Delta Zeta-Delta Chi Win Honors With "Telstar"

(Another story Page 5)

Trudy Gidcumb, Alpha Gamma Delta, and sponsored by that sorority, won the "Miss Southern, 1963" contest and was crowned at Spring Festival dance Saturday night.

Miss Gidcumb, a sophomore from Eldorado, is a five-foot, four-inch brunette. She was crowned by Miss Pam Gilbert of Carbondale, the outgoing queen.

For her talent number, the first event of the queen contest, Miss Gidcumb gave a humorous reading. Seventeen candidates appeared in the talent contest Friday night as well as a beauty pageant held Saturday afternoon in the Roman Room of the University Center.

"Miss Southern" was chosen from five finalists. They were, Sally AuBuchon, sponsored by Alpha Gamma Delta; Rachael Calhoun, sponsored by Mu Phi Epsilon; Barb Hurtte, sponsored by Southern Acres; Glynn Hewett, sponsored by Pine Lane Dorm, and Miss Gidcumb.

Delta Zeta sorority and Delta Chi fraternity, teamed up to produce the grand champion show on the Midway during 1963 Spring Festival.

The entry was "Telstar." First place of the "show" entries went to the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority and Sigma Pi fraternity with their entry, "German Beer Garden."

Alpha Gamma Delta and Theta Xi took second place with "Adventure in Hong Kong."

All proceeds from admissions to the shows, as well as displays were divided in half, according to a spokesman in the Activities Office. Half of the take from each entry was returned to the entrants and half to pay over all expenses of Spring Festival.

Winners in the displays category were Alpha Phi Omega, first; Saluki Flying Club, second and University Center Programming Board, honorable mention. All displays were descriptive of group functions.

First prize of the "booth" entries was awarded to Woody Hall and Little Egypt Co-Op combined, for their Monte Carlo Casino.

Second went to Sigma Tau Gamma and Saluki Arms, entered together with a miniature golf course in an Arabian theme.

Honorable mention was given to Bowyer Hall for a "Putt Around the World" entry.

Council Urges Future Changes In Student Activity Fee Structure

A budget proposal dealing with the inadequacy of the present activity fee structure and making recommendations for future changes has been approved by the Student Council.

The proposal states that the activity fee programs of the University have outgrown the income from the $9.50 activity fee.

It also said that after the Council considered the programs supported by the activity fees in terms of their value to students, the Council recommended programs which add up to about a $2 increase in activities, with an eventual $5 increase in health services.

Recommendations approved at Thursday night's meeting provide that the budget for next year be financed by the present $9.50 activity fee. The projected estimate of the total budget to be submitted to the Board of Trustees for the 1963-64 school year is $342,000. Allotment figures for each account are currently being worked out by the Finance Committee.

The proposal also recommends that a referendum on a fee increase to be effective in 1964-65 be submitted to the student body this fall.

Advisors of activity fee accounts will be asked to submit budgets for 1963-64 as soon as possible, with new or expanded programs postponed until 1964-65 whenever possible.

Also included in the proposal was a request for the Daily Egyptian to conduct an educational campaign prior to the referendum so the students will understand the needs and the programs for which they are asked to vote.

$70,640 Grant Awarded To SIU Scientists

A $70,640 grant for a three-year study of animal viruses has been received from the National Institutes of Health by two SIU microbiologists.

This grant will enable Isaac L. Schechmeister and David D. Pittman to conduct radiobiological and genetic investigations on animal viruses.

"The agents to be studied," Schechmeister said, "are meningo-pneumonitis virus, producing neurological and pulmonary damage, and vesicular stomatitis virus, responsible for certain inflammations in the oral cavity."

Specific aims of the project include (1) establishing a number of fundamental radiobiological properties of both viruses and (2) accumulation of mutants of the agents, which will be used for genetic studies.

Play Review:

'Look Homeward, Angel' One Of Best This Season

Spring must affect actors in a very special way for Friday night, Southern Players' production of "Look Homeward Angel," was one of their best of the 1962-63 season.

The play, based on the autobiographical novel of the same name by Thomas Wolfe, is an interesting study of Southern provincial life in the early years of World War I.

The production is headed by an extremely capable cast. Marjorie Lerstrom as Eliza Gant, the domineering and aggressive mother, contributes a moving performance. She is given some of the more tense dramatic moments in the play and has a histrionic field day.

An outstanding performance is given by Kenneth Staaf as the father. His opening drunk scene is played to perfection; there is a tendency to ham it up, but he does not. Staaf brings a fiery intensity to a role that is full of blunt comedy and despairing hysterics.

Gerry Shriver is well cast as Ben Gant. He sounds as if he has a megaphone stuck in his throat but this only makes his caustic comments sound more acrid.

As the younger brother, Eugene, Thomas Stack is adequate. He doesn't seem to get the feel of his role until the second act. He comes into his own in the middle of the third act when he and Miss Lerstrom tear into each other.

Mary Helen Burroughs gives a vigorous and resilient performance as the attractive and uninhibited Madame Elizabeth. Miss Burroughs is a deft comedienne who's easy on the eye and ear.

The rest of the cast is by no means incompetent. They all add solid and lively performances.

Sherwin Abrams has done a smooth job of staging and keeps the large company moving effectively on stage.

The costumes are authentic and set off the period. Darwin Payne has designed some impressive sets.

Lighting effects by Charles Zoekler are stunning and do much to enhance the production.

"Look Homeward Angel" has a double cast for the leads, May 11, 14, 16 and 17 Susan Pennington will appear as Eliza Gant, Gary Stewart as W.O. Gant, Bob Meyer as Ben and Lewis Ameel as Eugene.

Blake-Kelly conferred at SIU with Myrl Alexander, director of the crime study center, University Architect Charles Pulley, and members of the SIU government department before visiting the Marion prison.

Gordon Cooper Set For 22-Orbit Flight Of Earth Today

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. Plain old bad weather on earth, still space man's most unpredictable and uncontrollable enemy, threatens to delay the ambitious try by L. Gordon Cooper Jr. for 22 orbits around the world.

Cloudy weather, with perhaps a 50-50 chance of a breakthrough was the forecast. Everything else was ready for the start of the flight, set today between 8 and 10:30 a.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Cooper, an Air Force major, calm as ever, was ready to climb into his ship at around 5:40 a.m.

Faith 7, in which he is to ride for 34 hours at 17,500 miles an hour, was ready.

Scientists and technicians were ready with their vast and mystifying statistical data.

All around the world 19,000 men were stationed, waiting to fish Cooper from the water should he land in their area, thereby ending what would be by far the most lengthy space flight ever tried by an American.

Ironically, Monday was a beautiful day at the Cape, without a cloud in the sky and with an exhilarating seabreeze.

MOSCOW

The Soviet Union Monday accused five American and five British diplomats of spying and ordered those still in Moscow to leave the country. Four of the Americans named are known to have left Moscow.

A Foreign Ministry note handed to the U.S. and British embassies charged the diplomats were involved in the espionage activities of British businessman Greville Wynne, and Oleg Penkovsky, a Soviet scientific official. Penkovsky was sentenced Saturday to death and Wynne to eight years in prison.

WASHINGTON

The Supreme Court unanimously overturned Monday jail sentences given three Negroes in Louisiana for refusing to move from the "white" section of a courtroom to a section where Negroes were sitting.

The high court's order cited an April 29 decision in a similar case from Richmond, Va.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam

A bloody clash last week between government authorities and an angry mob of Buddhist demonstrators has precipitated a potentially explosive crisis in South Viet Nam.

Buddhist leaders met in Saigon yesterday and President Ngo Dinh Diem's government was trying to calm the situation.

SPRINGFIELD

Gov. Otto Kerner and other elected state officials joined yesterday in recommending that the legislature pass an emergency appropriation for May and June relief -- immediately and without ceilings.

The top-level conference also agreed the Legislature should then proceed to "establish reasonable ceilings" for the two-year public aid budget, beginning July 1.

All-University Student Senate Awaits Official Approval

No major changes in the proposal for establishment of an All-University Senate were made Saturday during the committee meeting for discussion and suggestions regarding the proposal.

According to recommendations, the Student Senate will be established this spring, following approval by the University Council and President Delyte Morris.

Date for a special election to choose the Carbondale Campus' four student representatives to the Senate will be set by the Student Council, but the ad hoc committee working on establishment of the Senate recommended that the election be held the last week of this month.

The election could be held in conjunction with the special election for selecting another out-in-town senator for the Council, the committee said.

The committee and University officials have stated a desire to have the Student Senate members elected this spring so the Senate can be an operational body by this fall and possibly during the summer.

The All-University Senate, composed of four student representatives from the Carbondale Campus and four from Edwardsville, will act as a policy formulating and recommending agent of the total student body of the University. The Senate will act in matters of academic, co-curricular, governmental and social concern as a united voice of the students at large.

While not a part of the existing student governments at either campus, the Senate will operate to improve inter-campus communication and cooperation.

Its two major functions will be to serve as an advisory board to the administration in questions of University policy which directly involve the student body as a whole, and to act as a reviewing board for actions of existing student organizations in areas of policy of the student body.

Plans for the formation of the All-University Student Senate resulted from discussion at the joint retreat of the Carbondale, Alton and East St. Louis student councils this spring. A student-faculty committee representing the three campuses drafted a proposal and presented it for discussion at a second retreat April 26-27.

Following final revision based on suggestions and comments by the student councils and the University Council, the proposal was prepared into its present form.

Candidates for membership to the Student Senate must be full-time students in good standing, maintaining at least a 3.5 overall grade average, and holding no elected office in any other student organization. Representatives will serve for one year.

Advantages offered by the establishment of the Senate, according to the proposal, are as follows:

1. An All-University Student Senate will supply an additional force in the establishment of a unified Southern Illinois University image.
2. It will give all students a voice in broad University policy formation.
3. It will encompass a two-way power. First, as representative of the whole student body, and second, as a reviewing body of proposals of all-University concern by student government bodies.
4. It will create improved communications among the various areas of student government.

Does a man really take unfair advantage of women when he uses Mennen Skin Bracer?

All depends on why he uses it.

Most men simply think Menthol-Iced Skin Bracer is the best after-shave lotion around. Because it cools rather than burns. Because it helps heal shaving nicks and scrapes. Because it helps prevent blemishes.

So who can blame them if Bracer's crisp, long-lasting aroma just happens to affect women so remarkably?

Of course, some men may use Mennen Skin Bracer because of this effect.

Meet Trudy Gidecomb:

Miss Southern Is Pert, Pretty, Shy And Thinks Schweitzer's Quite A Guy

What is a Miss Southern really like? Is she a glamorous beauty queen, a studious intellectual, or a bright sophisticate?

Trudy Gidecomb, who was just named Miss Southern for 1963, had this to say:

"I think Miss Southern is a symbol of the female student. She serves as an ambassador. She should show others what Southern is like. She shouldn't be high and mighty, but do her best. She should show others that Southern is warm and friendly."

Trudy seems to fit her own description. She is a warm and friendly little person who bubbles over when she talks and by her own admission she likes to talk.

"My favorite pastime is talking to people," she said. "I like to get their ideas and I like to share mine with them. But, I can't stand a snob or a phony."

"When I'm on my way to class and feeling depressed it really brightens my day if someone smiles and says hello."

She also is a girl with opinions and one who is not afraid to express them.

"I think anyone can improve by simply evaluating himself and by asking: What am I? What would I like to be? I feel that if a person can coordinate these two they can be their natural self," she said.

Trudy admits that her worst vice is buying clothes. She chooses tailored ones herself, but says that if she had the money she would buy "every dress and every pair of shoes in the world."

"Whenever I have frustrations I go out and buy a new dress," she answered. "This is a little rough on the budget, but it sure takes care of the problems until I get the bills, that is. Then I've got more problems."

But Trudy also has a more serious side and is interested in her future and her position in life.

"I think my goals are reasonable ones. I don't have dreams of being an heiress or a president's wife, I just want to be a little spoke in a big wheel," she said. "I think I can most benefit myself and others in this way. That is also why I want to be a teacher. I want to help, but not be the main one."

"As far as daydreaming goes. Well, I would like to travel. And, if I could be anyone else in the world, and you'll think this sounds silly, I would like to be Albert Schweitzer's wife. Not so I could say I was his wife, but because I think he is such an amazing man."

When the conversation turned to men, Trudy showed that she was really the typical Southern coed. Her expression became a little wistful, but she admitted:

"I don't want some Rock Hudson, but someone who is down to earth. He must be a well-rounded individual, and one who is understanding, courteous, and neat in appearance."

"I'm not going to school for a husband, but I certainly hope to have one someday," she added hastily.

What is a real Miss Southern? She is pert, pretty, modest, but not shy.

"Friends of the Library" at SIU will hold their annual meeting here May 24.

His paper will deal principally with "jazz age" manuscripts, particularly those of F. Scott Fitzgerald.

A reception will be held following Piper's address and the organization's business session, Bushee said. The

A Means To The End

Last In A Series:

What effects will instructional television have on us now, as students, and in the years to come? Are educational goals being distorted in effort to meet the college crisis? Are we receiving a second rate education by accepting instructional television as a part of our academic life? Will we not suffer by substituting a picture tube for student-teacher face-to-face relationships and the classroom situation?

The answers to these questions require careful evaluation and analysis, and, even then, they are likely to cause much controversy, education always being a controversial subject.

Television is too much of an educational asset not to be taken full advantage of or to be discarded as a failure.

At the present instructional television cannot provide the necessary conditions or ideal atmosphere for learning.

While it may effectively serve as a classroom supplement, it is unperceivable how it could replace the face-to-face student-teacher relationship. The challenge instructional television is employing skill in its writing and production, and having a clear and viable policy as to what audience is being served.

Television is a channel for conveying whatever is put into it. Classroom teachers' guidance should be the determinant of its content, presentation, and effective utilization. By serving as a classroom supplement, instructors will have more freedom for productive use of their time and working with individuals.

Distinguished and qualified programs cost money. Increased finances and wages will encourage better prepared instructors in this field. From where do the necessary funds come? It is recommended that financial support for instructional television be provided from both public and private funds at the local, state, and national level. Unless the financial barrier can be penetrated, unless the amount of support can be increased to a substantial degree, the bright promise of instructional television will remain no more than a promise.

We are not in the position to give instructional television the full responsibility of being a means to the end, but we must be realistic. Much money, effort and time has been put forth in the preparation and advancement of instructional television. We would be foolish not to plan the use of this media as an aid to the college crisis. This could be done by making television a part of the total learning experience of students and by weaving it into classroom activities.

Progress Improves Our Product

Last In A Series:

Growing pains have been blamed for many of Southern's problems, and the Advise ment and Sectioning Center has not been found immune to these symptoms.

In the current editorial series, we have discussed the inefficiency of the center in its mechanical workings, the poor facilities and the inefficiency of some facets of the academic advisement program.

Facilitation of sectioning mechanics, suggested improvements of facilities, and a new program of advisement have been our goals.

These goals can be achieved at least in part through the following proposals:

1. Advisors should be notified and closed sections should be posted as soon as they occur, to enable the student to change his program schedule before sectioning.

2. A program of special sectioning should be established for students with work-permits or part time programs, so that parts of sections will not be held in reserve. Students should be given sections on a first-come, first-serve basis, with special considerations pre-arranged for working students.

3. Student sectioning workers should be carefully chosen with only the most efficient workers placed in this responsible job.

4. Advisement and sectioning should be moved to larger quarters. If there is no available space for the center at present, then a new area should be constructed in the immediate future.

5. Academic advisement should be done on a departmental basis to save time and insure the student of adequate and accurate advice.

6. More advisors should be employed to provide better advisement in step with the increasing enrollments.

The Advisement and Sectioning Center is the beginning of better students. Inefficiency in this department may cost the student academic success. We must not overlook this vital area in our program of growth.

Branch Banking -- Again An Issue

Paul Simon

Illinois State Senate

If you are interested in what is happening to small business in the nation, one of the issues which should have your interest is that of branch banking.

Both from Washington and from Springfield proposals for a change in the law to permit banks to establish branches are again in the news.

One of the more interesting publications to cross my desk recently was a 541-page report on "Chain Banking" by Texas Congressman Wright Patman's Committee on Small Business.

In the mist of all the tables of statistics this one fact is clear--it is easier for a bank to make one loan of $1,000,000, for example, than it is to make 100 loans of $10,000 each. This means a somewhat natural tendency for banks to loan to the big, solid business rather than to the small businessman or individual.

Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois is quoted as saying: "I have talked with a great many people in Great Britain and a few in Canada, and their almost unanimous opinion is that the concentration of banking led to a concentration of industry."

This concentration of industry--whether in the banking field or any other--is something that generally should be avoided. It is particularly dangerous in the banking field because banks are the life-blood of small business.

That there is already too much concentration is clear from these striking figures in the report: there are 13,400 commercial banks in the United States--and the 306 largest of these hold over 60 per cent of the deposits!

The 10 largest banks in the country--and this included the two big Chicago banks that are pushing branch banking in Illinois--now have about 22 per cent of the total deposits of the nation.

The report states: "The most serious danger of a branch banking system is the fact that local enterprise may be stifled. The local independent banker is interested in promoting local enterprise. He does not have to clear with a home office located in some remote metropolis. He is interested in bringing employment opportunities to the community. The branch bank however, caters to the large, well-established businesses."

Even in Illinois, with the safeguards we have, it is clear that the two big banks in Chicago could have a powerful voice in the smaller banks if they wanted it--through loans which are on the books.

James C. Downs Jr., chairman of the Bank of Oakbrook (Illinois) is also chairman of the move to get branch banking in the state. According to the congressional report, he has a loan of $100,000 from the First National Bank of Chicago on his stock in the Oakbrook bank. That stock is 3,060 shares and represents 26 per cent of the stock of the Oakbrook bank. If the First National Bank of Chicago would want to have a voice in the affairs of the Oakbrook bank, it might be in a position to have it.

In cases of other banks in Illinois, these two banks have loans on as much as 88 per cent of the stock of a local bank. The number of such loans was shocking to me--and I guess it would be to many people in the state, if they knew about it.

If you want evidence that concentration of banking power is not a good thing, write to Washington and get Congressman Patman's Committee report. It costs $1.50 but it is well worth it.

Admission Policy Should Be Tightened

There are several things I don't understand about this university, and I would like to name a few:

1. The admission policies are unjustly nonrestrictive. At the present, almost anyone can be admitted. It is obvious that the faculty and facilities of this university and many others across the nation are severely strained due to exploding enrollments. When such is the case, why is a nonrestrictive policy still maintained? Besides, not everyone is college material to begin with. It doesn't make sense, sacrificing quality for quantity.

2. It is difficult enough to flunk out of SIU that almost anyone is guaranteed at least a year's residence with a minimum amount of effort and payment of his tuition fees.

3. The registration and advisement system has been very inadequate for some time, and remains so indefinitely.

4. Study conditions in university dorms are generally considered to be deplorable, and as far as I know, aren't getting any better.

5. The Greek organizations, as a whole, are not serving their purpose academically. If they were, their grades would show it. Higher academic achievements should be their common and most important goal. At the present, they don't seem to know what their goals are.

The administration of this university appears to be generally satisfied with these mediocre conditions, for sel-

Book Review:

This Novel Is Sure To Cure Insomnia

Coat Upon A Stick, by Norman Fruchter. New York: Simon and Schuster, 1963.

This reviewer would recommend this book, Coat Upon A Stick, a first novel by Norman Fruchter, only to the insomniac who would be driven into sleep. The novel is built around a day in the life of an old man, an immigrant Jew living on the Lower East Side of New York.

The characters surrounding the old man are attempts by the author to symbolize his feeling and understanding of Jewish life. Unfortunately, they are only easy stereotypes.

Fruchter's ideas are difficult to perceive, for the characters are superficial; dom is anything said against them. If anything is being done about them, the students have the right to hear about it. I don't see how these conditions can be tolerated if the quality of our education is to be constantly improved. If there are good reasons behind them I would certainly like to hear them.

Gerald P. Ripplinger

there is no apparent order in their presentation, and the reasons for their actions are obscure and at times seem totally unrelated. Furthermore, the author delights in describing minutiae and does it so poorly, piling adjective over adjective, that the reader would do well to have a strong coffee or a packet of No-Doz at his side.

The chapters of the book may read sequentially, starting from either the front or the back, alternately from the middle or randomly from the back with the same effect; interest rapidly giving way to boredom.

Trackmen Beat Western Michigan; Woods, Green Set New SIU Records

George Woods set new records in the shot put and Bob Green established a new mark in the 120-yard high hurdles in SIU's 67-60 track victory over Western Michigan Saturday night.

Woods threw the shot 58 feet 3 inches for the records before a crowd of 2,000 fans in McAndrew Stadium. The toss broke his own school record of 57 feet 1 3/4 inches and his stadium record of 54 feet 10 1/2 inches.

Green's winning time of :14.1 seconds tied the school record but cut three tenths seconds off his own stadium record of :14.4.

SIU won the mile relay with a time of 3:17.1. Who ever finished first in the mile relay would have won the meet since the score was 62-60 and the relay is scored five points for the winner and none for the runner-up.

The Salukis mile relay quartet of Ed Houston, Bill Cornell, John Saunders and Jim Stewart beat Western Michigan by 15 yards to take first place in the event and the meet.

Woods and Jim Stewart were the meet's only double winners. Woods took first place in the discus in addition to the shot put. Stewart won the 100 in :9.8 seconds and the 220-yard in :23.1. He also ran in the Salukis winning 440-yard relay composed of Houston, Green and Al Pulliam.

Houston placed third in the 440 and Pulliam finished second in both the 100 and 220 behind teammate Stewart.

GEORGE WOODS

BOB GREEN

Saunders collected a second and third place in addition to running on the winning relay team. He placed second in the 440 and third in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles.

Lloyd Stovall, who will be representing the Salukis in basketball next winter, placed second in the high jump and broad jump.

Alonzo Littlejohn, Western Michigan's outstanding high jumper, failed to compete Saturday because he missed the bus Thursday.

Jack Peters competed for the first time in two weeks and placed second in the half-mile behind Western Michigan's Bill Hammerstein.

The Salukis' next meet is Saturday night at McAndrew Stadium with Notre Dame furnishing the opposition. The field events will start at 6:30 and the running events at seven o'clock.

Baseball Team Plays Evansville

SIU travels to Evansville today for a single game following Saturday's two baseball victories over Arkansas State.

Glenn Martin's SIU Salukis won the first game 3-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Gene Vincent. In the second game John Hotz threw a one-hitter at the Arkansas Indians for a 1-0 win in extra innings.

Jerry Qualls double to left field in the eighth inning scored John Siebel with the winning run. Siebel was enabled to score when the ball

For Kingston Trio

About 600 seats are still available for the Kingston Trio performances in the Carbondale Armory Friday night, according to Gary Kilgus, chairman of the show.

Tickets for both the 7:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. performances are on sale at the Information Desk of the University Center. A few more seats are available for the early show than for the late show, Kilgus said.

Delta Chi Fraternity is sponsoring the show. A spokesman for the fraternity said most of the remaining seats are at the back of auditorium, but are good seats since they are on raised bleachers.

The Armory will seat about 1,850 for each of the two performances, a fraternity member said.

Hotz was in command all the way except in the sixth. Arkansas put runners on second and third with two outs but failed to score when Jim Keller grounded out to end the inning.

Hotz struck out seven and walked four in his second complete game victory of the season.

Vincent struck out 11 Arkansas hitters in the first game. It was his third complete game victory of the season compared with no setbacks.

SIU scored its runs in the second and fifth innings. In the second Dave Leonard singled and advanced to second when the ball bounced past the left fielder.

He went to third when the shortstop fumbled Mike Pratte's grounder. Both Leonard and Pratte scored on Jim Long's line single to right field.

Dave Harris scored the Salukis run. He tripled down the left field line and then scored on Gib Snyder's fielder's choice play.

Ed Walter is expected to start today's game at Evansville. The Salukis are not at home again until May 22 when Evansville calls here for a single game.

SIU-Mizzou Tie In Golf

Led by John Krueger's brilliant 4 under par 68, Southern's golf team played one of its finest matches of the year as they tied the University of Missouri 7 1/2-7 1/2 at Crab Orchard Golf Club Friday afternoon.

Krueger, who shot the lowest round of golf this year for the Salukis, finished the front nine with a hot 32 and then came back in the back nine with another good performance of 36 for his 68 for the day.

The Tigers, who have one of the best teams in its history, is a top contender for the Big Eight Conference title later this month.

Friday's tie brings SIU's season record to a fine 11-4-1 as coach Lynn Holder's squad played its last match of the regular season yesterday against Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind. Results of the match were not available.

Against Mizzou, all five of Southern's entries turned in rounds of 75 or less. Jim Place tied his opponent Rich Powell, as both golfers shot 73's for the 18 holes.

Al Kruse was the only other victor for the Salukis as he beat Gary Strickfaden 75 to 81. Missouri won the two remaining individual matches with Ray Pritchett edging Southern's season leader Bob Payne by two strokes, 73 to 75.

Copper Glass had a comparatively easy time with Jerry Kirby, as the number three Missourian turned in a five two under par 70 as compared to Kirby's 75.

The results of Friday's match:

1-Place, SIU, 38, 35-75; 1 1/2 points (tie).
Powell, Mo., 38, 35-73; 1 1/2 points.

2-Pritchett, Mo., 36, 36-73; 3 points.

Payne, SIU, 38, 37-75.

3-Glass, Mo., 34, 36-70; 3 points.

Kirby, SIU, 38, 37-75.

4-Krueger, SIU, 32, 36-68; 3 points.

Tom Havens, Mo., 34, 37-71.

5-Kruse, SIU, 39, 36-75; 3 points.

Strickfaden, Mo., 41, 40-81.

Egyptian Requests To Be Discussed

Bill Fenwick, president of the SIU Student Body, announced the Journalism Council will meet at 8:45 p.m. Wednesday to continue discussion of the Daily Egyptian's request for activity fee budget allocations.

The Egyptian request and other programs financed wholly or in part by activity fees, have been under discussion by Student Government for several weeks.

The meeting will be held in the East Bank of the River Rooms, University Center.

Wieman Hailed As Great Theologian

Henry N. Wieman, a visiting professor of philosophy, has been hailed as "one of the great teachers of the twentieth century."

The honor is accorded in a book, "The Empirical Theology of Henry Nelson Wieman," just published by the Macmillan Company, New York. It cites him as "possibly the most comprehensive and most distinctively American theologian of our century."

ED OLENEC

Frosh Baseball Winds Up Today

John Lain and Ed Olenec are expected to be the starting pitchers for SIU's freshman Salukis when they wind up their season against Belleville Junior College at 1 p.m. this afternoon on the Chautauqua field.

The Saluki yearlings sport only a 1-3 record but are optimistic about ending the season with a .500 record.

Belleville beat the Salukies twice earlier in the season, Dave Tosh and Bob Hardcastle, freshman coaches, have been busy preparing the team for this afternoon's twin-bill.

Both Olenec and Lain will be searching for their first win of the season.

Spring Drills End:

Piccone To Use Spread-Offense Against Opponents Next Fall

A two-hour, hard-hitting scrimmage marked the close of spring drills for Southern's football team Saturday afternoon at Carbondale's Bleyer Field.

Playing under a 80 degree sun, coach Carmen Piccone's squad hit hard and fast as if they were going to meet Louisville next Saturday. Actually it was only a controlled scrimmage, but the entire squad went all out in preparing for next September's opener with the Cardinals.

The new, wide-open offense was in full effect with quarterbacks Jim Hart, Doug Mougey and Norm Meyers throwing long aeriels to flanker backs and split ends on the receiving end.

Hart, only a freshman, was most impressive as he threw 15 and 80-yard touchdown passes to Tom Massey and Harry Bobbitt. Massey, a newcomer from Runyon, N.J., showed a good pair of hands as he pulled in passes all day.

Bobbitt, who was used as a defensive back last year, seems to be a natural at the flanker back position, as he got behind his defenders to haul in the 80-yard bomb from Hart. Bobbitt, a junior, teamed up with Hart on another similar pass pattern and a 40-yard pass but tripped on his way to his second score of the afternoon.

Kenny Love, a sophomore plunged over from the three-yard line to give the number two team (gold team) a score. Playing a linebacker spot for the Red team (number one), Gene Miller, intercepted a Mougey aerial and scooted 27-yards for the touchdown.

In the longest run of the day, halfback Percy Manning, a transfer from a Mississippi junior college, was sprung loose on a beautiful block from Paul Della Vecchia, and spun his way for a 35-yard touchdown.

In summing up the month long drills of his squad Piccone said he was "well pleased with our spring practice drills."
