Arena Ticket Plan Changed

The Student Council moved Thursday night to assure a more equitable way of selling tickets to future stage and show events in the SIU Arena. Under the arrangements, students who buy individual tickets will now have an opportunity to buy seats as good as those bought by purchasers of block tickets.

A bill passed at the Council's Thursday night meeting calls for the division of the Arena seating into two equal parts.

On the first day of sales, block tickets will be allocated to one side of the arena and single tickets, in numbers of six or less, will be allocated to the other.

On the second day, however, ticket buyers may choose seats on either side, regardless of whether they buy their tickets in blocks or singly.

Morris Library to Be Open During Christmas Vacation

Morris Library will be open during its regular hours all during the Christmas quarter-break, with the exception of Christmas day.

This new policy, announced by Ferris Randall, acting librarian, is an experimental one designed to serve the students who stay on campus over the holidays. Randall indicated that if library use is good during the experimental

'Catherine' Begins Tonight

"Catherine of Aragon," a full-length play by John Welton, graduate student in theater, will be staged at 8 p.m. tonight at the University Playhouse.

The play, which includes members of the faculty and students, is directed by Gil Lazier, a graduate student.

Centered around the character of Catherine of Aragon, wife of King Henry VIII, the play is in a 16th century setting.

Foe Unbeaten In Two Games

Southern gets back into action on the home court tonight when the Salukis play unbeaten Tennessee Tech at 8 o'clock in the SIU Arena.

Coach Jack Hartman's five will be hoping to snap a two-game losing streak suffered in road games. Last week's losses to Southwest Missouri and Kansas State have evened Southern's record at 2-2, after the Salukis had racked up big victories at home over Oklahoma State and North Dakota State.

Tonight's opponent has picked up impressive victories over two foes in their only games so far. In its opener Tennessee Tech rolled over Chattanooga 84-70 and followed up by whipping Belmont College 67-59 Tuesday night. The Eagles are coached by Ken Sidwell who was a cage star at Tech in his college days. Sidwell still holds a number of scoring records at that school.

The Eagles are led by captain Ron Hobson a 5-foot-10 guard. Hobson is one of three starters returning from last year's Tech team which finished 11-11. He averaged 8.9 points a game. Besides being the spark of the team's offense, he is also a scrappy competitor on defense.

Teaming with Hobson in the back court will be Steve Hays a 6-foot junior. Hays was also a starter last year as a sophomore when he averaged eight points a game.

Rounding out the list of returning starters for the Eagles is forward Charles Wood. Wood is a good rebounder and was last year's second-best scorer with an average

We Must Have It! The Sad Story of: The Decline of Baseball

By John Strawn

The recent decline of interest in baseball is strongly indicative of the general moral decay of the U.S. populace, for the history of baseball is really nothing less than the Story of America. It is the intention of this brief work, written under the auspices of Mothers for Moral America (MMA), to elaborate the Truth concerning the Birth of Baseball, in order that it may be rightfully venerated and hence reinstated as the basic activity for the Youth of America Moral and Pure (YAMP), a patriotic children's group organized and supported by Strength in the Home means relief from Internal Tension and Subversion.

As is well known, our country was founded by four fathers (with the aid and encouragement of several Mothers) all of whom were well versed in the prudence of the time. These Puritans, steadfast and Godly, intended that here in our country sin would be abolished and freedom would flourish (at all cost). This, however, was not immediately accomplished, due to subversive elements within the country (such as foreigners). When this was called to the attention of the Congress, some 100-odd years after the founding of the Nation, a special committee met and called upon a young Christian Man named Abner Doubledoom to beseech him to discover a means for eliminating the remainder of the aforementioned sin. Doubledoom, whose father ran a leather-tanning goods store, and who himself owned a lumbermill, rose to the challenge in the finest Free-Enterprise Style. Consulting his volumes on Psychology, he discovered that bringing things into the open allows them to be suppressed. He recognized this to be a clue. And in this time of Trouble Abner Doubledoom thought and prayed.

At last the solution struck him—the country needed a national game. But what would it be? He considered the virtues of America, the Land of the Free (the number of virtues being All), and made these the touchstone for his system. He first considered that Americans (unlike other peoples) begin life in the heavenly bliss of the womb, which he daintily designated Home. From there they make the pleasant journey to puberty, which he euphemistically labeled First Base. The journey continued quickly to Second Base, or wealth, to Third Base, or Leisure and Enjoyment of wealth (uniquely American) and ultimately to Heaven, a loftier version of 'Home'. The game would require, then, this circle of steps, or 'The Four-Fold Path of Bases'.

Again Abner prayed. 'America is competitive', he exclaimed! Therefore there must be opposing sides in the game. But what would the sides be? It came to Abner in a flash of Truth—the Forces of Evil, lurking menacingly in the field, the agents of the Devil and guardians against impingements on the Path, would be symbolically represented by One Side. And this side could never directly win since only the forces of good could make the trip around the Four Fold Path. It was perfect! Now only a selection of the instruments of struggle remained.

At this time Abner lapsed into deep spiritual meditation, eating twice or maybe only once a day even in the midst of American Plenty. One day, while chewing on a piece of manuscript, Abner made a spitball, unconsciously threw it up and swatted it with a toothpick between his teeth—and then He Knew. At last his trials were over. He would make swatting boards in his lumber yard (later these boards became known as 'bats'), and enlarged spitballs with leather coverings, to be swatted. The ball would be Temptation, served by a deliverer, or agent of the Devil. Forces of Good, wielding their bats, would send Temptation flying, while the Forces of Evil would lurk in wait to recover it in an attempt to thwart the efforts of Good as it rounded the Path of Bases.

As he collapsed, mentally spent, Abner Doubledoom called for his secretary to forward his plans to Congress (where they passed unanimously). Then he sat back and waited the Institution of the National Game (as he dubbed it), and along with it the orders for balls, bats, and Symbolic Stations of Life.

From this brief analysis it became obvious that baseball characterizes all that this Great Land represents; the struggle, the quest, the exclusive rights to Truth. Abner did his duty well, and now we are spurning this great patriot. And this is due to apathy, for not even the Communists are capable of corrupting This Game of Beauty. I beseech you my Fellow Americans—Love Baseball! Join a Team! Keep America Moral! Let us all unite in one movement—The Social Union of Righteous Devotees—dedicated to God, Good, and BASEBALL! Amen.

And Now a Word from Our Sponsor

by Darryl Brown

Commercials have changed. No longer do they just sell products, but they now sell ideas and ideals as well. Consider the anti-litter ads with their Susan Spottless and catchy slogans like: "You can't take it with you, but why leave it lying around?" (A horrible thought, indeed.) Or, furthermore, consider the higher education commercials which ask you to support the college of your choice because today's college student is tomorrow's leader. (An even more horrible thought.)

A new and astounding message crossed my ears the other day in a commercial beaming from my roommate's radio. A male glee club began by singing a few bars of a "dear old alma mater" song. Then with humming in the background and the pealing of chimes, the announcer began speaking. He said that Johnny only has one year of college left before he obtains his bachelor's degree. Johnny has many people to thank for helping him achieve his education. These include his parents, his friends, his teachers, and Kay-ay-ay-X—OO—Kay-ay, St. Louis (to be sung as a jingle).

In order to retain my more sophisticated readers for the remainder of this article, I must explain that I am usually above listening to this sort of thing. It was my roommate who was actually listening to the radio, although I couldn't help but overhear. (My yoga practice has not yet advanced to the stage of complete self-detachment.) This may tend to estrange some of my more ingenious readers, but I rather doubt that most of them got this far in reading the article. I have, in fact, tested this on my roommate who is terribly uncouth. He even played on the football team (known by opponents as "the Zeroes") which gives you some idea of his capability.

Stirred by my latest encounter with the new breed of advertising, a wealth of ideas sprang into my mind.

I speculated on the idea of having only one year left. How glorious it must be to know only one more year of books, profs, and exams! "Just this course to complete my major, and that one to complete to complete my minor!" Thus one would think — until he met his adviser when registering for his last term.

"I'm sorry but you lack credit for the special ROTC convocation which is required under the old system you are graduating under. It is offered only every other fall. They are considering dropping it under the new system pending the outcome of a bill in the legislature which will deem this program unnecessary if India develops a nuclear bomb."

Then on the other hand how sad it must be to know there will only be one more solid year of free-for-all parties with your fraternity brothers. (Of course you hope to have a lot of reunions, but no more continual midnight suns and red-eyed days.) There will be no more nights of sitting with preying eyes in the library lounges. In short, the really good life could end in one year.

And who do you owe it all to? First on your post-Thanksgiving day thank list are your parents. After all, they paid the tuition and fees; they bought you that shiny, new car; they paid the illegal possession fine; they paid the fine for possession of alcoholic beverages; and they are ever willing to help support your spouse and family. Raise your mugs high in a toast to your own personal Fort Knox.

I'm sure it is easy to recall friends of both sexes who have taught you a thing or two. It might also be noted that, since you are now over 21, your circle of friends will widen to the capacity of your trailer (about 100 on any given night).

To recall something a teacher deserves thanks for demands more thinking than you have ever done before. However, if you must thank a teacher, I'm sure you could think up a good lie. After all, you didn't get this far without a lot of b. and brown-nosing. Finally, KXOK deserves your thanks for aiding in your education. You can't learn everything from books. Things are happening in the world right now, and in order to keep abreast, you can listen to a 30-second newscast or a five-minute report on the whereabouts of the Beatles. You would be lost in the world if you didn't know the top ten or the latest hit by a certain slice-of-life songster who actually uses profanity! Where else can you receive so little while sacrificing so much in terms of sanity and eardrums? Just be thankful that you live in an area where you can obtain such an education.

Regional News

MARISSA, Ill., (KA) — The recent military junta in Siuland, led by General F.A. Cist, disposed of King Happy Mor-orless, benevolent despot and spiritual leader of the 20,000 poor, rural Siuland peasants.

King Mor-orless has, in recent years, been at considerable odds with both his subjects and the military over the two-year conscription of all Siuland males. The subjects have clearly indicated their opposition to conscription but since they lack suffrage they can affect no change. The military, also, ostensibly supported free enlistment. Yet when recent revisions in U.S. foreign policy, which supplies military and economic aid to Siuland, gave Mor-orless the power and support he needed to change the law, he refrained from taking any action. The military, fearing his silence indicated a plot to overthrow them, reacted in kind with the junta, setting up a military dictatorship.

What this development means to the future of Siuland remains to be seen, but inside sources have it that the people are planning a revolution to recall King Mor-orless on the condition that he grant them suffrage and reestablish the military as a voluntary service.

MARISSA, Ill., (KA) — The Athletic department today filed suit against Chernakite Pictures to prevent the release of the new film, "Ricky Ticky — Please Come Home", in which the University of Illinois actually defeats SIU in a basketball game. A spokesman for the Athletic department said the film did "immeasurable damage" to the team's reputation because it portrayed the team members as bad losers by sicking the two Saluki mascots on the U. of I cheerleaders.

Japanese Student Combines Language, Laundry Lessons

American-style home economics education for Suzuko Mita, a home economics teacher from Japan, begins with an intensive study of English and lessons to operate a vacuum cleaner, washer-dryer and dishwasher.

Miss Mita, teaches home economics to students at Oberlin College, Tokyo, has come to SIU to work toward the bachelor's degree in home economics education.

Her college president, Yasuzo Shimizu, has told her she may spend two years or more here if necessary to acquire a comprehensive background in American-style home economics education.

To help defray the expenses of her studies, Miss Suzuko needed a part-time job, so her adviser, Anna Carol Fuets, chairman of the SIU home economics education department, secured a place for her in the home of George E. Axtelle, professor in the College of Education. Hence: the necessity to become acquainted quickly with modern American household appliances!

So even before planning her course of study to begin at the opening of the winter quarter in January, Miss Fuets personally gave Miss Mita a short-course in the operation of these devices.

Miss Fuets and Miss Mita were acquainted before the Japanese teacher's arrival here, however. Last January, Miss Fuets visited Oberlin College while on a round-the-world trip, sat in on home economics classes and went shopping with Miss Mita as a guide.

Oberlin College is a suburban college, drawing students largely from rural areas around Tokyo. Both President Shimizu and his wife are graduates of Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio. Since in the Japanese tongue, "I" sounds like "r" when the Japanese college was named for its president's alma mater, "Oberlin" came out "Obirin." Miss Fuets explained.

Miss Mita is attending SIU's special English classes for foreign students, and hopes to be ready for regular classwork in January.

$11.36 Penalty to Area

investment in its future through the growth of a medical center here.

Federal aid spends $11.36 more per person for hospital care in Southern Illinois than it does for the state in general. The average figure for the entire state recently was $4.80 while the figure for hospital care in this area hovered close to $16.16.

Federal aid expenditures to private physicians average $2.53 per person in Southern Illinois and $1.27 for the entire state. Obviously medical care is much more expensive in the southern portion of the state than it is elsewhere. Why?

Why should medical expenses be higher here? There are several possible answers. The health of the area is generally poorer because of inadequate public health programs and clinics, lack of facilities, and lack of medical personnel to staff such programs. It is harder to reach a doctor in this area, because there are fewer doctors and because the ones here are overburdened with patients. The actual cost of services, care and medicine is higher, because of scarcity and because of the greater demands on the time and facilities of medical staffs.

The money for medical aid comes from taxes. It can be less and it can be put to better use. If persons on federal aid were to receive care at the University medical school, costs would be lower and yet the money would directly benefit the area as an

Charges Dismissed Against 19 Accused in Rights Murder

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — A U.S. commissioner dismissed charges Thursday against 19 white men arrested last week in connection with the midsummer slaying of three civil rights workers in Neshoba County.

Surprised by an abrupt turn in a preliminary hearing for 19 of the 21 men, the Justice Department announced it would take its case directly to a federal grand jury.

Miss Esther Carter, the federal commissioner, blocked government efforts to give testimony about an alleged confession from one of the men the FBI charges with helping to conceive and carry out a plot to murder the trio. "We will simply not produce any more evidence," said Robert Owen, a Justice Department attorney, after Miss Carter's ruling.

The commissioner then dismissed the charges and ordered the bonds — which ranged from $3,500 to $5,000 — refunded. The 19 men walked out free men, six days after their arrests.

They included Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey and his deputy, Cecil Price.

In a joint statement, the 14 defense attorneys claimed the commissioner's ruling showed in effect their clients were innocent.

The statement charged that the government is "playing politics with the lives of these people." The statement claimed Negro leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., had put "pressure" on President Johnson and FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover to get arrests.

Justice Department attorneys said they would put their evidence before a federal grand jury "as promptly as possible." It will be up to U.S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox at Jackson to convene a grand jury.

The 21 white men — some of them members of the Ku Klux Klan — were arrested last Friday. The FBI charged 19 with conspiracy to interfere with the federal rights of the slain trio. The other two were accused of being accessories.

The arrests climaxed an intensive investigation begun on discovery of the bodies of Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both white New Yorkers; and James Chaney, 21, Meridian Negro. The trio had gone to Philadelphia, Miss., June 21 to check on a burned Negro church. Their bodies were found beneath a red clay dam near there Aug. 4.

Purpose of the preliminary hearing was to find out if the government had sufficient evidence to warrant holding the 19 men for grand jury action. The other two men — arrested at Gulfport, Miss., and near Shreveport, La., were to appear before commissioners in those cities.

Surprised at the turn of events, Owen asked the commissioner to reconsider. He said Barnette was a co-defendant and that under a Supreme Court ruling in the Frank Costello case this line of evidence was admissible at a preliminary hearing.

The government can follow two routes in its prosecution of criminal cases. It may arrest suspects following investigation and then ask for grand jury indictments. This was the procedure followed in this case.

The second approach is to submit its evidence to the grand jury directly, with arrests to follow should indictments be returned. This is the method the government now intends to follow.

Thursday's developments apparently left up in the air the question of whether the State of Mississippi would prosecute any or all of the 21 men on murder charges. Murder is not a federal offense unless it occurs on government property.

The Justice Department had said it would make its evidence available to the state following the preliminary hearing.

MARTIN LUTHER KING

King Accepts Nobel Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. accepted the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize Thursday "in behalf of a civil rights movement which is moving with determination and majestic scorn for risk and danger to establish a reign of freedom and a rule of justice."

The American Negro civil rights leader, 35, was given a standing ovation led by King Olav and Crown Prince Harald.

In Stockholm, Sweden, at the same time, Nobel awards in physics, chemistry and medicine were presented to two American scientists, two Russians, an Englishwoman and a German.

King received the gold medal and diploma from Gunnar Jahn, chairman of the Nobel Committee of the Norwegian Parliament.

King had received the cash award of 273,000 Swedish kroner — $53,123 — and said it would be spent on the civil rights movement.

"I accept the Nobel Prize for Peace at a moment when 22 million Negroes of the United States of America are engaged in a creative battle to end the long night of racial injustice," King said.

King said he was mindful that the Negroes in Birmingham, Ala., "crying out for brotherhood were answered with fire hoses, snarling dogs and even death. I am mindful that only yesterday in Philadelphia, Miss., young people seeking to secure the right to vote were brutalized and murdered."

"After contemplation," he continued, "I conclude that in this award which I receive on behalf of that movement is profound recognition that nonviolence is the answer to the crucial political and moral question of our time — the need for man to overcome oppression and violence without resorting to violence and oppression."

Jagan Won't Quit; Claims Vote Fraud

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) — Premier Cheddi Jagan said Thursday he would not resign and that the British government would have to force him out.

The leader of the Peoples Progressive party said he had told Gov. Sir Richard Luyt of his decision. Jagan claimed the elections last Monday that saw his party lose control of the legislature were fraudulent.

Luyt reportedly was conferring with legal advisers on what to do about Jagan's position. Constitutional experts say there is no provision to force Jagan to resign as premier of this British colony.

"I will not resign," Jagan said. "The British will have to force me out. Let them do what they can. They are running the government by decree."

Tshombe Calls On Pope Paul

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Premier Moise Tshombe of the Congo, shielded by a heavy police guard unprecedented for Vatican visits, called on Pope Paul VI Thursday.

Truckloads of Italian police accompanied his motorcade into St. Peter's Square, inside Vatican territory, as Italy's Communist party threatened mass demonstrations against the Congo leader.

But the only sign of anti-Tshombe activity was a lone automobile that skirted St. Peter's Square during his 20-minute audience with the Pope. Keeping carefully inside Italian territory, the occupants of the car scattered pamphlets denouncing Tshombe as "a tool of imperialism."

Tshombe asked Pope Paul to pray for the Congo, and the pontiff gave him a message addressed to all the Congo people.

O'Donnell, Powers Leaving Posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kenneth O'Donnell and David F. Powers, who were two of the late President John F. Kennedy's closest friends, are expected to quit their White House jobs in the near future.

O'Donnell, listed as presidential appointments secretary, plans to leave government service for private employment. Powers, White House receptionist, will join the staff of the Kennedy library.

Another key holdover from the Kennedy administration, Lawrence F. O'Brien, is being urged by President Johnson to remain as special assistant for congressional liaison. O'Brien has said nothing publicly about his future plans.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. E. L. Stoneburner saw the messenger walking up the steps and knew.

Johnson Asks Full Rights For Negroes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called Thursday night for "nothing less than the full assimilation of more than 20 million Negroes into American life." And he said he does not agree with those who predict the struggle for equality "will be marked by violence and hate."

Johnson acknowledged that the racial feelings flow from many deep resistance sources in history, the patterns of American lives, and the nature of man.

"But I believe," he said, "there are other forces — stronger because they are armed with truth — which will bring us toward our goal in peace."

These forces consist, the President said, in the sense of morality and justice written into laws and nourished in the hearts of the people.

Johnson's remarks were prepared for delivery at a community action assembly of the national Urban League, an organization which works for Negro rights and improvement. The assembly was held at the Sheraton Park Hotel.

Two Africans Assail U.N. Rescue Mission

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Two leftist-leaning African nations Thursday accused the United States and Belgium of bias against blacks in sending a rescue mission to Stanleyville.

Ousman Ba, foreign minister of Mali, told the 11-nation Security Council that those who spoke of humanitarian motives for the rescue mission were the same who "plotted the murder of Patrice Lumumba, who carried out the disappearance of Dag Hammarskjöld, who countenanced the assassination of John Kennedy."

She spoke quietly, a few hours after learning her third son, Maj. John Stoneburner, 34, had been killed Tuesday in a Viet Cong ambush in South Viet Nam.

Twenty years ago she lived through the same scene — twice. John was just a boy when his older brothers went off to fight in World War II.

Bill, a lieutenant and a pilot in the Army, died in 1943. His plane went down in the North Sea.

Earl, a private, was killed in infantry action, a month after he arrived on the front, in 1945.

"John was all we had left," said Stoneburner, 68, a retired railroad conductor.

The parents, numb with shock, didn't want to discuss the war in Viet Nam.

"We, like everyone else, are confused by it," said Stoneburner.

"It doesn't make it any easier or harder to take. John was a West Point man, just doing his duty."

Mrs. Stoneburner, who was removing curtains in preparation for Christmas when she saw the messenger, said: "The suffering is enough without asking why."

Baker Probe Will Not Include Sex Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee has voted 5 to 1 against embarking on an investigation of sex charges in the Bobby Baker case.

Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., announced Thursday the committee decided it has "no legal right to probe into the private conduct of individuals," and therefore it is not going to pry into the Capitol Hill adventures of a West German kiss-and-tell beauty.

Jordan, releasing a "summary of all decisions" reached at a closed meeting Wednesday, also said:

1. No action was taken or proposed on the subject of investigating so-called "call girls."

2. The committee decided unanimously that Walter W. Jenkins, former aide to President Johnson, would be called for testimony "at an appropriate time." Jenkins was excused from an immediate appearance on his doctor's plea that he has not fully recovered from "a depressive reaction of the utmost gravity."

3. Conflicting testimony by former Ambassador Matthew H. McCloskey and insurance man Don B. Reynolds, concerning an alleged illegal $25,000 kickback to the 1960 Democratic campaign fund, is being referred to the Justice Department.

4. The committee Democratic majority also voted to leave with the Justice Department an investigation of political contributions made by officials of the International Telephone & Telegraph Co. in 1960.

Titan 3A Scores First Perfect Test

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Titan 3A military space rocket registered its first completely successful test flight Thursday. Its third stage spun into orbit as a flying launch platform, executed a nifty space somersault and then kicked loose another satellite.

It was an impressive performance by the Air Force rocket which is slated to play a key role in U.S. hopes of performing diverse manned and unmanned military operations in space.

As the Air Force assessed the Titan performance, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration prepared to try to launch an Atlas-Centaur rocket on an orbital test flight today. The booster is being groomed to land unmanned Surveyor spacecraft on the moon starting next year to make scientific studies and scout possible astronaut landing areas.

Beauties and Athletes Needed for 'Faust'

A number of well-endowed young ladies plus several athletically inclined students of both sexes are still needed to fill roles in the upcoming Opera Workshop presentation of "Faust" Feb. 12 and 13.

Students taking part in the presentation will receive from two to eight hours of credit in either Opera Workshop or physical education.

The ballet portion of the production will be under the direction of a famous dancer and choreographer, Katherine Dunham.

Miss Dunham said she is still looking for a number of tall blonde girls who will show their figures and who walk well to take part in one ballet routine. For this routine she also needs a young lady, not necessarily a tall blonde, to perform a simulated strip-tease.

Other parts she wants to fill include 10 male fencers and six girl gymnasts. Two tall basketball players will be needed to toss back and forth a "human head," and Miss Dunham is looking for a hurdler who doesn't mind vaulting a barbed wire fence.

"Some people have been frightened away because they think they need to be ballet dancers to participate, but I believe I can take any student who is interested and who has any rhythm and use him somewhere," said Miss Dunham.

"We will make use of what we have," she said. "On a campus of this size we should be able to produce the needed athletes. I hope the fencing team and gymnasts will consider it a very skillful endeavor."

In discussing the use of athletes in a ballet production Miss Dunham said they are "very useful to the opera when worked in with the choreography. I think more use should be made of athletes because they have the ability to move."

Students interested in auditioning for any of the parts are asked to contact Robert E. Mueller, chairman of the Department of Music, or check with the Department of Physical Education, depending on which department they wish to receive their credits.

Final auditions will be held by Miss Dunham on Jan. 6 and 7 and rehearsals will start immediately after that for the February performance.

"Those who like to come five nights a week will be given certain parts while there will be parts open which require attendance only two or three nights a week," Miss Dunham said.

She said students interested in this work should find the rehearsals entertaining. "Faust has two themes," the choreographer said. "They are the eternal struggle between good and evil in man and also the growing aloneness man inevitably feels when he has lived his life on a purely intellectual basis, thus alienating himself from daily life."

Faust is a man who is not content with people, Miss Dunham said. He grew up feeling that books and learning were our salvation, but when he grew old he realized that he had been left out.

"What he has lost," she said, "is the capacity to feel and be moved, so he wants another chance. He gets this chance by giving himself to Mephistopheles (the devil)."

In one of the major scenes Mephistopheles takes Faust on a tour of his kingdom to show him how it is run.

"Faust is horror struck at much of the evil he sees but at the same time is tempted by erotic dancers," Miss Dunham said.

In order to make the presentation more meaningful to persons of the age group found at the University the scene of the opera has been switched from the 16th century to an early World War II prisoner of war camp.

Miss Dunham, who has just returned from Italy where she directed dance sequences for Walter Houston's filmed version of "The Bible," arrived at SIU last week to begin her term as artist-in-residence.

Gov. Otto Kerner, Sen. Paul I. Douglas and SIU President Delyte W. Morris will be the keynote speakers at a War on Poverty Conference on Tuesday at the University Center.

Registration for the conference will be from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. The conference will begin at 10 a.m.

Public officials and civic leaders from 20 Southern Illinois counties have been invited.

Other speakers will explain various features of the War on Poverty program during the day, with a special emphasis on "community action programs."

The speakers are representatives of the Washington Office of Economic Opportunity and Federal and State agencies involved in the program.

A luncheon is scheduled from noon to 1:30 p.m. in the Ballroom. Tentative plans include Congressmen Melvin Price and Kenneth Gray to speak at the luncheon.

Tickets for the luncheon are $2 and may be purchased at the time of registration. Faculty and staff members interested in attending may phone in reservations to 453-2346 by noon on Monday.

The program will close with a summation by Thomas C. Jackson, administrative director of the Illinois Office of Economic Opportunity.

Student Workers To Fill Out Forms

Student workers have been asked to contact their supervisors and fill out a form indicating their financial and work status.

This should be done immediately, a spokesman in the Student Work Office said, because the forms must be mailed to Washington, D.C., by Tuesday.

The purpose of the forms is to determine how many students would qualify under the Economic Opportunity Act, a work-study program which would qualify them for federal funds.

Student workers or work supervisors who want further information should contact the Student Work Office.

Universities Scored for Laxity In Foreign Student Admissions

A report recently released by the Education and World Affairs Committee criticized colleges and universities for having committed "flagrant abuses" of admission policies on behalf of foreign students.

The study committee, a non-profit organization established by the Carnegie and Ford foundations, cited double standards, unqualified students, diploma mills and a lack of coordination in selecting students.

An SIU admissions counselor, James G. Haas, noted that foreign students applying to SIU are subject to the same academic entrance requirements as American students.

Haas, who is in charge of admitting foreign students to Southern, said they are also required to show proof of financial security and must show they have mastered the English language.

Their educational background is carefully checked, he said.

SIU Wrestlers Hopeful in Meet With Bloomsburg State College

By Joe Cook

Southern's wrestlers take on one of the top small college teams in the country, Bloomsburg State College, Bloomsburg, Pa., in a meet at 1:30 p.m. today in the SIU Arena.

This meet will be the first of three home meets for the SIU matmen this year, who will be performing for the first time on their new $3,500 wrestling mat.

It will also be the first meet for the marmen since their impressive performances last week at the Illinois Invitational Meet at Champaign.

In that meet senior Don Devine retained his championship, which he won there the previous year in the 115 pound class.

Fellow senior Dan Divito, who finished second there last year in the 147 pound class, won his weight class this year.

Sophomore George McCreery was the third winner for SIU by taking top honors in the 157 pound class.

Five other Saluki wrestlers placed in the meet. Al Lipper, a sophomore, was second in the 147 pound class. Bob Herkert and Dan Gesky finished second in the 167 and 191 pound classes respectively.

Two other marmen, junior Alf Harem and sophomore Terry Thomas, took third and fourth respectively in the 177 and 157 pound classes.

However, all is not well for the Saluki wrestlers as they prepare to meet Bloomsburg State College. Lipper received a broken nose in last week's competition and will be sidelined for this meet.

A number of pre-season injuries has forced wrestling coach Jim Wilkinson to forfeit the 123, 130 and 137 pound classes to Bloomsburg. Wilkinson does plan, however, to enter Larry Baron against Bloomsburg's best wrestler, Joe Robb in the 130 pound class. This will be an exhibition match only and will not count in the final standings.

Wilkinson will also enter another freshman Dave Pffor in the 137 pound class. Pffor will be an exhibitionist in this meet but will be eligible to join the varsity team next quarter.

To compensate for the injuries, Wilkinson will move Divito, McCreery, Herkert, Harem and Gesky one weight class higher than they normally wrestle.

This means Divito will wrestle in the 157 pound class; McCreery, the 167 pound class; Herkert, the 177 pound class; Harem, the 191 pound class; and Gesky, the heavy-weight class.

This will leave Devine and Thomas to defend the 115 and 117 pound classes respectively.

Wilkinson was cheered up somewhat this week when Bill Hartzell, who was on the All-American wrestling squad last year and is also a two year letterman, announced his intentions of rejoining the team.

Wilkinson, at this time, is still not sure whether Hartzell will be ready to compete in this meet.

Last year the Saluki grapplers defeated Bloomsburg 23-16, but the only winners in that meet for Southern that are back this year are Devine and Divito.

Wilkinson is looking forward to a close exciting meet. "This should be our best home meet of the season," he said.

Radio-TV Frat Sets Banquet

Sigma Beta Gamma, honorary radio-TV fraternity, will have an initiation banquet at 8 p.m. Sunday in the banquet room of Engel's Restaurant.

The fall term pledge class of SBG will be initiated into the organization at the dinner.

The speaker will be Buren C. Robbins, director of the SIU Broadcasting Service.

The Kinsmen, a folk singing group, will provide entertainment at the banquet. All honorary and active members have been invited.

Computer Gets Down to Earth, Watches Worms Wag, Wiggle

Researchers at SIU, in what may well be a scientific "first," are using an electronic computer to record and measure the physical activities and characteristics of earthworms.

The project, headed by E. Robert Ashworth of the Data Processing and Computing Center and George Garoian, associate professor of zoology, goes something like this:

In a little aquarium filled with mud, the worms go about their usual activities, unaware they are the subject of scientific inquiry. Occasionally one pops to the surface, wriggles around for a time and goes back down.

This sets off a flurry of detailed recording and measuring activity, triggered by photo cell beams of light broken by the worm when it emerges. This in turn results in a change in voltage which is picked up by a process control computer set to scan activity of the photo cell.

The computer converts the action to digits and records it. As different beams are broken by the worm's movements, the computer is able to record the times.

The purpose of the study is to demonstrate the kinds of techniques possible with space age technological equipment on some of the biological problems facing mankind.

Denver Meet Today Highlights Season for Saluki Gymnasts

The highlight of the gymnastics season occurs at 4 p.m. today when Southern's NCAA Championship gymnastics team takes on the University of Denver, a team that finished seventh in the NCAA finals last year.

The Salukis will be trying to stretch their consecutive dual meet victory string to twenty-eight.

This will be no easy task as Denver will be trying to atone for their only dual meet set-back of last season when the Salukis topped the Pioneers 61-50. This defeat stopped their string of 34 consecutive dual meet wins.

Denver apparently has the necessary personnel to upset coach Bill Meade's tribe this year.

John Quintana is the big man for Denver. Last year he was a member of the All-American second team on the long horse. Pioneer coach, Doug DeWitt, expects continued improvement from Quintana this year and will enter him as an all-around performer in this meet.

Other important returnees for Denver are seniors Art Howells, Gene Koehnke and Jerry Zamboni; juniors Terry Day, Tom Huffman, Ted Nadeau, Stan Thompson and John Tracy; and sophomore Mike Gurian.

Meade is faced this year with the task of winning with a young but improving team. Bill Wolf, the second leading scorer to Rusty Mitchell last year, and Tom Cook are the only members which saw action against Denver last year.

Cook will perform his specialty, the rings, while Wolf will work the rings, the high bar and the parallel bars. Junior transfer student, Mike Boegler, will work the side horse. He will be getting his strongest competition from Denver's Huffman.

The rest of Meade's outfit is composed of sophomores

3 of Starting Five To Be New Faces

Changes are that the fans in the SIU Arena will see three new faces in the starting line-up for Southern tonight.

Familiar faces in the starting five will be Hartman's two leading scorers so far this year, Joe Ramsey and George McNeill.

McNeill, a 6-2 guard, is pacing the Saluki scorers in the first four games with 60 points, but Ramsey is right behind him with 56. McNeill was the leading scorer in both home games as he picked up 23 points in the opener against Oklahoma State and 12 against North Dakota State.

Ramsey had his best appearance against Southwest Missouri when he poured in 24 points.

Teaming with Ramsey at one of the forward spots will be Walt Frazier. The 6-3 sophomore made his starting debut against Kansas State, and wound up as the Southern's leading scorer in that losing effort with 17 points. Frazier averaged nine and a half points a game in the first four contests, and is the third leading rebounder with 24 retrieves.

Another sophomore moving up to a starting berth is Ralph Johnson. The 6-7 pivot man has turned in several fine performances in a reserve role and will fill in for the ailing Boyd O'Neal tonight. O'Neal is down with the flu and hasn't practiced with the team since the Kansas State game. Johnson has scored only 15 points so far, but the big sophomore is tied with O'Neal for the team lead in rebounds with 29.

The third newcomer to the starting five is guard Bill Lacey. The former Pinckneyville prep star has been impressive as a reserve in the first four games on both offense and defense. Lacey has the second best shooting percentage on the team, having made 11 of 23 shots, and is the fourth best scorer with an eight-point average per game.

Hartman has made another switch for the game to give the Salukis more depth at the pivot. Duane Warning who has been operating as a forward has been moved to the pivot to give Southern a little more scoring punch. The 6-6 senior was last year's third leading scorer and second best rebounder.

Big Ten Officials To Vote Today on Ineligibility Policy

CHICAGO (AP)—Final approval by Big Ten officials is expected today for a policy that rules ineligible any conference athlete who participates in competition not sanctioned by a federation.

The action is one of the topics at issue at a meeting of athletic directors and faculty representatives, which opened Thursday.

The action would lower the boom on participation in events sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union.

Biggest surprise at the business meetings was the endorsement by football coaches of officiating as generally excellent last fall. Beefs about this usually abound.

"The coaches reported that officiating was better than ever," said a conference spokesman. "There were some mistakes, but no major complaints."

Brian Piccolo Gets 2 Football Titles

NEW YORK (AP) — Brian Piccolo of Wake Forest has officially been awarded major college football's 1964 rushing and scoring titles, after making the longest climb of any double winner in history.

Piccolo won the rushing title with 1,044 yards gained in 10 games and scored 111 points.

of 12.3 points a game. He is the only senior on the Tech roster.

Paired with Wood at the forwards will be Ron Filipek, a standout on the Eagles frosh team last year. The solidly built sophomore stands 6-4 and weighs 205 pounds. He is a tough man under the boards

Sophomore Fined; Showed False ID

Steven J. Bisbikis, 19, a sophomore from Oak Lawn, Thursday was placed on disciplinary probation through the fall quarter after being fined in Carbondale City Court for using another person's identification papers to buy alcoholic beverages.

A spokesman in the Office of the Dean of Students said Bisbikis had in his possession a draft card and a driver's license belonging to someone else. He said Bisbikis claimed he found the cards in Chicago.

The driver's license is being sent to the states attorney's office and the draft card to Selective Service officials. There was no indication what action, if any, will be taken by either.

Judge Robert Schwartz fined Bisbikis $50 and $15 court costs.

Art Class Signup For Children Set

Registration for children's art classes sponsored by the Carbondale Park District will be held from 9 a.m. until noon Saturday and Dec. 19 in the Community Center at 208 W. Elm St.

There will be a registration fee of three dollars payable on the day of registration.

The first class, which will be for second and third graders, will meet from 8:30 to 10 a.m. Jan. 9, and each following Saturday for 12 weeks.

The second class, which is for fourth and fifth graders, will meet from 10:30 a.m. to noon beginning Jan. 9, and continuing for 12 weeks.

Classes, which will meet at the Community Center, will be limited to 30 students each.

Instructions will include painting, drawing, sculpture casting, mosaics and puppetry.

with his size, and proved this by averaging more than 21 points a game with the freshmen last year while pulling down about 15 rebounds a game.

The probable starter at center is big Bill Carvell, who will be the tallest man on the court at 6-9. The towering sophomore will be tough under the boards, but he is hampered by a lack of speed and agility.

The Eagles are a young, but experienced crew. Their roster consists of only one senior and three juniors. The rest are sophomores. They have six lettermen back though, and half of these were starters.

Coach Hartman has made a few changes in his probable starting lineup for the game. The Saluki mentor plans to go with Joe Ramsey and Walt Frazier at the forwards, Ralph Johnson at the pivot, and George McNeill and Bill Lacey at the guards.

Tonight's game starts at 8 o'clock and will be preceded by the freshman team's opener against Paducah Junior College at 5:45.
