Implied consent law in effect Sunday

By Tom Finan
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

So you've had a few too many. You're too drunk to walk home, so you'd better drive, you think.

Suddenly, the rearview mirror lights up in shades of flashing red.

The officer says you have a choice. Either you can take a breathalyzer test and risk being charged with driving while intoxicated or you can refuse and lose your license for three months.

Doesn't sound like much of a choice? It's not supposed to be.

Starting Sunday, "implied consent" will be enforced in Illinois. Stated simply in means that driving on Illinois roads may be construed as consent to a breath test if a person is arrested for drunken driving.

The last shipment of eight breathalyzer machines to be used by the state police arrived in Springfield Thursday.

The state police have 431 men in the field trained to administer the test. The test may be given by any qualified officer except the arresting officer.

Currently there are 209 machines in sheriff's and police stations across the state, purchased at the cost of $1,800 each. The test is mandatory only if the nature of the offense has led the arresting officer to believe that the driver was drunk. If the driver refuses to take the test, he has 28 days to appeal in the circuit court in the county in which he was arrested. If no appeal is filed, his drivers license is automatically revoked for three months on the first offense and six months on the second.

The legal definition for drunk driving is driving with one-tenth of one per cent blood alcohol.

In a 1966 survey by Illinois coroners about one-third of those between the ages of 16 and 20 killed in traffic accidents had alcohol in their blood.

Abortion referral unit informs, gives advice

By Barb Kurnyta
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Abortions can be obtained with relative ease and costs these days, says Rosemary Hawks, head of Carbondale's abortion referral service.

Ms. Hawks, a native of Ahmherst, Mass., said the referral service "is really an information center for clinics. I don't refer the girl really, I give her the information she needs to have about the abortion clinics."

Working in conjunction with two national organizations, the National Association for Repeal of Abortion Laws (NARAL), and Planned Parenthood of America, Ms. Hawks is able to give the necessary information to women who are in need of available services.

In this manner, Ms. Hawks said, the women are able to "talk it over with their husbands or boyfriends" and decide what the best course of action is.

Although there are other clinics located in Kansas City, Kansas, Washington, D.C., and on an off-again, on-again basis in Madison Wis., Ms. Hawks said she prefers to use the abortion clinics in New York because "they are the easiest to get in to, there is no waiting list and the legal age is lower."

Ms. Hawks said women can make appointments to see her for abortion information by calling 549-8146. She said the Free Clinic and the soon-to-open Women's Center at 404 W. Walnut both have set aside a room for her to talk to women who want the information. She also sees women in her home.

A volunteer staff helps Ms. Hawks disseminate the information. Maggie Black, a senior at SIU assists her in getting the necessary information to women who need it.

On-campus voter registration ends today

By Randy Thomas

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

At 1 p.m. Saturday, deputy registrars will officially lock the doors to activities rooms C and D in the Student Center, marking the end of a nine-day voter registration drive on campus which has netted nearly 2,000 new student voters.

Joy Botts, a member of the League of Women Voters, said Friday that 531 people signed up Thursday to vote. About 200 had signed up by noon Friday, she said.

Though the last time to register on campus is from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Saturday, Mrs. Botts urged all students and local residents who are not registered to do so before the final Oct. 9 deadline. She said this may be done at the City Hall in Carbondale and at the County Clerk's office in Murphysboro.

On Monday Oct. 9, Mrs. Botts said, all polling places in Jackson County will be open from noon-9 p.m. for the purpose of voter registration.

For the benefit of students and residents living in Williamson County, a special one-day voter registration drive will be held from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Wednesday at John A. Logan College. Plans are also under way for a one day vote drive at VTI, though the date has not yet been set.

During the voter registration process in the student activity rooms on the third floor of the Student Center, potential voters were given the opportunity to get acquainted with a new voting machine.

The machine, called Vot-A-Maker, is

Fred Fiedrich, junior in psychology from Peoria, examines the new voting machine Vot-A-Maker now being introduced in Carbondale. This model and several like it will be required by state law to be used for election before November, 1974 in counties with over 40,000 population. scheduled to be used in the November elections. A voter will be given a voting card with punch-out numbers on it. He will then insert the card into the machine and use a metal stylus to punch out the numbers of the candidates of his choice. The candidates will be listed by name and office in a booklet attached to the machine which corresponds with the numbers on the card.

Mary Chew, member of the County Board of Supervisors, said the new voting machine is being introduced in Carbondale because "counties with over 40,000 population are required by state law to have some type of voting machine before November 1974."

She said that the machines are being demonstrated by volunteers who have been giving demonstrations since August.

"We have been demonstrating the machine to schools, parents and teachers organizations, civic and fraternal organizations, women's groups, fraternal groups and others," she said. "Any group that wants a demonstration, we'll be happy to set it up."

She said the machine was being used on a trial basis for the November elections and that the machine "costs less than it would take to pay tally judges."

She said that three companies sold the machine and that the machines were being rented from the VIP Corporation in Northbrook.

The machine is on display in post-offices around the county, in political party headquarters, in the Office of the County Clerk, in the Student Center and other places, according to Ms. Chew.

Senator says pilots had 'blank check'

By John Lengel
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard Schweiker, (R-Pa.) said Friday he thinks Navy pilots had a blank check for bombing North Vietnamese targets, violating the spirit, if not the letter, of air war rules.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, (R-Ariz.) disagreed with Schweiker after closed-door testimony by Adm. Thomas Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"We've been listening to a lot of crap," Goldwater said. "Moorer is setting the record straight."

Moorer reportedly told senators investigating unauthorized air raids that the Navy strictly abided by air war rules.

Schweiker said: "I think the spirit of the rules of engagement were violated. Whether there was a technical violation is not nearly so clear."

"It gave them a blank check to hit any target they wanted to hit."

The committee has been investigating civilian control over the military and the firing of Air Force Gen. John D. Lavelle.

Most of the inquiry has concentrated on unauthorized Air Force raids, but in the past two days, witnesses were asked whether the Navy was involved.

Schweiker referred to a wide range of testimony that included Moorer, two Navy pilots and the pilots' squadron commander who preceded Moorer.

Hijacker sentenced; ransom still hidden

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—The man who admitted hijacking an airliner with 49 passengers aboard May 5 was sentenced to life imprisonment Friday, with the whereabouts of the $303,000 ransom money still his secret.

U.S. District Court Judge Oren L. Lewis told Frederick W. Hahneman his sentence will not be reduced even if Hahneman discloses the location of the money he had when he parachuted into a Honduras jungle.

"This sentence should be a deterrent to others," the judge said. "In this district they can't commit air piracy and get leniency."

Hahneman's court-appointed attorney, Louis Loutoulakis, told the judge that his 50-year-old client "is entering the twilight zone of his life. I don't want him to spend all of it in jail."

Lewis noted that Hahneman will be eligible for parole in 15 years and called the sentence "a compassionate one." Hahneman, an electronics engineer at Easton, Pa., pleaded guilty Sept. 12 to hijacking a Miami-bound American Airlines jet May 5 after it left Allentown, Pa. He had the plane stop at Dulles International Airport near Washington to collect the ransom, get six parachutes and supplies, and let the passengers and one stewardess off. Then he ordered the plane to take off and head south.

In the dawn hours of May, Hahneman parachuted into Honduras, the country where he was born. He surrendered to the U.S. embassy at Tegucigalpa, Honduras on June 7.

He refused to reveal where the money was and said he wanted it to be used for "humanitarian purposes." He never explained what purposes. Hahneman was reported to have told an FBI agent later that the money was in a secret bank account in Hong Kong.

Lewis, in sentencing Hahneman, told him, "You may have had in your own mind a very good motive using this as a means to get money for a good cause..."

Hahneman interrupted, "Your honor, please I don't wish you to elaborate on this."

"I know you don't want me to," the judge replied, "but you don't have any choice. I know this is stinging."

"This is not stinging," Hahneman said. "I just don't want to hear it."

AP Roundup

Senator says military no threat to civilians

WASHINGTON — Sen. John Stennis said Friday he thinks there was no serious challenge to civilian control in the unauthorized bombing attacks against North Vietnam.

Stennis, chairman of the armed services committee which completed hearing testimony about the raids Friday, told newsmen:

"These facts, as I understand them, do not show any drastic violation of civilian authority. So far, I'm relieved on that point, but I'm not making any final judgments."

Soviets train Syrians

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union disclosed Friday for the first time that its advisers are training the Syrian armed forces with the latest Soviet weapons.

Official word on the newest Kremlin move in the Middle East announced by the Communist party organ Pravda-confirmed a report last weekend by U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird that Moscow has begun airlifts of personnel and armaments to Syria.

Mass Murder trial begins

FAIRFIELD, Calif. — The prosecution in Juan Corona's mass murder trial began Friday outlining its evidence against the 38-year-old farm labor contractor accused of killing 25 men in the spring of 1971 and burying them in makeshift graves along the Feather River.

Prosecutor Bart Williams told a jury of 10 men and two women that witnesses would testify how they found the bodies of the itinerant farm laborers on ranch land north of Yuba City between May 21 and June 5, 1971. Williams said most of the victims had been hacked or stabbed and one of them had been shot in the back of the head.

Taiwan cuts diplomatic relations with Japan

By Maurus Young
Associated Press Writer

TAIPEI, Taiwan (AP) — Chiang Kai-Shek's government bitterly announced Friday night that it is severing relations with Japan because of that nation's "perfidious action" in establishing relations with mainland China.

The Nationalist Foreign Ministry accused the Japanese of ungratefulness. It reiterated Taiwan's 23-year-old "fundamental policy" of recovering mainland China.

The announcement came as dispatches from Bonn and Peking reported another blow to Taipei - West Germany and Peking have completed talks on establishment of diplomatic relations and an exchange of ambassadors.

The statement accusing the Japanese of acting "in total disregard of treaty obligations" was issued 12 hours after Japan and Communist China issued a joint communique announcing their accords. Then the Japanese foreign minister, Masayoshi Ohira, said Japan could not continue diplomatic ties with Taiwan.

The Taiwan statement charged that the Japanese government of Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka "has unilaterally nullified the Sino-Japanese peace treaty, recognized the Chinese Communist regime and broken diplomatic relations with the Republic of China."

This last term is the formal designation of the regime known in the United States as the Nationalists. It holds power only in Taiwan.

The statement did not go into the question of economic and cultural relations with Japan.

It brought up what it called Japan's "great historical crime" in invading China in the 1930's.

"The Chinese Communists taking advantage of our government's total mobilization of troops and people in resisting the Japanese invasion, expanded their military strength and their rebellious activities and eventually overran the mainland of China, bringing untold suffering to the 700 million Chinese people," it said. It noted that the Nationalist government accepted Japan's surrender and concluded the treaty in 1952 making peace between Japan and China.

The most concerned Japanese businessmen were the manufacturers of electric appliances, textiles and petroleum chemicals who have heavy direct capital investment in Taiwan.

More than 300 armed policemen and security agents stood guard around the Japanese Embassy here to prevent any violence.

women a week," and that women actually call the clinic for an appointment. "It's called a referral service because this is the way most women identify it, she said.

I don't deal with an agency. There is no cash in-advance-policy. The girls take the information and call the clinic themselves."

Many girls like to have company on the way to the New York clinic, she said. I'll take the girls' first name and phone number to get them together so they can split travel expenses if they are traveling by car."

Right now, Ms. Hawks said, information on abortion referral services is "travelling by word of mouth." Sometimes, she said, the girls tell her that Synergy, a crises intervention center, or some other campus organization has referred them to her.

"Once or twice a month I'll get a call from Springfield, although I'll never question a girl as to who referred her," Ms. Hawks said.

Ms. Hawks said she thinks there is a great need for this kind of information service in Southern Illinois. "It's not only a service to the University, but to the whole area," she said.

"Many women, in and out of the University, married and unmarried, for one reason or another need or want to have an abortion," she said. "If I can supply them with all the information they need, then they have an easier time."

The cost of an abortion in New York, Ms. Hawks said, "is $100-$150." This includes transportation to and from the airports. Airfare, she added, was another $94.

Often, she said, a woman cannot afford the price of an abortion. In those cases, she said, some kind of arrangements can be made between the clinic and the girl.

Contrary to popular belief, she said, most girls do not need any type of counseling. "It's very infrequent. People think girls need counseling, but they don't. Rarely do I hear of a girl needing counseling because she has an abortion."

Ms. Hawks does, however, refer those girls who want to talk to someone to Clergy Consultation, a non-denominational service.

"I don't see abortion as a problem," she said. "If someone wants to talk it over—fine. But I see it as a form of birth control."

In most cases, Ms. Hawks said, costs of abortions are tax deductible. "It's a legal operation in New York so you can claim it. When a woman requests the operation, as long as it's a licensed facility and a licensed doctor, she can deduct it. The transportation is deductible also," she said.

According to Ms. Hawks, there is no embarrassment involved for any woman in deducting an abortion from her federal income tax. "Just add the total including laboratory tests in with all the rest of the doctor bills. Nothing on the receipt says what kind of medical care you've had."

She said the only way a woman would ever have to show her receipts is if the Internal Revenue Service was to check her income tax.

Agnew attacks McG war record

By Don McLeod
AP Political Writer

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew wooed the South Friday with an attack on George McGovern's Vietnam war record, and Sargent Shriver courted the industrial Midwest by saying a union man who votes for President Nixon is voting against himself.

Shriver also met in Cincinnati briefly with Frank King, the Ohio AFL-CIO chieflain who has been cool to the McGovern-Shriver ticket. And while Shriver said he didn't get an endorsement, he quoted King as saying in the private talk "he would never vote for Nixon-Agnew."

McGovern rested at his place on Maryland's Eastern Shore and prepared a television speech. Nixon attended to White House business.

Agnew ran into what was probably the most serious heckling of the campaign when he opened a two-day, three-state Southern foray with a speech in Tampa faulting McGovern on the war.

About 40 hecklers repeatedly interrupted the vice president's talk. At one point his supporters sought to out-chant the protesters, but Agnew said, "I don't want you to feel you have to respond to these outbreaks."

Despite the interruption, Agnew finished a speech in which he accused McGovern of a history of contradiction on the war. He said that the Democrat would now abandon the South Vietnamese to their aggressors.

"He voted for the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution in 1964," Agnew said. "He voted against its repeal in 1966. And as late as 1967 he said 'I am not now nor have I ever been an advocate of unilateral withdrawal.'"

Shriver met for 15 minutes with King after a Cincinnati speech and reported "we had a complete meeting of minds about the situation in Ohio."

"He pointed out that as president of the AFL-CIO in Ohio he is required to remain neutral," Shriver said. "He said he would never vote for Nixon-Agnew."

Shriver had just concluded a speech in which he told the Ohio Building and Construction Trades Council that "any labor leader, no matter how highly placed he is, who is telling you to vote for Nixon is telling you to vote against yourself."

Civil Liberties to enter nudity case

By Jurate Kazickas
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Rochelle Gilbert thinks nude sun bathing is natural and beautiful, but New York State calls it a crime.

The 27-year old secretary took off her bathing suit on a public beach last August and was arrested and charged with public lewdness.

The New York Civil Liberties Union will defend her, contending that her prosecution is "inhuman, illegal and unconstitutional."

At a news conference at the Civil Liberties offices, Liz Schneider, a law student from the Center for Constitutional Rights, said that while Miss Gilbert did expose her body, she did not do it in a lewd manner.

"It's outrageous for the state to say that the mere existence and exposure of the naked human body can be a crime worthy of as much as six months in jail," said Miss Schneider.

Miss Gilbert was dressed for the conference in a pink and brown body suit and nail studded blue jeans.

She said she had gone topless on that same beach—on Mill Island in the Sheepshead Bay section of Brooklyn—for the last three summers. This year, she said, taking off her bathing suit seemed like the most natural thing to do on a lovely sunny day. She played ball with some suited friends and then lay down.

"A crowd soon gathered around me.

The men seemed to be enjoying themselves at first, taking pictures. But the women were very hostile, jabbing me, throwing sand at me, and calling me all kinds of names like 'pig' and 'liberal.'"

At one point more than 50 people were gathered around. Soon the police were called and took her away.

Miss Gilbert says her body is beautiful. She didn't put her suit on despite the hostile crowd "because that would have acknowledged that I had done something wrong."

"There are many statues of nude bodies and people find them beautiful. But if you stand next to a nude statue nude yourself, then people think that's perverted," said Miss Gilbert. "People should have the option to enjoy the beach the way they want to."

The case comes up for a hearing in Brooklyn Criminal Court on Monday.

West Germany, China to sign pact after 3 months of secret talks

By Anthony Collins
Associated Press Writer

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Willy Brandt's regime achieved a breakthrough agreement Friday on opening relations with mainland China. This echoed Japan's move the same day and risked a delicate balancing act for Brandt's relations with Russia.

The Foreign Ministry announced that three months of secret West German-Chinese talks in Bonn ended successfully Friday.

Foreign Ministers Walter Scheel of West Germany and Chi Peng-fei will sign a joint agreement on exchanging ambassadors during Scheel's Oct. 10-14 trip to Peking, the first ever to that capital by a West German foreign minister, the announcement said.

Informed sources said Scheel and his Chinese hosts, including Premier Chou En-lai, will discuss boosting trade as well as an air traffic agreement and scientific and cultural exchanges.

The breakthrough came only hours after Japan and China agreed to resume diplomatic relations, an action which prompted Nationalist China to break relations with Tokyo. West Germany has no diplomatic relations with Nationalist China.

Anticipating Soviet annoyance at the West German approach to China, Moscow's archival in the Communist world, Brandt's regime stressed that its China policy is not directed against anyone.

This was an attempt to balance the advantages of enlarged trade and other ties with China against the tension-easing advantages of Brandt's Ostpolitik—his Eastern policy of reconciliation with the Soviet bloc.

Ostpolitik already has helped ease Berlin tension, and Brandt wants to continue it, through a proposed treaty improving relations with East Germany.

Bonn sources said the overture to China probably would not please Moscow, but the Russians were not expected to take any drastic action against Brandt's regime with a West German election coming up Nov. 19. Favoring Brandt over his hardline anti-Communist opposition, Moscow is believed anxious to avoid hurting Brandt's re-election chances.

Chicago wows Arena with diverse style

By Kathie Pratt
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

"Chicago" appeared at the Arena Thursday night. They said they would play a full two hours. They did not. It was assumed their music would sound the same as their albums. It did not.

Disappointing? No. For Chicago played just under three hours. Chicago reached into the depths of musical expression to come up with sounds that lifted the audience beyond the physical boundaries of the domed Arena.

Sure, they did the songs from their albums. But they did it with so much more vitality that to compare the two presentations would be absurd.

Chicago did not, nor do they ever, use a back-up or warm-up group. This may or may not be a good idea, because when they came on stage they spent 15 minutes milling around, getting on to the key everyone else was playing in and shaking out the kinks acquired after a month of laying around.

Then again, they kind of reflected the audience. People were walking in late, checking out their friends who were present and trying to find a seat among the audience of 6788 in the darkened Arena.

But once they got it all together, Wow. Dynamite.

In the iridescent splendor of multicolor lights, Chicago lit the audience with a rendition of "Beginnings," one of their "oldies but goodies" from the first of their five albums.

They moved into some rhythm and blues, jazzed to a few of their album numbers and provided coconut music with a bongo beat.

Chicago is versatile. Their music fits into a category about as well as an elephant in the bathtub. Each of the seven musicians has a style of his own, but it is a style that doesn't conflict with the syncopated togetherness of Chicago's sound.

Pete Cetera, bass guitarist and one of the lead vocalists, has a beautiful voice—almost like the clear pitch of a young choir boy. But singing is only part of his charm. He writes and arranges the music for many of the group's songs. Aside from that, he puts an appealing wriggle into his warbling.

a chance to emerge. Chicago didn't give just a musical concert; they had a jam session as well. In deviating from the written score of their music, they displayed an individuality of style, a professionalism of tone and a creativity of form.

People who came to see them and were unsure of what to expect, generally came away impressed. Undecided jazz lovers became fans.

When Chicago finished their performance, the audience stood up and cheered. Then they begged for more.

After ten minutes of bedlam, Chicago came back and created a whirlpool in which no one was left untouched.

A Review

Walt Parazaidar on woodwinds and James Pankow on the trombone play each note as if they were participating in a test of precision. Lee Loughnane on trumpet provides the group with a quality sound and versatile pitch range.

Robert Lamm does what he must to get the sound out. If it means plucking strings inside the piano, he'll do it.

Providing the keyboard instruments and vocals for "Color My World," Lamm just about brought the audience to tears with his tender and deeply moving performance.

Danny Seraphine on drums and Terry Kath on guitar showed that mastery of the medium is taken for granted when diversity of style has

More money spent for recordings

NEW YORK (AP) — Manufacturers' sales of phonograph records and prerecorded tapes were up 5 per cent in 1971 over 1970, the Recording Industry Association of America says.

Sales of phonograph records were up 5.8 per cent, to a high of $1.251 billion, against $1.182 billion the previous year. Of this total, LPs accounted for $1.096 billion in 1971, compared with $1.017 billion in 1970.

The increase is due in part at least to a rise in prices.

Total sales of prerecorded tapes in 1971 amounted to $493 million, an increase of 3 per cent over the $478 million in 1970.

The association estimates that piracy and counterfeiting of tapes took around $150 million away from legitimate sales.

Two performances Sunday for musical 'Godspell'

● Tickets for "Godspell," the rock musical based on a translation of the gospel according to St. Matthew, will be available over the weekend at the Student Center and Shryock Auditorium.

● Tickets for the 8 p.m. Sunday, performance of the rock-musical will be available at the Information Desk in the Student Center Saturday.

● On Sunday, the box office in Shryock Auditorium will open at about 1:30 p.m. for the 3 p.m. performance and at 6:30 p.m. for the 8 p.m. performance in Shryock.

● "Godspell" is in the genre of musicals like "Tommy" and "Jesus Christ Superstar." Both disciples of Jesus and Jesus himself are garbed in colorful, gypsy costumes. Only during the last sequences of the production do the Passion and Crucifixion enter into the performance.

Currently running at the Promenade Theatre in New York, and in several theaters abroad, the production boasts a cast of professionals in each city. Creator and director John-Michael Tebelak, a resident of New York, is the recipient of several drama awards for his work.

In addition to the 1971 Drama Desk Award, Tebelak has been tagged "Theatre Man of the Year" by several journalists.

● Ticket prices for the performance are $3, $4 and $5 for general admission and $2, $3 and $4 for SIU students. Season tickets for the nine performances in the Celebrity Series will still be on sale after the Sunday performance, Paul Hibbs, coordinator of Special Programs said.

● "We will have to prorate the price of the tickets, but a savings will still be available to persons wishing to purchase season tickets, he said.

Hibbs also reported that "there are plenty of good seats available for the "Godspell" performance."

Mitchell Gallery features national, regional artists

Visitors entering the Mitchell Gallery during the month of October will find themselves in another world. Or, to be more precise, 46 other worlds.

"Small Environments" is the title of the exhibition which will be showing at Mitchell from Oct. 1-26. The opening reception will be held from 7-9 p.m. Sunday at the Gallery.

The exhibition, conceived by University Galleries and organized in cooperation with the Madison Art Center, Madison Wisconsin, is comprised of the three dimensional works of 46 different artists.

Using such materials as fur, clay, wax and metal, the artists have created individualistic environments within closely defined spaces.

Ernie Graubner, assistant curator of University Galleries, said the works should serve to "enlarge the frame of reference of the visitor." In addition to the exhibition, SIU and the Madison Art Center have published a slide catalogue containing forty-six 35mm color slides and a checklist of the exhibition.

In the exhibition will be works by artists of both regional and national reputation. Included in the latter category will be Joseph Cornell's "The eagle, The Arrow, and the Dolphin," which Graubner calls "the father of box environments." The exhibition can be seen at Mitchell Gallery, Home Economics Building from 10 a.m.-4 p.m., Monday through Friday. Admission is free.

English department booklet offers course descriptions

A booklet has been published by the English Department to give students a more in-depth preview of English courses.

"The Department of English course descriptions for Fall, 1972," lists courses and includes outlines of course objectives, instructors' names, number of exams and papers required and a complete course booklet.

William Simeone, English department chairman, who originated the idea, said the booklet will be published quarterly to keep students aware of English curriculum changes.

Approximately 130 booklets have been distributed to academic advisors. If a student has special interest in English, he can use the pamphlet to see exactly what to expect upon enrollment.

Someone said publishing was made at a "moderate" expense and that a few compliments have already been received. However, it is too early to determine success of the booklet, he said.

"It will take a year or two to adequately judge the effectiveness," Simeone added.

Buffalo Tro for marrieds set Oct. 7

Softball, volleyball, assorted children's games and the "best steaks you've ever eaten" head the schedule for the sixth annual married students' Buffalo Tro at 3 p.m. on Oct. 7 in Evergreen Park.

Reservations are currently being taken by the married students office and central ticket office in the Student Center according to Dick Kalina, Buffalo Tro organizer.

The Tro includes all the food you can eat and marinated sirloin steaks cooked on hard wood coal without a grill, Kalina said.

Lee Chenoweth, advisor for Married Students Activities Council, sponsor of the event, said pioneers had a way of cooking strips of buffalo meat by throwing them on the fire.

"We're using sirloin—buffalo being rather hard to get hold of," he chuckled.

The Buffalo Tro is an effort to get married students and their families together.

All married students have to bring to the Tro is silverware. Reservations should be made by Monday.

SIU music groups to sing

Students from 11 high schools throughout southern Illinois are scheduled to attend the annual Southern Illinois High School Choral Clinic and SIU Choir and Male Glee Club presentation to be held at SIU Saturday.

The clinic, an event held for over 30 years, is set from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. in rooms 151 and 161 of Lawson Hall.

The activities are designed by the School of Music to introduce new ideas in music and musical literature to young students. This year's guest conductor is Martin Johnson, choir director at Fox Valley Senior High School in Arnold, Mo.

Lindberg tells fund sources

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Rep. George W. Lindberg, the Republican candidate for state comptroller, disclosed the names Friday of 737 persons who, he said, have contributed $80,214 to his campaign.

Making the announcements at news conferences in Chicago and Springfield, Lindberg said his largest contribution came from Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's campaign fund as the proceeds from two campaign dinners.

Lindberg of Crystal Lake is the first candidate for state office to disclose the amount and names of his contributors.

Dames Club to serve tea to married students

CAN A DRINK THAT HELPED DEFEAT THE JAPANESE SECRET SERVICE IN WORLD WAR II, HELP YOU GET THROUGH COLLEGE?

Answer the ten questions of the Brass Monkey Undercover Scholarship Contest, and win a year's tuition to college.

About a year and a half ago we introduced a drink called the Brass Monkey. It's made from a secret recipe we learned from an old friend of H. E. Rasseke, who was purported to be the Brass Monkey himself, an allied secret agent, operating out of Macao during World War II.

The legend of the Brass Monkey was so fascinating, we pieced together and reconstructed as much of it as we could in our advertising. It reads like a B-movie script, complete with spies, counter-spies, smugglers, soldiers-of-fortune, mercenaries, river pirates and mysterious disappearances.

If you've ever tasted the Brass Monkey and are familiar with the three ads that we've been running, you've got a pretty good shot at answering the following ten questions. To make it a little easier, we'll give you the headlines of the ads and where they appear.

Headlines: "The Brass Monkey Returns"
"The Brass Monkey is Worth Two Aircraft Carriers In The Coral Sea"
"Was The Brass Monkey A Woman?"

Where They Appear:
"Rolling Stone" October 12, October 26 and November 9

Remember, the best answers to these ten questions win a year's free tuition at any college of your choice in the country (provided you're enrolled, of course). Give it a try. You've got nothing to lose, and considering the price of education nowadays, an awful lot to gain.

Please mail all entries to:
Brass Monkey Undercover Scholarship Contest
Post Office Box 2016
Hartford, Connecticut 06101
Good Luck!

The Ten Undercover Questions

1. What was the name of the Japanese Secret Service?
2. How did the Brass Monkey Club get its name?
3. What was the name of the street where the Brass Monkey Club was located?
4. If the Brass Monkey was a woman, what two possible names could she have had besides H. E. Rasseke?
5. What is the color of the Brass Monkey Cocktail?
6. How did Admiral Kokura die?
7. Where is H. E. Rasseke reputed to live now?
8. During World War II, what was reputed to be the principal form of commerce in Macao?
9. What was the name of the quinine dealer?
10. Loyana sang "My Love is a Man of Gold." What do you think the lyrics of this song might have been?

HEUBLEIN COCKTAILS

All entries will be judged by an independent judging organization. No entries will be judged after 12/31/72. Employees and their dependents of Heublein, Inc., its subsidiaries, affiliates and their agencies or judging organization are not eligible for this contest.

Press meeting slated for envoy of China

A press conference with James Shen, ambassador to the United States from the Republic of China (Formosa), will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in Room 1032 of the Communications Building.

Shen is in the area to accept an award from the University of Missouri, where he received his master's degree in journalism in 1935. He was invited to visit SIU by President David Derge at the suggestion of Howard R. Long, former head of the School of Journalism and a long-time friend of Shen.

The Chinese diplomat was born in Shanghai in 1909 and received his bachelor's degree from Yenching University in 1932. He was a reporter for the China Press in Shanghai before studying at Missouri.

After receiving his master's degree, Shen joined the Central TEL AVIV (AP) — Electricity and water services have been extended to all parts of Arab East Jerusalem with the assistance of a municipal subsidy.

Crime in the U.S. triggers Demo, GOP campaign fight

By Tom Seppy
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crime in the nation has become one of the presidential campaign issues and both the Republicans and the Democrats are using the latest FBI statistics to advance their own arguments.

Depending on the speaker, crime is either growing beyond control and being papered over or subsiding and disappearing as a concern among Americans.

Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst released the FBI's midyear report Thursday evening. It said serious crimes reported by police for the first six months of this year were 1 per cent greater than for a similar period last year.

The Justice Department release said the increase was the lowest in the 12 years that the FBI has been issuing quarterly reports.

In a speech in Los Angeles, just prior to the release of the figures, Kleindienst said crime is far higher than it should be "but at the same time it is a pleasure to report that the crime wave is no longer rising any faster than the population. America is once again becoming a safe and lawful society."

Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern, on the other hand, said "There is so much crime in the country that the police can only deal with the most serious cases."

McGovern said crime has increased 33 per cent and drug addiction has doubled in the last three years of the Nixon administration.

John D. Ehrlichman, presidential assistant, said McGovern was "dramatically haywire" and said there had been a 20 per cent decline over the last three years.

With further questioning, it developed that McGovern and Ehrlichman were talking about different statistics. Ehrlichman, who asked to give the administration's percentage figure for the increase in the number of serious crimes, checked and reported that 1969-71 had seen a 19 per cent increase.

The Republicans cited the percentage of increases this year thus far, which were one per cent for violent and property crimes. The democratic critics stressed figures compiled before this year, which showed that the volume of crimes reported was much higher than in 1968, the Democratic last year in office.

Some accountants, scholars and law enforcement specialists recently questioned the veracity and significance of the crime data. Two analysts criticized the Washington, D.C. reporting system, saying downgrading of larceny and burglary statistics could account for a crime drop. The allegation was denied.

The United States figures are compiled and published by the FBI, but they are based entirely on voluntary reports by police departments around the country. The FBI does not normally check the figures or take any responsibility for them. The reliability of the latest figures also was challenged by Rep. John S. Monagan, whose House Government Operations subcommittee has been investigating record keeping procedures of the Washington police Department.

Monagan released copies of a letter from former FBI director J. Edgar Hoover in December, 1970. He questioned a sudden drop in reported larcenies of $50 or more, one of the statistical categories, between 1969 and 1970.

New peace organization seeks to educate everyone

By Larry Glowacki
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

As a new organization, the Indochina Peace Campaign (IPC) has been established at a time when the national peace movement has quieted since the violence of last spring.

Explained by Diane Balich, downstate coordinator for the Carbondale area, the IPC is intended to be "strictly educational. Its purpose is to bring out the truth about the Vietnam war."

She said that most of the work of the IPC will be concentrated in seven major states where its potential effects can be the greatest. Illinois heads a list which includes California, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

The goals of the IPC as stated in its program are:

- To expose the false claim that the war is "winding down."
- To support the right of self-determination of the people of Indochina.
- To increase resistance to the war.
- To defeat the Nixon strategy.
- To expand the anti-war movement.

The IPC has a number of resources upon which it can build. These include a slide show, films, graphic arts and literature.

The IPC has also organized a "national visible education tour," which includes such anti-war luminaries as Jane Fonda, Tom Hayden, Jon Voigt, Pete Seeger, Rennie Davis, Donald Sutherland and Holly Near accompanied by Indochina experts and former POW's, according to the program.

Ms. Balich is one of the 15 people which make up the basic core group for the Illinois chapter. She was involved in the formation of the IPC in Chicago this August.

The IPC has office space at Hillel House at 715 S. University, but Ms. Balich said the IPC "is not meant to be focused primarily on students. It is aimed at everyone."

"The IPC intends to clear up a lot of the questions about American involvement in Vietnam," she continued. "We're going to work with everyone possible."

The IPC, she explained, is anticipating some formal support from groups like the Southern Illinois Peace Committee and Vietnam Veterans Against the War.

The first major activity at SIU planned by the IPC will be an Anti-War Week, tentatively scheduled for Oct. 11-17. Each day's activities, Ms. Balich said, would be centered around the purpose of explaining a different facet or result of the war.

Fonda and Tom Hayden, along with other members of IPC will visit SIU during Anti-War Week. Their appearance, however, has not yet been verified.

The main issues to be considered during the week include a general history of American involvement in Vietnam, the human cost of the war under President Nixon, the POW issue and political prisoners.

There is also a possibility, Ms. Balich said, that actress Jane

Anti-War Week is scheduled to be held in conjunction with the trials of what Ms. Balich called "the Free Forum 80" and the "Vietnam Center 3." Those on trial are mostly SIU students arrested during violent anti-war demonstrations at SIU last May.

Journalism to try fast-track advisement

Fast track advisement will be tried for the first time in scheduling winter appointments by the School of Journalism, according to Jane Delaney, journalism advisor.

Ms. Delaney said the principle behind fast track advisement is to allow most students to advise themselves. The only students ineligible for the new advisement procedure are first quarter transfer students, department transfer students, last quarter seniors and freshmen.

Advisement appointments will be given to those students who are ineligible for fast track or who have questions or problems at 9 a.m. Monday in the journalism advisement office. Fast track appointments will be given to seniors at 9 a.m. Tuesday; juniors and sophomores whose last name is A-G at 9 a.m. Wednesday; last name H-

O at 9 a.m. Thursday; and last name P-Z Friday at the advisement office.

The fast track system involves picking up a pre-signed registration form, filling in course selections, depositing the carbon copy into the journalism file and taking the remaining forms over to sectioning in Woody Hall, Ms. Delaney said.

"The radio-tv and the cinema and photography departments have been most helpful in sharing some of their experience with the fast track program with us," Ms. Delaney said. Both departments have used fast track registration before with success.

"The students have asked for the responsibility of planning their own programs, and with this new fast track system that will be possible," said Ms. Delaney.

College of Ed to fill panels

Nominations for candidates for student members on three standing committees of the College of Education will be accepted from 1-2:30 p.m. Tuesday in Davis Auditorium.

Dean Elmer J. Clark of the College of Education said the three groups are the Undergraduate Affairs Committee, the Student-Faculty Concerns Committee and the College Advisory Committee. He said undergraduate majors enrolled in the College of Education are invited to the Tuesday meeting if they are interested in serving or if they want some choice as to those nominated.

An election will be announced shortly after the slate of nominees is obtained, Clark said.

Article will benefit PR unit, author says

By Nancy Peterson
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

An article appearing in the September, 1972 educational issue of the "Public Relations Journal," is bound to enhance national prestige of SIU's public relations curriculum according to its author, Raymond Wiley, SIU's director, public relations education.

Besides enhancing SIU's prestige, Wiley said he hoped his article would attract more and better students to SIU and encourage the Public Relations Society of America (PRSA), St. Louis chapter, to cooperate to a greater extent with the Public Relations Student Society on the SIU campus.

The PRSA is an important source of student internships in the public relations field, he added.

Job interviews announced

Here are on-campus job interviews scheduled by University Placement Services for Oct. 27 through Oct. 31. Lists of interviews scheduled may be obtained and appointments may be made at the Placement Service office, Woody Hall, Section A, North Wing, Third Floor.

Friday, Oct. 27

Wiley's article deals with the problem of developing a public relations curriculum that can instruct students in both practical and theoretical worlds of public relations.

He said, "the content is somewhat controversial," because it calls for education of public relations students with broader backgrounds in behavioral and social sciences.

This is a break from the traditionally journalist oriented approach to public relations education.

Wiley points out in his article that SIU's public relations program is advanced in this respect because students in the program are required to take courses in business, marketing, administrative sciences, psychology, sociology, government, economics, design, speech and radio-television as well as journalism.

Diplomat talks about Chicago German history

By Nancy Peterson
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

When he first learned he was to be Consul General of the Federal Republic of West Germany in Chicago, Wolfgang Schumann was unhappy about the assignment.

He said all the things he had heard about Chicago while in Europe had to do with stockyards and Al Capone.

"No one told me about the beautiful lake or the beautiful Art Institute and other museums," he explained.

Schumann was in Carbondale Thursday night to present a speech entitled "Germany: A Personal Account of Her Modern History."

Schumann attributed Chicago's poor reputation in Europe to a European preoccupation with the studies of America's eastern cities and a lack of knowledge about the Midwest.

Schumann was born in Duesseldorf in 1928 and witnessed some of the events of World War II: the air attacks, the occupation by U.S. troops, the foundation of the Federal Republic of Germany and the development of the German constitution.

"The size of the country explains many things," he said. He said before he came to the U.S. he could not understand the need for a federal system of government. "Now, the federal set-up makes sense to me," he said. "It's understandable."

Before Schumann came to Chicago 10 months ago, he had been a book publisher, an editor of an export journal, a professor in German at a university in India, a foreign service press attache in Calcutta and a press and cultural attache in Burma.

As consulate general in Chicago, he helps U.S. students applying for scholarships and instructors who wish to teach in Germany.

Schumann said after World War II he witnessed Germany's slow development toward regaining a voice in European affairs.

Even though Germany was "shocked" by the Olympic tragedy in Munich, Schumann said he did not think the events would harm Germany in its international relations because, as he said, the tragedy could have taken place no matter where the Olympics were held.

Big Ten schools face tough opposition today

By Jerry Liaka
Associated Press Sports Writer

It could be Black Saturday for Big Ten football forces in a 10-game sortie against outside opposition with only two Conference clubs, nationally fifth-ranked Ohio State and No. 8 Michigan, regarded solid favorites.

Already down 4-7 in non-league play, the Big Ten sends four teams against foes reigning in The AP's top ten and three others engage opponents ranked in the second ten.

Michigan State 1-1 has the unenviable task of confronting the nation's No. 1 team, Southern California's free-wheeling Trojans 3-0, at Los Angeles Saturday night.

The only home Conference teams on the bristling slate, Ohio State 1-0 returns to action after two weeks rest facing undefeated North Carolina 3-0 and Michigan entertains Tulane in a meeting of undefeated teams each with 2-0.

Other top-ranked Big Ten foes include No. 7 Nebraska of the Big Eight 2-1 as host to Minnesota 0-2; No. 9 Louisiana State matching 2-0 records with invading Wisconsin, and No. 10 Notre Dame 1-0 against Purdue 0-2 at South Bend, Ind.

Iowa 1-1 visits No. 13 Penn State, Buf-feted Illinois 0-1 tackles No. 14 Washington in a nationally-televized contest. Northwestern 0-2 could break into the victory column at Pittsburgh 0-3. And Indiana 1-1 has a tough test at Kentucky 1-1.

Woody Hayes' Ohio State Buckeyes, favored to dethrone Michigan in the Big Ten race, can't regard too lightly North Carolina's Tarheels who have hurdled

Richmond, Maryland and North Carolina State.

"North Carolina has played three games and we have played only one, so that's a great North Carolina advantage," said Hayes. As for Ohio State's No. 5 ranking based on an opening 21-0 defeat of Iowa, Hayes said "my kids pay more attention to it than I do. You don't deserve much rating on the basis of one game."

Michigan coach Bo Schembechler also is wary over Tulane which last Saturday measured Georgia 14-13 while the Wolverines surprised touted UCLA 26-9.

"It behooves us not to take this game lightly," said Schembechler. "Tulane will be the best defensive club we have played so far."

Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty, while impressed by Southern California's great speed and strong blend of passing and running, still asserted: "I think we have the kind of team that can play with anybody, including the Trojans. If we can control the ball we'll be in it."

The nation's TV football fans will see in the Illinois-Washington game, a sort of David-and-Goliath quarterback duel between the Illini's inexperienced Tom McCartney and the Huskies' heralded Sonny Sixkiller.

Still missing injured veteran quarterback Mike Wells, Illini coach Bob Blackman commented after viewing films of the 55-20 loss to Southern California, "We're making little mistakes. We're close to being a good team."

Purdue, long a nemesis to Notre Dame, may be tough for the Irish to handle despite Boilermaker losses to Bowling Green and Washington.

Dry up

Once again rain interrupted the AstroTurf installation at SIU's McAndrew Stadium. Workers donned raincoats and moved the machinery to a drier spot. If the weather dries up over the weekend, the installers have agreed to work around the clock to get the turf laid before next Saturday's scheduled game with Dayton University.

Cautious motorists, the SIU Cycling Club is on the road again, and they plan to pedal around Crab Orchard Lake at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Last year the club schedule was made up of trips only. This year, club

Gibson wins, Cubs victim

CHICAGO (AP)—Ted Simmons' 16th home run of the season, a leadoff blast in the seventh inning, sparked the St. Louis Cardinals and Bob Gibson to a 4-1 National League victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday.

The Cubs scored in the third on a single by Jose Cardenal and a double by Jim Hickman.

St. Louis tied the score in the sixth when Lou Brock singled and moved to second on Rick Monday's throw behind him to first. He took third on a wild pitch and scored on Ted Sizemore's sacrifice fly. It was the first run off Chicago pitching in 24 innings.

After Simmons' home run in the seventh, St. Louis added two in the eighth on run-scoring hits by Ken Reitz and Jorge Roque.

The victory, a three-hitter, was Gibson's 18th. But Hooton took his 14th loss.

president Bruce Patterson wishes to include activities sponsored by the organization.

At the club's first meeting, held Monday night, topics of discussion were overnight trips and the ordering of T-shirts and emblems.

Club membership now stands at 30. The goal is 100 members, Patterson said.

The purpose of the club, according to Patterson, is recreation. "It is not a racing club," he added.

The club hopes to schedule activities such as movies or films on cycling to encourage membership during the winter quarter, Patterson said.

The club is currently helping in a Carbondale safety clinic to be held every Saturday morning. Members of the club will give talks to children on bicycle safety, Patterson said.

The club is considering joining the League of American Wheelmen, a bicycle club organization. The club presently belongs to no organization of cyclists.

Gridders face Wichita, runners meet Redbirds

Two Southern Illinois athletic teams take to the road for the second consecutive weekend with hopes of bettering last Saturday's overall 1-1 mark.

Seven days after a frustrating 7-0 loss to Lamar University, the Saluki football squad finds another tough battle with Wichita State tonight in Wichita, Kansas.

The contest starts at 7:30 p.m. (CDT) in 31,500-seat Cessna Stadium. Both WSIU-FM and WCIL-FM radio stations will cover the game live.

SIU meets a Shocker team that whitewashed perennial college-division power Arkansas State, 6-0, last weekend. Wichita State has a 1-2 season mark while the Salukis are winless in two contests.

In those games, SIU has scored no points while gaining a mere 214 yards

Allen to miss

rest of season

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Slugger Dick Allen of the Chicago White Sox, a top candidate for most valuable player honors in the American League, did not make the trip to Texas Friday.

Allen, who leads the league with 37 home runs and 113 runs batted in and has a .306 average, arrived at the airport in Chicago Monday only to be told by Manager Chuck Tanner to take the rest of the season off.

"I don't plan on using him anyway," said Tanner. "He's been playing with a bad knee and he's done such a great job for us he deserves the rest of the season off."

By missing the final six games of the season, Allen, who is second in the batting race to Rod Carew who has a .317 average, is forfeiting his chances for the triple crown.

Allen did not argue with Tanner and made plans to go to his home in Philadelphia.

on offense. That's why head coach Dick Towers has yet to make a final decision on the starting quarterback for Saturday's game. It could be either of three Salukis—Larry Perkins, Jim Sullivan or Billy Richmond.

The offense may be further hampered by George Loukas' bruised thigh. Leading SIU rusher from a week ago, Loukas will be replaced in the starting lineup by Sam Reed.

Saluki defense, which has allowed 23 points, may be handicapped with recent injuries to back Dennis O'Boyle, tackle Bill Crutcher and linebacker Gordon Richey.

Meanwhile, SIU's cross-country squad, an upset victor (21-36) in last Saturday's meet against Indiana, faces Illinois State at 11 a.m. today in Normal. The Salukis will be attempting their fourth win in a row in the 1972 campaign and seventh dating back to last year.

Head Coach Lew Hartzog feels SIU is the favorite in the duel, but is not overlooking the caliber of the Redbirds' abilities at all.

"The nucleus of last year's Illinois State team returns this year," he said, "and they should be tougher."

Illinois State placed second in the Midwestern Conference championships last November, topping SIU's third-place ranking.

Officials meeting set for Tuesday

A meeting for all interested flag football officials will be held from 4-6 p.m. Tuesday in Room 123 of the SIU Arena.

According to the Office of Recreation and Intramurals, it is imperative that all officials attend the meeting since flag football rules will be discussed. Officials must also have an ACT form on record at Washington Square.
