Statute raises questions

Flag laws create problems for automobile window decals

By James Hodi Daily Egyptian Staff Write

Could Reader's Digest be helping many Illinois citizens to break the law? According to Chapter 56 and one quarter, Sections six and seven, of the Illinois revised statutes, they could be violattheir uniforms.

The statute reads in part: "Any person who shall, after this act takes effect, expose to public view, manufacture, sell, expose for salle, give away, or have in possession for sale or to give away or for use for any purpose, any article or substance, so placed....

Section Seven of the statute described the flag as being any representation on any substance (cloth, paper, plastic) of any size.

These are many questions that have not been answered. According to Brian Mc-Cauley, a legal clerk with SIU's legal counsel, this law has been upheld by the Illinois Supreme Court but it has not been defined. And, it will not be defined unless somebody wants to test the law.

The definition in question is whether or not the law applies to placing flags in the rear window of one's automobile.

Could it be considered disrespect to the flag by using it as a decoration on one's automobile? Also, outside jot transporting one's self so work, could you say that an automobile is used for transporting merchanservices to your boss?

More likely, what habout a truck with a flag on it? These used by business always carry merchandise. A farmer generally earns a livelihood using his truck.

What about police having flags on their uniforms? Police are considered services in most communities. Could services be considered merchandise and, if so, could a flag on a uniform be considered putting the flag on merchandise. flag on merchandise?

Bumper stickers pose another question. One popular bumper sticker reads "Be American! Buy American!" With the flag appearing between the two sentences, could that be considered selling or advertising, since the bumper sticker is telling you to buy American goods rather than foreign goods?

Also, many say putting the flag on auto-obiles is a way of displaying their mobiles patriotism.

Could ideas be considered merchandise Many radicals use the flag to show their contempt for America's ideas by hanging ntempt for America's ideas by imaging upside-down or wearing it as a shirt, upside-down or wearing it in protest. Would or ripping or burning it in protest. Would it be frowned upon to use the flag to show support for those same American ideals?

McCauley said a citizen must first bring suit to test the law. The citizen would have to take his interpretation to the Illinois Supreme Court. The court might rule one way, but what about the U.S. Supreme Court?

In other events, Peter S. Stowe, an assistant professor in economics who was charged for descrating or mutiation of the flag under another part of this statute, has been meeting with his lawyer. He refused to comment on

Stowe was charged for having a decal of the American flag with a peace symbol superimposed on his Volkswagen by Stephen Sedlack, the state commander of the Illinois Department of the Vietnam Veterans As-

Members of the Internation-Students Club will visit New Orleans during spring break on a trip sponsored by the Visiting Internation! Students Association (VISA).

The trip is the first major tour of the club this year. It is designed to promote international understanding and friendship of the members by friendship of the members by participating in other univer-sity and community activities, according to Frank Sehnert, faculty adviser. The members will meet students and ob-serve study programs at Loui-stana State University, Tulane University and Delegatio Col-tiniversity and Delegation University and Delgardo College.

While the members study the historical and cultural aspects of New Orleans, they will also develop strong intercultural ties with one another through travel, Sehnert said. The club has undertaken

Mine serves as art gallery

SIU graduate art student David Lyon doesn't have much studio space and he doesn't particularly like formal art particularly like localists. So for a required spring exhibit, he did the obvious thing. He created his own combination workshop and exhibit area in the side of a strip mine bank near Cambria.

W.D. Klimstra, director of SIU's Cooperative Wild-life Research Laboratory, has been named chairman of a task force to study the game division of the Illinois Department of Conservation.

The department's acting director, Dan Malkovich, announced the organization and said its goals will be to study the game division and recommend changes to provide the "best game management program for the state." Five other persons—biologists and conservationists-will serve with Klimstra.

Dorothy South, assistant professor at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, Virginia, will visit SIU this summer quarter to do research with Maurice Ogur, chairman of the Department of Microbiology and director of the Yeast Research Group.

Mrs. South received her doctorate in microbiology from Oregon State University in 1966 and has done two years of post-doctoral research studying the biogenesis of mitochondria.

Herman R. Lantz, professor of sociology at SIU, will leave April 26 for a European trip that will take him to Ireland, Sweden, Luxemburg and the United Nations Headquarters in Paris.

Lantz will be visiting these countries in order to investigate the possibilities for further sociological exchange programs between SIU and the universities there. He also will give lectures and conduct sociological seminars.

Melvin Kahn, associate professor of government at SIU, is author of a new book entitled "The Politics of American Labor," published by the SIU Labor Institute. The book deals with an ideological split within American labor and with election and legislative activity in American politics. Also included is an analysis of group strength between labor and business as political forces.

Thorsten Fjellstedt and Maurice Ogur, faculty members in the yeast research group of the Department of Microbiology at SIU, have written a paper which appeared in the January issue of the Journal of Bac-teriology, a publication of the American Society of Bacteriologists.

of 17 events against teams
from Indiana State, Ball State, Evansville and Eastern Michisan.

Final scores were SIU 197, Indiana State 129, Ball State 50, Eastern Michigan 39 and

Evansville 16. Scanning the results of the Big Ten an Southeast Con-specific work on details, rest and study for final exami-nations," explained Essick. "The kids were very tired at Indiana State last week, Tim Hixson, a sophomore from Tim Hixson, a sophomore from Australia, had an outstanding meet with a 10:03,5 clocking in the 100 yard freestyle and 4:51,9 effort in the 500 freestyle. That was the best SIU time this year for the 1000 and Hixson's lifetime best in the 500," Essick reports, "We're looking forward to competing at the University of Utah's new facility. We don't anticipate any great problems with the altitude, Contestants in any event longer than 2:15 might experience some diffimight experience some difficulty but it shouldn't be criti-cal," Essick remarked.

A big question is whether Bruce Steiner, fourth at the NCAA last year in the 1650 freestyle, is going to respond to a tapering program.

DETROIT—Alan Robinson was beaten at the tape Friday night by Jerry Richey of the University of Pittsburgh in the finals of the two-mile run in the NGAA Indoor Track and Field Championships. His effort earned him All-America honors.

The final results capped a spectacular finish which began with three laps to go, bringing the Cobo Arena crowd of 9,370 to 8's feet.

Both runners finished in a time of 8:39.2, well ahead of the rest of the field, Richey overtook Robinson on the final turn and was awarded first place on a judge's decision.

decision.

The winning Richey said, "I had expected Dick Buerkle of Villanova to win. Al ran a smart race and I had to wait until the last turn to pass him."

A severe setback came early for SIU when sprinter Ivory Crockett failed to crack the quarter-finals in the following dash.

-yard dash,

Crockett's misfire occurred in the event's second qualifying heat when the SIU freshman finished fourth out of five in a slow 6,4 seconds,

Mike Goodri in 6,2 seconds, Goodrich, Indiana University, won the heat

SIU coach Lew Hartzog admitted Crockett's loss was a blow to SIU's chances to score high as a team.
"It hurt, of course," Hartzog said, "I could see he wasn't going to qualify when he was ten yards out of the blocks.

"He wasn't relaxed and couldn't run well," Hartzog continued, "It's simply a matter of not being in snape.

Crockett, recovering from a leg injury at the Central Collegiate Championships, was Frilay notified by a doctor at Cobo Arena that he has bronchitis,
"I think I was relieved," said Hartzog, "because I'll admit I was most concerned about whether he would hurt himself or not in this race and be lost for the season."

Freshman high-jumper Mike Bernard missed all rreshman ing-jumper Mike Bernard missed all three of his attempts at the opening height of 6-7. Triple-jump competition was not completed at press time. SI's Don Miller had leaped 49-2 but Obed Gardiner was scheduled in a later flight and had not yet competed.

The high-flying Kansas Jayhawks were "put" into early lead in the 'World Series' of indoor track on a one-two-three sweep in the shorput.

Villanova's Martin Liquori qualified for Saturday's finals in the mile run, breezing through a strategic 4:10,2 effort in a qualifying heat.

Rockets down Bobcats, meet Mt. Vernon next

Friday night the Meridian Bobcats tried a first half full court press against the Okawville Rockets. They found that didn't work when the Rockets held a 43-27 halftime lead.

In the second half they abandoned the press but the results were similar. The Rockets defeated Meridian 81-59 and will advance into Tuesday night's Supersectional in the SIU Arena.

Friday night Mt. Vernon beat Benton 70-63 and will be Okawville's super-sectional opponent.

Okawille's Gail Wolf proved once again that he can score by leading the Rocket attack with 30 points, Wednesday night the 6-11 center pumped in 33 points against Nashville. Almost all shots were from 10 or more feet.

Unlike Wednesday, the Rockets had a balanced tack Friday night. Forward Bill Winkelman hit 21 attack Friday night. Forward Bill Winke points and teammate Jim Schrader had 13.

Guard Hadley Hasheider had only nine points but continually cracked the Meridian full court press and quarterbacked the offense,

Wolf blocked four shots and helped break the full court press by playing at midcourt,

The Rockets forced 13 Meridian turnovers and stole the ball five times. They outshot Meridian ,536-,358 and led in rebounds 35-31.
