9-29-1972

The Daily Egyptian, September 29, 1972

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_September1972
Volume 54, Issue 9

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1972 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in September 1972 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
Student Senate sets increases in budget

By Bob Grupp
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A revised budget, which includes increases in the amount of activity fees allocated to 24 organizations, was approved at Wednesday's Student Senate meeting.

The senate made 28 revisions to the budget. Out of the 24 organizations which received increases, 16 groups had not previously been allocated activity funds for this fiscal year.

The largest recommended increase was $3,500 to the Agricultural Student Council. The senate recommended increases ranging from $2,500 to $100 to another 23 campus organizations.

The Student Senate spent two months preparing the budget revisions, said Bill Clarke, executive assistant to Student Body President Jon Taylor. The commission solicited information concerning fee allocations from a large portion of the campus community, Clarke said.

Dean of Students George Mace received a copy of the revised Student Government budget. Clarke said Mace will use the senate recommendations along with the results from his fee allocation survey in formulating a final fee allocation budget, Clarke said.

The results from 2,796 student activity fee allocation surveys have been computed, according to Jack Baier, coordinator of student activities. Both Mace's office and Student Government have received copies of the tabulated results, Baier said.

The survey results coincide with many of the budget recommendations Student Government made, Clarke said. Comparing senate recommendations to the survey results, Clarke said.

New guidelines for licenses set by city Liquor Advisory Board

By Monroe Walker
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A new procedure for the issuance of liquor licenses was agreed upon by the Carbondale Liquor Advisory Board on Wednesday night.

The board also agreed to survey the occupany limits of all Class A liquor establishments in the city to determine if more licenses may be issued. The occupancy limits of the establishments will be compared with the number of persons 21 or over who reside in the city and are potential customers of the establishments.

Mayor Neal Eckert, liquor commissioner, said more licenses will be issued if the number of persons 21 or older exceeds the occupancy limits of present Class A liquor establishments.

"We have three licenses that are not being used, and another that is only being used at about a 25 per cent level," he said.

He said the city has not increased the number of Class A licenses since he has been mayor. He said the job of surveying would not be easy.

"Identifying the population 21 and over will be a tough job, because we get a large influx of people from other towns but I think we can get a good idea of our population within the city limits," Eckert said.

He said the city ordinance allows for 16 Class A 'licenses and pointed out that, "Class A licenses shall authorize the retail sale of alcoholic beverages both in the original package and in individual drinks for consumption either on or off the premises."

The board also agreed that future license applicants will be required to provide statements demonstrating financial responsibility as well as provide completed plans for construction.

Coordinator named

Ideas proposed for U-City use

By Monroe Walker
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The University City Housing Complex has been so frequent that the city's industrial development division, was appointed Wednesday to coordinate and channel all of the requests and inquiries into one agency.

"It hasn't been determined what will be done with these, but we take and log inquiries and maybe screen them and possibly they will be discussed later and a line of action decided," Baewer said.

He said he had proposals requesting that the facility be converted into everything from a mental health facility to a municipal swimming pool and recreational area.

"We have had some proposals, but many of the requests are for office space. They want to know what we plan to do with the property and some recommend that we grant them office space," he said.

He pointed out that the city only had the deed to the cafeteria and the other deeds would probably be coming soon.

"If some guy came by and wanted to buy the place the city couldn't sell it because we don't have the deeds yet," Baewer said.

Fry said there are some possible uses of the property at this time and that Baewer will evaluate requests and inquiries in light of them.

"The property can be sold to provide money for a new municipal facility downtown," Fry said. "They (the buildings at U-city) can be used in some way to create jobs for the city's residents and they can be returned to the tax rolls as soon as possible."

The University City Housing complex, located at 602 E. College, was given to the City of Carbondale Monday night contingent upon the city paying the real estate taxes due on the property and to free the owners from any tax liabilities. Taxes are $60,000 for 1971 and $55,000 pro-rated to September. It was also stipulated that the property be used "exclusively for public purposes."
Retreat identifies solved difficulties

By Gene Charleton
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Dean of Students George Mace said Thursday the most important outcome of the recent administrative retreat at Pere Marquette State Park was the identification of difficulties which have been removed by reorganization of Student Affairs Division.

"There is an awareness that we must have close, continuing communication between the four area heads," Mace said. He said his office will depend primarily on student input, which he called "the shoe pinches argument." Students are best equipped to know what they need, he said.

Methods were also sought to decentralize decision-making authority to operational persons in each area. He said he blamed past delays in student services on a lack of authority to make decisions affecting student problems or request.

Mace also said further reductions in student services could result in a lessening in the quality and quantity of services performed. Training in funding would probably result in reallocation of resources from within student services, he said.

"We must be indispensable," he said. "If not, either the function must change or disappear." Other primary impact areas discussed at the retreat included discussions of the effects of the Omnibus Higher Education Act; Illinois Board of Higher Education Master Plan, Phase III; the Management Task Force; and redirection of Student Affairs in light of attempts to buttress academic affairs in the search for academic excellence.

"It is tragic that the Department of Justice would accept the perjured statements of a convicted felon, Irving Meyers," said Barrett, who has been hospitalized with an unknown illness for the past week.

Meyers was the president of the now-defunct Shoup Corp. He and two other men pleaded guilty to a $684,000 mail fraud conspiracy involving voting machines bought in Tampa, Fla., for $30 each and sold for $1,500 each.

"Barrett charged that Meyers is attempting to purchase his release from prison by lying to the government about me," the governor said.

Student Senate approves increased activity budget

(Continued from page 1)

said some differences were: Anthropology Society $400-$856, "Mirror" $6,000-$6,063, Daily Egyptian $300-$300, $28,527 and Greek Council $2,000-$2,277.

Not all of the senate's recommendations coincided with the survey results Clarke said. The senate recommended allocating $10,000 to the Graduate Student Council while students recommended $4,172 in the survey. Clarke said the survey results indicate four graduate and over 500 undergraduate students favored allocating funds for the council.

Referring to the survey results, Mace said, "We know it's a valid sample. The survey results provide evidence on issues related to student opinion on activities fee allocations, Mace added.

The final budget will be presented to the Board of Trustees at its October 20 meeting for approval, Clarke said.

Student Government membership in the National Student Association and the Association of Illinois Student Governments was also approved.

New guidelines for licenses set by Liquor Advisory Board

(Continued from page 1)

tion of any new establishments that might be built.

In other action, the board approved a request for a "Class A" license from James Winfree, owner of Winfree Enterprises.

Winfree said he plans to build a combination bar, beer and wine garden and restaurant at 118 S. Illinois Ave. "We would like to cater to younger people between the ages of 25 and 35," he said. "Presently, these people are out of town for comparable atmosphere and entertainment."

He said he was prepared to invest $35,000 in the project. "Out of this $35,000 about $30,000 will be used for the interior and about $5,000 will be used on the exterior and the building will be completed about two months after the place opens for business," Winfree said.

The board indicated that it was reluctant to issue a license to the owners of a building that was not completely finished, and agreed by a vote of 6-1 to issue the license contingent upon completion of the building.

Mayor Eckert suggested that board members frequent some of the bars so that they would be in a better position to evaluate future situations concerning the issuance of liquor licenses.

The board will conduct a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 11 in an attempt to determine whether the managers of Merlin's, Bonaparte's Retreat and Buffalo Bob's were negligent in serving minors. Managers of the three Carbondale nightspots were arrested over the weekend on charges of serving alcoholic beverages to minors.

Cook County clerk indicted for bribe

CHICAGO (AP) — Cook County Clerk Edward J. Barrett was indicted by a federal grand jury Thursday on charges of taking $180,000 in bribes from a voting machine company and votors—This was my last fight, but it will be my best one — The indictment charged the 72-year-old ailing Barrett, a former Illinois treasurer and secretary of state, with bribe, income tax evasion, and mail fraud.

AP Roundup
Polster says Nixon shows record gain

CHICAGO (AP) — In less than a week President Nixon's stock spread over Sen. George McGovern has increased from 28.3 to an unprecedented 43.4, pollster Albert E. Sindlinger said Thursday.

Sindlinger heads Sindlinger and Co. of Swarthmore, Pa. He said his poll is the only one nationwide to operate on a continuous daily basis.

"In previous election years no other presidential candidate had had such a lengthy, especially close poll," said Sindlinger who was in the city for a meeting of The Investment Analysts Society of Chicago.

Powell suit dismissed

ELDORADO, Ill. — Judge Jack Co. Morris of Circuit Court has dismissed a suit by the State of Illinois asking a full accounting of a $3.5 million estate of the late Secretary of State Paul Powell.

Tornado hits near Chicago

CHICAGO—Eighteen persons were injured, none seriously. Thursday night when a tornado touched down in a residential area near a naval training base north of Chicago.

Cmrd. Dale V. Linkerman, information officer at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center, said three persons were admitted to the hospital on the base and 15 were treated and released as turbulent weather raged through Northern Illinois and into Wisconsin.

Crime task force

CHICAGO (AP) — Dan Walker, Democratic candidate for governor, said a Law Enforcement Officials Task Force on Personal Safety he appointed Thursday would implement his program of providing greater police presence to deter crime.

Walker named as chairman of his task force Capt. Max Steinhauser, 63, who retired last year after 36 years on the Chicago Police Department.
A turf break for McAndrew

The long-awaited, often delayed process of carpeting the McAndrew Stadium playing field began Thursday.

Workmen from the Monsanto Chemical Co. began the job by spreading an adhesive on the asphalt surface that replaced the natural turf weeks ago. A tractor with a boom and nozzles that sprayed a path of the sticky stuff rolled across the field (above, right).

Next came a huge roll of a vinyl padding that is to underlay the artificial grass. Another crew with a tractor trundled over the field, laying a strip of padding over the glue (above, right).

Then they struck water, so to speak.

There was too much moisture under the asphalt for the adhesive to adhere properly. Jim Clifton, a Monsanto engineer, told Carl Bohman, of the SIU architect's office (below, right).

Monsanto workmen rolled up the padding and parked their tractors to await a dryer day (below, left). Maybe tomorrow, if it doesn't rain.

Photos by Jay Needleman
A look at the polls

Only six weeks before the Nov. 7 election, the Harris and Gallup polls show Nixon ahead of McGovern by 29 per cent. And if the voter hadn’t impressed by these polls, he can turn to others—such as Time and Newsweek— which indicate almost the same amount of measured support for Nixon.

Yet polls are rarely 100 per cent accurate, and by Nov. 7, Harris, Gallup, Newsweek. Time and all the other pollsters may be making an embarrassed disclosure to the American public saying, “We never said they were.”

One shouldn’t forget that polls can be just as indifferent as politicians. Even the most sophisticated poll can misrepresent a “representative sample” and fail to consider what may lie ahead to persuade the undecided voter. McGovern could repeat Hubert Humphrey’s 1968 performance and show more votes with more polls than the polls predict.

One poll taken by the Chicago Tribune recently disclosed that 57.1 per cent of the congressmen who responded to McGovern’s challenge of capturing the White House is poor. The headline: “Across the page said, “House Democrats told little hope for McGovern.” But if the reader read further than the headline and the first couple of paragraphs, he learned that 21 per cent of McGovern’s candidacy as adverse to the Democratic ticket in their states, 47, or 60.3 per cent, were from the South.

Moreover, there are still factors such as the Republicans’ complacency, the “underdog” sympathy, vote, and labor’s acceptance to back the Democratic ticket as the polls haven’t considered. Of course, many voters who now favor Nixon could change their minds with a series of dramatic events. A rank in the Internal Revenue Service and only a few details of the Watergate affair could easily run Nixon.

So, despite the polls, McGovern still has a chance to

John Accola
Staff Writer

Unless George McGovern can improve his popularity showing in the polls, he may find himself in difficult straits in November. He will be in trouble because the Gallup and Harris Polls show Nixon by 34 percentage points. He will be embarrassed because he is in the position to suffer one of the worst defeats in a Presidential race.

McGovern has repeatedly said the polls do not reveal the true preferences of the voters. Perhaps he is thinking of the 1968 presidential race when the polls showed Nixon leading Humphrey by 10 to 12 percentage points early in campaign, but in November Nixon won the election by less than 1 per cent. McGovern is no fool. While he knows the polls do not reveal the true preference of the voters, he knows the polls have been right more than it has been wrong.

He must accomplish two near miracles to improve his popularity in the polls. First, return to the Democratic ticket, who deserted him after his nomination. Second, he must somehow convince the party long enough to utilize the full potential of that party. Unless he can work these two near miracles before November, he may have to change his opinion about opinion polls.

Cory Metcalf
Student Writer

All the polls say McGovern hasn’t got a chance. He is against an incumbent President who has dazzled the public with internationalism and is presently leading in the polls among all segments of the American population.

McGovern began his campaign on the premise that he was a politician of the people. Yet he has a credibility gap that began with the Eagleton affair and accentuated by his poorly planned welfare reform program. Attempts to lure Nixon out of the comfortable protection of the White House in fact, McGovern seems in the sounding like the tricky politician Nixon has been accused of being. Gallup Polls taken in August and September confirm this suspicion.

They revealed that Nixon, in both personal and presidential images, was considered to be the more trustworthy and likable of the two candidates. McGovern fascinated the media with his showings in the presidential debates and was running out of steam. And under present conditions it may be impossible for his troops to overcome his own credentials. McGovern has alienated persons from almost every segment of the traditional Democratic party and unless there’s a miraculous return to the campaign tactics, he will not, again, prove the polls and the media wrong.

By Nancy Peterson
Staff Writer

Letters to the Editor

‘Bad vibes’

To the Daily Egyptian

Aside from the bad vibes generated by several members of the audience, an excellent weekend of entertainment was enjoyed by Jerry Grassman and Howlin Wolf was presented.

As a transfer student, I was relatively surprised at the outright rudeness that was shown by Grassman. My surprise turned to embarrassment as I realized that a nationally-known artist may have gained a negative impression of a large section of the students.

Randi Donath
Sophomore, Photography

‘See you in court’

To the Daily Egyptian

In response to Mr. Niebuhr’s gestapo rebuttal, I would like to point out a few things. A child may be hurt by a car traveling 10 miles per hour under the speed limit, if they are not supervised and allowed to play in the streets, as one traveling 10 miles per hour over the limit.

As the statement concerning police attempts to discourage speed near a school, they should try it during school hours, not on the evenings of the first weekend of the quarter.

Since I live nearby and travel on east Grand Avenue four times daily, I can honestly state that the weekend I mentioned was the first (and the last since then) that such strategy was employed.

Since I live nearby and travel on east Grand Avenue four times daily, I can honestly state that the weekend I mentioned was the first (and the last since then) that such strategy was employed.

It is painfully clear that Mr. Niebuhr is quite unfamiliar with the area or refuses to believe that the Carbondale Police Department would do such a thing.

Judging from the response I received from individuals, both students and long-time Carbondale residents, I am not the only person who believes he’s been victimized by unethical practices. See you in court.

Philip J. Tarr
Junior, Engineering Technology

Register now

To the Daily Egyptian:

Don’t lose your absentee vote—vote here. If you are a voter away from home on Nov. 7, you face the immediate difficulty of absentee voting. There is so much red tape you may wind up not voting, or losing your vote. An alternative is to register in Jackson County. It is painless and easy, and assures your chance of getting your vote counted. You can register daily at the Carbondale City Hall, or the Murphybrough Courthouse during business hours. If you can’t register immediately, applications will continue at the Student Center until Sept. 30. On Oct. 9, you can register in your own precinct’s polling place, from noon until 9 p.m. Oct. 15 is the last day to register.

But if you are really determined to go to the trouble of voting absentee, now is the time to get started. You must send for or apply in person for an absentee ballot to the County Clerk or Board of Elections. The deadlines vary. Be safe. Do it immediately. The applications must be notarized and returned to the County Clerk.

You will then receive the absentee ballot, which must be signed and sworn to before a notary public (for example, at the Student Center), after you have marked your choices. Then your ballot must be mailed or returned in person to the County Clerk. This must be at least five days (if by mail) or three days (if in person) before the general election.

Whichever way you decide—registering in Jackson County or absentee voting—do it now.

Gene Keyes
Graduate, Government

Opinion & Commentary

By Nancy Peterson
Staff Writer

“The folks behind the polls...”

Letters to the Editor

Care package?

To the Daily Egyptian

In reply to Father Genison’s letter of Sept. 27, all I say is congratulations. In one short, concise, beautiful letter he has summed up what I believe to be the thoughts of the majority if not the entire population at SIU.

As a student who saw Mr. Derge in action his first academic year as president, I think that I have sufficient grounds (remember the riots?) to completely agree with the sentiments Father Genison.

All I can say to Mr. Derge is, you better start clipping out my articles again like last year so that once again you can write that much more of a nice care package of my dealings here on campus.

Randy Donath
Sophomore, Photography

“Get thee behind me...”

Editorials

The Daily Egyptian encourages free discussion of current issues through editorials and letters on these pages. Editorials—signed Opinion—are written and signed by members of the student news staff and the students enrolled in journalism courses and represent opinions of the authors only.

LETTERS: Readers are encouraged to express their opinions in letters which must be signed with name, classification, major or faculty rank, address and telephone number. Letters should be typewritten, and their length should not exceed 250 words. Letters and letters should respect the generally accepted standards of good taste and are expected to be polite and restrained in respect of the material. Unsigned letters will not be accepted and authorship of all letters must be verified by the Daily Egyptian. All letters to the Editor must be submitted to the editor-in-chief for an Opinion page. Other materials on pages four and five include editorials and articles reprinted from other publications, syndicated columns, and articles and interpretive or opinion articles authored locally.

Daily Egyptian
By Arthur Hoppe

The Innocent Bystander
Joe Sikspak's gut feeling

Now Mrs. Sikspak's no dog. But she's no chicken, neither. And she could stand to lose a few pounds. You know what she says? She says, "Joe, we got to take a bath together." "I'm not dirty," says I.

"It's not dirty," she says. "It's sensitivity awareness. And if you won't take a bath, you got to let me wash your feet." "I knew it," I says. "You been listening to that Jesus freak Lispen's got's going on with." "It's group therapy, Joe," she says. "We got to bring out our self awareness in order to determine our interpersonal relationship." "We're related by marriage," I say. "Where's my dinner?"

Educational goals need debate...the college community can never pursue the goals of liberal eduction without systems and there is genuine debate and difference represented in the faculty and in the student body. We discern truth as a general rule and we elaborate its aspects through a dialectical process. Those who close off debate, who limit the views represented or discussed, whatever their motives, do a grave disservice to the educational process. One thing only can be said: that honesty and integrity be evidenced by all the participants in the debate. If ideology or passion, or self-interest or animosities of any kind disclose the honest pursuit of the truth then debate will become little more than a facade for indoctrination.

That is why it is so extraordinarily difficult to talk intelligently with members of either the extreme left or the extreme right. Under present circumstances debate will not easily and naturally occur. For more than a generation both form and opinion in the intellectual lives of our colleges and universities have tended toward a deadening sameness. Our faculties have been too remote of the current orthodoxies; too preoccupied with conformational standards of contemporary styles of thought and patterns of behavior.

Perhaps college faculties should present a variety of styles and viewpoints.

Stephen J. Tosner
University of Michigan
Modern Age

More Letters to the Editor

Of good policy

To the Daily Egyptian:
The Daily Egyptian holds that letter writers should "clarify really accepted standards of taste and are expected to make their points in terms of issues rather than personalities. This is the only responsible journalism. It implies a limitation, not on freedom to discuss the substance of controversial questions, but on the style of discourse.

The question is whether the Daily Egyptian itself, as a matter not of legal right but of good and decent policy, should not retreat even to these same standards of good taste.

You, the Daily Egyptian expresses its editorial sense of humor in a supposed joke using the term 'chick,' and it justifies this, in the Editor's Note of Sept. 26, on grounds of the freedom of the press, the same logic the editors of the Daily Egyptian ought to express their sense of humor with jokes carrying racist connotations. I urge those in charge of the Daily Egyptian to reconsider not their 'constitutional rights,' but what constitutes a sense of decency and good policy.

Leland G. Staub
Associate professor, Government

Off Gus

To the Daily Egyptian:

In regard to the editorial by Bernard F. Whalen: In your first paragraph you cited the use of the word 'chick' by a supposedly modern, liberated young woman. Unless everyone has forgotten, the use of words like 'chick' by women only serves to show that the editors think to which they are not liberated and ignorant of their oppression. The women's movement has "consciousness' raising groups for women like that.

Last year at the meeting which immediately followed the 'chicken incident' at the Daily Egyptian we advocated not using any titles before a woman's name. This was not incorporated into their policy.

When a group of people are fighting to overcome their oppression, nothing can be overlooked. It is difficult to believe that someone who tells me that I don't deserve respect, I should spit in his face and calls me a 'chick' in the next one really regards me as an equal.

Those marvelous Beach Boys and especially Chuck Berry records were danced to during the era of "women belong in home." They were danced to with extreme male chauvinism. If those radio station managers hate that chicken on their turntables they should keep it off their airwaves, too. Yours in liberation.

Roblyn Stein
Junior, Administration of Justice

‘Non-poultry power’

To the Daily Egyptian:

An open letter to women: Again I find myself extremely angered, offended, and insulted by Gus Bode's continuing use of the term 'chick' in reference to members of our sex.

Why does Gus Bode refuse to recognize that we are not soft, furry, yellow creatures but human individuals?

To all the Daily Eagle readers: If you want to have a pillow fight.

Or not.

And if you won't put in a tough jitsu lesson.

Yes, it's sensitivity awareness. And if you won't take a bath, you got to let me wash your feet.

Yes.

"I knew it," I says. "You been listening to that Jesus freak Lispen's got's going on with." "It's group therapy, Joe," she says. "We got to bring out our self awareness in order to determine our interpersonal relationship." "We're related by marriage," I say. "Where's my dinner?"

"It's not dirty," she says. "It's sensitivity awareness. And if you won't take a bath, you got to let me wash your feet." "I knew it," I says. "You been listening to that Jesus freak Lispen's got's going on with." "It's group therapy, Joe," she says. "We got to bring out our self awareness in order to determine our interpersonal relationship.

"We're related by marriage," I say. "Where's my dinner?"

"First," she says, "you got to take off your clothes. Clothes are just props for role playing. You use them to hide real you."

"That's right," says I. "And you ought to do the same." "Good for you, Joe," she says, happy as a clam. "You're shouting. Bring out your pent-up aggressions. Release your hostility."

Then we can examine your gut feelings together. Tell me, Joe, what is your gut feeling right now?

"My gut," I says, "is feeling hungry." "Maybe," she says, thinking it over "we ought to have a pillow fight." "I think you're nuttier than a fruitcake," I says. "Never say, 'I think,'" she says. "Say, 'I feel.' You got to stop self-intellectualizing and start listening to your feelings." "I feel," I says, "I feel you're nuttier than a fruitcake. What for do I want to have a pillow fight?"

"It's non-verbal communication," she says. "We got to self-actualize."

"I'd rather shut," I says. "I, Look, I put in a tough night hours, had a run-in with the foreman and missed the bus. No pillow fights and that's it."

"Okay," she says, rubbing her hands, "let's wrestle.

"Well," I say, "the old Flying Mare. And I'm sorry she landed on her favorite lamp. And I'm not even worried she wasn't sore. "Now your neck's the right one," "she says. "It's sensitivity awareness. And if you won't take a bath, you got to let me wash your feet."

What worries me is today she signed up for jujutsu lessons. So maybe you can't get us out of Vietnam, President. But you sure as hell better get that Jesus freak out of my house.

Truly yours,

Joe Sikspak, American

Racist slurs?

To the Daily Egyptian:

Contrary to what Gus Bode may personally believe, one need not think his utterances reflect a stance that is cowardly. With the accepted belief that racist slurs such as 'nigger,' 'polack,' and 'nig' are generally considered to be in bad taste, it is the developing belief that 'chick' is equally offensive.

One concede, Gus Bode, that you have the privilege to express his opinions. However, with this recognition appears the concomitant realization that one's verbal statements reflect another's. Does Gus Bode intend to use such terms mentioned above in his future cartoons? I venture that he won't.

It is a belief that this is a basic question for many, because of a false sense of virility. "Play it again, Gus Bode!"

Andrew Green
Freshman, General Studies

Cavalier reply

To the Daily Egyptian:

With respect to the published letter of Marianne Petrov's (Sept. 26) I wish to express my disgust at the cavalier and un-cute editorial reply. If Ms. Rosenzweig was inaccurate in her allegations, you should have refuted them: if she was correct (as I must agree by your silence she was) then I and other members of this university who were referred to cannot agree that such an important instrument of our institutional life is in the hands of such an insensitive and, thereby, incompetent journalist.

Charles Lemert
Assistant professor, Sociology-Religious Studies

Editor's Note—We regret that the note appended to Ms. Rosenzweig's letter (Sept. 26) came across to some of our readers as biting. It was meant to be light. But it certainly was not meant to be arrogant or contemptuous. Its purpose was to accuse Ms. Rosenzweig and other readers that, contrary to the impression she said she got from her interpersonal relationships with members of the Daily Egyptian: published in the Daily Egyptian are of concern to us. Its further purpose was to remind the reader-independence from any pressure group of whatever cause be it pro or con on any idea that may be discussed elsewhere. To those who were offended: I offer my apology. And Gus says he's known along all that it really isn't that sticks and stones may break his bones but words will never hurt him.

William M. Harmon
Managing Editor
Meetings highlight activities today

General Studies: Advisement appointments, initials H-Q, 8:30 a.m.-4:40 p.m. Student Center Ballrooms.

S.G.A.C. Film: "Yellow Submarine" 12 noon, 7 and 9 p.m. Student Center Auditorium. Admission 75 cents.

Delta Sigma Theta: Dance, 8 p.m. Student Center Ballroom.

Advisement appointments. initials H-Q: 8:00 a.m.-4:40 p.m.

Student Center Ballrooms.

S.G.A.C. Film: "Yellow Submarine" 12 noon, 7 and 9 p.m. Student Center Auditorium. Admission 75 cents.

Delta Sigma Theta: Dance, 8 p.m. Student Center Ballroom.

Vocational-Educational Testing: Woody Hall 2118, 8 a.m.-12 noon, 1 p.m.-5 p.m.

Campus Crusade For Christ: Bible Study, meet in front of Student Center 8 p.m. (going to Westhill Circle Apts., No. A-1.)

Recreation and Intramurals: Pulliam Gym, Weight Room and Activities Room 3 p.m.-11 p.m.; Pulliam Pool 8 p.m.-11 p.m., S.I.; Arena 7 p.m.-11 p.m.; Campus Beach and Duck Dock 1 p.m.-6 p.m.

Women's Recreation Association: Varsity Field Hockey 4 p.m.-5:30 p.m. Wall and Park; Varsity Freestyle Combat 4 p.m.-6:30 p.m. Gym; Water Sports and Conditioning 1 p.m.-4 p.m. Pulliam Pool.

Iranian Student Association: Speaker, Dr. N. Layer, "Inter-cultural Education," Student Center Activities Rooms A and B, 7:30 p.m.-10 p.m.

Judo Club: Meeting, Arena, N.E. Concours, 7:30 p.m.

Open Recreation: Women's Gym, 7 p.m.-10 p.m.

Activities

Eaat-N Coffee House: 9 p.m.-1 a.m. Free features, experimental films and electronic music, Wesley Community House, 804 S. Illinois across from McDonald's.

Inter Varsity Christian Fellowship: Meeting, Wham 111, 7 p.m.-8 p.m.

Gay Liberation Organization: Meeting, Home Economics Family Living Lab, 7 p.m.-10 p.m.

African Student Association: Meeting, Student Center Activities Room C, 6:30 p.m.-10 p.m.

Irani an Student Association: Speaker, Dr. N. Layer, "Inter-cultural Education," Student Center Activities Rooms A and B, 7:30 p.m.-10 p.m.

Judo Club: Meeting, Arena, N.E. Concours, 7:30 p.m.

Open Recreation: Women's Gym, 7 p.m.-10 p.m.

A THOUSAND 75 CLO SWNS

Wed. Oct. 4
8 p.m.

Southern Ill. Film Society
Excels in fine touches

'Five Graves to Cairo'

Friday afternoon and evening programs on WSIU-TV.

There are many marvelous touches when Mr. Jackson loses her composure and sums up her frustrations in a single curse; when Finch delivers what amounts to a stream-of-consciousness monologue at the very end, and a long, uncomfortable Bar Mitsvah sequence that gains one's approval when one realizes that the director, John Schlesinger, must be right in including it when his impeccable judgment is stamped on everything else.

The reason the film never alienates its audience is because even she decidedly offset elements are handled casually, almost noted in passing. The divorcee and the doctor know about each other, and nothing is made of the artist's bisexuality. Like that? Very odd and, like the rest of the film, adult and extraordinary.

LATE SHOW

Friday and Saturday
11:00 p.m.
All Seats $1.25

Peter Finch
Glenda Jackson
Murray Head

"One of the Year's 10 Best!"

Sunday
Bloody Sunday

"Sundae Bloody Sundae:

The affairs, then, require a lot of coping and compromising in survive, mostly on the parts of the divorcee and the physician. It doesn't take long to realize these af-fair's can't last but what is truly amazing — considering the genre — is that one is able to understand why.

A Review

Being the adventures of a young man...

who loved a bit of the old ultra-violence...

The Original Version—Complete, Uncut

FOX EASTGATE THEATER

UNANIMOUSLY ACCLAIMED AS
ONE OF THE ALL TIME GREAT FILMS
WINNER OF 7 ACADEMY AWARDS INCLUDING BEST PICTURE!

TODAY ONLY

"THE MOST VISUALLY STUNNING MOVIE EVER MADE!"

"A CLASSIC! Extraordinary performances by Peter O'Toole, Omar Sharif, Alec Guinness, Anthony Quinn, Jack Hawkins and the devastating direction of David Lean!" — JOHN CROWE, M.T.

One showing today only
3:30 P.M., Fox Eastgate Theater
Christine Jorgensen tells how sex change made her happy

By Glenn Amato
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

She carries herself like any contended businesswoman might. She looks great in a slim black and white pantsuit, tapped by a giant white hat. She sounds like a refined Carol Channing and 67 years ago, she was a man—George Jorgensen, 41 and a talented photographer.

Now she's Christine, and pretty happy about it.

"I tried it and I liked it," she said.

Christine Jorgensen concludes her autobiography with, "I found the oldest gift of heaven—to be myself."

She thanks the Connecticut audience—the most orderly and respectful she's ever seen—how, as a shy effeminate man, she was unable to achieve this sense of self-identity.

"I always knew there was a problem," she said. But since words and concepts like homosexuality.

Floating parking

DETROIT (AP) — Edmund Craig, 50, a part time inventor, thinks he has the solution to Detroit’s parking problems.

He has designed a floating multi unit parking garage to ease the riverfront car storage squeeze. Primary port for the floating garage would be on the Detroit River, downtown near the site proposed $126-million domed sports stadium.

"There’s no use wasting acres and acres of valuable land on uselessly looking parking lots," Craig said. He said the initial engineering plans call for a three tiered garage set on pontoons or barge-type supports, and the approximating at least 445 cars on each of the three decks.

Craig, who owns Glenn Eden Hospital in suburban Warren, said he got the idea for the floating garage during a travel film which showed a line of barges half a mile long strung out behind a ship on the Rhine in Germany.

As for financing, Craig said the city of Detroit could absorb the building costs and estimated at more than $1 million.

Childrens film festival starts Saturday

The film "The Red Balloon" will be shown at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Student Center Auditorium, marking the beginning of a children’s film festival sponsored by the Student Government Activities Council (SGAC), according to Dotti Davis, SGAC chairman.

The film is based on a French story about a little boy and a balloon and their adventures in Paris. A full length animated film will follow the feature, Ms. Davis said. She also said that a surprise treat for the children will follow the film program.

Five films for children will be sponsored by SGAC fall quarter. Ms. Davis said.

Any small children or large group of children should be accompanied by an adult, she said.

Local civic sororities to sell Marion prisoner's paintings

More than 500 paintings done by inmates from the U.S. Penitentiary at Marion will be put on sale from noon-5 p.m. Oct. 7 and 8 at the Carbondale Community High School East, according to Robert Gause of the Inmate Art Show Committee.

The sale will be coordinated and conducted by the Beta Xi Chapter of the Beta Xi Pi Mu Society of Carbondale.

The art show sale will include paintings done in oils, acrylics, temperas and pastels. Gause said the prices will range from $5 to $350.

Most of the proceeds will be used for the purchase of art supplies, books and materials, personal and family needs, and as savings for future needs upon release for the inmates, he said. A small percentage of the sales will be retained by Beta Xi Sorority for various community projects.

Gause said this will be the first art show sale for a three year period, but it is hoped that the affair will be repeated enough to become an annual event.

BONAPARTE'S Retreat

STANLEY

Fri. & Sat.

SUPER SOCK HOP

with Bill Conners

COLUMBUS DRIVE-IN THEATRE

Open 7:00 Starts 7:30

Highway 148 South of Herrin

NOW SHOWING

Peter Sellers

"Where Does It Hurt?"

Only where you laugh

TODAY WE KILL TOMORROW WE DIE!

COLOR —- —

Open 7:00 - Start 7:30

NOW thru TUESDAY

Charlon Heston
Yvette Mimieux in

SKYJACKED CHANDLER

Action Hit

NOW thru TUESDAY

BEST-SELLER BECOMES MOVIE SPY THRILLER

THE SALZBURG CONNECTION

20's CENTURY FOX COLOR IN DELUXE

2 Big action hit

Robert Redford
George Segal & Co.
est Heist The Hot Rock...almost

COLOR by DE LUCA / RPP

Dustin Hoffman in

LITTLE MURDERERS

STANLEY
Education conference set for discussion of fund act

By Gene Charleston
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A conference to discuss the relationship between the Collegiate Common Market in Illinois and the Federal Omnibus Higher Education Act of 1972 will be held Oct. 13-15 at SIU, according to President David R. Derge.

Collegiate Common Market is designed to improve higher education and make it available to more people in Illinois.

The conference includes delegates from the other colleges and universities in Illinois, the Illinois Board of Higher Education, U.S. Office of Education, National Association of State and Land Grant Colleges and other organizations and agencies in Illinois and neighboring states concerned with higher education.

A principal aim of the conference is to insure that individuals and institutions in Illinois learn to work with the new federal education programs and to get a fair share of funds, Oliver Caldwell, professor of higher education and coordinator of the conference, said.

The Omnibus Higher Education Act authorizes appropriation of $2.3 billion over a four-year period to strengthen about 5,500 colleges in all states.

Gov. Richard Ogilvie has said if the act is completely funded it might bring $1 billion in federal education funds to Illinois over the four-year period.

Among areas specifically mentioned in the act are new support for junior and community colleges, improved educational opportunities for veterans, the strengthening of occupational education and developing institutions.

Grants and loans to individual students are also authorized on an

Bare Facts of the Case

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL. (AP) — A legal battle over tavern toplessness put tavern owner Edward Becker out of business but he took the matter to court where he got a favorable ruling.

Circuit Judge Francis Maxwell ruled that the ban by the St. Clair County Excise Commission was constitutional, declaring that the county ordinance as written prohibits the presence of any topless female employee or employee, but said that nudity itself does not constitute obscenity.

"Nudity involved in entertainment has been held to be protected under the provisions of the first amendment to the U.S. Constitution and the 14th amendment prohibits the states from interfering with the constitutional rights of individuals," Maxwell said.

Becker resumed operations with three topless waitresses, as Francis
"Red" Foley, commissioner, announced that the ordinance would be rewritten "to prohibit this kind of thing."

A change to manual operation of traffic signals at Grand and South Avenues during the 8 a.m. rush hour has resulted in a great improvement in traffic flow, Security Police reported. "As long as there is a need our men will be manning the corners. We'll be there in the mornings, and at other peak periods if the need arises," Capt.
Robert Preley of the Security Police said Wednesday. (Photos by Jay Needleman)
Job interviews listed for October

Here are on-campus job interviews scheduled by University Placement Services for the last two weeks of October, from Oct. 16 through Oct. 31. Lists of interviews scheduled may be obtained and appointments may be made at the Placement Service office, Woody Hall, Section A, North Wing, Third Floor. It is advisable to make appointments for interviews as early as possible. The interview schedule for November will be available Oct. 18 at the Placement Office.

Monday, Oct. 16

PROCTOR & GAMBLE DISTRIBUTING CO., Cincinnati. Sales Management: Initially, an intensive sales training program leading to sales management. Sales management responsibilities include: Selection, training, and motivation of sales organization; personal selling responsibility with major accounts; developing promotional plans and presentation; managing sales plans and policies; analyzing business results; recommending action to the company. Will talk to all candidates who have a strong interest in sales & sales mgmt regardless of major.

Tuesday, Oct. 17

- UNION ELECTRIC CO., St. Louis. Engineers - B.S. or M.S. degree in engineering (mechanical or electrical) or B.S. or M.S. degree in chemical engineering or chemical technology. Degree: B.S. or M.S. in engineering.

- ILLINOIS DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION, Springfield. Civil engineers (highway construction and design) Degree: civil engineering.

U.S. GENERAL ACCOUNTING OFFICE, St. Louis. Management audits and review of expenditures but not limited to financial statement audits and reviews of systems analyses. ADP application and use, contract examination and systems reviews. Degree: B.S. or MBA ( acctg., gen. bus., mgmt.)

Wednesday, Oct. 18

CENTRAL ILLINOIS - DIV. OF General Motors. Danville. Six month training program leading to a position in production supervision. Degree: Ind. mgmt., ind. tech. eng.

STATE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, Carbondale. Life insurance sales and sales management trainee. Degree: all majors.

TENNESSEE VALLEY AUTHORITY, Knoxville. Civil engineers, electrical engineers. Degree: all majors.

Frankly Speaking

“TELL YOU WHAT - SHAVE THE BEARD, GET A HAIRCUT, BUY A SUIT AND SHOES AND DON’T COME BACK!”

by Phil Frank

Aurora VA rate reported up

AURORA (AP) — The incidence of venereal disease in the Aurora area has increased dramatically since 1967, a state study showed Thursday. Officials of the Illinois Department of Public Health told high school students that reported cases of gonorrhea increased 228 per cent between 1967 and 1971. They reported results of the study, requested by officials, to 4,400 high school conference.

The study made no attempt to determine a breakdown by age.
Japan, China end 78 hostile years with new era of diplomatic relations

By John Roderick
Associated Press Writer

PEKING (AP) — China is ready to establish diplomatic relations with Japan, Prime Minister Hisashi Tanaka said Thursday night, ending a new era and ending 78 years of hostility between East Asia's most populous nations.

Premier Chou En-lai announced the decision Thursday night at a banquet rounding off his summit talks with Kaku ei Tanaka, the Japanese prime minister who dared to step into negotiations his predecessors had shunned.

“We are going to end the abnormal state of affairs which has existed up to now,” Chou said.

Ribicoff calls on Nixon to back substitute welfare reform legislation

By Joe Hall
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., called on President Nixon Thursday to back a substitute welfare reform plan the administration has apparently ruled out.

Ribicoff introduced a sundown version of a substitute bill for Nixon's Family Assistance Plan (FAP) and said it would cover eye, dental and welfare reform, and would cut the costs Nixon's Family Assistance Plan (FAP) would cover eye, dental and welfare reform, and would cut the costs.

In its only significant vote in the second day of debate on the $5.1 billion bill, the Senate defeated 42 to 36 an amendment of Sen. Calborne Pell, D-R.I., to cover eye, dental and foot care under Medicare.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., floor manager for the bill, said the cost would be $3.7 billion a year and that “we simply can't afford it.”

“The question facing the Senate is whether the President will take the opportunity to match deeds with his words about the need to reform this country's welfare system,” Ribicoff said.

“Unfortunately, it is not clear whether the President really wants welfare reform,” the senator said.

The reduced version of his substitute introduced by Ribicoff Thursday brought it much closer to the original Nixon FAP proposal.

Registration drive totals 1,629;
out-of-state students now eligible

Deputy registrars in the Student Center reported Thursday that a record 46 students signed up to vote on Wednesday.

Joy Batts, a League of Women Voters volunteer, said at noon Thursday, 171 students had registered and at least that many were expected to register by 5 p.m.

The previous record was set Tuesday when 360 new voters signed up. 1,628 students have registered to vote, she said, since the student center auditorium opened.

Doug Dingle, coordinator of the drive, reported a sharp increase in the number of out-of-state students registering to vote in Jackson County.

On Wednesday he said, 39 out-of-state students registered to vote compared to a previous high of only 5.

Dingle once again urged all

Students: 710 appreciates your business, so we have planned a special sale to say "Thanks."

Show your SIU ID
and you'll receive a 15% discount on any jacket in the store.

Offer good Mon. Oct. 2
between 5:30-8:30 p.m.

• Students: 710 appreciates your business, so we have planned a special sale to say "Thanks."

Show your SIU ID
and you'll receive a 15% discount on any jacket in the store.

Offer good Mon. Oct. 2
between 5:30-8:30 p.m.

• Students: 710 appreciates your business, so we have planned a special sale to say "Thanks."

Show your SIU ID
and you'll receive a 15% discount on any jacket in the store.

Offer good Mon. Oct. 2
between 5:30-8:30 p.m.

• Students: 710 appreciates your business, so we have planned a special sale to say "Thanks."

Show your SIU ID
and you'll receive a 15% discount on any jacket in the store.

Offer good Mon. Oct. 2
between 5:30-8:30 p.m.
Kissinger, N. Viet talks reported 'very serious'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Negotiations between presidential aide Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnamese diplomats have reached the "very serious" stage and Kissinger likely will return to Paris for more talks next week, the Star News reported today.

The newspaper quoted informed sources as saying negotiations have narrowed to the point that the two sides are bargaining over a political formula for changing power in Saigon.

It said the mechanism for setting up a new government is to be tied to the formula. President Nixon proposed last month for a cease-fire through Indochina and the withdrawal of American troops.

Upper Marlboro Md. (AP) - A three-judge panel by 10 years

U.S. continues N. Viet raids

SAIGON (AP) - American warplanes blasted North Vietnam's transportation system and military depots with more than 300 raids Wednesday for the third successive day, but in South Vietnam fighting remained in a general lull, military spokesman reported Thursday.

Attention in Saigon was diverted from the war to political developments that touched off speculation that two days of secret meetings in Paris between U.S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and the North Vietnamese had produced a settlement of the war.

The Saigon government moved quickly to quash the reports. con-

Kissinger's latest meeting with the North Vietnamese diplomats in Paris ended after two days. That round of talks followed an 11-day interlude. Previously, talks between Kissinger and the North Vietnamese had been more than 14 days apart. Both the White House and the North Vietnamese have denied that the two days of talks produced a settlement of the Vietnam war.

However, President Nixon told an audience in Los Angeles Wednesday night: "We have prepared the South Vietnamese so that it is now very clear that they will be able soon to undertake their complete defense without our assistance. We are going to end our involvement. We will end the war."

British jail term reduced by 10 years

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) - A three-judge panel reduced by 10 years Thursday reduced by 10 years the 68-year prison sentence given Arthur H. Bremer for the shooting of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and three other persons at a political rally last May.

Bremer displayed no emotion when the reduction was announced by Judge Richard H. Parker after almost an hour of deliberations by the three-Georges County Cir-

Kissinger, N. Viet talks reported 'very serious'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Negotiations between presidential aide Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnamese diplomats have reached the "very serious" stage and Kissinger likely will return to Paris for more talks next week, the Star News reported today.

The newspaper quoted informed sources as saying negotiations have narrowed to the point that the two sides are bargaining over a political formula for changing power in Saigon.

It said the mechanism for setting up a new government is to be tied to the formula. President Nixon proposed last month for a cease-fire through Indochina and the withdrawal of American troops.

Upper Marlboro Md. (AP) - A three-judge panel by 10 years

U.S. continues N. Viet raids

SAIGON (AP) - American warplanes blasted North Vietnam's transportation system and military depots with more than 300 raids Wednesday for the third successive day, but in South Vietnam fighting remained in a general lull, military spokesman reported Thursday.

Attention in Saigon was diverted from the war to political developments that touched off speculation that two days of secret meetings in Paris between U.S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and the North Vietnamese had produced a settlement of the war.

The Saigon government moved quickly to quash the reports. con-

Kissinger's latest meeting with the North Vietnamese diplomats in Paris ended after two days. That round of talks followed an 11-day interlude. Previously, talks between Kissinger and the North Vietnamese had been more than 14 days apart. Both the White House and the North Vietnamese have denied that the two days of talks produced a settlement of the Vietnam war.

However, President Nixon told an audience in Los Angeles Wednesday night: "We have prepared the South Vietnamese so that it is now very clear that they will be able soon to undertake their complete defense without our assistance. We are going to end our involvement. We will end the war."

British jail term reduced by 10 years

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) - A three-judge panel reduced by 10 years Thursday reduced by 10 years the 68-year prison sentence given Arthur H. Bremer for the shooting of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and three other persons at a political rally last May.

Bremer displayed no emotion when the reduction was announced by Judge Richard H. Parker after almost an hour of deliberations by the three-Georges County Cir-

Kissinger, N. Viet talks reported 'very serious'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Negotiations between presidential aide Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnamese diplomats have reached the "very serious" stage and Kissinger likely will return to Paris for more talks next week, the Star News reported today.

The newspaper quoted informed sources as saying negotiations have narrowed to the point that the two sides are bargaining over a political formula for changing power in Saigon.

It said the mechanism for setting up a new government is to be tied to the formula. President Nixon proposed last month for a cease-fire through Indochina and the withdrawal of American troops.
Crime increase cited

WASHINGTON (AP)—Serious crime in the nation was up 1 per cent for the first six months of this year compared to the same period in 1971, the Justice Department announced Thursday.

It was the smallest rate of increase reported by the FBI since it began issuing quarterly reports 12 years ago, the department said.

Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, said the increase rate for the January-June period was 1 per cent for both violent and property crimes. During the same period in 1971, the overall crime increase was 7 per cent over the previous year, with violent crime up 11 per cent and property crime up 6 per cent, he said.

FREE SCHOOL

revives the Sunday School
Sunday evening at the Student Christian Foundation
913 S. Illinois

Sunday, Oct. 1 at 5:30 p.m.
Supper 75¢—prepared by some of Carbondale's finest chefs

The conversation topic is Godspell
Join us for supper before, after, or instead of the show

"AIKIDO"
The discipline of Aikido is a way to unify the mind and body and bring them to a state of peace while at the same time developing enduring energy so that we better do whatever we do. Aikido is a martial art which says that victory over oneself is absolute, while winning at someone else's expense is not really winning. Aikido was founded by Master Morohi Ueshiba as a way to divert harm to one's own person, while not inflicting permanent injury on an aggressor. Since you don't use strength in Aikido, it is practiced by men and women, children and older people. For more information contact Free School 536-3390.

FREE SCHOOL PRISON PROJECT

Are you interested in Penal Reform? Corrections? Political Prisoners? Free School is looking to put together an information action project concerned about Penalogy. This project will be open to all people of all political thought.

Contact Free School - 536-3393

Offers Students
6000 name brand items
at Wholesale Prices

714 S. Ill. Ave
Just a few of the 6,000 items in stock

Stereos
- Electrophonic
- Panasonic
- General Electric
- Sound Design

Cameras
- Argus
- Yashica
- Bell & Howell
- Kodak

Appliances
- Hamilton Beach
- Oster
- Sunbeam
- Proctor Silex

Carbondale's 1st
WHOLESALE Store Open to Public
Watch for our Grand Opening soon!

* leather tree

715 S. University
Stock & Custom Goods
- Belts
- Hats
- Purses
- Head Pouches
- bands
- Coats
- Capes
- Pants
- Visors
- Patches
- Watchbands
Best selection of Buckles in So. Ill.
Complete Leather Supplies
Cowhide "Suede" Tools "Dyes"
STOP IN
"Your leather ideas become reality"

Daily Egyptian, September 29, 1972, Page 13
Sex info, counseling offered by new service on campus

By Jan Trachtsch Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A friendly atmosphere and some help—if you need it—lots of information and someone to talk to can be found at the new human sexuality information office on campus.

Human Sexuality Informational Referral Services (HSIRS) wants to take the stigma of "sex problems" away from its name and put "information and referral help" there instead.

According to Barbara Dahl, nurse consultant and program director, the service offers medical educational information about different sexual concerns to SIU students, their spouses and family.

Ms. Dahl emphasized the informal, confidential approach that service workers will take with students who come to the office.

"We can set up interviews for students on a one-to-one basis," Ms. Dahl said. The service also offers confidential referral.

Ms. Dahl hails from the Jackson County Family Planning Center where she directed that program. Abortion referral information and family planning counseling were among her duties there.

She became program director of SIU's Sexuality Informational Referral Services Aug. 15 when the Health Service established the office. The human sexuality office involves a counseling service for students, with information relating to infertility, conception, birth control, family planning, pregnancy testing, venereal disease, adoption avenues and child care.

While Ms. Dahl has begun to set up personal interview appointments daily, she hopes to establish an informal periodic rap session where students can "voluntarily come to the office and talk about sexual ideas and problems," she said.

Also in the offing is a well-stocked library of educational materials concerning sex for students. Ms. Dahl hopes to develop a library lounge area, in keeping with the informal atmosphere of the office.

Located in Trustwood Hall in University Park residence area, the major threat of the service will be toward dormitory residents, but all students are welcome, Ms. Dahl emphasizes.

She and John Baughman, a graduate student in psychology, are currently coordinating a four-part series titled "What Every Parent Was Afraid to Tell You About Sex."

The first session, held Wednesday night in Schneider Hall, dealt with contraception and received great response from students. Ms. Dahl said.

"One hundred or more students were able to squeeze through the door for the talk," she said. An informal rap session was to follow the talk, but the number of students seeking factual information made the rap session somewhat unfeasible, she said.

Most of the students who come want facts, Ms. Dahl explained, so she may discontinue the rap idea and just give straight factual information.

The next session, scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday on 8th floor Neely is titled "Confidence by Choice," with an accompanying film.

Two additional programs scheduled for Oct. 11 and 18 include films titled, "A Family is Born" and "Half a million Teenagers—V.D."

HSIRS plans to develop educational programs for the campus through the student life section of Student Affairs. Ms. Dahl added.

Three professional volunteers—one is a student—will begin training programs as assistants for the service. They will work the telephone information service, assist with the reference materials and also possibly assist with problem pregnancy investigating, Ms. Dahl said.

Police get tough on illegal parking

By Tom Finas

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Flagging under the windshield wiper was the familiar pale yellow University parking ticket. On the dashboard was a city parking ticket. Also under the windshield wiper was a familiar pale yellow looseleaf paper.

"You seem to be making a habit out of parking tickets. Please don't. I like you. The Meter Man," it read.

Although those who have received University parking tickets before may present meter maid who get note, they shouldn't get their hopes up that this represents a new attitude on the part of Parking Division. In fact, illegal parkers will find Security Police getting tougher. E. C. McCue, assistant security officer said Thursday.

McCue said his office is particularly interested in illegal parkers who neglect paying fines. Under new regulations, which went into effect Sept. 1, an illegal parker with three unpaid tickets will return to find a large red decal plastered to his windshield.

This decal, which is large enough to obscure the vision of the driver, will have to be scraped from the windshield before the car can be moved. It bears a warning, telling the owner that if his vehicle receives another ticket before the other fines are paid, it will be towed from the lot at his expense.

McCue also gave a reminder that all cars parked on University property must be registered by Oct. 1. All cars parked on University property after that time without a decal will be ticketed for non-registration. The fine for non-registration is $35.

"Pantry seekers raid dorms"

Thompson Point male residents kept alive a time-honored SIU tradition when they staged a pantry raid Wednesday night.

The approximately 200 men participating in the raid surrounded Rudy, Lowery and Kellogg Halls. Some of the raiders contested themselves with shouts while others scalped dormitory walls and knocked on windows.

It was kept under control and Security Police were not called in. Doug Richardson, Thompson Point administrative assistant said Thursday. Richardson said there was no damage to the buildings.

The raid started at 11 p.m. and lasted about a half hour.

"Feast Like a King" Dine at Emperor's Palace

Serving authentic Chinese cuisine

Lunch Special (weekdays only)
11:30-3:00 p.m. 549-5286
Dinner-starting at 5:00 p.m.

MAGNAVOX ENTERTAINMENT VALUE
Complete Stereo System with Stereo FM/AM Radio-Phonograph
8-track player, headphones and cart

Complete package price...
only $17995

Records and 8 track cartridges not included
New city attorney starts reorganization of ordinances

By Monroe Walker
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A system of classifying city ordinances, which has not been utilized since about 1956, is being re-established by the new Carbondale city attorney.

John Paul Womick has been the "Carbondale City Attorney for about a month now. He is presently in the process of reclassifying the city's ordinances.

Womick said since 1956 city ordinances have been listed and kept in numerical rather than in a more logical order.

"In the numerical system, we can't do quick research," he said. "Ordinances are hard to find. With the recodification system, ordinances will be listed under sections and subject matter.

He said this will enable quick research and avoid duplication of ordinances already passed by the city council.

"This is not something new," he said. "Every city does it and I am just continuing something that Ron Briggs started.

Campaigning may net students votes, credit

By Daniel Haar
Student Writer

A total of 12 credit hours may be earned by students working on political campaign committees throughout the Carbondale area if the students are enrolled in certain government courses, according to Samuel Long, a political science professor.

Long, who is in charge of the program, explained that an intern¬ship course is now being offered which includes the Government 230 course on the undergraduate level and the Government 280 course on the graduate level.

In this internship course, Long explained, the student is required to work in some campaign committee in the area. As adviser, who would be a member of the government department, Long gives him a course grade.

"At present the course is strictly tutorial," Long said. Any student interested in working on a campaign committee and wanting credit must submit a proposal to a faculty member in the government department, he said.

"A student can confront political reality," Long remarked as he described the main advantage of the program. "Here is a good chance to practice what the teachers and textbooks were preaching," he said.

The results, so far, have been impressive, Long noted. "I'm quite pleased," he said. The program has given many students valuable insights, especially into SIU and Carbondale. At present, he estimated that 15 students are now enrolled in the program and at least 12 more students are currently applying.

Long also said other government courses are presently giving credit to students who volunteer to work on presidential campaign committees. Of course, as he explained, things will change once the national elections are over.

Long said he imagines the focus of the internship program will then turn toward the specific functions of the various government bodies, with special emphasis on the local government.

Anyone interested in joining the program, Long said, should contact him at his office in the government department, 400 W. Freeman.

Neumann Center seeks volunteers

By John Womick

Newman Center seeks volunteers

A program is being initiated at the Newman Center to provide services for the residents of the Styrer Nursing Home on Tower Road. Volunteers are being sought to go to the home, according to Father Jack Frerker.

Hetzler Optical Center
Complete Optical Service
Optometrist Opticians
Contact Lenses Fitted
411 S. Illinois 457-4919
Mon. 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Tues.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m.
Saturday 9 a.m.-5 p.m.
Closed all day Thursday

McGuire's
Cold Apple Cider
$1.19 gal.

McGuire's
Red & Golden Delicious
Pears Fresh Ill. grown
Ornamental Gourds

McGuire's Orchard & Market
8 mi South of Carbondale, U.S. 51 South
Open 7-6:30 weekdays, 8-7:30 Sunday

Daily Egyptian, September 29, 1972, Page 15

Apple
Gold

Delicious
Pears
Fresh Ill. grown

Pumpkins
Indian Corn

Ornamental Gourds
McG pledges emergency urban aid

By Lee Byrd
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backed by 29 big-city mayors, Sen. George McGovern Thursday pledged a sweeping program of urban help including an "emergency" boost of $4.8 billion in revenue sharing.

At a news conference in which he introduced two new campaign aides of metropolitan officials, McGovern declared the election "will determine the fate of American cities for the next two decades."

The South Dakotan attacked Nixon administration's records on schools, housing, transportation and crime while denouncing in even stronger terms "the unacceptable policy of deliberately putting people out of work."

McGovern was accompanied by 10 mayors whom he had signed up for his "Urban Policy Panel" and "Majors for McGovern," groups he was working to establish, he said, with 29 already on board.

Mayor John Lindsay of New York said McGovern offers "a knowledgeable and meaningful approach" to urban ills whereas "the administration, in its rhetoric, continues to exploit fear."

Kevin White of Boston, Kenneth Gibson of Newark, N.J., Thomas Loken of Cincinnati and Roman S. Gribbs of Detroit were among the other mayors expressing their support of the Democratic nominee.

Richard Daley of Chicago and Joseph Alioto of San Francisco were named as other leaders of the groups although they were not present.

McGovern said his administration "as one of its first acts" would look to the urban policy panel, headed by Gibson for the nation's first long-range urban development plan.

But he is already committed, he said, to a massive redirection of federal funds from war spending to a domestic program that includes $3.5 billion for schools and $1.5 billion in the fight against drugs. And while he hailed the recent congressional compromise on revenue sharing as "a very welcome step," McGovern said "I would increase that program another $4 billion in emergency fiscal relief to cities."

Two days enrich President's campaign by $3.8 million

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Nixon, his political treasury more than $3.8 million the richer for two days of campaigning, said Thursday that history may mark the U.S.-Soviet agreement to cooperate in medicine as a "great turning point" in man's struggle against cancer and other disease.

Nixon set aside outright campaigning to sell the National Cancer Conference that agreements on arresting cancer and other diseases "may claim the headlines," but "I know, and I hope they do, that the benefits are more important than the one you're watching.

Then the President hopped back to Washington, to get a personal report from Henry A. Kissinger, his national security adviser, on two days of talks with North Vietnamese negotiators in Paris.

Before Nixon flew back to the capital, the White House issued a statement in his name turning back to politics with the claim of "steady progress toward the new prosperity" in California and nationally.

Since Tuesday night Nixon had been on a campaign mission that took him to New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles, with $1,000 fund-raising affairs the main event in each city.

Nixon campaigners said they raised more than $3.5 million at the New York dinner, $600,000 in San Francisco, and a record $1.75 million in Los Angeles.

The President remarked Wednesday on that showing as "the biggest dinner in the world history of American politics."

In his statement Thursday on the economy, Nixon said "Californians can take satisfaction in our steady progress toward the new prosperity—progress in which they share fully."

California is Nixon's home state and, with 45 electoral votes, the biggest single prize in the presidential election. Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee, has said victory in California is imperative to his election hopes.

Nixon said, "I want very much to carry California."

Receiving the American Cancer Society's distinguished service award, Nixon said his administration has followed with action his call for a total national commitment to the effort to conquer cancer.

He had a point.

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP) — Milkman Ron Mason took his camera along after having been booked for driving the wrong side of the road.

In court he produced pictures of garbage trucks and even a motorcycle cop all on the wrong side of the road in the early hours. Case dismissed.

Free Soap Per Load

1st 4 weeks of quarter

42 Washers 20 Dryers

• Professional Dry Cleaning
• Executive Shirt & Laundry Service
• Let us do your wash for you-20c a lb.

Clothes Pin

815 S Ill. NEXT to McDonald's

WHY PAY RENT....

when you can own a new 12 x 52 two bedroom mobile home for $5200 a month! (insurance included) several of these homes located at our new park all ready for your occupancy.

Bring in this ad for an extra discount!!

Greisen Mobile Houses

102 S. Wall

457-8823

* Based on a cash price of $3895 plus tax and title with $205 down, 84 month financing at 8.72 A.P.R. 120 month

OPEN: Mon-Thu. 9-9, Fri & Sat. 9-5, Sun. 1-5

Page 10, Daily Egyptian, September 29, 1972
Returning POWs give no political views

By John Vionece
Associated Press Writer

Three American pilots released from North Vietnamese prison camps flew home Thursday night and one said the American people must bear the "responsibility," for bringing the remaining 400 men out of captivity.

Lt. j.g. Mark Gartley, Lt. j.g. Norris Charles and Maj. Edward Elias left Copenhagen for New York after their first hours outside the Communist world. They had arrived in Denmark on Thursday morning from Moscow, en route home from Prague and Hanoi with their antwerp chaperones.

A Defense Department spokesman in Washington said arrangements had been made for a team of military officials, including physicians, to meet the pilots upon their arrival at Kennedy Airport in New York.

The remark about responsibility came from Charles. It was the toughest, most politically oriented statement to come out of an airport news conference but none of the three pilots would endorse a U.S. presidential candidate or offer criticism or support for American tactics in Vietnam.

"It was my belief and the belief of the men with whom I lived in Hanoi," said Charles, "that if the war is terminated their return home will be certain. I have committed myself to do everything in my power to work for their return home."

Navy pilots may have flown unauthorized bombing raids

WASHINGTON (AP) - A former Navy pilot was described today as telling a Senate probe that the Navy, as well as the Air Force launched pre-meditated bombing attacks against North Vietnam under the guise of "protective reaction."

Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., after listening to former ATC Corsair pilot William Groeppe in a closed hearing, said he felt "some higher echelon" may be involved in the raids which were similar to those for which Air Force Gen. John Lavelle was relieved of command.

Schweiker said he would like to have former Pacific commander Adm. John McCain testify in the Senate Armed Services Committee probe.

"I am greatly disturbed by what I heard this morning," Schwecker said, and Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., added separately: "If the fellow's testimony was right, more than one service is involved in the preplanned bombing raids regardless of reiteration."

Schweiker said Groeppe described two raids involving 15 to 20 aircraft from the U.S.S. Constellation and a third raid which was canceled because of weather.

Groeppe said he did not go on the second raid, but was scheduled for the third.

The pilots were briefed on targets to attack, and the reconnaissance aircraft trailed, instead of led, the flight, Groeppe reportedly said. Since the time of the raids was before the White House ordered renewed heavy bombing of North Vietnam, the role of "protective reaction" allowed aircraft to attack only if the reconnaissance aircraft received fire and missile-radar signals.

Elias added that the fliers' decision to use commercial aircraft was "the best thing for all of us and the men we left behind."

The pilots denied that they had been selected for release because they may have made a bargain to campaign against the war. They said North Vietnam had set no conditions.

Gartley commented: "One condition I can say, no, not a condition, but in a farewell speech at a reception given for us a man said we don't care what you do, you say. We don't expect you to be our friends. Just tell your friends and people you see, don't be our enemy."

Elias, who had been a prisoner four months, said he did not go back on combat duty and Charles said he saw no reason for their military careers to be jeopardized by what they were doing.

"I don't believe the military holds truth against anyone," he commented.

Asked to characterize the attitudes about the war of the men in captivity, Charles replied: "I can say the feelings are just like in America, pro and con. Well, they all agree that the war should be terminated, that the war should be ended."

The reaction of the men to their first days of freedom was similar. They said they were very happy - "it's different and it's good." Elias commented - but all said they would be happier still to hear that their friends would be freed.

On the flight from Moscow to Copenhagen, as the Communist world receded, Lt. Gartley caught Maj. Elias' eye. "I'd say we are in the free world now," said Gartley.

"Let's drink a toast to that." And they raised glasses of dry Russian wine and did so.

BONAPARTE'S
BLOODY WILLIAMSON

*15c Beer *
Monday Nite

Sponsored by Citizens for Howlett for Secretary of State

Paid by: 'C'dale Citizens for Howlett.
Craig M. Lang, Chairman

THE BIG MUDDY BOOM presents

Friday Night Sept. 29
'Happy Feet & Friends'
8-12 p.m.
blues & rock

Saturday Night Sept. 30
'Carl Fletcher'
8-12 p.m.
blues, folk country & western

Malibu Village
for Comfortable, Desirable, Affordable

MOBILE HOMES

new sales department now renting for fall mobile homes or spaces check our fall rates near campus
Rt. 51 South
457-8383
457-5312

Malibu Village

July Egyptian, September 29, 1972, Page 17
Changes recommended in veterans' admission

By Bernard F. Whalen
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

SIU's admissions policies for veterans are among the most restrictive in the Illinois state university system, according to Robert McGrath, dean of admissions and records.

McGrath has recommended three changes in veteran admissions policies to the Faculty Council.

—An Illinois veteran who has finished high school, but has not attended college, should be permitted to enter SIU at any quarter. At present, veterans must have a score of 21 on the American College Testing Exam, or have graduated in the upper one-half of their high school class to enter fall quarter.

—An Illinois veteran who wishes to enter SIU as a transfer student should be permitted to start any quarter regardless of whether he meets regular admissions standards. The present policy requires that all transfer students have 42 hours of "C" work to be eligible for entrance. McGrath asks that veterans entering on scholastic warning be given at least two quarters in which to make satisfactory progress.

—Illinois veterans, who have previously attended SIU, should be permitted to receive upon return from service any quarter regardless of grades as an academic status. McGrath recommends that veterans who left SIU on scholastic warning or below be readmitted on good standing-scholastic warning even if they were below that status when leaving SIU. Present policy requires that returning students on scholastic warning have permission of their academic dean to re-enter. The dean may also stipulate at which quarter the re-entering student may enroll.

McGrath said the new admissions standards, if approved, may allow more students to enter SIU and may improve the University's relationship with veterans.

If the veterans entering the University require developmental courses regardless of whether they meet regular admissions standards, McGrath said the SIU development courses must be offered at SIU before such students. McGrath said, however, the skill program should not be mandatory.

McGrath sent the recommendations to Executive Vice President Willis Malone, who referred them to the Faculty Council. Malone asked the council, which referred the matter to the undergraduate policy committee, to make recommendations on the veterans admissions standards by the end of fall quarter.
The Harmon Football Forecast

The Harmon Football Forecast

1. OKLAHOMA

2. SOUTHERN CAL

3. THE DAME

4. ALABAMA

5. MICHIGAN

6. COLORADO

7. TENNESSEE

8. ARIZONA STATE

9. L.S.U.

10. PENN STATE

12. TEXAS TECH

13. STANFORD

14. IOWA STATE

15. OHIO STATE

Other Games—East

Other Games—Midwest

Other Games—South and Southwest

Other Games—Far West

The Harmon PRO Forecast

Kansas City

Chief's might run into all they can handle from the Bronchos. Steve Ramsey has moved the club real well.

Detroit

Even though the Lions are back down from being sky-high for most of the last week, they should have enough spirit to stop the Detroit offense.

San Francisco

After getting caught in Buffett's upset county last week, the 49ers should have things pretty much their own way.

Baltimore

And if the Colts aren't careful, they'll also get caught in the "Ting." If Buff can move as he did against the Jets, Colt's should win.

Los Angeles

Rams played "dead" during exhibition season, and died a little last week too. Falcons should be med. good chance for upset.

Oakland

The Raiders play at Richmond and they really need to win this week, if they want to keep their shot at the flag. A loss here would mean a John Madden quite a task.

Dallas

Giants may win first of their Philadelphia against the Cowboys and Lions. But don't tell the Eagles short.

Pittsburgh

Both teams started strong with upset wins. This is almost a toss-up edge to Pittsburgh.

HIGHLIGHTS for Sept. 30

It should never be said, especially by someone in the crazy business of forecasting football. However, we'll say it this week doesn't look like a particularly tough week for most of the teams in the Top Twenty. Only about four of them really face problems. So watch the upset's.

Oklahoma, still very much the Number One team in the nation, shouldn't have to work too hard to handle Clemson. The Tigers are 57-point underdogs to the Sooners.

Southern Cal. reeled in the runner-up spot; and they just might have a troublesome ball game with some unhappy Spartans of Michigan State. The Spartans dropped out of the Top 20 after losing to Georgia Tech last week. The Tigers will win by sixteen. One of Saturday's major struggles involves 7th-ranked Michigan vs. Auburn. The Tide and Tigers have had some real battles through the years. The Tigers led in their series, 12 games to 10. This year Tennessee seems to be the power. Auburn to lose by 10 points.

The Buckeyes of Ohio State not only started their season a week late, but then promptly lost a week off after their first game. The Bucks, rated 15th in the Harmon system, will clip North Carolina by 15 points.

In the Big Eight, Colorado meets Oklahoma State in a league game. The Buffaloes, rated 8th, should have little trouble winning by 27 points. Nebraska, 8th, and Iowa State, 14, play outside the conference. The Cornhuskers would rate to beat Minnesota by 41 points, and the Cyclones are 13 points stronger than their fellow.

Purdue gave Washington fans last week, but the Boilermakers may have fits of their own this week. They meet Notre Dame, 3rd, and the Irish are 30-point favorites.

Another toughie matches Texas and Texas Tech in a Southwest Conference game. The Tech Red Raiders are rated in the 12 spot this week. Texas is 16th. Based on our power quotients, this could go either way. We'll take Texas Tech by five points.

That big winner in last week's top inter-sectional game was Michigan, now the Number Five team in the country (they actually stayed right where they were). The Wolverines are expected to afford a let-down as Tulane has been making a loud victory noises. Michigan is favored over the Green Wave by 18 points.

10-ranked L.S.U. runs into undefeated Wisconsin, but the Tigers will win by 15.

McDonald's . . . for people who know good eating

817 S. Illinois & Westown Shopping Mall

See all Football Games in Color along side of a Pitcher of Beer at Buffalo Bob's

11:00 a.m. to 2:00 a.m. 101 W. College C'dale

24 hour prescription service
• SIU T-Shirts • Cards • SIU Decals • School Supplies • Magazines

University Drugs
901 S. Illinois, Westown, Campus Shopping Center

Daily Egyptian, September 29, 1972, Page 19
FOR SALE

AUTOMOTIVE

Motorcycles

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $325. 549-1230.

1969 CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1971 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda AC750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, excellent condition, $300. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Yamaha XS850, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1971 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1969 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1970 Honda CB750, very good condition, $295. 549-1230.

1967 Honda CB750, good condition, $295. 549-1230.
Mini-Kool Compact Refrigerators for rent
549-0234

HELP WANTED
Help wanted, female, need 1 straight experience, bartender & 2 straight experience. Full or part time, good wages, good times, good working conditions, apply in person at Plaza Lounge, 601 E. Main St., 784.
Part time, must work whole days, call for appointment at Thrifty, 784-2081.

R.H. Storage maximum minimal expensive easy access
549-6778
Student papers, free. Books, types, highest quality. Guaranteed no marks. Rent, $15 per month. Address, next door to Plaza Grill. (784-5623)

Moving house, local or 2 or 3 ton enclosed truck. Fair rates, 487-2970.

First R.S. Storage maximum minimal expensive easy access
549-6778
Student papers, free. Books, types, highest quality. Guaranteed no marks. Rent, $15 per month. Address, next door to Plaza Grill. (784-5623)

Moving house, local or 2 or 3 ton enclosed truck. Fair rates, 487-2970.

Students to participate in Baptist Student Government check in this week at 8:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. in the Baptist Chapel. Fort Valley State University. Bethel Student Center 549-4053.

LOST
Last gray and white male huskie dog about 6 mos. old, comes to the names of Milo. Lost. Reward.
Last black kitten, 8 mos., wearing red wavy collar, last seen Anita-south 31, 566-2882.

Take all furniture, boys and girls, call 549-6873.

Lost, a male Irish Setter, please return to Carter's construction or call 564-7400. Ask for Helen. Reward.

Lost brown multicolored long haired kitten, white with black spots and white feet, call 564-7400. Reward.

Edgewood Mobile Estates
New 12x50 mobile homes
Furnished
Archipelago
Colonial Mobile Home Village
Water Garbage and Water heater
Ample parking
Guaranteed maintenance
Located 1 mile north on Rt. 81
Turn right at Made Grove
Must or details
Call 549-8333

DISCOUNT HOUSING
No lease required.
AC. Call 549-6054, 549-4357, 549-7335.

Mini-Kool Compact Refrigerators for rent
549-0234

HELP WANTED
Help wanted, female, need 1 straight experience, bartender & 2 straight experience. Full or part time, good wages, good times, good working conditions, apply in person at Plaza Lounge, 601 E. Main St., 784.
Part time, must work whole days, call for appointment at Thrifty, 784-2081.

R.H. Storage maximum minimal expensive easy access
549-6778
Student papers, free. Books, types, highest quality. Guaranteed no marks. Rent, $15 per month. Address, next door to Plaza Grill. (784-5623)

Moving house, local or 2 or 3 ton enclosed truck. Fair rates, 487-2970.

First R.S. Storage maximum minimal expensive easy access
549-6778
Student papers, free. Books, types, highest quality. Guaranteed no marks. Rent, $15 per month. Address, next door to Plaza Grill. (784-5623)

Moving house, local or 2 or 3 ton enclosed truck. Fair rates, 487-2970.

Students to participate in Baptist Student Government check in this week at 8:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. in the Baptist Chapel. Fort Valley State University. Bethel Student Center 549-4053.

LOST
Last gray and white male huskie dog about 6 mos. old, comes to the names of Milo. Lost. Reward.
Last black kitten, 8 mos., wearing red wavy collar, last seen Anita-south 31, 566-2882.

Take all furniture, boys and girls, call 549-6873.

Lost, a male Irish Setter, please return to Carter's construction or call 564-7400. Ask for Helen. Reward.

Lost brown multicolored long haired kitten, white with black spots and white feet, call 564-7400. Reward.

Edgewood Mobile Estates
New 12x50 mobile homes
Furnished
Archipelago
Colonial Mobile Home Village
Water Garbage and Water heater
Ample parking
Guaranteed maintenance
Located 1 mile north on Rt. 81
Turn right at Made Grove
Must or details
Call 549-8333

DISCOUNT HOUSING
No lease required.
AC. Call 549-6054, 549-4357, 549-7335.

Mini-Kool Compact Refrigerators for rent
549-0234

HELP WANTED
Help wanted, female, need 1 straight experience, bartender & 2 straight experience. Full or part time, good wages, good times, good working conditions, apply in person at Plaza Lounge, 601 E. Main St., 784.
Part time, must work whole days, call for appointment at Thrifty, 784-2081.

R.H. Storage maximum minimal expensive easy access
549-6778
Student papers, free. Books, types, highest quality. Guaranteed no marks. Rent, $15 per month. Address, next door to Plaza Grill. (784-5623)

Moving house, local or 2 or 3 ton enclosed truck. Fair rates, 487-2970.

First R.S. Storage maximum minimal expensive easy access
549-6778
Student papers, free. Books, types, highest quality. Guaranteed no marks. Rent, $15 per month. Address, next door to Plaza Grill. (784-5623)

Moving house, local or 2 or 3 ton enclosed truck. Fair rates, 487-2970.

Students to participate in Baptist Student Government check in this week at 8:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. in the Baptist Chapel. Fort Valley State University. Bethel Student Center 549-4053.

LOST
Last gray and white male huskie dog about 6 mos. old, comes to the names of Milo. Lost. Reward.
Last black kitten, 8 mos., wearing red wavy collar, last seen Anita-south 31, 566-2882.

Take all furniture, boys and girls, call 549-6873.

Lost, a male Irish Setter, please return to Carter's construction or call 564-7400. Ask for Helen. Reward.

Lost brown multicolored long haired kitten, white with black spots and white feet, call 564-7400. Reward.

Edgewood Mobile Estates
New 12x50 mobile homes
Furnished
Archipelago
Colonial Mobile Home Village
Water Garbage and Water heater
Ample parking
Guaranteed maintenance
Located 1 mile north on Rt. 81
Turn right at Made Grove
Must or details
Call 549-8333

DISCOUNT HOUSING
No lease required.
AC. Call 549-6054, 549-4357, 549-7335.

Mini-Kool Compact Refrigerators for rent
549-0234

HELP WANTED
Help wanted, female, need 1 straight experience, bartender & 2 straight experience. Full or part time, good wages, good times, good working conditions, apply in person at Plaza Lounge, 601 E. Main St., 784.
Part time, must work whole days, call for appointment at Thrifty, 784-2081.

R.H. Storage maximum minimal expensive easy access
549-6778
Student papers, free. Books, types, highest quality. Guaranteed no marks. Rent, $15 per month. Address, next door to Plaza Grill. (784-5623)

Moving house, local or 2 or 3 ton enclosed truck. Fair rates, 487-2970.

First R.S. Storage maximum minimal expensive easy access
549-6778
Student papers, free. Books, types, highest quality. Guaranteed no marks. Rent, $15 per month. Address, next door to Plaza Grill. (784-5623)

Moving house, local or 2 or 3 ton enclosed truck. Fair rates, 487-2970.

Students to participate in Baptist Student Government check in this week at 8:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. in the Baptist Chapel. Fort Valley State University. Bethel Student Center 549-4053.

LOST
Last gray and white male huskie dog about 6 mos. old, comes to the names of Milo. Lost. Reward.
Last black kitten, 8 mos., wearing red wavy collar, last seen Anita-south 31, 566-2882.

Take all furniture, boys and girls, call 549-6873.

Lost, a male Irish Setter, please return to Carter's construction or call 564-7400. Ask for Helen. Reward.

Lost brown multicolored long haired kitten, white with black spots and white feet, call 564-7400. Reward.

Edgewood Mobile Estates
New 12x50 mobile homes
Furnished
Archipelago
Colonial Mobile Home Village
Water Garbage and Water heater
Ample parking
Guaranteed maintenance
Located 1 mile north on Rt. 81
Turn right at Made Grove
Must or details
Call 549-8333

DISCOUNT HOUSING
No lease required.
AC. Call 549-6054, 549-4357, 549-7335.
School boys’ sewing grows in ratio

Although there are more female high school schoolmasters, a survey of teenage clothing selection practices reveals that some high school boys are sewing for themselves these days.

Jacqueline Ann Riley, who made the study as her thesis requirement in clothing and textiles, polled high school seniors in three Southern Illinois communities—Dolgoon, Carbondale and Cairo.

She found that at times, 12 boys sewed for themselves. But 80 per cent of Dolgoon girls, 60 per cent of Carbondale girls and 36 per cent of the Cairo girls make some of their own clothing. Sixty-eight per cent of the students make their own purchases of clothing, and 36 per cent of the boys and 15 per cent of the girls pay for all they buy, the survey showed.

More than half expressed a preference for more practical clothing rather than higher quality, but also more than half wanted brand labels. Style and cost are more important than quality, however, for most of the students. More than 70 per cent reported they consider ease of care in buying a garment, although more girls than boys gave this matter attention.

A quarter of the students said they "always" made their preparations to fit in with what they already have, and more than half replied "sometimes." Fewer boys gave this factor consideration.

Three-fourths of the students considered themselves "well-dressed." Third-fourths said they dress to please themselves primarily. Opinions of boyfriends and girlfriends were a distant second.

Uncrowded Badlands

WASHINGTON (AP)—Perhaps the Badlands National Monument has a bad name.

For some reason, it is one of those rare national parks or monuments that actually is undercrowded. In 1971, about a million and a half visitors toured the desolate man's land, but it could easily have handled twice that number.
Brundage celebrates 85th, thinks Games will continue

By Jerry Link
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Avery Brundage, retired president of the International Olympic Committee, Thursday night at the La Salle Hotel here formally opened the Olympic Games that celebrate his 85th birthday and give the world another 36 big sporting events.

Brundage, now replaced as IOC leader by Lord Killanin, finished his 26-year term presiding at the tragic and controversial Munich Games and at which a guerrilla slaying of 11 Israeli sportsmen was the first act.

Brundage, just returned to his office in the La Salle Hotel he once owned, told the Associated Press in an interview: "These Games will survive, no question about it. But, as I have said for years, there should be some drastic changes. The Games are too large and too expensive."

The still alert, stern-featured Brundage said certain sports, "more business than sport," should be stripped from the Olympic program.

He cited particularly soccer and basketball.

"You can't find a handful of soccer players anywhere who are true amateurs," said Brundage. "The same is true for basketball, and especially in the United States. Are players who get $20,000 athletic scholarships amateurs?"

Some basic Olympic sports Brundage said should continue are track, swimming, gymnastics, wrestling, weight-lifting and fencing.

The response to suggestions following the strife-torn Munich Games that individual World Championships should replace the Olympics, Brundage snapped, "that would mean just another track meet, or just another swimming meet."

He described the Olympic Movement as "almost a religion" and said the Olympic Games were a "demonstration of the Olympic Movement" in which, excepting the world economic system, "business and sports leaders of each country were brought together at a level of high principles."

A prime example, Brundage said, was Japan which "applied Olympic principles successfully to become a world economic power since World War II." Japan hosted the 1964 Olympics.

Behind a desk buried under congratulations, birthday cables, wage mail packets and honorary medals, Brundage defended his speech at the Olympic memorial service for the slain Israelis which referred to earlier expulsion of Rhodesia from the Munich Games.

"I did it deliberately because the African thing was a savage attack on Olympic principles," said Brundage, who was overruled by the IOC as it barred Rhodesia under threat of Olympic boycott by black African nations.

"If we suspended the Games everyday a politician made a mistake, we wouldn't have any Games. Principles are as important as human lives. Wasn't it Patrick Henry who said 'Give me liberty or give me death.'"

The anger was that of an elegant, chain-smoking old man who believes in large, complex sports and a larger role of the Olympic Movement for peace and understanding.

The Egilen incident happened in the third period and was in sharp contrast to the opening ceremonies, which was the Canadian players present Western hats and Canadian flags, the Russian team, said: "This is what happens when two great teams meet. We were not weaker than the Canadian team in this game. We lacked a little experience in playing hockey."

The Eagleson incident happened after Team Canada had tied the score 5-5. Vas Conroy asked the puck through the legs of Vladislav Tretyak, but the red light failed to come on and the 3,000 emotional Canadian fans roared, thinking the goal was being disallowed.

Suddenly, Pete Mohovich leaped over the boards with his stick flying and his teammates on the ice joined him in a melee. Then Sinden and assistant coach John Ferguson ran across the ice and pulled team director Eagleson over the boards away from the crowd and escorted him across the ice to the Canadian bench.

"I was going to the timer's bench to tell him to put the light on," Eagleson said later.

"Suddenly, about 18 cops jumped on me. They were really giving it to me good when Peter came over. I wouldn't live under this system if you paid me."

EXPERIMENTAL FILM FESTIVAL

Free Features

- 'I Feel a Draft' (the Mountain)
- 'L.A. Life' (Plastic Bag)

and also: live electronic music

<Feauture>

CURRENCY EXCHANGE

- Checks cashed
- License plates
- Money orders
- Title service
- Notary public
- Travelers checks

Save your $10 bill here

Carbondale Western Union Agent
Compact Travel Shopping Center

Carbondale Bike Shop
801 E. Main (near Lunts)
549-1632

SALE!

40% off

SALE!

14k & 18k Jewelry
30% off

First Lutheran Church
115 N. 14th, Murphysboro
Worship: 10:30 a.m. - Nursey
Sunday School: 9:30 a.m.

The Rev. Robert Trendel, Pastor - 684-2047
We invite you to worship with us.

MUSIC COMPANY

606 S. Ill.
457-8543

Specializing in Lessons on almost All Instruments

- Drums
- Trumpets
- Guitars
- Trombones
- Saxophones
- Clarinets

Featuring: Martin, Guild, Yamaha, AKG, JBL

Don's ANNUAL FALL

SALE!

Use your Layaway

SAVES 20% to 30% off

Don's Jeweler
400 S. Illinois

14k & 18k Jewelry
30% off

Earrings, etc.
30% off

Pendants

Daily Egyptian, September 29, 1977, Page 23
AstroTurf: It's here and then gone again

By Elliot Tompkins
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Yesterday wasn't a good day for Carl Hofman.

Hofman, a member of the Campus Architect's Office, is in charge of the McGraw Stadium AstroTurf installation. Or "un-installation."

After a month's delay on the project, work finally began yesterday morning on the actual laying of the turf. But, it didn't take long for another obstacle to appear.

After a month's delay on the project, work finally began yesterday morning on the actual laying of the turf. But, it didn't take long for another obstacle to appear.

The work began around 9 a.m. when a 3-foot high green glue was spread across the northeast end of the field.

A large tractor, with a long arm to hold the rolls of vinyl padding, came next securing the padding to the glue. It took no more than half an hour for one strip of padding to be glued down.

At last the turf would go down exactly right. But, that's what has turned into a comedy of errors, with strikes and rain delays, was finally shaping up. The project for the first time was running on schedule.

Any officials of the Monsanto Chemical Co., developers of AstroTurf, discovered some wet areas on the base.

The wet areas caused concern because the glue that holds down the padding will not adhere to a moist surface.

The first it was though that the simple procedure of drying the asphalt with a propane torch would solve the problem. But, the asphalt didn't dry.

Saluki offense out to 'shock'

Southern Illinois' football squad has it tough on the field for the weekend.

The Salukis travel to Wichita, Kan., to face a tough Wichita State team that is still savoring last week's 6-0 upset over perennial small college power Arkansas State.

SIU is hoping to snap a two-game losing streak that started since 1969.

The Shockers hold a 12-2 advantage in the series, and record this season with defeats coming at Southern Illinois' hands.

Action last year saw the Shockers squeak out a 28-24 thriller over the Salukis.

Wichita took advantage of the "big play" mentality of the Salukis to win 21-14 in favor of Wichita State.

The Salukis' only victory was a 26-21 win.

George Luckas stole the show, however, and rushed for 224 yards and scored three touchdowns for the winners.

The series between the two schools stands at 2-1 in favor of Wichita State.

The Salukis' only victory was a 1966 win, 17-7.

Saluki head coach Dick Towers has been drilling his players all week on fundamentals that have collapsed in the past.

Wichita operates a passing game.

Their quarterback Tom Orme has thrown the ball 40 times against Arkansas State.

"We have to keep possession of the ball and run it," Towers said.

"With their kind of wide open game we can't afford to fumble the ball. They are going to be a real test for us this week," he added.

There will be some changes for the Salukis Saturday night.

Towers still hasn't decided who will start at quarterback.

Jim Sullivan and Billy Richmond each have a chance to get the starting call. A decision won't be made until game time, Towers said.

The starting backfield will be Sam Reed and Mike Espelin. Reed will help out the second team.

Towers replaced Luckas and Espelin with Mike Hinkle, who fumbled the ball three times in last week's loss.

It was later determined by Hofman and the Monsanto personnel that water was trapped under the 5/8 inch layer of asphalt.

The E.T. Simonson Construction Co., of Carbondale, was called in to remedy the problem. The problem is soluble, but it's going to take time.

Simons is digging holes along the west sidelines of the field to speed up the drainage process.

The drainage is being hampered by a 36 inch deep concrete footer that circles the asphalt base. The concrete, being much deeper than the asphalt, is trapping the water under the surface.

Simons workers brought in a large circular saw to cut away the concrete where the drainage holes were dug. In addition a pump was brought in to speed up the draining process.

If it doesn't rain, one day might be sufficient time for the water to drain.

But, if the rain continues a real problem could develop.

The field has to be completed before Oct. 7, when the SIU football team is scheduled to play its first home game of the season.

If it becomes impossible to finish the turf installation, the game, with Dayton University, will probably be delayed until the end of the football season.

The AstroTurf is being installed in a secret hiding place somewhere on campus. Authorities are afraid to release the name of the storage area in fear that some students might try to carpet their trailers with the fake grass.

The Monsanto crew made good use of the unexpected spare time by laying some turf on the baseball batting cages behind YU's Abe Martin field, south of the Arena.

Harrigan's chase after fourth win;
Hartzog cautions overconfidence

By Jim Braun
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Seeking its fourth consecutive victory of the season, Southern Illinois' cross-country team hopes to shun any forms of complacency this weekend.

And it can be tough on a squad which stopped Big Ten power Indiana's 37-race winning streak, 21-36, last Saturday.

The SIU Harrigans (140) travel to Normal for a Saturday morning duel with Illinois State (42).

"Sure, we'll be the favorites in the meet," Saluki head coach Lew Hartzog said, "but we're not overlooking them at all."

On paper, it looks like a David and Goliath mismatch. The Redbirds boast two freshmen and juniors, seven sophomores and no seniors on their Illini team. Illinois State also lost decisively to Indiana and Indiana State, 20-39 and 24-35, respectively. Two of SIU's three wins were registered against those schools.

As Hartzog pointed out, however, five freshmen from last year's Redbird team formed its nucleus which later decided Saluki's (minus Dave Hill) in the 1971 Midwest Conference championships. ISU placed second to Indiana and Indiana State.

The Redbirds possess wins over Eastern Kentucky, Eastern Illinois, Northern Illinois and Loyola (the latter three in a triangular match earlier in the season)."It'll be tough to meet for us Saturday."

"Illinois State coach Roger Weller said we expected our best competition this season to come from Southern Illinois."

ISU's top harrier is sophomore Dave Berg, who posted a 25:14 time in winning the five-mile race last week in DeKalb. The Decatur native was also the team's top runner in other meets.

"We thought he ran a good race Saturday," Weller said. "Low (Hartzog) will tell you too that he's shown fully the potential.

The Northern Illinois course is pretty flat and hilly and you can't compare times of flat and hilly courses."

The 25-14 run by Berg was 35 seconds faster than John St. John's effort against Indiana. But the five-mile cross-country course at Bloomington, Ind., is considered much hillier than at DeKalb.

Alongside ISU's Berg are Fred Beck, Galesburg freshman Randy Isemagle, Dan Pittenger and Richard Hanrahan.

Weller considers the quintet as Illinois State's strongest runners although a sixth, John Keane, is currently in the hospital.

"They should run 10 percent better on us Saturday," Hartzog said. "They're been mad at us ever since we dropped out of the Midwestern Conference."

As for the Salukis' successes this fall, Hartzog attributes the showings to "a fine team effort. We've been running real well right now, but there are things we'd like to improve."

The SIU coach maintained a closing of the time spread between the seven runners as one of the areas of improvement.

"At Indiana, the gap between first and seventh for us was a minute and 24 seconds. We'd like to cut that down to one minute."

Against the Hoosiers, John St. John, Gerry Craig, Gerry Hinton and Hill placed second through fifth, a mere 11-second separation. The next three Salukis were separated from the leaders by 73 seconds.

The five-mile run begins at 11 a.m. Saturday morning at Normal. SIU will also attempt its seventh straight winning streak dating back from the latter three meets of the 1971 season.

Oakland wins AL West

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland clinched baseball's American League West championship Thursday as Dal Maxwell drilled a game-winning double in the bottom of the ninth inning to power the A's to an 8-7 triumph over the Minnesota Twins.

A's head coach Fred LaRoche, 37, hit leadoff batter Sal Bando with a pitch before Maxwell doubled to left-center field to win the game for Rollie Fingers, 10-9.

The A's, trailing 7-4 after five innings, fought back to tie it in the eighth on Angel Mangual's bases-loaded, two-run single.

Mangual had a pinch double in the seventh when Oakland struck for three runs to narrow Minnesota's lead to 7-5. Steve Braun had a two-run double for the Twins in the first innings, then singled home a run in a five-run fifth that knocked out Oakland starter John "Blue Moon" Odem.

Mike Epstein's 26th home run of the season put Oakland on the scoreboard in the fifth inning and Joe Rudi hit a double play grounder that gave the A's another run in the sixth.
Fall, winter coats for men offer style, fabric variety

By Jerry Patano
Student Writer

Men's fall and winter coats are now on sale at most men's stores in the Carbondale area. The coats are offered in a wide variety of styles and colors.

A contributing factor to this years' variety of coats is the differing opinion among buyers as to what will be popular with students.

Don Hango, owner of the Square Shop LTD, located in the Murdale Shopping Plaza, said that this year, as well as previous ones, the student is offered a completely new line of coats. Although he suggests that popular styles are double knit coats and poplin jackets, he has purchased many other styles leaving a preference to the student.

A 30 per cent increase in the cost of leather goods has caused many storeowners not to buy hides this year but a few will still carry a complete line. One of these is John's Men's Store, 700 S. Illinois Ave. Eric Chait, employee at the store, feels that one of the major changes in the leather and sueded line will be the addition of more colors.

"Brown was big last year, but this year we're offering the suedes in blue, grey and burgundy as well as the traditional browns," Chait said.

He also said that a unique style this year will be the shearing. The shearing is a patchwork of matched sheepskin patches with feature lining, sewn together to form a full length coat. The shopkeepers are in general agreement that the belted look and the midf have faded away and that plasds in all sizes and colors are making a comeback.

"Wantage and bush coats will be in style for fall," said Ruth Akekruse of Caru Men's Store, 606 S. Illinois Ave. The jackets will come in an assortment of colors.

Sales personnel at Goldsmith's Men's Wear, 811 S. Illinois Ave., feel that a popular material this fall and winter will be brushed corduroy, in all lengths and styles.

Additions to many of the coats this year will be patched pockets and cuffled sleeves. Also featured are snaps in place of the button with contrast stitching on collars and pockets.

Older styles that will be sold again this year are zip-up coats as well as coats that reflect a military styling.

For dress up

The layered look for afternoon-to-evening wear from Kay's features belted and casual dresses in washable fabrics--as modeled by Elizabeth Johnson, wearing a skirt in red, black and gold plaid, and Bern Adkins (Photo by Jay Needlemann)

'Grub look' fades; outlook dressier

By Greg Mowry
Student Writer

The look coming out this fall is not the grub look but one that is a bit more dressier according to Margie Jampolis, clerk at Rocky Mountain Surplus, 311 S. Illinois. Not that suits and ties are to be the thing, but she says clothes will look a little nicer.

A lot of the old favorites will still be around, such as army surplus clothes, jeans, work shirts and flannel shirts. Ms. Jampolis added that there are some new variations of old styles. She gave for examples, elephant bells and baggies also called pazzos pants. Elephant bells are an exaggerated version of regular bells, they have a bell width of from 30 to 40 inches. Baggies are just what they sound like, baggy all the way down. She also said one thing that's becoming big is clothes and accessories from foreign lands.

Byron Varon, owner of the Junction Stop, 715 S. University agreed that foreign clothes and other paraphernalia are starting to sell very well.

Almost half of the Junction Stop's merchandise is devoted to clothes and accessories from such countries as India, Afghanistan, Guatemala and Israel. Varon said that a popular item be stocks in shirts and blouses that have hand stitching in them. He said that these shirts take a long time to make and the end result is beautiful. He also said that such items as rug bags and pant suits from Afghanitan, panchos from Guatamala, and hand embroidered purses were becoming very popular with women.

Andrea Wolovech, a clerk at the Main Street Botique, 403 S. Illinois said that one new look that is becoming popular is the layered look. This consists of a short sweater with a blousc underneath. She also added that these short sweaters, called shrinks, could be worn alone. Both styles are becoming very popular in the way of blouses. Ms. Wolovech said that the dolman sleeve in blouses was very popular. This is a regular type blouse with puffed sleeves. She added that such items as knee socks, squared toed saddle shoes and smocks are a steady diet for most women.

The fashion for the near future seems to be leather clothes, according to Bruce Collins, owner of the Leather Tree, 715 S. University. He said that shirts, pants, visors, hats, belts and patches all made of leather is growing in popularity. He said the trend is slow in catching on but is sure many people will like the newest look.
U-necks, cuffs are for men

By Katie Pratt Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

If you see a man with a donkey on his back, don’t panic. He’s only trying to be fashionable. Donkeys are among the many animal print designs to be found on shirts this year.

Appropriately titled elephant bunch, a print with elephant tusks made of brushed denim, corduroy and velour have taken the fashion world by the tucks. The layered look, replete with a baggy sweater and a knit or woven shirt will be the “look for ’71 and ’72.”

The causally-dressed college student will be wearing shoes with stacked heels, coffee and striped baggy pants and a neck sleeveless sweater with a rockabilly short underneath. Covering the ensemble will be a leather or suede coat in either a short western length or a length long enough to complement the baggy pants.

For a night on the town, a wide-lapped corduroy suit with a hand-woven pewter or knitted dress shirt, or a velvet suit with leather trim is suggested.

In the casual coat line, the double-pocketed brush coat is making the scene.

For the man who likes to wear a short jacket, the new western look should suit his taste. In a tailored or fitted look the short jacket will be seen this year in fake furs or all leathers.

There have not been receiving as much notice in the past few years, but Goldie’s Store for Men still stocks an ample supply of caps.

Owner and manager of the store, Harry Goldstein says “the big thing with the college students is the jeans and the top.”

Females as well as males seem to be attracted to mens jeans. Ruth Alterkruse, manager and owner of Caruso’s Men’s Shop says this is in part because men jeans fit well. The restaurants. They can get the length and style they too," she said.

But purchases by girls are not restricted to men’s slacks, Mrs. Alterkruse said. “Girls buy men’s shirts as well;” she said. “Most men’s short shirts are less expensive and men’s dress shirts are well-made.”

Steve Goldsmith, president of the three-store Goldsmith chain, says women buy fewer men’s clothing in his store because Gold- smith’s stocks women’s slacks that are designed along the same lines as men’s.

In reflecting on the male trade, Goldsmith said that the responsibility for being in fashion rests on the shoulders of the store owner.

“Men have to rely on a knowledgeable store where people are well informed,” he said.

Goldsmith makes frequent trips to New York so that he can be on top of what’s happening in fashion. "You have to know what a quality garment is, what value is and what price range it should be in." He feels the overall strength of fashion for men this year is the way clothes can be put together. Two years ago fashion was extreme and the next year was all knits. This season fashion isn’t as extreme but all the fabrics are being utilized. In order to determine fashion, Goldsmith says that the store owner or manager has to know the customer and be able to satisfy customers’ needs. He says use of his own skills in bringing what is fashionable to help.

For the man who wants to proclaim to himself what’s fashionable, Goldsmith has on hand copies of Playboy and Glamour.

Goldsmith doesn’t recommend the exclusive use of magazine ads in determining fashion because he says that fashion magazines usually plug their advertisers and “that’s not necessarily what’s happening in fashion.”

Student entrepreneurs work to defray college expenses

In times when a dollar really does buy as much as it is used to and that includes financing an education, many students have become part-time businessmen and women in order to earn money for academic expenses.

Here’s how a few of these ingenious entrepreneurs are working to defray college expenses.

According to the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU), it’s a family affair at Sacramento State College (Calif.) where Terry and Martin Black have established “Recycle Records.” They sell surplus records (new, used or clearance sale leftovers) either for cash or trading. In addition, Terry, recently returned from Vietnam, leased a ten room house in Sacramento, completely renovated the dwelling and moved in nine tenant students. The Redons Co-Op is a grocery store run by students for students, it is manned by volunteers at State University at Fredonia (N.Y.), who began operation through a grant from their Student Government. A new publishing company.

“Accessories for men show little change

Men’s accessories will have few changes this year.

Ties will continue to be four inches wide, but a new look in ties is the border print. The border print is a solid color or a design with a diagonal design near the bottom of the tie. The ties are made out of polyester knit and silk.

Sales are going up with the border print. They do not wrinkle and they go well with most shirts, said a salesman at an Illinois Avenue store.

There are two kinds of belts, one for dress and one for casual wear. The dress belt has a solid color and a buckle without a fancy design. The casual belt has an assortment of colors and designs. Also the casual belt is thicker and slightly wider than the dress belt.

Tie clips are not being worn anymore, because of the wide width of the tie.

Linen in sales of French cuff shirts, cuff links are rarely seen anymore.

Pacesetting Whistle-Stoppers

Uncle Cleve Heavy's 1 Pocket

Good for him...

Great for her!

Whether you're stacked up or straight down

Heavy's has Pants For You

- Low Risers
- 40 inch Bells
- Boy Cuts
- Baggies
- Skinny Ribs

Get 'em on!

4018 S. Illinois

901 S. Illinois

Daily Egyptian, September 29, 1972, Page 3A
Fancy footwear

Law books are abandoned for scissors and needles

By Allison Lerrick

PARIS (AP) — It can be hard to be a lawyer if you know how to sew.

Eight years ago, Sara Shelburne left her hometown, Richmond, Va., to finish her thesis in international law. Now, the 28-year-old is still in Paris, but using a scissors instead of a pen.

"I absolutely adore clothes," says the dark-haired Miss Shelburne, who has always done her own sewing. She started making clothes for other people as a hobby and slowly, it got the better of those dusty law books.

"I have no fashion experience," she says with pride. "But I draw, sew, design, make patterns and design my own prints. I guess you learn by doing."

It all began with three enormous suitcases of $1,000. The first she haggled to New York stuffed with her initial collection. The second she used to buy the plane ticket. "I know from nothing. No one had ever heard of me," she reminisces. "I just called up a store and said, "Hello, may I speak to a buyer?'"

About a year ago she opened her own boutique, called "Sara Shelburne: Submitted American Fashions in Paris." Her clothes often go to department stores and specialty shops throughout America. "I'm all over the mid-East, from Chicago to Texas," says she of the designers. The North and the West are fertile grounds too, "but not so much the South."

Wherever they go, the clothes come out of her atelier upstairs. "We dress some women from A to Z, except for their uncles. They aren't young, though. Of course, adds Sara. "It depends on what you call young. They are my age, from 24 to 45 years old."

But A to Z isn't enough. Her real aim is to revitalize a dying breed, the "faithful customer." As bait, she offers those little services that have made the French dressmaker famous through the centuries. This means a missing button or simply a sleeve replaced, with the only charge being a word of thanks. If you have a special dress in mind, Miss Shelburne — or rather, her eight workers — will whip it up for the same price as any dress in the shop.

Student trade down, clothing dealers say

According to the managers of some retail clothing stores in Carbondale, the amount of student business has dropped substantially in recent years.

Gene Palisch, manager of Sahn's Men's Clothing Store, estimated that over the past five years the amount of business from students has decreased from 80 to 25 percent.

Richard Vanover of the P. N. Hirsh & Co. said that although the majority of his business comes from local patrons, the decrease in student business has caused an overall drop in sales.

The number of Carbondale clothing outlets has also declined markedly over the past five years. The Bureau of Census Reports in 1964 listed 27 establishments. Today there are only 17.

Why the drop?

Palisch attributes it to the new grubby look.

"Students have lost all desire to look like anything," he said. "They all want to look like Butch Cassidy."

Boutique Fashions

Full length black halter dress with floral print evening blazer

Young Edwardian

by Arpeja

9:30-6:30 M
9:30-5:30 T-S

712 S. Illinois

Cone makes fabrics people live in.
Batik or Batek...it's individual

Whatever way you spell it, today it means that young back to school home-sewers can use a delicate, hand-crafted fabric that offers an exciting way to "do your own creative thing."

The Batik fabrics themselves are certainly creative enough since it is an unusual process that combines dyes and waxes. Once the fabric is completed, its unique design affords the home-sewer even more opportunity for individuality because there is no set square repeated pattern. According to Nancy Chess, artist and designer, who is vice-president with her husband at Chess Fabrics, Batik really does fill the bill for "creativity" and self-expression.

because the fabric itself is so unique.
Batik, properly explained by the dictionary, is nothing more than doing your own thing...with fabrics, dyes and waxes.

The Chess people refer to their fabric as the Original Malaysian-Batik, and Mrs. Chess explains the process.

First, there is a wax impression that is entirely handcrafted...and this expresses the artist's feeling. The wax design is usually printed on white cloth (cotton) and it is then printed by dipping the handmade block of Batik design into boiling wax which is printed on the white cloth. Then, for example, the cloth might be dipped in blue dye where the unwaxed portion absorbs the color. Next, the process is repeated, again and again, until the artist has satisfied himself about the design.

Then, part of the blue dye is covered with the wax. The cracking is done by hand and then another colored dye is introduced into the process over waxed portions. After the process has been repeated over and over, it is dewaxed and the Batik is complete.

Truly, with today's concentrated effort on "doing your own thing," Batik offers the young, individual artist a great opportunity to sew, sew, sew something different.

Clothes help create YOUR outer image

Why not MAKE IT your own creation?

- put together patterns & fabrics & notions

Fashion Fabrics

706 S. Illinois
549-4211

From out west

Gary Will, manager of Rodgers' Clothing for Men in Murphysboro, sports the "western look" which comes across from a double knit grey and burgundy sport jacket with belted back, flat pockets and wide lapels. (Photo by Dennis Males)

Where Else But At Can you Find Out

Where Fashion Is Really At In The Scintillating Seventies

Leather and suedes come in sport coats and outerwear, in short and long lengths, in dressy and casual coats. From $45.

Choosing the proper attire is a cultivated talent that requires imagination, fashion information and pride in your appearance. The reward for all this effort is a feeling of well-being. Because nothing feels better than knowing you're wearing clothes that suit you, fit you well and accessorized with flair and individuality. Goldsmiths covers the fashion scene with stylish fashions for your every need.

Pants and tops-Layered looks calls for tops over, under, around and with each other-a whole new bag of fashion togetherness. Pants-cuffs will be wide, pants pleated. Tops from $6.50. Pants from $6.

Open until 8:30

Friday nights

Pants and tops-Layered looks calls for tops over, under, around and with each other-a whole new bag of fashion togetherness. Pants-cuffs will be wide, pants pleated. Tops from $6.50. Pants from $6.

Ladies—come in and see what Lady Goldsmith's means by casual style. You may want to make it your way of life.

Daily Egyptian, September 29, 1972, Page 5-A Durability is big in new shoe crop

By Gloria J. Underwood
Student Writer

No matter what type of person you are, what you do, or what you wear, this season there is a shoe for you.

David Moore, manager of Zwick's shoe store, says there is no one style that is "the" style. Dick Perry, manager of Brown's shoe store, said, "women's shoes are a fashion item and new every year."

Although there is no one particular style in shoes, durability does seem to be the trend this year. Perry said that shoes are heavier this season and young people are interested in durability along with fashion. He also said that since shoes are more durable, they are more comfortable and better for the feet.

Moore said hiking boots are especially popular because they are sturdy.

Both Moore and Perry said that soles are more important than ever this year. They said that the emphasis this season is on thickness and the platform look. Perry said that the vibram soles and clays started the sole look that is so popular this year. The vibram soles are popular because they have traction and durability. They also look good with jeans, Moore said. Moore and Perry said that clays are being worn more than ever even in the winter because of the comfort they provide.

Heels and toes are being worn in all shapes and sizes. Moore said that soles are thicker and heels are higher because pants and jeans are being worn more than ever, and many times the heel and sole are the only part of the shoe that can be seen.

Because of the pants trend, toes are also important. Moore said that toes are squared, rounded or oblique. Perry said that the toes will always tell you what the heels will look like. A heavy rounded toe will not have a four inch heel.

John McCord, manager of the Bootery, said that boot sales will go up because there is a better selection of boots. Solid soles isn't as popular as a suede and leather combination, he stated. He also said that there are more chunky heels. Last year he said he saw a lot of manly boots that laced up the front. The newest thing this year is a boot with the zipper up the front or the new tube boots.

This season's shoe trend definitely emphasizes individuality. There is a shoe for you no matter what your individual tastes are.

Foot fashions

At left, from Brown Shoe Fit Co., is a selection of the new hiking shoes with the vibram lug soles which have led to the name "waffle stompers" for the style. Below, from Leslie's, are buckles and ties in suedes and leathers by Nina and Sandler. The modelled shoe is called "Winner." (Photos by Dennis Makes)

"CORK POPPERS:"

The Rugged Lightweights.

Lively-looking leather comes up classy. While crafty cork-like bottoms pack lovely lightweight kicks. Fancy footwork for chic champs.
Double fashionable

Doubleknits continue to gain popularity for their comfort, looks and wearability—as in the doubleknit, hand-tailored sportcoat and slacks with matching polyester doubleknit suit, of which the coat also can do sportcoat duty. worn by Jeff Kedzior. The outfits are from the Square Shop. (Photo by Jay Needleman)

‘Nothing bra’ replaces no-bra

Sales girls and young women interviewed said the basic reason they like the no-bra fashion is its comfort. When asked if there are many times the no-bra style would be uncomfortable or inconvenient, Cheryl Schoen of Ruth Church Bridals, said, "Horseback riding is very tough, but maybe Twiggy would be all right."

Most of the saleswomen agree that the bra-less fashion is here to stay for a while and many like the trend. A couple of those interviewed were negative to the bra-less trend, however, and said the trend probably would not last.

Concerning the recent medical scare about sagging breasts caused by the no-bra fad, the manager of one shop, who asked not to be identified, said she thinks women do not realize they are making a big mistake by not wearing bras. Most other saleswomen said most women are not very concerned about sagging breasts.

Of the girls and saleswomen interviewed in Carbondale and some in St. Louis, many said they like the no-bra feel and that their boyfriends, and some husbands, approve of the trend.

Most of the girls say they plan to go on without the bra.

‘Back to Nature’

- Baggies
- Flannel Shirts
- Elephant
- Air Force

- "Bells of the Recycled"
- THE RECYCLED
- Air Force Parkas
- 40" Bells

- Complete Look
- of hats

- selection of hiking boots

- and cowboy boots

Rocks Mountain Surplus

511 S. Illinois

Falls GREAT Turn Outs

Stop in for great name brands and the best and the best in latest style selections

11th and Walnut, Murphysboro
She tells next year's fashions
By Peace Mattat

NEW YORK (AP)—Virginia Sorem's job is to publish 12 books a year showing fashions women will want to buy. Sounds easy enough, but there's one hitch—she has to work over a year ahead of time—forecasting fashion trends long before clothes are off the designers' sketch pads, much less in the stores.

How does she do it? The fashion coordinator, catalog division of JC Penney Co. explains. "I talk to a lot of fashion sources, read a lot of domestic periodicals and go to all the fashion showings. Just looking at people helps. And I'm familiar with the markdown racks at the stores—what hasn't sold. Fashion makes sense, too. You don't have to be the smartest graduate of Radcliffe to know that certain seasons will bring on certain colors and styles."

Mrs. Sorem, a bright blue-eyed woman, with a trim tailored look, wryly notes that, "there are no erasers in a catalog," so she has to be sure she knows what she's talking about. She's quick to point out that her work is a team effort, but nevertheless, she's the one who is responsible for the $1 million in paper and ink alone that go into these catalogs each year.

The way fashion trends are born has changed in the past 10 years, Mrs. Sorem says. "There used to be a filtering down process," she points out. "The couture houses in Paris would originate trends that would then find their way across the ocean to New York City and the expensive stores on 57th Street. Eventually, those same looks would end up at the cheaper stores, but it was months after the original had appeared in Europe."

This started changing a decade ago, she goes on. "People in the United States needed clothes to wear for their active lives. In England, there was an uprising of youth. Fashions started coming from the young people on the streets. As a result, trends today come from all over the world."

According to this fashion expert, today's look has two main ingredients—individuality and a casual manner. "Women don't want to all look alike," Mrs. Sorem says. "Now they can buy separates, put them together and change the look for a job, or for a date."

She attributes this individuality partly to the ill-fated midi skirt. "When designers tried to fasten the midi on women, and found it didn't work, they realized they couldn't make women buy something just to be fashionable. We don't wear our sleeves the same length, why should women have to wear their skirts the same length?"

"The casual look can be misunderstood," she goes on. "It doesn't mean torn sneakers. It can actually mean elegant, and the same care and planning should go into a casual look as it does into a formal one. It does mean a life style that fits what we're doing today, with do's and don'ts replacing politeness and consideration."
For the casual man

casual clothes at casual prices

$4.98
Men's 100% cotton denim flare leg jeans with western pockets and wide belt loops. Wash sizes 28-38

$6.98
Brushed cotton sateen jeans with flare leg in various military green and chocolate. Machine washable. 28-38

$9.98
Cotton bush jeans feature 4 front patch pockets, wide belt loops and flare leg. Assorted military colors. 28-38

$3.98
Two tone cotton shirts
Long Sleeve $5.00
Short Sleeve $3.95

JCPenney
We know what you're looking for.

STORE HOURS:
MONDAY thru SATURDAY 9:30 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.  SUNDAY 12:00 - 6:00 p.m.
Long tresses are flattering

Long shiny hair streaming under floppy brimmed hats or tight little crocheted caps returns as the odd-on favorite in the coed's race back-to-school.
The young and spirited love the long-haired look because it's both flattering and versatile. During a heavy exam schedule, it's easy to tie up, back, or to the side in pigtails or braids.

Girls who rate A's in appearance know that keeping hair shiny and beautiful takes constant care and attention including nightly assignments of brushing and, if necessary, washing—now possible with the gentle shampoo.

With one fell swoop, the old wives' warning about "washing hair too much" has been pushed aside as campus headlines realize that to keep sparkle and manageability, hair must be washed often—for some, once a day.

Fortified with the simple natural ingredients known for centuries to have unique beauty benefits, Everynight, a too-degradable trio (in lemon or herbal formulas and rainwater rinse) is actually recommended for use "everynight."

Smart coeds know, too, beautiful hair that swings past the right way doesn't come from sewing-scissors blast cuts executed by a helpful roommate. Instead, they go to great lengths with a professional cut (at least every six weeks) that's subtly layered to frame and flatter the face, and then tapes to sweep the shoulders.

Gentle shampoos helpful

Pleats and plaids

Here are three versions of the layered look from Rum's, featuring pleats, classic plaids and cuffs in autumn shades. All the models—Barb Jacob (left), Pat Drake (center) and Cherry Woodard—are wearing the turtlenecks which are popular with blazers. Pat is wearing the new sweater smock. (Photo by Dennis Mages)

Grandmother's bridal gown back in style

By L.G. Wolf
Student Writer

Fall brides only need put on the same wedding gown their grandmother wore to be in style this year.

Ms. Genevieve Pittman, manager of Ruth Church Bridal in Carbondale, said the fall style has turned toward the "old fashion look" or "Renaissance Style." The new gowns are characteristic of those worn from the turn of the century until the 1920's.

"The high fashion color, according to Ms. Pittman, is ivory or cream.

"There are also some color on the bridal gowns. The bridal party will be wearing more color.

"The new gowns have a high neck, ruffles, a pinched-in waist and a leg-o-mutton sleeve, one which has tight fitting lace on the arm and which gathers high on the shoulders.

"Hats with veils also are in for fall brides. Last year, hats were rarely seen on the bride. Ms. Pittman said. They were always popular with the bridesmaids and according to Ms. Pittman, this trend will continue.

"In the past, it was popular to have some color on the bridal gown, but this year it is rare. They didn't show us any with color when we bought for this fall," Ms. Pittman said. "If they use color it will be in the ribbon around the waist," she added.

"Train are still in style, but they are not as long as they were once. Ms. Pittman said.

"The shorter train makes it easier for the girl to handle," Ms. Pittman said.

But the traditional or cathedral gowns with long flowing trains have not disappeared from the scene. Their popularity has faded, Ms. Pittman said, however, they are still in style.

"They never seem to go out of style," she said. "There's just not as many sold.

"According to Ms. Pittman, the traditional gowns are usually sold to girls from smaller towns.

"The short skirted gowns which at one time seemed destined to dominate the market will virtually be unseen this fall.

"Most girls will choose the peasant dress over the short skirt. Ms. Pittman said. "Lov
Silly girls passe, top coed declares

By Jay Sillery
AP New Features Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"The age of women being beautiful and nothing else is gone forever because a lot of the barriers are being lifted and women are speaking up—yelling so loud men have to listen."

So says Theon Wilson, who as a black woman, plans to vault a couple of barriers herself to become a lawyer. Though she is primarily interested in prisoner rehabilitation work rather than in practicing law, she thinks legal training will enable her to "get a foot in the door."

"I'm going to get as much training as I can so I can say I have it all and you can't say I'm not qualified. If they do discriminate against me I will at least have put up a hard fight," she explains.

In pursuit of her goal the 20-year-old Miss Wilson will enter law school after graduating next year from Newcomb College of Tulane University, where she has been a dormitory adviser, among numerous other jobs and activities.

"The silly little girls don't exist anymore," she notes. "The freshmen are not content to sit around and brag about what their fathers do. They're not content to major in languages and English. They're coming in with ideas and a commitment."

Miss Wilson's own commitment to doing something about her world has led to her selection as one of the Ten Top College Girls in the United States by Glamour Magazine. She and the other nine were awarded a trip to England, Scotland and Wales and will be featured in the August issue of the magazine.

"It was very exciting for my parents and my whole neighborhood," she said in New York before leaving on the trip. "It gave me a lot of self-confidence. Attending a white university, I often get quite a bit of negative reinforcement, realizing my background is not on a par with others."

"I'm really motivated by wanting to do something not just for myself but for thousands of black kids who have to pursue an image. It gives them someone they can identify with, and helps them realize they can go on and finish school and go to college."

Miss Wilson, who is attending college on scholarship and loans, is a volunteer worker at New Orleans Parish Prison, where she interviews many prisoners after they are sentenced, going over their background and discussing their problems.

"My interest was sparked because a lot of people in the Desire community in New Orleans where I live have been in prison and I have been overwhelmed by the change in them," she says. "Once they commit a crime it's a steady road down. They come out filled with hatred and they can't find a job."

"I don't want to excuse crime and say it's only because of all the social forces acting, but I realize this does have a bearing. I don't think it's so much the person—I think it's the system and I want to work to change this."

Miss Wilson, the first of her immediate family to aim at a professional career, suggests that teaching prisoners skills, and counseling to help them learn more about themselves and why they committed the crime, will help them find a place when they leave prison so they will not feel the world is against them.

"We need a system of reinforcing the positive," she said. "Poor blacks and poor whites have been knocked on the head and never really get a chance to think they are capable of doing something good."

The tall, slim coed is a member of the Community Action Council of Tulane University Students, which takes children from predominantly black areas on educational field trips. She has also been a psychological tester in a program to study the development of underprivileged children and has been a counseling aid at a narcotics rehabilitation unit.

When you've found each other...

...find us.

for engagement & wedding rings
DaMark Jewelers
208 s. illinois ave.

Eunice Harris

No nonsense clothes to complement your scholastic life. Versatile for changing moods. And pretty: You're a woman and Eunice Harris has what you like — the casual, the sporty...

right up to the formal looks for special nights out.

Come see us.

101 S. Washington
Bening Square Bld.
Carbondale
Jewelry creations inspired by Orient

By Peace Moffet

NEW YORK (AP) — With her neatly coiffed raven-brown hair, long manicured fingernails, finely-chiselled features and fashionable black pants suit, Maggie Hayes looks more like a lady of leisure than a hard-working saleswoman behind the counter of a Fifth Avenue department.

But that’s just where this former actress, model, designer and store-executive is—selling the jewelry she designs and makes herself and her “Maggie Hayes Jewelry Book,” which she wrote to pass on her skills to others.

Wearing lots of her own jewelry, including a necklace of African beads and five rings on one finger, Miss Hayes said her professional jewelry-making days began after a trip to the Orient. “I had bought some miniature figures and thought it would be dull just to have them sitting around. So I decided if they were turned into jewelry they could be both wearable and saleable.

“The first piece was a funny-faced pin—an ivory head with one eye-wide open and the other squinted shut. As a pin, he’s set in sapphires and pearls,” she says.

Even before she began designing jewelry professionally, however, Miss Hayes said she had played at it. She recalls that as a young woman she had a tie-pin that belonged to her father made into a pinky ring, and a group of opals set into a pin for her mother.

“I had always liked to do things with my hands,” she says. “But at school, the academic was stressed so much that to work with your hands was practically wrong.”

Working with her hands did take second place for a while to an acting career that included the Broadway role of Jo in “Little Women” and leading parts in the film, “The Blackboard Jungle,” and many TV programs. Miss Hayes also found time to work as an assistant fashion editor for “Life” magazine, design clothes, including a jump suit for Monroe Crystal, become an executive of Bergdorf Goodman and to marry Herbert Bayard Swepe Jr., a producer and director. She is the mother of a daughter, Tracy, and a son, Rusty.

Now, with her jewelry making, Miss Hayes says she is more able “to do my own thing. It’s that marvelous thing of being able to go out and create something—even a simple thing like stringing beads,” she says. And then—I can work at stores when I want and create when I feel like it—all night if I want, just as long as there is nothing that says I have to work at such and such a time.

Miss Hayes notes that many women might consider jewelry designing an expensive hobby. According to this expert it’s not. “It’s just a marvelous pastime,” she says. “And actually it can be done very simply. I would suggest starting with brass wire and a pair of pliers. But you could also play with old jewelry and you can even carve on a bar of soap.”

Clearly in fashion

The issues are clearly black and white in these outfits from Eunice Harris. Naomi Wallace (left) wears a white knit top of wool and dark gray flannel skirt and carries over her arm the matching sleeveless coat. Joan Eubanks wears wool-cuffed trousers, blouse with the new full sleeves and wrap-around vest—creations of Don’s Sophisticates. Just the thing for cycling and for less strenuous leisure activity. (Photo by Dennis Makas)

The Bootery

124 S. Illinois Ave.
“across from the I.C. Depot”

A. $17.99
B. $15.99

Fashion’s new passion is a thick hunk of sole in heel—bold bottoms topped by brawny shoe shapes. A mixed-up tie of suade and smooth in blue or brown.

Mastercharge or BankAmericard

OPEN MON.
TILL 8:30
Layered lookers

Rozzy (left) sports the "layered look" with polyester and nylon trouser which button to a high waist. The elephant leg flares with 2½-inch cuffs are topped off with a wool turtleneck covered with a crocheted-looking V-neck vest with stripes at the waist. All in pastel pink. Robyn (seated) wears polyester low-rise stack with the trouser look and 2½-inch cuffs. A pastel children's print long sleeve blouse with French cuffs and a button front tops it off. Add a 100 per cent acrylic cap-sleeve tunic knit sweater that ends where the pants begin and Robyn is quite in style. It's an angora and lamb's wool pastel blue sweater for Sonja. Long sleeved and cropped at the waist, the sweater has a striped body accented with solid cuffs and a solid collar attached to a scooped-out neckline. Pastel blue polyester and rayon elephant leg trousers are belted at the waist to complete the outfit. All fashions are from J.C. Penney's.

Individualized Styles for Personalized Tastes

Ribtweed Knit—Manskin by Forum

Bush Jeans (in many colors and fabrics)

Golde's Home of
- Jockey
- Lantzen
- Levi's
- Lee
- Guys
- Mr. John
- Van Heusen
- Enro
- Haggar
- Puritan
- Palm Beach
& many other name brands you know & trust.

If you're one-of-a-kind guy, why not shop a one-of-a-kind store...

Because Aramis gives a man all the advantages.

Golde's
200 S. Illinois

The signature of the contemporary man, Aramis cologne and grooming aids.

The Home of Bush Jeans (in many colors and fabrics)

Gold's
200 S. Illinois

The signature of the contemporary man, Aramis cologne and grooming aids.
Not for the timid

It’s the “bold look,” as modeled by Eric Clutts in a tobacco-colored cord-and-leather trim sport coat from Sohn’s. He’s wearing a bulky, natural fisherman-knit turtleneck and bold plaid double-knit flare pants in shades of brown against neutral. It’s rugged, masculine—bold rather than muted and conservative. (Photo by Dennis Makes)

VOTE: PLAIDS

VOTE: SOLIDS

Get it on with the new look
SPECIAL $5.95

Newest in Baggies
Pleats—3 inch cuff
$11.00

Matching Brushed Denim Jackets
in colors $12.95

243 New & Different Colors and Styling
MUNSINGWEAR KNITS
Turtles light & Med. weight crewneck—zip—button, shirt & layered look starting at $7.95

73’ Double Knit Sport Jacket
$44.95

Hubbard Double knit slacks
$22.00

Squire Shop Ltd
1701 West Main, Murdale Shopping Center

VOTE: PLAIDS FROM

Pleyer’s COLLEGE SHOP

Classics ‘79

Jr. House cape and long dress

600 S. Illinois

Sewing has become simpler with new patterns, fabrics

The girl who sews really has it made. She can sew up any look that appeals to her. Patterns are simpler and easier to work with, fabrics are more appealing and more practical than ever. Sewing machines are easier to operate and do more finishing and detailing.

And, as Terry Pietriech, the vivacious TV personality, constantly reminds us on her syndicated television program, “Sewing is fun.”

Summer fun can be turned into fall profit for the girl who starts now to plan and make the clothes she'll need when school starts in September. Even the planning is part of the fun—when you allow enough time.

Start by lining up, around your room, all the clothes and accessories in your closet. Be honest. Be ruthless. If there are any of last season’s mistakes, root them out. Give them to a friend who may appreciate them. Give them to the Good Will. Don’t handicap yourself by starting another season with them.

Group together the survivors. Do they form a basis for a new-season wardrobe? What’s missing? Base your plan on what you expect of fall and winter—socially and schoolwise. Then, to fill in the gaps, study the early fall fashion magazines. August issues are great.

So’s your favorite mail order catalog. Decide what looks you'll need. The next step is to visit your favorite fashion fabrics and pattern department. Look for the fabrics you saw featured in the fashion illustrations you’ve just studied.

The brushed denims, the easy-wear double-knits, the versatile blends.

Need jeans? Try your hand at making a pair, in your own choice of fabric. One source of inspiration might be a color-coordinated plaid and plain brushed denims blended of polyester and cotton. Make a set of muddy-mates...an abbreviated muddly tap with deep sailor collar in plaid, with jeans picking up one of the tones in the tartan.

A second view

Another look at the layered look—and it’s casual all the way—is provided by Ed Lowndes in brushed corduroy jeans. a tartan and a sleeveless jaquard pulllover. from Goldie’s. (Photo by Dennis Makens)

Too much sun causes body hair problem

By Vivian Brown
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Although long-time beauty expert Lucille Bouchard studied to be a school teacher in her native Mon­real and became instead an elec­trician technician, she is using her teaching abilities to make young people more aware of their grooming needs.

In addition to conducting beauty seminars for New York State’s Board of Cooperative Education (BOCES), a program that helps potential drop outs learn a trade as they attend regular school classes, she teaches and comforts a great many young people who have extreme hair and skin problems.

“The incidence of excess hair growth on girls’ bodies has in­creased fifty-fold in the last few years,” she notes. “Some girls have hair lines that grow almost to their eyebrows, others have hair on their faces.

Such problems have existed in other generations, but many people are baffled as to the cause of the large increase in excess hair growth, she comments. In her opinion it is caused by overexposure to the sun—excess hair is nature’s way of protecting the skin, but she says in many instances the problem is hereditary or caused by glandular disturbances.

Many young people make the hair problem worse by treating it them­selves with bleaches and waxes or by shaving the skin or tweezing the hair. Mrs. Bouchard warns young people to consult doctors if they need hair removal as there are many inexperienced people doing electrolysis work. Some doctors may consider such treatments expensive and tedious, but Mrs. Bouchard feels every woman wants to be pretty and "the greatest morale builder for a woman is to be admired."
Army-Navy surplus practical, durable

By Nancy Petersen
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

If you’re looking for a good, durable coat or an inexpensive jacket, one of the best places to find such items is at a store carrying army-navy surplus merchandise. Army-navy clothes are warm and wear well.

Army parkas with hoods for rain and winter weather are popular and practical.

And most important, in this age of inflation, army-navy merchandise is reasonably priced. Used packs can be bought for as little as $1.50. New packs can run as high as $38 for a full size, waterproof nylon pack complete with zippered pockets.

Dave Jampolis, owner, manager, and sales clerk at Rocky Mountain Surplus said packs and pants are always his biggest sellers. He said that since the ten-speed bike craze began, students have been getting into the more expensive packs.

Buying used clothes is another way to save on the paycheck. You can get an old pair of jeans for a buck and a half and an old blue jean jacket, for example, for about $3.

Jampolis said “used” clothes are at a premium, now.” He said kids are buying used extra jeans “to kick around in” and are saving their newer jeans for dress.

If you’re an SIU student with money worries, as many are, or you just want to save some of the money you do have, buying army-navy surplus merchandise and used clothes might prove to be a good buy.

Student dress shows casual, personal touch

By Elizabeth Knox
Student Writer

“The casualness of campus dress has affected 40 per cent of the volume of the dry cleaning business in Carbondale,” according to A.M. Stocks, manager of Prosperity Cleaners in Carbondale.

A spokesman for One Hour Martinizing, Murdale, said that there has been a definite reduction in the dry cleaning business, but would not venture an estimate as to the percentage affected.

Jim Kirk, manager of Horstman’s Cleaners in Carbondale, concurred that the new student casual dress has affected the dry cleaning business “a great deal.” Kirk cited the new double knit fabrics as a possible cause.

Kirk said that many of the double knits can be washed at home with satisfactory results, but should be dry cleaned for better longer wear results.

Double knits are not cleaned as often as other fabrics, according to Kirk. “A person is more likely to wear a dirty suit than a wrinkled suit, and since the wrinkles just fall out of the double knit fabrics, they are not cleaned as often as they should be,” Kirk said.

Most new fabrics and clothes have their care instructions sewn into them. The spokesman for One Hour Martinizing believes that this is a good idea and all manufacturers should be required to put such labels in their garments.

Stocks believes that some of the manufacturers labels are misleading. Stocks said, “many articles aren’t wearable after they’ve been washed, even though they carry a washable label from the manufacturer.” Stocks is referring to the fact that many garments fade, or shrink, or stretch after home washing.

Kirk said that the dry cleaners of Illinois are asking the Illinois Congress to pass a bill which would require that all labels which say the garment is washable, also provide the information that the garment can also be dry cleaned.

The dry cleaners of Carbondale have provided a few tips for keeping clothes looking nice. Spot removers work pretty well on woods, but be careful when using them on other fabrics—don’t let stains wait! Get them to the cleaners as soon as possible.—Beverage spills are more likely to come out if there is an attempt made to get them out immediately at home. Then, of course, bring them into the cleaners.—Have clothes cleaned before storing them for the season. There is much better chance that stains can be removed if they are not packed away for three or more months first.

New look, fabrics affect area cleaners

Picture the average college student of the 70’s returning to fall semester—in 1972. The change has been so radical, it is like eight years away.

He’d find new freedoms and choices in studies, how and where to live, how to think and how to look. African studies, women’s studies, and even peace studies. Coed dorms, trailers, off-campus apartments—even cabins and communes in the hills of California and Colorado.

It boils down to less pretense in living and being and looking. The cookie-cutter, contrived campus look of the 60’s has been segmented into anything goes—from jeans in long dresses. Today’s college women know how they look, but it’s a different kind of caring. They may use just as much makeup as their counterparts of 20 years ago. But the effect is really different—natural and healthy, at one with nature.

Gone are the pretensions and vanities, the loudfiant hairdos, heavy darkened eyebrows and puffy lipglosses, when the girls were into curling their hair just “so” and worse, spent hours doing it. Today it’s, “Let me be me, and let me spend just enough time to look well-groomed.”

Personal care appliances have made the difference in the 70’s grooming scene. Students—both men and women—use innovative, new-concept products like a skin machine to clean their complexion super clean because that’s important to them.

They keep their long hair manageable with high-powered mini wands with the new air brush styling dryer that dries masses of hair, however long and thick, in minutes. And instead of hours in rollers, it’s minutes with an instant hairsetter. Hairsetters are designed now so that they will condition hair while setting it. It’s her choice.

Going to school today does offer more choice. It’s here to be taken advantage of. In fact, it may be the secret wish of many a 60’s grad to swing back to the campus scene—maybe for just one more semester.