$30 fee wins student support

BULLETIN

Students voted Wednesday to maintain the $30 athletics fee at its present level by an almost 2-to-1 margin of 4,801 to 2,538 in the advisory referendum. A total of 7,392 students turned out to vote, but the computer used to tally the results did not read 53 of the votes because of technical problems. The results were reported about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Staff Writer

Students turned out in record numbers for Wednesday's athletics fee advisory referendum as more than 7,000 ballots were cast.

The turnout surpassed the total of 4,200 students who voted in last April's Undergraduate Student Organization elections.

The referendum asked students to vote on whether to retain the $30 athletics fee, or reduce it to its former level of $20. The results of the referendum are not binding on the administration, but President Albert Somit has said that student opinion will play a significant role in his decision concerning the future of the athletics program.

"It's a tremendous turnout, and I feel it indicates that students, when given the opportunity, will definitely voice their input in the decision-making process," Rogers said. "It's probably the biggest indicator that students are concerned and responsive, especially when it comes to their fees," he said. "It also dispels some of the myths that students are apathetic. They do care, if they are given the chance to voice their opinions."

Rogers said that with the record turnout "the administration will have to listen to the student referendum."

Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs, Wednesday afternoon said, "I keep hearing from people we may have a record turnout, and I feel very good about that."

If the $30 fee is retained, Swinburne said, "It will give us a base for the future of the program and for our fund-raising drive in the community because we'll be able to say that we have student support. I think this can be a very positive thing all the way around."

Out of 12 students interviewed at various polling places, seven said that they had voted for the $30 fee, and five said that they voted for the $20 fee.

"I voted to return the fee to $20 because I have to be more conservative with my money," said Steve Hartsock, a senior in photo-journalism. "I would rather spend the $10 myself, than have the University spend it for me."

Kim Basso, a freshman in radio-television, said, "I voted to stick with the $30 fee. I think sports are too much a part of college life to give it up for $10, especially since we're already paying it."

Rick Dorsett, a senior in marine archaeology, said, "I don't believe in the $30 fee. If the money was disbursed evenly instead of the football program getting most of it, it would be different."

Student Center Board suggests $8 fee increase to meet deficit

By Mike Anthony
Staff Writer

The Student Center Board has voted to recommend an $8 increase in the Student Center fee, Steve Alvin, board chairman, said Wednesday.

The board voted 9-1 Tuesday to recommend the increase on the basis of a 12-member committee's report. The committee was chaired by Harvey Ideus, director of Career Planning and Placement.

The fee was last increased in 1976, when it was raised to $29 from $20. In 1979, the fee was reduced to the current $24.

The increase was recommended, Alvin said, because the committee thought there were only two options to make up an expected deficit in the Student Center budget—either increase the fee or reduce services.

"It was the feeling of the committee that it would be more agreeable at this time to increase the fee rather than reduce services," Alvin said, "and we felt that students would get more out of paying the money rather than reducing services."

"The $8 figure was chosen," Alvin said, "because it will allow the Student Center a break-even budget through fiscal year 1984."

He said the committee felt it would be "unwise to go for a smaller increase" to head off requesting an additional increase next year.

"The fee will be used to help replace carpeting and for work on the bowling alley," Alvin said, "and without the increase, the reserve fund would be depleted."

Machinery in the bowling alley is "slowly reaching obsolescence and the carpeting is very rapidly reaching the point where it will have to be replaced," Alvin said.

The recommendation for the increase now goes to John Corker, director of the Student Center, who will seek opinions from both the Undergraduate Student Organization and the Graduate Student Council.

Alvin said that Corker will take the recommendation before the Board of Trustees in December. If the increase is passed by the board, it will go into effect in the summer of 1982, he said.

Reagan still working on Senate

House rejects AWACS sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House overwhelmingly rejected Wednesday the proposed sale of AWACS radar planes to Saudi Arabia, but President Reagan, lobbying to save the sale, apparently converted two Senate opponents and a Senate leader who had been uncommitted.

"Well that was expected," the president said of the 301-111 House vote. "We knew that. But it takes both houses to say no." Reagan referred to the fact that the sale goes through unless the Senate also votes to block it in a vote scheduled week after next.

The Senate vote had been scheduled for next week but Tom Gracson, an aide to Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker, said Senate leaders agreed to put it off.

Leaving a ceremony in the Rose Garden, the president said, "I have to go back to work and what I have to go back to work on is AWACS."

Asked if he would win in the Senate, where the administration has been concentrating its efforts, Reagan gave his now-standard reply: "I'm cautiously optimistic."

The latest Associated Press count shows 55 senators committed or leaning against the sale and 33 committed or leaning in favor of it, including the two who switched Wednesday after meeting with Reagan.

Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker says he confident that by the time the Senate votes there will be no more than 45 votes against the sale.

House opponents called the record $8.5 billion arms sale, which includes several other items in addition to the radar planes, a threat to Israel and to the AWACS technology itself if the Saudi royal family is overthrown.

Meanwhile, the State Department said the administration is preparing to send two AWACS planes to Egypt to help protect against threats from Libya.

U.N. commission for refugees awarded Nobel Peace Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees won the Nobel Peace Prize Wednesday for its work with the millions of homeless in the world's "flood of human catastrophe and suffering."

In announcing the award, the Norwegian Nobel Committee cited the UNHCR for carrying out its work "despite the many political difficulties with which it has to contend."

Poul Hartling, the United Nations high commissioner for refugees, said he accepted the $180,000 award "on behalf of refugees everywhere."

The former Danish prime minister termed the announcement of the office's second Nobel Peace Prize as "a great and pleasant surprise." The UNHCR also won the award in 1954.

The UNHCR was set up in 1951 to replace the short-lived International Refugee Organization, which had cared chiefly for the displaced people from World War II. It was slated to disband by 1954, but violence and worldwide conflict changed that.

The UNHCR was involved in repatriating about 10 million refugees from India to Bangladesh after their country gained independence in 1971. It aided displaced people after strife in Cyprus and those in Uganda who sought shelter abroad during the Idi Amin regime.

The Nobel Committee noted that worldwide there are between 14 million and 18 million refugees. Hartling says his agency is responsible for handling about 10 million refugees, about half of them in Africa.

The committee noted the exodus "from Vietnam, 2 million who have left Afghanistan and an equal number from Ethiopia."

Since 1975, the UNHCR has helped resettle more than 1 million "boat people" who fled Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos to other Southeast Asia countries. And it reports providing food and shelter for more than 1 million Afghan refugees in Pakistan.

Brady death reports reached surgeons

NEW YORK (AP) — James Brady's wife was spared the agony of hearing erroneous reports that her husband had died, but those reports reached the room where surgeons were operating on President Reagan's press secretary, McCall's magazine says.

"No one has told Mr. Brady or me that," the magazine quoted Dr. Arthur Koblman as saying when the "news" came to him during six hours of surgery on Brady March 30, after Brady and President Reagan were shot. Nick Timmesch, writing in McCall's November issue, said Sarah Brady did not hear the wrong reports because "she had already reached the hospital when it was announced on television that Brady was dead."

The magazine said that Brady's doctors at George Washington University Hospital, where he has been recovering, have credited Mrs. Brady with being "a vital factor" in his medical progress.

News Roundup

Court tests likely in remap debate

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Court tests of new legislative district maps drawn by Democrats appear likely and Republicans hope to know by Monday how to proceed with federal and state challenges. GOP state Senate Leader James "Pete" Philip said Wednesday.

"We'll decide by Monday at the latest, maybe even Friday" on whether — and how — to file suits against the maps approved earlier this month by a 5-4 Democrat-controlled commission, Philip said.

The Elmhurst senator said his party would challenge the new maps on differing grounds in U.S. District Court at Chicago and before the Illinois Supreme Court, which is controlled 4-3 by Democrats.

Mubarak pledges to pursue peace

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Hosni Mubarak pledged in an emotional inaugural address Wednesday to pursue Anwar Sadat's search for Mideast peace hand in hand with the United States and to unsheath the "sword of law" to punish Egyptians who turn to violence.

Paratroopers with rifles ringed the Egyptian Parliament building and guarded a hall near the rostrum where Mubarak spoke in case of an attack by assassins like the ones who killed Sadat last week.

Council to hold public hearing on changing bike, sidewalk rule

By Bob Bodurant
Staff Writer

A second public hearing on expanding the Carbondale bikeway system was set for Nov. 2 by the City Council Monday.

At the hearing, the council will hear testimony on where bicycles should be restricted from traveling on sidewalks.

A decision on how sidewalks will fit into the system became necessary when state legislation was passed which made it legal for bicycles to be ridden on sidewalks except where traffic controls or signs are posted. All bike riding on sidewalks now is prohibited by city code.

Because the new law is part of the Illinois Vehicle Code, Carbondale's home rule powers cannot be used to pass an ordinance making all bicycle riding on sidewalks illegal, according to L.S. Bruno, city planning official in charge of the proposal.

The city is faced with a decision on whether to post signs on all streets stating that riding on sidewalks is prohibited, a move permissible under the new state law, or to post signs on selected routes, Bruno said.

At a public hearing Sept. 21, speakers endorsed the concept of the bikeway system, which would increase the existing system's size to more than 15 miles and revise city bicycle registration procedures.

The City Council also discussed a proposed ordinance which would require residents to separate newspapers from other trash.

The proposal provides for a franchise to a private contractor to pick up newsprint and other recyclable materials from city garbage.

The members discussed economic feasibility of the program and scheduled a public hearing Nov. 16.

The City Council postponed until Nov. 23 discussion on a proposed ordinance to enforce the city's single-family occupancy restrictions.

An ordinance making it illegal to discharge firearms within city limits was reviewed by the council, and will be considered for approval on Monday.

Bond set in child beating case

Bond was set at $25,000 for a Murphysboro man arrested in connection with the severe beating of 17-month-old Shannon Mitchell.

Holbert W. Carrel, 24, was charged Wednesday in Jackson County Circuit Court with attempted murder and two counts of aggravated battery against a child.

The beatings allegedly occurred Aug. 22 and 23.

The child's mother, 20-year-old Sherry Lynne Mitchell, was arrested on the same charges in August and is being held in the Jackson County Jail.

States' Attorney John Clemons said Shannon was blinded by the alleged beatings and that she was being cared for in a sheltered-care facility in Clayton, Mo. He said the long-term effects of the injuries were not yet known.

Watkins' resignation raises valid concerns

The forthcoming resignation of the Rev. Charles Watkins from the Carbondale City Council, coming soon after the resignation of Councilwoman Susan Mitchell, is yet another blow to the council's diversity and the representation of student interests.

Councilman Watkins served his constituents well since his appointment in 1978. His effectiveness was recognized and he was elected to a full four-year term last spring. He has shown himself to be fair and open-minded and he was known to be one of the most intelligent and informed members on the council. He will be missed.

When his position becomes vacant on Oct. 31, the council should give serious consideration to appointing either Matt Coulter or Paul Matalonia to fill the seat. Both were candidates in the last council election and, despite the fact that they were students, both showed that they enjoyed the support of a large segment of the community. Taken together, their vote totals exceeded 1,500, which was nearly a third of the total number of votes cast in the election.

In addition, the countless hours they spent campaigning, as well as the financial sacrifices they made, are a testament to the seriousness of their intentions to serve this city.

That student interests receive short shrift on the City Council was made manifest when Councilwoman Sammie Aikman, who replaced Mitchell, suggested recently that undergraduate students should not be allowed to vote in city elections. The fact that such a position would be put forth is discouraging.

The loss of Charles Watkins is bad enough; the appointment of another council member of Ms. Aikman's beliefs would be unconscionable.

Tuck's gesture of support reflects poorly on others

A potential mistake has been averted, at least for a while. The Carbondale Job Service office, which faced the threat of closure when the Illinois General Services Administration cut off the funding for its lease, has been bailed out of its predicament by Tuck Tape Industries Inc. of Carbondale.

Tuck Industries should be commended for its concrete gesture of support for a much-needed employment service. But it is a sad reflection on the city, the state, the Chamber of Commerce and other local businesses that Tuck Industries has been the only source, to date, of funding.

City Manager Carroll Fry suggested that the City Council consider paying for the Job Service's lease. The council rejected the proposal. State Sen. Kenneth Buzbee and Rep. Bruce Richmond declared their intention to seek state funding. But, while their search continues, there has been no response.

As for the local Chamber of Commerce and the other businesses, besides Tuck Industries, which have benefited in the past from the Job Service's referrals, there has not even been a whisper of concern. The beneficence of all of these potential sources of funding is underwhelming.

It is high time for these people to get off their collective posteriors, reach into their back pockets and dole out the $6,500 necessary to keep the service open. It is hardly an outrageous sum, although one would think so, judging from the lack of response.

A clarification

Bobbi Bennett, president of the board of the Carbondale Women's Center, provided the following information about the funding of the center and the Pregnancy Testing and Counseling Service:

—The Women's Center is partly funded by the United Way.

—The Pregnancy Testing and Counseling Service is located at the center but is self-supporting from fees for its services and receives no United Way, federal, state or city funds.

Questions about funding of the two programs were raised in two recent letters.

A question of perspective

Perhaps it is a question of perspective.

I have yet to hear a convincing argument favoring the use of nuclear power, and the matter of a need for nuclear weapons seems to be taken for granted. I cannot rationalize the need or justify the production of nuclear weapons.

Modern methods of communication enable us to know instantly what is going on around the globe—this is a world community. People must learn to consider themselves less in terms of nationality and skin color and more as human beings and co-habitants of earth.

Humans have a large capacity to adapt and a strong instinct for survival. I do not wish to see how we will adapt or survive a nuclear holocaust, nor do I wish to see in what ways radiation from nuclear power plants affects life.

As for nuclear war, under what circumstances should governments destroy the world?

When it comes to sexual assault, you are your own best protector

By Bobbie Majka
Instructor, National Women's Self-Defense Council
Southern Illinois Chapter

When a sexual assault happens on campus, especially a rape-murder, a community is outraged, University women are reminded of their vulnerability to rape and all thoughts turn toward prevention of further attacks.

The warning signs proposed by the USO to be posted at either end of the Ho Chi Minh trail urging students not to use this particular route may give students the wrong idea about how to think about their safety. My concern is that the signs may infer that only a certain part of the environment is unsafe. Looking for a single bad reason doesn't aid University women in reducing their risks of being sexual assault victims.

Rather than think about what areas may be dangerous, it's important for women to be able to examine all situations, in any environment at any time. Rape happens everywhere—on campus, in homes, in residence halls, in cars, in large cities and rural areas. Sometimes attackers are students.

Women, ask yourselves these questions:

When traveling (walking, jogging, etc.), will you be isolated when you use this route?

Can you see the route far enough ahead of you and around you to anticipate a problem—or are you to be caught by surprise?

Do you use a route on a regular basis about the same time of day or night? This is important because an attacker could follow you and determine if you used a particular route at a particular time and wait for an opportunity for you to be accessible to attack and isolated from others.

Do you secure your perimeter of safety— wherever you are, wherever you're going?

Do you lock the locks on your doors when you are in your home and when you leave and when you are in your car and when you leave it?

Do you travel with a friend when you can or use routes at times when you know many other people will be using these same routes?

When someone knocks on your door, do you ask who's there before opening the door? You don't have to let anyone in your room or house if you don't want them there.

Are you clear and direct when you are communicating with anyone? An attacker may be sizing you up by your stance, posture, facial expression and your way of interacting. What kind of information are you communicating about yourself when you're traveling, by the way you answer a door, how you interact?

While walking, etc., do you look around, taking stock of what's going on around you? Do you walk in a determined manner, indicating that you know where you are going and are not to be messed with? Attackers are looking for likely victims—victims that look like they're not paying attention to what may be happening around them. How likely do you appear?

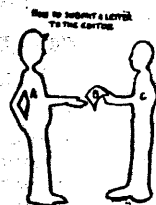

Trust your gut-level response to a person, a place, a situation. If something doesn't seem right, trust that feeling. Avoid. Alter your route. Be noisy. Attract attention to your situation. Keep your eye on a person you mistrust. If you get a gut-level feeling about that makes you uncomfortable, remember that your safety is at stake. You don't have to be friendly or nice to that person even though they appear to want to be friendly with you—even if you know them. If something doesn't feel right and you can't put your finger on why— trust that feeling. Respond to it. Keep thinking of your options and avoid or get out of the situation.

I am not speaking about being paranoid, feeling so scared and helpless that you are afraid to go anywhere or do anything. Rather, I am talking about an acknowledgement that rape exists and women are its victims; an awareness that there is a way to think about reducing your chances of becoming a rape victim; and a healthy fear which allows you to assess situations and make safer choices.

You operate a car (defensive driving) or bicycle in ways that reduce your risks of accidents, and you do these things everytime you use these vehicles and feel safer knowing there's something you can do. Think about what you can do on an everyday basis to reduce your risks of being a rape victim.

Protecting yourself is not as simple as avoiding the Ho Chi Minh trail. Rather, it is a way of thinking about what you're doing— knowing that you do have options to reduce your risks of being a crime victim. Whether it's harassment, robbery, assault or rape, you are your own best protector.

Bond set in restraint case

Bond was set at $100,000 Tuesday for a man charged with committing seven counts of felonies against two SIU-C students early Saturday.

State Police program increases patrols

By Douglas Hamm
Staff Writer

State Police in Du Quoin are participating in a program which places extra manpower in patrol areas with a high incidence of heavy traffic and accidents.

The Concentrated Traffic Enforcement Program (CTEP) utilizes Federal Highway Transportation funds which provide overtime pay for participating troopers. Troopers work on their off-days to provide additional patrols in areas with predetermined needs.

Melvin Kersten, public information officer for the Du Quoin office, said the 4-year-old program not only increases enforcement but also saves taxpayers money.

"Rather than hire additional men and purchase new cars and equipment, we use existing resources and men who are already trained," Kersten said. Kersten said placement of CTEP patrols is determined by statistics compiled by the Illinois Department of Transportation showing days and hours of the week which have a high incidence of accidents and heavy traffic. He said the CTEP program is on a monthly rather than yearly basis because of uncertainty in federal funding.

Kersten said figures for September show that CTEP patrols operated 10 days, covering three patrol areas in Southern Illinois. The patrols resulted in 424 arrests, 723 written warnings, 9,523 miles driven and 196 manhours expended. He said the patrols have had an impact on traffic safety but there are no figures to prove this.

"We have asked IDOT for reports validating what these patrols should be producing in terms of arrests and traffic safety but we haven't heard anything from them," Kersten said. "We know the increased manpower and visibility of our patrol cars in saturated areas does have some impact on driver safety though."

Kersten said May, June and September through December are peak months for heavy traffic, and Friday and Saturday evenings have a high incidence of accidents. The designated patrol areas for the Du Quoin District include portions of Williamson, Franklin, Perry and Alexander counties.

Watkins' new post to be minus city job

By Jennifer Polk
Staff Writer

Religion and politics are often described as subjects of conversation to avoid at parties and other social gatherings.

That's been difficult for the Rev. Charles Watkins, pastor of the First Christian Church and Carbondale City Council member.

Watkins was appointed to the City Council in October 1978. He filled a seat vacated by Hans Fischer, who was appointed mayor after former Mayor Neal Eckert resigned to work for a Texas cosmetics firm.

Now Watkins has resigned from city office. His resignation, from the City Council, announced Sept. 28, becomes effective Oct. 31. He has accepted the position of pastor at the First Christian Church of Owensboro, Ky.

Watkins was no stranger to Carbondale city politics before his appointment to the City Council. In 1971, he was chairman of the Goals for Carbondale Steering Committee and later served as chairman of the Professional Advisory Committee of the Home Health Agency of the Jackson County Health Department and the Citizen's Community Development Steering Committee. He was elected to his council seat in 1980.

Getting involved with the local government wasn't hard, he said.

"When I first got involved in 1971," he said, "it was as easy as saying yes."

He became involved with the City Council because he felt the direction of Carbondale's city government should be maintained, he said.

"I thought the government was doing a good job and I wanted that direction to continue," he said. "I was closely involved enough that I couldn't think of anyone that could do a better job of keeping that direction than I could. I thought I could make a contribution and do a good job."

The government in Carbondale is "remarkably progressive and well managed," and very open to new ideas, he said.

"I don't think people appreciate the quality of local government they have here," he said.

Watkins now serves on the Hospital Board and the Cable Television Committee of the city council. He is co-chairman of the hospital expansion drive, a trustee at Memorial Hospital, a United Way volunteer, and he serves on numerous church boards and committees. He lectures classes at the University when asked, he said.

He doesn't think the fact he is a minister has affected his job as a council member.

"I don't think the clergy are special and I don't think my values are any different from those of any of the other members of the City Council," he said. "As a citizen, I'm no different from any of the people I serve."

At the time of his appointment, Watkins said he felt unemployment and the creation of jobs were the most crucial problems facing Carbondale. He still feels the problems of the city are economic.

"Those two problems of unemployment and creation of jobs tie into the larger matter of economic development," he said. "Carbondale is not an industrial community—business here is small. Our economy depends on the University. The second largest employer is the hospital and then probably Tuck Industries. The biggest need at this point is to attract more businesses, both small and large."

Watkins and his family moved to Carbondale in 1970 from New Haven, Conn. A native of Lubbock, Texas, Watkins received a bachelor's degree from Texas Tech in Lubbock and a master's degree in sacred theology and divinity from Yale. He met his wife, Jane, while both were students at Yale.

Although his wife isn't involved with city politics, she has her own interests, he said.

"She's president of the Carbondale Interchurch Council and on the board of directors of the Women's Center," he said. "She has a lot of things to keep her busy."

Watkins doesn't think he'll be involved in local politics in Owensboro. He will be senior pastor for a congregation of almost 800 and he said that will occupy all of his time.

Single form, national criteria may simplify '82 aid process

By Alan Scalley
Staff Writer

Beginning in December, students will use a single application form to apply for all forms of financial aid for the 1982-83 school year.

Previously, students filled out one application for Illinois State Scholarships and a separate form, the American College Testing Program's Family Financial Statement, for Pell Grants and campus-based financial aid.

Next year, however, the ISSC will join the Pell Grant Program (formerly the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant) and campus-based financial aid programs, such as the National Direct Student Loan and College Work-Study, in using the ACT form, Joseph Camille, director of financial aid, said.

The ACT forms for the 1982-83 school year will be available in December but should not be sent to ACT before Jan. 1, 1982, Camille said.

To apply for an ISSC scholarship on the ACT form, students should check "yes" to the question which asks whether the student wants his financial information released to state agencies, Millicent Wright, assistant director of ISSC, said.

No fee will be required to apply for Pell Grants or ISSC scholarships, but a fee will be assessed for campus-based financial aid applications, Wright said.

The ISSC next year will begin using a nationally-recognized uniform methodology formula to determine a student's financial need, instead of its own formula, Wright said.

Camille said that because the change in the application procedure is a major one, there may be a short period of time straightening out the wrinkles in the system.

King Crimson to perform at SIU-C

King Crimson, a progressive rock band of the late 60s and early 70s, will perform at Shryock Auditorium at 8 p.m. Nov. 11. Tickets go on sale 7 a.m. Friday at the Student Center Box Office.

Entrance on the first day of sales from 7 to 8 a.m. will be only through the west entrance of the Student Center.

King Crimson, formed in early 1969, disbanded after recording its first album, "In the Court of the Crimson King." Original member Robert Fripp recruited new members and reformed the band several times during the early 70s.

The latest edition of the band formed early this spring when two of the original members, Fripp and Bill Bruford, joined with newcomers Tony Levine and Adrian Belew.

The group is touring to promote its newest album, "Discipline." Various versions of the band have recorded the albums "In the Wake of Poseidon," "Lizard," "Starless and Bible Black" and "Ear-thbound."

Guitarist Fripp worked with Peter Gabriel on his first album and has accompanied David Bowie. He has three solo efforts, including "Exposure" and "God Save the Queen."

Bruford, onetime drummer for Yes, toured with Genesis in 1976. Formerly with the progressive band U.K., Bruford formed his own band with former U.K. member Alan Holdsworth and recorded three albums before Bruford joined up with Crimson again.

Bass player Levine, who has worked with Paul Simon and Peter Gabriel, played on John Lennon's last album.

Guitarist Belew, from Springfield, has toured with Talking Heads and worked with Frank Zappa, Brian Eno and David Bowie.

Tickets are $10 and can be purchased at the Student Center Box Office or through the mail by sending a money order and self-addressed envelope to King Crimson, Student Center Central Ticket Office, SIU, Carbondale 62901.

According to FBI agent

Ondrula said the four sawed onto the roof.

Three were caught on the roof and the fourth was wounded at

Ex-county board member will try to regain position

A former Jackson County Board member has announced her candidacy for the Democratic nomination to represent District 4 again.

Ima Mae Valentine, 60, joins former Carbondale Mayor D. Blaney Miller in the race for the two seats. Republican incumbents Robert Crim and Joan Holcomb have indicated they are undecided as to whether they would run for reelection.

Valentine was appointed to the board in 1979 after the death of board member Jack Cooper, but she was defeated in the 1980 election, losing to Holcomb by 101 votes.

Valentine is a receptionist at Aged Alternatives Program, 700 W. Main, and a member of the Home Health Advisory Committee, which oversees home health delivery to Jackson County residents.

She was a tenant coordinator inspector for the Jackson County Housing Authority from 1977 to 1979.

She said her involvement stems from a desire to learn the needs of the poor.

"I'd be for the underdog, the low-income person—that is who I'd be representing," she said.

Kate Bentley and Jackie Widau met while performing with the Pocket Mime Theatre of Boston in 1972. Jackie is a graduate of L'ecole Jacques Lecoq-School of Mime, Movement and Theatre, Paris. She has toured both Europe and America and has spent the past few years in New York City as a freelance mime and clown. Kate performed, taught, and toured for seven years as the lead female of the Pocket Mime Theatre. In 1978 Kate and Jackie joined forces to produce in New York the "Mainly Mime Series." As Mainly Mime, one of the country's few female mime duets, they are now touring with a variety show. Their mime, music, masks and dialogue is guaranteed to entertain. From dowager dump turned disco-queen to class struggle at a dinner party for six, Bentley and Widau capture the themes of today.

Deadline for internships will be Nov. 1

By Alan Sculley
Staff Writer

The deadline for graduate students to apply for legislative and administrative internships is Nov. 1, John Jackson, acting dean of the Graduate School said.

Interns will work for area legislators or for the chancellor's office. The positions are for spring semester, and will pay tuition for Spring, 1982 and a stipend, Jackson said. Any graduate student in good academic standing is eligible.

To apply, students must submit to the chancellor's office a letter explaining interest, in the internship, a resume, transcripts and letters of recommendation.

Applicants will then be interviewed for positions by a screening committee, Jackson said.

There are four openings for the spring—one for the chancellor's office. The offers for legislators will work in their home-town or Springfield offices.

So far, state Reps. Ralph Dunn, R-58th District and Wayne Alstalt, R-59th District have said they will use interns. Last year, state Reps. Bruce Richmond, D-58th District and Robert Winchester, R-59th District and state Sen. Kenneth Buzbee, D-58th District had interns.

This is the second year the legislative and administrative internships have been offered. Last spring, 15 graduate students applied for five positions.

HOMECOMING HAPPENS ON OCTOBER 23, THAT'S NEXT FRIDAY!

things went sour. The places injuries tackled the Bulldogs were the offensive backfield and the defensive line.

"We're using five running backs now, and two are hurt and three are walk-ons," Sweeney said.

Tailback Steve Woods leads the team with 302 rushing yards and will miss Saturday's game with a hamstring pull. Woods replaced Danny Rainey, whose season ended with a knee injury in the Bulldog's second game of the season.

Sweeney doesn't know who'll start at tailback and plans to use Ted Torosian and Fran O'Brien at fullback.

Torosian has gained 245 yards on 64 carries, O'Brien 35 on nine.

"Torosian is a character player," Sweeney said. "He's playing with a pulled Achilles tendon. O'Brien is a tough kid, too. He's playing with a broken wrist."

The Bulldog defensive line has also been scattered by injuries. Starting ends Kevin Jones and Kevin Johnson will be on the sidelines Saturday. "We've been a good blitz team in the past," Sweeney said. "The last couple of seasons we've been a good blitz team. This season, teams have shown us that we don't have the personnel to blitz."

Against San Jose State, the Bulldogs didn't seem to have the defensive personnel to stop the pass. San Jose State won 65-33, beating the Bulldog secondary with six bombs.

The Bulldog defense is allowing over 400 yards a game.

"You take those six bomb plays out, and it would've been a different game," Sweeney said. "We're just going to have to double team receivers."

That could help Saluki tailback Walter Poole Saturday. Poole is second in the Missouri Valley Conference with 703 yards rushing.

"Double-teaming receivers opens the door for the running game," Sweeney said. "It'll open the door for Poole. But I'd rather see them gain yards six, seven, 10 at a time rather than 60 at a time."

Sweeney's worried about his team stopping the pass, and he might be concerned about his team's passing attack. Because of injuries, he's rotated two quarterbacks all season.

Jeff Tedford has completed 29 of 56 pass attempts for 309 yards and four touchdowns. Sergio Toscana is 22-56 for 369 yards and four touchdowns.

"Both of them have hurt the fingers on their throwing hands," Sweeney said. "But you have to play with that. That's part of the trade. I tell them that Kenny Stabler never plays without pain."

Injuries have clouded the Bulldogs' season, but Sweeney still finds rainbows.

One is placekicker Scott Darrow, the other is safety Steve Cordle.

Darrow has hit seven of eight field goal attempts and has made all of his 11 extra point attempts. Two of his field goals were longer than 50 yards.

"On that 52-yarder he kicked, the guys in the press box said he made it by 12 yards," Sweeney said. "I swear they said that. I thought it barely made it, but my assistant coaches said it made it by 10."

Cordle, a senior, was named the Sports Illustrated player of the week after the Oregon game. He leads the Fresno State defense with four interceptions.

"You have the tendency to use adjectives and overrate a player, but you can't do that with this kid," Sweeney said. "Other coaches love him. They say 'I wish my kids could play like that.'"

Saluki Fans have learned that they can trust Poole in the backfield.

Dempsey trusts him so much that he compared him to ex-Saluki Andre Herrera, who holds the Saluki one-season rushing record. Herrera ran for 1,568 yards in 1976.

"Their moves are comparable, but I'd say Walter has better quickness and is a better receiver," Dempsey said. "Walter has just a little more natural ability."

Dempsey thinks Poole has a shot at something Herrera got—a pro tryout.

"Walter's a genuine pro promise," Dempsey said. "I hope for his sake that he can cut just one-tenth of a second off his 40-yard dash time."

If the one-tenth of a second stops Poole, he won't be without a profession close to football. The physical education major plans to coach high school ball.

"I really don't know what kind of coach I'll be," Poole said after being asked if he'd be a strict disciplinarian like Dempsey. "Coach Dempsey's way is good—it keeps your mind on things it's supposed to be on."

eele, Saluki swimmer hold clinics abroad

Jim Cagle
Writer

Swimmer Pablo Restrepo swim Coach Bob Steele are going to Medellin, Columbia to conduct a series of clinics sponsored by the National Swimming Association of Columbia.

Restrepo, a native Columbian, heads all of his country's teams in the breaststroke. He holds the South American record in the 100-and 200-meter breaststroke and placed seventh in the 1990 Olympics in the 300. Steele said that this is not the first time he has been invited to participate in this clinic. He has led Columbian swimmers on a team since 1975, among them Jorge Jaramillo, Restrepo and sophomore Carlos Gomez. Gomez was invited along on the trip, but declined because he did not want to miss school.

"It's a kind of goodwill tour," said Steele. "I would have gone in the earlier years, but it always fell at a bad time. This year we're at a lull between the water polo and swimming seasons, and with the water polo team having the week off, it was a good time to go."

Steele and Restrepo will be conducting clinics on various aspects of competitive swimming. The series will end Saturday.

"It's an excellent opportunity to give the University a good name in other countries," he said. "And it doesn't cost the University a penny. All expenses are taken care of by the Columbian association."

Yanks pound on A's, win second game of series, 13-3

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees broke loose for seven runs in the fourth inning Wednesday, highlighted by Dave Winfield's two-run double and Lou Piniella's three-run homer, and battered the Oakland A's 13-3 for a 2-0 lead in the American League Championship Series.

Willie Randolph and Jerry Humphrey triggered the big inning with run-scoring singles to erase a 3-1 Oakland lead as the Yankees overcame the loss of slugger Reggie Jackson, who suffered a slight calf strain an inning earlier.

Piniella, Jackson's replacement, put the game out of reach. His home run capped an assault that began against 14-game winner Steve McCatty and continued against Dave Beard, who was tagged for three singles, a double and a home run by the first five batters he faced, the most consecutive in American League championship history.

problems from their minds and think nothing but golf for the rest time."

The Spring Lake Country Club, site of the Lady Kat Invitational, is a wide-open course, a course which should produce a lot of low scores, McGirr said. The par 72 course has mostly wide fairways which should help to keep the Salukis out of the rough, McGirr added. But if they do find themselves in the rough, she said, they will have a tough time handling the thick Kentucky bluegrass.

"I know that all of the girls are capable of shooting below 80," McGirr said. "And even though they're physically and mentally exhausted from the past tournaments, if they keep their heads to play and concentrate on nothing but golf for three rounds, we'll have a good tournament."

For the past two weeks Dana Mendor has been the only Saluki to shoot below the 80 barrier, McGirr said. But if the girls don't get "psyched out" by the high caliber of competition, she says, each should have consistent rounds of golf.

"The girls know that they are just as good as anyone there," McGirr said. "But they can't let the big schools scare them. The girls will have to clear their minds and give it everything they've got, especially since this is the most prestigious tournament of the year."

Sore Fresno State hurting like Salukis

By Rod Furlow
Staff Writer

Game films of future opponents are vital to college football coaches.

"They're the most important thing we have to prepare for opponents," Saluki Coach Rey Dempsey said before the Illinois State game.

According to other coaches, Dempsey and his coaching staff have used them well. After a Salukis upset conference-favorite Tulsa 36-34 Sept. 28, Hurricane Coach John Cooper praised Dempsey's use of films.

"Dempsey and his staff must've really broken down our films from last year," Cooper said. "That's a credit to them."

The Saluki coaches have viewed the films of their next opponent, 1-4 Fresno State, which has dropped four straight games. Saluki coaches hope to have some clues by the time the Salukis and Bulldogs meet, at 1:30 Saturday in California.

According to Bulldog Coach

Jim Sweeney, the SIU-C coaches might have some problems breaking down the films.

"I tell you, we've had so many injuries and have had to shift people around so much that they won't be able to tell much by the films," Sweeney said. "They'll be looking for people in the game and they'll see some surprising faces."

According to Sweeney, the injury-prone Salukis might finally meet another team as crutch laden as they are.

"We're not the team we were in the season opener," Sweeney said. "An injury here and there can be handled, but when you're hit all in the same place you're in trouble. I'm worried that might have to use three or four redshirted players—to ruin their eligibility in the sixth game of the season."

The Bulldogs opened the season by beating Oregon 23-16. After that, people got hurt and Walter Poole leans for an extra yard before being brought down by two Illinois State defenders.

Salukis' Poole wiggles for yardage

By Rod Furlow
Staff Writer

When opposing coaches talk about the Saluki football team, the first player they mention is tailback Walter Poole.

It's understandable. With 703 yards, the senior is second in the Missouri Valley Conference in rushing.

He's second to no one in the Saluki backfield. His 260-yard rushing performance against Tulsa Sept. 26 turned the Saluki season around. Even so, Poole says his teammates haven't put any extra pressure on him because of that game.

"Everybody wants to win just as much as I do," Poole said. "There's really not that much pressure."

Poole had placed a lot of pressure on himself before the Tulsa game. The fact that he had fumbled on the 1-yard line with a minute to go against Wichita State two weeks before was on his mind.

"I didn't get real down. I knew I had to come back the next game," Poole said. "I can't tell you how pumped up I was for Tulsa."

The Salukis won the Tulsa game 36-34 after losing to Wichita State 13-7. Players slapped and joked with "Mr. Wiggles" in the lockerroom at Tulsa, but the fun faded fast. The bruised hip Poole suffered in the game nagged him in his next game.

Against ISU, the wiggle was gone. Poole was disappointing. He gained only 44 yards, but the tailback refused to have back-to-back bad games. He catapulted back against West Texas State Saturday, picking up 136 yards and scoring the winning touchdown, his fifth touchdown of the season.

Saluki Coach Rey Dempsey predicted such heroics from Poole when he recruited him.

"He was the second-best back in the Youngstown area," Dempsey said. "He showed good size, quickness, and speed."

Dempsey was coaching at Youngstown State when he learned of Poole, who went to high school in Hubbard, Ohio. Dempsey was impressed with Poole, and Poole was impressed with Dempsey.

"I learned quickly that I could count on him," Poole said. "He's a Christian, and I have a religious background—my family's religious."

Women netters to close season at Murray State

By Keith Mascitti
Staff Writer

Womens tennis Coach Judy Auld is hoping her team will play better this weekend and would like to finish the season with three wins at Murray, Ky.

"Everyone realizes that we haven't played as well as we can," Auld said. "Everyone wants to finish the season with three wins."

To accomplish this task, the team must beat Eastern Tennessee State, Murray State and Western Illinois. Auld said that Murray State will be the strongest and her team will have exercise extra effort to beat the Racers.

"They beat us pretty bad—8-1 last year," Auld said. "Last season they had a real good recruiting year. They had freshmen playing in the top part of the lineup. They're beatable, but we have to play better than we have been."

"If we play like we're capable of playing, and put out 100 percent we can beat Murray," she said.

The Salukis have had trouble playing on the road this season. Auld said traveling, then getting out of a van and immediately playing has been a problem. Auld plans to take the team to Kentucky early this weekend to give it a few hours to relax before it plays Murray on Friday.

SIU-C can't relax too much though. The match against WILL may be the most important one. This match will decide the final seedings for the state meet, to be played next spring. If the Salukis can beat the Western winds, they will be seeded No. 1 behind Illinois.

Injuries are another factor Auld will have to contend with. The No. 1 and 3 players are still plagued by early season injuries.

Auld will use No. 1 singles Lisa Warren sparingly. Warren is still suffering from an injury to the arch of her foot and will see limited singles action, but will compete in doubles action.

No. 3 singles Alessandra Molinari, still bothered by an ankle injury, will be able to play in the singles competition.

"The injury has restricted her movement," Auld said. "Like Lisa, she just needs to rest it. She'll go through a rehabilitation program over the winter and hopefully it will be strong in the spring."

Golfers to avoid Kentucky rough

By Bob Morand
Staff Writer

The Lady Saluki golfers will face their toughest and last competition of the year at the Lady Kat Invitational this weekend in Lexington, Ky, according to Coach Mary Beth McGirr.

"The Salukis, with last week's second place finish in the Midwest Regionals fresh on their minds, will face such powerhouse teams as Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Ohio State, and Kentucky in the 15-team tournament.

But McGirr isn't pressing for a win. Instead, she is setting her sights on a solid team performance in the 54 hole tournament.

"I want to see good individual performances for all three rounds by each golfer," McGirr said. "This is the last tournament so I want everybody to go out and give it their best shot."

"We've been on the road for the past few weeks and the girls are under a lot of pressure from school and traveling all the time," McGirr added. "But this Thursday through Saturday, I want the girls to drop all
