SIU Facilities Put In Busy Week

Campus facilities at SIU work a 58 hour week providing classroom and laboratory space for students, according to a new space utilization survey prepared by the office of business affairs.

National average for colleges and universities is 44 hours per week.

At SIU, classes meeting during the noon hour, evenings and Saturday mornings account for 25.33 per cent of all class periods held during the week.

Evening and Saturday morning classes are standard procedure as Southern's students make maximum use of the 122 classrooms and 79 laboratories. Old Main is still the "work horse" of the University; its 39 instructional rooms housing 34 per cent of all classes held each week. Parkinson Laboratory, which houses the departments of Chemistry and Physics, uses its facilities throughout the 58 hour week.

The addition of five new buildings, to be completed in the fall of 1965, will add 103 classrooms and 55 laboratories, but this will not be a net gain, the survey points out, as these new buildings will take land space now occupied by 15 temporary structures that house 20 classrooms and 13 laboratories.

"Never on Sundays" is about all that's left of the traditional school week," said Rino Bianchi, administrative assistant, who prepared the space utilization report.

Has Signed Statements From Complaining Athletes

Student President Bill Fenwick said he definitely will back up his statements concerning the mistreatment of athletes at this Thursday's Student Council meeting.

He said that he will present signed statements from a number of Saluki athletes documenting their complaints of mistreatment by coaches and the athletic department.

The Council last Thursday ordered Fenwick to produce any evidence he may have to back up his statements over that past few weeks that athletes are being mistreated.

Council chairman Ted Hutton said that the meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the University Center will be open to the public. Earlier it had been reported that it would be a closed session.

Hutton added that the entire meeting will be devoted to straightening out the present controversy.

Athletic Director Donald Boydston and a number of coaches and athletes have indicated they would attend the meeting. Coach Lou Hartzog, however, said he would be at an out-of-state track meet at the time.

Last week Hartzog, Boydston and other coaches attended the meeting in expectation of hearing the complaints and left when the Council adjourned before taking up the issue.

Late last week there was word that signed statements are being sought by the Athletic Department. Trackman Jim Dupree said that a coach had asked him to sign a statement.

Hartzog confirmed that he has asked Dupree to clear up once and for all the rumors circulating that he has made complaints.

Yesterday Fenwick indicated concern that athletes who had presented signed statements to him might be pressured into changing their statements.

The controversy began over a month ago when Fenwick first implied that athletes had been mistreated by the Athletic Department.

Since then, the uneasiness between Student Government and the Athletic Department has grown into controversial proportions.

The main issue, that of recommending funds to the Athletic Department through the Council's Student Activity Fee study, has fallen by the wayside for the time being.

Dinner For Foreign Students Launches 14th Greek Week

The 14th annual Greek Week at SIU got off to a rousing start last night with all of the Greek-letter organizations hosting SIU foreign students to dinner and an exchange of introductions.

Greek Week activities will continue through Saturday. The special program for foreign students was part of the service project for the annual event.

On Wednesday the Sigma Pi fraternity quartet and the Delta Chi fraternity band is scheduled to entertain senior citizens at the Jackson County Nursing Home.

In addition to the service project, social activities for the week include a track meet with chariot races, a banquet and dance, crowning of a Greek Week Queen and the traditional Greek Sing.

The track meet is scheduled for Thursday evening. At the banquet and dance Friday night, a "Greek Goddess" will be crowned.

Candidates for the honor are Laurie Brown of Alpha Gamma Delta, Sharon O'Brien of Delta Zeta, Charlotte Thompson of Sigma Sigma Sigma, Alice Unverfehrt of Sigma Kappa and Carol Wright of Alpha Kappa Alpha.

Saturday night, the annual Greek Sing will mark the grand finale of the week's activities. Each fraternity and sorority will have a singing group participating in the musical program at Shryock Auditorium. There will be competition for first-place honors in both the men's and women's divisions.

Last Saturday, fraternity members manned buckets at downtown intersections for contributions to the Easter Seal campaign. Members of fraternities and sororities will assist with door-to-door campaigning for Carbondale's Cancer Drive today.

GODDESSES - Five coeds will be seeking the Greek Goddess crown this week during the 14th annual Greek Week on campus. They are (left to right) Charlotte Thompson, Sigma Sigma Sigma;

Sharon O'Brien, Delta Zeta; Alice Unverfehrt Sigma Kappa; Carol Wright, Alpha Kappa Alpha and Laurie Brown, Alpha Gamma Delta. Winner will be announced Friday night.

ED PUGH AND GLORIA BECK

'Raisin In The Sun' Receives Praise For Acting, Direction

George Jean Nathan once said "the whole object of the theater is to hypnotize and captivate the audience..." Friday night's audience was indeed captivated by the Southern Players' production of Lorraine Hansberry's "Raisin in the Sun."

It is a very simple, very honest and very rewarding play about a Negro family, its trials and aspirations in present-day Chicago. While the play has the structure and substance of social drama, the emphasis is on the characters who have a quick humanity.

All the actors have substantial parts. Gloria Beck, who portrays a young college girl trying to "express herself," can drop a wry, dry line like a true comedienne.

This scintillating young lady delivers her dialogue with the right emphasis, proper facial expressions and expert timing. Miss Beck's extremely mobile face and husky voice make many of her lines funnier perhaps than the author had intended.

A vivacious and spirited performance is contributed by Tena Washington as the wife of a man whom she can't quite understand. The only fault is that Miss Washington's beauty at times distracts from her acting. One is never completely convinced she is 35-years-old and works as a maid. Perhaps if her makeup had been toned down and she had worn less stylish clothes, Miss Washington would have been more believable.

Though these two actresses give fine performances, the play is Louise Gordon's triumph. As Lena Younger, a resolute, indomitable matriarch, Miss Gordon plays the part with great power, authority and discretion. She has strength for the middle scenes and for the big scenes of pathos. Miss Gordon is brilliant in the scene in which she tells her son how hard his father has worked to raise his family "the right way."

With her beautifully modulated and vibrant voice she can convey more emotion with slight inflection than some people can with 100 gestures. Hers is the most consistent character and she alone gives the most entirely satisfying performance.

Ed Pugh gives a fine portrayal as the son who wants to "make it" in the world. He blends skittishness, apathy and riotous despair into his role as the mercurial Walter Lee.

Pugh is at his best in the scene in which he tells the white man that he and his family will go ahead and move into the all-white neighborhood. The speech is moving and Pugh does it justice.

Ward White and Clifford Shaw are persuasive as college friends of Gloria Beck. They have some cogent lines and deliver them forcefully with a professional air. Diane McKinley is wholly disarming as the young boy. The opening scene between he and Miss Washington is full of quick humor. Joseph Clarke is adequate as Bobo.

Fred Fallin, as Karl Linder, plays each line, each pause, each gesture for a laugh. Where Fallin might have played for pathos, he has made the character preposterous.

This drama of spiritual conflict has been directed with intelligent and impeccable taste by Eelin Harrison. Mrs. Harrison had good actors to work with, and she has made their teamwork seem effortless and exuberant. Thanks to excellent pacing, the play is packed with emotional tension that remains taut until the last line.

Technically the production is superb. Paul Brady has designed an extremely serviceable set that creates a dreary and depressing atmosphere, even down to the soiled white curtains that hang at the kitchen window.

The lighting is impressive and used to its full advantage to create the proper mood for each scene.

Few will come away from "Raisin in the Sun" unmoved by its total impact.

New PARKER ARROW

© 1962 THE PARKER PEN COMPANY, JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, U.S.A.

This pen can save you important money on cartridges. Ours are BIGGER and last longer (each is good for 8 or 9 thousand words). But, even if you didn't save a dime, this pen would be worth the extra price. It's a Parker.

And only Parker gives you a solid 14K gold point tipped with platinum—one of the hardest, smoothest alloys ever developed. It should last you for years no matter how much you use it.

The pen won't leak the way the cheap ones do. It has a built-in safety reservoir, and it must meet most of the tough specifications we set for our $10 pens.

If you have trouble saying it, say it with a Parker. If you're a little shy and have difficulty saying "I love you" or even "I like you very much"—say it with a Parker.

The new Parker Arrow makes a beautifully expressive gift and looks as if you paid a small fortune for it.

The new Parker Arrow comes in black, dark blue, light blue, light gray, and bright red, with a choice of four instantly replaceable solid 14K gold points. Gift-boxed with five free cartridges.

Gorelik Designs To Be Displayed In Alberta, Canada

The outstanding collection of stage and screen designs by Mordecai Gorelik, research professor of theater, will be exhibited at the Western Canadian Educational Theater Conference held on the University of Alberta campus April 19, 20 and 21, according to Christian Moe, acting chairman of the Theater Department.

Gorelik, well-known American designer now on the SIU theater staff, recently presented this collection of designs to the Morris Library at SIU.

Use of the collection by the Canadian conference indicates the esteem in which Gorelik's designs are held outside of the United States as well as in the American theater community, Moe said.

Selecting A Delegation

Dale Klaus, Southern's National Student Association coordinator, has announced a series of orientation sessions to familiarize students with the association. The first session will be held April 22, 10 a.m. in Browne Auditorium. Carol Cubra, orientation chairman, hopes to select a delegation to represent SIU at the National Student Congress in August.

Through the orientation sessions, open to all students, the student can be made aware of what NSA is doing, and students planning to attend the national congress will make the trip well prepared.

Transportation costs to the congress are paid by the association. At the congress last year, well detailed policy was declared in such areas as academic freedom, federal aid to higher education and intercollegiate athletics.

The setting up of an orientation period is significant in that it is a step toward linking the student body directly with the national organization. The voice of the national body has largely been one heard only on the national scene, never penetrating to the general college population.

The National Student Association is a vital force on the national scene. It has something to offer the student. The student has something to offer NSA.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

Former Grid Player Defends Piccone

I am tired of reading about people who know nothing about the coaching or management of a football team. The criticism of Mr. Carmen Piccone is unjust. He has, with an unusual amount of success, gone from a small-college schedule to a major one. He has done this with a small-college budget.

After transferring to Southern I played under Piccone for two years until my eligibility ran out. I am sure that my teammates would have written in defense of Piccone if spring practice was not already in progress. If they had it would have seemed like apple polishing.

Coach Piccone has been accused of short changing his boys in both money and promises. I wish I had a nickel for every time he has helped boys out of trouble.

Two years ago when we won the IAC championship for the second consecutive year, I didn't see any fault-finders approaching Piccone. No one came to give the team a pat on the back. Yet, when the going gets tough, everyone finds fault. That is not right.

Yet the coaching staff gave us a dinner and dance and I am sure none of the money came from student council funds or the athletic department's money.

I have never known of an instance when Piccone didn't back his boys to the limit when they needed it. This, I think, is good coaching and a good friend.

If Mr. Fenwick wanted to get a true appraisal of Piccone's character, I suggest he should have interviewed the other 50 or so members of the team. Or if he did not want to do that he could talk with the citizens of Carbondale who know him.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

Librarians Also Encounter Problems

I agree with the writer of the letter to the editor who found the library unbearably warm in recent weeks. Those of us who have had to work in the building for long hours without breaks are acutely aware of this.

The reason the air conditioning was not turned on was that the new equipment being installed for conditioning the expanded building was not yet ready for operation. Much of the work on the installation was done during the period between quarters but the job could not be completed until the middle of last week.

We have had fine cooperation from the architect and contractor in the effort to build the library addition with a minimum of inconvenience to library users. But some noise, heat, cold, disorder, and disruption has been inevitable. I hope that the completed building will justify the discomforts that patrons and staff have had to endure for the past year.

Racial Set-to Blots Easter Joy

The Easter season should be a time of joy and happiness but this year no matter in what direction we look we see things that must inevitably make the American citizen sad if he cares about the standing and good name of this country in the eyes of the world.

Over the beauty of banked Easter lilies comes the angry snarl of police dogs turned loose on Negroes before the Birmingham, Ala., city hall. Some two dozen demonstrators took on an attitude of prayer much as the great Indian leader, Gandhi did in his passive resistance, campaigns.

This corporal's guard of Negroes was on the sidewalk as petitioners for the right to be registered voters. The police broke up the demonstration when one of the dogs became involved with a demonstrator. The report was that a man attacked the dog with a knife. Several of the police dogs were allowed to lunge at the frightened citizens.

Controversy in Illinois

It is difficult to believe that anything so brutal could have taken place in the United States of America. A consequence is bound to be that our country will be still further embarrassed in the eyes of the world.

Another consequence is that Southern men and women who are not allowed to vote will be just that much more determined to win the rights which the Constitution guarantees to them.

Then there is the bitter controversy in Illinois over a policy of birth control established for certain relief recipients by the Illinois Public Aid commission.

Gov. Kerner appointed to the chairmanship of the commission a Chicago industrialist with Jewish background, Arnold H. Maremont. He favors reducing the large number of illegitimate children born each year on relief support by making contraceptive information and materials available to the prospective mothers.

Standing with Maremont are enough other members of the Public Aid commission to make a majority, but the majority is under attack by the Illinois Attorney General William G. Clark. Meantime a suit to block the commission has been filed by the recently defeated mayoral candidate in Chicago, Benjamin S. Adamowski. Clark, Adamowski and the Judge in whose court the suit is pending all are Roman Catholics.

Raises Serious Questions

This question of church and religion became a factor in inducing the five-member majority to hire its own lawyer, Thomas C. McConnell. Now there has been a violent exchange in superior court with the majority charged with unconcern about immorality and the opponents criticized for having "given in to the dictates" of Catholic church "dogma."

This also is a sorry spectacle. Church and state have been kept separate in the United States from the Republic's earliest days. Refugees from religious oppression, Catholic as well as Protestant, were among the first to our shores.

Salukis-Bears Split Twin Bill Saturday

SIU, led by Jerry Qualls' three hits and Joe Ramsey's strong relief pitching, handed Washington University (St. Louis) a 7-5 baseball defeat in the second game after losing the first game 9-8.

Paul Hatz grounded out to Landreth with the runner taking third. Al Huenfeld made the second out of the inning by grounding out to Qualls. Ramsey then proceeded to make Mike Jacobs fly out to end the inning without the run scoring.

SIU's undefeated tennis team continued to roll right along last weekend, as the Salukis racked up their seventh and eighth wins of the season here against Iowa, 7-2, and Western Michigan, 9-0.

The Missouri Valley champ came back again, teamed up with Dave Strauss in the doubles, to down the duo of captain Pachito Castillo and Roy Sprengelmeyer, in two hard fought sets, 11-9 and 10-8.

In the remaining five singles matches, however, the Salukis completely dominated, with Castillo, Bob and Roy Sprengelmeyer, Wilson Burge and George Domenech all winning their matches in two sets.

Iowa Tennis Coach Sings Our Praises

In last Friday's tennis match with the University of Iowa, played before a standing room only crowd of about 200, the Hawkeye coach, Don Klotz praised the Southern fans for their good sportsmanship.

After the singles matches were over, Klotz presented himself to the fans and commented, "You people have shown good sportsmanship today. You were pulling for your own Lance Lumsden, but when our Steve Wilkinson defeated him, you gave him a great hand for his efforts.

"You're going to see a lot of good tennis this spring because you have the best coach in the country (Dick LeFevre), and possibly the best tennis team in the country," Klotz added.

With that, the Saluki fans, to show their appreciation, gave the Iowa coach a big ovation.

Central Michigan Defeats SIU, 8-1, In First Game Of Double-Header

Central Michigan exploded for seven runs in the eighth inning of a scheduled seven-inning game to take an 8-1 first game victory over SIU yesterday afternoon at Chautauqua baseball field.

The game was tied 1-1 after the regulation seven innings but the Michigan Chippewas from Mt. Pleasant, Mich., wasted little time in the eighth.

After Dan Picot grounded out to start the inning, the next four Chippewa batters hit safely. Before Southern could retire the side seven Michigan runners had crossed the plate on seven hits and one SIU error.

Central Michigan blasted four SIU pitchers in the big inning. Rich Bickhaus, who was the losing pitcher, was relieved by Joe Ramsey who also received rough treatment from the Chippewa hitters. Al Beczkala relieved Ramsey and faced four men before Dennis Gentsch came in to retire the Chippewas.

Southern's only run of the game came in the fourth inning. Jerry Qualls singled to center field and advanced

Vaughn Scores 84 Against Lakers In Playoff Series

Charles Vaughn, former SIU basketball player, concluded his first season in professional basketball with 84 points in 7 games during the St. Louis Hawks-Los Angeles Lakers Western Division playoff series.

Vaughn hit 36 of 65 field goal attempts for a .554 percentage and 12 of 18 free throws. He averaged 29.6 minutes of play during the playoffs.

Harry Gallatin, who coached at SIU before moving to the St. Louis Hawks, already has started work for next season.

Gallatin lists his needs this way:

First, a man at least 6-foot-4 who can play both in the backline and up front, and who can guard such tall opponents as the Lakers' Jerry West and the Cincinnati Royals' Oscar Robertson.

In the second place, a young player in the 6-9 range who could understudy both Zelmo Beaty at center and Bob Pettit at forward.

In addition, Gallatin listed a basic need for outcourt shooting. The series with the Lakers convinced him of that. Elgin Baylor and West beat the Hawks in the playoffs with their outcourt shooting.

Coch Hopes Peters Will Be Ready For Kansas Meet

John (Jack) Peters, SIU trackman, is recovering from an injured knee suffered in a fall at the Texas Relays last Saturday.

Peters was trying to break through a knot of runners when he fell tearing the ligaments in his left knee.

In addition to kneetroubles, Peters is being tested by the Health Service for possible diabetes.

Lew Hartzog considers him one of the most improved runners on the squad.

Peters is a member of SIU's one-mile and two-mile relay squads.

to third when the ball rolled through the outfielder's legs.

Ron Landreth singled to right field scoring Qualls with the run which tied the score at 1-1.

Central Michigan had taken a 1-0 lead on a double steal which worked.

Roy Clay singled advanced to second on Picot's infield out. He later went to third on Dave Keilitz's single.

With runners on first and third and two men out, Keilitz broke for second. Mike Pratte threw down to second base but the return throw was too late to get Clay coming home. Before Central Michigan's big inning, Bickhaus had limited the visitors to only five hits and one run.

Southern collected six hits off Chuck Gronda, a big right-hander who hits as well as he pitches. Gronda hit safely twice in the game in four trips to the plate.

Independent Students Sweep MARLBORO Contest Winners Use CASH Prizes To Travel To Further Education

Kathy Jones of Woody Hall, winner of $100 first prize. Kathy is a real competitor. She organized a "group of friends back home" to save and collect the empty packages, then mail the empty packages to her. Kathy stamped the packages, counted them, and turned them in. Kathy said, "My friends really came through."

Rich Simmons, 711 Burlison, Carbondale, second prize winner. When Dick Conroy, Marlboro representative at SIU presented the $50 check, Rich could hardly believe he was the possessor of that much CASH.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jacob, Southern Hills, third prize winners, were all smiles as Dick Conroy presented them with $50. The Jacobs used their money for a trip to Chicago.

Tom Swan, 818 W. Walnut, (C) fourth prize winner. Since Tom has a job in Carbondale, he could not take a trip. He's planning to use the prize money to "have some fun" during spring quarter.

Dick Conroy, Marlboro representative at SIU, suggests that all students begin accumulating empty packages NOW. (ALPINE, PARLIAMENT, MARLBORO, PHILIP MORRIS) Since all students are interested in travel, the NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR, opening in 1964, will be visited by many students. Get your friends to help you collect through summer vacation. Be ready to participate next fall!
