Professor's hearing unfair, union claims

By Toby Eckert

Staff Writer

The union representing a professor whose grievances against his department were rejected by a faculty committee is charging that "serious procedural problems" kept the professor from getting a fair hearing before the committee.

The grievances were filed by Kenneth Ruder, a professor of radiology in the Department of Communications Disorders and Science, who charges that Ruder was punished by the college.

Ruder was said to have committed a three-window explosion that blew three windows and caused him to be jumpy about the University's procedures.

The basic issue here is fairness, if there were no procedures, and the University is saying, "Dean Sanders may be able to argue that the CCFPA doesn't need its own grievance procedure because it follows the University's procedures," Zucker said.

"But it isn't doing that," Edwary Shae, the chairman of the faculty committee, said. Zucker said that charges of "wrongful procedures" are a series of grievances charges by Sanders retaliation against him for his opposition to the 2 percent plan by getting the Communications Disorders and Science program, which Ruder headed, reassigning Ruder to a smaller lab, removing him as director of an $8,000-a-year fund and reassessing Ruder's graduate assistants to other instructors in the department.

McLafferty, Reservoir roads may get 45 mph speed limit

By Dana DeBeaumont

The City Council will vote tonight on whether or not to raise speed limits on McLafferty Road and Reservoir Road.

The current speed limit of 35 mph could be raised to 45 mph on McLafferty Road between Chautauqua Street and Reservoir Road and on Reservoir Road from U.S. 45 to Evergreen Road.

A survey of 200 vehicles traveling on the roads Nov. 11 by the Carbondale Police Department shows 82 percent of the vehicles traveling on McLafferty Road and 94 percent of the vehicles traveling on Reservoir Road were exceeding the 35 mph speed limit, according to a representative of the Carbondale Police Department.

"The increase shouldn't cause any safety concerns for the cyclists because each road has shoulders for bicyclists to ride on, he added."

The City Council also will discuss an ordinance regulating transient merchants on public property.

"Under the proposed ordinance, an application with a fee must be filled in the clerk's office before the police department or any time the proposed sale." - Gus Bode

Gulf quiet; Khomeini thought to be ill

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — The Persian Gulf was quiet Sunday as war foes Iran and Iraq refrained from their attacks on shipping amid speculation — denied by officials in Tehran — that aging Iranian spiritual leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini had been rushed to a hospital.

The perilous waterway was peaceful for the first day in weeks. A fire aboard an oil tanker triggered by an Iranian attack Saturday was brought under control after U.S. Navy and civilian helicopters helped rescue the vessel's sea period from the information-hipping officials said.

In Tehran, Iranian officials denied reports by Arab sources at the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries meeting in Vienna that Khomeini, 77, was weakening in Tehran hospital. A Khomeini spokesman in Tehran, reached by telephone fromNicaragua, called the reports "utter lies." and "by God's grace the imam is well." - Gus says if you can't beat 'em, join 'em.

Greek Captain Alexander Kontogiorgos nursed the tanker to an anchorage off the port of Dubai on the United Arab Emirates coast.

Marine salvage inspectors began calculating the extent of damage, including a gaping hole in the side apparently caused by a rocket grenade.

Men's 77-74 victory comes gift-wrapped

In the true spirit of the holiday season, the men's basketball team gave Coach Rich Herrin everything it had in a victory over Southwest Missouri State Saturday at the Arena.

Hoehn was a very confused in...}

The win kept the Salukis above the 500 mark at 5-3. SMSU, which reached the second round of the NCAA tournament last season, dropped to 6-5. "This was a very important game for us," Herrin said.

The Salukis' 32-30 rebound advantage enabled them to operate their running game. House pulled down nine rebounds and Tim Richardson grabbed six.

"Richardson did the things he needed to do. He did a good job for us," Herrin said.

The Salukis passed the ball well with 18 of 26 field goals coming off assists.

"I think we did a good job taking care of the ball," House said.

"Our guards did an excellent job of bringing it down and finding the open guy," Herrin said.

The Salukis helped themselves at the free throw line, hitting 17 for 22. The Bears made 11 of 18.

House led the Salukis with 21 points. Nurnberger scored 20, Middleton had 16 and Rick Shipley chipped in 10.

Holt was the game's top scorer with 26 points, including four three-pointers. Worthy had 17 and Stuckey finished with 16.

Women stunned by Indiana

By Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

It happened again.

The women's basketball team, behind by a bucket, last while falling to get off a shot in the last 11 seconds for the second-straight game.

Indiana took advantage of the Salukis' lack of execution for the 50-48 upset Saturday before 689 fans at the Arena.

The Salukis drop to 2-3 with the loss but have a conservative defeat at the hands of a Big Ten team. IU's 2-1 record is not enough to make up for a goal attempt in the final 11 seconds of Wednesday's 61-58 fall at Illinois.

The loss snaps a 26-game home win streak.

"We played like we know what we are doing," Saluki coach Cindy Scott said.

"The coaches are as at fault as anyone. We're not getting this gory gelled together.

"After inbounding at midcourt, Eileen Richardson, Dana Fitzpatrick and Mary Bergman each handled the ball on the game-ending exchange. The closest anyone got to the goal was 15 feet, but no one looked to score.

"We tried to get the ball down low, but we just didn't get it done. I don't know..."

Scott said.

Indiana, which had pressed and pressured for most of the game, was a man-to-man set all afternoon, switched to a zone for 10 seconds.

"We knew they'd be looking to get the ball out and didn't know if we couldn't foul," Indiana coach Joa Hoehn said.

"So we switched to a two-line (zone) and it confused our young players. I have to give my assistants

Summer's basketball to battle Tenn. Tech

By Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

The women's basketball team will try to crack its two-game losing streak against Tennessee Tech at 7:30 tonight in the Arena.

This will be our third game in six days — it should tell us what kind of shape we're in physically and mentally," Saluki coach Cindy Scott said.

Tennessee Tech has a 2-1 record with wins over North Carolina State and Radford and a loss to Kentucky.

The Salukis, 3-3, lost to Tennessee Tech 73-45 last season.

"Our players haven't forgotten our loss last year at Cookeville. Revenge shouldn't be the overriding factor in preparing a team, but it's only natural that we'd want to beat Tech more because of what happened last year," Scott said.

While All-American Cheryl Taylor has graduated from coach Bill Worrell's squad, the Golden Eagles still pack a punch underneath the basket.

Freshman breaks 800-meter record

By Jim Black

Freshman Michelle Sciano set a school record in the 800-meter run and the women's track team won eight of 12 events Saturday in a dual meet against Southwest Missouri State in Cape Girardeau, Mo.

Sciano won the event in 2:18.4.

Junior Christiana Phillips won the long jump with a leap of 18-feet, 10-inches and the triple jump at 38-2 and placed second in the 55-meter dash in 7.22 seconds to lead the squad.

Senior Brenda Beatty also turned in a strong performance, winning the 55-meters in 7.03, placing second in the triple jump at 36-3 and third in the long jump at 18-4.

Freshman Beverly Kitt won the high jump with a leap of 5-1, junior Lisa Jofuscak won the 3000 in 10:03.4, junior Dana Kyracou won the 300 in 40.5 and freshman Danielle Sciano won the 600 in 1:42.2.

SQU also won the 1,600-meter relay in 4:07.12.

The Salukis had 23 personal best performances.

"This meet gave us an indication of our overall team strength and depth," coach Don Devos said.

"It should be an interesting season for us. I'm very optimistic."

SiU Requests 43.9% Increase
For Chancellor’s Office,
But Fails to Testify

IEA has learned that SIU’s budget request for FY 1989 includes a 43.9% increase for the Chancellor’s office. According to the IBHE Report on University Budget Requests for 1989.

The IBHE met on December 4 with representatives of all institutions of higher education in Illinois. The purpose of this meeting was to go over their budget requests before IBHE makes its final recommendations to the Governor. IBHE has the authority to reduce any University budget request and usually does.

This meeting provided an opportunity for administrative representatives of all Illinois universities to defend their budget requests before the IBHE acts.

Every university was represented at the meeting, except SIU. Neither the Chancellor, nor any of the four Vice Chancellors or Campus Presidents or Vice Presidents, or any other member of the SIU Administration attended the meeting. No one was present to testify on behalf of the SIU budget.

Is that why we need a 43.9% increase in the Chancellor’s budget?

Attempt to replace Stalin told of in hidden memoirs

MOSCOW (UPI) — Communist officials unsuccessfully tried to replace dictator Josef Stalin at 1934 party congress, according to a long-suppressed section of a memoirs of late Politburo member Anatoly Mikoyan, published Sunday. The attempt to replace Stalin as described by Mikoyan as being as possible explanation for Stalin’s great purge of 1934-37. Of the 1,906 delegates to that 1954 party congress, 1,104 were arrested and later killed, imprisoned, sent to labor camps or exiled.

Soviet magazine to publish ‘Doctor Zhivago’

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet weekly magazine published excerpts Sunday from “Doctor Zhivago” in the first officially sanctioned publication in the Soviet Union of a work by the late Boris Pasternak, who was forced to renounce the Nobel prize to avoid expulsion. The publication of the first month before Novy Mir — the prestigious literary monthly — is to publish the full novel in four parts starting in January. Novy Mir had turned the novel down in the 1950s.

Israeli soldiers shoot, injure 36 Palestinians

GAZA CITY, Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip (UPI) — Israeli soldiers shot and wounded at least 36 Palestinian protesters Sunday during a fifth day of bloody street battles that marked the worst outbreak of anti-Israel violence in the occupied territories in six years. Doctors in Gaza City said two Palestinians wounded by Israeli troops earlier in the week had died, but the military, which administers the occupied territories, denies the report.

Belgium’s coalition government loses 8 seats

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — Belgium’s cost-cutting coalition government lost eight seats Sunday, raising doubts about its ability to form a new administration without the Socialist Party. Incomplete vote totals showed a computer forecast early Sunday that the prime minister’s party had won enough seats to form the opposition Socialist Party gaining seven seats at the expense of Prime Minister Wilfried Martens’ Christian Democrat Party.

Kennedy to face Senate confirmation hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Judge Anthony Kennedy goes before a Senate panel Monday for what is expected to be an uncontroversial confirmation hearing for a Supreme Court seat vacant since last June. His testimony is scheduled to last two days. Another 32 witnesses have signed up to testify, with the hearing expected to last no more than five days. In contrast, the hearing for high court nominee Robert Bork, rejected 58-42 by the Senate in October, lasted 12 days and drew 112 witnesses.

Divorced man shoots ex-wife, children, others

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — A recently divorced father went on a shooting rampage, killing his ex-wife, two young sons and two other adults and wounding his daughter before committing suicide, police said Sunday. Police Sgt. Mike Heath said the shootings occurred Saturday evening and that officers found the six bodies early Sunday morning. The dead were identified as the father, Virgil Knittel, 36, his ex-wife, Deeta Knight, 36, and their children, Curtis Knight, 6, and Kevin Knight, 2.

Political figure Epton, 66, dies of heart attack

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Bernard Epton, a quintessential political figure who as a Republican candidate almost prevented the election of Chicago’s first black mayor, Harold Washington, died Sunday in his sleep. Epton, who died in a hotel room, was 66. “His wife was unable to awaken him this morning and the medical examiner feels that the cause of death was a heart attack,” said Lt. Harold Timse of the Ann Arbor police. Ironically, Epton’s death came less than three weeks after Washington’s.

Sinatra plays good Samaritan to needy family

MIAMI (UPI) — A burglar victim was “fabbarged” and near tears Sunday after Frank Sinatra offered to help replace her four young children’s Christmas presents, which were stolen from under their Christmas tree. “If I didn’t know the meaning of Christmas before, I definitely know now,” Eileen Coleman said. “I’m, like, ready to cry. I cannot believe it. Frank Sinatra is like the most popular singer in the United States,” Sinatra, performing in Atlantic City, N.J., was one of several Good Samaritans who offered to help Coleman replace the gifts.

Talking around the world is fun via ham radio

By Jim Black
Staff Writer

"Hotel, Charlie, Two, Golf, Romeo, Charlie come in..." "Hotel, Charlie, Two, Golf, Romeo, Charlie come in..." "Hotel, Charlie, Two, Golf, Romeo, Charlie come in..."

The faint signal becomes stronger and the person on the other end responds: "Whiskey, Nine, United, Italy, Hotel... over..."

This conversation may not mean much to most people, but to the two ham radio operators carrying on the conversation, this is communication at its best.

USING the international phonetics alphabet, ham radio operators from all corners of the world exchange code names and other vital information. In the conversation above, Kelly Jones, president of the SIU-C Amateur Radio Club, is talking to a man named Gerardo in Guayaquil, Ecuador.

Jones' code name is WVUH. Gerardo is R2GRC. The one or two letters before the number in a ham radio operator's call sign tell where the person is from.

Jone's code name is WVUH. Gerardo is R2GRC. The one or two letters before the number in a ham radio operator's call sign tell where the person is from.

Jones and other enthusiasts scan the airways in search of contacts in new and out-of-the-way countries. So far, Jones has talked to people from more than 305 countries. Most of Europe, South America and some remote places as Mali, in northwestern Africa, and "little islands in the Pacific," he said.

"I WORKED Japan a few days ago," Jones said. "I have heard India and a few weeks ago, I heard China for the first time. From time to time, Russians turn up in..."

When a contact is made, operators write the other's call sign on a post card and send a call card with their own code name and number. It's like a central ham radio office in the other person's country. The office then forwards the post card to the individual operator.

Jones has several call cards as proof of the number and diversity of contacts the person has made.

ALTHOUGH THE temptation to talk about politics and current events with people from such distant and intriguing countries as China and Russia is strong, Jones said such topics are taboo on ham radios.

"Political situations you kind of steer away from," he said. "Ham radio is about world peace."

The most important thing to be gained from talking to people from various parts of the world is learning that people are basically the same everywhere, Jones said.

"A LOT of people say. 'Oh, Russians, I hate them.' But when you talk to them, you see they're just like you," he said. "It opens up your world views. The stereotype just isn't there... you're more stereotyping the government than the people."

Greg Rossei, also a member of the SIU-C Amateur Radio Club, agrees that conversation on ham radios is limited to certain topics.

"You've got to be," he said. "There are only certain things you can talk about." Rossei said typical topics of conversation are the weather, the type of equipment each operator has and where each person lives.

DESPITE THE wide variety of nationalities of ham radio operators, Jones, a junior in radio and TV, holds that conversations on ham radios is limited to certain topics.

"English is pretty much the universal language on ham radios," he said, adding that some limited English is spoken in various countries.

"Students get important information by use of ham radio that they otherwise would not have been able to get," said Jones. "I worked Japan a few days ago. I have heard India and a few weeks ago, I heard China for the first time. From time to time, Russia comes in."

--Kelly Jones

FUSSIEL. A senior in electrical engineering, agreed. "Generally, they all use English," he said.

Rossei has made some unique contacts since he began working with ham radios about three years ago, but he said one in particular stands out above the rest.

"The island of Montserrat (in the eastern West Indies) was definitely the most unusual," he said. "I'm really not even sure where it is."

Jones said finding out where remote islands and countries are is one of the best things about ham radios.

"IT TAUGHT me a lot in my geography," he said. "Although ham radios generally are used for pleasure, they have been very important methods of communication following natural disasters."

On March 3, 1985, a massive earthquake struck Chile, killing about 140 people. Many SIU, C students came from Chile or had friends and relatives living or traveling there. Telephone lines were destroyed by the earthquake and the distraught students had no way of finding out whether their friends and relatives were safe, until the SIU-C Club offered help.

FERNANDO ARES, who was a graduate student in history and a member of the club at the time, spent hours talking to ham radio operators in Chile. People he contacted in Chile would then call families of the students and radio back to Ares.

Ares, who is a native of Uruguay, helped numerous Chileans find information by use of his ham radio that they otherwise would not have been able to get.

"I worked Japan a few days ago. I have heard India and a few weeks ago, I heard China for the first time. From time to time, Russia comes in."

Brittle library books a pressing problem

THE PHOTOGRAPH on the front page of the Dec. 9 Daily Egyptian, which depicted a Morris Library lab supervisor blowing into pieces a page from an opened, 19th-century book, gives evidence of the wretched condition of many of Morris' older volumes.

Jane Wibbee, of Morris Library Services, told a DE reporter that almost 500,000 volumes of books are in the same condition as the one in the photo, many subject to disintegration from the force of human lung power.

Because of the wide use of acidic paper in the 19th century, most books from that period have decayed, with pages so brittle that their corners break off when slightly bent.

A BOOK SO fragile that it is rendered unusable is, of course, not of much use to anyone. A university, where books naturally are of special importance, is in serious trouble when nearly one-fourth of its library's book total is in a pressing need of repair, a phenomenon now experienced by Morris.

Exacerbating the problem is the fact that Morris' ability to restore its massive collection of crumbling volumes is hampered by a number of other factors. The sheer number of books involved has swamped Morris' restoration staff and has even overwhelmed the storage space that staff has at its disposal to hold books which await repair.

And because of insufficient funding, the library cannot restore all the books in need of that process. The library no longer receives the Illinois Cooperative Conservation Program grant or the Midwest Cooperative Conservation Program grant, both of which once provided funding for the book preservation program.

IN THESE DIFFICULT financial days, money does not come easily. And while there are a multitude of other problems created by a restricted federal cash flow — reduced student loans, scholarships and financial aid to list only a few — it might seem presumptuous to assume that funding for book repairs is an absolute necessity.

However, a university without books in its library is a university hindered in its ability to educate its students and faculty. As a learning institution, SUIU, if anything, should scrape, dig and pry to procure the money needed to preserve the half million volumes now stacked, crumbling, decrepit and useless, in Morris Library.

Americans' affinity for autonomy leads to rejection of God's word

Recently, we were witnesses to a rather impressive lecture by Richard Leaky on evolution and our ultimate human roots. We, as people, are constantly seeking answers to the questions "who am I, why am I here and where did I come from?" Evolution seeks to answer those questions through the wisdom of men and naturalistic reasoning processes.

For the most part, we have rejected the idea that we might have come from a supernatural source. Not because the evidence for such creation is lacking, but rather by our own choice.

We have put our trust in the explanations of scientists as to how these things have occurred. And we have put our confidence in some of the most brilliant minds of our times, such as Mr. Leaky.

But there is another account of our origin, our reason for living and our future destiny. Although in general our country does not accept it. In fact, we have wilfully rejected it, not because of lack of evidence for its reliability, but because we Americans do not like to submit to authority.

We do not want to be accountable to anything or anybody except ourselves. But if we were made by a Creator (who is all-wise, all-knowing, all-powerful and all-holy), then we ultimately would be accountable to him.

Because evolution attempts to explain our origin without the actions of a personal, holy God, it gives us an excuse for not being accountable to him or to his creator, who is blessed forevermore.

However, God very clearly tells us what he thinks of such philosophy.

"For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of mankind, who suppress the truth in unrighteousness... For even though they knew God, they did not honor him as God or give thanks, but became futile in their speculations and their foolish heart was darkened.

Professing to be wise, they became fools and exchanged the glory of the incorruptible God for an image in the form of corruptible man and of birds and four-footed animals and crawling creatures.

Therefore God gave them over in the lusts of their hearts to impurity, that their bodies might be dishonored among them. For they exchanged the truth of God for the lie, and worshipped and served the creature rather than the creator, who is blessed forevermore. (Romans 1:18-25).

"For since in the wisdom of God the world through its wisdom did not come to know God, God was well-pleased through the foolishness of the message preached to save those who believe." (1 Corinthians 1:21).

I would rather assign my loyalty to the wisdom and love of God than to be in rebellion against him. - Wayne Helmer, assistant professor, mechanical and energy processes and Curt Caldwell, Doonesbury

Large-scale oil paintings

to be displayed on campus

Large-scale works in oil on canvas by Jaime Del Rio, graduate student in art, will be displayed Tuesday through Friday at the University Museum in Faner Hall.

A reception for Del Rio's graduate thesis exhibit will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. Tuesday at the museum.

Del Rio blends oil paint and sand in abstract design. He uses canvases that average 4 feet by 3 feet.

Del Rio, 28, is a native of Mexico City. He holds a bachelor's degree in physics from the Universidad Nacional Autonomia de Mexico and a master's degree in physics from SIU-C. In 1976 Del Rio studied as a guest scholar at the School of Fine Arts in Mexico City, Universidad Nacional, and in abstract design. He will visit the University from Mexico City through the National Institute for Fine Arts.

Society celebrates season using old Mexican tradition

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

The glow of candles lit Walnut Street Saturday night as part of the Walnut Street Historical District Society's Christmas celebration. Luminaries, an old Mexican custom, were placed inside paper bags, were placed in front of several historical homes in the district which stretched along Walnut Street from Poplar to Oakland. The society also organized caroling for Saturday evening and lit a Christmas tree in front of the home of Kay Sanders, co-chair of the planning committee for the celebration.

This is the first year the society has had a Christmas celebration, Sanders said. "The luminaries are beautiful," she said, adding that the society would like to continue the Christmas celebration next year.

The district consists of 54 homes, many of which were built in the late 1800s. It also contains the oldest house in Carbondale, built in 1858 by General William Dixon. The society has participated in other activities to enhance the neighborhood. They planted flowers this summer to define the district, Sanders said.

They also plan to produce a walking tour brochure of the historical homes in the area for this summer and open one or two houses for tours, Sanders said.

The society also has been fighting to keep a connecting road from running through the area since 1975, she said. The road would cut through Brook Lane and connect Main and Walnut streets.

Members of the society have protested the building of the road to the city council and the Illinois Department of Transportation and signed petitions, Sanders said.

2-car crash kills Carterville man

A Carterville man was killed in a two-vehicle accident at 2:55 p.m. Saturday on Giant City Road, Carbondale police said.

William B. Webb, of Rural Route 3, Carterville, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident by the Shawnee Memorial Hospital medical examiner.

Webb was traveling north on Giant City Road approaching Dogwood Lane when his vehicle was struck by a southbound automobile, police said.

The other vehicle driver, Roger B. Patton, was treated and released from Memorial Hospital in Carbondale.

The accident continues to be investigated.

Police Blotter

A two-vehicle accident in front of the Student Center was reported to University Police at 2:39 p.m. Saturday.

A vehicle driven by Moauiyah Ibrabim, 19, of 126 No. 6 Southern Hills, crossed the center lane while traveling north on Logan Drive and struck the left front fender and door of a vehicle driven by Anthony C. Wilkinson, 21, of Union, a town northwest of Chicago, according to reports.

Ibrabim was ticketed for driving in the wrong lane of traffic, police said.

A Murphysboro man remains in stable condition in St. Joseph's Hospital in Murphysboro after a vehicle in which he was a passenger went off the road into some trees, a Jackson County Sheriff's Department spokesman said.

Bobby D. Skidmore, 33, of Murphysboro, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with major injuries after Robert D. Hunziker, 20, of Murphysboro, lost control of his vehicle at 4:07 a.m. Sunday, according to reports.

Hunziker was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital and transferred to Memorial Hospital of Carbondale, where he was treated and released, a hospital spokesman said.

Hunziker was traveling eastbound on Route 149 about five miles west of Murphysboro, the sheriff's department spokesman said.

The vehicle received major damage. The accident investigation continues.

Newest study on outdoor theater stems from 10-year-old interest

By Tom Trotter

The newest study to review the feasibility of constructing an outdoor theater in Southern Illinois stems from a more than 10-year-old interest.

In 1973, Christian H. Moe and Archibald McLeod, two professors in the theater department, and Boyd Butler of Community Development Services, prepared a study on the feasibility of three possible forms of outdoor theater.

One form of theater proposed was a mobile showboat that would travel the Illinois River.

The other two proposed forms of theater were a stationary showboat, and a land-based theater.

THE STUDY examined climate, local culture, financing, potential attendance and community involvement, and the best possible location.

The study narrowed the choice of locations down to Metropolis and Cairo, both river towns.

The study also concluded that none of the three forms of outdoor theater could survive through its early stages without subsidy. The study recommended state ownership of the theater.

The study’s final recommendation was that the state fund further research on the feasibility, building expenses, and methods for starting a theater.

THE SEARCH for a theater site sprang from the desire of area businesses to increase tourism, and thus boost Southern Illinois’ economy.

George Mavigliano, associate dean of the College of Communications and Fine Arts, said, “The college would benefit from an outdoor theater because its theater department, reputed for its talent and knowledge, would have an outlet for its energies,” he said.

Helping to establish and maintain an outdoor theater will bring more recognition to the University for helping the common,” he said.

A STUDY finished in October by the CCFA, which focused on a land-based theater, made similar recommendations as the 1973 study. However, the October study went one step further by calling for a script that would help determine the theater site.

As project investigator Lynn Stevenson writes: “All of the experts in the field of outdoor historical drama contacted have indicated that the script or what you are going to do, must come before the where—because historical drama is best done on or close to the site on which the story happened.”

According to the study, Southern Illinois has a “rich historical and cultural heritage” for a historical drama.

HOWEVER, the study points out that low population, high unemployment and insufficient industry are aspects of Southern Illinois that make for problems in starting a successful outdoor drama.

The new study also emphasizes more research in audience potential, best done by interviewing travelers on interstate.

After the newest study was completed, Stevenson said that the state would have to help fund further research and any building costs if construction of an outdoor theater begins.

credit for suggesting we go to the game.

Cindy Fumgarner, a 6-2 senior, sank the game-winning basket as time expired.

She accounted for three-fifths of the Hoosiers' offense, with a stirring 30-point effort. She was 10-for-12 from the floor and made all 10 of her free throws.

Indiana outrebounded SIU-C 35-27, the Salukis had 16 offensive rebounds.

Berghuis and Cathy Kampfer each had three fouls at halftime, when Indiana led 25-21. The Salukis led briefly in the first half, 19-15, on Anne Touhey's 13-foot shot at 3:30.

The Salukis had only one scorer in double-figures, Dana Flippin with 11. Indiana's Zandrea Jeffries had 10.

The Salukis, averaging 22.3 turnovers per game, had 22 against Indiana's full-court, man-to-man defense. The Salukis were intercepted nine times, committed four traveling violations, threw three passes out of bounds, lost three fumbles and had two offensive fouls.

Scott was despondent: "We are playing poorly, really struggling."

Garmendia wins 3 races for aquatics

By Todd Mounce
Staff Writer

Sophomore Harri Garmendia, with three individual wins, led the Saluki men’s aquatics team to a 61-52 victory over Auburn in its home opener at the Recreation Center pool Friday night.

In other action the same night, the Saluki women were defeated by Auburn 86-27 and by 13th-ranked Tennessee 82-28 in their home opener. Auburn also won a closely contested meet with Tennessee 57-56.

“On a strictly time basis,” coach Doug Ingram said, “were having some real good swimmers.”

Garmendia’s three wins came in the 200-meter individual medley with a time of 1:52.27, the 200-meter breaststroke in 2:05.33 and the 200-meter butterfly in 1:48.43.

Scott Roberts and Eric Bradac were double winners. Roberts won the 100-meter freestyle in 1:38.25 and the 100-meter backstroke in 1:49.85. Bradac won the 50-meter freestyle in 22.14 and the 50-meter butterfly in 47.87.

Team co-captain Kevin Nagy won the 100-meter freestyle in 45.37.

The Saluki men’s relay team of Roberts, Nagy, Sean Morrissay and Jeff Good set a pool record by winning the 400-meter freestyle relay in 2:59.28.

“Whoever won that event won the meet,” Ingram said. The Saluki swimmer Harri Garmendia won the breaststroke and two other events during Friday’s dual meet at the Recreation Center.

College Student Income

A good part-time job that doesn’t interfere with class schedules, student activities and study time is pretty tough to find in most college towns. That’s why the nearby Army Reserve makes so much sense to students.

After completing Basic Training and Advanced Individual Training, you serve one weekend a month (usually two 8-hour days, so Saturday and Sunday evenings are yours). And you earn over $75 a weekend to start. You go to two weeks of annual training at full Army pay.
