HUD OK's hike in Evergreen Terrace rent

By Paula Dooner Walter
Staff Writer

There's good news and bad news for Evergreen Terrace residents opposing a proposed rent increase: The increase will be approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, but only if University officials add a maintenance repairs agreement to the new contract.

Charles Walker, loan services officer for HUD in Chicago, said Friday that the department will be granting the $30 increase requested by SIU-C, effective this fall. This increase will follow an $18 rent increase levied in January.

Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs, said he will submit a proposal for the increase at the May and June meetings of the Board of Trustees for approval.

However, Walker said the approval of the increase is conditional upon an agreement by the University to make "specific repairs within a specific time period." Walker said he is still working on those conditions and will have a copy to the University sometime this week.

"If any of the maintenance complaints I have heard about have been submitted on work orders, then maintenance has to get it done quickly. If management doesn't meet the agreement, then the rent increase will be rescinded until the repairs are made," he said.

Walker was in Carbondale Tuesday to discuss the increase with administrators and to hold a maintenance hearing with Evergreen Terrace tenants. HUD approval is required for the increase because the complex is owned by the SIU Foundation, funded by the Federal Housing Authority and operated by the University.

Walker said that while the hearing with the residents was held to discuss maintenance matters, "I did give them the courtesy of discussing the increase."

"Most of the residents complained because of the rent increase in January. But, actually, the increase in utilities and the 8 percent salary increase would have granted the University an increase larger than what they have asked for."

"One legitimate complaint of the residents was the Physical Plant, which is the main maintenance staff of the University. It creates higher costs and slower responses. But if we give them too much heck, they'll drag their feet because they're unionized," Walker charged.

Walker said many of the repairs could be made more quickly if the University were allowed to hire a "jack-of-all-trades and master-of-none."

"But it's impossible that SIU could do this, because it has to call in the Physical Plant to make the repairs," he said.

"I'm not knocking down union help, it's just the bureaucratic system of the University. It's the same as in the federal government," he said.

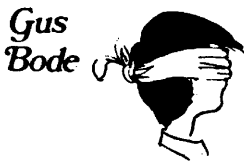

Walker said the 12-year-old apartment complex is in "fairly good condition, for as many units and the type of student turnover."

Graduate dean named acting vice president

John Guyon, associate vice president for research and dean of the Graduate School since 1976, has been named acting vice president for academic affairs and research.

Guyon will replace Frank Horton, who will become the chancellor of the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee, effective June 1.

In announcing the appointment, Acting President Hiram Lesar said Guyon "has shown intelligence, vision and vigorous initiative in carrying on the duties of these positions and I am happy that he has agreed to assume the vice presidency until the next president can have an opportunity to decide who will be appointed permanently to the post."

Guyon, 48, was hired by SIU-C in 1974 as the dean of the College of Science. Before that, he was chairman of the chemistry department at Memphis State University for two years. He had been at the University of Missouri 10 years prior to that, where he was chairman of that chemistry department for two years.

A native of Washington, Pa., Guyon received a bachelor's degree from Washington and Jefferson College, a master's degree from Toledo University and a doctorate from Purdue University.

Carter's policy on Afghanistan, Iran gains support from allies

By The Associated Press

President Carter's call for allied unity on policy toward Iran and Afghanistan gained limited support Sunday. Japan and some European nations recalled their ambassadors from Tehran for consultations and others edged closer to joining America's boycott of the Moscow Olympics.

France and West Germany, in an apparent effort to maintain negotiating flexibility, said the recall of European ambassadors did not signal a step toward severing full diplomatic relations with Tehran—nor a final European decision to join the United States in imposing economic sanctions against Iran. President Carter announced both steps last Monday as a result of the continuing hostage crisis in Iran, and urged allies to join the U.S. move.

French Foreign Ministry officials announced the foreign ministers of the nine European Community nations will meet in Luxembourg April 21 to assess their attempts to secure release of the American hostages who spent their 162nd day of captivity Sunday at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

Denmark's ambassador also was recalled from Tehran; an Italian newspaper reported Italy's ambassador was returning to Rome; Spain recalled its ambassador, and a Bonn government official said the chief envoys from the other Common Market nations—Britain, Luxembourg, Ireland, Belgium and the Netherlands—would also return to their capitals for consultations. The ambassadors met with Iran's President Abolmohsen Bani-Sadr on Saturday.

In response to President Carter's call for unified allied support, including a reported deadline for agreement, the ambassadors demanded immediate release of the American hostages.

Bani-Sadr rejected the demand and warned that Iran would cut off oil exports to any country joining the U.S.-backed sanctions.

Saturday's decision by the U.S. Olympic Committee not to send American athletes to the Moscow Summer Games because of the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan appeared certain to put increased pressure on U.S. allies to join the boycott.

The president of Japan's Olympic Committee said the U.S. decision will "gravely affect" Japan's own decision. The president of the Norwegian Sports Federation said the U.S. group's action would make it "easier" for Norway to join the boycott.

West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt reiterated over the weekend that a continuing Soviet presence in Afghanistan would virtually rule out West German participation in the games.

Union Hill's sewage case is resolved

By Mary Ann McNulty
Staff Writer

After six months of negotiations, the attorney representing 28 homeowners at the Union Hill subdivision announced that an out-of-court agreement concerning the sewage system there has been reached with the developer, Egon Kamarasy.

Kamarasy and his wife, Edith, owners and developers of the Lake Lilac Sewage System, agreed to pay the homeowners $25,000. The money will be put into a corporation that the homeowners will form, said William Broom III, attorney for the Kamarasys, and John Clemons, attorney for the homeowners.

The corporation will then be responsible for "designing, constructing and operating a new sewage system." Broom and Clemons said in a joint announcement. Forty-one homeowners had paid Kamarasy about $11,000 to tap into the sewage system.

Kamarasy will also give the new corporation 1½ acres of land in the Crab Orchard Creek watershed to construct a sewage system. Broom said that the future system will not drain into Cedar Lake.

"This grant of land will insure that Cedar Lake will not be polluted," Broom said.

A new sewage system is estimated to cost between $50,000 and $60,000.

The agreement, which has not yet been signed by all parties, stipulates that any future sewage problems will be the responsibility of the corporation.

Joyce Berger, convicted March 8 of voluntary manslaughter for the shooting of her ex-husband, has been sentenced to four years probation and ordered to spend 18 months of Saturdays in the Jackson County Jail.

Mrs. Berger collapsed shortly after hearing the sentence, delivered by Circuit Court Judge George Oros Friday.

Defense attorneys have 30 days after the sentencing date to prepare an appeal, Oros said. Defense attorney David Watt said Friday that no decision had yet been made on an appeal.

The provision calling for Mrs. Berger to report to the Jackson County Jail from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays was stayed until May 17 to give the defense time to decide whether to appeal the sentence.

Mrs. Berger was originally charged with murder in the Aug. 8, 1979, shooting of her ex-husband, former Murphysboro Police Chief Tobias Berger, in the home of Larry Dunn north of Murphysboro.

Mrs. Berger first fired a full round from a .22 caliber pistol at her ex-husband, hitting him twice, and then shot him twice with a .38 caliber revolver.

Oros said the jail time was necessary to impress upon Mrs. Berger and her children that "you just don't take the life of someone without any consequences whatsoever."

Assistant Attorney General Mark Rotert, prosecution team chief in the trial, called for the maximum sentence of seven years in a penitentiary.

"In this world, if you do something wrong, you must pay the price. Probation is not the answer in this case," Rotert said.

Rotert said the people of Jackson County would be justified in wondering about "civilization" if they hear "probation was the result of a woman using two guns ... and never seeing the inside of a jail."

Watt argued that Mrs. Berger met nine of 12 mitigating factors outlined in the Illinois statutes, but met clearly only one of seven aggravating circumstances to be considered in sentencing.

Watt said the circumstances confronting Mrs. Berger on Aug. 8 were unlikely to occur again, making it unlikely she would commit such a crime again. Watt said the statutes also required possible hardships on dependents of the accused to be considered in sentencing.

Mrs. Berger has five sons, all living at home. Rotert said that although the family would undoubtedly incur hardships, people should "consider the consequences before they take a gun in hand and blow a man's brains out."

A motion for a new trial filed by the defense was denied by Oros before the sentencing. The defense charged that several prosecution exhibits presented during the trial, including photographs of the deceased in the home of Larry Dunn, were allowed erroneously by the court after the defense objected.

The new trial motion also said a mistrial should have been granted because of two comments made by Rotert in the presence of the jury.

During the trial, the defense tried to show that Mrs. Berger acted in self-defense.

City Council to hold public budget hearing

By Mary Ann McNulty
Staff Writer

Carbondale City Council members are scheduled to discuss a proposed $25.9 million budget for fiscal year 1980-81—including the proposed allocation of $508,466 in federal revenue sharing funds—at a public hearing at 7 p.m. Monday in council chambers, 607 E. College St.

The proposal is about $370,000 more than the $26.3 million budget for last year. However, City Manager Carroll Fry said that last year's budget was underspent by $10.6 million because of the "inability to meet projections on the railroad relocation project ... and lack of anticipated progress in some of our larger capital improvement programs."

Copies of the proposed budget are available for public inspection at the City Hall Annex, 602 E. College. A copy is also available at the Carbondale Public Library, 304 W. Walnut.

The largest portion of revenue sharing funds—$294,058—will be used to make payments on Northwest Sewer Treatment Plant bonds. Fry said the council decided to use revenue sharing funds rather than increase local taxes and user fees.

Another $201,566 in revenue sharing funds will be spent on capital improvement programs. Of the revenue sharing funds, special projects will get $31,600; open space and parks, $8,462; public buildings, $8,750; storm sewers, $41,918; streets $20,000; street lights, $4,175; and traffic signals, $86,661.

The council allocated the remaining $11,000 of federal revenue sharing funds to the Carbondale Senior Citizens organization at the formal council meeting April 7.

Of the total budget, the largest portion—$6.7 million—is proposed to go to the local improvement fund for capital improvement program projects. Railroad relocation project expenditures come from this fund.

Other allocations include: $4.9 million to the general fund; $1.6 million to the water and sewer operating account; $1.6 million to the water and sewer construction account; $100,000 to the Eurma Hayes Fund; $20,791 for civil defense; $80,000 to the parking system fund; and $129,000 to the refuse collection and disposal fund.

Fry noted that the street maintenance budget was again increased over last year; the council was provided with the largest council contingency—$115,128—in eight years; and the city would continue to emphasize energy conservation in all day to day operations.

Fry said further reductions in the city's gasoline and diesel allocations, "particularly in public works and police, would be counterproductive."

Kennedy victor in Arizona, sees win as 'psychological lift'

By The Associated Press
Although President Carter and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy fought to a virtual draw in weekend Democratic Party caucuses, the Massachusetts challenger rejoiced over his Arizona victory, saying "The Southwest now has spoken."
Kennedy campaigned on both coasts, spending his weekend searching for votes in California while continuing to stump hard for support in Pennsylvania.

As the senator arrived in Philadelphia on an overnight flight from Los Angeles, he was greeted with news of his victory in Arizona, where Kennedy outpolled Carter by roughly 55 percent to 45 percent in precinct caucuses.
With 65 of 70 precincts reporting, Kennedy led with 9,738 votes to 7,592 for Carter, and the Massachusetts senator's margin was growing.
Kennedy seemed assured of eventually claiming 16 of the state's 29 delegates to the Democratic National Convention, with Carter getting the other 13. While that would represent a net gain of only three delegates for the Massachusetts senator, Kennedy saw it as a big psychological lift as the April 22 Pennsylvania primary draws near.

The senator also was doing well in Alaska, where the Democratic Party held district conventions over the weekend.
With results from five of the 22 conventions reported, Kennedy supporters claimed 34 of the 289 delegates being selected for the state convention in Fairbanks on May 17-18. Carter's backers picked up 12 convention seats, while 32 went to uncommitted delegates.

At Fairbanks, Alaska Democrats will name 18 national convention delegates to cast the state's 11 votes. The state has traditionally sent an uncommitted delegation to the convention, but an active Kennedy organization is working to end that tradition in 1980.

It wasn't a lost weekend for Carter, by any means. The president, who held a more than 2-1 national delegate lead over Kennedy going into the caucuses, picked up another half-dozen delegates in South Carolina and maintained his hold on Virginia.

Early returns from party conventions in the four largest counties in the state of Washington indicated Carter was hanging onto the lead he mustered in that western state in precinct caucuses held last month.

With 1,666 votes needed for nomination, the president had garnered 891 delegates before Saturday's round of caucuses. Kennedy had won 439 delegates.

Kennedy, nonetheless, was ebullient over the Arizona showing. He summoned traveling members of the press corps to an unusual Sunday morning news conference, asserting: "The Southwest has now spoken."

A news story in Thursday's Daily Egyptian about a roller skating rally and bike race listed Skate Street and the Miller Brewing Co. as sponsors of both events. The Joseph Schlitz Brewing Co. sponsored the bike race held Sunday.

The names of two candidates for student president and vice president were inadvertently omitted from a news story in Friday's Daily Egyptian. Kurt Boyle, a candidate for student president, and his running mate, Michael Wurst, are officially entered in the election.

Son of Liberian president beheaded

By The Associated Press
The rebels who seized power in Liberia beheaded the son of assassinated President William R. Tolbert Jr. and killed two of Tolbert's senior aides, including his son-in-law, Liberian diplomatic sources said Sunday.

The West African nation's new leader, an obscure 28-year-old army master sergeant named Samuel K. Doe, appointed a Cabinet of soldiers and civilians, including the leader of Liberia's banned leftist opposition party.

Doe also quickly set up a six-member military tribunal to prosecute an unspecified number of senior officials of the Tolbert government on charges of "rampant corruption" and "gross violation of human rights," said the state-run Liberian radio, monitored in London.

The new head of state declared Sunday that "everything is under control" and urged Liberians to go about their normal business, the radio announced.

Liberia, a country of 1.7 million people founded in 1847 by freed American slaves, has long maintained close ties with the United States. The State Department said Saturday that Washington would continue normal diplomatic relations with the new regime.

Indian tribe OKs long-term coal sale

CROW AGENCY, Mont. (AP) - Members of Montana's Crow Indian tribe have set aside their internal political differences and unanimously approved a long-term coal sale to Shell Oil Co. worth at least $29 million.

If approved by the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Interior Department, the deal will mean an immediate $6.2 million payment to the tribe, with the remainder paid over a 10-year period.

The agreement approved by the tribe Saturday would give Shell the right to strip-mine 210 million tons of coal on 2,560 acres.

Rain helps control Carolina forest fire

STUMPY POINT, N.C. (AP) - Scattered rains on Sunday helped slow the progress of the state's largest forest fire since 1971, which charred more than 28,300 acres in rural Dare County and briefly threatened a village.

On Saturday, winds gusting up to 28 mph had fueled the flames at a breakneck pace.

The fire, which the forest service said was touched off Thursday by an errant Air Force practice bomb, was still burning out of control, giving off dense smoke and ash.

The fire reached Pamlico Sound on Saturday and threatened the village of Manns Harbor. Backfires kept away the flames.

Removal of display censorship

The removal of the Students for Jesus anti-abortion display from the Student Center is clearly a case of the improper censorship of a recognized student organization and not just an issue of non-compliance with a few guidelines.

These guidelines are vague, and have not been universally enforced. The guidelines were used as a means of discrimination, since not every display has been scrutinized in this same manner. It was the controversial nature of the display, and the complaints about its content which prompted its removal. The guideline issue was merely the excuse to justify censorship.

Our group was never given a chance to comply with the guidelines. The exhibit was taken down without any prior notice to us. Our first proposal to Lynn Anderson, the responsible official, was to make the display comply with the existing guidelines. This suggestion was refused. The offer was made and rejected on several other occasions.

In a long-distance telephone conversation with one of Anderson's superiors we were told that the exhibit would not go back up even if it did meet the guidelines. The reasons given were the contents of the display being "in bad taste, offensive, and controversial."

We strongly protest the use of the guidelines as a smokescreen to hide an act of discrimination and selective censorship. We are calling for the Student Center to allow the display to go back up in its original location. The abortion issue is extremely relevant to this campus, and we feel that individuals in the university community should be allowed to decide for themselves whether or not they find the display offensive.—
Matthew Daub, vice president, SFJ

Exhibition not given a chance

When Students for Jesus asked me, as well as a number of other people, to help them design an effective and informative exhibition expressing their views regarding abortion, I knew that there would be some controversy involved. But none of us ever dreamed that after two months of planning and many painstaking hours of labor, the Student Center administration would take the display down within two hours of its opening. Believe me, this hurt. We were not even informed that it would be taken down or given a chance to defend the merits of the display before it was taken down.

The article regarding the exhibit on the front page of the March 28 DE did not tell the whole story. For example, it was not pointed out that the largest portion of the display was a series of award-winning photographs of the child in its intrauterine development accompanied by quotations from an eminent physician describing some of the facts of fetal development.

Concerning the so-called burcher block—it was a work of art. It was designed and assembled by an alumnus with an MFA in sculpture from this University who is currently an art instructor of a similar nature. It was not unlike some of the works of art commemorating the Holocaust.

Finally, a word in reference to the posters regarding the methods of abortion and "the garbage can of dead fetuses." The posters regarding the methods of abortion were plain statements of fact and were unaccompanied by any gory pictures of mutilated babies. The one poster that did show dead fetuses was in black and white. The infants had been cleaned by a pathologist and were destined for the incinerator. Cameras don't bite and the picture was no more ugly or offensive than abortion itself. Besides, if you are pro-abortion, why should you balk at the truth of that which you so ardently defend?—Neil P. Babcox, Alumnus, Murphysboro

Look before you leap, er, fly

Having the necessity to get to Chicago for a weekend in March, I consulted the ride board at the Student Center. It appeared reasonable that traveling two hours flying compared to seven driving was advantageous enough to consider. Consequently, prepaid transactions for this excursion were prompted, with the expectation that if weather conditions were bad we would not go, and the money would be returned.

Day of departure allowed little visibility and reports from a Chicago weather station said Chicago was encountering "heavy lake snow" that would continue into the night. Perhaps there are many private pilots who are competent and knowledgeable of the operations of the plane. There are also those who are inexperienced and vaguely aware of the implications of responsibility. Disregarding what the Marion tower advised against for conditions, our 18-year-old pilot had the plane made ready for flight. With shaking hands clutched to the steering column and an exasperated look on his face, the pilot carried on with the instruments.

After a brief interlude in the journey, we encountered a white mass of thick snow ahead, the edge of a blizzard stretching all the way to Chicago. Having never flown through a cloud before, the pilot was forced to land at Effingham. His second attempt bumped out plane abruptly on level ground again. The nerve-racked crew then proceeded with the circumstances of being stranded.

The rest of the story is a longer one, but it was through the ordeal that we are enlightened as to the background of our so-called pilot—40 hours of experience.

His three passengers went their separate ways the following day with the added expense of Amtrak. I do not blame the weather on the pilot, but only propose that to be subjected to a private pilot's flying, you also need to know his qualifications or lack of them.

It won't stop those that are this inexperienced from being able to rent planes wherever they may want to take them, but might help others who, like myself, are foolish enough to indulge before looking.—Judy Hickman, Junior, Physical Therapy

Embassy seizure an act of war

Carter act a long time coming

WASHINGTON—The president last Monday took some of the steps he should have taken five months ago. He expelled the remaining Iranian diplomats, and he imposed our own unilateral sanctions against trade with Iran.

It is not mere hindsight to remark that these actions come very late in the day. Within 72 hours after the hostages were seized on Nov. 4, some of us hawkish fellows were urging precisely such reprisals. Once it became clear that the "students" were acting with the approval of Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini, the seizure of our embassy in Tehran could not be misunderstood. It was tantamount to act of war.

An altogether proper response under the old rules of international law would have been for Congress to declare the existence of a state of war with Iran. This would have cleared the way for a blockade. It would have triggered other opportunities to exert dramatic pressure upon the ayatollah, and it would not necessarily have involved immediate hostilities. Had the United States presented an image of boldness and decisiveness at that time, the United Nations might have been galvanized into action. The Soviet Union might have had sober second thoughts about Afghanistan.

We responded instead with indignant words and feeble gestures—with Ramsey Clark and Christmas candles. We temporized; we waffled; we sent legal counsel to the World Court. And meanwhile the militant captors grew more militant; the mobs grew ever larger; and the hostages remained in captivity. What was intended as an image of great patience turned into an image of great timidity. In time it became a game of cat-and-mouse. Plainly, the great and powerful United States could be humiliated with impunity by little Iran. Who could have been vastly surprised by the Soviets' opportunism next door?

Will the American image be improved by Mr. Carter's belated belligerence? Not by much. The severing of diplomatic relations is a wholly symbolic act, have no more serious consequence than the disruption of traffic on Massachusetts Avenue. Our own unilateral trade sanctions will have no effect whatever.

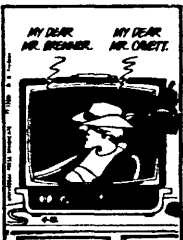

Even if our Western allies were to join in multilateral sanctions—and let us believe this cooperation when we see it—would such sanctions work? The world's most recent experience provides an instructive lesson. Following Rhodesia's declaration of independence in November 1965, the United Nations ordered all members to stop trading with the breakaway country. Britain's prime minister confidently predicted the sanctions would bring Rhodesia to its knees "in a matter of weeks." Britain ate those words for 13 years. The sanctions accomplished nothing.

Why was this? Simple greed, for one thing. National self-interest, for another. There was money to be made in trading with Rhodesia, and there was no effective way of blocking shipments through neighboring nations. The same considerations apply to Iran. Oil is thicker than friendship. The Soviet Union alone can make a travesty of the Carter sanctions. Iran may feel a pinch when the Caspian Sea dries up.

In his announcement a few days ago, the president made one of those oblique threats for which he has become lamentably famous. He warned that "other action may be necessary if these steps do not produce the prompt release of the hostages." One recalls Mr. Carter's grim assertion last September that the presence of a Soviet combat brigade in Cuba was "not acceptable." Nothing came of that assertion. The Soviet troops, like the hostages, are still there.

How long, O Lord, how long? Let us applaud Mr. Carter for his actions, even as we recognize their futility. Other action will indeed be necessary if the hostages are to be released before summer. The longer we delay, the more certain it becomes that Iran's audacity will be duplicated somewhere else.

Brothers Johnson 'saves' 4-band concert

By Lula Fragd
Student Writer

Greeted at the Arena gates Thursday by signs announcing that refunds were available because of Chaka Khan's absence from the performance, the crowd, with somewhat dampened spirits, waited to see what would be the resulting outcome.

Maybe it was the crowd's month-long anticipation; maybe it was the effects of a hard-pressing concert tour; maybe it was the 20 to 30-minute stage set-ups between acts, but the crowd of 3,000-plus rhythm-and-blues fans sat and watched what was thought to be the biggest and best concert of the year—featuring Narada Michael Walden, Tavares, Rufus and the Brothers Johnson—fizzle right before their eyes.

Although the main floor audience, in usual form, partied to almost every tune, a "pseudo-refined" atmosphere took away from the efforts of the groups. Each performance had high points, but the culminating energy in the crowd never materialized until the Brothers Johnson came on to save the evening.

Opening the show, Narada Michael Walden provided the audience with a sampling of what they had come for, hard-hitting "stand up and shout" music. The stage versions of "I Don't Want Nobody Else to Dance with You," "Tonight I'm Alright" and the biggest hit off his new album, "I Should Have Loved You," brought the crowd to its feet and shouts of "Go head, go head!" filled the Arena.

Tavares, added to the billing a week before the concert, pleased the audience with well-known hits like "This Is It," "Never Had A Love Like This

Brothers Johnson

Before" and "Heaven Must Be Missing An Angel."

"Tiny" Tavares had the ladies screaming during his solo of "Let Me Heal the Bruises." However, a smaller hall may have served the group better in the final analysis.

Four SIU-C School of Music students—trumpeters Keith Huffman and Mike Ridgway, Craig Rytterski on saxophone and Riley Hayes on trombone—were hired by Tavares as its horn section for the night. Different members of the foursome had played together in school performances, but this was the first time all four had performed in unison.

After another half-hour break Rufus, minus Chaka Khan, took the stage. The band members are definitely fine musicians, but the magic of Chaka was glaringly missing. The audience hoped that the addition of two female vocalists would make up for the lost power of Chaka's voice, but they were ultimately saddened by the lack of vitality in the vocals, even when one of the vocalists tried to instill excitement into the show by shedding her skirt and performing the rest of the show in a skin-tight leotard.

Explaining that Chaka was in a hospital in Miami with a kidney ailment, the band dedicated "Stop On By" to her.

The band finally came alive, following much coaxing and a stage production of smoke and colors, for "Do You Love What You Feel?" the hit off the new "Masterjam" album.

The spirit of the crowd luckily endured another half-hour stage set-up. When the Brothers Johnson appeared they were greeted by a well-deserved frenzied reception. Dressed casually in jeans, the group promptly proclaimed "Ain't We Funky Now" and continued to "rock it out" for the remainder of the concert.

The Brothers' "I'll Be Good To You" was dedicated to Chaka. "Smiling On You," a jazzy number featuring Bobby Rodriguez and Raymond Crosby in the horn section, was dedicated to the audience.

A superb rendition of "Strawberry Letter 22" was followed by an audience participation act which allowed two women to get on stage and demonstrate the new dance "the wiggle" while the Johnsons performed the song of the same name.

Base guitarist Lewis Johnson's solos were incredible throughout the concert. "Get the Funk Outta My Face" and the smooth transition into "Stomp" off the Johnson's latest album glided the audience to the climax they had waited for.

It is history now. The show began high and ended high. With all of the show's lapses taken into consideration, the four-band extravaganza will still be the concert of the year.

Sensibility key to weight loss program

By Dave Leach
Student Writer

TOPS stops fat. However, visions of overweight people slamming the iron of the weight machines or sitting in a sweaty, steam box are not part of this weight-loss clinic's program.

The Carbondale chapter of TOPS, which stands for Take Off Pounds Sensibly, uses positive reinforcement to help people lose weight. "It's like Alcoholics Anonymous, only we're concerned with food," said chapter secretary Marie Smith.

Once a person has obtained his goal of weight loss, he graduates to KOPS—Keep Off Pounds Sensibly.

"There is no plan or diet (unless someone uses his personal physician's diet) and we use no fats or medications," Smith said.

What TOPS does use is a combination of common sense and monetary pressure. It teaches people how to count calories and how to avoid the urge to eat improperly.

The club also incorporates games and contests that stress losing weight. Another good incentive for losing unwanted excess is the TOPS weigh-in pool. It cost 10 cents for every pound gained and during the holidays, when eating defenses are the lowest, the penalty is a quarter.

The Carbondale chapter of TOPS meets at 7 p.m. every Monday at the First Baptist Church, 302 W. Main St. TOPS is an international organization founded by Esther Mancz that is divided into state districts and local chapters.

First literary magazine in 4 years features poetry, fiction, drama

By Cindy Humphreys
Staff Writer

"Little Egypt," the first literary magazine SIUC students have produced since 1976, goes on sale Monday at the Student Center. The 63-page compilation of poetry, fiction and drama costs $2.

The magazine contains one long story, two short stories, one dramatic scene and 33 poems, and was funded by the Undergraduate Student Organization through the New English Organization, said the project's faculty adviser, Jim Paul.

"All of our proceeds will be used to fund next year's magazine," Paul said. If all 200 copies are sold, the proceeds will be $100 more than the group had to work with this year. "We hope to be able to improve the look of next year's magazine," Paul said, "with photos and more offset printing."

SIUC's last literary magazine was called "The Search." It folded when funding was withdrawn, Paul said. High student interest was the main reason behind the initiation of "Little Egypt" this year.

"Creative writing is a very strong point of this University's English Department," Paul said. "Out of every 200 SIUC English majors, 74 of them are in creative writing."

About 300 submissions were received this year from all over the state, but only campus works were considered this year, he said. "We'd like 'Little Egypt' to eventually become a regional journal," Paul said.

Tree planted as student memorial

By Michael J. Pirages
Student Writer

A tree planting ceremony to "celebrate the life" of Betty Quinn was held Saturday afternoon near Faner Fall on the SIUC campus.

About 50 persons, including friends and family, attended the memorial to Quinn, a 23-year-old sophomore in history who was fatally shot in Chicago during Christmas break.

The ceremony included speeches by Vonda Turner and Ellen Ryan who were friends of Quinn's; a benediction by Ryan, the Rev. Paul Worley of the First Pentecostal Church in Murphysboro; and remarks by Quinn's sister, Charlene Jacobsen.

"We are planting a tree because she loved the outdoors," Turner, a former roommate of Quinn's said.

Jacobsen, of Murphysboro, read at the ceremony from notes found in Quinn's papers.

"I will miss you when you go, but I will not let your absence kill my desire and need to grow. If there ever should be a time, I will rejoice in your return."

The crowd then helped plant the tree. A plaque was placed next to the tree which reads "This tree is in memory of Betty Quinn 1979."

The horseshoe drive that winds through Lewis Park Apartments was recently named Betty Quinn Court. Quinn had worked in the office of the apartment complex for the past two years.

A presentation was also made by the Saluki Saddle Club. Hilary Margon, club president, announced the creation of the Betty Quinn Memorial Trophy, which will be presented for the first time at a tournament Nov. 1. The perpetual trophy will be for the most improved in western class competition.

Two playwrights to discuss work, present plays at theater workshops

By Robin Saponar
Staff Writer

At the end of a play most people will comment on the "great acting." Rarely will people say, "What a script! The playwright must be a genius."

For those who are concerned with the playwrighting aspect, playwrights workshops will be held Tuesday through Friday at the SIU-C Communications Building Laboratory Theater.

The Theater Department will sponsor the workshops with a grant from the Illinois Arts Council Artists-in-Residence program. All events are free and open to the public.

Theater Department students will present a public reading of Victor Power's play "Johnnie Will" at 4 p.m. Tuesday. The play deals with the problems which arise in a modern Irish rural family when the political situation in Northern Ireland threatens the tranquility of the Irish backwater.

Professional playwright Power will attend the workshop. A native of Ireland, he is the author of more than 17 plays, numerous articles, published short stories and translations.

A public reading will be presented of Bernard Sabath's new play, "A Happy New Year To The Whole World Except Alexander Graham Bell" at 4 p.m. Wednesday. The play depicts a confrontation between the "fiery, blustery" Samuel Clemens and the "refined and gentlemanly restraint" of Alexander Graham Bell.

Sabath is a part-time instructor of fiction writing classes at the Medill School of Journalism and author of 12 full-length plays dealing with the life and times of Mark Twain and the Midwest region.

Eloise Scherzer, graduate assistant in theater, said that Sabath's plays dealing with the folklore in the Midwest should be pertinent to people born and raised in the Midwest.

Following the presentations, Power and Sabath will discuss their work and moderate an audience critique.

"The audience can be involved with the critiquing," Scherzer said. "This gives the audience an opportunity for interplay. It's more meaningful with a two-way interchange."

A playwrighting symposium will be held at 4 p.m. Thursday in the Communications Building Laboratory. Power and Sabath will participate in the symposium, discussing their individual work and working methods.

A staged reading of a new play by student playwright Irene Grudzinski will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday and at 4 p.m. Friday. The play titled "Another Season for Witches," is considered a "work in progress" by Scherzer.

"The play is meant to be staged. You need to get an audience and see how the visual communication works with an audience," she said. "It's exciting because it allows all those involved to extend themselves and experiment."

Grudzinski is a Master of Fine Arts candidate in the Theater Department's playwrighting program. She is the author of a number of plays, including "Natasha."

Doctor claims emotional attitude 'single most important' health factor

By Erick Howenstine
Staff Writer

You have exactly one year to eat 130 pounds of refined white sugar, smoke 350 packs of cigarettes, and drink 1,500 cups of coffee. Disgusting thought, isn't it?

For the average American, meeting such a challenge would mean no change in diet whatever, says Dr. Norman Shealy, a long-time proponent of holistic medicine and self-healing.

"And if the average consumption of sugar is 130 pounds per year, that means that some people are eating up to 300 pounds, because (for example) someone else is getting mine," Shealy said.

Shealy, president of the American Holistic Medical Association and founder of the Pain and Health Rehabilitation Center in LaCross, Wisconsin, spoke to more than 100 people Thursday in the SIU Student Center. The lecture was sponsored by the Student Programming Council and the Student Wellness Resource Center.

Shealy is the author of several books including "The Pain Game" and "90 Days to Self-Health."

The idea behind holistic perception of health, Shealy said, is that the whole is greater than the sum of the parts, adding that many medical practitioners still believe that the whole is fully represented in the separate parts.

But Shealy said that traditional medical treatments are not as effective or as safe as

Friday's Puzzle Solved

Doctor says diet, exercise, attitude key health factors

(Continued from Page 8) some people think. Most drugs are effective only 60 percent of the time, and occasionally there is a drug that works on up to 75 percent of those treated, but that is uncommon, he said.

One out of four people gets "significant undesirable side affects" from the use of everyday drugs, he added.

Shealy said that "most drugs are primarily placebos (inactive substances that the patient believes to be active)." Shealy claims the "placebo effect" is 30 to 50 percent effective. "People heal themselves," he said.

The philosopher Rousseau said, "A feeble body weakens the mind." Shealy contends that the inverse is just as true.

"Emotional attitude is the single most important thing in determining our health," he said.

Early in this century, most disease resulted from a lack of sanitation and inadequate quantities of food. Now, however, a large majority of types of illnesses are the result of our lifestyle and are not as easily cured by science as they are by the individual, Shealy said.

He recommended several steps that "would wipe out 90 percent of all illnesses within a single generation."

—Eat at least three meals of natural food a day.

—Don't smoke.

—Drink alcohol in moderation, if at all.

—Exercise adequately. This means building up to 20 minutes of hard sweat at least three times a week.

—Keep your weight within 10 percent of the ideal. Shealy said an average man, if 45 pounds overweight, has reduced his life expectancy by 18 years.

—Sleep seven or eight hours a day on a regular basis.

—Relax for 10 minutes three times a day.

—Resolve your anger and fear daily. "You don't have to carry your garbage around with you."

—Have faith in yourself.

Baseball team loses three to rain

Someone up there just doesn't like the SIU baseball team.

The Salukis had their 12th, 13th and 14th games of the season washed out by the weather this weekend, as all three games with Missouri Valley Conference rival Indiana State at Abe Martin Field had to be canceled. Friday's single game was rained out, while wet grounds forced postponement of Saturday's double-header.

SIU, 10-8 for the season, has not played for almost a week. Last Monday's double-header victory over St. Francis was the last action the Salukis have seen; a scheduled single game last Tuesday at Washington University of St. Louis was rained out.

The Salukis are scheduled to play a double-header Tuesday at Abe Martin Field against defending NAIA champion David Lipscomb. Unfortunately, more rain is predicted for both Monday and Tuesday, threatening those contests. If the games are played, the first match will start at 1:30 p.m.

SIU will travel to Peoria next weekend for double-headers with Bradley, another Missouri Valley Conference contender. After that, the Salukis won't play on the road until May 7, when they'll visit Illinois for a twinbill.

Between the Bradley and Illinois games, the Salukis have home games scheduled with Kentucky, SIU-Edwardsville, Illinois, Eastern Illinois and East Tennessee State. SIU will close out the regular season May 10-11 with games against Austin Peay at home, then will participate May 15-18 in the Missouri Valley Conference tournament.

Sox, Baumgarten defeat Baltimore

By The Associated Press

Jim Morrison's tie-breaking sacrifice fly followed by a two-run double by hot-hitting Lamar Johnson keyed a three-run seventh inning, leading the Chicago White Sox to a 5-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Sunday.

It was the third straight victory for the White Sox over the defending American League champions following an opening day loss.

Eruce Kimm opened the seventh with a single and went to third on a double by Greg Pryor. Thad Bosley struck out, and Morrison's sacrifice fly scored pinch-runner Claudell Washington to snap a 2-2 tie.

Johnson then doubled across two more runs and now has nine hits in 15 at-bats with six runs batted in.

The Orioles took a 1-0 lead in the first on a walk to Rich Dauer, a wild pitch, and a run-scoring single by Eddie Murray. They picked up another run in the fourth on a walk to Murray, and singles by Doug DeCinces and Gary Roenicke.

The White Sox scored their first run in the third on infield singles by Kimm, Bosley and Bannister, and a wild pitch by starter Dave Ford. They added another run in the fifth on three walks and a hit batsman.

Starter Ross Baumgarten was the winner, and reliever Sam Stewart was the loser.

Ford got out of trouble in the second and fourth innings as Wayne Nordhagen grounded into double plays both times. But Ford got wild in the fifth. He retired the first two batters, then walked Pryor, Bosley and Bannister to load the bases before hitting Morrison with a pitch to force in the tying run. Stewart took over and got Johnson to pop out to end the inning. Stewart put out the side in order in the sixth before running into trouble in the decisive seventh.

Baumgarten was helped by an inning-ending double play after the Orioles had scored a run in the fourth. He gave up a single to Mark Belanger in the fifth and then retired seven in a row before issuing a walk to Rick Dempsey in the top of the seventh.

Baumgarten allowed five hits and walked four with three strikeouts in the seven innings he worked.

Dempsey happy with offense in first spring grid scrimmage

By Rod Smith
Staff Writer

Even though it's early—Saturday's football scrimmage was the Salukis' first of the spring—Coach Ray Dempsey already is making judgments about his club.

His first evaluation following the two-hour scrimmage, the team's ninth spring practice, was that the offense has progressed further than the defense.

"We're closer to where we want to be offensively than defensively," Dempsey said. "We have so many new guys defensively. We have been hitting all right, but we are making other mistakes. The offense is doing more good things than the defense. I'm more pleased than displeased."

The scrimmage was an offensive display, demonstrating the coach's point concerning returns. Seven starters return on offense; only five on defense.

Dempsey was pleased with the play of both his senior quarterbacks, the offensive line and running backs Vic Harrison and little Jeff Ware.

There was a good showing from the quarterback position. John Cernak, at 6-4 a primarily dropback passer, was nine of 14 passing for 100 yards, while Gerald Carr, whose late season scrambling and running led to five straight wins last year, ran for 68 yards in four carries and was six of 13 for 66 yards through the air.

"Cernak has been throwing well every day. He's throwing better than Gerald right now," Dempsey said. "He actually is running better. I've seen him sharp in spring before, but never like this. He's really intent."

"Gerald is throwing a little high now," Dempsey said. "I still call Gerald No. 1. He's so quick. His running and ball handling have been outstanding. The first play, he ran for a TD with people all over him."

Dempsey said the offensive line, possibly the deepest position, "has shown the most advancement" of any area.

Veteran fullback Vic Harrison led all rushers with 108 yards in 16 carries.

"Vic really separated himself from Melius Carney today. He is definitely our No. 1 fullback," Dempsey said.

Another bright spot was the emergence of 5-6, 160-pound Jeff Ware. Ware, a sophomore next year, rushed for 79 yards in 16 carries, including a 15-yard scoring run. He also grabbed two passes for 36 yards.

"He looked good today. He is one of our most improved guys," Dempsey said. "He looks like an outside runner, but he can run inside, too. Sometimes they can't even see him on draw plays."

One area of concern is the defensive secondary, where all four starters have graduated. Backfield coach Jim Caldwell employed a starting lineup of Neal Furlong and Trey Washington at the safeties, with Walter Nuby and junior college transfer James Davis at the corners.

"They are getting closer to the ball and tackling better," Dempsey said. "We still have a long way to go there. We are having a real battle for the cornerback spots. We should know more by next week."

Dempsey is concerned about the lack of competition at the wide receiver slot vacated by Kevin House. The leading candidates there are Raifield Lathan, who caught two passes for 23 yards, and Daryl Leake.

Dempsey said the scrimmage was a "good workout" with the No. 1 offense and No. 1 defense each working 48 downs against the second unit.

The coach said the team will practice Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday before the second spring scrimmage, a two-hour session beginning at 3 p.m. Friday at McAndrew Stadium. The Friday scrimmage also is open to the public.

It's official: Fayne signs with cagers

By Scott Stahmer
Sports Editor

It's finally official. Johnny Fayne is coming home.

The former Carbondale Community High School star, who played for Dodge City (Kan.) Community College this season, signed a national letter of intent with SIU Saturday morning. Fayne had given Saluki Coach Joe Gottfried a verbal commitment several weeks ago, but wanted to clarify his academic standing at Dodge City before signing.

Gottfried, who recruited the 6-4, 215-pound Fayne as a second, or shooting guard, was pleased with the signing, SIU's second official one. Point guard Robert Kirsner signed Wednesday; center Vincent Wiggins officially will be signed when his mother's health improves.

"We're happy," Gottfried said. "Johnny's a good player, a very skilled player. He's got good range on his shooting and is a good passer. He's a good jumper, and has a great set of hands."

Fayne, a three-year starter at CCHS, averaged 25 points and 10 rebounds per game his senior year. He was a first-team all-stater last year, attracting attention from SIU, Kansas State and Indiana State, but had to attend a junior college because of low grades.

He picked Dodge City, and helped lead Coach Duncan Reid's team to a 27-5 season. Even though he played point guard, he led the team in rebounding, and scored 14 points per game.

Since most schools believed Fayne would stay at Dodge City another year, Gottfried said he was recruited only by Long Beach State this season. Fayne earned all-conference and all-district honors.

"He can rebound," Gottfried said, praising Fayne's versatility. "We're going to use him some on the inside, because he's got physical strength."

Gottfried is optimistic about Fayne's academic situation.

"We're confident that he's going to make it," the coach said. "If he ends up slipping in the next five or six weeks, he may not qualify for admission. When we went out there and talked to him the week after he committed, things looked good."

Although Gottfried believes Fayne will contend for a starting position next season, he added that a spot will not be handed to him. Two players who saw action last year at the shooting guard slot Scott Russ and Darnall Jones, are returning.

"Johnny has to prove himself," Gottfried said. "He has competition he has to go against."

Gottfried said he is happy with the Salukis' recruiting up to this point. With Kirsner, the 6-1½ point guard from Lafayette High School in Brooklyn, N.Y., and Fayne, SIU signed both point and shooting guards—something the coach has said was a major objective for this recruiting season.

"Rob Kirsner played in an all-star game the other night in Queens (a New York borough)," Gottfried said. "He scored six points and had 10 assists. He puts the ball in the

As for Wiggins, Kirsner's 6-10 teammate at Lafayette, Gottfried said, "We're just waiting until his mother can handle signing the letter of intent." The elder Wiggins has been hospitalized with a heart condition.

Gottfried now has one more scholarship to offer, but he said the Salukis may not use that scholarship. SIU is looking at junior college power forwards and swingmen capable of playing both guard and forward.

"Right now, we're still involved with some people we've talked to," Gottfried said. "If we can, we'd like to get maybe another big forward or a swingman."

Softball 'team effort' gives SIU 2-2 mark at ISU

By Dave Kane
Staff Writer

After a slow start, the Saluki women's softball team finally has gotten its season into full swing. After two wins and two losses at the Illinois State Invitational over the weekend, SIU's progress is about where Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer had expected it to be.

"I'm pretty content with what we did at ISU," Brechtelsbauer said. "Our defense showed signs of tightening up, and that's bound to bring more victories. We're 5-4 and still struggling a little, but this is about where I'd expect us to be. We still need a little bit of learning, it's that simple."

As evidenced by the 2-2 tournament mark, there were high and low marks for SIU at Normal. Behind the pitching tandem of freshman Donna Dapson and sophomore Vicki Stafko, the Salukis lost to Ball State, 5-2, edged Illinois State, 5-4, shut out Michigan, 6-0, and bowed out of the tourney with a 3-2 setback against Western Illinois.

Against Ball State Friday, SIU was outthru, 6-4, but held a 2-0 lead until the top of the sixth. Ball State pushed across two runs to tie it and scored three more in the top of the seventh to put the game out of reach, despite six Ball State errors. Dapson took the loss.

But against Illinois State Friday afternoon, the Salukis beat an old nemesis—Redbird pitcher Bonnie Kraemer. Both teams got seven hits, but SIU's four-run fourth inning, plus another run in the fifth, was too much for ISU to overcome.

Kraemer, whose record fell to 5-3, pitched a pair of victories against SIU in the Illinois AIAW state tournament last season when she played for Eastern Illinois. Stafko got the win to improve to 2-0.

Saturday's win against Michigan was the high point of the season so far, according to Brechtelsbauer. SIU right fielder Dee Stull went 2-for-4 and picked up four RBI's, while Dapson limited the Wolverines to three hits.

"The Michigan game was definitely our best so far," Brechtelsbauer said. "We played errorless ball and got people on the bases."

But in the next game, Stafko and SIU lost a tough one to Western Illinois to close out the Salukis' tournament competition. After scoring a run in the top of the second to tie it at 2-2, the Salukis were held scoreless while the Westwinds pushed across what proved to be the winning run in the bottom of the sixth.

"It (the WIU game) was definitely a tight one," Brechtelsbauer said. "Stafko pitched a really good game. The closeness of the game is obvious when you look at the numbers—three runs, seven hits and no errors for them and two runs, six hits and one error for us."

Overall, Brechtelsbauer was happy with the results. Just as in last week's double-header sweep against Meramec Community College, Brechtelsbauer was reluctant to name outstanding individuals.

"Really, the four games involved a team effort for us," she said. "Different people got important hits in different ball games. Dee Stull hit well, and so did second baseman Pat Stang. Gena (Valli) got some key hits against Illinois State and Western."

Valli, who was looked upon as a pitching mainstay prior to the season, has come along slower than expected, according to Brechtelsbauer.

"We used Gena at first base in the tournament," Brechtelsbauer said. "We would have had her pitch some, but she hasn't been very sharp lately. But she did come through with some good hitting for us."

"We may use Gena against Indiana State Tuesday," she continued. "We have a big tournament this weekend in New Mexico (the Lobo Diamond Classic) and we'll be playing four or five games there. She'll have to be ready by then."

Dapson and Stafko, who both pitched two complete games at ISU, obviously are ready.

"Most pitchers are capable of going the distance... this point in the season," Brechtelsbauer said. "I know Donna's ready—she could go half the day if she had to. And although Vicki isn't quite as strong since she's strained her arm earlier, she's really worked hard and has her pitches working quite well—especially her change-up."

Stafko is 2-1, while Dapson is 2-3.

The Salukis will host Missouri Valley Conference rival Indiana State for a double-header at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Women's Intercollegiate Athletics field.

"Indiana State was at the tournament in Normal, although we didn't get to see them play," Brechtelsbauer said.

"I know Southwest Missouri beat them, 4-0, but they're always tough. We've come out on top the last seven or eight games against them, but several of those games went into extra innings."
