Bill tightening rules on rock fests passed

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The Illinois Senate approved and sent to Gov. Dan Walker Monday legislation to tighten restrictions on promoters of outdoor cock music festivals. The bill passed by a vote of 49-0. Sponsored by Sen. Terry Bruce, D-Olmey, the measure would require promoters to obtain permits from the Public Health Department at least 30 days before holding their rock festivals.

Also required by the bill would be the their rock festivals.

Also required by the bill would be the posting by each promoter of up to $220,000 to pay any government expenses brought on by the festival, such as police salaries and cleanup costs.

the festival, such as peace cleanup costs.

Sen. Gene Johns. D-Marion, pressed for enactment of the measure, recalling last year's Bull Island Rock festival that brought 250,000 music lans swarming into his district. "Nowhere in my region," Johns declared, "have people been subjected to such obscenity, the use of drugs and desecration... that at Bull Island last summer!"

Legislation to make execution the mandatory punishment for the murder of a policeman was approved, 35-12, by the Senate.

Senate.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. James Bell, R-Joliet, is the first capital punishment bill to be approved by the Senate since a U.S. Supreme Court decision last year wiped death penalty laws off the books.

Under the bill, which was approved by the House and amended is the Senate, death would be the mandatory punishment for the murder of policement, firemen and prison officials. Execution also would be the penalty for anyone convicted of murder a second time.

The House get off to a 2 p.m. start Menday and both chambers planned to work late to clear their calendars as the legislature moved toward summer adjournment Saturday, Before the death penalty bill can go to the deak of Gov. Daniel Walker, the House must pass the Senate amendment.

In other action tegislation aponsored by Rep. Robert S. Juckett, R. Park Ridge, to allow the news media to tape and film most public meeting fell five votes short of Senate passage. The final tally was 25-6.

The Senate sponsor, Jack Schaffer, R.Cary, attributed the failure to pass the measure to opposition from members who believed the bill should include a provision to bur the media from creating a "disruption" of any meeting taped or filmed.

However, Schaffer and, these who attempted to draft such an amendment "couldn't find the language."

On Oct. 30, 1939, President Roosevelt said, while I am talking to you mothers and fathers, I give you one more assurance. I have said this before, but I shall say it again and again and again. Your boys I shall say it again and again and again. Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars." Pearl Harbor was beyond his control. Why, however, did he permit a draft law to pass Congress the preceding August, and just two weeks before the denial, why were all men of military age registered for the draft? All this occurred while FDR was running for an inheard of third term for which he plainly said he would not run. would not run.

In 1937, Japan invaded China: FDB ignored the Neutrality Act. He allowed shipments of war materials (after saying, "Let us not blink the fact that we would find in this country thousands of Americans who, seeking immediate riches, fool's gold, would attempt to break down or evade our neutrality.") to both China and Japan. "What about the sticky charges of self-censorship against President Nixon's Administration?"

President Roosevett can be said to have invented presidential press conferences. But he also laid down the rules: "We are not going to have any more writthe rules we are not going to have any more written questions. In President Truman's Administration there were charles of espionage against Americans working for the Soviets during a period when the US and Russian were allied against the Nazis. In private. Truman reportedly said, "Sure, I know Alger Hiss is guilty as hell. But the Republicans are not attacking Hissahely re attacking me." In public he brushed aside results of Congressional investigations as "red herring," President Truman ignored the two FBI reports indicating Harry Dexter White, an Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, was a serious security risk and appointed him as Executive Director of the International Monetary Fund. Stories were "planted" (does not the public deserve forthright disclosures?) that President Truman did it so that the FBI could keep an eye on him. But White's new international post was out of the FBI's jurisdiction! The President, furthermore, went on television, telling his story to the American people: But before Congress the FBI chief, Hoover, demolished Truman's story on every point, which can be seen in Ralph do Toledano's book "J. Edgar Hoover." What about the improper use of electronic surveillance and the President's judgment of character."

The outgoing Attorney, General, William P. Rogers, witnessed the new Attorney General, Robert Kennedy, talking to J. Edgar Hoover, trying to establish a supplementary investigative group to take over some of the FBI's work.

Yulko said that each employee with coverage will receive notification of the change in a few days. Included will be an official identification card for the Blue-Cross-Blue Shield program.
Two weeks after receipt of the notice, Yusko said, bookiets explaining the new plan and its benefits will be sent to each person. An accompanying card will identify the person as a policy holder, Yusko said.

line parameters and the changeover, part of a statewide switch in employe insurance companies, came as a result of insurance companies bids to the State of Illinois, Under the new plan, Yusko said, there will be a very slight reduction in rates, theoretic increased benefits.

"very slight reduction" in rates, along with increased benefits. The additional benefits, coming mainly from different insurance policy interpretations, will include better coverage for emergeries, prescription drugs and physicians' house calls, Yusko said.

SIU summer enrollment about 9,500

Stephen Foster, supervisor of scheduling in the admissions and records office, said Thursday that summer achood envolument will be about 9,500, the same as lost year. Poster said he based the estimate on the flow of traffic in his office and in the Registration Center.

While scheduling of seven different sessions apparantly has not caused either an increase or decrease in enrollment, yet some new problems in registering have resulted, Foster indicated. The new program includes the regular 11-week session, two four and two five week sessions (baginning on June 18 and July 28), an eight week session (June 18-Aug 10) and a two-week pre-session.

"A maxority of the students have June 18-Aug 10) and a two-week pro-ension.

"A majority of the students have not been affected," Prester said, "but with seven different-combinations, cards can get mixed up easier or a student might sign up for a course misunderstanding the time schedule." However, he feels that the confusion was not too great and that the other problems encountered happen every quarter.

Construction set at area lakes

Showers and rest rooms will be built sometime this summer at Devi'r Kitchen and Little Grassy lakes, according to James Hubert, assistant project manager of Orab Orchurd Wildlife Reluge.

The Bureau of Sport Paheries and Wildlife was awarded $140,796 contract to the Steffs Construction Cn. Carterville, to construct the facilities.

facilities.

Hubert said the date constructions will start is undecided, but will hopefully begin "soon enough so facilities will be used this summer or fall."

'Anti-thief' member at lunch program

Armed with hatdless and muzzle-loading rifles. William Sherer, an intrepid member of the Jackson County Anti-Horse and Mule Thief Association, Inc., will face Wed-neday's Lunch and Learn audience.

The audience need not fear for its safety, however. Sherer will be present to kick off the summer Lunch and Learn series with a talk on "Muzzle Loading and Hatchet Throwing." His weapons are for display purposes only.

Sherer's talk will begin promptly at noon in the Mississippi Room of the Student Center. John Kixmiller, Lunch and Learn coordinator, urged the audience to arrive on time.

Sherer will explain the whys and wherefores of his anti-rustler group.

The focus of the Anti-Horse and Mule Thief Association's historical interests are the old-time rifles and hatchets which Sherer will feature in his talk. Sherer will explain how the weapons are used in sport competition.

Sherer will also discuss the tricentennial celebration of the discovery and exploration of the Mississippi River Valley by Marquette and Joliet. The celebration is planned for July 6, 7 and 8 at Grand Tower.

Reservations for the luncheon must be made by noon Tuesday with John Kixmiller, 453-2395. Cost of the lunch is $1.85.

Hancock, who astounded a lot of people by searing over 7,000 points in his first try at the ten-event decathlon in March, came up short in his bid for points. His total, in the 7,300 range, in the two-day affair, left him in eighth place, behind titlist Phil Romaro of Brigh Young and runnerup Craig Brigham rding to Hartzog, Hancock's hopes placing high received a big blow in the first day of competition when his poor shotput throw of 30-feet nine inches gave him only 411 points (out of a possible 1200). A final toss of 39-8 was scratched when the Saluki's foot illegally stepped over the restraining circle.

Hancock's hopes davindled when another scratch on a 25-toot plus long jump deducted another 200 points from his score.

"Once Bill realized his handicap in the shotput," Hartzog said, "it took a lot out of him on the second day, He just didn't do well."

Hancock did place first in the 100-yard da (10.6) and the high jump (6-10), the eighth best leap ever by a decathlete. He set a world record for decathlon performers by jumping 7-1 at the Kansas Relays in April. The Glasford native finished second in the 440

NHL turns down request to move Finley's Seals

CHICAGO AP:-The National Hockey League Monday turned down Charles O. Finley's request to move his California Golden Seals from Oakland to Indianapolis.

move, the members voted 13 against the request and 2 in favor while the Philadelphia franchise was not represented at the meeting

"They turned down my request," said aley. "No, there was no discussion about a Where do I go from here? I don't know.

Will I sue? I haven't given it a thought as yet."

Finley earlier has said either the club would be moved to Indianapolis or it would be sold and he would be happy in any event. However, he admitted it the club were given permission to move to Indianapolis he probably would remain in hockey.

Attending the meeting with Finley were Charles De Voe, president of the Indianapolis Pacers of the American Backetball Association and a leading figure in the building of a new arena in Indianapolis which will seat some 18,000.

will seal some 18,000.

Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL, said that the league's committee is authorized to continue negotiations with Finley for the purpose of purchasing the Golden Seals for resale. However, Campbell said no further meetings have been scheduled on the matter.

"It's not that the dollars are so ecorn but it is the principles that are imports said Campbell.

Campbell said that Finley has set a sale price but that the league previously had

It was learned that Finley, who reported paid some $5 million for the club and has lo $2.5 million in three years of operation, ha asked for $6.5 million. The league supposed has offered $6 million.

Finley's feeling is that if an expansis franchise can go for $5 million, then he can ask for a little more because of an establishe franchise with a farm system.

Campbell, who appears dead set ag franchise moving, said, "We think basics transfer is wrong...It is a bad practice w is condemned by Congress."
