Religion-in-Life Opens Thursday

The annual Religion-in-Life Week will open Thursday on campus with a theme of "No Man Is An Island."

The event is sponsored by the Inter-Faith Council, which includes religious groups on campus. Invitations for participation have been extended to all students on campus, according to Ron Stellhorn, spokesman for the council.

The Rev. Donald L. Benedict, general director of the Chicago City Missionary Society, will speak in Shryock Auditorium at convocations open to the public at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Thursday. He also will appear at an 8 p.m. informal discussion in Morris Auditorium.

The Rev. Mr. Benedict, replacing author Harry Golden as the keynote speaker, was co-founder of East Harlem Protestant Parish and founder of the Cleveland Inner City Parish. His main duty at the Chicago City Missionary is the renewal of the church in Chicago's inner city. He is described in a recent article in Newsweek magazine as a man "who for the past thirteen years has brought Christianity to life in the depths of New York, Cleveland, and Chicago."

The University Center's activities programming board will sponsor films and lectures during the week. Ap-

Bus Stops Approved By City

The Carbondale City Council Monday night approved establishment of stops for SIU buses at the corner of College Street and South Wall Street.

Carbondale Chief of Police Jack Hazel recommended the move, stating that it would alleviate a serious traffic problem. B.D. Huggins, director of Services for SIU, requested the bus stops.

The Council voted to study a request for a license to operate a "student entertainment center" at 515 S. Illinois Avenue.

Paul Svec, Jr., of Wauconda, Ill., said he would present original entertainment by SIU students at the establishment. Svec said in a letter to the Council that he would permit no "liquor or vice," dancing or food, and admittance would be by membership only.

The Council passed unanimously an ordinance authorizing condemnation proceedings in the city's first urban renewal project, Lincoln Neighborhood Project No. 1, located in the northeast section of town.

The Council set up its land acquisition policies to be included in the city's application for $1.5 million in federal funds for the Cedar Creek reservoir to be constructed southeast of town if approved.

The Council decided to delay pending further study a decision on whether to begin construction of a smaller side channel reservoir. A report on proposed bond issues will be made before the Council decides on the smaller reservoir construction.

2 Families Lose Possessions As Fire Razes Home Sunday

Two Carbondale families lost most of their belongings in a fire early Sunday morning that gutted their two-story wooden apartment house at 420 S. Marion St.

The fire was reported by the University Police about 4 a.m. Three engines arrived on the scene shortly afterwards, but the blaze raged uncontrolled for an hour, according to Carbondale Fire Chief Ulmont Crawshaw.

Old Horse Needs Support

Student Government's Advisory Capacity Includes Fee Allocation, Studying Needs

By Kevin Cole

Student government at SIU is a bony horse whose chief lack is the meat of student support.

One reason for this lack is that students are not willing to give up their time in the interest of a campus government, according to student body president Bob Drinan.

Though called a government, the campus body deserves the title in structure only.

"Student government is not a government at all, but merely a recommending body. The governing body on campus is the administration and eventually the Board of Trustees," Drinan said.

The campus government is an elaborate advisory group capable of making recommendations to the administration.

This chiefly advisory body, with its extensions in the on-campus living areas, does retain the power to regulate itself. Such regulation would become effective, for instance, in cases of passing and enforcing student conduct rules.

Structurally, the SIU student government is similar to the state or national government. Drinan and Ann Bosworth, student body vice-president, make up the executive branch.

Their positions, the only two in student government for which monetary compensation is made, involve carrying out policies and recommendations handed them by the Senate.

For his efforts Drinan receives room, board, tuition plus $20 a month; Miss Bosworth receives room and board. Both amounts are subject to Senate approval.

Functions of the Campus Senate, the legislature of the recommending body, include investigating student needs and proposing solutions for them; and recommending allocation for the nearly $600,000 in annual student activity fees.

Recommendations for the latter then go to administrative offices. In the past, less than $1,000 in allocation recommendation has been refused, Drinan said.

The nine-man judicial board faces restructuring. Formerly its function has been one of hearing last appeals from the living area boards and sitting in on questions of constitutionality.

Plans call for the new judicial board to serve as more of an advisory board to the judicial boards in the living areas on campus, Drinan said.

Campus legislators are picked each fall and spring in all-campus elections. Fifteen of the 31 senators are elected in the fall and 16, including one foreign student senator, are elected in

Frazier Sparks Late SIU Rally

By Tom Wood

Paced by some last minute heroics by Walt Frazier, who is beginning to look as if he is playing from an old script written for Mr. Terrific, the Salukis proved that they are indeed No. 1 Monday night by defeating Kentucky Wesleyan 52-51 and thus ending the Panthers' 16 game winning streak.

Both teams went into the contest rated first by one of the major wire service polls, but Southern was the unequivocal national leader at game's end.

Frazier came through with another in a long line of clutch performances in the waning seconds to score the tying basket, steal the ball from Panther Roger Cordell, score the lead goal and grab the next rebound allowing the Salukis to go into their stall.

All of this took place in the final 1:25 and was set up when Ed Zastrow tied Cordell up and the ensuing rebound went out of bounds off the Panthers, setting up Frazier's 25 footer.

The Salukis led at the intermission 23-22 after a first half in which the largest lead, three points, was held by Kentucky Wesleyan midway in the period.

The second half was almost as close with the Salukis at one stage holding a six point edge and remaining in front through most of the period.

But with three minutes left the Panthers climaxed an uphill battle by taking a 49-47 edge on George Tinsley's pair of free throws. The Salukis brought the ball down, but forward Dick Garrett walked with the ball and Kentucky Wesleyan took control with

Growing Sports Power Deserves Recognition

It would seem that, with the Salukis' recent victories over two nationally ranked major college powers and a couple of close contests with two others, the Salukis owe some people some apologies.

Coach Jack Hartman has taken unfair advantage of these opponents by posing his team as a mild-mannered basketball troupe from the small college organization.

Of course Hartman and his boys are not to be blamed for their apparent falsification of identity. They are not responsible for the tags they carry. They have certainly done their utmost to convince friends and enemies alike that there is nothing small about SIU.

Unfortunately, few people outside of southern Illinois seem to be listening, unless of course, they have already played the Salukis.

The only thing that stands between Southern and prominence, note that—prominence, in major college athletics is recognition within the University itself.

The University is straddling an awkward tence between two simply defined classifications. It is a paradox that a school with an enrollment of 24,000, the defending national champions (major college) in men's and women's gymnastics, a tennis team that has been chosen to play host to the NCAA finals, a golf team that has previously been national champs, a swimming team that competes in some of the most exclusive company in the country and still wins all but one dual meet, a track team that beat Kansas and Florida to name but two, a baseball team that won 27 games and made the NCAA regionals and a wrestling team that competes with Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Iowa State, (three schools which play hide and seek with the NCAA title) should have to compete on a small college level in the two paying sports—football and basketball.

And there is no doubt about it—these sports more than pay their way at most big schools.

Hartman would love to fill his schedule with Texas Westerns and Louisvilles, with an occasional breather, of course, but who wants to play a small college team which could whip the pants off you? Wichita State got a dose of that in the Arena last year and who can blame them for wanting out?

Hartman gets the big ones on his schedule through contacts and friendships with opposing coaches and a guy's popularity could suffer that way, unless he can shake that small college tag.

We have acquired a new football staff to rejuvenate SIU's sagging grid fortunes and last year they handed us the most exciting and successful season any present undergrad has seen. Ellis Rainsberger and his staff have done an exceptional job, but he is working in the same shadow that made Don Shroyer a victim of circumstances, in a sense. How far can a handful of partial scholarships and a lot of confusion on which way the administration will take us go towards producing a consistent winner that should expect to play some day in the company of Illinois, Northwestern and Missouri?

There should be no consideration but better for these sports. Hartman has produced a basketball team, which like the other so-called minor sports, has reached the top. All he needs is somebody to acknowledge the fact—namely the administration.

And Rainsberger deserves the same support. All that is needed is confirmation of the sound program that already exists.

When the paying sports get the recognition they deserve, the others will profit also. The student body will never be faced with the usual "Southern who?" when the team upsets the second best basketball squad anywhere.

And someday Rainsberger will be able to invite Tulsa back for homecoming and blow the Hurricanes out of the stadium!

No University Bloc Evident

Carbondale's primary on Feb. 28 and election on April 18 promise to be hotly contested races with a relatively large number of candidates.

Already candidates for mayor have begun sniping at each other and least two issues—utilization of the city manager form of government and handling of liquor licenses—have been discussed.

Of these, the city manager issue especially seems genuine. The present administration, it seems, has not cooperated with the manager or used the manager system to maximum advantage. On this and other issues the voter will undoubtedly hear much more.

One aspect of the election which threatens to be a major issue is distressing. Already there is talk of bloc voting against candidates who are on the staff of the University. The last thing Carbondale, with all its present problems, needs is a town vs. gown election.

The "University candidates'" lack of affiliation with one another, except in one instance, seems to suggest that no move for SIU people to run the town is in the making.

Voters owe it to themselves and to the progress of the city to evaluate the candidates during the coming campaign on the basis of their stands on issues and their qualifications, not on imagined alliances.

Abortion Laws Need Changing

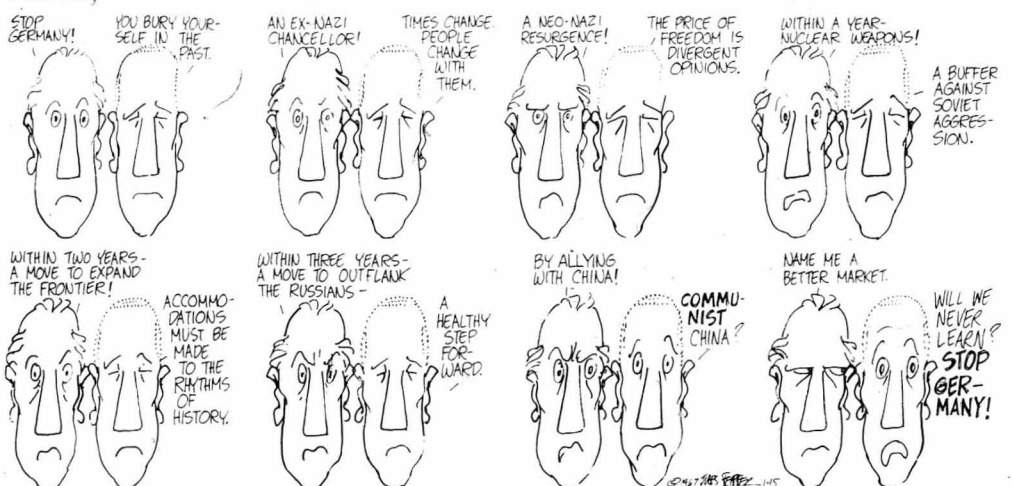

The rigidity of many abortion laws annually result not only in many unwanted births but also in many needless deaths and in permanent damage to the health of countless women who have been driven in desperation to unskilled practitioners willing—for a price—to help them evade the law.

Proponents of abortion reform generally favor the provisions recommended in the Model Code of the American Law Institute. This would permit legal abortion (1) to preserve the physical or mental health of the mother; (2) when doctors agree that there is a substantial risk that the child will be born with a grave physical or mental defect, and (3) when the pregnancy has resulted from incest or rape.

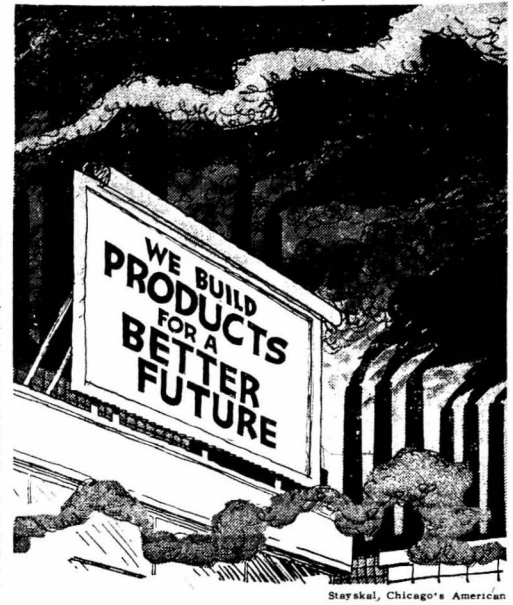

These standards, with proper medical safeguards, should certainly be accepted as the basis for a humane, modern abortion law.

IF THERE IS A FUTURE

Stayskal, Chicago's American

Draft's Critics Must Admit: Present System Gets Results

Nearly eight out of ten American teen-agers favor adoption of a National Service Program, according to a study by a New York scholastic research center.

The NSP, if adopted, would supplement the draft as a means of fulfilling one's military obligation. Under the proposed program, all able-bodied American males over 18 years of age would be eligible to serve in such non-military groups as the Peace Corps, VISTA, the Job Corps and related programs in lieu of military service.

With the Vietnam war looming as a monster which in the future will undoubtedly claim more and more American lives, who can blame draft-age men for looking for a relatively safe way to serve their country?

But the NSP as a supplement to the draft runs against the grain of the purpose of the draft. When the lottery draft was first installed as a fixture of American life, it was meant to create a constant supply of manpower for defense purposes. It was not meant to fill the ranks of non-military groups.

In time of war, the popularity of these certainly admirable, but benevolent, programs soars. And while their popularity enjoys an upsurge, the popularity of and number of participants in the combatant services would likely suffer a sound decline. Many critics have blasted the present draft system, but they cannot argue the fact that it puts men in the field. Service in one of a number of non-military groups would not necessarily accomplish this.

Briefly Editorial

No one, other than Hanoi's highest officials, probably knows whether the increased flurry of speculation regarding the possibility of Vietnamese peace talks means anything.

If Hanoi is insincere, it will be well for the world to see this. If, on the other hand, there is any chance that peace talks are possible in the foreseeable future, it would be inexcusable and tragic to pass up an opportunity to bring them about.

Merchandise Quality Factor in Determining Costs

Carbondale Prices Declared No Higher

By Harry W. Weeks

Carbondale Chamber of Commerce

The lead paragraph in the editorial captioned "High Prices in Carbondale Go Unprotected by Students" carried in the Jan. 6 issue of the Daily Egyptian reads: "It comes as little surprise that Carbondale prices are considerably higher than the surrounding area."

The paragraph was written as a statement of fact—without qualification. It leads to the conclusion that a survey of retail prices has been made and, it has definitely determined prices are higher in Carbondale than in towns in the surrounding area. Perhaps such a survey has been made or foregoing articles in the Egyptian, which we apparently missed, have laid a basis for this conclusion. If not, the charge has no foundation, and the article was written without responsibility.

Ron Sereg, the writer, continues, saying that gasoline prices are three to four cents higher in Carbondale than in Herrin. We checked with the office of a Carbondale based service station chain. Prices of this company are the same for Carbondale, Anna and Johnston City. Prices in Herrin, Murphysboro, Marion and Benton are one cent lower. Prices of gasoline sold by the major chains are one to two cents higher than those of the locally based chain. There is no price differential among the major chains in any one town.

The pattern prevailing in this area in regard to price differentials on gasoline, from town to town, is compatible with other areas of the state and with other states.

We take issue with the paragraph—again quoting Mr. Sereg—"Local clothing stores catering to college men and women charge more for their clothes than the same brand would cost the student in his home town. Several stores in Murphysboro, Herrin and Marion sell the same brand of clothes at cheaper prices." This, again, is not a conclusive statement, and as far as we can ascertain not supported by fact.

There are 24 retail establishments in Carbondale, excluding service stations, which also have retail stores in other area towns. Ten of these are men's or women's clothing, department or shoe stores. Brand name merchandise sold in other area stores, having the same owners as the Carbondale establishments, has the same price tag. There is no price differential.

Manufacturers of brand name clothing, in most instances, either establish a price for the retailer or offer a suggested price at which merchandise should be sold. This situation would prevail in the home town of the student as well as in this particular area. Brand name apparel, men's and women's may be purchased at lower prices than in Carbondale during special at "sale" prices in Herrin, Murphysboro, Marion, etc., at lower prices than in Carbondale during special sales...but, the same merchandise may also be bought in Carbondale at lower prices than would be paid in Herrin, Murphysboro, Marion or other towns at those times when Carbondale retailers have special sales for the clearance of seasonal apparel, or to reduce inventories.

It is, of course, possible to buy a pair of man's trousers, a suit, or woman's dress or other apparel at cheaper prices than brand merchandise, elsewhere. This is possible, as well, in Carbondale. Persons not conversant with fabric quality, material and tailoring may often be confused in the selection of garments and other wearing apparel because of the similarity of weave, pattern, cut or finish of a cheaper product with those of more expensive materials and better quality tailoring or workmanship.

HARRY W. WEEKS

'63 Figures Not Valid

Harry W. Weeks' letter to the Daily Egyptian is an impressive argument for the Carbondale merchants.

He states, "...this subject of higher prices in Carbondale is a perennial thing." It seems that there must be some grounds for the argument that prices are higher, or the subject would not be a "perennial thing."

The retail price survey mentioned by Weeks, which was done nearly four years ago, can hardly be conclusive evidence that prices in Carbondale are comparatively lower in January, 1967.

If, as Weeks indicates, pricing in Carbondale is competitive among merchants, this may be the consumer's best protection.

Ron Sereg

Grocery prices of all the chain food stores, national and independent, are the same for the stores of each chain in this area. Prices differentials will be found only between the chains, comparing one with another. To a large extent the only real variation of price between chains is a matter of promotion. Chains, or individual stores customarily, each week, select certain items as leaders to attract trade. These items are offered at special sale prices.

Prepared food or restaurant prices—hamburgers, to be specific—was a subject of comment in Mr. Sereg's editorial. This appeared more concerned with competitive prices of Carbondale establishments than with inter-city competitive prices. We do not know the prices charged for hamburgers by all the Carbondale restaurants and drive-ins, although we do eat them occasionally. The price of this typically American delicacy will vary from place to place, depending on the plushness of the eating establishment, the quality of service, and certainly on the quality and quantity of the meat that goes into the hamburger, and the amount of filler such as cereal and other ingredients.

There is no regulatory agency, government or private, empowered to fix retail prices on clothing, gasoline or foodstuffs. Ours is a competitive free enterprise system, and we question whether anyone would want it otherwise. The retailer, whether he deals in foods, clothing, housewares, services or whatnot, does not charge all the traffic will bear. He is in business to make a profit, and does try to make a reasonable profit based on his investment of money and labor. Business bankruptcies provide witness that he is not always able to do this.

In February of 1963, report was made to the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors on a retail price survey, made by SIU students, by William Fenwick, then president of the University's student body. The survey, according to the report made by Mr. Fenwick, "was restricted to clothing; the categories being divided into two parts, prices, and stock numbers and brands. The survey was conducted in five towns, Anna, Marion, Herrin, Murphysboro, and Carbondale. It was later decided that Anna should be excluded because it could not handle the stock trade. All the stores contacted in Carbondale co-operated with the survey. It was found that the prices in Carbondale were lower."

Finally, this subject of higher prices in Carbondale is a perennial thing. It has cropped up from time to time in the past, and we are sure that it will again be a subject of discussion. However, the contention that prices are higher in Carbondale has always been refuted.

Retail business in Carbondale, and its counterparts in other businesses and the professions, operate to make a fair profit and render a service to the community, students and other residents alike. Carbondale business appreciates and wants student patronage, and would not jeopardize this custom by treating students differently than other residents.

We cannot accept Mr. Sereg's implied statement that Carbondale business takes advantage of the lack of mobility of the students to extract increased profits.

Invaders Have Trouble Finding Place to Conquer

'Lyndon the Lion-hearted' Ninth Crusade Cry

By Arthur Hoppe

(San Francisco Chronicle)

Fine thing. Here I am, on my way at great personal sacrifice to investigate Miami Beach as a staging area for the glorious, historic Ninth Crusade, and the Crusaders are lousing things up already.

You will recall that the glorious, historic Ninth Crusade was launched to fill a crying need—the crying need being that we haven't had a decent Crusade around here since the Eighth in the year 1270.

So, shouting "Up Lyndon, the Lion-Hearted," and "For God and Lady Bird," and things like that, we set about picking a place to hold it. For various technical reasons, we were forced to reject the Holy Land, Vietnam, Albania and Phoenix, Arizona. But for handiness and being just full of Infidels you can't beat Cuba.

Naturally, we've been counting on the wholehearted support of the local Cuban refugees, Crusaders at heart one and all. For close to 10 years they've been sitting around Miami hoping fervently for a chance to invade Cuba. What dedication. What enthusiasm. What great Crusaders they would make.

So what happens? Before I could get there and sign them up, they went off to invade Haiti instead.

Well, you can't blame them too much. After sitting around for 10 years talking about an invasion, they naturally got impatient to have one. And while Haiti isn't exactly Cuba, it is, as their leader, former Cuban Secret Police Chief Rolando Masferrer, pointed out, on the way to Cuba. But so's Key West. And we certainly wouldn't want them invading there. Not during the peak winter season.

On the other hand, you can't blame the U.S. customs agents for arresting them. Invading other countries without authorization from our government is against the law. And while Haiti has a very evil dictator, Papa Doc Duvalier, and its people probably suffer under the worst form of tyranny anywhere, it isn't on the authorized list of countries you can invade.

But the worst of it, of course, is the bad example this rash, undisciplined invasion attempt sets for Crusaders everywhere. You really can't have people just going off invading anywhere they like. History shows us that if we start marching off in little groups to sack Constantinople or rape Sidron or flatten Tyre, we will never save Christendom from the Infidels.

So, in this hour of crisis, I can't urge you too strongly to contain your enthusiasm and not go sailing off by yourself to crusade in some unapproved country. If we don't stick together, shoulder to shoulder, this whole glorious historic Ninth Crusade, let me tell you, could be as big a flop as the previous eight—Lady Bird and the Good Lord notwithstanding.

Meanwhile, as soon as I can get to Miami I'll try to straighten things out. I'm sure that with hard-hitting logic, a strong emotional appeal and all the fine arts of persuasion I can convince our friends, the Cuban refugees, that Cuba really is the best place to crusade.

But my, running a glorious historic Crusade certainly isn't as easy as it sounds.

Faculty Union Seeks National Affiliation

The SIU Local of the American Federation of Teachers submitted its charter to the National organization Monday and has become a "working local," according to Richard O. Bell of the organizing committee.

Bell, instructor of English at Edwardsville, said although the local did not have a membership list comprising 20 percent of the faculty, it did have a satisfactory amount for the beginning.

Bell was pleased with the rate at which the local was gaining members. The local has sent application forms accompanied by a letter outlining the union's objectives to most of the faculty members on both campuses.

Bell said the purpose of the union would be to gain a greater voice in the decision-making process of the University. "There should be greater student-faculty participation and responsibilities in the University's operation. The University should be centered around the student and faculty," Bell said.

More specifically, the union is concerned with a higher salary scale and a better arrangement in the closing of faculty contracts. It also seeks to have a voice in the selection of "upper-level administrative officers."

Bell said he didn't agree with the University's policy on reporting student grades to the draft board.

"At SIU the student has to request that the registrar not send his grades to the local draft board. If the student does not make a formal request, the grades are sent out automatically. The policy should be reversed in that the student must request that the grades be sent out."

The local also believes the faculty should have more control over academic standards, class size, prerequisites, textbook rental and teaching schedules.

Bell declined to release the exact number of faculty members who have joined the union, or any of their names.

Student Government Serves Elaborate Advisory Function

the spring. President and vice-president are also elected in the spring.

Senatorial representation, after a recent reapportionment, is based on centers of heavy population in the Carbondale area. The Illinois Central tracks serve as the dividing line between east and west sectors.

The nine districts include east and west dormitory, east and west non-dormitory, University Park, Thompson Point, Small Group Housing, commuter and foreign student.

Representation is based on one senator for each 600 students, one-thirtieth of the student population.

Besides the senators, various commissioners help create and report on rapport between the legislative body and the many organizations with which the body works.

The commissions include educational affairs, internal affairs, external affairs, student rights and student welfare.

Beginning this quarter, senators will post office hours. At the listed times, students may consult with senators in the Student Government Office in Rooms F and G in the University Center.

Students are urged to participate in student government, "but they don't care about it," Drinan said.

"Thoughts of student representation come second to most students until they are hurt; until someone takes their motorcycles or housing away from them," he said.

"It takes student support and faith to make a firm, workable student government," Drinan said.

'Few Newspapers' to Be Printed

The Southern Illinoisan newspaper will print "a few copies" of the newspaper today with personnel enrolled in a training program at the newspaper's plant sponsored by Lindsay-Schaub Inc., owners of the Southern Illinoisan.

John Gardner, manager of the newspaper, said supervisory personnel from the Southern Illinoisan and other Lindsay-Schaub newspapers, along with some local front-office personnel, are enrolled in the program.

Gardner termed the limited press runs "final exams" in the program and said eight-page papers are scheduled to be printed today, Wednesday and Thursday. No copies will be on sale, Gardner added.

Gardner declined to speculate on any continuation of production by the trainees. The Southern Illinoisan has been struck by its pressmen since Nov. 1 and by printers since Nov. 3.

Gardner disclosed that the company made a new wage offer to pressmen last Thursday which was rejected. The pressmen in turn made a wage proposal which Lindsay-Schaub rejected.

The company's first offer, made in November, was for a 30-cent increase over three years, 10 cents per year. The new offer was 12 cents the first year, 10 the second and 14 the third year.

The pressmen, who originally asked for a one-year contract, proposed Thursday a two-year contract with an increase of 28 cents the first year and 25 cents the second year.

Gardner said no further meetings are presently scheduled with the pressmen, members of Local 418 of the Printing Pressmen and Assistants Union, AFL-CIO.

Agreement was reached at last Thursday's meeting, the first since November, holiday pay provisions.

Gardner also stated that no meetings are scheduled with the striking printers, although they have inquired as to what dates Lindsay-Schaub negotiators are available.

One Man Dead

McCormick Place Ravaged by Fire

CHICAGO (AP)—A spectacular fire raced through the huge McCormick Place Exposition Center on the lakefront early Monday causing damage estimated between $120 and $140 million. One death was reported.

Vincent Mathews, 51, a security guard who discovered the blaze, was credited with saving the lives of most of the estimated 150 persons in the building at the time. He flashed an alert on his walkie-talkie to security headquarters and then raced through the halls shouting a fire warning.

However, firemen searching the ruins after the fire was brought under control, found the body of a man burned beyond recognition.

The 6-year-old McCormick Place built of steel and reinforced concrete composition, was once described as more durable than the Roman Colosseum.

The blaze was discovered about 2 a.m. near an exhibit of the National Housewares Manufacturers Association show which was to open Monday. The flames raced through the exhibition hall of the 10-acre structure as security guards and cleaning employees fled.

The roof of the main exposition hall, an area as large as six football fields, collapsed. Sections of the walls toppled. Heat from the blaze twisted and curled massive steel girders that supported the roof and walls.

Most of the 2,357 booths which filled all the display space in the 486,000 square feet center were destroyed.

There were no injuries reported but several of the 475 firemen summoned to the scene required first aid for smoke inhalation.

Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn estimated that the $40 million center suffered at least a 50 per cent damage.

Harold Greebe of Philadelphia, general contractor for the housewares show, said: "There was upward of $100 million worth of material in the exhibition—it looks like a total loss."

A fortune in diamonds may be among the loss.

Walter Hoy, a spokesman for the Dominion Electric Corp., said: "We had $25,000 in diamonds which were to be given away as a promotion. If everything's gone, they're gone too. They were $1,000 brooches designed by Harry Winston which were to be prizes in a Life magazine promotion around Mothers Day."

The big housewares show had attracted 60,000 persons to Chicago but Dolph Zapfel, managing director, said the event has been cancelled.

The fire was the second in a month to hit Chicago's convention facilities. A warehouse annex of the International Amphitheatre was destroyed Jan. 4 in a $300,000 fire.

McCormick Place, named for Col. Robert R. McCormick, the late editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, opened in November 1960. The three-block long building, made of fireproof steel and reinforced concrete, was built on a 30 1/2-acre plot fronting on Lake Michigan between Soldier Field and the Museum of Natural History.

Mrs. Kennedy Drops Suit Against Author

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy Monday ended her lawsuit against William Manchester and the publishers of his book, "The Death of a President," in a legally approved agreement.

State Supreme Court Justice Saul S. Streit signed a consent decree, clearing the way for publication of the book next April.

Representatives of all the parties to the dispute issued a joint statement which read:

"Mrs. John F. Kennedy, Harper & Row publishers, and William Manchester have resolved the differences which led to legal action. Certain personal passages of concern to Mrs. Kennedy have been deleted or modified by mutual agreement of all the parties."

"Therefore Mrs. Kennedy has terminated her lawsuit. All parties agreed that the historical record has not been censored in any way."

The statement expressed regret "The questions in dispute could not have been settled earlier."

Suspect Arraigned On Burglary Charge

DU QUION (AP)—A West Frankfort man was scheduled to be arraigned later Monday on a burglary charge in connection with the break-in of radio station WDOQ Saturday night.

Held in the Perry County jail in Pinckneyville was Everett T. Kennedy, about 40. He was apprehended by Harold Adkins, WDOQ program manager, and police as he left the station. Kennedy was reportedly carrying radio equipment taken from the station. Authorities in Marion, Fairfield and Sparta have indicated they will question Kennedy about thefts in radio stations in those cities the past few months.

Kennedy is employed as an engineer at a West Frankfort radio station, officials said.

Robert N. Gandy, Perry County State's Attorney, said he will charge Kennedy with burglary.

The sheriff's office said Kennedy admitted burglarizing a radio station in Murphysboro earlier Saturday night.

Angry Charges Fly Between Israel, Syria

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel and Syria exchanged angry words Monday on the heels of an appeal from U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to maintain the peace. Israel declared it cannot tolerate any more "aggressive acts," and Syria accused the Israelis of "aggressive intentions."

But Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told the United Nations that Israel would be willing to meet Syria to discuss frontier troubles that have brought the nations close to war. He warned, however, that Israel had "the strength and the will" to face up to Syrian threats and "we have reached a limit."

A communique in Damascus said Syria had received Thant's appeal and had cabled its delegation to inform Thant of the situation, "which confirms Israel's aggressive intentions, and the military buildup which is being mounted to bring pressure on Syria."

'OUR 'SALISBURY EXPERIMENT' WENT OVER SO WELL, WE'VE DEDICED TO OPEN THE DOOR TO MORE WESTERN OBSERVERS'

Gov. Wallace and George Pledge 'Freedom' Fight

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) —Mrs. George C. Wallace became Alabama's first woman governor Monday and quickly joined her husband, a likely candidate for president, in a renewed promise to continue the struggle for "freedom."

Her words and those of the outgoing governor left little doubt that Wallace expects to run for president again in 1968 as he did three years ago. The new governor, a blonde 40-year-old mother of four children who has accompanied her husband on many of his political journeys, took the oath as governor standing on the spot where Jefferson Davis was sworn in as president of a rebellious Confederacy 106 years ago.

Along with her family Bible, she also used the one with which Davis was inaugurated.

Mrs. Wallace told a cheering throng gathered at the foot of the Capitol steps that she ran for governor to enable her husband to "take our fight for states rights to the final court of appeal—the people of the United States."

Wallace, introducing his wife, recalled his campaign trips into Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland during the 1964 presidential race and declared: "Where you sent us we have gone. And now, where you would send us, we will go."

The inaugural ceremonies were dedicated to the fighting men in Vietnam, and in deference to their sacrifice, Mrs. Wallace and her husband canceled the traditional inaugural ball. They said the merry-making would be inappropriate.

U. S. Bombers Pound Oil Depot As Allies Pull Biggest Operation

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. fighter-bombers hammered an oil depot within 14 1/2 miles of Hanoi Monday. Pilots said they sighted Communist MIGs, but none challenged them in the closest major air strike to the North Vietnam capital since the outcry last month over Hanoi's claims of civilian casualties.

In the biggest ground operation of the war, allied troops methodically cleared a Viet Cong jungle redoubt 20 miles north of Saigon. The rumble of planes supporting 30,000 American and Vietnamese infantrymen in Operation Cedar Falls could be heard in the South Vietnamese capital.

The U.S. supersonic jets pounded the Hai Gai fuel stores area 14 1/2 miles north-northwest of Hanoi. An Air Force spokesman said the pilots spotted some MIGs during the flight, but that no clashes occurred. The depot had been hit on Dec. 2 and 5.

Hanoi claimed the shooting down of a U.S. plane 75 miles northwest of Hanoi, along with a pilotless U.S. reconnaissance plane about 25 miles southwest of Hanoi. The New China News agency in Peking broadcast the claim.

U.S. pilots took advantage of clearing skies over the north for the second day after more than two months of almost unceasing poor weather. The pilots flew a total of 94 missions, ranging from the Red River delta down through the southern panhandle.

In forays Sunday, pilots reported light to heavy ground-fire with two flights of Air Force Jets sighting MIGs. Three targets were pounded, 15 to 40 miles north of Hanoi, including the Viet Tri railroad yard. Light to heavy groundfire was encountered but no MIG opposition.

A CH47 Chinook helicopter was shot down in the Mekong River delta seven miles southwest of Can Tho, killing eight U.S. servicemen, a military spokesman said. A ninth man was listed as missing.

In other action Monday, U.S. B52 bombers hit twice within 40 minutes at Communist base camps 58 miles north-northwest of Qui Nhon on the South China Sea coast. U.S. pilots flew 371 sorties over the south Sunday, and South Vietnamese pilots 78.

In the delta, Vietnamese rangers clashed with a Viet Cong force estimated at 500 men just two miles from a prison camp where Vietnamese and U.S. military authorities said Communist guerrillas slew 41 prisoners, including some women and children, and dumped the bodies in a common grave.

'HOUSEMOTHER' WEILAND AND BROOD

Male 'Housema' Proves Worthy

By Bruce Mitzit

Last month, residents of Wright III, a men's dorm at University Park, officially elected a "Housemother of the Year."

His name is Edward Weiland, a freshman from Decatur majoring in pre-dentistry. As housemother, Weiland checks beds, inspects rooms for neatness and enforces quiet hours.

The idea for housemother was Bob Steinberg's, Weiland's roommate. "I kept telling him to make his bed," said Weiland, "so he started calling me 'Ma.'" The idea caught on with the rest of the floor and at a dorm meeting it was made official — Weiland was the authorized housemother.

The job of housemother is mostly confined to the fourth floor. "The thing about bed-checks is that you really can't do it well — especially on Friday and Saturday nights because nobody's here," said Weiland.

"I don't think all men's dorms need a housemother but if Neely wants a housefather I'll be more than willing to volunteer."

Two Wright III residents were asked what they thought of having the "Housemother of the Year" living two doors down.

"Well," said Peter Paron, the more talkative of the two, "at first we didn't like it but now we expect him to be around."

Weiland "is a nice guy and the idea is good for study habits. He comes in about 10:30 to make sure everyone is in bed or studying."

"Every house should have one," Paron concluded. "It's a big job for the R.F. (resident fellow). Now we appreciate it."

Carter to Speak in Nicaragua On Spanish American Poet

Boyd G. Carter, professor of romance languages will lecture in Nicaragua during the week of Jan. 14-21.

Carter has been invited by the government of Nicaragua, through its minister of education, to speak about Ruben Dario, generally considered Spanish America's greatest poet, during a celebration in honor of the poet's centennial anniversary. Carter also will participate in a round table discussion about Dario's works.

Carter has published three articles about Dario and wrote the prologue to a book, "Nuestro Ruben," written by Gilberto Barrios, a Nicaraguan. He also has contributed articles on Dario to special editions of periodicals in Mexico and the United States.

which are scheduled to appear during 1967.

He will be accompanied to the capital city of Managua, by his wife, Eileen Barry Carter, associate professor of classics at SUI.

Record Peace Corps Applications Enable Program Expansion

A record of 16,240 college seniors from 263 colleges signed up for the Peace Corps from September to December of last year, according to Director Jack Vaughn.

Vaughn said 9,500 of these applicants will be available for service between spring and fall this year. About 8,500 more prime applicants are expected to be received by the end of May after 600 more colleges have been visited by the Corps.

These prime applicants will make it possible to extend the Peace Corps into 10 new countries by the end of this year. This extension would increase the number of volunteers serving in foreign countries to 15,000.

"The Peace Corps' hold on the imagination of today's college student is stronger than it was six years ago," Vaughn said. "Not only are we getting volunteers to meet the increasing requests from overseas, I think we are getting better men and women."

Most of the volunteers come from liberal arts majors, Vaughn said. The recruitment of agriculture, math and science, and engineering students has been less successful, according to the Corps Director.

University Park Holds Religion-Life Series

With a rotational assignment system which assures immediate responsibility and constant visibility by management.

At Ford Motor Company thousands of uniquely different people work at thousands of different jobs to produce thousands of different products.

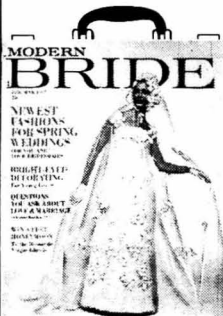

But there's one thing we'll never run through an assembly line. You.

So, if you want to be more than just another face in the crowd, write our College Recruiting Department. Or Better yet, make a date to see our representative. He'll be on campus soon looking for better people with better ideas.

Angel Flight Yields AFROTC Center; Leadership 'Dynamic'

This spring the SIU Angel Flight will relinquish its first two-year term as AFROTC Area Headquarters.

"This flight has proved to be one of the most dynamic leaders the area has seen in some time," said Capt. Edward A. Corich, the flights faculty adviser.

As Area Headquarters, Southern Angel Flight has controlled the 11 flights from universities in Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, and Ohio.

The area contributed $300 to project Hope last year, and is hoping to raise $400 this year to be used in training a doctor for the hospital ship. The flight gathers funds in conjunction with Arnold Air Society.

Project Hope is the United States floating good will ambassador. The ship provides medical and educational aid to depressed areas all over the world.

The 10 other flights from this four state area will begin bidding for next term's Area Headquarters in March.

"This flight has created a standard of achievement that, we hope, will result in the continuing progress of the area," Capt. Corich concluded.

Wrestlers Win Quadrangular Meet

The Saluki wrestling team won the Southwest Missouri quadrangular meet Saturday but indications are the victory was fairly costly.

The Salukis, beginning to wrestle like the team Coach Wilkinson thought they were, amassed a total of 102 points at Springfield, Mo., to take the team title. Parsons College was second with 62 points, followed by Southwest Missouri with 46 and Northwest Missouri with 43.

During the course of the meet the Saluki wrestlers may have lost Larry Baron, regarded by Wilkinson as the top wrestler on the team. Baron won his first two matches against opponents from Parsons and Northwest Missouri. Then, in the match with a Southwest Missouri opponent, Baron had a bad fall and hurt his hand. He had to forfeit. Later it was learned Baron had broken his thumb and his status for the remainder of the season is cloudy.

The Salukis rolled up their score of 102 by beating Southwest Missouri; 32-11, Northwest Missouri; 27-7 and shutting out Parsons; 41-0.

Terry Magoon, 123-pounder, raised his record to 11-4 for the season with three victories in three matches. Magoon recorded one pin and two decisions.

Dave Pfoor, the Saluki 145-pounder, also ran his record to 11-4 with a 3-0 performance at the quadrangular. Joe Domko, a leading Saluki wrestler, was 3-0, including two pins, to raise his record to an impressive 15-1-1.

Aaron Bulow recorded one pin and two decisions to make it a perfect day and lift his record for the season to 5-2. Richard Selover continues to be impressive at heavyweight. He won three matches and Southwest to raise his record to 10-3.

Steve Sarossy, wrestling at the 115-pound class, was 2-1 in the quadrangular and is now 7-4. Al Lipper wrestled at 152-pounds and was 2-1 and is now 7-6. Al Bulow, finished 2-1 in the meet and now stands 12-4 for the season.

Keith Wodell finished the meet undefeated, but with one tie, in the 137-pound class and now stands 3-4-1 for the season. Larry Stoevers was 1-0-1 and is now 3-7-1.

Baron now has a record of 12-2 for the season counting his two victories in the quadrangular. His loss creates a difficult replacement problem for Wilkinson.

Odd Bodkins

Southern Slips Past Southwest Missouri State

Two of college basketball's best defenses got a shot at each other Saturday night and the result was a 50-49 verdict for the Salukis over Southwest Missouri.

Both teams, relying heavily on defenses that had carried them through a total of 23 games with only four losses, had difficulty in finding the good shot throughout the night.

The game's closeness is echoed by the statistics. The lead changed hands 11 times in the opening half, which ended with the Bears ahead 27-24. Playing against as much height as they have faced this season, the Salukis managed a 42-36 edge in rebounds, once again coming up with the big rebounds in the closing minutes.

Each team dropped 20 field goal attempts for the night, the final difference being Southern's 10 free throws in 17 attempts.

The Bears took the lead at 44-42 with 7:30 left and held it for a minute and a half, until Ralph Johnson's layup tied the game. At 4:35 Walt Frazier followed a stray Bear shot with a successful jump shot to bring the lead to Southern 46-44.

Frazier got free for a layup at the 3:43 mark and the Salukis' lead was four. Each team exchanged baskets. After Wayne Rieschal cut the Saluki lead to three with a foul shot, SIU went into a stall but the Bears forced a jump ball.

Dan Bolden controlled the tip for Southwest Missouri, but Saluki forward Dick Garrett stole the ball. Bolden stole it back for the Bears with 45 seconds left. Shannahan missed the shot, but the Salukis countered by missing a layup. Ralph Johnson amended that with another steal and by the time Shannahan could score for Southwest Missouri again there were only four seconds left.

Gymnasts Grab 52nd Dual Win

A large crowd turned out Saturday night to watch the SIU gymnastics team scramble to its 52 consecutive dual meet victory in the Arena. Unhappy visitors were the Iowa State Cyclones. The Salukis won by a score of 190.30 to 188.50.

The Salukis led the visitors from the opening event and were never behind. They took firsts in four of the seven events and tied in two others.

The most spectacular performance, according to fan reaction was the work of Dale Hardt on the trampoline. Hardt finished second with a score of 9.05—slightly under past performances. Hardt competed with a broken thumb which was heavily bandaged. This held him out of the long horse event.

Rick Tucker was also missed by the Salukis. Tucker dislocated his elbow and sprained an ankle and his place in the all-around was taken by Fred Dennis. Dennis lost the all-around to Iowa State's Mike Jacki, 53.85-53.20.

Dennis made a comeback in winning the high bar with a score of 9.6 and the still rings with a score of 9.45 which tied him with Jacki.

Mike Boegler turned in one of his best performances when he won the side horse with a score of 9.50. Ron Harstad was the other Saluki individual winner with a score of 9.25 in the parallel bars.

The Iowa State strength came in the trampoline, the long horse and the parallel bars. Tim Clarke was first in the trampoline with a score of 9.35 and his Cyclone teammate, Mark Wilcox, was third with a score of 8.85. Injury-hampered Hardt finished second.

The Cyclones were strong in the long horse—all four of their entrants finishing with scores of 9.0 or better. Jerry Fontana and Wilcox led the Cyclones with scores of 9.25 to tie Larry Lindauer for individual honors. Clarke had a score of 9.05 and Jacki a score of 9.0 for the Cyclones.

Harstad took first in the parallel bars followed by the Cyclones' Jacki, second with 9.15, and Fontana third, with 9.10.

"I was well pleased with the meet, especially the work of Allen Alexander and Pete Hemmerling in the high bar," said Saluki Coach Bill Meade. "I was disappointed with our trampoline work but that will iron itself out."

The Salukis' next meet will be Friday night against the Michigan State Spartans. The Spartans finished third in the NCAA last season and are co-choices to win the Big Ten. The meet will start at 7:30 in the Arena.

COMEBACK EFFORT—SIU gymnast Fred Dennis lost the all-around event but won the high bar and still ring event against Iowa State at the Arena Saturday night.

Southern Captures No. 1 Spot

2:38. They froze the ball on the Salukis for 1:13, but Cordell failed to advance the ball and the jump ball ensued.

The winning point was actually scored by Chuck Benson, who sank one of two free throw attempts with 17 seconds on the clock to give Southern a 52-49 lead. Dallas Thornton countered for the Panthers at the six second mark and the Salukis kept the ball out of Kentucky Wesleyan's reach for the final seconds.

The Salukis' defensive statistics after a dozen games show their opponents are averaging less than 56 points a game.

Frazier scored 18 points to lead both teams. All but six of these came in the second half of play. Garrett had 13 points, Benson six, Zastrow five, Ralph Johnson four and Clarence Smith four.

Kentucky Wesleyan's big center Sam Smith scored 13 points, better than five below his average. Tinsley had 12, Cordell 10, Thornton eight and Jesse Flynn five points.
