$30 fee wins student support

BULLETIN

Students voted Wednesday to maintain the $30 athletics fee at its present level by an almost 2-to-1 margin of 4,501 to 2,258 in the advisory referendum. A total of 7,782 students turned out to vote, but the computer used to tally the results did not read 53 of the votes because of technical problems. The results were reported about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Students turned out in record numbers for Wednesday's athletics fee advisory referendum as more than 7,000 ballots were cast.

The turnout surpassed the total of 4,300 students who voted in last April's Undergraduate Student Organization elections.

The referendum asked students to vote on whether to retain the $30 athletics fee, or reduce it to its former level of $20. The results of the referendum are not binding on the administration, but President Albert Somit has said that student opinion will play a significant role in his decision concerning the future of the athletics program.

"It's a tremendous turnout, and I feel it indicates that students, when given the opportunity, will definitely voice their input in the decision-making process," Rogers said. "It's probably the biggest indicator that students are concerned and responsive, especially when it comes to their fees," he said. "It also dispels some of the myths that students are apathetic. They do care, if they are given the chance to voice their opinions."

Rogers said that with the record turnout "the administration will have to listen to the student referendum."

Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs, Wednesday afternoon said, "I keep hearing from people we may have a record turnout, and I feel very good about that." If the $30 fee is retained, Swinburne said, "It will give us a base for the future of the program and for our fund-raising drive in the community because we'll be able to say that we have student support. I think this can be a very positive thing all the way around."

Out of 12 students interviewed at various polling places, seven said that they had voted for the $30 fee, and five said that they voted for the $20 fee.

"I have turned the fee to $30 because I have to be more conservative," said Steve Hartsock, a senior in photo-journalism. "I would rather spend the $10 myself, than have the University spend for me."

Kim Basso, a freshman in radio-television, said, "I voted to stick with the $30 fee. I think sports are too much part of college life for $20, especially since we're already paying it."

Buck Doretti, a senior in marine archeology, said, "I don't believe in the $20 fee. I think money was depleted. We are simply using the money instead of the football program going into it, it would be different."
The UNHCR was involved in relocating 10 million refugees from India to Bangladesh after their country gained independence in 1971. It aided displaced people after strife in Cyprus and those in Uganda who sought shelter abroad during the Idi Amin regime.

The Nobel Committee noted that worldwide there are between 14 million and 18 million refugees. Hurting says his agency is responsible for handling about 10 million

Brady death reports reached surgeons

NEW YORK (AP) - James Brady's wife was the agony of hearing erroneous reports that her husband had died, but those reports reached the room where surgeons were operating on President Reagan's press secretary. McCull's magazine says: "No one has told Mr. Brady or me that," the magazine quoted Dr. Arthur Kobre as saying when the news came to him during six hours of surgery on Brady. March 30. After Brady and President Reagan were shot.

Nick Thimmesch, writing in McCull's November issue, said Sarah Brady did not hear the wrong reports because "she had already reached the hospital when it was announced on television that Brady was dead."

The magazine said that Brady's doctors at George Washington University Hospital. where he has been recovering, have credited Mrs. Brady with being "a vital factor" in his medical progress.

U.N. commission for refugees awarded Nobel Peace Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) - The Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees won the Nobel Peace Prize for its work with the millions of homeless in the world's "flood of human catastrophe and suffering."

In announcing the award, the Norwegian Nobel Committee cited the UNHCR for carrying out its work "despite the many political difficulties with which it has to contend."

Paul Hartling, the United Nations high commissioner for refugees, said he accepted the $100,000 award "on behalf of refugees everywhere."

The former Danish prime minister termed the announcement of the office's second Nobel Peace Prize as "a great and pleasant surprise."

The UNHCR also won the award in 1954. The UNHCR was set up in 1950 to replace the short-lived International Refugee Organization, which had cared chiefly for the displaced people from World War II. It was slated to disband by 1967. But it changed with the end of the war and the creation of the United Nations in 1945. It is the world's main agency for refugees and it has helped return millions to their homes and resettle millions more in refugee camps.

The UNHCR is also known for its work in refugee camps in Africa, where it helps refugees from wars in Sudan, the Democratic Republic of Congo and Burundi.

The commission for refugees also has a mandate to work for the rights of refugees abroad, including in the United States, where it has helped thousands of Vietnamese, Cambodian and Laotian refugees since the end of the Vietnam War.

The commission also works to help refugees from conflicts in Africa, Asia and the Middle East.

The UNHCR has been criticized in some countries for its policies, including its efforts to return refugees to their homes in countries with human rights abuses.

The commission for refugees has been awarded the Nobel Peace Prize twice, in 1954 and 1981.

News Roundup

Court tests likely in remap debate

SPRINGFIELD (AP) - Court tests of a new legislative district map drawn by Democrats appear likely and Republicans hope to know by Monday how to proceed with federal and state challenges. GOP state Senator Leader James "Pat" Philip said Wednesday: "We'll decide by Monday at the latest, maybe even Friday" on whether - and how - to file suits against the map approved earlier this month by a 5-4 Democrat-controlled commission. Philip said the "150 people" who made the map in one session of the Senate would challenge the new map on differing grounds in a 5-2 District Court in Chicago and before the Illinois Supreme Court, which is controlled 4-3 by Democrats.

Mubarak pledges to pursue peace

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) - President Hosni Mubarak pledged in an emotional inaugural address Wednesday to pursue Arab-Sadat's search for Middle East peace hand in hand with the United States and to undertake the "sword of law" to punish Egyptians who turn to violence.

Paratroopers with rifles ringed the Egyptian Parliament building and guarded a hall near the rostrum where Mubarak spoke in an attack by assassins like the ones who killed Sadat last week.
Council to hold public hearing on changing bike, sidewalk rule

By Bob Roodrant Staff Writer

A second public hearing on expanding the Carbondale bikeway system was set for Nov. 2 by the City Council on Monday.

At the hearing, the council will hear testimony on where bicycle riding on sidewalks is prohibited, a move permissible under new state law, or to post signs on selected routes, Bruno said.

At a public hearing Sept. 21, speakers endorsed the concept of the bikeway system, which would be made illegal for bicycles to be ridden on sidewalks except where traffic controls or signs are posted. All bike riding on sidewalks now is prohibited by city code.

Here's the new law part of the Illinois Vehicle Code. Carbondale's home rule powers cannot be used to pass an ordinance making all bicycle riding on sidewalks illegal, according to L.S. Bruno, planning official in charge of the proposal.

The city is faced with a decision on whether to post signs on all streets stating that riding on sidewalks is prohibited and to pick up newsprint and other recyclable materials from city garbage.

The members discussed economic feasibility of the program and scheduled a public hearing Nov. 19.

The City Council postponed until Nov. 23 discussion on a proposed ordinance to enforce the city's single-family occupancy restrictions.

An ordinance making it illegal to discharge firearms within city limits was reviewed by the council and will be considered for approval on Monday.

Bond set in child beating case

Bond was set at $25,000 for a Murphysboro man arrested in connection with the severe beating of a 17-month-old boy.

Holbert W. Carrel, 24, was charged Wednesday in Jackson County Circuit Court with attempted murder and two counts of aggravated battery against a child.

The beating allegedly occurred Aug. 22 and 23.

The child's mother, 36-year-old Sherry Lynne Mitchell, was arrested on the same charges and is being held in the Jackson County Jail.

States' Attorney John Clemens said Shannon was blinded by the alleged beating and that she was being cared for in a sheltered-care facility in Clayton. He said the child's long-term effects of the injuries were not yet known.

When it comes to sexual assault, you are your own best protector

By Bobbie Majka

Aclaración: "When a sexual assault happens on campus, especially a rape-murder, the community is outraged. University women are reminded of the vulnerability to rape and all thoughts turn toward prevention of further attacks. The warning signs proposed by the USO to be posted at either end of the Ho Chi Minh trail urging students not to use this particular route may give the wrong signals to the women. My concern is that the signs may stress just one aspect of the environment. It's unsafe. If any (or a single bad reason does not) a University women in reducing their risks of being sexual assault victims. Rather than thinking about what matters may be a way to think about reducing your chances of becoming a rape victim and a healthy fear will allow you to assess situations and make safer choices. You relate a car defensive driving) or bicycle in ways that reduce your risks of accidents, and you do these things every time you use those vehicles and feel safer knowing there's something you can do. Think about when you can do on an everyday basis to reduce your risks of being a rape victim. Protecting yourself is not as simple as avoiding the Ho Chi Minh trail. Rather, it's a way of thinking about what you do and taking steps to make it as safe as possible for you. Whether it's harassment, robbery, assault or rape, you need to do everything you can to prevent these situations from happening. Trust your gut-level response to a person's actions can be right, trust that feeling. Avoid. Be noisy. Attract attention to you. Keep your eye on a person and if something doesn't feel right, leave the situation. If something doesn't feel right, trust your gut-level feeling about that person. Remember that your safety is at your being. Don't have to be friendly to or to that person even through they appear to be friendly, talk with you even if you know them. If something doesn't feel right and you can't put your finger on why—trust that feeling. Respond to it. Keep thinking of your options and avoid or get out of the situation. I am not speaking about being paranoid, feeling so scared and helpless that you are afraid to go anywhere or do anything. Rather, I am speaking about an acknowledgment that rape exists and women are its victims; an awareness that there is a way to think about reducing your chances of becoming a rape victim; and a healthy fear which allows you to assess situations and make safer choices. A man shot, found near home

Ava Police and Jackson County Sheriff's deputies are investigating the shooting death of a teen-aged boy.

Detectives said the body of Harold A. Peters was found in his car, which was parked outside his home. They declined to comment on published reports that the shooting was a homicide and that an unidentified suspect is being sought.

Jackson County Coroner Don Bagdas said autopsy results will be released Thursday morning.

Research in infant development to be topic of program

Victoria Molina, psychology faculty member, will review recent research on infant development at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at a program sponsored by the Southern Illinois Association for the Education of Young Children.

The meeting, which will be at the Infant center of the First Baptist Church, 200 W. Main, will discuss the relationship between the child's development and the child's environment, according to Evie Wester, spokesperson for the association.

Bond set in restraint case

Bond was set at $100,000 Tuesday morning for a man charged with committing several robberies against two SIU-C students early Saturday.

Charles T. Brady, 23, was charged in Jackson County Circuit Court with two counts of armed robbery, two counts of unlawful restraint, and one count of unlawful use of a weapon. Police said Brady allegedly approached Joan Gagge, 30, and Michael Rieke, 21, on Saturday and attempted to force them into his car at gunpoint.

The two students told Carbondale Police they broke free from Brady, who allegedly fired a shot in the air.
Mainly Mime will offer performance, workshop

Mainly Mime, featuring Jacqueline Wildau and Kate Bentley, will perform from 3 to 6 p.m. Saturday in Student Center Room 004. Tickets are $2.50 for students and $3 for the general public.

The program was started in 1978 to create a series for New York's Wall-to-Wall Theatre Center, which features mime performances in a variety format every week.

Bentley and Wildau will also present a workshop in mime titled "Language and Motion" from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, also in Room 004. The lecture will include excerpts from their mainstage show and audience participation. There is no admission charge for the workshop.

Bentley performed, taught and toured for seven years as one of the oldest mime-troupes in the country, the Pocket Mime Theatre of Boston.

BUSCH. The official beer of The Charlie Daniels Band.
Religion and politics are often described as subjects of conversation to avoid at parties and other social gatherings. That's been difficult for the Rev. Charles Watkins, pastor of the First Christian Church and Carbondale City Council member.

Watkins was appointed to the City Council in October 1973. He filled a seat vacated by Hans Fischer, who was appointed mayor after former Mayor Neal Eckert resigned to work for a Texas cosmetics firm.

Now Watkins has resigned from city office. His resignation, from the City Council, announced Sept. 29, becomes effective Oct. 31. He has accepted the position of pastor at the First Christian Church of Owensboro, Ky.

Watkins was no stranger to Carbondale city politics before his appointment to the City Council. In 1971, he was chairman of the Goals for Carbondale Steering Committee and later served as chairman of the Professional Advisory Committee of the Harris Health Agency of the Jackson County Health Department and the Citizen's Community Development Steering Committee. He was elected to his council seat in 1979.

Getting involved with the local government wasn't hard, he said.

"When I first got involved in 1973," he said, "it was as easy as saying yes." He became involved with the City Council to fulfill the direction of Carbondale's city government chairman, the Rev. L. C. Basham, who had been a minister in Carbondale.

But the government was doing a good job and I wanted that direction to continue," he said. "I was closely involved enough that I couldn't think of anyone who could do a better job of keeping that direction than I could, although I could improve on one or two things and do a good job.

The government in Carbondale is "remarkably progressive and well run," he said. "I don't think people appreciate the quality of local government they have here."

Watkins now serves on the Board of the Board and the Television Committee of the city council. He is co-chairman of the hospital expansion drive, a trustee at Memorial Hospital, a United Way volunteer and serves on numerous church boards and committees. He lectures classes at the University when asked, he said. He doesn't think the fact he is a minister has affected his job as a council member.

"I don't think the clergy are special and I don't think my values are any different from those of any of the other members of the City Council," he said. "As a citizen, I'm no different from any of the people I serve."

At the time of his appointment, Watkins said, he felt unemployment and the creation of jobs were the most crucial problems facing Carbondale. He still feels the problems of the city are economic.

"These two problems of unemployment and general economic malaise tie into the larger matter of economic development," he said. "Carbondale is a fast-paced, industrially-based community—business here is small. Our economy depends on the University. The second largest employer is the hospital, and he then probably Ick Industries. The biggest wealth at this point is to attract more businesses, small and large."

Watkins and his family moved to Carbondale in 1970 from New Haven, Conn. A native of Lubbock, Texas, Watkins received a bachelor's degree from Texas Tech University in Lubbock and a master's degree in sacred theology from Yale. He met his wife, Jane, while both were students at Yale.

Although his wife isn't involved with city politics, she has her own interests, he said. "She's president of the Carbondale Interchurch Council and on the board of directors of the Women's Center," he said. "She has a lot of things to keep her busy." Watkins doesn't think he'll be involved in local politics in Owensboro. He will be an uncle, as his wife is a minister, for a congregation of 400 people and he said that will occupy all of his time.

Single form, national criteria may simplify '82 aid process

By Alan Bedley

Staff Writer

Beginning in December, students will use a single application form to apply for all financial aid for the 1982-83 school year.

Previously, students filled out separate forms for Illinois State scholarships and a separate form, the American College Testing Program's Family Financial Statement, for Pell Grants and campus-based financial aid.

Next year, however, the ISSC will join the Pell Grant program (formerly the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant) and campus-based financial aid programs, such as the National Direct Student Loan and C-Mage Work-Study, in using the ACT form, Joseph Camille, director of financial aid, said.

The ACT forms for the 1982-83 school year will be available in December but should not be sent to ACT before Jan. 1, 1982, Camille said.

To apply for an ISSC scholarship on the ACT form, students should check "yes" to the question which asks whether the student wishes to apply for campus-based financial aid, Camille said. "There may be a short period of time starting out before December in the system."
King Crimson, a progressive rock band of the late '60s and early '70s, will perform at Shreve Auditorium at 8 p.m. Nov. 11. Tickets go on sale 7 a.m. Friday at the Student Center Box Office.

Entrance on the first day of sales from 7 to 8 a.m. will be only through the west entrance of the Student Center.

King Crimson, formed in early 1969, disbanded after recording its first album, "In the Court of the Crimson King." Original member Robert Fripp recruited new members and reformed the band several times during the early '70s.

The latest edition of the band formed early this spring when two of the original members, Fripp and Bill Bruford, joined with newcomers Tony Levin and Adrian Belew.

The group is touring to promote its newest album, "Discipline." Various versions of the band have recorded the albums "In the Wake of Poseidon," "Lizard," "Starless and Bible Black" and "Earthbound."

Guitarist Fripp worked with Peter Gabriel on his first album and has accompanied David Bowie. He has three solo efforts, including "Iron Butterfly" and "God Save the Queen."

Bruford, onetime drummer for Yes, toured with Genesis in 1976. Formerly with the progressive band U.K., Bruford formed his own band with former U.K. member Alan Holdsworth and recorded three albums before Bruford joined up with Crimson again.

Bassist Levin, who has worked with Paul Simon and Peter Gabriel, played on John Lennon's last album.

Guitarist Belew, from Springfield, has toured with Talking Heads and worked with Frank Zappa, Brian Eno and David Bowie.

Tickets are $10 and can be purchased at the Student Center Box Office or through the mail by sending a money order and self-addressed envelope to King Crimson, Student Center Central Ticket Office, SIU, Carbondale 62901.

Marion inmates in detention

Griffith

Inmates who attempted to escape from the Federal Penitentiary early Sunday by using saws and battering down doors are in administrative detention.

Harold Miller said he is holding pending an order of a U.S. marshals

office in a security unit on a civil action.

Five inmates were sentenced for bringing contraband into the peni-teniary.

It was reported that del Raine suffered "superficial wounds" when he was shot at by a correctional officer.

According to FBI agent

Joseph E. Ohrela, the inmate's wounds came either from a bullet or from fragments.

Ohrela said the four sawed through the bars of their cells, battled down a door to the "C" unit, or general population unit, broke a window and climbed out onto the roof.

Three were caught on the roof and the fourth was wounded at an inside fence.

Kate Bentley and Jackie Wildau meet while performing with the Pocket Mime Theatre of Boston in 1972. Jackie is a graduate of Cirque Jacques Lecoq-School of Mime, Movement and Theatre, Paris. She has toured both Europe and America and has spent the past few years in New York City as a freelance mime and clown. Kate performed, taught, and toured for seven years as the lead female of the Pocket Mime Theatre. In 1978 Kate and Jackie joined forces to produce in New York the "Mainly Mime Series." As Mainly Mime, one of the country's few female mime duets, they are now touring with a variety show. Their mime, music, masks, and dialogue is guaranteed to entertain. From dowsers dumb turned disco-queen to clown Albuquerque at a dinner party for the Bentley and Wildau capture the themes of today.

Deadline for internships will be Nov. 1

By Alan Sealey
Staff Writer

The deadline for graduate students to apply for legislative and administrative internships is Nov. 1, John Jackson, acting dean of the Graduate School said.

Interns will work for area legislators or for the chancellor's office. The positions are for spring semester and will pay tuition for Spring, 1982 and a stipend, Jackson said. Any graduate student in good academic standing is eligible to apply. Students must submit to the chancellor's office a letter explaining interest, in the internship, a resume, transcripts and letters of recommendation.

Applicants will then be interviewed for positions by a screening committee, Jackson said.

There are four openings for the spring—one for the chancellor's office. The offers for legislators will work in their home-town or Springfield offices.

So far, state Reps. Ralph Dunn, R-58th District and Wayne Alsat, R-58th District have said they will use interns. Last year, state Reps. Bruce Richmond, D-58th District and Robert Winchester, R-58th District and state Sen. Kenneth Buzbee, D-58th District had interns.

This is the second year the legislative and administrative internships have been offered. Last spring, 15 graduate students applied for five positions.
things went sour.

The places injuries tackled the Bulldogs were the offensive backfield and the defensive line.

"We're using five running backs now, and two are hurt and we have another two," Sweeney said.

Tailback Steve Woods leads the team with 302 rushing yards and will miss Saturday's game with a hamstring pull. Woods replaced Danny Rainey, whose season ended with a leg injury in the Bulldog's second game of the season.

Sweeney doesn't know who'll start at tailback and plans to use Ted Torosian and Fran O'Brien at fullback.

Torosian has gained 346 yards on 84 carries, O'Brien 35 on nine.

"Torosian is a character player," Sweeney said. "He's playing with a pulled Achilles tendon. O'Brien is a tough kid too. He's playing with a broken wrist.

The Bulldog defensive line has also been scattered by injuries. Starting ends Kevin Jones and Kevin Johnson will both be questionable to play Saturday.

"We've been a good blitz team in the past, Sweeney said. "The last couple of seasons we've been a good blitz team. This season, teams have shown us that we don't have the personnel to blitz."

Against San Jose State, the Bulldogs didn't seem to have the defensive personnel to stop the pass. San Jose State won 65-33, beating the Bulldog secondary with six bombs.

The Bulldog defense is allowing over 400 yards a game.

"You lose the six bomb plays, and it would've been a different game," Sweeney said. "We're just going to have to double team.

That could help Saluki tailback Walter Poole Saturday. Poole is second in the Missouri Valley Conference with 702 yards rushing.

"Double-teaming receivers opens the door for the running game," Sweeney said. "I'd open the door for Poole. But I'd rather see him gain yards six, seven, 10 at a time rather than 60 at a time."

Sweeney's worried about his team stopping the pass, and he might be concerned about his team's passing attack. Because of injuries, he's rotated two quarterbacks since Steve Cordei became the starting quarterback.

Jeff Tedford has completed 29 of 56 pass attempts for 396 yards and four touchdowns. Sergio Dempsey is a 22-56 for 399 yards and four touchdowns.

"Both of them have hurt the fingers on their throwing hands," Sweeney said. "But they have to play with that. That's part of the trade. I tell them that Kenny Stabler never plays without pain."

Injuries have clouded the Bulldogs' season, and Sweeney still finds rainbows.

One is placekicker Scott Darrow, the other is safety Steve Cordei.

Darrow has hit seven of eight field goal attempts and has made all of his 11 extra point attempts. Two of his field goals were longer than 50 yards.

"On that 52-yarder he kicked, the guys in the press box said he made it by 12 yards," Sweeney said. "I swear they said that. I thought it barely made it, but my assistant coaches said it made it by 10."

Cordei, a senior, was named the Sports Illustrated player of the week after the Oregon game. He leads the Fresno State defense with four interceptions.

"You have the tendency to write off defensive players, but you can't do that with this kid," Sweeney said. "People coach don't coach them. Our coaches tell me, 'I wish my kids could play like that.'"
Meador, native Columbian, said all of his country's pride in the breaststroke. He holds the South American record in both the 100- and 200-meter stroke and placed seventh in the 200-meter final - a feat Meador had said is not the same time he has been invited to compete in this event. He has a Columbia swimmers on his team since 1977, among them Jorge Jaramillo, Jorge and sophomore Carlos Restrepo was invited along on a goodwill tour of the United States.

The Spring Lake Country Club, which the Lady East Invitational, is a wide-open course that forces a lot of accuracy, McGarr said. The pair 17 course is wide fairways which would help to keep the Swedes at good length, McGarr added, but if they don't find themselves in the rough, she said, they will have a tough time handing the tough Kentucky bluegrass.

"I know that all of the girls are capable of shooting below 80," McGarr said. "But if the girls don't get 'psyched out' by the high caliber of competition, she says, each should consistent rounds of 80." McGarr said. "But they can't let the high schools scare them. The girls will have to clear their minds and play the game they've got, especially since this is the most prestigious tournament of the year.

Harper, Dempsey to speak at lunch

Yanks pound on A's, win second game of series, 13-3

NEW YORK (AP) - The New York Yankees broke loose for seven runs in the fourth inning Wednesday, highlighted by Dave Winfield's two-run double and Lou Pinella's three-run homer, and battered the Oakland A's 13-3 for a 2-0 lead in the American League Championship Series.

Willie Randolph and Jerry Murphrey triggered the big inning with run-scoring singles to erase a 3-1 Oakland lead as the Yankees overcame the loss of starter Ken Holtzman who suffered a slight call strain in the inning earlier.

Pinella: Jackson's replacement, put the game out of reach. His home run capped an assault that began against 14-game winner Steve McCatty and continued against Dave Beard, who was tagged for three singles, a double and a home run by the first five batters he faced, the most consecutive in American League championship history.
Women netters to close season at Murray State

By Keith Mascetti

Womens tennis Coach Judy Auld is hoping her team will play well enough to win at Murray, Ky., and head coach of their conference.

"Every year, we've had good athletes, but the team hasn't been as good as we hope it would be," Auld said. "We've had a lot of injuries, and we've been able to bring in some new talent."

To accomplish this task, the team must beat Eastern Tennessee State and Western Illinois. Auld said that Murray is one of the strongest and her team will have some extra effort to beat the Raiders.

"They beat us pretty bad last year," Auld said. "But we've had a lot of injuries and missed time this year."

The Raiders have the potential to play well and put up 100 percent of the game, Auld said. "We have to have a good day to beat them.

The Salukis have been fighting injuries all season and have struggled with many ailments. Auld said plans to take the team to Kentucky early this weekend to give it a few hours before it plays Murray on Friday.

SIU-C can't relax too much because the Raiders may be the most important one.

"We've got a lot of games in the state for the meet, so we've got to be ready," Auld said. "I'm glad we're going to Murray, but we have to be ready to play our best."
