REFEREE BILL O'BRIEN AND TRAVELING COMPANION 'DUFFER'

SIU Instructor Bill O'Brien Spends Weekends Officiating NFL Games

By Tom Gaylo

The shrill of a whistle, the resounding impact of flesh hitting flesh and the wild shouting of an hysterical crowd are familiar sounds to Bill O'Brien during the professional football season.

An assistant professor in recreation and outdoor education at SIU throughout the week, O'Brien spends his weekends officiating in the National Football League.

A typical weekend for O'Brien includes driving from Carbondale to St. Louis on Friday afternoon, boarding a jet and flying to such cities as Cleveland, Baltimore and San Francisco, then returning to Carbondale that Sunday night.

This is his first year as a professional referee after 19 years of refereeing both high school and college football.

His joining the NFL came about last year when he was officiating a game between the University of Mississippi and the University of Houston at

The Illinois Central Railroad has announced that it will again run a special train service from Carbondale to Chicago to accommodate SIU students traveling during the Christmas-New Year Holiday period.

Extra cars will be operated on all regularly scheduled

Houston. An NFL observer, another name for scout, was among the spectators and thought O'Brien had the potential to become a professional official.

After the game O'Brien was asked if he would be interested. O'Brien was both surprised and delighted at the request.

In January he took an extensive examination on all professional football rules along with a complete physical examination. Several months later he went to St. Louis for a personal interview which included a thorough investigation of his background.

In April he received a letter of acceptance.

"It was a thrill to know that out of thousands of applications, I was chosen," said O'Brien.

So far, being an NFL official has been quite an experience for O'Brien. At first he had trouble adjusting to the tremendous speed and furious play of the pros.

O'Brien explained, "In my first game I was unaware of the fast-moving action that takes place in pro football as compared to college football."

He keeps himself in shape by doing various exercises and wind sprints everyday during the week.

In his first game, an exhibition contest between the Chicago Bears and the Washington Redskins, he was hit and knocked down when he failed to get out of the way of the onrushing players. The result was a badly bruised finger.

According to O'Brien, "My mishap was due to inexperience and the deceiving speed and quick moves of the pro ballplayers."

Every Saturday night NFL officials in their respective cities where play will take place the next day meet in a pre-game conference. They look over the previous week's filmed highlights of games to see what flaws or weaknesses may have occurred in their officiating. This is what the officials call "constructive learning."

After every game, each referee is graded on his decisions made during the game.

Taxi Firms Ask Rate Increases

Carbondale's two taxicab companies have asked the City Council for permission to raise their rates by fifteen cents per zone.

In a letter presented at Tuesday's Council meeting, the management of the Yellow Cab Co. and the Home Cab Co. cited rising operating expenses as the reasons for the requested rate increase.

The Council agreed to send the request to committee for study.

Edward James, manager of the Yellow Cab Co., said that the high cost of taxis, parts, gasoline and oil are more than the two companies can meet at present rates and "keep on giving any kind of service to the public."

The last rate increase was enacted in May, 1966, and modified in October, 1966. Present rates are 50 cents first zone, 60 cents second zone, and 75 cents third zone.

James said there are three zones in the city area, the first roughly corresponding to the three-quarters of a mile distance used by cab companies in other cities.

In other business, Councilman Joseph Ragsdale expressed concern that Carbondale's proposed fair housing ordinance might infringe on the rights of city residents.

Ragsdale said that he is in favor of the spirit of the proposed measure, but added that he felt the ordinance might force area homeowners to rent "to any unsavory character."

Drop City Droppers

Geodesic Dome Dwellers Here

Residents of Drop City, an artist community in Trinidad, Colo., are on campus today to present a program of slides and an experimental movie at 6:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. in the Ohio and Illinois River Rooms of the University Center.

Clard Svensen, a representative of Drop City, said that the community is composed of those "who have dedicated themselves to the simple community life."

The program, which has an admission fee of 75 cents, will feature slides and a short experimental movie of Drop City. There will also be the unveiling of a group painting done by Droppers, as the residents of Drop City call themselves.

"We are not hippies, as most people think we are," Svensen said.

He explained that about 30 people live in Drop City that is composed of 10 geodesic domes. Drop City was started three years ago, and "no resident has been employed since it was started," he said.

The geodesic domes are patterned after those designed by R. Buckminster Fuller, architect in residence at SIU and designer of the geodesic dome that housed the U.S. exhibition at Expo '67 in Montreal.

Drop City is also the winner of the 1966 Buckminster Fuller Dymaxion Award. A representative at Fuller's office explained that the award is given annually by Fuller himself to groups or persons that he personally finds deserving of the award. He said there are no set criteria for the award.

"Drop City has no leaders and no rules," Svensen said. "All work is voluntary, and we are supported by giving these lecture series and by selling occasional stories or poems written by the residents."

Of the 10 domes, seven are used as sleeping houses. One is used as a community center with a community kitchen and recreation area.

"All of the group's possessions are kept in the center," Svensen said. "The other dome is a theater that is not quite finished, but will be used for movies and shows."

Accident Victim Listed Satisfactory by Hospital

Ken Bauder, a senior who was hit by an automobile and injured late Monday night, was transferred to Barnes Hospital in St. Louis where his condition is listed as satisfactory.

Bauder was struck while walking south along Wall Street near the University trailer court. He was reported to have been walking with the traffic in an unlighted area.

He was taken to Doctors Hospital where his condition was listed as serious. He is being treated at Barnes Hospital for head injuries.

According to police, the driver of the vehicle was Michael D. Vollan, 22, a junior at SIU.

Vollan told police that he was driving south on Wall Street and swerved in an attempt to avoid hitting one person walking along the road. Vollan told police he was unable to see Bauder before hitting him. No charges had been filed against Vollan Tuesday.

According to the police report, Bauder hit against the windshield of the car after being struck.

The accident occurred about eight blocks south of where two SIU students were fatally injured while walking along the road Sept. 24.

Instructor Spends Weekends in NFL

His work is then evaluated by league officials to determine whether or not each man is doing his job satisfactorily.

Though O'Brien's job is a serious one, he does find time to joke with fellow NFL officials. Such was the case when he stepped onto the playing field of Cleveland's Municipal Stadium to officiate a game between the Chicago Bears and Cleveland Browns.

Looking up and seeing a huge throng of over 80,000 spectators, he commented to another referee, "Not since my days at Zeigler High School have I seen a crowd like this."

What he didn't say was that the population of Zeigler is less than 3,000.

Pro football, he said, was definitely headed upward in popularity both in player participating and spectator support.

Letters to the Editor:

Allow Nazis, Others Chance To Speak

To the Editor:

This letter is written in response to the editorial by Mr. Courturier about an "Open forum on racism" which appeared in last Wednesday's Daily Egyptian.

Since the beginning of this school term, I have been in the acquaintance of a student here who is a member of the American Nazi Party. He read Mr. Courturier's editorial about free speech, but said that conditions at Southern would not permit him to speak.

"College administrations don't want National Socialists," he claims. "I would be expelled for certain, as many others of my philosophy have been expelled from other universities for trying to speak." He then said that the only way for the students of SIU to hear a real Nazi, would be to invite the new head of their party, Matt Koehl, to appear as a guest speaker.

It should be remembered here that schools such as Northwestern, Brown, Harvard, Northern Illinois and many others invited the late "Commander" of the party, Lincoln Rockwell to speak before their students. Surely, our University is equal in open-mindedness to the above mentioned schools.

As for myself, I feel that Southern can truly establish its reputation as a sincerely liberal university if we extend an invitation to the Nazi leader to speak here before the student body. We have heard so much about these racists of late, that I for one would like to see for myself just what the top Nazi has to say.

I agree with Mr. Courturier that we must expose such people and their beliefs, which exert their influence, for good or evil, on our society. Perhaps the time has come for Southern to make a judgement.

Rude Way To Profit

To the Editor:

It has come to our attention, as residents of Stevenson Arms dormitory, that your article in the Dec. 8 edition of the Egyptian is grossly in error. To set the record straight over 125 residents appeared at a meeting last Wednesday night to discuss the move made by Mr. William Gile to permit high school basketball teams to utilize the facilities of the dorm during the Christmas break. In actuality about 100 of those 125 that attended the meeting voiced violent dissatisfaction concerning the matter.

We are not against Mr. Gile's legal rights no matter how devious and unscrupulous they may happen to be. We are against the method in which Mr. Gile has handled the situation. It was not officially brought to the attention of the residents until Thursday, Dec. 7, what courses of action would be open to them. Rumors concerning the matter were known two to three weeks beforehand, but there was no official word from Mr. Gile as to whether they were true or not.

The management should have sat down weeks beforehand with the entire student body of Stevenson Arms, and not with a committee consisting just of dormitory officers. This would have given the residents ample time to reach a decision concerning the safety of their possessions while they were away.

Mr. Gile is a businessman. His goal is to make a profit. But, must he do so in such a rude and inconsiderate manner?

Petition Restricts Rights of Others

To the Editor:

Everyone has a right to voice his opinion, but I doubt anyone's right to force that opinion on others. Specifically what I mean is a petition circulating among the faculty asking that armed service recruiting be banned from campus.

Are recruiters here as a job opportunity service to the faculty or to the student body?

If it is for the faculty, then they most certainly have a right to ask that recruiting be banned. I am of the impression, however, that recruiters serve the students.

If so, the administration should not act on the faculty petition. When and if a petition should be presented showing that a majority of the students want recruiters banned, then and only then should the administration act. I doubt that such a petition can be raised or it would have been raised long ago.

This letter is not written in protest to anything (especially the motives of the petitioners which are to be respected). It is merely to point out what is becoming too common, not just at SIU but around the nation, and that is minority groups seeking to restrict the rights and privileges of others.

Electoral System Is Antiquated

It looks as if 1968 will be a decisive year as far as national elections are concerned. And unless the United States chooses to change its Electoral College system, 1972 may be equally so.

The federal Constitution calls for an Electoral College made up of electors from each state equivalent to the total number of that state's Representatives and Senators.

These electors cast their unit votes at a post-election meeting for the presidential and vice presidential candidates who won the most votes in their particular state, even if a candidate won by a single state vote. If no candidate receives a majority of the electoral votes of the total electoral count of all the states, the House of Representatives then chooses the President of the United States.

It is unlikely that President Johnson will be re-elected by the overwhelming majority he received in 1964, and most political observers believe that 1968 will bring a very close election, no matter who the candidates are. It seems more and more possible that the Electoral College vote will go to the House of Representatives for the final decision.

To make the situation more complicated, 1968 will undoubtedly find George Wallace, former Governor of Alabama, running on a strong third-party ticket. If Wallace picks up enough electoral votes in the South (perhaps as many as 47), no one candidate would have a clear majority in the Electoral College.

Because the electors are not bound by law in some Southern states to vote as the voters have directed them, Wallace's political pressure could enable some of these electors to enter into deals or to otherwise vote as they are personally inclined. This is a disgraceful, but apparently legal possibility under the present Electoral College system.

Although both the late President Kennedy and President Johnson have favored elimination of the Electoral College system, and the issue has been repeatedly brought to Congress, change does not seem eminent.

It will take a constitutional amendment to change the present system. Because at least three-fourths of the 50 states must approve an amendment, change is all but impossible by the 1968 election.

But if legislators start now, the change may be possible by the 1972 elections. The time to begin the campaign is now.

Unnecessary Stir Over Nazis

To the Editor:

Of late there have been several letters concerning the Nazis on campus and the material they are distributing. The general feeling is that the Nazis and their activities should be placed under strict control by the proper authorities. I am sure the Nazis are gratified by all the stir they have caused.

My own feeling is this: the political system of our country is based on rule by law. There are no laws against hatred. There are laws that protect freedom of thought and expression, and at the same time there are laws which protect us from the violent expression of the hatred of others. Given these considerations, I see no grounds for banning the Nazis from campus as long as they do not do us violence. If we wish to attack them, let us attack what they believe not their right to believe it. Let us not suppress their statements but expose them and bring them under the scrutiny of reason.

I feel that those who fear the Nazis are betraying a lack of confidence in their fellows. I am not very likely to have my views altered by the impassioned, irrational words of the Nazis or anyone like them. In conclusion I would like to paraphrase one of Jesus' teachings and add a comment of my own: Love those who hate you -- it will save the hell out of them.

Quit Coddling the "Nuts on Campus"

In the Waterloo (Ill.) Republican

A new phrase coming out of the college campuses in recent months is "Student Power." We are more acquainted with the so-called student power movement at Southern Illinois University than at any other campus not because it is more of a factor here than elsewhere, but simply because we subscribe to the SIU daily newspaper and not to any other college newspaper.

Radical campus leaders want to exercise "student power" to force their ideas on the administration. It's like John Mulkin, former Herrin editor, once said. "Kids who last quarter couldn't find their way from the gym to the student center without consulting their adviser are now trying to run the University."

They want a greater voice in choice of regulations, faculty, vehicle regulations, discipline, etc. One of student power boys at SIU said that through a student strike "We can close this University down." Maybe we just ought to let them do that. It would save a lot of tax money.

We have an idea, though, that if this would happen, the great majority of students at SIU who know they are there to get an education and prepare themselves for a creative place in the society and economy would take care of these nuts on the fringe in quick order. We don't think the serious students at SIU or any campus for that matter (except of course Berkeley) would let their university be shut down by a few irresponsibles who enjoy playing at being big wheels much in the same fashion as preschoolers enjoy playing "dress-up."

When the Southern Illinois Editorial Association named SIU President Delyte Morris as Southern Illinois' Man of the Year, the SIU student opinion sheet ridiculed the choice. One does not have to be a champion of Dr. Morris to realize what he has done for SIU. He has turned a little old teachers' college into a modern university and provided a place for thousands of young people, who otherwise probably wouldn't have the opportunity, to get a college education. If it wouldn't be for Dr. Morris and many educators like him all over the country—men who have devoted years to building universities—men who have been fighting tirelessly with governors and legislators for the wherewithal to build universities—many of these "play like" leaders who are yelling the loudest about "student power" wouldn't even be students.

And maybe it's time we started exercising some "taxpayer power" or some "parent power" and quit coddling these N.O.C.'s (nuts on campus).

Lack of Proper Procedures Handicaps Validity of Polls

By Dan VanAtta

A disregard for proper and necessary procedures has crippled the validity of some recent opinion polls at SIU, according to L. Erwin Atwood, associate professor of journalism.

"Conclusions that are based on polls that have been designed and conducted by the interested parties are always subject to question," said Atwood.

"Data that is both analyzed and interpreted by the parties involved in the application of the materials is nearly always invalid, due to the procedure."

The results of such carelessly constructed polls are often no more than a justification of the reasoning of the interested parties, he said.

Atwood blames the low voter turnout at Southern not on student apathy but on an apathetic society.

"The doves and hawks of society are in a vocal minority," he said.

"The great majority in the middle are satisfied with the way things are going. People just don't care. Students are no more apathetic than their parents."

Atwood believes several steps could be taken to improve future opinion polls at Southern.

"The issues should be clearly defined and well publicized previous to any poll or election," he said.

"The questions should be more professionally compiled, dealing with a specific group or stratum about which results can be drawn. This would provide more meaningful conclusions."

Atwood believes that student government should try to make use of professional researchers when organizing future polls. Such men can be found in several departments of the University.

"When conclusions are drawn from a random sample and are accepted as the opinions of the student body, some expense should be taken to maintain the representative validity of the results," Atwood said.

Fish Escape Over Area Lake Spillways

The loss of largemouth bass during periods of spillway runover poses a serious threat to fishing in downstate lakes, according to an SIU study.

SIU's Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory has proof that 32 per cent of the bass population in a 70-acre sample lake escaped via the spillway during April and May last spring. The survey supported conclusions reached in another SIU study 12 years ago, which showed that spring-time spillway escapement of bass at Lake Murphysboro and Little Grassy Lake was of "considerable magnitude."

William Lewis, director of the Laboratory and chief investigator on the fish-escapement project, said he is convinced that spillways should be screened during the spring and early summer to prevent gamefish losses.

Such a measure, he said, also could aid in managing fish populations since losses by species seem to occur at specific periods of the day.

The study was done between early April and August of this year at Lake Chautauqua, near Carbondale. It is a new lake and had an estimated population of 7,500 four to nine inch bass at the time of the survey.

if they chose. Since the box was at one end of a long lake, the bass obviously sought it out. Conclusion: fish escapement is a "behavioral" phenomenon; it isn't accidental. --Periods of greatest loss were not necessarily periods of highest water. Seasonal factors have something to do with it.

The study showed striking parallels to the Lake Murphysboro-Little Grassy project done by graduate student Darrell Louder in 1954-1955. In that one, he trapped more than 10,000 bass, redear, bluegill and green sunfish escaping over spillways at the two lakes. Seasonal factors were ruled more important than water volume then, too.

Lewis was assisted in the new study by students Roy Heindinger, Gillespie, and Mark Konijoff, Troy, New York. It was reported Dec. 10 at the Midwest Fish and Wildlife Conference in Madison, Wis.

Students Will Evaluate SIU Instructors, Courses

Two student organizations will be conducting systematic evaluations of SIU teachers and courses when the winter quarter begins in January.

One is a continuation of the Pilot Instructor and Course Evaluation program launched by Student Government last year. The other is to be conducted by Project FEEL (For Explorations in the Environment for Learning).

The ICE committee honors instructors who attain high ratings by publicizing the evaluations on campus. By doing so, its members hope to inspire other instructors to improve their methods, according to Richard Karr, chairman of the senate.

Don Benson, speaking for Project FEEL, says his organization will seek to find out the better techniques being used by University instructors and encourage campus-wide endorsement.

Benson announced that a center for Leadership in Learning, 108 E. Grand, is open to students for counseling in planning their schedules. The center also seeks proposals for improving the education system.

The lake has a 22-foot high drop-box spillway: a concrete column protruding from the surface. During high water periods, runoff goes over the top of the box and out through a pipe beneath the dam. To gauge fish losses, a screen trap was set inside the box, three feet below its rim.

Some results:

--During short hot streaks in April and May, 2,648 bass went over the box and into the trap. Most of the loss was concentrated in two-day periods.

--A total of 2,525 black bullheads "escaped" in the same manner.

--The bass loss occurred almost exclusively during the day; bullheads went over at night.

--Bass could be observed schooling and circling at the drop box before going in. Since current was not strong, they could easily have avoided it

Goose Hunting

Must End Today

William T. Lodge, Illinois director of Conservation, announced today that the special Canada goose season in the four southern Illinois counties of Alexander, Jackson, Union and Williamson end at 3 p.m. today.

The 20,000-harvest quota of Canada geese as prescribed by the Illinois Department of Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service will have been reached at the close of Wednesday's hunting.

LBJ Reiterates War Stand, Attacks GOP

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Johnson, in effect, reaffirmed Tuesday his bid to Ho Chi Minh for early Vietnam peace talks, but stated that so far Hanoi has spurned all olive branches and "until they see room for compromise and area for agreement we must stand firm and unafraid."

In an address prepared for the AFL-CIO convention here, one being broadcast live, Johnson voiced a vigorous defense of his Vietnam policies, and called on critics to come up with something better.

"I only wish that those who bewail war would bring me just one workable solution to end the war." Discussing the requirements for a practical solution, Johnson said, "it must be a solution that does not call for cutting and running. Those fantasies hold the nightmare of a larger war tomorrow."

"It must be a solution that does not call for stepping up our military efforts to flash point, where we risk larger war today."

Johnson flew to Miami Beach after a busy swing that took him to a new junior college in central Texas, to an Army hospital at Ft. Hood, Tex., where he decorated two Vietnam veterans, and to a moon rocket assembly plant at New Orleans, La.

In addition to discussing Vietnam and the difficulties of achieving a settlement, the President lambasted congressional Republicans, calling them "nay-sayers."

In some of his roughest partisan language of the year, Johnson said: "The people know that the old Republican buggy can go one way--backwards, downhill."

"The only program that Grand Old Party offers is the remains of what they have backed into and run over on the road, the bits and pieces of what somebody else has built."

The President, touching on challenges of the future, said, "We still have to meet the great tests of our time, improving our educational and medical systems, rebuilding our cities, providing jobs for all who can work, ending lawlessness in the streets, uniting in our people in common and progressive purpose."

NATO Moves To Change Grand Strategy

BRUSSELS (AP)--The North Atlantic Treaty Organization turned Tuesday night from the old concept of massive nuclear retaliation against any Eastern aggressor to a new grand strategy for defense of Europe.

The drastic shift from the postwar policies propounded by John Foster Dulles came after the NATO defense ministers heard a warning from Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara that the Russians are still probing for weaknesses in the West.

The ministers adopted a strategy that would provide for controlled escalation of counterblows and provide time for last-minute peacemaking at the brink of war.

At their year-end meeting, the key nations of NATO also decided against setting up an antiballistic missile--ABM--system stretching from the Arctic to the Aegean at an estimated cost of $10 billion.

Their consensus was in line with another caution delivered in the absent McNamara's name by his deputy, Paul H. Nitze: that the alliance should not stake its future safety on ABMs.

Draft Law Convictions Up for Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Convictions for draft law violations doubled in the past year, and judges handed out stiffer sentences, federal court figures showed Tuesday.

Figures from the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts showed 748 persons were convicted during the fiscal year that ended last June 30. This compares with 372 during the 1966 fiscal year.

The average sentence meted out to the 666 persons who went to prison was 32.1 months, compared with 26.4 months in 1966 and 21 months in 1965. The sentences averaged 21-23 months for the 10 previous years and hit 29 months during the Korean War in 1953.

Percy Escapes Injury in Attack

SAIGON (AP)--Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., safely through a Communist attack on him and his party during an unescorted visit to the site of a Viet Cong massacre, said Tuesday: "This is closer to action than I got in three years of World War II."

Frequently mentioned as a possible GOP candidate for president, the 48-year-old senator was speaking as a veteran of wartime service in the U.S. Navy.

U.S. Army helicopter gunships summoned by his wife Lorraine and the crew of their chartered helicopter rescued Percy and four men who had gone afoot with him into fire-ravaged Dakson, where 202 Montagnard tribesmen are estimated to have been killed by a raid by Viet Cong battalion Dec. 5.

None of the men was hit, though some of five mortar rounds exploded within 15 or 20 feet of the senator and about 15 bullets whined overhead. The Communists shot from concealment in jungles around the hamlet, near the Cambodian frontier 80 miles north of Saigon.

SIU Young Democrats to Back Sen. McCarthy

By Michaelyn Korda

SIU's Young Democrats are in a "dump Johnson" mood.

The group's president, Jana L. Ogg, of Unity, said the organization will back U.S. Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D.-Minnesota, in his bid to contest the renomination of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

McCarthy recently announced his campaign for the presidency in his statement that he would challenge the President of his own party in at least four state primaries next year.

Miss Ogg wanted to make it clear that the Young Democrats "do not serve as just an organ of the party," and explained that many of the Young Democrats supported Sen. Robert Kennedy in their "Citizens for Kennedy" movement.

"We supported Kennedy because he appeared to be the only promising individual in the party and also as a pressure force in pushing Johnson out of running for renomination," she said. However, since Kennedy does not plan to run, the group has switched its allegiance to Sen. McCarthy.

Kennedy, meanwhile, has labeled McCarthy's candidacy as a "healthy element" for the party. Kennedy has stepped back from an earlier endorsement of Lyndon Johnson to a position of strict neutrality.

At their last meeting in Oct., the club passed a resolution condemning Johnson's policies and sent a copy of the resolution to John Bailey, national chairman of the Democratic party.

The resolution stated that "we wish to affirm that we cannot in conscience support the re-election of Lyndon Johnson, Miss Ogg stated.

"We will, in fact, do everything in our power to oppose his renomination. A Democratic President, Lyndon Johnson, squanders valuable resources and invaluable lives in a war he cannot win and will not end," she added.

At least two members are planning to campaign unpledged delegates in the convention in Chicago, but no names have been disclosed as yet, Miss Ogg said.

Members hope to have a debate with the Young Republicans after the primaries.

"First we have to find an issue on which to debate," said Miss Ogg. "Vietnam is out of the question, because the Republican liberals and Democrat liberals support each other as do the conservative members of the two parties.

Eligible Students May Obtain Vehicle Permits Next Term

Any student who is newly eligible for driving privileges during the winter quarter should report to the Parking and Traffic Section, Washington Square, any time after Jan. 1 to apply for a motor vehicle permit.

If a student's name does not appear on the listing of eligible students, he must report to the area dean of his respective living area to apply for a permit.

Students on the permit list are graduates, commuters, married, a junior with a 3.75 overall grade point or a senior with a 3.5 overall grade point average.

Any student who desires a work permit for the use of a motor vehicle must report first to the Student Work Office. Any student with a disability who requires the use of a motor vehicle must apply directly to the Health Service for a motor vehicle permit.

No student will be allowed to bring a car or other motor vehicle to campus until he has properly registered it.

891 Fresh Arrivals at SIU

Replace Graduating Students

An addition of 891 new students for winter quarter will have little effect on SIU's total enrollment, according to Registrar Robert McGrath.

McGrath says the number of new applications is usually offset by seniors and graduate students receiving degrees. He also pointed out that the figure is affected by suspensions.

Freshman enrollment is down by 53 students from last year. As of Dec. 1, 409 first-year students have been accepted for next quarter as compared to 462 accepted for the 1966 winter quarter.

The number of transfer students has increased from 262 in 1966 to 396 this year. Eighty-six graduate students have been accepted, while 119 were admitted during the same period last year.

A total of 843 new students enrolled for the winter quarter in 1966.

JURKIN ARBONDALE HARRISBURG

Young Republicans Ready for '68 Campaigns

By Elaine Reed

SIU Young Republicans are eager to be actively involved in the 1968 elections, according to John H. Baker, adviser for the group.

The club, which meets twice a month in Davis Auditorium, plans to participate in the elections at both state and national levels. However, according to Baker, the club must wait until national candidates are chosen before the real campaign work begins.

He said the club must not identify with individual prospective candidates. This will eliminate embarrassment to the club if the candidate they are backing should not get elected in the primary.

Baker said the SIU Young Republicans Club is nationally affiliated through a chain of charters. It is chartered by the Illinois Collegiate Young Republicans Federation which is chartered by the Illinois State Young Republicans Organization. The state Young Republicans in turn are members of the national association.

Although the SIU Young Republicans have been organized for at least 10 years, Baker described the club membership as "relatively small."

He also said that few members are very active, but the ones who are interested work hard. Students may work in elections doing volunteer work such as distributing literature, running errands and campaigning, he said.

Baker said there is no stipulation, but organizations using "Republican" in title are expected to make an effort in working during an election. No one cares how active the club is, but some help is expected, he added.

Ex-President Changes School Status; Degree Rash Begins

President Daniel B. Parkinson, 60 years ago, awarded the first two bachelor degrees in a commencement at Southern Illinois University, thereby starting the transition from two-year teachers training to four-year college status.

Last September, President Delyte W. Morris awarded bachelors degree No. 25,999, and at the same commencement conferred the University's 6,424th masters and the 241st doctor of philosophy degrees.

In his book, "75 Years in Retrospect," the late Eli G. Lentz explained that from its establishment in 1869 until 1907, the school had not been given specific authority to grant the bachelor of education degree. The 45th General Assembly granted this authority to the state's four normal schools and in 1908 President Parkinson saluted SIU's first four-year scholars, a man and a woman.

There were few takers for the four-year degrees in the early days. One male student qualified in 1911, one woman in 1913, and it was not until 1923 that 4-year graduates numbered more than ten in a single year.

In 1967, at the spring and summer commencements, SIU granted 2,870 bachelors degrees.

'TIS THE SEASON TO BE JOLLY

Yuletide is almost upon us. Let's stop wasting time in classes and get on with our Christmas shopping. Following are a number of gift suggestions, all easily obtainable at your nearest war surplus boutique.

First, a most unusual gift idea, brand new this year and certain to please everyone on your list—a gift certificate from the American Veterinary Medicine Association! Each certificate is accompanied by this charming poem:

*Merry Christmas, north and south,
 Does your cow have hoof and mouth?
 And your dog, fidele semper,
 Here's a cure for his distemper.
 Little kitten, cute and squirmy,
 Bring her in. I think she's wormy.
 To bunnies, turtles, parrots green,
 Joyeux Noel! Heurreux Vaccine!*

Are you wondering what to give that extra-special man on your list? Stop wondering. Give him that extra-special shaving combination, Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades and Burma Shave. Each gift is accompanied by this charming poem:

*Christmas merry, New Year bonny,
 From your friendly blade Personny.
 You will have the ladies fawning,
 If you're shaving with Persawing.
 Injector style or double edges,
 Both are made by good Persedges.
 And Burma-Shave in plain or menthol,
 Leaves your face as smooth as renthol.*

(NOTE: As everyone knows, renthol is the smoothest substance ever discovered. You may not know, however, that renthol is named after its inventor, Ralph Waldo Renthol, who developed it by crossing a swan with a ball bearing.)

(Interestingly enough, Mr. Renthol did not start out to be an inventor. Until age 50 he was a Western Union boy. Then fate took a hand. One day while delivering a singing telegram to a girl named Claudia Sigafos, Ralph noted to his surprise that the telegram was signed "Claudia Sigafos!" She had sent herself a birthday greeting!

(When pressed to explain, Claudia told Ralph a heart-rending tale. It seems that when she was only six weeks old, her parents were killed in an avalanche. The infant Claudia was found by a pair of kindly caribou who raised her as their own. They taught her all they knew—like how to rub bark off a tree and which lichens are better than other lichens—but in time they saw that this was not enough. When Claudia reached age 18, they entered her in Bennington.

(Used to people, Claudia lived a lonely life—so lonely, in fact, that she was reduced to sending herself birthday greetings, as we have seen.

(Ralph, deeply touched, married Claudia and tried his best to make her mingle with people. It didn't work. They went nowhere, saw no one, except for an annual Christmas visit to Claudia's foster parents, Buck and Doe. To while away his long, lonely hours, Ralph finally built a work bench and started to futz around with inventions, as we have seen.

(It is pleasant to report that the story of Ralph and Claudia ends happily. After the birth of their two children, Donder and Blitzen, Claudia joined the PTA and soon overcame her fear of people. Ralph joined the Elks.)

But I digress. Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night! Ho-ho-ho!

Author to Head Religious Studies

JOHN FRANK HAYWARD

Theologian John Frank Hayward, author of "Existentialism and Religious Liberalism", has been appointed director of Religious Studies at SIU.

Roger Beyler, dean of the SIU College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, said "we are delighted that Dr. Hayward has chosen to join the University faculty. In this day of intense competition for outstanding talent, I would call it a prize catch."

Hayward, who holds degrees from Harvard, Meadville Theological School, and the University of Chicago Divinity School, is president of the American Theological Society's midwest division. He has been professor of theology at Meadville since 1960 and before that had been professor at the University of Chicago.

Until this year, religious studies at SIU had been offered through various off-campus religious foundations.

Consolidation under the College followed a survey by Milton McLean, coordinator of religious affairs at Ohio State University and a visiting professor at SIU. The new program offers students a subject minor consisting of 30 course hours divided between western and non-western religions. The courses are taught by the departments of English, sociology, psychology, philosophy and history.

Brush Towers Will Resemble University Park Dormitories

The Brush Towers housing complex scheduled to open this summer will appear much like present University Park facilities.

The two Towers' facilities, one each for male and female residents, will each house a capacity of 816 students.

The buildings will be identical to present U-Park dorms except for the main lobbies. Partitions that appear in Neely will not be present in the Towers' buildings. The major change in the two towers as compared with Neely will be the elimination of partitions forming student government meeting room and the library. This elimination allows much larger lounges on the main floor of the two towers.

Following plans for other University Park housing areas, the girl's hall will have a kitchen area on each floor. Bathroom facilities are placed between two rooms. Thus four girls will share the facilities. Eight male residents will share each bathroom facility.

Study lounges will be established on each floor.

Furniture in the dorms will be similar to present furnishings in University Park areas. The metal bed, wooden desk, chest and pull door closet will be selected for the new dorms.

Architects and housing officials first decide what type of decor is desired for new facilities. Then specifications of type and fabric must be written.

Several girls residing in Neely Hall were asked their evaluation of U-Park's furnishings.

Brenda Thiele, a junior from Blue Mound, said the dorm was "adequately furnished," adding that "a room is just what you make it."

She said the walls in her unit need painting after male students lived in the dorm during the summer.

Two small ceiling lights provide poor lighting, said Joesette Jones, a sophomore from Peekskill, N.Y. She added the room is big enough and is adequate, but the paint is peeling.

Bonnie Bucco, a freshman from Peoria said, "compared to Woody, the dorm is a palace."

Built-in cabinets as space savers might be an asset to future dorms, said Brenda Wagner, a sophomore from Mt. Vernon. She added there is not enough storage space, but that Neely, in her opinion, is the best dorm on campus.

The film was also specially selected for showing at the awards ceremony as an example of an award-winning film. "Population" was directed by Howard Cotton, working in collaboration with John McHale of the World Resources Inventory.

The second Golden Eagle film produced by SIU is "Vergette Making a Pot," showing SIU artist Nicholas Vergette creating a pot. It was selected for the Salerno International Film Festival.

"Vergette" also was cited and shown at the San Francisco International Film Festival. The film was directed by Frank Paine and has a special original music score by composer Teiji Ito.

The awards were presented to Howard Cotton, representing the University, at a recent ceremony in Washington, D.C.

SIU Researchers Report Allergy-Finding Method

A promising new technique for detecting penicillin allergies which are often deadly for humans has been reported by a study team composed of Cal Meyers, SIU organic chemist, and California researchers.

Study results indicate that the method could be readily adapted for determining whether a person is allergic to a drug, and how severe any reaction following penicillin injection might be for an allergic person.

Meyers teamed up with W.B. Bandliker and R. Alonso at the Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation in La Jolla for the research study, the results of which are published in the current issue of the journal "Immunochemistry."

Basically, the technique involves measuring the intensity of the antigen-antibody conflict that erupts when certain foreign agents enter the body.

As an antigenic agent, penicillin enters the bloodstream, causing production of antibodies which in turn can produce allergies.

The researchers believe that their method of fluorescence polarization can be superior to any existing methods of testing for allergy because of its relative accuracy and speed of application. Injured or seriously ill persons needing antibiotics could be quickly tested for possible drug reactions, whereas older methods required uncertain and sometimes dangerous skin tests to give some indication.

Penicillin was used for the experiments because it is a wide-spectrum drug effective against many illnesses, and it provokes wide-ranging allergies. Many doctors hesitate to use it, despite its effectiveness, because of possible side effects.

SIU to Return to Texas Tournament

By George Knemeyer

The Salukis will return to the scene of their first big triumph of last year when they play in the Sun Carnival in El Paso, Tex., on Dec. 21 and 22.

Last year at the Sun Carnival the Salukis knocked off the then defending NCAA basketball champions, Texas Western, 59-54, in the opening game of the tournament, only to lose the final to Southern Methodist, 66-64.

This year the Miners will be back, but they have a different name—the University of Texas at El Paso. Also joining the Salukis and the Miners will be the University of San Francisco and the University of Maryland.

The pairings for the Carnival will be UTEP against Maryland in the first contest on Dec. 21 and then SIU against San Francisco in the second game. The two winners will then meet on the 22nd for the championship and the two losers will also play to determine third and fourth place.

Last year the Salukis played the first game, because when the game was scheduled, the Salukis were not thought to be a major contender in the tournament. UTEP was, and since they were playing in their own stadium, the Miners were matched against a supposedly "weak" team.

But when Carnival time came, the Salukis were recognized as a top team, and the Miners-Salukis game was thought of as the tournament deciding game. Whichever team won that game was supposed to win the tournament.

Such was not the case, but this year the Sun Carnival officials are not taking any chances. The only way UTEP and SIU can meet is in the second day of the tournament, and possibly for the championship.

A survey of the three other teams in the Sun Carnival besides the Salukis is as follows:

SAN FRANCISCO

The Salukis' first opponent in the Sun Carnival had a so-so 13-12 record last year but this year they have their starting five back, in addition to three of the top reserves.

The San Francisco Dons finished fourth in the West Coast Athletic Conference last year, but even though they should move up the conference ladder this year, it is possible that their overall record may not improve very much.

The reason for that is simple. They have a tough schedule with non-conference games against Western Kentucky, Arizona State, Colorado State and Oklahoma City, all good teams and all at the start of the season.

Their season hopes depend on their returning starters, Dennis Black in particular. Black is a 6'5" forward who topped the Dons in both scoring with a 19.3 average and rebounding with 12.5 average last year in addition to being named to the first team of the WCAC-All League team.

Black was a prep All-American at Berkeley, Calif., and the Dons are touting him for possible All-American.

Joining Black in the other forward spot will be Don Snyder, who stands 6'4" and has tremendous jumping ability. Snyder, who will be captain for S.F. this year, is also an outstanding defensive player. Snyder put in points at a 15.3 per game clip last season.

At center will be Tom Brown who was leading in field goal percentage for the Dons before sidelined at midseason with a broken arm. While he was in there, he averaged 14 points per game.

The pair of guards for the Dons are a couple of dandies, Tom O'Neill and Art Wilmore.

Wilmore is a 6'2" senior who averaged 12 points last year and shoots one of the seldom seen shots in basketball these last few years—the two-handed set shot. And he can hit them from the 30-foot range. O'Neill is fine defensive player and likes to drive the lane on offense. Last year he averaged 7.4 points per game.

The Sun Carnival game will be the first meeting of the Dons and the Salukis.

UTEP

Although UTEP Coach Don Haskins has a 130-32 record since the 1961-62 season when he took over the Miners, this season could see a change of luck for Haskins.

The Miners' inside attack could possibly be the weakest of all of Haskins' former teams. For years this has been one of the Miners' strong points.

But graduation has taken the services of 6'8" Nevil Shed and Dave Lattin, the Miners' fine guard from last year, has passed up his final year to play with the San Francisco Warriors. The search for a proven big man to support Phil Harris, the 6'10" center, was a failure.

El Paso has two starters returning from last year, Willie Worsely and Willie Cager.

Both Worsely and the aptly named Cager are possible all-American candidates.

Worsely had an injured wrist last season and it hurt his outside shooting. Even though he is short, only 5'7" he averaged 12.2 points per game last season, and Coach Haskins thinks Worsely could make it in the pros if given a chance.

Cager is another in whom coach Haskins has confidence.

"Willie has advanced a great deal defensively since he came here. He can cover the big man and is a pretty good hand on the one-and-one situation," Haskins said.

Cager is a 6'5" senior who averaged 9.4 points per game last year.

Even with all the touting about Worsely and Cager, the key to the Miners may be in the hands of Harris.

Haskins says Harris must be a consistent performer all year if the Miners are to have any degree of success.

Tony Harper is given a good chance to win a guard position. Coach Haskins describes him as a good ball handler who just needs more game experience.

The Miners should get a lot of help from sophomores, with 6'7" Tom Isaac and 6' sophomore John Ruund the primary candidates for possible starting jobs.

MARYLAND

The Terrapins from the University of Maryland have a new head coach this year, Frank Fellows, Jr., who moves up from his former job as freshman coach.

While with the frosh, he had 70-21 record, and inherits a team who had an 11-14 record last year and only four returning lettermen. But three or four should be starters.

Leading the four is Pete Johnson, who stands only six foot, but plays a forward. Last year, as a sophomore, Johnson averaged 13 points per game.

Billy Jones will probably handle the other forward position for the Terrapins. He stands 6'1" and averaged 11.6 points last year.

The center spot will be handled by 6'6" Will Hetzel, brother of the former Davidson University great. As a freshman last year, Hetzel averaged 19.2 points.

John Avery and Tom Milroy will handle the guard positions for Maryland. Avery is 5'9" and is considered one of the best shots on the team, and Milroy, a sophomore, stands 6'3" and averaged 17.5 as a freshman last year.

The Terrapins play in the tough Atlantic Coast Conference, the same conference that includes Duke and North Carolina, two major powers this year in collegiate basketball.

This will be Maryland's first appearance in the Sun Carnival, as it also is for San Francisco.

Wildcats Bring 3-1 Record Into Arena

Strong Arizona Quintet Threatens Salukis' Win Streak

By Tom Wood

One of the most formidable opponents ever to play in the Arena, the University of Arizona, will threaten the Salukis' 31 game streak at home Saturday.

The Wildcats are a strong, experienced outfit from one of the toughest basketball conferences in the nation, the Western Athletic Conference.

Arizona has a 3-1 record and will play Creighton Friday night. The loss came at the hands of the University of Texas at El Paso, a one-point overtime defeat on the Miners' home court.

The Wildcats defeated San Jose State by 25 points early in the season. Arizona State, a team the Salukis knocked off 62-59 last weekend, lost to San Jose by three.

Bill Davis, a 6'-7" forward, is the standout on a big front line. Davis, affectionately called Twiggy by his teammates because of only 185-pounds attached to that frame, was the leading Wildcat scorer last season with 15.4 points. He also grabbed 7.7 rebounds a game.

Those figures were good enough to rank him fourth and fifth in the WAC.

In the pivot is 6'-8" Mike Kordlik, who is termed the most improved performer on the squad. He is a good outside shooter but won't be out too often because he is depended on to carry much of the rebounding load.

Dick Root, a 6'-5" senior, will round out the front line. He carried an 8.5 scoring average last season.

The guards are juniors 6'-2" Mike Welton and 6'-2" Jim Hanson. They are the only non-seniors in the starting lineup.

The Wildcats won't bear much resemblance to Arizona State. The play more of a control game, not prone to fast break often.

"They won't try to out-muscle you like Arizona State," SIU Coach-Jack Hartman said. "They rely more on finesse and try to control the situation. They are probably as strong physically as Arizona State, but won't use it in the same manner."

Hartman had no plans for lineup changes Tuesday. He would not rule out the possibility of a change or two, though. Last Saturday's lineup consisted of Dick Garrett and Willie Griffin in the backcourt, Bruce Butchko at center and Chuck Benson and Howard Keene up front.

Garrett was moved from forward to enable him to get the ball more often in good shooting position.

One phase of the Salukis' game which has Hartman concerned is their shooting inconsistency. "I guess it might be attributed to the lack of experience," he said. He thinks it is something which will cure itself with exposure.

"Young ballplayers often have the tendency to get negatively while shooting. They might go up for a shot and think 'What if I miss' or something like that. Experience works that out of a boy."

"It leaves you in a position similar to stepping in to face Sandy Koufax with a fear of getting beamed. You have to have courage to become a consistently good shooter and that comes with exposure to the situation."

Another thing Hartman feels will be a necessary commodity for a successful season is consistent aggressiveness on the boards. The team, due to lack of height, will need a little more desire and ability to get position that the opponent.

He is pleased with the Salukis' defensive performance to date. "Whenever you take the fast break away from a team like Arizona State and hold them to 59 points you are doing a good job defensively," he said.

That defense is sure to get its toughest test to date Saturday.

Game time is 8 p.m. The varsity game will be preceded by a 6 p.m. frosh-varsity reserve preliminary.

Capture Two Firsts, Two Seconds

Gymnasts Do Well in Iowa Open

The Saluki gymnasts grabbed two firsts, two seconds and four thirds in the University of Iowa's fourth annual Open Championships.

The two firsts were won by Gene Kelber in floor exercise and Dale Hardt on the trampoline. Kelber scored a 9.2 and Hardt a 9.35 to win their events.

The seconds were captured by Paul Mayer in vaulting with a 9.3 and Fred Dennis scored a 100.55 in the all-around competition.

Joe Dupree scored a 9.15 in trampoline, Mayer a 9.0 on the parallel bars, and a 100.45 in all-around, and Dennis a 9.2 on the high bars to capture the four third places for the Salukis.

Other SIU scorers were Wayne Borkowski with a 9.0 for fifth and Jack Hultz an 8.95 for sixth on the rings; Hardt scored a 9.1 for fifth in vaulting; Pete Hemmerling scored an 8.95 for seventh and Rick Tucker an 8.85 for eighth on the high bar; Mayer scored a 9.0 for fourth in floor exercise.

On the side horse Mayer received an 8.7 for fifth, Dennis an 8.5 for sixth and Tucker an 8.4 for seventh. In the all-around, Tucker scored 98.05 for fourth and Stu Smith a 92.65 for sixth.

The gymnasts first dual meet will be Saturday against the University of Illinois at Champaign.

Huff Will Retire From Pro Ball

WASHINGTON (AP)--S a m Huff, his eyes red and swelled by tears, quietly told newsmen Tuesday he would play his last professional football game Sunday.

The veteran linebacker left the door ajar, however, for a possible return next season if he were needed to help the Washington Redskins with a championship.

"There comes a time in every athlete's life when he has to hang up his jersey," Huff told a news conference in a dressing room at D.C. Stadium. "That time has come for me. Sunday will be my last game."

Seated next to Huff were Washington coach, Otto Graham, and club president, Edward Bennett Williams.

Rated one of the National Football League's greatest modern linebackers, Huff earned his reputation by occasionally stopping Jim Brown of Cleveland in one of the most publicized personal rivalries in professional football.

A vicious tackler, Huff's name has become synonymous with the controlled violence of professional football.

Huff, 33, said his age was an important factor in his decision to retire.
