAR BEER that tastes like the real thing, but is not considered an alcoholic beverage. Because NEAR BEER is only 1/2 of 1 per cent alcohol by volume, it is enjoyed by young and old alike. And for good reason too, NEAR BEER tastes like the real mc coy and quenches that chronic thirst. It's really great with pizza. Suggest you find out for yourself . . . you'll be back for more.
