Accidents Hospitalize Five Students

Five SIU students were injured in two accidents Wednesday night and early Thursday in the Carbondale area.

Patrick Deren, 19, of 501 South Grand was reported in satisfactory condition at Doctors Hospital Thursday night after being struck by an auto on South Wall Street. Deren, a pedestrian, was struck by a hit and run driver at 1:30 a.m. Thursday, a hospital spokesman said.

Four students were injured in a two-car accident at 11:20 p.m. Wednesday night two miles east of Murphysboro on Route 13, according to Illinois State Police at Du Quoin.

Donald Brockhart, 21, of Route Two, Carbondale, and Jerry Dawe, 24, of 710 W. College, were both taken to St. Joseph Memorial Hospital in Murphysboro where they were reported in satisfactory condition.

Passengers in the two cars were taken to the SIU Health service where Martin Schwartz, 23, of 511 S. S, Hays was reported to have a fractured leg. A passenger in the other auto, James Benestaife, 21, of Chicago, was treated at the Health Service.

Business, Music Heads Named

EDWARDSVILLE A new dean for the School of Business and a new chairman for the Department of Music were among SIU personnel changes approved Thursday by the Board of Trustees. Both will start in 1967.

Robert W. House, a native of Bethalto, was named as SIU in September, 1967, to succeed as professor and chairman of the Department of Music. House, 45, now heads the Department of Music at the University of Minnesota.

In other business the board made application under Title 1 of the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963 for federal funds to assist in completing the interior of four floors of Morris Library.

University trustees approved a change in name for the Department of Speech Communication.

Henceforth it will be known as the Department of Speech Pathology and Audiology.

Other appointments approved include Evert Johnson, former museum director at Highland Park Institute, to be curator of University Galleries, and Roy E. Taylor, a native of Mount City, to be dispensary officer.

Graduate Student Enrollment Rises

EDWARDSVILLE - Forecasts of a change in enrollment pressures during the next two years resulted from a survey of graduate students, the SIU Board of Trustees Thursday approved a $97,952 operations budget request to Springfield.

The total, $106,286,652 to come from Illinois general revenue and $3,245,300 from University fees and miscellaneous income, is 36 per cent higher than the $80,555,893 allocated by the legislature for the biennium now drawing to a close.

In presenting the budget to the university board for its approval, transmittal of the Illinois State Board of Higher Education and eventually to the governor and the new legislature, President Delcyte W. Morris, commented upon the changing pattern of enrollments. "While undergraduate enrollment have increased in the two-year period from 1964 to 1966, graduate enrollment increased 45 per cent, nearly twice the undergraduate. Now that graduate and undergraduate students more than doubled during this time from 238 in the fall of 1964 to 520 in the fall of 1966, it is the uncertain in the current fall term enrollment and one year ago are even more striking. Undergraduate enrollment increased only 2.4 per cent. Grad student enrollment jumped 22 per cent in the single year. "These figures underscore the University's rapid transition from a comprehensive and upper-level graduate school to a comprehensive graduate and upper-level undergraduate institution, in full compliance with the recommendations of the 1964-65 Undergraduate Plan for Higher Education, which Morris said. "Enrollment predictions for 1968 indicate 11.3 per cent (Continued on Page 7)
Building Plans Include Parking

EDWARDSVILLE - A proposed parking garage for a $4.43 million General Office and Services Building Thursday at the meeting of the Board of Trustees. The figure covers the capital project cost, including fees, furnishing, and site work. The most striking feature of the plan could be heralded as a new approach to the problem of parking for the school. The underground parking garage would provide for a traffic-separating glass structure building also below grade.

Almost all vehicle circulation from Summer Musical Theatre would be broad plaza and sidewalks surrounding the building itself and linking it to the "classic part of the University," with Old Main at its center.

The building plan which funds are included in SIU's current construction budget, would be located on the north edge of what is now McAndrew Stadium. It would form a new, along the recanled roadway, but would have pedestrian entrances on both the north and south sides. The main entrance features of the two-story, rectangular structure would be broad expanses of glass and a stage.

Parents Day

Parents Day 1966 opens today with a "Musical Highlights" show at 8 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium.

Parents Day festivities will continue Saturday with a series of receptions, open houses, a football game in the afternoon and a Parents Day dance at night.

This year's Parents of the Day will be honored today and Saturday.

Musical acts will comprise the "Highlights" show. The Angellettes, "the angel wing of Angel Flight," will sing "You'll Never Walk Alone." "Let There Be Peace on Earth," "One Hand, One Heart" and "Lee". The Angellettes will dance to "Homey" and "Mariner Hull".

Susie Webb and Bob Guy from Sumner Musical Theater will sing such Broadway musicals as "The Hather on the Hill" and "Almost Like Being in Love." The Women's Ensemble will contribute "On the Wings of Song" and "Eye, Bye Blues."

Selections to be presented by the Male Glee Club are "Jeel, Joy of Man's Desires," "Song of Praise," "Moon River" and "Back to Donegal."

Jazz Unlimited Society will weave its own brand of musical magic. Participating members of the society are Stan Musial, Greg Wescott, Jan Douglas, Renard Thomas, Thad Miller, Ford Gibson, Keith Pinkston and Tom Hall. Admission to the show is free.

The architects, C.P. Murphey Associates of Chicago, said the concept of creating horizontal and vertical zones separating auto and pedestrian circulation is necessary for most effective utilization of the "prime expansion area" of that part of the campus.

The building's main floor, including a lobby and perimeter offices, would provide the "main public access and information center of the entire campus," the architects said.

Four main University units are scheduled to be housed in the new building: business affairs, academic affairs, student affairs and the central administration, including president's and vice presidents' offices.

Athletics Secrecy Hurting University

The most puzzling aspect of the current study being conducted by the University to evaluate the future of athletics at Southern is the air of secrecy surrounding the whole issue.

Information concerning the going-on of the two committees conducting the study has been suppressed by the University since the naming of the members of these two study groups.

Considering the status of University athletics at present, these men will either have to produce a decision in favor of going big time or one that would keep SIU at a small-college level.

The latter would involve almost a de-emphasis. Southern has been treading the line between major and small college for some time. SIU has one of the most well-balanced athletic programs anywhere on any level right now. All that is lacking is the decision to put 100 percent of the effort into the form of scholarships and facilities into the present program.

If SIU has one of the top baseball teams in the country, baseball, tennis and character benefits not only Scholarships, not 15 or 20 Scholarships, not any at any one level in bowling last year was one foot for a hundred million dollars. This 100 percent profit was realized of several hundred thousand dollars from the program, as Athletic Director Stu Holcomb told Chicago's American.

Notre Dame virtually built its new library with athletic revenue. This is not uncommon at other schools throughout the country.

Certainly any program incorporated in a university is worth building up as much as possible, to borrow an idea from Leo Jenkins, president of East Carolina College.

Anyone who has ever played football or any other sport on an organized team of any kind can attest to the physical and character benefits present in these sports.

And it does take a participant to tell you that a good athletic program is the nucleus for school spirit, pride and social activity.

With the present national emphasis on physical as well as mental conditioning, it seems only fitting that the men deemed capable of making the decision examine carefully all the evidence and vote in favor of officially placing our University's athletic teams on the level they have been performing at, in ability if not title, by granting those scholarship and facilities.

Southern is not ready in terms of ability already exhibited to go big time, who is?

The OLD BALLOONIST

Tom Wood

To the editor:

One would expect any institution of higher learning to deal fairly and in good faith with its students. Our institution, SIU, has not done so in regard to the housing regulations, now the center of controversy on this campus.

This writer accepts the fact that attending SIU is a privilege, but it has been the free choice of every student here to select this institution. When an individual decides to attend a particular school, he puts his trust in the integrity of his teachers and administration. We are much the same as a parent does with his lawyer, clergyman, or doctor.

But the university, in return for this confidence, owes the student responsibility and integrity in all its dealings. This, in fact, is the right of every student. In legal terms this confidence is called a fiduciary relationship. The Illinois case of Neagle vs. McMullen, states, "(i) a fiduciary relationship exists where confidence is reposed on the one side and resulting superiority and influence are found on the other side."

The 1947 President's Commission on Higher Education declared, "Democracy must be lived to be understood... Young people cannot be expected to develop a firm allegiance to the democratic faith they are taught in the classroom if their campus life is carried on in an authoritarian atmosphere."

Is it a democratic atmosphere where a school explains its power to regulate students' decisions as to housing, by falling back on the "locus parentis" theory even though the students' real parents have consented to their son's or daughter's decision? Is it a democratic atmosphere where the loco parentis theory is the excuse for ordering a student to live in a certain place when the student happens to be recognized by the law of the United States as a free and mature citizen eligible to vote? If it is quite possible that "loco parentis" would be a successful defense for the university's housing regulations if a test case would be brought before a court of law.

Let us hope that a test case need never arise. Let us hope that the Board of Trustees and administration will have the courage and wisdom to correct the present unfortunate situation which their past action has created.

Sex Course Proposed

To the editor:

A look into the unique, inward quality of objects or events in nature or in human experience... this is the meaning assigned to the word "Inscapce."

Last Sunday evening, "Inscapce," the new ACTIVITY PROGRAMMING Board series made its premiere. The Guest, George K. Carpenter, informed and delighted a group of about 85 students.

He opened the discussion to address the question of whether SIU students enrolled in Home Economics courses would benefit from the course in sex education.

One solution to this paradox, according to Carpenter, is the implementation of this course in the "General Studies" program.

Carpenter stressed two points. First, people need to speak more openly about sex. Questions fired at Carpenter demonstrated a greater openness, Second, sex education needs...
Planners Say 10 Years to All-New Look

SIU's Temporary Buildings on Way Out

By Holim Kim

"It's going to take about 10 years for SIU to complete its new temporary buildings," the euphemism for the unsightly barracks dotting the campus.

"If it's "realistic" one, was made by John S. Rendleman, vice president for business affairs.

This despite the fact that many new buildings are going up and many more will replace the barracks, an anomaly amidst modernity and a source of embarrassment to many a student guiding out-of-town visitors.

"It's like a rubber ball," Rendleman said in an analogy, "You squeeze it and let it go a little bit, and it expands again."

With the completion of the Communications Building, the technology complex and several more near occupancy, the University has been relieved of immediate pressure. There is no classroom shortage, and there won't be until next year.

"If we're able to make available additional office space—either by purchase or rent—we should be able to make two more years," Rendleman said.

He was referring to purchase or rental of private homes on the fringes of the campus. In the meantime many of the barracks will be torn down very shortly.

"Within the next two months you'll see a major demolition of barracks on the campus," the planner said. "We are going to clear the loop between the Loop Road and Wham and Classroom Buildings to make way for the Life Science addition.

There are two major tasks facing the University, one more long-range than the other. Construction of a Humanities and Social Sciences Building, a permanent home for many wandering bands of faculty, is the more immediate of the two. The $7.5 million project, approved unanimitously by the State Board of Higher Education, is pending approval before the next session of the state legislature.

The other is the young graduate program, which Rendleman characterized as the University's "core for the future." Revised are space and facilities, especially for the sciences, which are a virgin land for SIU.

"If we get that pressure will be relieved and within the next three years we'll be in good shape," Rendleman said.

If this official is optimistic, other administrators directly affected by the space shortage are pessimistic. They tend to two or three more years than the announced target dates.

As a brief conversation with the University administration all indicate, the target dates are without regard to the many imponderables—strikes, weather, lockouts, material scarcity, etc.

For example, the technology complex was delayed for 2 1/2 months because of a strike at a materials plant in Virginia. Floods in the Ohio River have hampered cement mixing—SIU gets sand and gravel from the river—for two summers.

Availability of funds is one of the imponderable factors. But shortage of construction workers is a real problem, according to Willard Han, architect for the Carbondale campus. Lack of workers in such trades as electricians, cement mixers, brick layers and plasterers has held up work at various stages.

On His Master Plan simply shows how things should be grouped," the architect said. "We know where to put the (buildings) but not when and in what order."

Some of the points of interest to students are:

MONORAIL—The planners gave it some thought but decided against it. Bus and other modes of transportation are being considered.

STADIUM—The architect's office has stopped planning for it. Its location has been picked (west of the campus, near the baseball diamond) but the planners won't know what size it would take until the Athletics Commission decides on the future of football at SIU.

PARKING LOTS—More than a dozen lots are on the plan at various locations around the campus. No multistory parking garage is under consideration.

RECREATION AREA—A gym, four times as large as the Arena, will be constructed "in the very near future" south of the Campus Lake.

On buildings either under construction, being occupied, or near occupancy. — BRUSH TOWERS—Two 17-story dorms identical with Neely Hall in University Park will be ready by winter, 1967.

TECHNOLOGY COMPLEX—"A" wing will be partially ready by mid-November. Rest of the wing (for the Department of Mathematics) will be occupied in January. "B" wing won't be ready before spring. "D" wing has been occupied. "C" wing has not been built because of lack of funds; it is not included in the budget for the next two years.

PHYSICAL SCIENCE BUILDING — The main structure now under construction will not be ready before next fall. Structures I and II, for laboratory facilities, will follow; bids for them will be let in March for occupancy in spring or early summer.

GENERAL CLASSROOM BUILDING — The structure north of Lawson Hall will be ready for occupancy by January. Furniture is being put in now.

COMMUNICATIONS BUILDING—Partially occupied, its addition is hoped to be ready in 2 1/2 to 3 years. No fund is available at the present time.

Others planned to be built.

FAMILY HOUSING—Apartments for married students, like those at Southern Illinois, are to be built south of Thompson Point. Drawings for 304 units are ready. Financing has not been settled.

"If we start soon enough, we'll be able to move in a year," according to HAAG.

GENERAL SERVICES AND OFFICE BUILDING—Bids will go out in April or May. It will take about two years to complete.

LIFE SCIENCE ADDITION—Bidding will take place in late spring; construction will start in 1968. The "complicated" construction plan calls for about three years.

Balanced Journalism—Keeping President Happy

Honest, Decent Paper Would Have All Good News

By Arthur Hoppe

(San Francisco Chronicle)

"What this country needs is one honest, decent, courageous newspaper," said the Kindly Old Philosopher, "that'll keep the President happy.

"I said I took it he was referring to Mr. John- son, Mr. Kennedy's 'garden variety' doesn't always publish what he thinks they should publish," said the Kindly Old Philosopher, shaking his kindly old head. "Course, the problem is he's been in power for three years," he added, "and he has a grave problem.

"I don't know that the Kindly Old Philosopher was a newspaper publisher," "I just entered the field, son," he said, "to do some work."

My first edition's hot off the presses. Have a copy.

I said I liked the simple, pithy name, "Good News." But I did question the accuracy of the headlines: "EVERYBODY LOVES LBJ!"

"We don't cut and run from that, Now here's an interview with an average, typical man on the street in Vietnam who says what a great war we got going out there."

George Washington is a man on the street. "We caught him leaving the Officers' Club, And here's a warm human interest story about a Mom in Detroit who says how proud and happy she is to have her son being shot at over there. You can always count on some Mom somewhere."

How about domestic issues, like the state of economics? We fearlessly cover that, too. Here's a hard-hitting interview with an experienced authority on unemployment who says tight money, high interest rates and credit controls don't worry him at all. ‘Now,’ he says, "as long as that there welfare check keeps comin' in.

But did Good News contain nothing but good news?

"Nostireehow," he said indignantly. "What kind of balanced journalism would that be? Here's a whole page devoted to bad things that happened to folks, See, here's a sad story about Bobby Kennedy and one on Ted and one on De Gaulle and..."

Well, frankly, I said, It was a terrible newspaper, it would never sell and I couldn't see what he hoped to gain by putting out such distorted, biased, misleading news.

"Shake hands," said the Kindly Old Philosopher, extending his kindly old palm, "with the next White House press secretary."
Clairvoyant Speaker Predicts 1968 Race

By Randy Clark

A prediction that the next president will be a Republican was one of the more astounding statements made by Thursday's Convocation speaker, Russ Burgess.

Lyndon B. Johnson will head the Democratic ticket and Gov. George Romney or Richard M. Nixon will head the Republican line, Burgess said.

Burgess spoke of parapsychology, but has been referred to as a mentalist, spiritualist and extra-sensory perceiving.

He asked his audiences to prepare questions on a card and then blindfolding himself, identified the questioner's instinct, their name, their question and the answer almost without error.

Grad Student Causes Rise In New Budget

increase over the fall, 1966, figures, forecasting 3,426 students at the Edwardsville campus and 20,216 at the Carbondale campus. Because of relief provided by the expanding community colleges of the state, SIU expects a smaller freshmen class in 1968 than the present 10,043.

Looming large in the budget request are items for expanding faculty and student research ($919,685); educational innovation including reorienting the University’s laboratory school ($595,635); expansion and modification of the Vocational-Technical Institute ($1,257,968), and facilities for producing color television at the University’s educational TV studios and construction of an FM radio station at the Edwardsville campus ($923,301).

Morris said color television production is needed to enhance the effectiveness of instructional programs for the public schools, community colleges and closed-circuit TV for University classes.

Other increased costs estimated for the 1967-68 biennium, include:

- Retirement system contributions, up $867,500; salary adjustments, up $6,961,003; increased enrollments, up $8,014,150; operating costs of new buildings, $704,043, and price increased on essential supplies and services, $937,238.

The budget also contains provision for supplying matching funds where needed to secure federal grants, computer modernization, rentals of buildings, and equipment for a doctoral program in molecular science.

TO CONFER—J. Murray Lee, chairman of the Department of Elementary Education, will attend a Project Talent Dissemination Conference Tuesday, and Wednesday in San Francisco. He was invited as chairman of the Illinois State Advisory Committee on Gifted Children.

One session of the conference will discuss methods of in-service education and teacher training for the gifted in Illinois. Lee has served on the state committee since 1959.

Germans Nominate Erhard's Successor

BONN, Germany (AP)—Kurt Georg Kiesinger, with strong backing from a Catholic faction, was chosen by the dominant Christian Democratic party Thursday to try to form a new majority government.

If he succeeds, West Germany's foreign policy is expected to swing closer to President Charles de Gaulle's French than has been the case under pro-American Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

Erhard, 69, remains head of a minority caretaker government. His future after his expected resignation is unclear.

Kiesinger, 62, minister-president of the state of Baden-Wuerttemberg, was selected on the third ballot at a caucus of the party's Bundestag delegation. Erhard and West Germany's first chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, 90, attended.

Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder, 56, who has steered West Germany on a pro-American course, was runner-up. Kiesinger's running mate was 137 for Kiesinger, 81 for Schroeder and 26 for Rainer Barzel, 42, the party's parliamentary leader. Walter Haider, 65, head of the executive commission of the European Common Market, dropped out after the second ballot.

Although Kiesinger had gone into the voting as the front runner, the decisiveness of his victory came as a surprise, since he has come under wide criticism for his services under the Nazis during World War II.

After his selection, Kiesinger told a crowded news conference he would seek negotiations with the two other parties in the Bundestag in an effort to form a new coalition.

He declined to outline his political program at this time.

The Christian Democrats have the largest delegation in the Bundestag, but their 245 votes are four short of a majority. The Socialists are second with 202 and the Free Democrats, allied with Erhard until Oct. 27, have 49 pivotal votes.

The possibility remained that the Socialists and the Free Democrats might try to put together a coalition with their six-vote majority.

Fuel was added to this speculation by disclosure that Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, Socialist chairman, met with Erich Mende, chairman of the Free Democrats and until two weeks ago Erhard's deputy chancellor.

Fare Increase Talks Delayed

SPRINGFIELD, (AP) — The Illinois Commerce Commission Thursday suspended proposed 10 per cent increases in intra-state passenger fares by four railroads operating in Illinois. The commission set Nov. 28 as the first hearing date on the proposals.

The railroads, which had proposed to place the increases in effect Nov. 21, are the Illinois Central, Gulf Mobile and Ohio, Norfolk and Western and Chicago and Eastern Illinois.

Similar increases for interstate fares already have been approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

LBJ Says GOP Gains Will Affect Legislation

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson said Thursday Republican gains in Congress will make it more difficult for him to get new legislation enacted next year, but he said he expects no change "in our course of action on security matters."

Johnson, holding a news conference on the sun-drenched lawn near his ranch here, said he had looked for a maximum of one seat gain in the Senate compared with the three picked up by Republicans.

And he conceded that the GOP captured five to ten more House seats than administration experts had anticipated.

"I think it will be more difficult for me to get new legislation we might propose," Johnson replied when asked to assess the impact of the Republican gains.

Johnson later said, however, that "I don't believe it will change in any way our course of action on security matters."

He added he has had "good cooperation from Republicans on legislation affecting the war in Viet Nam and national defense generally."

In his first personal comment on the outcome of Tuesday's balloting, Johnson said there was no doubt the Republican party had been strengthened. He went on: "We're all glad to see a healthy and competent existence of the two-party system."

Johnson met with newsmen after conferring for several hours with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

McNamara, holding his own news conference at the ranch, said he and Johnson discussed the possible development and deployment of Nike antiballistic missiles to match Soviet deployment of antimissile systems in the Soviet Union. McNamara said no final decision was made but he emphasized that "the only safe assumption" Pentagon planners can make is that the Soviets already have such a system — as they claim — and that it is effective.

Nautilus Damaged

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Navy said Thursday the nuclear-powered submarine Nautilus collided with the aircraft carriers Midway and USS Enterprise while submerged in the Atlantic Ocean some 360 miles east of Morehead City, N.C.

Naval authorities said the accident occurred as the Nautilus — world's first nuclear-powered submarine—was making an approach during a replenishing mission.

Damage to the submarine's structure of the submarine was described by the Navy as "extensive."

There were no immediate reports of casualties.

All's Well So Far For Gemini Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Gemini 12, America’s final man-in-space adventure of 1966, sailed smoothly toward blastoff time today after technicians finally whipped rocket troubles that kept the pilots grounded two days.

Mission officials checked rockets, men and weather, then gave the all-clear for the fiery start of the four-day journey through 1,600,000 miles of uncharted space.

Navy Capt. James A. Lovell, Jr., and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin, Jr., spent much of the day poring over their complex flight plan.

Harmon highlights

This will be the final weekend of "bo-hum" games for top-ranked Notre Dame and its 2nd place "raining man" Michigan State. Next week, all the chips for the 1966 season will be on the line as the two powers tangle in the college game of the year. In the meantime, the Irish will club the Devils of Duke by 37 points, and the Spartans will whip Indiana by 31.

Alabama, still in the number three position, will rack up its 8th straight win, beating South Carolina by 55-0.

Arkansas, number 4, still smiling from its upset loss to Baylor five weeks ago, will knock 12th-ranked S.M.U. off the pinnacle of the Southwest Conference. In winning by six points, the Razorbacks will pull themselves even with the Mustangs in the title race. And climbing up that ever-lovin' national ladder with one huge leap is a big Georgia Bulldog, now in 5th place. For Georgia and for 6th-ranked Georgia Tech, things won't get any easier. The Bulldogs should tumble Auburn by fourteen points, and the Yellow Jackets are favored to stay undefeated, winning over Penn State by two touchdowns.

A big power clash takes place in Knoxville where 7th-ranked Tennessee meets 13th-ranked Mississippi, a team that has been gradually creeping up the ladder. However, the rise of the Rebel may cease after Saturday as they're a one-point underdog to the Volunteers.

And ninth-ranked U.C.L.A., looking at both its conference title and the Rose Bowl through rather cloudy glasses at the moment, will settle the Stanford Indians by 14 points. Nebraska, number 10, will bounce Oklahoma State by two touchdowns, and Purdue, in 11th, will settle the Big Ten side of the Rose Bowl question for 1966, eliminating Minnesota by 15 points.

Houston, ranked 15th, is favored to clip Kentucky by six points.

Finally, 19th-ranked Washington is 10 points too strong for Oregon State, and Oklahoma, number 20, will dump Missouri by ten.

Women Gymnasts Begin Fourth Season

by Tom Wood

Coach Herb Vogel is preparing Somers' women's gymnastic team for its fourth season of competition. The team will kick off the 1967 season Nov. 18, with the John F. Kennedy Memorial Meet in the Arena.

The Memorial Meet was dedicated to President Kennedy in 1964. In 1966, the women's team was the first meet in their opening season was scheduled against the University of Illinois on the day Kennedy was assassinated. The meet was one of the few athletic events in the country which went on as scheduled.

Vogel's team defeated Illinois that night and has rolled up a record of 28 victories against no losses in its three years of competition. They captured the national championship last year and have achieved such distinctions as 11 All-America selections, national team titles and world individual champions.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy was invited to attend the first meet, but declined because of previous commitments.

In the meantime, Vogel received the invitation to Mrs. Kennedy, said, "Thank you for your initial invitation...I am most appreciative of your thoughtful gesture, as well as being deeply touched by your wish to perpetuate the memory of President Kennedy. I will be unable to be present at the memorial ceremony due to my schedule for November being particularly full of engagements."

"I am grateful to you for remembering me and hope you will know that the ceremony will be most successful one."

Mrs. Kennedy was to have presented individual awards to team members. Among these awards will be the selection of team captains and the award for athletic achievement.

Previous recipients of the award are Gail Daley, Dale Williams and Judy Williams. Previous team captains are Donna Schaefer in 1963 and 1964 and Michelle Schaefer and Irene Haworth in 1965.

The meet will feature a memorial service to Kennedy, synchronized versus junior-senior team competition, competitive tumbling and several other features aimed at establishing a totally new concept in women's gymnastics. The girls who will participate in this competition have been synchronized and all-skill team competition in the years prior to this season.

There will be no admission charge and admission will be on a first come, first serve basis. All spectators will be admitted.

The meet will start at 8 p.m. and is expected to last approximately one and one-half hours.

Cardinals Place Hart on Active Roster

JIM HART

the Cardinals win the NFL Eastern Division Title and play for the league championship. The Cards are leading their division with a 7-1-1 record.

The sixth appearance could also happen if the Cards take second in the division and go to the Playoff Bowl.

In an afternoon interview Thursday Head Coach Charles Winner had said it was undecided about activating Hart. He said no decision had been made and he didn't know when one would be made.

"We're not going to let Hart or pick up someone released from another club, George Lio, for example, is a fellow who is now free to be picked up," he continued.

"We've also got Jim Bakken on the squad, who played quarterback in college. Johnny Roland can throw the ball and we could move into a shotgun offense with him in there.

Bakken is the valuable place kicker for the Cards, but Winner indicated that would not take him out of the picture. Roland, the rookie halfback from Missouri making a bid for rookie of the year honors, has tossed a couple of completions this season.

Speaking of Hart, Winner cited inexperience as the basic factor which would hurt his chances.

"Jim has a good, strong arm and can throw the ball quickly," Winner said. "He has made a lot of improvement since the beginning of the season and he could have a bright future. Still, we haven't had the chance to let him see any action in real play."

In discussing Johnson and Nofsinger, Winner believes that they both operate much the same.

"Nofsinger is a good, intelligent quarterback," says the coach. "He is a bit taller than Johnson, which may help him some, but he lacks the years of experience. Both throw much the same type of ball."

Johnson was often criticized this year for poor passing performances, but Winner doesn't buy the criticism.

"Charlie has had a lot of passes drop which should have been completed," he says. "Last Sunday, for example, there were at least four passes dropped which should have been caught.

Winner also had something to say to those who maintain that the team has a schedule factor in its favor for the remaining games.

"In this league, anyone can beat you. The scheduling factor simply doesn't exist to me. Right now we've got our hands full thinking of Pittsburgh next Sunday. We still have to take them one at a time."

The first-year coach likes to think that he has both a complete offense and defense, although the latter has been getting the bulk of favorable publicity.

Presenting The Drinking Song for Sprite:

"ROAR, SOFT-DRINK, ROAR!"

(To the tune of "Barbara Fritchie")

Traditionally, a lusty, rousing fight song is the right way for every worthy cause and institution. But we write a song for Sprite anyway. We'd like you to sing it while drinking Sprite, though this may cause some choking and coughing. So what? It's all in good, clean fun. And speaking of good, clean things, what about the taste of Sprite? It's good. It's clean. However, good clean things may not exactly be your idea of jollies. In that case, remember that Sprite is also very refreshing. "Tart and tangling," in fact. And very collegial and maybe we'd better quit while we're ahead. So here it is: The Drinking Song for Sprite. And if you can get a group together to sing it, we'd be very surprised.

Roar, soft drink, roar!

You're the fastest soft drink we ever saw!

In fact, you're tangling, they couldn't keep you quiet.

The perfect drink for you, to sit and think by.

Or to bring instant refreshment to any occasion! Soothe-Ooohh — Roar, soft drink, roar!

Float your cap, hiss and bubble, fizz and gush.

Or we can't think of any drink that you would rather sit with!

Or if we feel like loitering to hang out in the street with.

Or sleep through English lit! with!

Roar, soft drink, Roar!

'ROAR, SOFT-DRINK, ROAR!'
