7-17-1991

The Daily Egyptian, July 17, 1991

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_July1991
Volume 76, Issue 174

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1991 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in July 1991 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
State employees march in Springfield

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Angry state employees marched on the Illinois Statehouse Tuesday as union leaders warned their members might begin staying home if they are forced to work much longer without receiving paychecks.

During a noisy noontime rally, more than 700 workers chanted "we want pay" and tramped through the Capitol rotunda to demand that state lawmakers stop their budget stalemate long enough to pass a temporary appropriations bill to keep the paychecks flowing.

Federal act to help poor with loans

By Christiann Baxter
Staff Writer

Students won't have to make loan payments they can't afford if a federal act is passed.

The Income Dependent Education Assistance Act would allow students to see ACT, page 5

SIUC to offer loans to unpaid workers

By Christiann Baxter
Staff Writer

Short-term loan applications for students whose paychecks will be delayed by the state budget problems are being accepted in the financial aid office beginning today, said a SIUC financial aid official.

Diana King, financial aid public relations director, said the 616 students who are paid from SIUC's then-Senators to do a delay in their paychecks until the state budget is resolved. The 1,286 students paid by College Work Study or local accounts will not experience a delay because they aren't paid by the state, King said.

Whether students are paid by the state or local funding depends on the budget of their employer's departments, she said.

Students workers are scheduled to receive two paychecks Friday. The first paycheck is for the fiscal year 1991 budget, which has already been appropriated.

The check will be available to all student workers, she said.

The second paycheck, which is for the pay period from July 1 to July 6, is in fiscal year '92. This check will be delayed for students paid by state accounts until there is a state budget.

Students who will not receive one of their paychecks Friday may apply for a short-term loan for the amount of that paycheck, said SIUC Director of Financial Aid Pamela A. Britton. She said the money will be issued July 19 at the earliest. The interest on service charges will be assessed for the loans.

Applications will be processed as quickly as possible on a first come, first serve basis. King said the speed of processing will depend on how many applications are received.

"Never experiencing this, we don't know what to expect," she warned.

Students will be expected to repay the loan when paychecks are eventually issued.

The amount of money available for short-term loans is not unlimited, King said. She said she was unsure of the amount that is available.

Short-term loans are available throughout the year. The amount of the loan depends on the student's class standing: Graduate students can borrow up to $450.

see LOANS, page 5

Gulf peace initiative lauded by nations

LONDON (UPI) — The world's richest nations threw their weight behind the U.S. Middle East peace initiative Tuesday for an end to the Arab boycott of Israel and the suspension of new Jewish settlements in the occupied areas.

The leaders of the Group of Seven industrial powers also produced a plan to limit a buildup of conventional and nuclear, biological and chemical weapons before tackling Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev's plea for Western aid to freeze the perspectiva.

Only hours before Gorbachev's arrival, the fierce rejection of cuts before-reform turned to assurances that Gorbachev would receive a fair hearing when he meets the G-7 leaders at the end of the three-day summit on Wednesday.

"We will support Gorbachev," said White House spokesman Martin Frost, who issued Tuesday was an "excellent statement," and British Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd said it and the weapons document had "rather more meat" than communiques of the past.

Gus Bode

Staff Photo by Heidi Dresden

Clam musselin' way to water supply

By Jennifer Kuller
Staff Writer

Concern about the zebra mussel is spreading throughout Southern Illinois.

The mussel, a clam native to Europe that gets its name from the striped pattern on its shell, has invaded the Great Lakes and other Northern Illinois waterways, and quickly is making its way south.

This pesky mussel, which grows up to two inches in diameter, is clogging the engines and cooling systems of boats and threatening public and industrial water supplies and lake ecology in the bodies of water that it has infested, said Charles Surprenant, project leader for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Fisheries Assistance Office.

The zebra mussel travels in one of two ways. It can spread rapidly by the movement of young mussels drifting in the downstream current. Adult mussels can attach themselves to boat hulls or trailers and spread when the boat is transported to non-infested water.

Zebra mussels, which can live up to five years, have been found most recently near the confluence of the Tennessee and Ohio rivers. Surprenant and his staff are spreading rapidly downstream, Surprenant said.

Although there is no way of predicting exactly when the mollusks will appear in the region, Surprenant said it is extremely likely they will be in the Mississippi River sometime soon.

Officials also are concerned that if reports of zebra mussels in Ohio's Indian Lake are true, the

see MUSSEL, page 5
Scot Knudsen of Williams Bay, Wis., removes a hook from a bluegill he caught Tuesday at Giant City State Park during a vacation to the area.

Warm Southern Illinois lake waters provide fishing opportunities to area

By John Sommerhof
Staff Writer

The warm waters of lakes in Southern Illinois offer anglers a variety of fast-growing fish.

Warm water in lakes affects fish in many ways, including feeding, spawning and growing, according to the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Fish that live in waters above 70 degrees grow faster.

Shelia Johnson, who runs the Little Grassy boat dock, said the water temperature is at 85 degrees at Little Grassy Lake.

She said Little Grassy offers a lot of good fishing, but the fishing has tapered off a little in the past week.

"The fishing has been good up until about the middle of last week," Johnson said. "They have just kind of slowed down and nobody knows why."

"We're still catching fish just not as many as or as big," she said.

Johnson said she thinks it's possible the solar eclipse July 11 has been the cause of the fall in catching fish.

"The eclipse changes a lot of things and the moon definitely does have an effect on the fish," she said. See FISH, page 15.

MAHWAH, N.J. (UPI) — Monica Seles, the world's No. 1 women's tennis player, says a leg injury forced her to withdraw from Wimbledon three days before the tournament.

"I would like to take this opportunity to clarify and clear up all the speculation and rumors," Seles said in a statement issued Monday by her management agency, IMG. "Without dignifying any of the specific rumors, I would like to definitely state that I have had absolutely no problems other than a leg injury."

She has scheduled a news conference for 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at Ramapo College, the site of the Parkhark Classic, Seles' first tournament since she withdrew from Wimbledon. Speculation concerning Seles included injury, pregnancy and a desire to protect her No. 1 world ranking. Reports also had Seles, 17, spending time at the Palm Beach, Fla., estate of New York developer Donald Trump.

Parkhark Classic tournament director John Koff said Seles' representatives have confirmed she will play. She is to receive a six-figure guarantee to appear in the tournament.

The IMG statement said the Yugoslav star sustained "shin splints and a slight stress fracture in her left leg" during the French Open, which she won. The injury, the statement added, occurred last March and Seles suffered a recurrence during practice for the French Open when she hit her left leg with her racket. She turned to play in Paris and defeated Spain's Aranace Sanchez Vicario in the final.

Seles entered Wimbledon halfway to a Grand Slam, having won the Australian Open and French Open. She cited a "minor accident" at the time of her unprecedented withdrawal June 21 and then left without leaving word of her whereabouts.

The Women's Tennis Association still is seeking a satisfactory explanation. WTA Director Gerard Smith expects to meet with Seles, most likely next week, to discuss her absence.

The WTA already has fined Seles $6,000 and could assess additional penalties.

The fine is mandatory after the first medical withdrawal during a given year. Seles has pulled out of tournaments this year for medical reasons.

She was an immediate word on whether Seles will play for Yugoslavia in the 32-nation Federation Cup next week in Nottingham, England. National Tennis Federation Cup media relations officer Larry Hunsicker said he expects her to play.

"We haven't heard from the Seles people since before Wimbledon," he said. "But we haven't received a medical report on her and she is going to be able to compete."
Psst... LA ROMA’s
Hump Day Special!
Large 1 Item
Thin Crust Only
& 2-32 oz. Pepsi
$6.95
only
$2.00 Pitchers of Beer
or $1.00 Quarts
515 S. Illinois
529-1344

VIVATIONS
SALON
Owner: VI Stearns
SPECIAL PRICE w/COUPON
ACRYLIC NAILS w/TIPS
277-3445
ASK FOR GINA
TUES - SAT 10 a.m. - 7 p.m.
SUN 11 a.m. - 7 p.m.

GOODFELLEAS
From
WARNER HOME VIDEO
$94.98 Per Copy
AVAILABLE FOR RENTAL OR PURCHASE AT ISLAND MOVIE LIBRARY
(on the Island) 549-0413
Tues., Wed. & Thur. are $1.00 Days!

US. SOVIET weapons treaty far from advancing to finish

LONDON (UPI) — Secretary of State James Baker said Tuesday negotiations between the Soviet Union and the United States to conclude a nuclear arms treaty have not advanced since his talks in Washington on Sunday. Baker’s comments appeared to be at odds with earlier administration optimism that a sweeping U.S.-Soviet arms accord could be reached by Wednesday, continuing with President Bush’s meeting with Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev. Baker said he will meet with his counterpart, Soviet Foreign Minister Alexander Brezhnev, Tuesday.

Croation displayed with European trust limits

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — Croatia Tuesday criticized a European Community decision to limit its trade exchanges to Slovenia, while new ethnic unrest has not advanced since his

Parents of schoolboys threatened with arrests

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — The parents of a pack of angry schoolboys who went on a weekend rampaging that killed 19 of their female classmates were threatened with arrest Tuesday if they don’t turn over their fugitive sons. The boys fled into the African bush surrounding the school after the bizarre violence and police have had difficulty finding them in the wild. Some of the children have turned up; many others remained at large. The boys were angry because they were ejected from a sporting event Friday due to non-payment of athletic fees.

Greenspan: Economy on road to improvement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan, in one of the most upbeat assessments yet of the national economy, said Tuesday that there are “compelling signs” the worst is over. “Today, there are compelling signs that the recession is behind us,” Greenspan said during presentation of his semi-annual “Humphrey- Hawkins” report to Congress on the economy. “Such data strongly suggests that the economy is moving into the expansion phase of the cycle,” he said, noting various economic indicators moving up in recent months.

U.S. military base in Philippines won’t be rebuilt

WASHINGTON (UP) — Defense Secretary Dick Cheney said Tuesday it is unlikely the United States will keep Clark Air Base in the Philippines because trying to rebuild it and operate it next to a volcano “is just not a viable prospect.” Cheney’s comments to the Magazine Publishers of America came as U.S. officials in the Philippines made an offer for a 10-year lease renewal on Subic Bay Naval Station along with an annual aid package of $200 million. Cheney described Clark as needing about $500 million in repairs to make it usable.

Parents of schoolboys threatened with arrests

NADROBI, Kenya (UPI) — The parents of a pack of angry schoolboys who went on a weekend rampaging that killed 19 of their female classmates were threatened with arrest Tuesday if they don’t turn over their fugitive sons. The boys fled into the African bush surrounding the school after the bizarre violence and police have had difficulty finding them in the wild. Some of the children have turned up; many others remained at large. The boys were angry because they were ejected from a sporting event Friday due to non-payment of athletic fees.

Greenspan: Economy on road to improvement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan, in one of the most upbeat assessments yet of the national economy, said Tuesday that there are “compelling signs” the worst is over. “Today, there are compelling signs that the recession is behind us,” Greenspan said during presentation of his semi-annual “Humphrey- Hawkins” report to Congress on the economy. “Such data strongly suggests that the economy is moving into the expansion phase of the cycle,” he said, noting various economic indicators moving up in recent months.

state

Union employees demand state pay checks to workers

CHICAGO (UPI) — Union employees Tuesday accused the state government of violating federal labor laws and sought a court order requiring paychecks to be issued to state workers, whether or not a new fiscal 1993 budget is adopted. The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees and the Illinois Federation of Teachers filed a federal court suit seeking unspecified actual and compensatory damages and a summary judgment in their favor because the state’s non-payment of state workers for the past six months may render them liable for back pay. "We have said we will take every action possible to protect the paychecks of our members, and that is exactly what we are doing," said Steve Colon, AFSCME’s Illinois director.

Accuracy Desk

If readers spot an error in a news article, they can contact the Daily Egyptian Accuracy Desk at 536-3311, ext 233 or 238.

Radio request

WIDB to ask for additional student fees to pay cost of FM

By Annette Holder
Entertainment Editor

WIDB could be broadcasting on your car and home radio by fall 1992.

The station's board and student leaders decided to ask the university to add $2 to student fees to pay for FM broadcast equipment and license.

WIDB, a student-run alternative station, can be received on cable FM, in the dorms and in the student center. The station has been getting a permit for two years from the FCC for broadcast over FM airwaves.

At the USG meeting in September, WIDB wants to get approval for an $800 student fee that will pay for the cost of the FM frequency. Market research showing student support will be presented by WIDB to the Board of Trustees in November.

Joanne Yanis, fiscal officer for WIDB, said the FCC license will cost about $5,000 to $7,500. Yanis said she needs to be sure she will receive support from students and the Board of Trustees before paying the money necessary to receive the FCC license. She will probably know by December if construction will begin in spring 1993.

In addition to the license, WIDB will also need about $95,000 for equipment. This includes an antenna, link, reinforcement and transmitter. WIDB may receive the $60,000 transmitter as a donation.

If students do not receive support from the USG meeting in September, Yanis said WIDB will look for resources from other sources.

"This is their dream to do this," Yanis said. "They're not ready to give up.

Kelly Jones, graduate assistant for WIDB, said transmission over FM would broaden the audience of listeners for the station. He said it also would be an educational opportunity for the students who work at WIDB. WIDB's format is alternative music and contemporary. The FM frequency has been available for one year. A limited number of frequencies are available.

Female mine inspector gains respect

By Jennifer Kuller
Staff Writer

If you treat yourself with respect, you will get treated with respect in return, said the state's first female mine inspector, after 12 years in the traditionally male-dominated coal industry.

Mary Jo Bishop, of Harrisburg, became Illinois' first woman mine inspector when she was appointed by Gov. Jim Edgar last month.

"This is a goal I set for myself since day one in the coal industry," Bishop said, whose father, brother and grandfather were coal miners.

"I've never wanted to do was be a mine inspector."

Don McBride, the training and certification coordinator for the Department of Mines and Minerals and a fellow mine inspector, said he believes Bishop will have no problem getting respect as a mine inspector.

"She's a very confident young lady. And she should be. She is very well qualified," McBride said. In fact, Bishop may be better qualified as a mine inspector than anyone else in the department because of her previous strip mining experience, McBride said. Bishop also did very well on the difficult state mine inspector's exam when she had to pass before becoming a mine inspector, McBride said.

The most important part of Bishop's job as mine inspector is to ensure company rules and regulations, especially safety rules, are being met. This includes making sure that coal mines comply with health and safety laws, Bishop said.

The coal mining industry has changed during the 12 years Bishop has worked in it. She said women have gained a lot of respect in the mining industry over the past 10 years, Bishop said.

"At first, the men may not accept you as being a woman in management or as a mine boss. It just wasn't there," she said.

Now, it's very common to see women as mine bosses and managers, and as mining engineers, Bishop said.

"I think men are realizing that women can do the jobs and want to do the jobs," Bishop said. "I am very proud to be a female mine inspector in Illinois."

Bishop, who said she has never had much trouble with being treated badly by men in the coal industry, said she hopes her appointment sends a message of encouragement to women who want to pursue non-traditional careers.

"At first, the men may not accept you as being a woman in management or as a mine boss. It just wasn't there," Bishop said. Bishop, who said she has never had much trouble with being treated badly by men in the coal industry, said she hopes her appointment sends a message of encouragement to women who want to pursue non-traditional careers.

"At first, the men may not accept you as being a woman in management or as a mine boss. It just wasn't there," Bishop said.

"She had a picture, the ashes containing a picture, the ashes of her young son. There were only 1½ years old."

Kanamori was well-known in his country while growing up, said Kanamori's mother. The neighbors always treated him as though he was their son.

While growing up Kanamori loved to write and read. Kanamori's father said his son was an interpreter and a teacher, a role which was a service to him because Kanamori was not good at English when in high school.

"One day he decided to study English and do good at it, so he enrolled at SIU," Kanamori's father said.

Kanamori was in the first group of students to come to SIU from SIU's Nakaiko campus. The group had five people in it.

A fellow student from Nakaiko said there were only five students left at SIU from the original group.

Kanamori's favorite leisure activities were juggling, playing soccer and practicing Kendo, a martial art.

He was looking forward to graduating soon. Kanamori's father said.

"You can pay respects to their deceased by having a memorial service in the home of the deceased the evening after cremation services have been performed, said Genchi Kosugi, president of the Japanese Student Association.

"Upon arriving at the home, a guest book is signed and a black arm band is worn on the mourner's left arm. Shoes or removed when entering the dwelling as a sign of respect to the residents of the home," Kosugi said.

Each visitor to the home places three pinches of dry incense into the burning bowl of incense. The mourner then turns toward the family of the deceased, bows and makes an offering to the god of a card or another gift.

After the offering to the deceased is finished, the mourner once again bows to the family and leaves the home returning the arm band at the door.

In return for the arm band the mourner receives a pinch of salt, which the mourner tastes and sprinkles the remaining salt across his path.
Opinion & Commentary

Daily Egyptian Editorial Board
Student Editor-in-chief: Jerianne Kimmel
Editorial Page Editor: Natalie Boehme
News Staff Representative: Leslie Colp
Acting Managing Editor: Wanda Brandon
Faculty Representative: Walter Jaehnig

Daily Egyptian

PONY EXPRESS

Compromise lacking in legislators’ efforts

It is a bad year for a state budget.

Of course, no one would have needed to consult a fortune-teller or astrologer to predict the budgetary difficulties this year. Illinois has been teetering on the edge of financial health far too long for this crisis to come as a surprise. And with Gov. Jim Edgar’s commitment to reduce the budget imbalance by $1.9 billion, lawmakers and informed citizens alike knew forming a 1993 budget would be difficult.

However, few could have envisaged the Legislature would have so much difficulty that it would pass up its June 30 deadline by more than two weeks.

The reason for the budget delay goes beyond the difficulty of trying to cut corners so the state is operating in, or closer to, the black. Much of the stalemate can be attributed to the power struggle in Springfield between Edgar and Democratic House Speaker Michael Madigan.

Some friction is expected between these two considering they are leaders of opposite parties, therefore having different views and objectives. However, bipartisan differences cannot be allowed to impede necessary state functions, such as running a state for 17 days without a budget.

With the backing of the House and Senate, both of which are dominated by the Democratic Party, Madigan has successfully thwarted Edgar’s efforts to fulfill his objectives of establishing a permanent surcharge tax and capping property taxes.

To an extent Madigan is protecting his constituencies by opposing Edgar’s proposed budget cut, which would greatly reduce funding for the Chicago area, welfare programs and public aid services.

Edgar’s plan to reduce local government income from the surcharge tax to offset the cuts in the state’s budget would drastically alter Chicago’s working budget. And property tax caps would increase this revenue loss for the city.

But Madigan also has a lot of personal interest in the outcome of this budget standoff with Edgar. If Madigan leaves the arena of the 87th General Assembly as victor he deals to better their career opportunities, instead of working in the interest of the people they serve. This, possibly, is one of the reasons why the 1993 budget might collapse.

Madigan is not the only one to blame for the budget impasse. In many ways he is simply standing up for the people’s representatives. Now is the time, though, for compromise—from both sides—to enter into the budget process.

Republicans and Democrats need to find a common ground both groups can live with and get to work. The state and its workers cannot continue to function properly without a budget.

Letters

Education needed to end rape

I would like to take time now, to respond to an article published in the June 3 edition of Time magazine. I would like for a moment for everyone to place themselves in this scenario: It’s 7 P.M. and a young woman and man are standing outside for what is hoped to be a romantic evening. Perhaps a movie, dinner, a long walk and friendly, enjoyable conversation. Let’s even assume for the moment this couple stop off for a drink or two, before this romantic evening ends. Or does it end? The article dealt with this topic, the issue of date rape, a topic that should be understood in anyone’s vocabulary.

Although the Daily Egyptian covers this subject in depth at least twice a year, I somewhat feel the messages and the understandings are unclear (especially to men). I don’t feel I should have to define what rape is but this article has made me take another look at what is going on. Rape is forced sexual intercourse! It’s just that simple and we’re all of age to know what that is, I hope. Am I boring you? Are you saying, “I’ve heard this all before”? Well maybe you haven’t, as the article points out, date rape every year is increasing by 10 percent. Perhaps simply more women are coming out and telling their stories but the fact remains this ugly act keeps occurring and seems to have no end.

The fact I found to appalling was, all these young ladies that come forth to admit they were raped, not by people they didn’t know but rather by people they did know and considered friends, watch their aggressors go free. The article points out the dilemma that in the courtroom it’s a matter of her word against his, and if she plans to get any justice she must have bruises, to show she was attacked. Without this, the article points out, the girl loses a large degree of “credibility.” What the hell does that mean?

What it means is, the court appears to only be able to help a small percentage of women. Therefore, my response to this article must be a reeducation to men who feel, “Oh she asked for it,” or “Well, if you’re gonna look like that, you should expect...” or even worse yet, “She knew what was going on, tease long enough, I know she wanted it!” Look guys, it really is about time we all learn to except that “No” really means “No,” and “Yes” means just that—“Yes.” —Roger John Pinta, senior, political science/biological psychology.

News lovers must go beyond the DE

In response to W. S. Stromberg’s letter of 11 July 1991: First, get your history straight, man! The U.S. Constitution was not written in 1776. Try 1787. I believe you are referring to the Declaration of Independence, which states our country’s desire for liberty whose anniversary we just celebrated on the Fourth of July. Remember? The Constitution was a body of law produced by the government. Why the heck would anyone want to publish it? It would have been ratified and enacted regardless. Just to set the record straight.

Now, why do you expect the Daily Egyptian to equal the Washington Post or the New York Times? This is a campus newspaper, and as such must cover campus issues, such as the activities of the Caving Club. It can’t possibly provide all campus information? The DE appears to publish as much national and international news as it can fit. It also publishes other items of interest, such as entertainment news and gossip titbits.

I think the DE does a very good job of keeping students well informed of campus issues, as well as entertaining them and, perhaps, piquing their interest in world news. It’s a tough job to equal the Wall Street Journal and the Christian Science Monitor. Just as someone interested in the business world would read the Wall Street Journal and not USA Today, we news junkies must read beyond the scope of the DE.—Amy C. Brinkell, graduate student, zoology.

by Garry Trudeau

Doonesbury

Editorial Policies

Every letter must be signed and include the name(s) of the author(s). Unsubstantiated charges against individuals or organizations, while welcome, should include a point-by-point refutation of the bases for the charges, and their source. Letters for which anonymity cannot be guaranteed will not be published.

Signed articles, including letters, viewpoints and other contributions, will be from individuals on the Daily Egyptian staff or those invited by the Daily Egyptian to contribute. Signed articles, including letters, viewpoints and other contributions, will be for discussion of issues of public interest. Open, unsigned letters should include an introductory paragraph and, wherever possible, may include a point-by-point refutation of the bases for the charges, and their source. Letters for which anonymity cannot be guaranteed will not be published.

Letters to the editor should not exceed 150 words in length. Letters that exceed 150 words will be cut to fit space. Letters that exceed 200 words will be given preference for publication. Letters should be typewritten, double-spaced. Address all letters to the editor to: Daily Egyptian, 636 W. State St., Carbondale, IL 62903.
Owner to continue fight for liquor license
By Leslie Coip
Staff Writer

A Carbondale businessman says he will continue to fight the Local Liquor Commission's unanimous decision to deny a liquor license.

John Hunt, who owns Saladiku Laundromat on U.S. Highway 51 south of Pleasant Hill Road, wants to turn the building into an liquor store. But months of conflict with the city and County's liquor commission and the courts have kept the business from opening.

The liquor commission and the City Council are separate bodies but have the same people serving. Hunt applied for and was refused a license from the commission last summer. He then appealed to the Illinois State Liquor Commission, which reversed the city's decision.

The city liquor commission refused to grant the license despite the state liquor commission's ruling and petitioned for a rehearing. The state denied the city's petition in September.

The City Council passed an ordinance Sept. 18 prohibiting the sale of alcohol in Carbondale south of Pleasant Hill Road.

Jan. 22, Circuit Court Judge J. Phil Gilbert ruled the city had no reason to deny the license.

Hunt said he was granted a license by the state and county and is in contempt of court.

City Clerk Janet Vaughn said a permit for the license was prepared but it was never picked up. A 1991-1992 license was not issued, however, because Hunt did not have approval from the code enforcement, fire and health departments.

City Attorney Michael Wespiec said a motion for contempt sanctions was filed but no judicial determination has been made. "I feel confident we will prevail," he said.

ACT, from Page 1

 repay their loans based on their income after graduation, said George Conant, legislative assistant to Rep. Tom Peters, R-Wis. Conant is co-sponsoring the bill along with Rep. Sam Gejdenson, D-Conn.

IDEA loan payments would be collected as income tax, so there would be no reason to default. The IRS is currently withholding refunds for students who are defaulting on loans. The refunds are put toward paying the loan.

Surprenant said the idea the bill because she said it wasn't familiar enough with the Senate.

"Income contingent loan plans have not proven to be effective," Brittain said.

Diane Biek, senior in finance

MUSSEL, from Page 1

mussels will travel down the Ohio River and be transported via recreational boats to many of the lakes south of Pleasant Hill Road in southern Illinois, Surprenant said.

A large amount of boats travel from the Ohio River to Pleasant Hill Road for fishing spot on the Ohio River near Garden City, to harvest mussels such as Crab Orchard, Kincaid and Devil's Kitchen, Surprenant said.

Surprenant believes this would be a prime way for the zebra mussels to be transported to waterways in Southern Illinois.

LOANS, from Page 1

"Short-term loans are basically an emergency loan to help students only in a pinch," Brittain said.

A short-term loan is available only for students who are experiencing a delay in financial aid payment or haven't received their student work paycheck and

RALLY, from Page 1

In Illinois, the General Assembly's more than two-week impasse in drafting a fiscal 1992 budget. More than 11,000 other employees also face a payless payday if they aren't paid by the end of the week or if a labor judge rejects unionists' lawsuits demanding prompt payment.

For the first time in the crisis, the state's largest employees union also prepared to strike. A possible a party government shutdown by encouraging its members not to show up for work.

Office in Woody Hall. Funds for short-term loans are donated by the alumni, Southern Illinois businesses and various other people, King said.

What will be done if the next paycheck is delayed is uncertain, Brittain said.

Currently, state extension programs are alerting the public about the problems zebra mussels cause and can take to slow the spreading. They recommend:

- Making routine inspections of boat hulls, cooling systems, bilges and ballast frames, bilge wells and bilges on any boat used in waters where mussels have breeding populations.
- Cleaning mussels, motors, trailers and bait bins before moving them from an infested body of water to another.
- Disposing of any zebra mussels in the trash.
- Not transporting bait fish or water from infested water.
- Drains boat bilges, bail wells, engines and trailers with a salt solution of one-half cup of salt per gallon of water, followed by a fresh water flush to prevent corrosion from the salt residue.

Surprenant said the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will be participating in a program soon that will monitor the invasion of zebra mussels in the Midwest.

is your closet taking over your room? Can't ever find the clothes you're looking for? University Closet Company can solve your problems. Whether you're looking for another bar to hang clothes on or an entire closet organization system, we've got it all. You can even rent units & return them at the end of the school year. Call University Closet Company and encounter space!

Units Available:
Call and reserve yours for Fall Semester
UNIVERSITY CLOSET COMPANY
1-985-6399

CHECKERS NIGHT CLUB
Proudly Presents
the Newest
SUMMER SESSION!
ROCK WEDNESDAY!!
You've Been Asking For 1
Night of ROCK & ROLL
AND OLD DANCE MIX...
Well Here it is!!

Steve Farkas of EYCHEN
Reaches to the Back Shelf and Plays all of your favorite Rock & Roll (old & new) PLUS...
He'll Even Play Those Party Tunes You Grew Up With!

AND JUST TO TOP IT OFF...

95¢
PITCHERS OF BEER
ALL NIGHT LONG!

CHECK IT OUT!
457-2259
760 E. Grand
Aid for Gorbachev requires peaceful end to Baltic crisis

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev arrived in Washington Tuesday with proposals to save his nation's floundering economy and was met with scientific interest in the phenomena and beefing up tourism.

The circles appear in grain fields, hundreds of miles from the city, to create an almost perfect circle up to 240 feet across. The circles often appear with the same rings caused by forces or beings from outer space, scientists have reported.

Several observers believe the circles have been created by mysterious forces or beings from outer space, and scientists have speculated that the phenomena are caused by the wind.

The new circles have appeared in various parts of the world, including Wiltsire County, the home of Gorbachev, and in the Baltic Republics and the Soviet Republics.

Some observers believe the circles are created by mysterious forces or beings from outer space, and scientists have speculated that the phenomena are caused by the wind.

The new circles have appeared in various parts of the world, including Wiltsire County, the home of Gorbachev, and in the Baltic Republics and the Soviet Republics.

G7 countries help South Africa to finance apartheid abolition

LONDON (UPI) — The world's seven industrial powers pledged Tuesday to direct aid to South Africa in an agreement that will help the African nation to finance its apartheid abolition.

The leaders also attached strong importance to the need for South Africa to have access to "all sources of foreign borrowing," but linked it to Pretoria's "economic, investment and other policies" that would overcome financial sanctions.

A number of sources of international financing to South Africa, particularly International Monetary Fund and World Bank loans and trade credits, are still open for the moment.

The Group of Seven, in a long comment on South Africa, welcomed sweeping racial reforms announced by President Frederic de Klerk that have included the scrapped population registries, the racial classification and segregation laws.

Mystery circles reappear in crop fields

LONDON (UPI) — Mysterious crop circles have reappeared in Wiltshire County, the home of Gorbachev, and have caused great scientific interest in the phenomena and beefing up tourism.

The circles appear in grain fields, hundreds of miles from the city, to create an almost perfect circle up to 240 feet across. The circles often appear with the same rings caused by forces or beings from outer space, scientists have reported.

Several observers believe the circles have been created by mysterious forces or beings from outer space, and scientists have speculated that the phenomena are caused by the wind.

The new circles have appeared in various parts of the world, including Wiltsire County, the home of Gorbachev, and in the Baltic Republics and the Soviet Republics.

Some observers believe the circles are created by mysterious forces or beings from outer space, and scientists have speculated that the phenomena are caused by the wind.

The new circles have appeared in various parts of the world, including Wiltsire County, the home of Gorbachev, and in the Baltic Republics and the Soviet Republics.

U.S. servicemen listed as missing shown in photo

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is investigating a recent photograph of a UFO that shows three American servicemen, possibly missing in action in the Indochina War and has asked for help from an official on Tuesday.

The origin of the photograph is unknown, but it depicts three men sitting on a hillside in a hillside, possibly missing in action.

"We are actively pursuing this matter," State Department spokesman David Denny said.

900 number phone industry blamed for consumer fraud

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Communications Commission officials told a Senate panel Tuesday that complaints about 900 number telephone services are a direct proportion to the burgeoning $1 billion pay-per-view industry.

"There is a high degree of concern among children and adults and the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Trade Commission, particularly the FCC's enforcement division, told the subcommittee.

"Last month, we received 390 complaints regarding 900 service," which represents 30 percent of the written consumer complaints the agency has received on all telecommunications issues," Richards said.

In a 1990 report, the use of 900 numbers skyrocketed, according to FCC officials, who testified before the telecommunications panel of the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science and Technology.

"Complaints regarding 900 pay-per-call service currently comprise the biggest single source of consumer complaints," to the Federal Communications Commission, Mary Beth Richards, chief of the FCC's enforcement division, told the subcommittee.

"Last month, we received 390 complaints regarding 900 service," which represents 30 percent of the written consumer complaints the agency has received on all telecommunications issues," Richards said.

In a 1990 report, the use of 900 numbers skyrocketed, according to FCC officials, who testified before the telecommunications panel of the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science and Technology.

"Complaints regarding 900 pay-per-call service currently comprise the biggest single source of consumer complaints," to the Federal Communications Commission, Mary Beth Richards, chief of the FCC's enforcement division, told the subcommittee.

"Last month, we received 390 complaints regarding 900 service," which represents 30 percent of the written consumer complaints the agency has received on all telecommunications issues," Richards said.

In a 1990 report, the use of 900 numbers skyrocketed, according to FCC officials, who testified before the telecommunications panel of the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science and Technology.

"Complaints regarding 900 pay-per-call service currently comprise the biggest single source of consumer complaints," to the Federal Communications Commission, Mary Beth Richards, chief of the FCC's enforcement division, told the subcommittee.

"Last month, we received 390 complaints regarding 900 service," which represents 30 percent of the written consumer complaints the agency has received on all telecommunications issues," Richards said.

In a 1990 report, the use of 900 numbers skyrocketed, according to FCC officials, who testified before the telecommunications panel of the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science and Technology.

"Complaints regarding 900 pay-per-call service currently comprise the biggest single source of consumer complaints," to the Federal Communications Commission, Mary Beth Richards, chief of the FCC's enforcement division, told the subcommittee.

"Last month, we received 390 complaints regarding 900 service," which represents 30 percent of the written consumer complaints the agency has received on all telecommunications issues," Richards said.

In a 1990 report, the use of 900 numbers skyrocketed, according to FCC officials, who testified before the telecommunications panel of the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science and Technology.

"Complaints regarding 900 pay-per-call service currently comprise the biggest single source of consumer complaints," to the Federal Communications Commission, Mary Beth Richards, chief of the FCC's enforcement division, told the subcommittee.
5 GOOD REASONS
TO GET OUT OF THE HOUSE THIS WEEK!

MOONLIGHT MADNESS SALE 9:00 P.M.-MIDNIGHT MONDAY-FRIDAY

MONDAY
9 pm 'til Midnight
99c

TUESDAY
9 P.M. 'til Midnight
24 hr. Movie Rental
19c

WEDNESDAY
9 P.M. 'til Midnight
Turkey or Boiled Ham
From our Deli
99c

THURSDAY
9 P.M. 'til Midnight
Head
19c

FRIDAY
9 P.M. 'til Midnight
79c

U.S.D.A. GRADE 'A' CHICKEN
LEG QUARTERS

U.S.D.A. CHOICE BEEF BONELESS
ROUND STEAK

PLEASE LIMIT YOURSELF TO THREE OF EACH VARIETY

MR. PIBB & MELLO YELLO
SWEET & JUICY-LARGE-SOUTHERN ILLINOIS
PEACHES

39c

REGULAR PRICE $2.09

HYGRADE HOT DOGS
89c

FOR 16 Oz. Pkg.

ALL VARIETIES
PATIO BURRITOS
389c

FOR 3 Oz. Pkg.

ALL VARIETIES
HUNT'S
BBQ SAUCE
79c

FOR 18 Oz.

NATURE'S BEST FROZEN
ORANGE JUICE
79c

FOR 12 Oz.

WELCH'S GRAPE &
MELLO YELLO

LIPTON INSTANT TEA

PURINA PREMIUM
CAT FOOD

FOR 3 Oz. Jar

FOR 6 Oz. Cass

FAT FREE

BIO-RITE
PAPER PLATES

99c

FOR 100 Ct.

Times Square Discount Liquors
CARBONDALE LOCATION ONLY—WE MATCH ALL COMPETITOR'S ADS

NATURAL LIGHT

$799

REGULAR OR LIGHT

KEYSTONE

$599

SPECIAL EXPORT

IMPORTED KAMORA

$299

ALL FLAVORS

PAUL MASSON

$29

COFFEE LIQUEUR

SEAGRAM'S WINE COOLERS

$629

6 pack

$99

Compare the Bottom Line

Valid Mon.-Sat. 11am-9pm & Sun. 10am-8pm

We Reserve the Right to Limit Quantities and Correct Printing Errors
Pentagon determines lessons from Gulf War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon said it might have trouble handling two crises like the Gulf War at once without improving its ground war material around the globe.

In an article reporting on the lessons learned during the Gulf War, the Pentagon also said Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf was justified in complaining about the intelligence system that supported his command.

In citing the luxury of time the allies had and successes in getting troops out of the region, the article noted that the shipment of supplies without supply lines being under fire and with excellent ports and airfields open for use was unusual.

Some reserve fleet ships, the report said, were not activated on the Gulf War because they were created because many ships could not handle containerized cargo or were not equipped with ramps to let vehicles drive on and off. It praised the pre-positioning of Marine equipment nearby as an aid in the war effort.

"Although deployment to (the area) was generally successful, " the Department of Defense needs to consider for the next war that problems that were posed by a second, concurrent crisis."

"Deployment in a future crisis may be more challenging if the United States does not have the luxury of such a wish to exist."

"The deployment plans; unchallenged access to sea, land and airfield facilities; and sufficient air and sea lift of the right types and mix."

In testimony to Congress last month, Schwarzkopf told Congress that some intelligence operations had troubles exchanging data and that intelligence summaries based on satellite photos that came to him from Washington were so watered down the analysts could claim they were right no matter what happened.

Something went wrong with the pipeline between the intelligence community and the combat forces, said the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Middle East veterans report lack of counseling and jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has fallen short in addressing the unique problems that returning veterans from the Persian Gulf War and their families, failing to properly address the problems of counseling and employment services, several Operation Desert Storm veterans told the Senate.

The Army veterans told the Veterans Affairs Committee that families of military personnel deserve counseling to help them cope with the anxiety of coping with the system and being readied with returning troops.

Two veterans whose injuries will hurt their post-military employment status also demanded greater compensation from the government for their potential income loss.

"What are we supposed to live on, food stamps?" said Spec. Ottoa, who nearly lost his life in a truck collision in Saudi Arabia in February and still wears a neck brace.

The committee's chairman, Sen. Alan Cranston, Calif., told the veterans that the American fighting force that led the coalition effort against Iraq were not ready for the next war, with more women and National Guard members soon to lose their eligibility for individual, marriage and family cases hanging.

Cranston noted that returning reservists and National Guard members soon stand to lose their eligibility for individual, marriage and family cases hanging.

The VA is considering bills to extend eligibility for individual and family counseling for returning veterans.

Group of Seven calls for tighter reins on nuclear, chemical, biological arms

LONDON (UPI) — The Group of Seven industrialized nations, powers called Tuesday for severe restrictions on the proliferation of nuclear, chemical and biological weapons and a closer rein on exports of conventional weapons.

In a weapons declaration on the second day of their three-day summit, the leaders called for the establishment of a compulsory United Nations register of arms sales and a strengthening of structures to monitor the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction.

The fortnightly declaration was made more compelling since its authors — America, Britain, Germany, France, Italy, Canada and Japan — are among the world's largest producers and exporters of weapons.

"We are deeply concerned about the proliferation of nuclear, biological and chemical weapons and missile delivery systems," the declaration said.

"We are determined to combat this menace more strenuously and extending the non-proliferation regime."

It said the seven nations would work to establish "the widest possible consensus" in favor of a system based on balance between nuclear non-proliferation and the development of peaceful uses of nuclear energy.

"We reaffirm the importance of the nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty and call on all other non-nuclear states to subscribe to this agreement," the declaration said.

Richest nations committed to talks

The Group of Seven industrialized nations are prepared to make a strong political commitment to junk past trade talks, endorse world anti-poverty programs and agree to ease poorer countries' debt.

Speaking at a press conference, New Zealand Finance Minister Don Brash said financial ministers of the Group of Seven industrial nations would not renew the successful conclusion of the stalled trade talks "will be very important in sustaining growth throughout the 1990s."

Trade ministers are expected to give a political push to their negotiators to speed up talks on the Uruguay Round of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade when they announce the London summit's economic communiqué Wednesday.

They will also leave it up to the negotiators to solve the controversial technical details over which the talks have founded so far.

The GATT talks have been key up to now the group's approval of the G-7 summit as the nation's leaders fear failure to complete the 5-year Uruguay Round soon could usher in a return to protectionist trade policies.

The goal of the Uruguay Round of the GATT talks is to move the world toward fairer agricultural trade by drastic reductions in export subsidies, import barriers and trade-distorting domestic subsidies.

The United States accuses the EC, particularly France and Germany, of moving slowly and distorting massive subsidies to farmers, keeping the commodities at unfairly low prices and cutting into the profits of producers outside the EC.

Officially styled Tuesday for severe restrictions on the proliferation of nuclear, chemical and biological weapons and a closer rein on exports of conventional weapons.

In a weapons declaration on the second day of their three-day summit, the leaders called for the establishment of a compulsory United Nations register of arms sales and a strengthening of structures to monitor the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction.

The fortnightly declaration was made more compelling since its authors — America, Britain, Germany, France, Italy, Canada and Japan — are among the world's largest producers and exporters of weapons.

"We are deeply concerned about the proliferation of nuclear, biological and chemical weapons and missile delivery systems," the declaration said.

"We are determined to combat this menace more strenuously and extending the non-proliferation regime."

It said the seven nations would work to establish "the widest possible consensus" in favor of a system based on balance between nuclear non-proliferation and the development of peaceful uses of nuclear energy.

"We reaffirm the importance of the nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty and call on all other non-nuclear states to subscribe to this agreement," the declaration said.

Some read y reserve fleet ships, the report said, were not activated on the Gulf War because they were created because many ships could not handle containerized cargo or were not equipped with ramps to let vehicles drive on and off. It praised the pre-positioning of Marine
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Item</th>
<th>Price</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1 lb. BVG. BATH Meat Wieners</td>
<td>$1.39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.5-oz. Pkg. Hillshire Farm Lunch-N-Munch</td>
<td>$1.49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12 Pk. 12-oz. cans Sprite, Mello Yello, Dr. Coke or Diet Coke</td>
<td>$2.69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gallon Plastic Jug Sealtest Orange Juice</td>
<td>$1.99</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1/2-pint California Blackberries or Raspberries</td>
<td>$0.98</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Premium Quality Golden Ripe Bananas</td>
<td>$0.38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3-pak box Kroger Regular or Buttery</td>
<td>$1.28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In-the-Deli Mini Muffins Buy One Get One</td>
<td>$2.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>In-the-Deli Nacho Chips</td>
<td>$3.59</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>100-ct Caplets or Tablets</td>
<td>$3.59</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Motrin IB Tablets</td>
<td>$3.59</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SALUKIS

GO SALUKIS
Bar on discussion of abortion debated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate emotionally debated legislation Tuesday that would bar debate on the Supreme Court decision upholding Missouri’s family planning clinics from discussing abortion with patients, with supporters and opponents arguing about health care for the poor.

Sen. John Chafee, R.R.I., and Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., co-sponsored a bill to allow federally funded family planning clinics to discuss abortion with patients when all medical and legal options to reduce a patient’s risk for breast cancer are opposed to abortion on employment. A similar bill was opposed to abortion on religious or moral grounds, patients would be asked about that fact and referred to another facility for complete counseling.

The measure modified Chafee’s original bill that would have required federal dollars to fund pregnant women counseling on all options. The measure was offered to appease critics who complained about the confidentiality of employees opposed to abortion.

On May 23, the Supreme Court upheld Missouri’s family planning clinics on so-called Title 10 federally funded family planning clinics, which would bar them from discussing the option of abortion with patients. The Senate rejected a substitute on a 35-54 vote by Sen. David Durenberger, R-Minn. It would have required the federally funded clinics to fund pregnant women counseling on all options. The Senate rejected the bill with a margin of 54-35.

Study questions value of breast cancer drug

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A study conducted at the University of Virginia indicates that tamoxifen, a drug used to reduce the risk of suffering a recurrence of breast cancer, may not be as effective as once believed.

The study, involving 3,538 breast cancer patients found that those taking tamoxifen after being diagnosed were as likely to suffer a recurrence as similar patients who did not take the drug. The results followed a pattern found in earlier studies indicating that tamoxifen may produce a detectable increase in the risk of suffering a recurrence, but that the increase is small.

In addition, the study published in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute found that women who received tamoxifen were more likely to develop an endometrial cancer within the next eight years.

The researchers noted, however, that the reliability of the results was not strong, and recommended that further studies be conducted to clarify the effectiveness and risks involved in using tamoxifen.

"Continued and careful followup of women treated with tamoxifen is necessary to clarify the potential cancer-suppressive or cancer-promoting effects of this drug," said Dr. Michael Anderson of the Danish Cancer Registry in Copenhagen and his colleagues.

Tamoxifen, which blocks the hormone estrogen, is commonly given to women after they have undergone surgery to reduce their risk of suffering a recurrence, which often can be fatal. Critics have questioned the possibility of giving the drug to women who are at high risk for breast cancer because those women had relatives with breast cancer, which makes the drug less attractive from getting it in the first place.

In fact, the National Cancer Institute has proposed a nationwide, five-year study involving 16,000 women to test tamoxifen’s effectiveness.

Breast cancer will strike an estimated 183,000 women in the United States this year and kill more than 40,000, making it the second leading cause of cancer death after lung cancer.

Dr. Andrew Dorner of the National Cancer Institute reviewed the new study’s finding that tamoxifen does not reduce the risk for recurrences.

In other studies have found that women do not reduce the recurrence risk and the new study may not have detected any benefit because of the low dose. Dr. Michael Anderson of the Danish Cancer Registry in Copenhagen and his colleagues, which blocks the hormone estrogen, is commonly given to women after they have undergone surgery to reduce their risk of suffering a recurrence, which often can be fatal. Critics have questioned the possibility of giving the drug to women who are at high risk for breast cancer because those women had relatives with breast cancer, which makes the drug less attractive from getting it in the first place.

In fact, the National Cancer Institute has proposed a nationwide, five-year study involving 16,000 women to test tamoxifen’s effectiveness.

Breast cancer will strike an estimated 183,000 women in the United States this year and kill more than 40,000, making it the second leading cause of cancer death after lung cancer.

Dr. Andrew Dorner of the National Cancer Institute reviewed the new study’s finding that tamoxifen does not reduce the risk for recurrences.

In other studies have found that women do not reduce the recurrence risk and the new study may not have detected any benefit because of the low dose. Dr. Michael Anderson of the Danish Cancer Registry in Copenhagen and his colleagues, which blocks the hormone estrogen, is commonly given to women after they have undergone surgery to reduce their risk of suffering a recurrence, which often can be fatal. Critics have questioned the possibility of giving the drug to women who are at high risk for breast cancer because those women had relatives with breast cancer, which makes the drug less attractive from getting it in the first place.

In fact, the National Cancer Institute has proposed a nationwide, five-year study involving 16,000 women to test tamoxifen’s effectiveness.

Breast cancer will strike an estimated 183,000 women in the United States this year and kill more than 40,000, making it the second leading cause of cancer death after lung cancer.

Dr. Andrew Dorner of the National Cancer Institute reviewed the new study’s finding that tamoxifen does not reduce the risk for recurrences.

In other studies have found that women do not reduce the recurrence risk and the new study may not have detected any benefit because of the low dose. Dr. Michael Anderson of the Danish Cancer Registry in Copenhagen and his colleagues, which blocks the hormone estrogen, is commonly given to women after they have undergone surgery to reduce their risk of suffering a recurrence, which often can be fatal. Critics have questioned the possibility of giving the drug to women who are at high risk for breast cancer because those women had relatives with breast cancer, which makes the drug less attractive from getting it in the first place.

In fact, the National Cancer Institute has proposed a nationwide, five-year study involving 16,000 women to test tamoxifen’s effectiveness.

Breast cancer will strike an estimated 183,000 women in the United States this year and kill more than 40,000, making it the second leading cause of cancer death after lung cancer.

Dr. Andrew Dorner of the National Cancer Institute reviewed the new study’s finding that tamoxifen does not reduce the risk for recurrences.

In other studies have found that women do not reduce the recurrence risk and the new study may not have detected any benefit because of the low dose. Dr. Michael Anderson of the Danish Cancer Registry in Copenhagen and his colleagues, which blocks the hormone estrogen, is commonly given to women after they have undergone surgery to reduce their risk of suffering a recurrence, which often can be fatal. Critics have questioned the possibility of giving the drug to women who are at high risk for breast cancer because those women had relatives with breast cancer, which makes the drug less attractive from getting it in the first place.

In fact, the National Cancer Institute has proposed a nationwide, five-year study involving 16,000 women to test tamoxifen’s effectiveness.

Breast cancer will strike an estimated 183,000 women in the United States this year and kill more than 40,000, making it the second leading cause of cancer death after lung cancer.

Dr. Andrew Dorner of the National Cancer Institute reviewed the new study’s finding that tamoxifen does not reduce the risk for recurrences.

In other studies have found that women do not reduce the recurrence risk and the new study may not have detected any benefit because of the low dose. Dr. Michael Anderson of the Danish Cancer Registry in Copenhagen and his colleagues, which blocks the hormone estrogen, is commonly given to women after they have undergone surgery to reduce their risk of suffering a recurrence, which often can be fatal. Critics have questioned the possibility of giving the drug to women who are at high risk for breast cancer because those women had relatives with breast cancer, which makes the drug less attractive from getting it in the first place.

In fact, the National Cancer Institute has proposed a nationwide, five-year study involving 16,000 women to test tamoxifen’s effectiveness.

Breast cancer will strike an estimated 183,000 women in the United States this year and kill more than 40,000, making it the second leading cause of cancer death after lung cancer.

Dr. Andrew Dorner of the National Cancer Institute reviewed the new study’s finding that tamoxifen does not reduce the risk for recurrences.

In other studies have found that women do not reduce the recurrence risk and the new study may not have detected any benefit because of the low dose. Dr. Michael Anderson of the Danish Cancer Registry in Copenhagen and his colleagues, which blocks the hormone estrogen, is commonly given to women after they have undergone surgery to reduce their risk of suffering a recurrence, which often can be fatal. Critics have questioned the possibility of giving the drug to women who are at high risk for breast cancer because those women had relatives with breast cancer, which makes the drug less attractive from getting it in the first place.

In fact, the National Cancer Institute has proposed a nationwide, five-year study involving 16,000 women to test tamoxifen’s effectiveness.

Breast cancer will strike an estimated 183,000 women in the United States this year and kill more than 40,000, making it the second leading cause of cancer death after lung cancer.

Dr. Andrew Dorner of the National Cancer Institute reviewed the new study’s finding that tamoxifen does not reduce the risk for recurrences.

In other studies have found that women do not reduce the recurrence risk and the new study may not have detected any benefit because of the low dose. Dr. Michael Anderson of the Danish Cancer Registry in Copenhagen and his colleagues, which blocks the hormone estrogen, is commonly given to women after they have undergone surgery to reduce their risk of suffering a recurrence, which often can be fatal. Critics have questioned the possibility of giving the drug to women who are at high risk for breast cancer because those women had relatives with breast cancer, which makes the drug less attractive from getting it in the first place.
Menard guard stabbed after lockdown ended

CHESTER (UP) — An inmate stabbed a guard at Menard Correctional Center in Chester Tuesday, just three days after a similar incident at Stateville Correctional Center at Joliet.

Inmate Michael统筹推进, 55, was arrested Monday for the stabbing of a guard at Menard. The attack occurred during a lockdown at the prison.

Deputy Michael Smith was stabbed in the neck and had returned to his cell. The inmate was later sent to Oak Hill Correctional Center in Joliet.

The lockdown was imposed after an incident at Stateville. Smith continued to receive treatment in an intensive care unit at Menard.

New Orleans (UPI) — A state alderman was stabbed to death in his apartment in New Orleans early Thursday morning.

Alderman John Smith, 55, was found dead in his apartment in the early morning hours. A state police official said he was stabbed in the chest.

The state alderman's name was Smith, 55.

A state police official said he was stabbed in the chest.

Police chief faces criminal charges for beating sexual assault prisoner

MOUNT STERLING (UPI) — Former Mount Sterling Police Chief L. D. Smith was arrested Monday on charges of aggravated battery and misconduct charges in the beating of a prisoner who was a 12-year-old girl and a 20-year-old woman.

A state police official said the incident occurred in early August, and that the prisoner by the hair and punched him several times in the face.

The chief then pulled his pistol, pointed it at the prisoner, Smith, 55, was arrested Monday for the beating of a guard who was a 12-year-old girl and a 20-year-old woman.

An indictment handed down by a Stateville official had just lifted a guard as the incident occurred. Prison officials had just lifted a guard as the incident occurred.

Stateville officials said they were aware of the incident.

Said Howell, 57: "A guard was stabbed and had returned to his cell. The guard was stabbed and had returned to his cell."

The former police chief was Smith, 55.

An indictment handed down by a Stateville official had just lifted a guard as the incident occurred. Prison officials had just lifted a guard as the incident occurred.

Howell said investigators would try to determine whether the guard was stabbed and had returned to his cell.

The lockdown was imposed after an incident at Stateville. Smith continued to receive treatment in an intensive care unit at Menard.

Rev. George Hasikko, dean of the Pittsburgh Deanery of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church of USA, said those charged were despondent over the death of their colleague.

Police and the Allegheny County coroner's office said the guard had been despondent over the death of his wife's deteriorating mental condition from Alzheimer's disease.

In this condition, a person is living death day by day, said Jaworskyj. He was adding that institutionalization of his wife was an option he refused to consider.

The suicide note bitterly denounced the lack of Christian values in society and the failures of medicine.

Police chief commits murder, suicide for suffering wife

PIITTSBURGH (UPI) — A priest held at gunpoint by a man in a wall. The man had been Alleyways and was a series of attacks on a 12-year-old girl.

The charges against the former police chief also alleged that he grabbed the prisoner by the hair.

Howell said he could not identify either the inmate or the guard.

Howell said investigators would try to determine whether the guard was stabbed and had returned to his cell.

Howell said he could not identify either the inmate or the guard.

The charges against the former police chief also alleged that he grabbed the prisoner by the hair.

Howell said he could not identify either the inmate or the guard.

The charges against the former police chief also alleged that he grabbed the prisoner by the hair.

Rev. George Hasikko, dean of the Pittsburgh Deanery of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church of USA, said those charged were despondent over the death of their colleague.

Police and the Allegheny County coroner's office said the guard had been despondent over the death of his wife's deteriorating mental condition from Alzheimer's disease.

In this condition, a person is living death day by day, said Jaworskyj. He was adding that institutionalization of his wife was an option he refused to consider.

The suicide note bitterly denounced the lack of Christian values in society and the failures of medicine.

Police chief commits murder, suicide for suffering wife

PIITTSBURGH (UPI) — A priest held at gunpoint by a man in a wall. The man had been Alleyways and was a series of attacks on a 12-year-old girl.

The charges against the former police chief also alleged that he grabbed the prisoner by the hair.

Howell said he could not identify either the inmate or the guard.

Howell said investigators would try to determine whether the guard was stabbed and had returned to his cell.

Howell said he could not identify either the inmate or the guard.

The charges against the former police chief also alleged that he grabbed the prisoner by the hair.

Rev. George Hasikko, dean of the Pittsburgh Deanery of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church of USA, said those charged were despondent over the death of their colleague.

Police and the Allegheny County coroner's office said the guard had been despondent over the death of his wife's deteriorating mental condition from Alzheimer's disease.

In this condition, a person is living death day by day, said Jaworskyj. He was adding that institutionalization of his wife was an option he refused to consider.

The suicide note bitterly denounced the lack of Christian values in society and the failures of medicine.

Preacher claims in lawsuit

swaggart destroyed ministry

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Attorneys defending television evangelist Jimmy Swaggart in a $500 million defamation suit Tuesday blasted preyer Marvin Gorman as an adulterous fraud.

Gorman claims in his suit, filed in 1987, that Swaggart and others destroyed his prosperous television ministry by spreading rumors he engaged in numerous adulterous acts.

Gorman admitted to one incident of sexual intercourse with another pastor's wife and said attorneys claimed it was an affair the pair had when they were married.

They also named four other women who allegedly had affairs with Gorman, saying Gorman intimidated into having sex with him by threatening to expose his wife.

"The evidence will show the only victims in the case were the women who came to Marvin Gorman for counseling," said Gorman's attorney Philip Witmann.

Videoepisodes from the women's sexual encounters, as well as a deposition by Swaggart's wife, will be shown later in the trial, said Witmann, who described Gorman as "an admitted adulterer and a demonstrable liar."

"He gave blasphemous meaning to 'laying on of hands.' He's an adulterer, a cheat, a fraud."

— Attorney Ross Buckley

Preacher claims in lawsuit

swaggart destroyed ministry

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Attorneys defending television evangelist Jimmy Swaggart in a $500 million defamation suit Tuesday blasted preyer Marvin Gorman as an adulterous fraud.

Gorman claims in his suit, filed in 1987, that Swaggart and others destroyed his prosperous television ministry by spreading rumors he engaged in numerous adulterous acts.

Gorman admitted to one incident of sexual intercourse with another pastor's wife and said attorneys claimed it was an affair the pair had when they were married.

They also named four other women who allegedly had affairs with Gorman, saying Gorman intimidated into having sex with him by threatening to expose his wife.

"The evidence will show the only victims in the case were the women who came to Marvin Gorman for counseling," said Gorman's attorney Philip Witmann.

Videoepisodes from the women's sexual encounters, as well as a deposition by Swaggart's wife, will be shown later in the trial, said Witmann, who described Gorman as "an admitted adulterer and a demonstrable liar."

"He gave blasphemous meaning to 'laying on of hands.' He's an adulterer, a cheat, a fraud."

— Attorney Ross Buckley
SMILE ADVERTISING RATES
$2.90 per inch
Space Reservation Deadline: 2 p.m., 2 days prior to publication
Requirements: All column display classified ads are to be used by individuals or organizations for personal advertising—birthdays, anniversaries, congratulations, etc. and not for commercial use or to announce events.
ADVERTISING POLICY
Please be Sure To Check Your Classified Advertisement For Errors On The First Day Of Publication
The Daily Egyptian cannot be responsible for more than one day's incorrect insertion. Advertisers are responsible for checking their advertisements for errors on the first day they appear. Errors not the fault of the advertiser which lessen the value of the advertisement will be corrected.
All classified advertising must be processed before 12:00 Noon to appear in the next day's publication. Anything processed after 12:00 Noon will go in the following day's publication. Classified advertising must be paid in advance except for those accounts with established credit. A 2% charge will be added to billed classified advertising. A service charge of $7.50 will be added to the advertiser's account for every check returned to the Daily Egyptian unpaid by the advertiser's bank. Early cancellation of a classified advertisement will be charged a $2.00 service fee. Any refund under $2.00 will be forfeited due to the cost of processing.
All advertising submitted to the Daily Egyptian is subject to approval and may be revised, rejected or cancelled at any time.
The Daily Egyptian assumes no liability if for any reason it becomes necessary to omit an advertisement.
A sample of all mail-order items must be submitted and approved prior to deadline for publication.
No ads will be mis-classified.
We have some great opportunities for summer and fall!

Roommates

Roommate to Share with 2 Students

Available: June 29

Description:

- 2 bedrooms, 2 bathrooms
- Fully furnished
- Close to campus

Contact:

Call: 529-4301

Temperature/Full Time Marketing Manager

- Full-time, permanent position
- Strong background in marketing and communication

Contact:

Call: 529-6359 for more information

Legal Services

- Available for summer and fall
- Experienced legal professionals

Contact:

Call: 529-4301

Shawnee Crisis Pregnancy Center

- Free Pregnancy Testing Confident Assistance

Contact:

Call: 529-4301

ENDANGERED WILDLIFE COLLECTIVE

- Birding, hiking, wildlife viewing

Contact:

Call: 529-4301

Anchorage

- Free Wading Ponds

Contact:

Call: 529-4301

Fiesta Inn

- Free Wading Ponds

Contact:

Call: 529-4301

Bedroom

- Fully furnished

Contact:

Call: 529-4301

Room for Rent

- Close to campus

Contact:

Call: 529-4301

Budget Plan

- Affordable and efficient

Contact:

Call: 529-4301

Summer Park

- Free Wading Ponds

Contact:

Call: 529-4301

Tallgrass Creek

- Free Wading Ponds

Contact:

Call: 529-4301

Foster City

- Free Wading Ponds

Contact:

Call: 529-4301

Renting for Summer & Fall

Available Summer & Fall 1991

529-1082

For More Information Call

Bonnie Owen Property Management 529-2504
12 oz. pkg. Seitz hot dogs 1/2 price
Pay only .69

8 oz. pkg. cheddar or mozzarella national shredded cheese 1/2 price
Pay only .92

16 oz. can Joan of Arc pork & beans 1/2 price
Pay only .19

23-24 oz. jar Musselman applesauce 1/2 price
Pay only .69

half gal. ctn. Meadow Gold ice cream 1/2 price
Pay only 1.49

18 oz. btl. Open Pit B.B.Q. sauce 1/2 price
Pay only .84

We Bake Fresh Everyday!

Pork and Beans Open Pit

buttercrust bread

OPEN 24 HOURS A DAY 7 DAYS A WEEK

DOUBLE COUPONS ALL THIS WEEK DETAILS IN STORE
Super Bowl shadows Bills

FREDONIA, N.Y. (UPI) — Months after coming one step short of winning the Super Bowl, Mary Levy's job as Buffalo Bills coach is a bit more complicated.

Not only do Levy have to make sure training camp gets his 15-year-old team ready for the season, but he now faces an additional obstacle — getting back to the big game.

Levy is not obsessed with returning to the Super Bowl, he'd like his team to think about the same thing.

"I did point out to them that we didn't come back to take it back. I put it out to say, 'Yes, you can get back, but it takes a lot of good work.'" The Bills won a third straight AFC East title to reach the Super Bowl.

Then Scott Norwood's last-second field goal attempt sailed wide right, leaving the New York Giants with a 20-19 victory.

"We have one thing that we're preparing for right now, our (season) opener against Miami," Levy said. "We're not preparing for the Super Bowl, we're not preparing for the preseason game. We're preparing for our opener."

While Levy tries to keep the success of the 1990 season — and the big loss — in perspective, some of his players are not as patient.

"We should bounce back from it with a really positive attitude," tackle Will Wolford said, "with that bad taste still in our mouth and hit this year rolling and looking to get that one notch better. I think everyone on this team's using it for incentives this year."

"Everybody I've talked to can't wait for the season to start," center Ken Hall said. "We got second place and we didn't get it, and I really think that has made us a hungrier, closer football team."

But Levy wants to take things one step at a time. Winning the AFC East again comes first.

"Now, somebody might say, 'That's shortsighted,'" Levy said. "You ought to think bigger than winning the division."

"Why don't you think about winning the Super Bowl? But if we aren't going to win the Super Bowl unless you think about winning your division and winning your division means you have to beat Miami on Sept. 10," he said.

---

Economists question wisdom of team buys

MUNICE, Ind. (UPI) — Buying a minor league baseball franchise may not have been a wise economic move for groups in Beaver and Miami, says a Ball State University economist.

It would have made more economic sense to purchase a less expensive, existing franchise than to pay $50 million in expansion fees, said Lee Specor, a Ball State economics professor.

"It doesn't make sense to pay nearly $100 million for an expansion franchise without players or minor league system," Specor said. "Those cities that didn't get a franchise, like Buffalo, Orlando and St. Petersburg, should look at the economic implications.

Several major league franchises are having financial difficulties and may be seeking new ownership.

Those teams include Seattle, which is expected to lose up to $50 million this season, and Houston, which is seeking new ownership. Besides contracts for the Colorado Rockies and the Florida Marlins, each will spend $25 million to $40 million each for setting up working agreements with five minor league affiliates. They also pay revenue sharing, drug testing and developing 150 minor league players.

BOWLING, from Page 16

also trying to change the game's vocabulary, calling bowling alleys "houses" and gutter "channels."

"Bowling has become too family oriented," said Gardner, the reigning U.S. amateur champion who's competing this week at the U.S. Olympic Festival. "It's something the whole family can do on a weekend."

"Everybody has to fight that image that we get off work, go bowling and have a beer. But it's getting a lot better."

When she's not playing for Team USA, Gardner, 23, of nearby Fountain Valley is teaching kids how to throw strikes and spares as the junior director at Fountain Bowl.

"That way, she's doing her part to help the new image along. Now if she could get rid of that beer and pizza thing."

She said for catching crappie and bluegill, the area around the Little Grassy Girl Scout Camp has produced the most fish this year.

Johnson said live bait is the best way to catch crappie and bluegill.

"The water is so clear the fish can see you," she said. "You either have to get far away from the fish or use a bait that won't spook the fish."

Johnson said the bass will sit right up in shallow water on their beds fishers have to throw a crank or buzz bait in the shallow water to aggravate them and get them to take the bait.

Little Grassy has a six daily limit on bass and any bass between 12 to 15 inches cannot be kept.

FISH, from Page 16

the fish," she said. "I think it will pick up again after the next full moon."

Ricky W. Smith, assistant manager of the Little Grassy Fish Hatchery, said the hatchery produces 25,000 to 30,000 eight-inch fish a year.

Smith said the hatchery stocks state, public and private lakes and also stocks some catfish in the lake.

"We concentrate on raising warm water fish like crappie, bass and bluegill and do raise some cold water fish like walleye, muskie and trout."

Smith said Lake Kinkaid and Caddo Lake, with a 20-19 victory.

Little Grassy doesn't have any of the exotic cold water fish in it, according the Illinois Department of Conservation.

"We don't have a real wide variety of fish in our lake," Johnson said.

"But for a deep clear lake this is the best around," she said.

Johnson said a couple who camped at Little Grassy for a month caught more than 800 bluegill.

"The best way to catch the bluegill is to use crickets in about three to eight feet of water," she said.

The cripple in Little Grassy go after minnows in 12 to 18 feet of water, Johnson said.

Little Grassy has a six daily limit on bass and any bass between 12 to 15 inches cannot be kept.

SPORTS, from Page 16

will still be entered in the tournament.

The officials for the games are trained and tested by officials run by the Office of Intramural Sports at the SIUC Recreation Center.

"We provide a lot of opportunity for students to officiate," Hadim said. "We prefer them to have a basic understanding of the rules of the game, but most of our officials don't have any previous experience officiating."

Anthony Williams, a senior in radio and television from Rockford, is one of the officials. The Recreation Center hired him this summer to keep the action in the softball leagues from getting out of hand.

He has been an official since September 1990 and said his love for fair play as well as sports motivated him to become an official.

"I guess fair play is what it's all about," he said. "I love sports, and this is a good way to stay involved."

The list of individual and team intramural sports available this fall is extensive. Students interested in playing or officiating a sport should stop by the Information Desk in the SIUC Recreation Center for team rosters and the dates of the captains' meetings and officials' meetings.

Open 24 hours

July 15-19