Students Voting for Senators;
12 Interim Positions to Be Filled

Terms to Expire This December

Twenty-four students today are seeking 12 vacancies on the Carbondale Student Council. Polling was to open at 9 a.m. and will close at 5 p.m. They will be located on the lawn near the main gate in front of Old Main, in front of Lenz Hall, at the entrance to Small Group Housing, in the University Center and at SIU-V's student center. The election will be the second since a SIU student government study began. Those elected today will serve with the students elected last June on an interim council until December.

A special committee of student leaders and advisers currently studying student government has until December to come up with an acceptable reorganizational plan. If the members are unable to produce such an organization, the University administration has indicated it will step in to re-evaluate the structure.

Under the interim set-up, students in 13 Job Corps camps in the Carbondale area and students elected to the local council on an all-University basis each make up an all-University student council.

Student leaders have repeatedly urged students to vote in today's election to demonstrate their interest in student directions. The spring's election turnout was one of the poorest in SIU's history.

To vote, students must present their activity cards and fee statements. Separate ballots for each college and living area will be used and students must present fee statements to determine the academic area in which they will vote. The 24 candidates who have filled petitions for the offices are:

- Education senator: Robert D. Jesse and Mary L. Gonda.
- Business administration senator: Richard H. Levy and Bruce K. Reudecker.
- Humanities senator:

Is He on My Pillow? In the Closet? Coeds Panic, Scream, Hunt for Snake

One rainy night two weeks ago, a Neely Hall coed and her boy friend caught a foot-long bull snake in Thompson Woods. It was a long walk to the boy's house and it was cold and wet outside.

The girl offered to keep the snake—just for the night—in her ninth story room at Neely. So there it stayed. But not for long.

By morning, it had escaped from its cardboard container.

Paluch Attacks Morality of Motorcycle Tax

Newsletter Reveals 'Be Kind to Students' Policy

To me, the tax is obviously legal. But, the ordinance is written so ambiguously that it need not be interpreted to establish more explicitly who is liable to pay the tax. Mr. J. Edward Holton, City Council, interprets it to mean all persons who use any motorcycles, even if they are in cars, pay the tax. Thus it is legal locally. But there are aspects of taxation beyond 'legality' which must be considered. The 'morality' of taxation has been overlooked. The motorcycle tax, as it stands, is unfair, unjust, and a tax because we need more traffic control, and it is immoral. I agree that citizens of a community must pay taxes to support social services. But, the students are not residents of Carbondale by virtue of transitory residence, and do not present, nor would they in the future receive compensations for any taxes they would be obliged to pay. A study made last year by the students in Marketing classes estimated that $6,000,000 is passed into Carbondale by SIU and the students, each year. Besides the motor fuel tax rebates from the sales tax, incomes of property taxes, an estimated $50,000 addition to city revenue by city annexation of Thompson Point and Small Group Housing, these all seem to indicate that further taxation is unnecessary, unfair, and unjust.

I have said that this tax is immoral. I believe that this is so because the Council realizes that the students are a captive group—they must live in Carbondale because that is where the University is. They can't move out of Carbondale because of University regulations on housing and fraternities, and because the City Council knows that parents consider this tax just another cost of living. So they said, 'Let's send the kids to school, we'll consider that one of the bases of residence, and take advantage of captive groups to be immoral.'

Back to Mr. Kirk's statement, no increase in motorcycles puts a strain on traffic, but how can $7,500 end congestion on Carbondale's streets, correct a lack of lighteners, or a built by-pass roads around Carbondale (the real necessity), build more parking lots, provide legible street signs and other necessary improvements. Rather than promoting increased taxes, Mr. Kirk should be supporting and initiating programs to end the complaints he has now. He should be working to increase efficiency and tax money by making sure that a dollar's worth of services provides a dollar's worth of services to the taxpayer.

Regional News

Marissa, III. (KA) — In answer to University reports, Plumly Muny, Grand Chamber of Commerce, has recommended that a study of among the average student spends $34.50, $25 or $10 which amounted to $3,000 daily. $3,000 a day seems a little low to us, and if you, too, think so, use your own simple arithmetic to arrive at the total spendily.

The editorial on the equitability of the motorcycle tax by Roland Gill in last Friday's Daily Egyptian strikes me as a typical example of someone being impressed by a position without considering other important aspects.

To recap, Mr. Gill, he states that Mr. Frank A. Kirk, representing the President's Office, and a member of the City Council, called the tax equitable for several reasons, and that "since it was a tax on a vehicle with a legal value, it would pay the tax. This is legal locally. But there are aspects of taxation beyond 'legality' which must be considered. The 'morality' of taxation has been overlooked. The motorcycle tax, as it stands, is unfair, unjust, and a tax because we need more traffic control, and it is immoral. I agree that citizens of a community must pay taxes to support social services. Regarding the wear on the streets, I simply ask this: How many bonds does it take to equal the weight of one car? or one semi-trailer like the kind that roll down Illinois Avenue?

Carbondale Chamber of Commerce

News Leader Reveals "Be Kind to Students" Policy

by David Omar Sum and the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce

Students frequently complain of impolite treatment by merchants, of rude conversations with clerks, and of a general feeling of animosity. Well, cheer up, Gang, things are looking better. Following is a quote from the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce's NEWSLETTER. From the sound of it, people in Carbondale are starting to pay more attention to us.

"CHRISTMAS BEGINS IN CARBONDALE" for merchants, other businesses, professionals and landlords. "SIU cannot yet give us a firm figure on Fall enrollment at Carbondale campus, but does say enrollment will be 100 or so either side of 17,000. Rough calculation shows that if each student-job of expressing its feelings.

Dear Mom,

I hope you enjoyed the tour of the education building. Well, a funny thing happened to me on the way down the stairs from the education building, Lawson Park. Besides, the weight of the blueprints for the building hadn't been drawed up yet.

Your loving son,

A Letter to Mamma

But, our administration learns from its mistakes. This is in Paragraph 2. It never a general education building, Lawson Hall, was against a new policy if "it isn't square make it run in circles."

Of course, you know the scoops on University Park. The university legend: Those men hired to regularly paint the campus, got a little sauced up one night and skipped over there with paint buckets and brushes in hand. The next morning they regretted it, but everything worked out OK because in turned out, the blueprints for the building hadn't been drawed up yet.

Then the big news, a couple of weeks ago there was BAM, the Rational Action Movement. Of course you remember the Wham Education Building. Well, a funny thing happened to me on the way down the stairs from Wham 301—I made it.

"YOU GOTTA ADMIT, SINCE THE MERCHANTS FOUND OUT THE STUDENTS ARE SPENDING $51,000 A DAY, THEIR ATTITUDE TOWARD US SURE HAS CHANGED!!!"
An honest judgment of M. Stanton Evans' new book, "The Liberal Establishment," must take into account its many weaknesses. Evans is a political journalist for the National Review. Reluctantly, one must admit this book is no conservative "whitewash." Because much of the expose of the Liberal Establishment indicates the attitudes and cliches used by extremist conservative groups.

The weakness of the book does not lie in the author's thesis, which is cogently stated in the summary. The book becomes bogged down with the weight of statistics which are useful but not impressive. It seems that Mr. Evans' journalistic talents are hidden behind an effort to overwhelm the reader with the sheer magnitude of documentation, even on minor points.

Several points bothered me, however, such as the foggy definition of a Liberal in the first chapter which disquieted me, and also the fact that he was at the Conservative Establishment. He also ignores Oswald's pathological, while dwelling on his Marxist, orientation. Conservative excesses in the area of inflationary policies are also treated lightly.

"I have a par­tial party at the Accidental KMW."

Dear Editor,

All students will soon be voting in the primary election for an active part in the student government. Perhaps you are even thinking of running for a more as a responsibility than out of interest in a specific student council election that will be held on October 13, it is the students' responsibility to elect representatives in the true sense of the word—scien­tiously chosen, well-qualified representatives of the student body.

As a candidate for General Studies Senator, I was particularly keen interest in this election.

I recently attended the "Action Party" nominating convention. In the course of the evening, in the day pre­ceding and in the day after, I was constantly told that "with­out the Action Party backing you have no chance of being elected," and "You're crazy for running without the party. You'll never get a vote!" I don't believe this, but Wed­nesday next the 13th (today) will tell.

They also reminded me that 1,000,000 people voted in the last election had party backing. This may be true, but the fact that last year the party was virtually nonexistent.

I ask this question, "Is a straight party ticket vote a true representation of the student's wishes when there is no support?"

Or, is it just an easy way out? A democracy requires that the student play an active part for it to succeed. You, as students, have no candidate, each candidate, and their qualifications, then choose the one you feel will best represent you.

In the hope of stimulating a full-fledged examination of the current United States foreign policy," Ka is presenting passing a series of ques­tions proposed to his fellow Americans by Marvin C. Kalb, foreign editor of the New York Times.

This week's thoughts are: Is war or major dangers in this world? We do want to protect our families, our children, and grandchildren, from this dan­ger.

We peace the best protection from the hurts of war? Is peace merely absence of mass killing, or is it some­thing more.

Isn't peace at least an armistice plus courts, plus police, plus mediation, plus decisions of disputes and conflicts, etc.,

The Action Party repre­sent the only organized poli­tical group on campus. We are the possible exception of Creek River. The fact of organiza­tion suggests that its members are united in an effort to get votes. They will hope­fully the statements put forward in their platform. The role that the members of the Action Party, either singly or collectively, played in Ram and the activities of student government since cannot be disregarded.

The platform and candidates supported by the Action Party deserve the voters responsi­ble consideration.

Indonesian Red Party Chief Flees Country in Submarine

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—The Indonesian Communist party's chief, D.N. Aidit, has escaped a military dragnet and fled by submarine to Red China, a Hong Kong paper said Tuesday.

The report of Aidit's flight came out as Radio Jakarta announced capture of the front man of the abortive "Sept. Movement,"

Lt. Col. Untung. Untung was a battalion commander in President Sukarno's palace guard.

Aidit, 43, the leader of a party claiming three million members, was close to Sukarno.

He vanished from Jakarta when the army crushed Untung's leftist coup attempt.

The anti-Communist Hong Kong paper Tin Yat Po quoted reliable sources as saying Aidit escaped via the fishing port of Tuban, on the north Java coast.

A Chinese submarine picked him up for the voyage to the China mainland, Tin Yat Po said. The Indonesian party, once pro-Moscow, has swung gradually into Peking's orbit in the last four or five years.

The paper said "Chinese submarines have, in the past, secretly unloaded munitions for the Indonesian Communists" at Tuban.

One phase of its story, however, was at odds with Radio Jakarta's announcement of Untung's capture. The radio report said Untung got away on the sub with Aidit.

The army-controlled Jakarta station said troops hunting rebel remnants and their Communist supporters seized the military ring leader at Brebes, in the Togak sector 180 miles east of Jakarta.

Brig. Gen. Ibnu Subroto, the army's information chief, was quoted as saying Untung apparently was trying to slip out of an army cordon when he was caught.

The station said another rebel leader, Col. Latii, was captured in Jakarta. It said the colonel, who commanded the 5th Infantry Battalion, was seized after being shot in both legs.

Johnson Following Orders

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, following doctors' orders "to a T," ventured outside his hospital room Tuesday for the first time since his operation and strolled unaided down the corridor.

Johnson was troubled by gas pains, but the hospital White House said that was normal and expected in a patient who had his gall bladder and a kidney stone removed five days ago.

The President, who had been fed intravenously until Monday, are solid food for breakfast. He had a bowl of bread toast and a cup of tea.

"He is following the doctors' instruction to a T," said White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers. "He's doing what they want him to when they want him to."

Moyers said that rating came from Dr. George A. Hallenbeck and Dr. James C. Cain. "They said he was a very good patient," Moyers repeated.

Refugees Reported Enroute to Miami

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Five boats loaded with refugees who departed Cuba after removal of a Taft-Hartley ban on Cuba were nearing Miami from Havana, a U.S. official said yesterday.

Refugees arriving at the embarkation point for the boats were reported by the U.S. Ambassador to Cuba to be persons who said they were living in a state of fear and could not get action on the bill to revoke the power that Congress will be able to do under the Taft-Hartley Act.

The Coast-Guard reported that the boats were小型 boats which left Cuba as the only way to get out of the country. The bill to revoke the power that Congress will be able to do is needed.

The bill, passed by the House and urged by President Johnson, would repeal Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act. That section permits the states to outlaw union shop contracts under which workers are required to join a union.

Dirksen, heading the opposition to repeal, said he will keep his supporters geared to oppose the measure in the new session starting in January.

Dirksen's hope for final adjournment in less than two weeks admittedly had some holes in it.

Dirksen's hope for final adjournment in less than two weeks admittedly had some holes in it.

The bill, passed by the House and urged by President Johnson, would repeal Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act. That section permits the states to outlaw union shop contracts under which workers are required to join a union.

Dirksen, heading the opposition to repeal, said he will keep his supporters geared to oppose the measure in the new session starting in January.

Hurricane Watch Is on for Tulsa; Passer Hits 39 of 65, Sets Mark

By Joe Cook

Watch out, Saluki defense. Southern's game with the University of Tulsa will still be two weeks away, but the Hurricane offense now appears to be ready for the high gear.

Tulsa's pass-minded quarterback, Bill Anderson, set an NCAA completion record in Saturday's 32-28 victory over Memphis State University. Anderson hit on 39 passes in 65 attempts. All-America center Howard Hines was responsible for 16 catches.

Saluki football Coach Don Shroyer is planning a couple more lineup changes in an effort to get Southern back on the positive side. The only offensive change finds Mesty Riffer starting at fullback again in place of Bill Williams.

The quarterback position won't be decided until later in the week. The change to Lew Hines, who is expected to miss the Drake game, has forced two defensive changes. Middle guard Al Jenkins will take Hines' place at right tackle and Chuck Koressel will move into Jenkins' place.

Ever wonder why Southern plays virtually all its home games at night? The main reason, according to an athletic department spokesman, is to attract more businesses who would normally not be able to attend the afternoon games.

Night ball has its disadvantages, however. Late in the season the weather can play havoc with attendance. For instance, only 1,500 people showed up in 10 degree weather for last year's Evansville game.

This year, the last game of the season, Nov. 20 against Southwest Missouri State, will be played in the afternoon.

Southern's baseball team, which for several years has relied primarily on a two-man pitching staff, will be in need of more starters next season.

Southern will be playing four or five games in one weekend. Some games this year will be played on Sunday afternoon and Coach Joe Lutz hopes in another year Southern will be playing night baseball.

DON SHROYER

SIU Treads Same 1-3 Lane

Of 1964 Pre-Drake Record

Southern's football team is currently in the unenviable position of being on a par with last year's outfit.

Like last year the Salukis will go into the Drake game with a 1-3 record. Southern beat Drake last season 28-19, but Coach Don Shroyer will be hoping that a victory over this year's team doesn't have the same effect the Salukis lost five in a row after beating Drake and finished 2-8.

Had the Salukis been able to stop two field goals in the last pair of games, they might have gone into Southern's game with two wins, one loss and a tie. Southern might have beaten Youngstown 7-6 had it not been for a three-pointer in the last second of the first half. Likewise, Saturday night against Lincoln, if the Salukis had been able to prevent a field goal in the final 33 seconds, the game might have ended in a 0-0 tie.

The 1964 Salukis made no bones about it, however. When they lost, they lost. Aside from the 16-9 loss to Ft. Campbell, the other two set-backs before the Drake game were by large margins.

Bowing Green knocked off Southern in the first game 45-12. The Salukis don't play the Falcons any more. They beat Southern six years in a row.

Tulsa did the trick even better last year when they mauled the Salukis 63-7. All-America quarterback Jerry Simms led the Hurricanes to victory in that game by completing 21 passes for 360 yards and five touchdowns.

Simms is gone this year, but Tulsa is back as good as ever. The Salukis play Tulsa again: Homecoming and will face quarterback Bill Anderson, who is breaking some of the records Simms set last year.

Although things haven't been good this year for the Salukis,应该 have gone into the game with two wins, one loss and a tie. Southern might have beaten Youngstown 7-6 had it not been for a three-pointer in the last second of the first half. Likewise, Saturday night against Lincoln, if the Salukis had been able to prevent a field goal in the final 33 seconds, the game might have ended in a 0-0 tie.
