SIU Gains NCAA Semifinal Position

Grosse Seeks New Lounge In Center

Establishment of a new student lounge in the University Center by spring term has been asked by Bard Grosse, Liberal Arts and Sciences senator.

He said Thursday that he has conferred with Clarence "Doc" Dougherty, director of the University Center, on the matter.

Some administrators have expressed favorable opinion on the proposal, Grosse said, and final approval is pending. Grosse said he hopes University funds will be made available for the project.

The lounge would be located on the second floor of the Center at the south end of the building. The Sectioning Center and General Studies Advisement are located on that floor.

The lounge would be accessible through the door across from the General Studies Advisement reception desk.

Action Party Sets Free Coffee Event

Free coffee and conversation will be offered to students, faculty and administratoors during the week by the Action Party.

The purpose of the "take a break lounge" is to give everyone a chance to relax during finals, according to Robert W. Wenc, chairman of the Action Party.

The sessions will be held in the Home Economics Lounge from 6 to 11 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, and from 8 to 11 p.m. Wednesday.

Coffee and other refreshments will be donated by the retail food stores in Carbondale. Wenc said no speeches are planned, and no private donations will be requested.

Russian to Address Convocations

Constantin Boldyreff, a member of the anti-Communist underground in Russia who served time in a Russian concentration camp, will speak at the Freshman Convocations today.

He will discuss "The Emerging Russia" at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium.

Boldyreff is now director of Radio Free Russia, associate director of the Social-Political Research Institute on the USSR and a former lecturer at Georgetown University.

The speaker will be introduced at the 10 a.m. program by George S. Counts, professor of educational administration and supervision and an authority on Soviet education, Ikuo Chou, professor of government who specializes in courses concerning Communist states of Eastern Europe, will make the introduction at the 1 p.m. program.

A reception will be held for Boldyreff from 11 a.m. until noon in the River Rooms of the University Center.

The Russian people, Boldyreff says, are ready for revolution and the Russian underground system of NTG (Nalcabo-Trodivoyu; Soul) is ready for it. They are also ready for the leadership, Boldyreff intimated.

Boldyreff, born and reared in the USSR, is now in this country to present "to the American people the actual temper of the Russian people today."

The reasons they give are interesting and revealing. Particularly when the answers are given in the cold stark light of sobriety.

"It's camp," said one 19-year-old who has been drinking since long before the word "camp" came into vogue, He admits drinking heavily since high school.

Another drinker since pre-college days says, "Why do people race or make love? For the fun of it."

A 22-year-old said that the challenge is the cause. If the age limit were lowered then the challenge would be removed.

The one who drank for fun later said, "A lot of things build up that you can't just sit down and forget about."

"Problems disappear when you hit the bed and pass out," he explained.

The older drinker said, "You learn a lot about yourself when you drink."

He went on to say that this is one of the reasons he tries to get girls drunk, to find out what the girl is really like. This elicited several other remarks concerning girls and drinking.

"Everybody has tried to get a girl drunk."

"Girls that are teasers deserve to get drunk."

"Some warm up others cool off."

All three agreed that most of their drinking was done with girls.

They also agreed that the SIU-North Dakota game for the national championship Friday.

George McNeil and Boyd O'Neil shared game scoring honors with 19 points each. Clarence Smith added 16, while the other two starters, Dave Lee and Ralph Johnson, had 10 and seven points respectively.

Lomie Hughedy led the opponents with 18 points. He was followed by other teammates in double figures. Randy Thompson had 16, Bob Jensen with 14 and Jim Waldron with 12.

Johnson's performance was especially encouraging since he will be starting in the tournament in place of the usual starter Randy Goin, who is out with a broken right wrist.

The Salukis shot well in the game, as they dumped in 40 of 74 attempts for a field goal percentage of .541. Fresno State shot 40 percent.

The Salukis, first in the final UPI small college poll, had little trouble in picking up their record point total against the outclassed Bulldogs. The previous high of 90 points was set six years ago by Evansville.

In upper bracket games Wednesday, Akron of Ohio upset Long Island University 74-68 and Kentucky Wesleyan nipped Central Connecticut 84-76. Those two winners will meet today at 7 p.m. for the right to play the winner of the SIU-North Dakota game for the national championship.

EVANSVILLE — Southern racked up the highest score of the NCAA College-Division finals Saturday, thundering past Fresno State 93-70 Wednesday night in Evansville.

The victory moved the Salukis into the semi-finals tonight against North Dakota, who knocked off Averett College 93-62 earlier in the day. The game begins at 8 p.m.

Workers Deserve Safety First
In Bucket Brigade Fund Drive

All you need to play a game of Bucket Brigade Fund Drive is the intersection of Illinois Avenue and Main Street is proof of an undying conviction that there is a need for charitable organizations.

The goals of these bucket brigades are quite understandable, but with Carbondale's notoriety for traffic problems, the objective must be weighed against the risk for any individual who is making money from a moving vehicle in the busiest intersection in the city.

To combat the hazards of collecting, enthusiasts can use such methods, participating in the bucket brigades when wearing bright pink vests and carrying large posters or brightly colored shoulderkids. The effort is admirable, but not really effective.

Viet Nam Letter Is Tragic

To the editor:

Veterinary professors on the Carbondale Campus are collecting faculty signatures to convince President and Congress that they will institute a "President's Campaign" on the Viet Nam situation. The task of organizing this sort of illusory illustration of how well-meaning people in the United States is beyond question, can be fooled into accessory of the world-defeating Imperialist Dictatorship of the United States.

To the editor:

In the Chicago Daily News
At Home Breakfast

It's probably outside the bounds of "great care" planning, but a fellow we know thinks President Johnson might help the economy greatly with a variation of his recent "hot breakfast" proposal. A nationwide breakfast at schools for needy children is a "who start the day right.

This thinker suggests a program patterned on the "second breakfast." He says, "You say that Americans are not willing to foot the bill for safety and that they would not use the equipment anyway, but how much does it cost to design and produce a surface for better anchored seats, safety door latches and hinges, and safe tires and rims?"

And if you think that the American public is unwilling to pay for safety, you should take a look at the pennypinchers in the industry. Last year, General Motors earned $91,700,000, and spent only $1 million on collision safety. That's not anywhere near one per cent of its profits. A newly designed rear end on a car costs the maker at least $25 million—more than the total auto industry spends on collisions each year. So, let's start today.

Protection of the passengers during a crash is not the only omission of the car makers, I have known people who have bought new cars and found them unbendably (and unsafely) unmanageable. How would you like a twin-clip differential that slips the wrong way or a steering wheel that is impossible to turn so something goes wrong with the power assist?

Bury World Trip

Since he gave up smoking, Benjamin High has been saving the quarters that would have gone into smokes. By last week, when he pushed a wheelbarrow full of quarters to his bank in Lancaster, PA, he had $2,532.50. He took his wife on a two-month, round-the-world vacation.

Health authorities haven't had much luck in persuading smokers to quit, despite impressive evidence of the health hazards. Maybe they are on the wrong track. With Benjamin High's example to guide them, they might do better to relax restrictions on all packs to read: "Caution: Cigarette smoking may be detrimental to your pocketbook."
Economy, Education Begin to Prosper

By Charles C. Clayton

TAIPEI, Taiwan - Free China has a new spirit. It is unmistakable, and it is the first and most lasting impression I received during the recent two weeks I spent in Taiwan after a four-year absence.

An article in the February issue of the Chinese edition of the Reader's Digest described what has happened as a "miracle". It is not a mira¬cle, but a believable and impressive phenomenon.

On the road into the city from Taipei's new international airport my first impression was of the many new buildings: modern hotels, new offices and schools. The main streets are wider and better paved. Taipei now has a four-story department store. There was not a single department store in the city when I left four years ago.

Out in the suburbs of Wai¬shuangti in the new Palace Museum, a four-story structure with about 90,000 square feet, sculptured and decorated in palace style, which houses the world's greater collection of Chinese art. Built at the foot of a wooded hill overlooking the city, it is the latest in the attractions that are luring more tourists to Taiwan, the Portuguese called "The Isle Beautiful." The visitor cannot escape the conviction that Taiwan's economy is booming. At moment it is probably the healthiest economy in Asia. The people have money to spend, and they are spending it. The evidence that good times are here to stay, is that nearly all the 10,000 concession sets have been sold in Taiwan in the last two years, and the fact that there is only one commercial television station which operates no more than four hours a day. The total number of sets, by contrast, is only 40,000.

The new prosperity is in evidence not only in the cities, like Taipei, Kaohsiung and Taichung, but in the countryside. Today farmers are more prosperous than they have ever been and their per capita income is the highest in the island.

Taiwan's foreign trade is growing rapidly, and is expected to reach $1 billion (U.S.) mark this year. Overseas Chinese and international investors are starting new factories in Taiwan and providing capital for the expansion of existing industries. Taiwan's industry grew at the rate of 20.3 per cent in 1964 and, while the final figures for 1965 are not available, the growth rate undoubtedly was maintained.

Towards the end of last year, Illinois' 60-man trade mission visited Taiwan for 10 days of inspections and interviews. At the end of the tour one member of the mission declared that Taiwan may soon replace Japan as the Far East's major area of heavy foreign investment. There are 1,200 factories in Taiwan. Why should Taiwan have much to offer investors. Its assets include an ample pool of skilled industrial labor, low operating costs and an intelligent government that is promoting economic development program. The government is now building an export processing zone at the port city of Kaohsiung, to be a free port for goods for processing and re-export.

One of the booming export industries is food processing. Today Taiwan exports nearly $120 million worth of canned mushrooms. Canned pineapple competes with Hawaiian pine¬apple in the United States. Canned bamboo sprouts and asparagus are other export items, as well as sugar, bananas and other fresh fruits.

The new spirit of Free China is also to be found in its educational institutions. In the four years I was away two new universities were established: Fujen University, a Catholic institution, and the Chinese Cultural College, Taiwan now has six national, 13 provincial and 17 private colleges and universities, with a total of 7,200 faculty members and nearly 55,000 students. There are extensive building programs going on at nearly all of these institutions. Some of the credit for Taiwan's achievement must be given to the U.S. AID program, which was phased out in June, 1965. But as American officials have attested, nowhere has American aid been put to such effective use.

Why does Free Chinese Showing New Spirit

By Robert Smith

(First of a Series)

One thing most everyone seems to agree on is that a university should have a "free press." But recent interviews with several persons who are highly interested in this freedom at SIU indicate varied opinions as to how just and to what extent this freedom should be given.

David G. Born, editor of KA until his recent resignation, would like to see a student newspaper written, edited and controlled by students. He feels, this could be done either by running a completely independent newspaper or by giving more control of the paper to the students.

Completely different ideas are held by Howard B. Long, chairman of the Department of Journalism, who said that it is necessary to have a degree of faculty supervision in order to maintain high quality and responsibility.

Only if the newspaper shows this quality and responsibility can it expect to gain the confidence of the faculty and administration and thus be able to obtain important information. And if it can obtain this information it can be said to be free, said Long.

A third person whose ideas are somewhere between those of the above is the student E. Claude Coleman, chairman of a committee studying student rights and responsibilities.

Coleman believes students should have control of a free student press, but not at this time.

Before he would support student control of a newspaper, students would have to be "qualified and prepared." This would not only include intellectual and professional ability but also maturity, he said.

"At this time I am a little concerned that KA is not always in good taste, and there have been some editorial and letter to the Daily Egyptian which were a little extreme," Coleman said.

Things have improved greatly during the past few years and should continue to improve in the future, he said. He believes that within the next year or so the students might gain the "maturity" to undertake operation of a student newspaper.

He bases his opinion on the fact that SIU students are becoming more mature in their attitudes toward the administration.

"There is a much friendlier attitude of students toward the administrators," he said. "The students are beginning to realize that a good deal of good administration is being able to get along with people.

Coleman believes there would be room for both the Daily Egyptian and a student newspaper on campus. He said it would be better if the student newspaper were operated completely apart from the Daily Egyptian.

"The Daily Egyptian," he said, "might continue as it is but be supported entirely by the administration. The student newspaper would be supported by funds apart from the University and would "visually present the student point of view and creative exercises of the students." It would likely start out as a weekly publication, he said.

While the paper would be a student production, Coleman believes that one way to assure the quality of a student newspaper would be to have a professional journalist to oversee it. That way all the students who want to "try" would have the paper checked.

"A mature person should know he needs expert advice, a teaching experience enough to be a complete check to prevent "inexperienced" or "improper," Coleman said.

"This student newspaper should not just hand out some stories not complimentary to the administration or the students," he said. "The newspaper would have to serve a useful purpose.

Coleman added, "they should know how to do this effectively and in good taste if they are mature."

Tickets Are Transferrable For Seminar

Tickets for the National Security Seminar, scheduled for March 21 to April 1 at SIU, will be transferrable, making it possible for people in the Midwest to attend at least part of the sessions, said Alexander R. MacMillan, general chairman.

"As an example, quite a number of those who are not able to get away from their business for the full course of 33 one-hour sessions are making plans to attend as many as possible and send members of their staffs to sit in on the rest," MacMillan said.

Scheduled for two five-day periods, the seminar will be presented by a faculty from the Industrial College of the Armed Forces. Topics to be covered in the briefings, with extensive use of films and other audiovisual aids, will include the American position in Viet Nam, Communist infiltration of the Free World, war preparations, civil defense preparedness, and the space program.

It is designed to provide information on the nation's security posture for citizens of Southern Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Kentucky. They will sit in with about 200 officers of the reserve components of the Armed Forces.

"Some clubs and organizations plan to send members on a rotating basis so that the group will have the entire presentation," he said.

Persons attending at least half of the sessions will receive the Industrial College diploma.

College Drinking Seems Panacea

the consequences of getting a girl drunk were usually obscure at the time.
They admitted that when drinking among other males they drink more slowly and with more enjoyment. Also, each said that he drank alone at times, usually when he was depressed.

The older one said he started drinking because it was a fad. He hated the taste of the stuff for a year, but after that he began to like it.

However, when they were asked if they would just as soon drink "near beer" if it tasted the same as the regular stuff, all replied that they would not.

As one put it, "Why the calories without the kicks?"

What happens when a person drinks?

"Sober people think of everything that can go wrong."

"You get sweeter when you're drunk. You don't say "I love you" when you're sober."

"You say things you regret the next morning when you drink."

"You get along better when you drink."

One of the three who drinks has many parties. He said, "Booze takes care of a party. People get along better."

The 19-year-old's answer to the "why" offered something of an expression of his opinion of life.

"You've got to be crazy to get by, to be noticed, to be liked, to be cool. Drinking provides both the opportunity and excuse."
Johnson's Decision
On Tax Increase
Unlike Till May

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sometime in May is now considered the earliest possible date for President Johnson to make decision on whether to seek a further anti-inflationary tax increase.

The President and his Council of Economic Advisers are increasingly pressed to move more rapidly by economists who fear that his quickie $4.8-trillion Viet Nam emergency tax bill is too little and too late.

The House-passed bill has moved with rare speed to the verge of Senate approval. Johnson has asked that it be on his desk for signing by Tuesday, March 15.

It has a series of effective dates between then and May 1, so its effect if any in restraining inflationary pressures won't be measurable until May or June.

Administration sources said they see no evidence that the White House plans to move to any earlier than that, barring some dramatic rupture of the wage-price line of sharp re-calation of the war.

Ky Predicts
1968 Victory

SAIGON (AP)—Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky told a newspaper that the Viet Nam war will be won against the Viet Cong by 1969 if American aid continues at its present scale.

Rabbi Schulem Rubin was received at Ky at an hour-long interview. "Premier Ky said the war will be over in three years, in late 1969 if U.S. aid continues in both military and economic fields," the rabbi told The Associated Press.

Rabbi Rubin said he had spent two weeks in Viet Nam
"trying to discover the truth."

Johnson so hinted Wednesday. Confronted with new evidence that the boom is exceeding official expectations—a drop in the unemployment rate to 3.7 per cent, lowest in 13 years—he said "our celebration must be tempered with cution too fast for stability.

The President added, how-ev: "Yet to conclude that we must proceed cautiously does not mean that we should slam on the brakes or throw the economy into reverse."

Official sources amplified:
"There is considerable concern lest overhasty or over-emphatic measures send the five-year-old boom over the brink into a recession. The administration feels that even a 3.7 per cent unemployment rate does not represent "full employment", it wants to slow the expansion rather than stop it outright.

Official sources therefore con-tein that a wait-and-see attitude is proper for the next 60 days or so—especially since the stocking stock market is having a sobering effect on the business community.

If the stock price slide continues, some experts believe, it may cause postponement of some planned plant and equipment investment, slow down inventory purchasing, and deven discourage some consumers from making big output in new homes and autos.

Incense Defeated
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate handed the Johnson administration a second defeat
on the tax bill Wednesday, voting 47-41 to knock out a proposed 3 per cent surtax on local residential telephone service.

The action followed up Tuesday's adoption of a Republican social security prop-sal.

Ribicoff Bill Rejected;
Would Allow Tax Cut
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate rejected Wednesday the proposal of Sen. Abraham A.
Ribicoff, D-Conn., to provide a tax saving of up to $325 a year on college education coats.

The roll-call vote was 47-37.

The proposal was offered as an amendment to President Johnson's tax bill designed to pick up $6 billion to help finance the Vietnamese war.
Under it, up to $325 of annual college expenses could be taken as credit and thus subtracted from taxes due.

Its defeat represented a victory for administration forces who lost control of the measure temporarily Tuesday when Republicans put through a Social Security amendment to benefit 1.8 million persons over 70 now not covered.

The Ribicoff amendment would have cost about $1 billion a year.

47-37, a tax bill amendment
by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-

Munitions Car Explodes
In Arkansas
CORNING, Ark. (AP)—At least one car of munitions-packed freight train blew up here Corning early Wednesday with a thunderous shock felt in three states.

A metal and concrete grain elevator, dimpled by shrapnel, battered and shredded in spots, shielded the sleeping town of 2,565 from the full force of the blast.

Authorities reported only one injury, not serious.

Damage estimates exceeded $200,000, with about $150,000 damage to the 10-foot-high grain elevator, Deputy R.W.
Rice said.

The explosion scattered batteringly in two. It was shattered, tearing more expor-tions, let it burn.

The gap was leak between the fire and the grain elevator and could not be repaired because of the danger of exploding. A Federal official said Cornings' Volunteer Fire Department. The gas was shut off elsewhere and the evacuees went home.

A train carrying a load of munitions was derailed and the track was still closed after the explosion.

The 80-car train ran from the Red River Arsenal at Texarkana on the Arkansas-Texas border, pulled onto the siding to clear the main trail for another train, two cars that blew up, military investigators weren't sure of the number, simply disintegrated.

France Will Continue Plans Despite Johnson Warning

PARIS (AP)—Ignoring a warning from President Johnson, France announced Wednesday it will go ahead with plans to pull all troops out of the Atlantic Alliance and to assume control of U.S. bases on French soil by 1969.

President Charles de Gaulle said in a terse statement issued through his Cabinet spokesman that France could see no possibility of useful discussion on effective reform of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Therefore, he said, France was going ahead with its pullout from the 15-member alliance's integrated command structure.

France also will act to "re-establish her full sovereignty—meaning that some 26,000 U.S. troops on French soil will have to submit to French authority by 1969, or leave.

De Gaulle said France is willing to have talks with its allies on the consequences of the action and to make mutual defense pacts.

De Gaulle said that France would not formally renounce the NATO treaty when it becomes possible in April 1969, but wants to retain the spirit of the treaty, without participation in its closely coordinated military structure.

The United States sees its bases and troops in France as part of the NATO framework.

When De Gaulle set out his views in a letter to President Johnson Monday he got a fast answer: De Gaulle's insistence that foreign bases on French soil should come under French command was striking at the heart of NATO and should be discussed within NATO.

Indonesian Students Demand Red Purge

SINGAPORE (AP)—Swarming over barbed wire barricades Wednesday, about 10,000 anti-Communist Indonesian students occupied the Education Building in Jakarta in the second straight day of attacks on government offices, reliable Singapore sources reported.

Later, about 3,000 of the students were stormed into Parliament and presented to members demands that Communists be purged.

Government Revokes Passport Of Self-Styled Peace Guerrilla

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has revoked the passport of Ronald Ramsey, the self-styled peace guerrilla who has been making anti-Viet Nam war tapes for Radio Hanoi under the name of Granny Goose.

The department said the action was taken nearly a month ago because Ramsey had failed to repay loans made by the department to him in 1964 when he lacked money to return to the United States.

The loans reportedly totaled $1,000 and were said to have been made at Nairobi, Kenya, on June 10, 1964, and at Algiers on Feb. 15, 1965. The secretary of state can withhold passports from persons whose overseas travel he deems prejudicial to U.S. interests. The decision can be appealed.

Ramsey started making his "Radio stateside" tapes in Los Angeles several months ago.

A call for aid to the Campus Security Police ended in a $25 fine for Robert A. Nelson, 18, a student from Evergreen Park.

Nelson had been at a party where, he told police, he had consumed alcoholic beverages. About four hours later he took a spill on his motorcycle and injured his ankle.

After he returned to his dorm, the ankle began to swell and Nelson called the Security Police for aid.

He pleaded guilty to charges of underage acceptance of liquor and was fined by Magistrate Robert Schwartz.

Russian Emigre To Speak Today

In Russia, was one of the first to join NTS. His father, Lt. Gen. Vasily G. Boldyreff commanding the Russian Fifth Army during World War I, was arrested, put in a concentration camp and finally shot by the Bolsheviks after the 1917 revolution.

Boldyreff himself was arrested a number of times by the Nazis and put in concentration camps for organizing various underground resistance groups. He continually managed to escape, however.

When the American Army finally occupied Germany, Boldyreff placed his underground organization at the Army's disposal. In 1946, he made arrangements in Paris to have all of his 1,800 men and their dependents resettled in French Morocco.

Upon his return to Paris he was asked to join the Staff of the Inter-governmental Committee on Refugees and was sent as their representative back to Casablanca. While he was in Casablanca, he succeeded in building two enterprises, managing the arrival of many displaced persons in Morocco. Both enterprises are flourishing today.

59-58 in Final Seconds

A pair of free throws by Mike Weber brought the Abbott Rabbits a 59-58 victory over Webster in the intramural basketball championship.

The Rabbits had to overcome a five-point deficit at the half, but they played their best in the final seconds of play.

The Rejectors picked the wrong man to foul as the free throws brought Weber’s point total to 21 for the night. He led all scorers.

The Rabbits outscored their opponents 17-16 in the final minutes.

Ray Smith and Clem Quill-man led the Rejectors with 18 and 16 points respectively.

A desperation shot by the Rejectors at the buzzer was of no avail as it rolled around the rim and fell away.

The Rejectors held the lead throughout the game. They finally lost it when Weber scored with five seconds on the clock. Quillman was in four trouble early for the Rejectors and had to sit out part of the final. He returned.

During this interval the Rabbits controlled the backcourt and played strong defense of the Rejectors for several key baskets.

After holding a 46-30 lead after a torrid first half, the Salukis quickly added to the lead and were ahead by as many as 25 points mid-way through the last half.

Coach Jack Hartman pulled most of his starters out about that time, and the reserve were able to maintain the wide margin and were nearly two and a half minutes old. With the three-man front of O'Neal, Smith and Johnson controlling the defensive boards, the Salukis were able to maintain a lead of from 9 to 16 points throughout the first half. Southern's tenacious defense also helped keep the Calitornian off-balance. The Salukis stole the ball five times before the intermission and turned two of the thefts into baskets. Besides shooting 60 per cent from the field in taking the 46-30 halftime lead, the Salukis also out-rebounded Fresno 17-9.

The victory gives the Salukis a 21-6 record going into tonight's semi-final game with North Dakota, which is 24-3. The Sioux were ranked second in both wire service polls. Fresno State returns to the west coast with a final record of 21-8. The crowd of only 5,805 was the smallest to witness a first round night game in four years. The crowd dwindled into the hundreds as the Salukis began to wrap up their game late in the second half.

Tickets for tonight's game with North Dakota will go on sale at 9 a.m. at the athletic ticket office in the Arena.
