Guyon responds to women's issues

By Brad Bushue
Staff Writer

President John C. Guyon responded, evasively according to some members of the audience, to the issues identified by a temporary task force created to evaluate the status of women at the University.

Sexual harassment, subtle discrimination and recruitment and retention of women were among the subjects

Guyon discussed at a meeting of the Women's Caucus Wednesday afternoon.

Donna Kolb, an attorney representing a sexual harassment client whose case was overturned by Guyon in May 1987, said "I don't think he had anything to say for women."

Guyon approached the "prime recommendation" of the task force by announcing the establishment of a permanent woman's task force under the leadership of Uma Sekaran, the Department of Management chairwoman.

The first five members of the task force were named by Sekaran, who said the committee would "request the commitment and involvement of administration, work together using an undisputable, data-based management system and get set in the right direction."

The first step for the committee, Guyon said, would be to take data compiled on women at SIU-C, which states that salaries for women are lower than those of men overall, and work on a salary equity program.

Guyon addressed the revision of the Sexual Harassment Policy and Complaint Resolution

Poshard, Kelley show differences

By Scott Perry
Staff Writer

In an atmosphere resembling a high school basketball game.

Congressional candidates Patrick Kelley and Glenn Poshard debated the issues Wednesday night that one of them will face in January.

About 1,000 spectators packed into the gym at Shawnee Community College, carrying the banners of their favorite candidate.

Taking questions from a four-member panel, the candidates outlined their stances on such issues as the depressed Southern Illinois economy, taxes, national defense, the war on drugs and education.

Both agreed that higher education is in trouble and that something should be done about it.

Kelley proposed a follow-up on a George Bush proposal to create a savings plan to help meet the cost of higher education.

The savings bond system is being tried in Illinois and has been very successful, according to a representative of the Illinois Bureau of the Budget.

"There needs to be a commitment to promote higher education," Kelley said.

Poshard agreed, saying "better education will mean a stronger nation."

Poshard said he is in favor of federal policies to assist anyone that wishes to go to college as long as the policies were cost saving and efficient.

Both candidates said they thought the debate was a success. Kelley said the debate was successful in bringing out the differences between the candidates, which was a pre-debate goal.

Poshard said the voters can clearly see the distinction between the candidates.

Tuition guidelines could be exceeded

By Nora Bentley
Staff Writer

SIU has kept within the Illinois Board of Higher Education's guidelines that ask state universities to limit tuition to one-third the cost of instruction, but with the proposed tuition increase the guideline will be exceeded.

SIU is at 32.2 percent of the cost of instruction per student now, Ross Hodel, deputy director of the IBHE, said. Chancellor Lawrence Pettit said that it is not known how far over the guidelines SIU will go, because the instructional cost must be recalculated every year.

The University is close to the national average of state universities tuition and fees, Pettit said.

The average for tuition and fees from the National American Council on Education is $1,566. SIU's tuition and fees for the semester are $951.70.

"We're low for the kind of university we are," Pettit said. SIU is a research university, he said, and because of this "our cost of instruction is higher than others."

SIU has a more substantial library, more doctoral programs and other programs that cost more, he said.

"We're putting more into the education students are getting and charging less," he said. "We're paying for this

New student catalogs to be available soon

By Phyllis Coon
Staff Writer

The newest undergraduate catalog is hot off the press, but the director of University Publications said he's not sure when students will be able to get one.

"In about a week we should have a release date for students," Albert Mifflin, director of University publications, said. "Right now we're just releasing the catalogs to academic departments."

The newest catalog, which doesn't go into effect until fall 1989, has an aerial picture of Old Main Mall on the front cover and an aerial picture of the Arena on the back cover, George Forest, the editor of publications at University Publications, said.

Many students search University catalogs to choose a major, he said.

The University puts out three course catalogs. The undergraduate, graduate and School of Law catalogs contain course information and requirements that students must meet, Forest said.

The undergraduate and School of Law catalogs are printed yearly, but the graduate catalog is printed every other year, Forest said.

"Each year we print about 25,000 undergraduate catalogs," Forest said. "It costs the University, $150 a copy. The law catalog costs a bit more because of all the

Nitze's fingerprints not found on items

By Carrie L. Ferguson and Richard Goldstein

Forensic experts testified Wednesday that they didn't find either of the Nitzes' fingerprints on items connected with the murder of Michael D. Miley.

David M. Pittman of the Illinois Bureau of Forensic Sciences in Carbondale examined a piece of chrome trim recovered from Miley's car, a J.C. Penney receipt found in the Nitzes' trunk and an in-dash AM and FM cassette deck.

Pittman said neither Nitz's nor Rita Nitz's fingerprints were on the items.

State's Attorney Charles Garnati said items Nitz allegedly bought with Miley's credit cards after his death were not checked for fingerprints because that is not routine if another method of analysis is possible.

Glenn Schubert, also from the Bureau of Forensic Sciences, said a head hair found on Miley's wrist "appeared to be crushed."

A witness has testified that she saw Nitz beat a man with a baseball bat April 6 until he fell to the ground outside Nitz's trailer.

Schubert said he found no hair on a bat taken from Nitz' property. Hair found on Miley's body has not been identified.

Nitz is charged with the April 6 murder of Miley.

Sgt. Phillip Sylvester, Illinois State Police Department of Criminal Investigation, said he gathered mens' and womens' tennis shoes, mens underwear, a pair of Ace bandages and two pair of blue jeans from the Nitzes'

S. Korean students stage 1st try to disrupt Olympics

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — South Korean students surged into a wall of riot police to block a runner carrying the Olympic torch Wednesday in their first attempt to disrupt the Games beginning this weekend, witnesses said. Other students at a Seoul University tossed about 25 homemade firebombs at riot police who offered little resistance and refrained from using tear gas, other witnesses said. They said bus riders who watched that clash jeered the students and told them to go home.

South African commandos storm hijacked bus

MASERU, Lesotho (UPI) — South African commandos stormed a hijacked bus under the cover of darkness Wednesday, causing an undetermined number of casualties and freeing Catholic pilgrims held hostage by Lesotho guerrillas demanding to see Pope John Paul II. Witnesses saw the bodies of three men being loaded into an ambulance that rushed to a nearby hospital. Another ambulance was seen picking up other casualties.

Arafat talks of establishing independent state

STRASBOURG, France (UPI) — Palestine Liberation Organization chief Yasser Arafat, stating he is ready to meet Israeli officials to discuss establishing an independent Palestinian state, urged Israeli voters Wednesday to support "peace-lovers" among Jewish politicians. Arafat, in khaki military tunic and trademark Arab kaffiyah headdress, appeared elated and made strikingly conciliatory remarks towards Israel in a news conference on the second and last day of a European Parliament visit.

U.S. officials optimistic about MIA search

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — U.S. officials returned from Vietnam Wednesday, expressing unprecedented optimism after two days of talks in Hanoi on joint excavations to locate remains of Americans missing in action since the Indochina war. In addition to the MIAs in Vietnam, U.S. officials said 547 Americans are missing in Laos and a total of 2,388 U.S. servicemen are missing in the three communist Indochinese countries of Laos, Vietnam and Cambodia.

Committee votes for tough S. Africa sanctions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted 10-9 Wednesday for a bill calling for a virtual trade embargo against South Africa, but the harsh measure has little chance of becoming law. All Democrats on the committee voted for the House-passed bill, and each Republican opposed it on grounds the measure will leave the next president no diplomatic leverage to force an end to the apartheid system of racial segregation in South Africa.

Six at FBI reprimanded for political spying

WASHINGTON (UPI) — FBI Director William Sessions said Wednesday six mid- and lower-level employees have been disciplined for their role in an FBI spy operation aimed at opponents of President Reagan's Central American policies. But Sessions told the Senate Intelligence Committee that an internal FBI review of the case turned up "no evidence whatsoever" the six had done anything illegal or improper and they were punished for "supervisory inadequacies."

Shuttle mission control braces for hurricane

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Johnson Space Center workers, "expecting the worse," braced for hurricane Gilbert Wednesday with a special team standing by to safeguard NASA's crucial mission control center if necessary. The shuttle Discovery is scheduled to blast off on the first post-Challenger mission the week of Sept. 26 and NASA could ill-afford any major damage to its mission control complex, which is where shuttle flights are planned and executed, or to a nearby antenna facility where telemetry from shuttles is received for analysis.

Firefighters stop $10 million Sierra wildfire

GRASS VALLEY, Calif. (UP) — Firefighters doused smoldering tree stumps and hot spots Wednesday to mop up a $10 million wildfire that ravaged 52 square miles of Gold Rush country in the Sierra foothills. The blaze that began Sunday from an illegal trash burn was declared 90 percent contained as crews checked in at the Nevada County Fairgrounds to begin 12-hour shifts on the lines.

Kathryn Ward, left, co-chairperson of the Women's Caucus, and a sociology department faculty member, with University President John C. Guyon and Margaret Winters, chairwoman of the Department of Foreign Languages and Literature. Guyon is holding a book titled, "Women at SIU-C," a study comparing women's salaries to men's.

Chairwoman approved for task force

Guyon names
Sekaran to head
permanent force

By Nora Bentley
Staff Writer

Uma Sekaran said the newly formed permanent task force on the status of women to which she was named chairwoman Wednesday will be an advancement to the University as well as women.

Sekaran, professor and chairwoman of management, said she is enthusiastic about her new position, which was announced by President John

C. Guyon at a Women's Caucus program.

Sekaran prefers to call the task force the University Women's Professional Advancement Committee because "we are talking about the advancement of the University along with the advancement of women."

Sekaran said she was told the committee of the temporary task force chose her because of her awareness of the issues, her assertiveness, and the research she has done in women's studies.

The task force will be divided into four subcommittees to cover the different University constituencies — students, faculty, staff, and civil service employees. Four to five people will be on each subcommittee, Sekaran said.

Before recommending a policy, Sekaran plans to "touch base" with people who are the most knowledgeable about a subject and wants to inform the external community "to make sure policies are sound."

"I want to be very goal directed," she said. "I want to find the most optimistic time (for issues). I want to closely monitor my own progress." "If I can get enough information that this (problem) is happening they'll have to accept it. They may not like me, but they'll have to accept it," she said.

Two obstacles to be faced are that most policies and procedures have been established from a man's point of view, and that the awareness and consciousness of all people has to be raised, she said.

Sekaran said that the title of an article in the Sept. 1, 1988 Chronicle of Higher Education, "The Well-Being of Academic Women is Still Being Sabotaged — By Colleagues, By Students, and By Themselves," sums up the obstacles women face at the University.

Procedures.

Guyon was asked by a member of the audience for a personal commitment on informing the SIU-C population on sexual harassment. He said, "I'm trying, but I need educating too."

Improved guidelines for the sexual harassment hearing panel were also included in the revision and will help the panel function more smoothly, Guyon said.

Guyon faced audience reservations about the policy's empowering the president with final determination of the hearing panel's recommendations of guilt and punishment. He said it is essential for someone to insure a fair determination of the hearing.

Koib said the policy does not protect the complainant and says to victims of sexual harassment "do not file the complaint."

Joanne Paine, an associate professor in political science, said that since she has been affiliated with SIU-C, she has seen no positive changes except that more women are being interviewed for jobs — but more women are not being hired.

Paine participated informally in the recruitment of three women about five years ago. Two have since left the University because of sexual harassment, she said.

Paine said there have been no "clear and visible sanctions toward sexual harassment and unequal treatment at SIU-C. Imagination, strong support and sanctions are needed to stop this behavior."

"We're trying," Guyon responded.

"The way to deal with or postpone a problem is to create a task force," Paine said.

SIU-C must guard teaching resources

THE LOSS of graduate assistants has set the University on a dangerous downward spiral. The decline has been gradual, occurring over the past six years as the various departmental budgets have been trimmed.

While the decline in the number of assistants has not been great, 27 were lost last year and the number has not been calculated this year, the reduced number of assistantships is difficult to explain in the context of the contention that the University is on the threshold of coming into its own as a major research institution.

GRADUATE ASSISTANTS have been on the short end of the stick long enough. Too often they are called upon to do the less desirable jobs, such as teaching crowded, required courses. But, rarely do graduate students complain, at least publicly, about their assignments or the low pay they receive for faithfully carrying out these tasks.

For most graduate assistants, the satisfaction of the job — whether it be teaching a crowded classroom of freshman composition students or conducting research in the wee hours of the morning — must be reward enough. The assistants sure aren't getting rich on the salaries the University offers.

An assistant working toward a master's degree receives a salary of between $598 and $812 per month. An assistant working toward a doctorate receives a salary of between $676 and $820 per month. These salaries are for one-half time appointments, or an average of 20 hours per week.

WE CANNOT afford to lose this dedicated breed of students. By cutting the budget for assistantships, the University's message is that these positions are expendable.

If these teachers are expendable, the next logical question would concern the expendability of the courses they teach and the research they assist. Few, however, could argue that students do not need freshman composition. Researchers will testify that assistants are necessary for their projects.

THE COST of obtaining an education continues to increase. Assistantships are one of the few means graduate students have for being self-sufficient. As the budget for these assistantships declines, so will the availability of higher education for students from lower income families that depend on these salaries to help pay the cost of education.

The University cannot claim to reward hard work and excellence, while cutting back on one area of teaching where the main reward comes from the job and not financial considerations.

The recent brouhaha over increases in SIU executive salaries indicates that many in the University community believe there are other areas that are not so fundamental to the University as the graduate assistants. We agree.

Letters submitted by mail should include the author's address and telephone number. Letters for which verification of authorship cannot be made will not be published.

Viewpoint

Capitalizing on the inside track the ambitious, American way

Looking up from his paper, Slati Grobnik shook his head and said: "I see that there's another one of them feeding frenzies going on."

Are the bloodthirsty networks and the press at it again?

"No, I mean the Securities and Exchange Commission. They charged another bunch of those inside traders from Wall Street. Why are they always picking on these guys?"

That's a silly question. What they did was illegal.

"So is spitting on sidewalks and double parking. But is what they did really that wrong?"

SURE IT IS. They used inside information to get the edge, to make vast sums of money.

"What's wrong with that? Isn't that the American way, making all you can?"

But it must be done legally.

"Hey, don't you think most people would use insider information to make a fast buck if they had a chance?"

But that's the whole point. Most people don't have access to inside information.

"Well, whose fault is that? I say it's their own fault. If the average mope doesn't have the initiative to get some inside information, why pick on the guy who does?"

I HADN'T THOUGHT of it that way.

"Then you should. You think getting insider information is easy? No, it takes hard work. I read about these insider guys. They go at it 18 hours a day. They ain't clock-watchers. So aren't we supposed to respect hard work? Just look around this joint. What do you see?"

I see guys having a beer just like us. What do you see?

"I see guys reading the sports pages and looking at 'Wheel of Fortune' on TV."

So what?

"You think this young guy Michael Milken, who they just charged, spent his time that way? You think his pal Ivan Boesky did? You bet they didn't. They were out there

So here are these hard-working Wall Street guys who happen to be in a position to know something about some deals that are going down. Are they supposed to be stupid and ignore it, or smart and use it?

hustling for inside information, doing takeovers, using their God-given noddies while saps like us are talking about which football player puts powder up his nose.

"And what about family values and friendship and loyalty?"

WHAT DO FAMILY values have to do with it?

"Well, Milken helped his brother and his brother helped him. So they charged the brother, too. And they charged some of the Posner family, just because they helped each other. So what is it with the Reagan administration? Don't it believe in the American family? Or in friendship?"

But there should be limits. "That's not what I've been hearing. I hear that if you can do something for your kid, or your grandkid, you do it. If there's someone working in your family business who can help you, he does it. When you can, you make a phone call or two. And if you don't, what kind of cold-hearted no-good are you?"

THAT DOES SEEM to be the prevailing mood.

"Sure. So here are these hard-working Wall Street guys who happen to be in a position to know something about some deals that are going down. Are they supposed to be stupid and ignore it, or smart and use it?"

The law says they should ignore it.

"Then ain't they saying that it's better to be stupid than smart? Since when is it against the law to be smarter than the next guy?"

It's very confusing. But I think the idea is that by taking advantage of their special position, they profited at someone else's expense. Do you think that's fair?

"Who said life is fair? Go ask any American Indian. They saw a deal is what made this country great."

BUT WE MUST follow the law and observe the rules.

"Not when the laws and the rules are stupid. When that happens, you get a patriot like Ollie North being indicted. Or a fine young patriot like Danmy Quayle getting chewed up in a feeding frenzy. And now we got these fine patriots on Wall Street, just following the American tradition of getting the edge on the next guy, and they're in deep do-do."

I hadn't thought of it that way.

"Then you should. I think that before he leaves office, President Reagan should give Milken and Boesky and the rest of them pardons."

Aren't you going to extremes?

"Come on. They didn't break into an office and blow a safe, they didn't rob a bank, they didn't heist a Brink's truck, they didn't mug some old lady on the street, or snatch a gold chain on a subway. And they sure as hell didn't shoot anybody."

You know, I'm starting to see your point.

"OK, say after me: 'I pledge allegiance...'"

Reagan campaigns for Bush

President criticizes 'liberals' during Cape Girardeau visit

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (UPI) — President Reagan charged into the Midwest on behalf of George Bush Wednesday with an appeal to voters to allow Republicans to complete their mission and a warning that future generations would "dishonor us if now in a moment of sudden folly we throw it all away."

The president, pitching in to help his second-in-command in his campaign for the White House against Democrat Michael Dukakis, never mentioned the Massachusetts governor by name in remarks prepared for a Missouri appearance, but turned his rhetorical fire on "liberals" and the last Democratic administration of Jimmy Carter. Repeatedly boasting of administration accomplishments since 1981, the president noted that "America has traveled such a remarkable distance in the last eight years that the memory has faded of the economic and foreign policy crises that we faced when Vice President Bush and I took office."

"The truth is that when you take a walk down our opposition's memory lane, it starts to look like a 'Nightmare on Elm Street,'" Reagan added, referring to a popular horror movie in remarks prepared for delivery at Southeast Missouri State University.

"We have proved what works in foreign policy," Reagan said. "We have demonstrated time and again that candid rhetoric, a strong defense and tough diplomacy bring peace."

"What a great moment we have before us and, oh, how future generations will dishonor us if now in a moment of sudden folly we throw it all away," the president added.

Recounting economic and other problems of the late 1970s, the president — using a new favorite line — said when the American people needed a change in 1980 they called "George and me — the malaise busters."

dramatically at the department level. We need to do something about this."

A two-prong solution is needed to solve this problem, Pettit said. First, a tax increase for education would help, and secondly there is a need for a state tuition policy with "some teeth in it to provide equity and consistency among the 12 state universities," he said.

"We're caught in a real bind," Pettit said. "We believe in low tuition and quality, and don't believe those things should be incorp[or]able," he said.

President John Guyon said the general posture of the University has been to keep tuition low, and that the IBHE has "had an eye on the one-third figure."

"I think (the increase) will push (tuition) above the 33 percent if the increase is approved," Guyon said.

Bill Hall, Undergraduate Student Government president, said "yes, SIU is having more success at keeping our tuition at a lower instructional cost. My concern is that public education be supported by taxpayers at a quality level of private education."

color pictures."

The graduate catalog costs $1.20 a copy, Forest said.

"Everything has gotten so expensive to print," Forest said. "The University wanted to save money so the graduate catalog isn't printed as often. The courses don't change as much and it's printed for a smaller group of people."

The University catalogs have changed quite a bit in 20 years, Forest said.

"When I first started working here the catalogs printed included the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses," Forest said. "If something in the catalog only dealt with the Carbondale campus it had a 'c' after it, and if it dealt with the Edwardsville campus, it had an 'e'."

A few years later, the University began splitting the catalogs into campuses and then into undergraduate and graduate, Forest said.

"Changes come around often in the catalogs," Forest said. "There has often been talk of printing the undergraduate catalog every other year. But I think they've (undergraduate catalog) settled down to what they are going to be the next few years."

If any new changes come about for the undergraduate catalog, it would be that the catalog is put on a computer, Forest said.

"Right now we only have the graduate catalog on computer," Forest said. "Using the computer, we make the course changes and the material is already set in type for the printer," Forest said. "With the undergraduate catalog we write the changes out by hand."

Using a computer would shorten the time spent on the undergraduate catalog, he said.

David Letterman rewards average but creative students

By George Rains
San Francisco Examiner

At the entrance to Ball State University's new telecommunications department control room there's a plaque that reads:

"Dedicated to All C Students Before Me and After Me — David Letterman."

The comedian's own record at the Muncie, Ind., school was, in a word, average, said John Kurtz, telecommunications chairman. But Letterman did have periodic bursts of creativity and it is just such students — average, yet creative — who are awarded Letterman Scholarships for their senior year in telecommunications.

The Letterman award made the list of the 10 most unusual scholarships for 1988, compiled by San Rafael's National Scholarship Research Service.

In recent years, an average of $9.5 billion in public and private scholarships has been awarded. Ironically, some $6.5 billion in private scholarship aid goes unclaimed, the National Commission on Student Financial Assistance said.

Commercial search agencies like the National Scholarship Research Service try to help make a college education affordable by listing the embarrassment of riches available, however obscure. The service has a data base of more than 200,000 scholarships, grants, fellowships and loans.

Among the lesser-known scholarships:

■ The Gertrude J. Deppen Scholarship for entering freshmen at Pennsylvania's Bucknell University, available for students who have lived in Mount Carmel, Pa., for 10 years, who are graduates of Mount Carmel High, who do not smoke, drink or use drugs and who will not engage in strenuous athletic contests.

The $1 million Deppen award, along with another $4.5 million scholarship fund available to Mount Carmel, makes it one of the best-endowed high schools in the nation, principal Richard Beierschmitt said.

Fifty of the school's students have gone to Bucknell thanks to a donor who created the fund in the mid-'60s when Mount Carmel was a sports dynasty and its college-bound athletes seemed provided for.

■ The Frederick and Mary Beckley Scholarship, for needy and left-handed freshmen entering Juniata College in Huntingdon, Pa.

The Beckleys, both left-handed, met when they were paired on a tennis court in nearby Lebanon County in 1919 and established the fund at the small, private liberal-arts college in 1976.

The John Gatling Scholarship at North Carolina State University, available to students whose surname is Gatlin or Gatling. Applicants must provide a birth certificate; people who marry into the name are not eligible.

A Raleigh, N.C., developer established the scholarship, said financial-aid specialist Pat Lee, "to raise the standard of those bearing the Gatlin or Gatling name."

For any high school senior in the top 25 percent of his class who has been a caddy for at least two years — the Western Golf Association full-tuition scholarship.

For gifted chess players with a flair for tournament play — the Chess Talent Scholarship at Rhode Island College.

For students gifted in comedy or pantomime — scholarships from Laurel and Hardy fan Thomas Sefton, president of San Diego Trust & Savings Bank, and his friends.

"An Inside View: Photographs by John Divola and Chris Koules" is currently being exhibited through Sept. 25 in the lecture gallery at the Mitchell Museum in Mount Vernon.

The exhibition, which features 23 color photographs, is part of an ongoing series which couples the work of an emerging Illinois photographer with that of a photographer of national stature.

Both Divola and Koules photograph the interiors of homes, but their treatment of the subject differs greatly.

Koules' photographs reflect the personalities of the people who inhabit the homes. Divola's work, however, shows the vandalization and deterioration of an abandoned beach house in Malibu, Calif.

Koules, who received his master's degree in photography from the University of Illinois, is employed by Columbia College in Chicago.

Essay contest on humor set

By Diana Mivell
Staff Writer

International students with a sense of humor could win big in the 7th annual International Student Scholarship Essay Competition now underway.

This year's essay topic is important cultural clues found in humor. Diana St. Denis, president of DSD Communications, Ltd., and essay competition coordinator, said,

"The essay should compare humor in students' home countries with humor as they find it in America. Examples of humorous situations resulting from cross-cultural misunderstandings, either in the United States or on their first visit back to their home country should be included, St. Denis said.

St. Denis said the first prize is $1,500 to be used for academic or professional advancement. A second-place winner will be awarded $1,000 and a third-place winner will be awarded $500. Five honorable mentions will receive $100 each.

International Underwriters-Brokers, Inc. is sponsoring the competition and will award prizes.

A $350 award also will be given to the first place winner's international office, St.

Denis said.

The essay must be no more than 1,500 words and the competition is open to all full-time students enrolled in a prescribed degree or certificate-granting program at an accredited high school, junior college, college or university within the United States, St. Denis said.

Students enrolled in an English training program who plan to pursue higher education in the United States are also eligible.

Deadline for the competition is Dec. 1. For complete details stop by the office at 910 S. Forest, or call 453-5774.

Fellowships offered to minorities

The National Research Council will administer the Ford Foundation Predoctoral and Dissertation Fellowships for Minorities Program which will offer about 65 three-year predoctoral fellowships and 20 one-year dissertation fellowships.

The deadline for entering is Nov. 14.

Native American Indians, Alaskan Natives (Eskimo or Aleut), black Americans, Mexican Americans, Native Pacific Islanders (Polynesians or Micronesians) and Puerto Ricans are eligible.

The fellowships are designed to increase the number of these minorities with doctoral degrees in the population from which colleges and universities draw their faculties.

The Ford Foundation sponsors the competition, in which the minority citizens who are beginning graduate students or who are within one year of completing the dissertation, and who expect to work toward the doctorate or similar degrees may apply for a fellowship award.

Fellowships will be awarded in the behavioral and social sciences, humanities, engineering, mathematics, physical sciences and biological sciences, or for interdisciplinary programs made up of two or more eligible disciplines.

All applicants must have Graduate Record Examinations General Test scores for tests taken between Oct. 1, 1983 and Dec. 10, 1988, but those scores from tests taken between October 1986 and December 1988 are preferable because statistics on these tests will be reported to selection panels.

All applicants must be doctoral candidates and have completed all course work.

For details about applications and program administration, contact Ford Foundation, Doctoral Fellowships, The Fellowship Office, GR 420A, National Research Council, 2101 Constitution Ave., Washington, D.C. 20418.

Help offered for languages

Center provides
Tutors at no cost

By Diana Mivell
Staff Writer

¿Necesita ayuda con su segunda idioma?

If you are a student studying Spanish and don't understand the question, your answer is yes, you do need help in your second language. If so, you should know that free help is available in six languages at the new Foreign Language Help Center in the Foreign Languages and Literatures Conference Room, Faner 2114.

Christopher Cripps, junior in foreign language and international trade and director of the FLHC, said tutors are available in German, French, Spanish, Latin, Chinese and Russian. Tutors for Japanese and Greek are still needed.

The tutors have been broken down into section heads so each language has its own, Cripps said.

"All the tutors are teacher-approved and totally volunteer," Cripps said.

Each language has scheduled time slots during the week when students can get help, Cripps said. This schedule is tentative and will change as more languages are added. The tutors are required to stay in the center the entire hour they are scheduled.

"If student comes in with trouble any time during that hour, he or she can get help. Students may come and go as they please," Cripps said.

"As you teach someone else, you reinforce yourself. You may learn something you never knew or something you've forgotten," Timothy Vollmer, junior in Russian and mechanical engineering, and Russian section head at the FLHC, said.

Vollmer, who tutors two hours a week, said not many people have showed up for help in Russian, but it should improve as the semester goes by.

Lorelei Miller, junior in Spanish and mathematics and Spanish section head, said she is considering teaching when she graduates and tutoring will help her understand students' problems.

Foreign Language Help Center Schedule

	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thurs.
Spanish	10-11 a.m.	4:30-5 p.m.		1-2 p.m.
Russian	10-11 a.m.	8-9 a.m.	3-4 p.m.
German	10-11 a.m.	noon-1 p.m.	8-9 a.m.	1-2 p.m.
French	10-11 a.m.	8-9 a.m.	3-4 p.m.	2-3 p.m.
Chinese		noon-1 p.m.	4-5 p.m.
Latin		8-9 a.m.	3-4 p.m.

The Help Center is closed on Fridays. The schedule may change as tutors are added, which may allow for more languages to be tutored.

The center has been publicized by the teachers in the department to their classes and schedules have been posted through the language department, Cripps said.

Margaret Winters, chairperson of Foreign Languages and Literatures said FLHC is great for faculty to send students for reliable language help.

"Student tutoring helps because students benefit from that different approach that another student can provide," Winters said.

Matthew Warwick, senior in German and German section head, said he plans on teaching and the center will help him with his goal.

"I will be able to see how people learn and what their mistakes are," he said.

Warwick said the turnout for German tutoring has been minimal thus far.

"In a few weeks when students begin getting their tests back, some will realize they need help and start coming to the center," he said.

Karen Hibberd, assistant director of the center, said she enjoys the French language so much, any chance she gets to use it outside the classroom is a plus.

"I hope to improve my own understanding of the language and get the speaking experience through tutoring," Hibberd said.

Hibberd said pronunciation and sentence structure are among the hardest concepts to learn in French.

"I hope for the center to become established so that students pass on the excitement and FLHC becomes a part of what students get in their education," Winters said.

Handgun victim wants stiffer regulation

CHICAGO (UPI) — A state Senate subcommittee studying proposals to tighten controls on handgun owners heard a victim testify Wednesday that it is easy to "become an expert on being shot by a handgun" in Illinois.

being shot by a handgun," said Phillip Andrew, 20, of Winnetka, who was seriously wounded in a May 20 shooting rampage when Laurie Dann killed a second-grader and wounded five school children and Andrew, a senior history major at the University of Illinois, testified before the state Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Handguns about his views on handgun control in light of his harrowing encounter with Dann. "I represent the six people shot by Laurie Dann and those victims of handguns who cannot speak for themselves," he said.

In the wake of the attack at Hubbard Woods Elementary School, Andrew encountered Dann at his house nearby where he talked her into surrendering.

schools." Juan Martinez, the No. 5 player from Bogota, Colombia, is the team's only question mark. Martinez has suffered a swollen kneecap since the preseason.

"We'll see how he feels by Friday as to whether he plays or not," LeFevre said. "He may go and just play doubles."

Martinez suffers from an inflamed patella, an arca connecting muscles to tendons in his left leg just above the kneecap.

MEN'S GOLF: Coach Lew Hartzog takes a young team to Cedar Falls. Freshman Dirk Klapprott is playing the No. 1 spot for the team. All-conference pick Mike Cowen is coming back from a bout with mononucleosis, but is expected to pick up the pace later in the season.

Hartzog said he has no idea how the team will play, though he is anxious to see how his freshman recruits perform. Klapprott is one of five freshman golfers.

WOMEN'S GOLF: Last year's Gateway Conference championship team starts its fall season with some tough competition in West Lafayette, Ind. Coach Diane Daugherty said she expects stiff play from Illinois State and the Big Ten teams competing in the tournament.

Daugherty said that the team could place in the top three. The No. 1 spot on the team is held by junior Lisa Meritt. The three freshmen recruits who had outstanding high school careers are the ones to watch considering they are in the No. 2, 3 and 4 positions in the lineup.

WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY: The team will be heading into its toughest meet of the season at the University of Wisconsin-Parkside, located near Lake Superior's shoreline, to face a fierce 25-team field largely consisting of Division I schools.

The tournament will include teams from the Big Ten such as Wisconsin, Purdue, and Minnesota, all of which are perennially ranked among the nation's best teams.

Coach Don DeNoon said the meet typically displays 250 runners at the starting line and the level of competition will be very intense.

"A good goal for us is to try to finish three runners in the top 50 at the race," DeNoon said.

Senior Lisa Judiscak, who has not seen any action yet this season, is still out with lower back problems, DeNoon said the Salukis are going to find it very tough to repeat their performance of last year when they finished fifth. "There will be five Gateway Conference teams there and a realistic goal for us should be to finish ahead of them," DeNoon said.

the losing pitcher for Eastern Illinois.

In the second game, Kim Horvatich got the win in seven innings. Jennifer Brown was the losing pitcher, giving up four runs on six hits in four innings.

Kim Tummins, a sophomore outfielder, scored the Salukis' sole run. She also had two hits.

Leading Eastern's offense was second baseman Lynn Ramsey, who had three hits, and third baseman Ann Groden, who had two hits.

Athletics teams hit the road for weekend action

Staff Writers

Most of SIU-C's intercollegiate athletes are going to have to deal with long bus rides and all the hardships of road play this weekend.

The women's tennis team is at Eastern Illinois today and at a quadrangular meet at Indiana State on Friday and Saturday.

Field hockey is at Northern Illinois today.

Men's tennis is at the eight-team Murray State Invitational Friday and Saturday.

Men's golf is at the Northern Iowa Golf Classic on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Women's golf is at the Illinois State Invitational on Normal on Saturday and Sunday.

Women's cross country is at the Midwest Collegiates in Parkside, Wisc., on Saturday.

WOMEN'S TENNIS: Despite a season plagued with injuries, two pulled muscles won't keep the women's tennis team from playing up to its potential, Coach Judy Auld said.

Last week Maria Coch and Lori Edwards suffered pulled groin muscles. Auld said that although Edwards is still stiff and she has yet to see Coch practice since the injury, both should be fully recovered by today's meet at Eastern Illinois.

"We've had wins over all of them last year," Auld said, referring to last season's victories over Eastern Illinois, Western Illinois, Bradley and Indiana State. "But that was last year. Things change.

"(The players) have to realize that we started off with a really tough tournament. Now we just to pick up where we left off."

FIELD HOCKEY: After dropping three games at St. Louis this past weekend, Coach Julee Ilner's 2-3 team has a long weekend ahead of it.

Following tonight's game against Northern Illinois in DeKalb, the team takes on Central Michigan in St. Louis on Sunday.

MEN'S TENNIS: The men's eight-team, two-day tournament will feature some of the best teams in the Ohio Valley Conference. The eight-flight draw will put all No. 1 players against each other, all No. 2 players against each other, etc.

"If you can win your flight you're not a bad little player," Coach Dick LeFevre said. "That means you're better than seven other No. 1 players from some pretty good

Simpson earns starting role

Determination helps spiker lose weight for new season

By Lisa Warns
Staff Writer

Lori Simpson, who played in only 24 of the volleyball team's 34 matches last season, said she wanted to make a larger contribution this year.

By working out and sticking to a controlled diet during the offseason, Simpson shed 15 pounds and has since earned a starting position.

"I felt that at a lower body weight, I'd be a better player," Simpson said. "I wanted it (weight loss) and they (her teammates) wanted it."

The trimmer Simpson has already demonstrated her increased mobility and fierce hitting ability. Her 66 kills are second-best on the team through six matches.

"Lori is taking charge (of herself) by losing weight and improving her strength," Coach Debbie Hunter said. "Through nutrition counseling, she became more conscious of her weight. She has made an outstanding training improvement."

Simpson, a sophomore outside hitter, was named by her teammates as the winner of the Flo Hyman award, which goes to the team's most improved player.

Hyman, a member of the 1984 U.S. Olympic women's volleyball team, died shortly after the Olympics while playing professionally

LEADING THE WAY
Lori Simpson has led the volleyball team in the following statistical categories in matches this season.
Sept. 8 - 8 Kills, 3 Blocks
Sept. 8 - 2 Aces
Sept. 9 - 22 Kills
Sept. 10 - 18 Kills, 4 Aces

in Japan.

"I was suprised (to win the award)," Simpson said. "It made me feel good that the other team members had faith in me."

Simpson said the first step in her training was planning meals with nutritionalist Kate Zeigler in the spring.

"I cut down on red meat and meal portions and ate a lot of fruits," Simpson said. "Instead of snacking, I would go on a bike ride."

She also followed the prescribed summer volleyball workouts which included running and lifting weights.

"This year I'm more in shape and I know what to expect," Simpson said. "Team-wise, everybody was ready to go."

If she could do one thing over, it would be to improve her play at the five game loss to Iowa in the Salukis Invitational this past weekend. SIU-C fell to 2-4 after the tournament.

"I need to work on defense," Simpson said, "especially back row. My serving is up and down." Simpson is prepared to be a leader on the court. She said, "Sometimes I feel overshadowed, but it (leadership) comes out. You go with your feelings."

Softball splits twin bill

By Troy Taylor
Staff Writer

The women's softball team, in its first action of the fall exhibition season, split a doubleheader with Eastern Illinois on Thursday in Charleston.

Right-handed pitcher Traci Furlow went the distance in the first game, leading the Salukis to a 3-2 victory. Furlow, a sophomore, allowed only three hits.

Eastern Illinois easily won the second game 5-1, capitalizing on eight base hits and three SIU-C errors.

"I'm pleased with our first game," Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer said. "We had better pitching, clutch hitting, and defensively, well, it was good sound softball."

Despite getting six hits, the Salukis lost their intensity in the second game.

"We put the ball in play," she said, "but it didn't jump off the bat. We seemed to have lapses."

Eastern Illinois, which has a 4-2 record in the fall, never led in the first game. The Salukis scored two runs in the second and another in the third before the Panthers got on the scoreboard.

Mary Jo Firnbach had a triple, a single and two runs scored in the first game. She scored on Angie LeMonnier's two RBI, two-out double in the second and then on freshman Kim Johannsen's single in the third.

First-year football coach Rick Rhoades would like to say that the McAndrew Stadium crowd at Saturday's home opener will be a big plus. But he doesn't want the team to rely on the crowd.

"I don't think rely is the right word," Rhoades said when asked how much of an impact they will have. "I hope the crowd is a big factor in the game, but I can't assume. I know they should be positive."

Rhoades said the game will be a further indicator of the progress practices have yielded.

"This is a big game in that we have a good chance to win," he said. "It will let us measure progress. We'll just have to wait and see what's going to happen."

Although he said the Salukis should be ready for Murray State, Rhoades said no coach can predict the future. "I have never known a coach that knew (how well his team would do)," he said.

"Practices have been a little up and down this week. There is no such thing as just another game and there's nothing we do that is unimportant."

Rhoades said one aspect of the team that needs work is maturity. "Sometimes we do things that don't make a lot of sense," he said. "We've got to keep pushing."

week. We're just not very mature at times."

The offense is becoming more consistent, he said, but it also needs more work.

"They are still young and inexperienced. It takes time to grow," Rhoades said. "It's not that they aren't trying. This isn't really a panic situation, though."

Rhoades said among the things the Salukis must do if they want to beat the Racers is contain kicking returns. "We cannot afford mistakes on the kicking game."

"We have to start out well. The most important thing is we can't wait until the fourth quarter to play football."
