The Daily Egyptian, April 14, 1999

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_April1999
Volume 84, Issue 128

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1999 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in April 1999 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
Tech Fee:
After vote by USG, referendum will go before student body.

English Day:
Event reaches out to prospective students.

Two vice chancellors announce retirement
Tweedy, Welch to step down by year's end.

SARA BEAN
FEATURES EDITOR

Vice Chancellors Jim Tweedy and Han·ey Welch will retire this year, keeping in line with plans made under last year's SIUC Chancellor Don Beggs.

Tweedy and Welch are the last two vice chancellors to leave from the original four in place when Argersinger arrived June 30, 1998.

Tweedy, who is the current vice chancellor for Administration, will retire effective June 30.

Welch, the current vice chancellor for Student Affairs, will not retire officially until December.

The University is beginning national searches for both positions immediately.

Mary Lou Higgerson, director of the Undergraduate Experience, will head the search committee for the vice chancellor for Administration.

Chancellor Jo Ann Argersinger has not decided who will head the search committee for vice chancellor for Student Affairs but speculates that it will be Interim Provost Tom Guernsey.

Argersinger said she decided to begin the search for vice chancellor for Administration.

Chancellor Jo Ann Argersinger has not decided who will head the search committee for vice chancellor for Student Affairs but speculates that it will be Interim Provost Tom Guernsey.

Argersinger said she decided to begin the search for vice chancellor for Student Affairs in order to avoid the need for an interim when Welch leaves.

"I had thought about waiting to start the search and then I thought that if I do that then I would have to place an interim next year," Argersinger said.

"If I could get a search and actually get somebody on board in August or September, I would still have some flexibility bec·ause Mr. Welch was not planning to step down until December."

Argersinger said she spoke with Welch and the two had decided that it would be best to start the search now.

Argersinger announced the resignations of Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs and Provost John Jackson and Vice Chancellor for Institutional Advancement, Tom Britton, in January.

Ray Lenz, the University's Director of Economic and Regional Development, replaced Britton and will remain in the position.

Dillard wins by wide margin

Familiarity may breed contempt, but after 12 years as Carbondale's mayor, Neil Dillard still had enough support to win his reelection bid Tuesday against student-friendly businessman John Budick.

Dillard garnered 2,584 votes, easily distancing himself from Budick, who received 1,783 votes. Unofficial returns for write-in candidate and SIUC student Rob Taylor indicated he finished with 32 votes.

A smiling Dillard celebrated his re-election by thanking a crowd of about 40 supporters for their help as a reception at the Carbondale Civic Center.

Dillard said the campaign was different than prior races in which he has been involved.

"There was more involvement in this election — more forums, more interviews, a lot more of everything," Dillard said. "I feel like all that hard work has been rewarded."

The mayor said he is pleased to have received another vote of confidence from the people of Carbondale.

"People are saying they really like the way of Carbondale is being operated, is being run," Dillard said. "They don't want to have a change that much right now."

Meanwhile a disappointed Budick camp received the news of the loss with some tears and talk of the next election.

"We ran a good, hard race, but this sort of thing just happens," Budick said.

Neill, Cole race to slim victories

It was a horse race to the finish.

The contenders were neck-in-neck throughout the night as the results poured in. However, when the dust cleared, incumbent Carbondale City Councilman Mike Neill and former SIUC student Brad Cole stood in the winner's circle.

"The numbers just kind of nip-flopped around, but I'm very pleased," Neill said. "Relieved but exhausted."

Once the polls closed, the race began with council hopefuls Cortez McDaniell and Carl Flowers taking an early lead until about 9:30 p.m., when Neill blazed ahead, maintaining his lead until the finish. The trailing three each captured second place for a period of time, with Flowers breaking ahead of McDaniell, then falling behind, until the final leg of the race when Cole advanced.

"Look for the race to be exciting — we'll be here," he said referring to the next City Council election.

"We're just happy that we won the race this year and we're looking forward to working hard for Carbondale next year," Neill said.

"I'm disappointed," Flowers said. "But I'll be there seeking another seat next time."

"It's encouraging that I saw more than double [votes] what I received in the primary," Cole said.

"I'm satisfied," McDaniell said. "It's a victory."

The campaigns were paralleled with similarities, and in the end it was the subtle distinctions of each candidate that brought the trophy home.
UNIVERSITY

A 23-year-old East Campus resident reported finding a breaking phone call at 11:37 p.m. Monday to University Police. A suspect has been identified in the incident.

A 19-year-old Newell Hall resident was transported to Memorial Hospital to debrief at 6 a.m. Monday after complaining of heart palpitations. The student's condition was not known at press time.

UPCOMING

The Spring Festival will be a leftover motorcycle riders fair for April 12, 6 to 9 p.m., and April 13, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Several volunteers corps need volunteers to assist with activities planned for a lively each week at the Fun Factory. Thurs., Apr. 12, 10 a.m.-1 p.m., Community Center, Sora.

FOR $5

Budget Gourmet ENTREES
8-10 oz. pkg.-All varieties

FOR $2

Dannon Fruit on the Bottom YOGURT
8 oz. can-All varieties

FOR $1

Nancy Anne BAGELS
All varieties

FOR $4

Franco American PASTA
12 oz.-can
Selected varieties without meat

FOR $5

Kellogg's CEREALS
13.3 oz.-plastic Start, 16 oz.-plastic Start, 17.9 oz. box-Froot Loops or 8 oz. box-Frosted Flakes

Check our web site at www.schnucks.com for special money-saving offers available only on Express Connection orders! All double coupons apply to manufacturer coupons valued up to $0.50. Offer details, check in store. We reserve the right to limit quantities.

© 1999 Schnucks Markets, Inc.

We accept all major debit cards!
JALC, Bernardin referendums pass easily

Referredendum Results

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Bernardin Amendment</th>
<th>100% of precincts reporting</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Yes</td>
<td>594</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>No</td>
<td>649</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

JALC, Logan Referendum

| Yes                  | 601                         |
| No                   | 582                         |

Source: Jackson County Journal

Jay Schwan

DAILY EAGLE REPORTER

John A Logan College administrators indicated tonight that the results of 100 percent of the precincts reporting in the JALC, Logan Referendum showed the amendment approved by 594 votes to 649, and the Logan Referendum approved by 601 votes to 582.

The bond referendum called for a 10-cent tax increase on every $100 assessed valuation for JALC's education purposes fund. To be offset by a matching increase in the bond and increase tax.

The agony of defeat

Tuesday night at the Mississippi Highway, mayoral candidate John Schoolkidd nervously awaits new polling numbers as the tally seems to be shifting in Mayor Neil Dillard's favor. By night's end, Dillard won a fourth term as mayor of the City of Carbondale with 59 percent of the vote.

Diane Lankov

Daily Egyptian

Ford captures top seat of GPSC race

Dan Craft

Daily Egyptian Reporter

Next year's Graduate and Professional Student Council will be led by current Vice President for Graduate Administration Ed Ford, who emerged as the winner in internal GPSC elections last night.

Ford, Tony Dods and Amy Silveira squared off in a three-way election for the vice president office. Ford triumphed with 21 of the 30 votes. Dods mustered 11 ballots, and Silveira, who tried for the position last year, received only five.

Joining Ford in the executive officers will be Vice President for Administrative Affairs Bill Peters and Vice President for Graduate School Affairs Janet Hurley.

Current officeholders Michael Speck, Ed Ford and Jane Scott will vacate their positions May 15 to make room for the new executives.

Ford was optimistic about the opportunities involved with the new position. He said the campus as a whole will benefit if his time is spent determining which issues he wants to bring forward next year.

“[At least we’ve got these issues in the public eye],” he said. Ford will focus during the remaining weeks of his administration on ensuring a smooth transition between administrations.

Because Ford is familiar with many of the issues and contacts associated with the office, Speck said, the transition period should run fairly smoothly.

Ford said in his presentation to the council he had planned his course through GPSC fairly smoothly.

Concerning landlord/tenant issues, Ford said “no net increase” for sewer installation.

Volunteers needed for George Clinton concert

The Student Programming Council announced about 200 volunteers are needed for George Clinton and the P Funk All Stars concert Saturday.

Amy Owen, Daily Egyptian reporter, said there will be an informational meeting and an interest sign-up for volunteers at 9 tonight in Ballroom D of the Student Center.

Volunteers are needed for the set-up, crowd control and clean-up for the event. All volunteers will receive a free ticket and a parking pass.

For more information call the 536-3939.

Southern Illinois

Carbondale

Portion of Grand Avenue closed for sewer installation

A portion of Grand Avenue just east of Lewis Lane will be closed down to one lane today while city workers install a new sewer.

Bill Jerzierski, resident city engineer, said that although the road will not be closed the entire day, it will be “from time to time there will be considered, delays in both directions, up even to fifteen minutes.”

Construction crews will be working from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., weather permitting.

City officials recommend that drivers seek alternate routes because of anticipated delays.

- Sara Ben

Master guitarist to play Carbondale this afternoon

The School of Music is bringing a bit of Brazil to Carbondale this afternoon.

Caroline Barbosa-Lima, considered one of the world’s best classical guitarist, will speak and demonstrate guitar techniques at 4 p.m. in the SIUC Community Music Hall.

Barbosa-Lima is a master in classical, Brazilian popular and Jazz music.

The lecture will last about 45 minutes and then Barbosa-Lima will give a recital of her own compositions on an acoustic guitar.

A $5 cover will be charged at the door.

Admission is free. For more information call 536-3939.

Daily Egyptian

Statesboro, GA.

Georgia students arrested for role in bomb scheme

Five students at Georgia Southern University were arrested after police allegedly tried to plant a bomb on campus in aiet to divert attention from their planned attempt to rob the university's business office.

Police found out about the plot and made a discovery that could put an end to it. No one was hurt, and nothing was stolen during the April 7 incident.

One of the four students arrested Michael T. Miller, Shane T. Moultrie, and Matthew L. Foust. Community and police officers arrested a fourth person, who allegedly put the bomb inside an enclosure for garbage and air conditioning units outside the university's residence and activities center.

Three students were charged with conspiracy to commit burglary and possession of an explosive device.

Police arrested two other students, Matthew L. Foust, who didn't help plant the bomb, but who police say conspired to commit the burglary, and Haley M. Berryman, who was charged with hindering the apprehension of a criminal. Two other investigators believe he destroyed the evidence.

- From Daily Egyptian News Service

Attack prompts campus alert

Georgia Parade assistant vice chancellor Jean Paratore, associate vice chancellor for Student Affairs, said the campus alert was issued because the victims did not know their attackers.

Further information about the incident was unavailable Tuesday, and only a limited description of the suspects was given by police.

They are described as two black males who were last seen wearing black hooded sweatshirts. A FUBU logo was emblazoned on one suspect’s sweatshirt, police said. The other suspect’s sweatshirt was gray or light colored.

Anyone with information about this crime should contact the SIU Police Department at 452-2381.

Being: One student hospitalized as result of attack.

David Ferrara

Daily Egyptian Reporter

The attack of three SIUC students near Allen Hall late Sunday night by two unknown men with baseball bats has prompted University officials to issue a campus alert.

University Police were called to the residence hall at 11:50 p.m. where one victim suffered injuries to his head and facial area. He was taken to Memorial Hospital of Carbondale, and his condition was unknown as of press time.

The other victims did not require medical attention.

Jean Paratore, associate vice chancellor for Student Affairs, said the campus alert was issued because the victims did not know their attackers.

Further information about the incident was unavailable Tuesday, and only a limited description of the suspects was given by police.

They are described as two black males who were last seen wearing black hooded sweatshirts. A FUBU logo was emblazoned on one suspect’s sweatshirt, police said. The other suspect’s sweatshirt was gray or light colored.

Anyone with information about this crime should contact the SIU Police Department at 452-2381.

Arrests likely in Saturday rape

David Ferrara

Daily Egyptian Reporter

An arrest is expected in relation to a sexual assault with "multiple suspects," occurred after a home party in the 1100 block of East Walnut Street early Saturday morning.

Carbondale Police said Tuesday.

An 18-year-old woman told police at 6:11 p.m. Saturday she was sexually assaulted sometime after 1 a.m. Police released limited information about the alleged incident but said the woman was attending a party at the house before the alleged rape.

It is unclear whether the woman was an SIUC student.
Our Word

Resolving the clash of the titans

So much for taking action on the landlord/tenant ordinances before the election. Now we have a "task force" to resolve all the problems that have occurred in the process thus far.

The task force will consist of basically the same people as before except with a few different landlords, the additional input of Undergraduate Student Government and SIUC staff, an at-large bid in the form of Professor Fereidun and another landlord to be named later in the draft.

While this task force undoubtedly has more input and will require a larger table to bargain at, only one of two things can result from its formation. The first one, the one the City Council wants to happen since they had the largest part in the formation of the task force, is that the negotiation process will see a more level headed and diere's field of insight and communication resulting in better debate and resolutions. Or, the process will be further strained by the introduction of more stubborn negotiators and the unorganized voices will cause further conflict and inaction. In effect, the council has thrown out an apple of discord and left it to the task force to decide which precog will be the most beautiful. To avoid a Trojan War on the landlord/tenant issue, the DAILY EGYPTIAN will play the role of Paris and receive arguments and positions we've already raised before they commence battle.

First and foremost, compromise is the key to any negotiation. I've always heard a little goes a long way without losing sight of your main purpose. We don't need palatial estates to live in, just better rental housing so don't forget the cafe for change was initiated by the needy, not the greedy.

Back in February, we requested the requests for 24-hour entry notice, disclosure of the name, address and phone number of the owner or property manager and any authorized agent and the conspicuous display of fees and costs. This is a reasonable first step in housing improvement. Those points are as valid now as then and we still stand by them.

I believe the understanding of landlords to any ordinances or governmental control and how this necessarily results in differences of opinion with the negotiating student side, but we believe from lady nanesato's investigative stories that something must be done to end the reign of the few slumlords who upset the apple cart. Those representing the call for ordinances must stand on unified ground and fight an allied battle. Off-the-agenda, unexpected amendments and unfocused pitches by various student bodies has resulted in nothing being accomplished. To have substantive action taken, the offensive must be waged with voices that are heard like the sound of a booming cannon, not disappointing potato gun-like comments spread throughout the audience. You've lost the power of the electorate, so any falter now could mean the death of any proposed ordinances. unity is more than ever, a necessary force for the push to improved rental housing.

The EGYPTIAN is glad to see the City and the University take a more active role in facilitating these negotiations and making every student involved to not give up until the fruits of your labor leave a bad taste in your mouth of slumlords and landlords across Carbondale. Even the powerful slumlords have an Achilles' heel.

With organization and unity workable proposals can be made that force at least a vote from the City Council. And for every ordinance passed or housing improvement generated otherwise, that's potentially one less renter paying to live in a condemned house.

---

Necessity is the mother of discretion

There is something to be said for discretion. There is something to be said for mystery, at least not letting everyone in the world know the story of your life or even the recent events of your past few hours. But you must tell someone very often who must be so entranced by the workings of its existence that they feel a proud need to let you also shout in this wonderland. If it were wonderland, however, that would be the thing. If there were something so lofty and unimaginable to tell, then I would be more than enthused to learn about it, even from an unfamiliar face.

Talking to strangers can produce some of the most fascinating stories and provide you with insightful knowledge. I recall in the occasions when a complete stranger says something to me, I am so entranced by the tales that I will write it down. Some of the best advice can be issued from mouths that you will never hear. And so here are certain individuals who believe it is best to proclaim their mantras to anyone who will listen, a little closer glance is their direction.

If only there could be a written rule somewhere that just the most wise and discerning of human beings has collected 11 different issues of Jane Eyre would be comical situations.

And then of course there has been a handful of people who have barely known each other, yet the most disturbing recollections of their life. And they've told me these things so nonchalantly as if they've already told several others before and plan to tell several more. I had a group project at one time with a girl I barely knew who after 20 minutes of having talked with me sometime last month in the fact that her 16-year-old sister had recently had two abortions by a 30-year old man. Her attempt to connect this with what we were working on that I initially thought I had heard her wrong, but I hadn't. At the same time, I was more supplied by her need to inflame her "Flowers in the Attic" family secrets on me than I was by the actual story.

The most amusing of these incidents, however, is when people who will tell you everything about their life and their past do this while trying to pick you up. I was five hours into an all-day outdoor concert last summer when a very un Jacquard thought he should tell me the in-depth details of his life as he tilted back a rock 'n roll star Tears, "Yeah, so I was a much better guitarist than that guy up there. I invented the blues; I started with my brother until he slept with my ex-wife. That kinda broke the band. But then we picked up from there. We were in a whole other world while we were together. My ex was the reason I fell in love with her. If she wasn't there, I wouldn't have been able to tell you anything, you know, she ran to talk to me anymore," I was so impressed and turned-on by this that I truly considered going "hands" with him. But when I turned to tell my friend Amy not to wait for up, she was busy talking to her equally sharp partner, who kept referring to him as "that blues guy T.J. HOOKER."
USG considers fee proposal

INPUT: Referendum on technology remuneration to go before students.

Dan Craft

In the final days before all students are invited to provide input on the technology fee, Undergraduate Student Government will consider Wednesday night whether to support the completed proposal outlined in text.

Acting Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs Thomas Guernsey, a member of the committee that drafted the proposal, will also be on hand to answer any last-minute questions USG members might have concerning the proposal.

A referendum on the technology fee will go before all students next week, attached to the Student Trustee election ballots. Separate referendums are available for graduate and undergraduate students, as a fee might be implemented on only one group or the other.

The vote tonight by USG would support or reject a fee for undergraduates only, as a graduate fee would be supported or rejected by the Graduate and Professional Student Council.

The chances of approval are good, USG President Jackie Smith said. “We’ve had a lot of people in USG who have made positive comments about it,” she said.

Both USG and GPSC have raised concerns in the past regarding the vague limits placed on the allocation and uses of money generated by the fee. Guernsey has appeared before both bodies in past seeking input on how those limits should be imposed.

The final proposal outlines several scenarios for a board controlling the expenditure of the fee.

Sen will present issues of violence, hate crimes.

ALLIANCE: discussion will cover issues of violence, hate crimes.

Nickie A. Cashaw

Race and racism and the state of communities are important when finding “the right mix” in student justice, according to Rinku Sen.

“People are living, in a time when it’s difficult to talk about race relations,” Sen said. “Racism creates difference. If we’re not able to talk about it, then the conditions will continue.”

Sen is presenting a discussion titled “Building Lasting Alliances Between Communities of Color” at 7 tonight at the Student Center in the Illinois Room, as part of Asian-American Awareness Month.

Racism against students of chemistry from Malaysia, said the problem with communication between Asians and Americans stems from the lack of knowledge.

“I think the main problem most of the international students face is that they would rather not talk English because they don’t speak it well,” she said. “Maybe that makes Americans think that they are not friendly.”

Sen, co-director of the Center for Third World Organizing in Oakland, Calif., said the organization builds direct action organizations in communities of color.

Sen said they have programs where they build membership organizations in the poor communities.

In this program, they explore issues in the community, research for a solution and design a campaign. These people have built unions in the workplaces, provided free immunizations for school children, shut down welfare hotels and helped people move into permanent housing.

“The job of the organizer is to get people to advocate on their own behalf,” she said. “If we’re going to be able to talk about racism and change it, it has to be a collective thing and not an individual.”

Sen will present issues of violence, hate crimes and state-sponsored violence. Sen illustrated examples of state-sponsored violence as being discrimination in the school system and minority races.

In the AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION Journal last month, they did a study that blacks and people receive less good treatment from doctors than whites,” she said.

But Sen added that white people get tested for a wide variety of things, unlike black people and get various treatments.

When Sen mentions communities of color she is referring to African-American, Asian and Pacific Islanders, Latinos, Native Americans and Middle Eastern students.

Sen said she aspires the audience to want to transform the state of the union. The chancellor has said she will not push for a technology fee if the students don’t support it, so right now it’s in the hands of the students, Sen said.

Public computer labs across campus would be first on the list to receive funding from the fee, with other facilities open to all students following closely behind. Other projects that would qualify for funding include software upgrades, opening new laboratories on campus and expanding lab hours and help desk services.

USG first brought forward the idea of a technology fee early last semester. SIUC Chancellor Jo Ann Argersinger has been supporting the proposal from the beginning, arguing that the state of technology across campus was not good and that additional money would be needed to resolve the problem. A technology fee is one way Argersinger advocated to help raise that money.

In other business, appointments to the USG Judicial Board of Appeals are confirmed tonight. The Judicial Board is set up to resolve any problems that might arise out of the upcoming USG elections.
The Office of the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs and Provost

is pleased to extend much deserved recognition and

Congratulations

to members of the SIUC faculty and staff

who were awarded promotions in rank and tenured

effective Academic Year 1999-2000

April 8, 1999

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 14, 1999

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY

CHOSEN 1869

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE
T. C. Girard, Tenured Associate Professor, Animal Science, Food and Nutrition
Michael Schmidt, Tenured Associate Professor, Plant, Soil and General Agriculture

COLLEGE OF APPLIED SCIENCES AND ARTS
Rodney B. Collard, Associate Professor, Applied Technology
Fred R. Isberner, Professor, Health Care Professions
Steven C. Jensen, Professor, Health Care Professions
Janet L. Rogers, Tenured Associate Professor, Health Care Professions
David J. White, Associate Professor, Applied Art

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS AND ADMINISTRATION
James J. Musumeci, Tenured Associate Professor, Finance

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION
John J. Benthoff, Professor, Rehabilitation Institute
Elaine M. Blinde, Professor, Physical Education
Randi J. Dunn, Tenured, Educational Administration and Higher Education
Timothy Janikowski, Professor, Rehabilitation Institute

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION (continued)
Andrew T. Lunte, Tenured Associate Professor, Curriculum and Instruction
Marjorie Malkin, Professor, Health Education and Recreation
Irma O’Dell, Tenured Associate Professor, Health Education and Recreation

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING
Serge Abrate, Tenured Professor, Technology
James W. Blackburn, Tenured, Mechanical Engineering and Energy Processes
Lizette R. Chevalier, Tenured Associate Professor, Civil Engineering
Moteza Daneshboost, Professor, Electrical Engineering
Kambie Farhang, Professor, Mechanical Engineering and Energy Processes
Rasit Koe, Professor, Mechanical Engineering and Energy Processes
Marek L. Szary, Associate Professor, Technology
Tomás Velasco, Tenured Associate Professor, Technology

SCHOOL OF LAW
R. J. Robertson, Professor, Law

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS
Edward Benyas, Tenured Associate Professor, Music
Jian Chen, Tenured Professor, History
Robert L. Clintou, Professor, Political Science
Schahattis Dibougu, Tenured Associate Professor, Economics
C. Andrew Hofling, Tenured Associate Professor, Anthropology
E. Beth Lordan, Professor, English
Scott J. McEathron, Tenured Associate Professor, English
Lee Ann Newsom, Associate Scientist, Archaeological Investigations
Erin L. Palmer, Tenured Associate Professor, Art and Design
Anthony J. Steinbock, Tenured Professor, Philosophy
Jane L. Swanson, Professor, Psychology
Kim H. Wilhelm, Tenured Associate Professor, Linguistics
Anthony J. Williams, Professor, English
Kay M. Zivkovich, Tenured Associate Professor, Art and Design

COLLEGE OF SCIENCE
Joe M. Davis, Professor, Chemistry and Biochemistry
George A. Feldhamer, Professor, Zoology
Richard S. Halfbrook, Tenured Associate Professor, Zoology
Robert J. Sheehan, Professor, Zoology

Noreen Barnes-McLain, Tenured, Theater
Jonathan J. Bean, Tenured Associate Professor, History
English Day recognizes prospective students

Asstara L. Dillard
Daily Egyptian editor

High school and community college students had the opportunity to tour and visit the SIUC campus while participating in the 12th annual English Day from 7:40 to 11:00 a.m. today in the Student Center.

Associated English professor Lisa J. McClure is a scheduled workshop leader and director of English Day for the past 11 years. McClure said the day’s events will enable students to become familiar with the hard work of their students.

The professors decided to start encouraging students to do well in English by honoring them on English Day and awarding them monetary awards, McClure said. “It has been successful.”

McClure said she chose to participate in the program because, as a former high school teacher, she wanted to give back to the community by involving the surrounding schools.

“As a university professor I think it’s important for us to be involved in our area high schools,” McClure said. “It helps SIUC with public relations involving the area and allows us to get to know more about our future students.”

English Day activities include a breakfast reception for students and their teachers, workshops for students, a tour of Morris Library and a convocation.

Richard Jurek, SIUC alumnus and vice president and director of corporate and institutional marketing at Northern Trust Company of Chicago, is scheduled to address the event’s keynote speaker. During the convocation, Jurek will address the issue concerning “English Majors Out and About: Opportunity, Cost and Benefits of a Career Outside of Academics.”

Awards will be given to the “English Student” found surrounding community high schools and colleges. Undergraduate and graduate students. SIUC will be honored as well during the convocation.

Tell it to the jury

Tell them whatever you want, but if you have sex with a woman without her consent, you could be arrested, charged and convicted of rape. And then you can tell your family and friends goodbye.

Against her will is against the law.

Tell the ones you love that you love them. Tell them you will "stay with them," and make them "feel" secure. Because you do not have the power to keep yourself from raping them.

Tell them you will "stay with them," and make them "feel" secure. Because you do not have the power to keep yourself from raping them.

Tell them you will "stay with them," and make them "feel" secure. Because you do not have the power to keep yourself from raping them.

Tell them you will "stay with them," and make them "feel" secure. Because you do not have the power to keep yourself from raping them.

Tell them you will "stay with them," and make them "feel" secure. Because you do not have the power to keep yourself from raping them.

Tell them you will "stay with them," and make them "feel" secure. Because you do not have the power to keep yourself from raping them.

Tell them you will "stay with them," and make them "feel" secure. Because you do not have the power to keep yourself from raping them.

Tell them you will "stay with them," and make them "feel" secure. Because you do not have the power to keep yourself from raping them.
Taking advantage of a galactic gift

CELESTIAL: Amateur astronomer speaks to SIUC about the miracle of the heavens

ERIN FARAGLIA
DAILY EAGLE REPORTER

A 1-year-old girl curiously peers out of her living room window. Her only world is the neighborhood street, her house, and trees.

This is how she perceives the universe at her young age, but one day she will see a fascinating world out in space just waiting to be discovered.

David H. Levy, amateur astronomer and distinguished lecturer, tells this not only to his 1-year-old granddaughter but also to the millions of curious children who need exposure to their universal environment.

Levy has discovered 21 comets, including Comet Shoemaker-Levy 9 in 1993. He discovered Comet S-L 9 with the late Gene Shoemaker and his wife Carolyn.

Since the discovery, Levy has won an Emmy award in 1998 for helping write "Three Minutes to Impact," a February 1997 special on the Discovery Channel.

Levy is the contributing science editor to "Parade" magazine, the Chicago Tribune insert, and has authored 18 books on astronomy.

The S-L 9 comet put Levy in the center of a cosmic event July 16-22, 1994, when it collided with Jupiter. It was the first collision of two solar bodies ever to be seen.

"It was a watershed in understanding for scientists," Levy said. "We didn't know how important the strike would be," recalled Levy. "It was an extraordinary time for us."

The energy each fragment released was the same as one Hiroshima bomb being dropped every second for five years, Levy said.

Rick Williams, University Honors Program director, coordinated Levy's third visit to SIUC and was extremely excited to have him back.

"Levy is a remarkable guy," Williams said. "He became a celebrity late enough in life that his character was already formed, so more exposure didn't change him at all."

"Levy loved the University and the students, so he asked us to bring him back. Every time he gives a show, it's something different. This time, his focus was on the heavens."

Williams said Levy recently underwent multiple cancer surgery and lost a kidney.

"To look at him and listen to him lecture, you would not know a difference," Williams said. "He just boomed right back. He's a cancer survivor, a friend of SIUC and the University's Honors Program."

At Monday night's lecture in Student Center Auditorium titled "Still the Home of the Gods?" Levy spoke about the need for people to understand space and take advantage of the galactic gift nature has given people.

Levy was born in Canada and currently lives in Vail, Ariz. He and his wife have an observatory room in their backyard.

"I'm a night watchman," Levy said. "I try to find that there is out there and what's new. Maybe a new galaxy, a new red star or new comet."

At the lecture, Levy discussed the hypothetical existence of "committee" of spirits or beings at the beginning of time which created the universe.

"The very moment the universe began, the committee created excitement, dreams, style and beauty, all out of unrelated subatomic particles," Levy said.

"In the first nanosecond of the universe, a proton and an electron were created to become a hydrogen atom, which then created the basic building blocks of life as we know it." Levy said he believes the committee's goal was to allow us to look up and see the best of ourselves and who we can be.

Levy referred to George Wald, a Nobel-Prize winning scientist, and his belief that the universe was designed for life. Wald's theory was that ice floats and that in why life exists today.

Levy said that in the beginning after the first winter, instead of ice floating to the surface of ponds, lakes and oceans it would solidify and its source would not be possible if it did not have a glowing chunk of rock was shown.

Levy explained that the formation was actually a solar system forming, waiting for a comet or asteroid to hit it and bring necessary building blocks of life, just as it had to Earth so many millions years ago.

"Five billion years from now, there could be an SIUC class looking out from that solar system, wondering if there is any life out there," Levy said.

"It is incredible to me, the magnificent beauty of the night sky, and that it incites the wonders it does," Levy said. "People need to appreciate the universe that we have."

Levy described three people he considered to be gods on earth who fully appreciated their universe and expressed those emotions with others — Seneca, a Roman who wrote the first book on astronomy; Shakespeare, who Levy said was an ordinary man with an extraordinary talent for prose; and the late Gene Shoemaker, on who Levy is finishing a biography.

"A god is defined as being someone who never dies," Levy said. "Everybody dies twice — once in a literal sense and next when the last person who remembers them dies. These three never die, because they will always be remembered."

SHARE IT WITH SOMEONE YOU LOVE

Save $0.50 on HOT POCKETS®, LEAN POCKETS®, HOT POCKETS® brand PIZZA MINIS, and TOASTER BREAKS®

Available at Kroger and other fine stores in your area (in the freezer section)

Hot Pocket, Lean Pocket, and Hot Pockets are registered trademarks of Nestle.
Kelly E. Herlein
DAILY EGYPTIAN REPORTER

Forfeit the pocket calendars and tedious phone calls in determining the time and place of local upcoming events. SIUC has compiled a new electronic public events calendar, designed to aid the public, students and faculty in keeping up-to-date with activities.

Director of Public Affairs Sue Davis, who researched and implemented the program, said the advantages of the calendar may prove to be phenomenal.

"We needed a central calendar for everything that was of public interest and for public events here," Davis said. "Instead of attempting to get out about 15 paper calendars together, everything will be available in one spot. It will require cooperation across campus as a team effort."

The campus-wide calendar can be found on the Internet at http://calendar.siu.edu. Anyone may access the calendar, however, only trained faculty administrators are allowed to update and alter the calendar's events and forms after completion of a training course.

While seeking options for software, Davis said she found several versions that would be suitable for SIUC but resources were slim for the project.

"Diverse interests have calendars such as ours and we looked at them, but there were some that cost up to $10,000," she said. "We just didn't have that kind of money to allocate."

The program chosen for the calendar is the PerCal Pro system, which granted a small price tag of below $500. To add additional savings, the system is running on an older server.

The calendar may give tentative scheduling four to six years in advanced. Events posted on the calendar include a brief paragraph describing the event and, if applicable, ticket prices, how to obtain tickets and who to contact for further information regarding the event.

University departments are invited to utilize the calendar as a resource for planning and updating events open to the public interests.

Davis said register departmental or student organization meetings will be permitted onto the site but they are encouraged to add additional event information. She thought the Web would be a good idea because everyone could view it, Davis said.

"Things like the Carbondale Boat Regatta will be allowed. If student groups are having a public event, they can either work through students development or student advisor, but we won't be posting club meetings," Bob Cerchio, director of Shryock Auditorium, has assisted and worked with Davis in compiling the calendar. Cerchio said he hopes the calendar will eliminate unnecessary phone calls and rumors concerning Shryock events.

"We have some of our tentative events on the calendar," Cerchio said. "We are still in negotiation for a lot of our events, so we haven't posted anything permanent as of yet.

"But the impact it will have on us is two-fold. We take the calls when there is a rumor on campus that an artist is coming — now students can search for that artist and this should reduce the amount of calls. Also, it gets basic information out there about events we are having."

Davis and Cerchio, with the assistance of trained administrators, are developing an access link to off-campus events in which students may participate.

However, Cerchio emphasized that the calendar is not an advertising outlet. "The purpose of the calendar is not as a marketing device," he said.

"The calendar is for informational purposes. It points people in the right direction."

Mayor

Continued from page 1

comply with affirmative action guidelines, and Dillard's past support of raising the bar-entry age.

During the campaign, the mayor voiced his desire to maintain the entry age at 19 and classified the matter as a non-issue in the past despite widespread Budlick advertisements attempting to paint the controversial topic as relevant.

Dillard also said the city has worked diligently to ensure fair hiring practices and said he hopes the city can now re-unite.

"I want to make sure our community is together," Dillard said. "We are a very diverse community, and it is very special at times. We have to keep everyone together."

Cook County Sheriff

A lifelong Carbondale resident, Budlick won his City Council seat in 1997 with strong student support. Budlick, who owns Mustard Shopping Center, has been a businessman in Carbondale for the last 30 years and emphasized his business experience during his mayoral campaign.

Budlick, 51, worked feverishly to attract the student vote all the way up to Election Day, when his supporters offered shuttle service to voters in need of a ride to polling places.

Known for his student-friendly stances, Budlick most recently came out in support of three controversial housing ordinances proposed by the SIUC Graduate and Professional Student Council. Other examples of Budlick supporting student causes include voting as a student as late as 1983 and backing student efforts to raise the bar-entry age and to implement a cap on towing fees. Budlick did enjoy widespread backing in student-dominated precincts, but on Tuesday, he said his heart belonged to Dillard.

"Now, we've got a lot more work to do," he said. "We're ready to go again."
SPC Spring Thing
Saturday, April 17
4:00 pm - 6:30 pm
( Gates open at 3:00 pm )

Volunteers Needed!
Volunteer meeting Wednesdays, April 14, 5:00 pm
Student Center Ballroom D

George Clinton & the P-Funk Allstars

FREE OUTDOOR SHOW
Rain location: SIUC Arena

Parking Lot 56, South of SIUC Arena
Southern Illinois University Carbondale

Thanks to the following sponsors:
Inter Fraternity Council
Graduate & Professional Student Council
SIUC Student Center

No Alcohol • No Pets • No Carry-Ons • No Controlled Substance
No Coolers • No Weapons • No Violating
Warning: May contain explicit lyrics • Not intended for all audiences
For more information call 536-3333
Women and minority enrollment increases at SIU School of Law

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>First-year law school</th>
<th>First-year women entering law school</th>
<th>Women as percentage of total</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1983</td>
<td>45,000</td>
<td>5,000</td>
<td>11.1%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1984</td>
<td>44,000</td>
<td>4,400</td>
<td>10.0%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1985</td>
<td>43,000</td>
<td>3,900</td>
<td>9.1%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1986</td>
<td>42,000</td>
<td>3,700</td>
<td>8.8%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1987</td>
<td>41,000</td>
<td>3,600</td>
<td>8.8%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1988</td>
<td>40,000</td>
<td>3,500</td>
<td>8.7%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1989</td>
<td>39,000</td>
<td>3,400</td>
<td>8.7%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1990</td>
<td>38,000</td>
<td>3,300</td>
<td>8.7%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1991</td>
<td>37,000</td>
<td>3,200</td>
<td>8.7%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1992</td>
<td>36,000</td>
<td>3,100</td>
<td>8.6%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1993</td>
<td>35,000</td>
<td>3,000</td>
<td>8.6%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1994</td>
<td>34,000</td>
<td>2,900</td>
<td>8.5%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1995</td>
<td>33,000</td>
<td>2,800</td>
<td>8.5%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Source: American Bar Association

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Total U.S. law school students</th>
<th>Women law school students</th>
<th>Women as percentage of total</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1993</td>
<td>36,000</td>
<td>3,000</td>
<td>8.3%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1994</td>
<td>35,000</td>
<td>2,800</td>
<td>8.0%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1995</td>
<td>34,000</td>
<td>2,600</td>
<td>7.6%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1996</td>
<td>33,000</td>
<td>2,400</td>
<td>7.3%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1997</td>
<td>32,000</td>
<td>2,200</td>
<td>6.9%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Source: American Bar Association

Trends in Female Enrollment for the Past 30 Years

- First-year female enrollment in American Bar Association-approved law schools.
- First-year women entering law school.
- Women as percentage of total.

LAWSYERS: While women and minority numbers increase, total enrollment decreases.

FRANK KILLMA

More women and minority students were accepted at the SIU School of Law this year, yet total enrollment decreases.

Out of 376 students admitted for Fall 1999, the number of women admitted to the School of Law has increased 4 percent from the last year and minority admissions have increased 2 percent.

"We've definitely admitted more women and minorities for the fall," said Michael Ruiz, assistant dean for admissions and student affairs. "There has been a concerted effort by law schools nationwide to encourage women and minorities to apply. We're seeing the results of that."

KUN SNYDER, assistant dean for admissions and student affairs:

"There has been a concerted effort by law schools to encourage women and minorities to apply, Ruiz said. We're seeing the results of that."

While women and minority law students reflect a trend seen nationwide, although men still constitute a majority of students at the nation's law schools, women continue to gain ground.

Statistics gathered by the American Bar Association indicate in 1998 women represented 46.1 percent of law school students, which is up from 45.2 percent in 1997.

Statistics gathered by the American Bar Association indicate in 1998 women constituted 46.1 percent of law school students, which is up from 45.2 percent in 1997.

"There has been a concerted effort by law professors and the ABA to encourage women and minorities to apply," Ruiz said. "We're seeing the results of that."
Tax rates for JALC would have fallen because the school will be finished paying off a $4 million bond this year.

Meanwhile, 84 percent of Carbondale Township voters supported the Bernardin Amendment, which appeared on the ballot in select parts of the state including Carbondale Township, recommends the General Assembly enact a plan securing quality, universal health care coverage for all Illinoisans.

Named in honor of the late Cardinal Joseph Bernardin of Chicago, the referendum has no body saying whether or not a universal health care plan is in motion but rather serves as an endorsement from voters for such a plan.

Jack Buckley, president of Southern Illinois Healthcare, said the growing number of uninsured Americans has made the need for universal health care coverage increasingly pressing.

Buckley described the amendment as "a philosophical framework" for what he hopes will be a concrete plan in the near future.

"Some day we are going to have to make a decision on this," he said.

COUNCIL continued from page 1

"The last few days I did not do too much — not a lot of extra campaigning," Neill said. "If figured people had made up their minds."

The results of the election nearly mirrored the primaries, with almost the same lineup. Neill came out on top of the herd in the primaries in February with 1,146 out of 3,317 ballots cast. This total 203.4 percent of the votes. Neill led with just 59 votes more than Cole. Cole garnered 19 percent, 1,087 votes. Rounding out the top four was McDaniel and Flowers, collecting 919 and 718 votes, respectively.

"We all ran a good race," Cole said. "I think we'll all still be friends.

Neill and Cole will take the reigns of their new terms when they are sworn in May 4 at the City Council meeting.

Carbondale City Council candidate Neil Neill reviews precinct reports with Billie Zimny Tuesday evening at the Carbondale Civic Center, 200 S. Illinois Ave.

DEAN MALLEY
DAILY EGYPTRAN

THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA
1999 GUADALAJARA SUMMER SCHOOL

6-week sessions

Intensive Spanish
July 5 - August 12 or July 12 - August 19, 1999
Earn: 8 semester hours

Intensive English
July 5 - August 12, 1999
Earn: 8 semester hours

5-week intensives

Spanish and Mexican Studies
July 12 - August 13, 1999
Earn: 9 semester hours

ARCHAEOLOGY, POLITICAL SCIENCE, SOCIOLOGY, AND MEXICAN EDUCATION

For info or to apply, contact: Guadalupe Summer School
The University of Arizona, 1111 N. Campbell Ave, Tucson, AZ 85721 / Phone: 2012-621-8137 / E-MAIL: GSS@ARIZONA.EDU / Homepage: www.arizona.edu/gss

SPRING CLEAN UP 1999
April 17, 1999 - 8AM-12:30PM
Sign in at Turley Park for Assignments

• T-shirts for First 300 volunteers
• Coffee & Donuts for Early Birds
• Prizes & Music
• Hot Dogs & Soft Drinks

BUY ONE, GET ONE FREE COUPON
Purchase any large order of pasta and receive any order of pasta of equal or lesser value FREE

ITALIAN RESTAURANT
Please present coupon when ordering. Gratuity and sales tax not included. University Mall location only.

Not valid on lunch, dinner or pasta specials. Cannot be used with Kids Eat Free. One coupon per customer.

Expires May 15, 1999

395 North Grand City Road • Carbondale
1217 West Main Street • Carbondale
VA Medical Center • Marion
Direct Line (618) 549-3636 • (800) 449-7301
Join us online www.sisucli.org

"FLIP" BACK TO THE 1970s

"In the 70s...

Back in the 70s... Sisu Credit Union offered a new/used vehicle loan annual percentage rate of 9.5%. Why not join us in turning the 1970s upside down by "flipping" the 9.5% APR of the 70's to a cool 6.9% APR.

6.9% APR IN THE 1970S
6.5% APR IN THE 1980S

VEHICLE LOAN

Back in the 70s... Sisu Credit Union offered a new/used vehicle loan annual percentage rate of 9.5%. Why not join us in turning the 1970s upside down by flying the 9.5% APR of the 70s to a cool 6.9% APR.

6.9% APR FOR 1997-1998 MODEL VEHICLES
6.5% APR FOR 1995-1991 MODEL VEHICLES

CREDIT
SITUATION

395 North Grand City Road • Carbondale
1217 West Main Street • Carbondale
VA Medical Center • Marion
Direct Line (618) 549-3636 • (800) 449-7301
Join us online www.sisucli.org

"FLIP" BACK TO THE 1970s

Back in the 70s... Sisu Credit Union offered a new/used vehicle loan annual percentage rate of 9.5%. Why not join us in turning the 1970s upside down by "flipping" the 9.5% APR of the 70's to a cool 6.9% APR.

6.9% APR IN THE 1970S
6.5% APR IN THE 1980S

VEHICLE LOAN

Back in the 70s... Sisu Credit Union offered a new/used vehicle loan annual percentage rate of 9.5%. Why not join us in turning the 1970s upside down by "flipping" the 9.5% APR of the 70's to a cool 6.9% APR.

6.9% APR FOR 1997-1998 MODEL VEHICLES
6.5% APR FOR 1995-1991 MODEL VEHICLES

CREDIT
SITUATION

395 North Grand City Road • Carbondale
1217 West Main Street • Carbondale
VA Medical Center • Marion
Direct Line (618) 549-3636 • (800) 449-7301
Join us online www.sisucli.org
Southern Illinois Studio Apartments 403 E. College, Carbondale, IL 62901 529-2241

610 S. Logan
4 Bedroom house

A beach house

one block from Recreation Center,
9500 per month,
8th month starting in August 529-1082

For Your Housing Needs

Freshmen & Sophomores
Upperclassmen
Grad Students
CarbondaleHousing.com
On the Internet

Let us send you on a Carnival Cruise for 2

SIU Sophomore Approved
Unfurnished / Furnished Efficiency Apartments
On-site Management
Laundry
Resident Parking

DUPLEXES
CAVANAUGH RURAL 3 bedrooms, 1 bath, gas, heat, electric, gas range, gas hot water heater, nice setting, close to SIU, $500-600/mo, 12 mo lease, $350-450/mo, call 457-8570.

CULLEN, 3 bedrooms, 1 bath, gas, heat, electric, floor to ceiling windows, 1 stop away from SIU, $500-600/mo, 12 mo lease, max May 29, 857-2393.

MAGNOLIA URBAN 3 bedrooms, 1 bath, gas, heat, electric, 2 blocks from SIU, $750/mo, 12 mo lease, max May 15, 457-1440.

3 bedrooms, 1 bath, gas, heat, electric, 2 blocks from SIU, $500-600/mo, 12 mo lease, $350-450/mo, call 457-8567.

RENOVED 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, gas, heat, electric, 2 blocks from SIU, $500-600/mo, 12 mo lease, max May 16, $350-450/mo.

Furnished 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, gas, heat, electric, 2 blocks from SIU, $600/mo, 12 mo lease, max May 16, $400-500/mo.

3 BEDROOM HOUSE, 1 bedroom, gas, heat, electric, 2 blocks from SIU, $400/mo, 12 mo lease, max May 15, $250-300/mo.

1 bedroom, gas, heat, electric, 2 blocks from SIU, $400/mo, 12 mo lease, max May 15, $250-300/mo.

1 bedroom, gas, heat, electric, 2 blocks from SIU, $350/mo, 12 mo lease, max May 15, $250-300/mo.

RENOVED 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, gas, heat, electric, 2 blocks from SIU, $500-600/mo, 12 mo lease, max May 16, $350-450/mo.

Furnished 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, gas, heat, electric, 2 blocks from SIU, $600/mo, 12 mo lease, max May 16, $400-500/mo.

3 BEDROOM HOUSE, 1 bedroom, gas, heat, electric, 2 blocks from SIU, $400/mo, 12 mo lease, max May 15, $250-300/mo.

1 bedroom, gas, heat, electric, 2 blocks from SIU, $400/mo, 12 mo lease, max May 15, $250-300/mo.

1 bedroom, gas, heat, electric, 2 blocks from SIU, $350/mo, 12 mo lease, max May 15, $250-300/mo.
HELP WANTED:

CAJUN'S SECURITY OFFICE needs a full-time inside pool patrol guard. Must be able to pass a drug screen and pass a background check before employment. Starting wage is $12 an hour. Call 537-5130.

WANTED: 2 roommates (1 male, 1 female) to share a room at 235 West State St. Must be able to pass a background check and have references. Rent includes utilities. Call 539-5757.

MOBILE HOME LOTS

LOTS for NEW MOBILE HOMES: $80 per month, lease agreement. Call 530-0491 or 537-0609.

COMMERCIAL PROPERTY

Mboro office space, 1450 sq ft, modernism, new HVAC, call 537-6125.

NEED MONDAY EARN a good income in NEW MARKETING, call 1-900-876-1149.

WE NEED ENTHUSIASTIC salespeople to handle our NEW-low-cost advertising campaign! You'll work closely with our experienced sales staff in our CENTRAL OFFICE. Send resume and salary requirements to:鎮 GROUP, 1645 N. Academy Blvd., Dept. N, Colorado Springs, CO 80918.

NEVER SEI LONELY AGAIN! 1-900-328-3211 (id67A2)

Must be 18 yrs, $2.99 per min.

GOLDEN CRUST PYRAMID INCOME FOR '99

Must know how to build a solid bread pyramid.

409 W. COLLEGE #2

1 bedroom apt. near campus.

Call 529-1082

Available August 1999

LIVE IN LUXURY

The Blue Townhouses

2, 3, 4, & 5 Bedroom

- Dishwasher
- Full kitchen, W/D, 6/6, heat

SEE OUR SHOW APT. AT 409 W. COLLEGE #2

Also Available:

- 1 Bedroom & Studio Apartments

If you are looking for a house, we have those too!

Call 529-1082
A twilight zone opener for Cubs

CHICAGO - If only Rod Scurry had been there to throw out the first ball.

In what might have been the most bizarre Opening Day in their history, the Cubs unveiled a statue of Harry Caray, then basically committed hara-kiri on the field.

A term that can hit now can't hit, while a more dependable placekick new 56 million man Kevin Tapani, now has his pitching shoulder while hitting.

Come again?

Fittingly, Mike Ditka became the first celebrity singer to sing Harry's trademark "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" to the tune of "Ninety-Nine Lumber Company." T-shirts being weathered.

"He'll be fine," Beck said. "He knows his body. A lot of pitchers coming from spring training lighten up the first time they pitch in colder weather.

Just in case, perhaps, the Cubs should sign Walter Payton.

PostGame

OF COURSE, the first home run for the Salukis in their 3-2 win at Southwest Missouri State University.

BASKETBALL

Hudson signs multi-year deal with Clippers

Former Saluki point guard Troy Hudson signed a multi-year deal with the Los Angeles Clippers.

No other terms were disclosed.

In 11 games during 20 days, the 5-foot-10 Hudson has averaged 4.7 points and 1.7 assists per game.

"I would just say that I have really enjoyed working with both of them," Argersinger said. "I think they have enjoyed their work here and have worked together well."

Managing Editor Jayette Babinski contributed to this article.

Alliance

continued from page 5

of poor communities and the poverty-plagued Danville, is the door open for people to be a part of changing," Sen said.

Yup said programs presented in Asian American Awareness Month are a way for people to learn about other cultures and close the gap present by ignoring them.

"The University should encourage different groups to attend those events provided by the University, so they can have a chance to know each other," Sen said.

Sen said that although particular cultures are sensitive to racism, all needs to be aware of it.

"As Americans need to identify ourselves," Argersinger said. "All people of color are vulnerable to racism. If we're vulnerable to one form, we are vulnerable to another."
Proposition 16 spells trouble for coaches

Recent ruling has SIUC athletics concerns about recruiting and freshman eligibility

SHANDOL RICHARDSON

Sports columnist

Bruce Weber already thinks recruiting is the toughest part of his job.

The recent rulings concerning the eligibility of freshman athletes just make the recruiting process more difficult for the Illini's men's basketball coach.

On March 6, U.S. District Judge Robert B. Hurd ruled standardized tests — the American College Test (ACT) and Scholastic Assessment Test (SAT) — are unfair to African-American students.

The decision was set to make all non-qualifiers of Proposition 16, which previously forced all freshmen who scored lower than 17 on the ACT or 720 on the SAT to sit out a year, eligible for play during their first year of college.

Soon after, Illinois was granted a stay by the NCAA March 17, only to have the 3rd Circuit of Appeals grant the Saluki football team yet another chance to take the test.

Many coaches, including Weber, have taken the test since 1993. Questions have been raised about the validity of the test, especially among African-American students.

Some feel the ruling is just a way that the NCAA will try to appease the new breed of coaches.

They are very concerned about the loss of freshman athletes. "There's no question we are going to lose an important year of talent," said Weber.

The decision, however, is not final and the new set of rules isn't expected to be announced until October.

The temptation is certain to be too great for coaches of talented non-qualifier, especially in the state where 56 percent of the population, and 40 percent of 18-year-olds, could now become eligible in October.

"We were told by [SIUC athletic director] Harold Bardo and the league office just to continue recruiting kids with the old rules," Weber said. "If you end up playing somebody that didn't meet the criteria, then you could get in trouble."

The delay just any coach in a hardened situation, particularly in basketball since the signing periods for men's and women's basketball began April 7.

Weber is in the process of finding a replacement for graduated Monte Jenkins, while women's basketball assistant Julie Beck expects to sign two of the 49ers' potential signees for the 1999-2000 season. Beck said all the women on potential signees for the 1999-2000 season.

"It's up to the individual coach, if they are going to take a chance on someone that hasn't made a score or not," Beck said. "Luckily, the kids we are looking at (this season) are good students and are not on the edge.

"The thing that's not affected the Saluki football team yet, SIU-C students that take the test until the final verdict, there is no doubt that they are going to lose an important year of talent," Weber said.

"The temptation is certain to be too great for coaches of talented non-qualifiers, especially in the state where 56 percent of the population, and 40 percent of 18-year-olds, could now become eligible in October."}

"We were told by [SIUC athletic director] Harold Bardo and the league office just to continue recruiting kids with the old rules," Weber said. "If you end up playing somebody that didn't meet the criteria, then you could get in trouble."

The delay just any coach in a hardened situation, particularly in basketball since the signing periods for men's and women's basketball began April 7.

Weber is in the process of finding a replacement for graduated Monte Jenkins, while women's basketball assistant Julie Beck expects to sign two of the 49ers' potential signees for the 1999-2000 season. Beck said all the women on potential signees for the 1999-2000 season.

"It's up to the individual coach, if they are going to take a chance on someone that hasn't made a score or not," Beck said. "Luckily, the kids we are looking at (this season) are good students and are not on the edge.

"The thing that's not affected the Saluki football team yet, SIU-C students that take the test until the final verdict, there is no doubt that they are going to lose an important year of talent," Weber said.

"The temptation is certain to be too great for coaches of talented non-qualifiers, especially in the state where 56 percent of the population, and 40 percent of 18-year-olds, could now become eligible in October."}

"We were told by [SIUC athletic director] Harold Bardo and the league office just to continue recruiting kids with the old rules," Weber said. "If you end up playing somebody that didn't meet the criteria, then you could get in trouble."

The delay just any coach in a hardened situation, particularly in basketball since the signing periods for men's and women's basketball began April 7.

Weber is in the process of finding a replacement for graduated Monte Jenkins, while women's basketball assistant Julie Beck expects to sign two of the 49ers' potential signees for the 1999-2000 season. Beck said all the women on potential signees for the 1999-2000 season.

"It's up to the individual coach, if they are going to take a chance on someone that hasn't made a score or not," Beck said. "Luckily, the kids we are looking at (this season) are good students and are not on the edge.

"The thing that's not affected the Saluki football team yet, SIU-C students that take the test until the final verdict, there is no doubt that they are going to lose an important year of talent," Weber said.

"The temptation is certain to be too great for coaches of talented non-qualifiers, especially in the state where 56 percent of the population, and 40 percent of 18-year-olds, could now become eligible in October."}

"We were told by [SIUC athletic director] Harold Bardo and the league office just to continue recruiting kids with the old rules," Weber said. "If you end up playing somebody that didn't meet the criteria, then you could get in trouble."

The delay just any coach in a hardened situation, particularly in basketball since the signing periods for men's and women's basketball began April 7.

Weber is in the process of finding a replacement for graduated Monte Jenkins, while women's basketball assistant Julie Beck expects to sign two of the 49ers' potential signees for the 1999-2000 season. Beck said all the women on potential signees for the 1999-2000 season.

"It's up to the individual coach, if they are going to take a chance on someone that hasn't made a score or not," Beck said. "Luckily, the kids we are looking at (this season) are good students and are not on the edge.

"The thing that's not affected the Saluki football team yet, SIU-C students that take the test until the final verdict, there is no doubt that they are going to lose an important year of talent," Weber said.

"The temptation is certain to be too great for coaches of talented non-qualifiers, especially in the state where 56 percent of the population, and 40 percent of 18-year-olds, could now become eligible in October."

"We were told by [SIUC athletic director] Harold Bardo and the league office just to continue recruiting kids with the old rules," Weber said. "If you end up playing somebody that didn't meet the criteria, then you could get in trouble."

The delay just any coach in a hardened situation, particularly in basketball since the signing periods for men's and women's basketball began April 7.

Weber is in the process of finding a replacement for graduated Monte Jenkins, while women's basketball assistant Julie Beck expects to sign two of the 1999-2000 season.

"It's up to the individual coach, if they are going to take a chance on someone that hasn't made a score or not," Beck said. "Luckily, the kids we are looking at (this season) are good students and are not on the edge.

"The thing that's not affected the Saluki football team yet, SIU-C students that take the test until the final verdict, there is no doubt that they are going to lose an important year of talent," Weber said.

"The temptation is certain to be too great for coaches of talented non-qualifiers, especially in the state where 56 percent of the population, and 40 percent of 18-year-olds, could now become eligible in October."}

"We were told by [SIUC athletic director] Harold Bardo and the league office just to continue recruiting kids with the old rules," Weber said. "If you end up playing somebody that didn't meet the criteria, then you could get in trouble."

The delay just any coach in a hardened situation, particularly in basketball since the signing periods for men's and women's basketball began April 7.

Weber is in the process of finding a replacement for graduated Monte Jenkins, while women's basketball assistant Julie Beck expects to sign two of the 1999-2000 season.

"It's up to the individual coach, if they are going to take a chance on someone that hasn't made a score or not," Beck said. "Luckily, the kids we are looking at (this season) are good students and are not on the edge.

"The thing that's not affected the Saluki football team yet, SIU-C students that take the test until the final verdict, there is no doubt that they are going to lose an important year of talent," Weber said.

"The temptation is certain to be too great for coaches of talented non-qualifiers, especially in the state where 56 percent of the population, and 40 percent of 18-year-olds, could now become eligible in October."}

"We were told by [SIUC athletic director] Harold Bardo and the league office just to continue recruiting kids with the old rules," Weber said. "If you end up playing somebody that didn't meet the criteria, then you could get in trouble."

The delay just any coach in a hardened situation, particularly in basketball since the signing periods for men's and women's basketball began April 7.

Weber is in the process of finding a replacement for graduated Monte Jenkins, while women's basketball assistant Julie Beck expects to sign two of the 1999-2000 season.

"It's up to the individual coach, if they are going to take a chance on someone that hasn't made a score or not," Beck said. "Luckily, the kids we are looking at (this season) are good students and are not on the edge.

"The thing that's not affected the Saluki football team yet, SIU-C students that take the test until the final verdict, there is no doubt that they are going to lose an important year of talent," Weber said.

"The temptation is certain to be too great for coaches of talented non-qualifiers, especially in the state where 56 percent of the population, and 40 percent of 18-year-olds, could now become eligible in October."}

"We were told by [SIUC athletic director] Harold Bardo and the league office just to continue recruiting kids with the old rules," Weber said. "If you end up playing somebody that didn't meet the criteria, then you could get in trouble."

The delay just any coach in a hardened situation, particularly in basketball since the signing periods for men's and women's basketball began April 7.

Weber is in the process of finding a replacement for graduated Monte Jenkins, while women's basketball assistant Julie Beck expects to sign two of the 1999-2000 season.

"It's up to the individual coach, if they are going to take a chance on someone that hasn't made a score or not," Beck said. "Luckily, the kids we are looking at (this season) are good students and are not on the edge.

"The thing that's not affected the Saluki football team yet, SIU-C students that take the test until the final verdict, there is no doubt that they are going to lose an important year of talent," Weber said.

"The temptation is certain to be too great for coaches of talented non-qualifiers, especially in the state where 56 percent of the population, and 40 percent of 18-year-olds, could now become eligible in October."
Dawgs still above expectation

Despite recent skid, baseball team remains in hunt for MVC title

Mike Brockling

The Saluki football team's first priority following the 1999 spring practice session will be finding a replacement for assistant coach Rod Sherrill.

Head coach Jan Quarless confirmed Tuesday that Sherrill will be stepping down from his post today to accept a head coaching position at an unspecified high school.

"It's something that he's brought to my attention, and I knew he was in the interview process," Quarless said at a news conference Tuesday. "I guess he got the final word as of [Tuesday], so it's a go. I can only wish him the best."

Sherrill began his coaching career at SIUC under Ray Dempsey from 1978-80 after playing for the Salukis from 1975-77. Sherrill left the school briefly, accepting a defensive coordinator job at Perryville High School in Missouri. He returned to SIUC in 1982 as offensive line/defensive back coach and was part of the Salukis' 1983 Division I-AA national championship team.

He left SIUC again in 1989 for Miami University-Ohio and has bounced from many coaching jobs in his career including head coach at Anna-Jonesboro Community High School, offensive line coach at Coffeyville (Kansas) Community College, defensive coordinator at Southwest Baptist University in Bolivar, Mo., and offensive line coach at Western Illinois University.

"I had the opportunity to coach him as a young football coach here," Quarless said. "The thing that most impresses me about Rodney Sherrill are two characteristics that stand out most in my mind. He's an intensely loyal human being, always doing the little things that nobody's aware of that never gives him any accolades. Secondly, he's one of the most humble of persons I have ever met."

The Salukis now have two vacant coaching positions to fill before the season. Former assistant coach Dan Enos departed in January to accept the offensive coordinator duties at Southwest Missouri State University.

A replacement for Enos has been put on hold because of administrative changes. Quarless was instructed to hold his search until transition phase of interim Athletic Director Harold Stansel was completed. "I would have had a guy in here for spring ball, but I understood the picture at this time," Quarless said. "I think we'll get the thing in the works immediately."

Upcoming: Softball and baseball preview

Major League

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>AL</th>
<th>NL</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Red Sox 6, White Sox 3</td>
<td>Brewers 8, Expos 4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Devil Rays 6, Blue Jays 5</td>
<td>Cardinals 4, Pirates 2</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Assistant football coach Rod Sherrill resigns

Paul Wlekloski
**

The Saluki football team's first priority following the 1999 spring practice session will be finding a replacement for assistant coach Rod Sherrill.

Head coach Jan Quarless confirmed Tuesday that Sherrill will be stepping down from his post today to accept a head coaching position at an unspecified high school.

"It's something that he's brought to my attention, and I knew he was in the interview process," Quarless said at a news conference Tuesday. "I guess he got the final word as of [Tuesday], so it's a go. I can only wish him the best."

Sherrill began his coaching career at SIUC under Ray Dempsey from 1978-80 after playing for the Salukis from 1975-77. Sherrill left the school briefly, accepting a defensive coordinator job at Perryville High School in Missouri. He returned to SIUC in 1982 as offensive line/defensive back coach and was part of the Salukis' 1983 Division I-AA national championship team.

He left SIUC again in 1989 for Miami University-Ohio and has bounced from many coaching jobs in his career including head coach at Anna-Jonesboro Community High School, offensive line coach at Coffeyville (Kansas) Community College, defensive coordinator at Southwest Baptist University in Bolivar, Mo., and offensive line coach at Western Illinois University.

"I had the opportunity to coach him as a young football coach here," Quarless said. "The thing that most impresses me about Rodney Sherrill are two characteristics that stand out most in my mind. He's an intensely loyal human being, always doing the little things that nobody's aware of that never gives him any accolades. Secondly, he's one of the most humble of persons I have ever met."

The Salukis now have two vacant coaching positions to fill before the season. Former assistant coach Dan Enos departed in January to accept the offensive coordinator duties at Southwest Missouri State University.

A replacement for Enos has been put on hold because of administrative changes. Quarless was instructed to hold his search until transition phase of interim Athletic Director Harold Stansel was completed. "I would have had a guy in here for spring ball, but I understood the picture at this time," Quarless said. "I think we'll get the thing in the works immediately."