Area H crowded

Area H in the University Center was a crowded scene Monday as a Student Senate special ad hoc committee to end the allegedly illegal SIU parking restrictions asked for student support while a group of black students gathered money for a Cairo relief fund. The committee in less than two days has already collected more than 1000 signatures. (Story, page 20) The relief fund, a spokesman said, will be used for food and medical supplies for blacks being terrorized in Cairo. (Photo by Nathan Jones)

No cut of Free School funds

By Richard McCann
Staff Writer

An alleged threat to cut the funds of Free School in a controversy over an advertisement of a Free School workshop in explosives was temporarily withdrawn Monday as officials of the University, the Student Government Activities Council and Free School reached a compromise agreement.

According to Don Kapral, student body vice-president for activities, Wilbur Moulton, dean of students, threatened Friday to cut the funds if a letter explaining the explosives workshop was not received from Free School by noon Monday.

"Instead, we had Free School write a letter of explanation to us (the SGAC) and we in turn penned a letter to the Chancellor saying we want the responsibility to handle Free School," said Kapral.

"Free School is a member of SGAC," said Kapral, "and since the SGAC is responsible for student activities on campus, we thought we should have the right to handle our own internal problems."

Kapral said that Chancellor Robert W. MacVicar agreed to the SGAC proposal in a letter Monday.

"He said as long as we could handle the problem, we could do so. If not, he would intervene," said Kapral.

According to Kapral, the announcement of the class in Senate demands renewal of permit for banned Gazette

By Dan Van Atta
Staff Writer

The Student Senate, in a special session called Monday night, voted overwhelmingly to demand immediate renewal of a solicitation permit for the Big Muddy Gazette, and censured the administration for its action on the issue.

A University petition, permitting the sale of the publication on campus, was withdrawn Thursday by an executive order. The last issue of the paper was highly critical of SIU President Delyte W. Morris and Chancellor Robert W. MacVicar.

Added to the Senate bill was a friendly amendment submitted by Carl Courtner, senator from Small Group Housing, requesting the local chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union to pursue the matter through legal channels.

After mustering enough senators to make a quorum, Courtner addressed the Senate.

"This is not a question of whether anyone has the right to make value judgments about the material in the Gazette," he said. "This kind of judgment is to be determined by the Post Office alone, and I don't believe the Gazette was ever sent through the mail."

Senator John Hance expressed disapproval of the action and voted against the bill.

"What good will this bill do?" asked Hance. "The administration is going to act in any manner it sees fit anyway."

Elizabeth A. Campbell, of 313 E. College, Carbondale, was arrested by SIU Security Police Friday night on charges of disorderly conduct in connection with collecting monies allegedly derived from the sale of the Gazette.

According to Miss Campbell, the money she picked up in the Wham Education Building had been left as donations for the Gazette.

However, Capt. Carl Kirk, of the SIU Security Police, said security officers had observed people picking up the Gazette and placing money in the cup in a manner the officers interpreted as payment.

Miss Campbell is scheduled to appear at 9 a.m. Thursday in the Circuit Court in Murphysboro.

City Council election scheduled today

Carbondale's four-man City Council race will be decided today.

Contestants in the city-wide general election are Hans Fischer, Archie Jones, Frank Kirk and Randall Nelson.

Jones finished first in the Feb. 25 primary race which narrowed a seven-man field to four candidates.

Incumbents Nelson and Kirk finished second and third respectively in the primary, while Fischer came in fourth.

Carbondale voters must register with Jackson County Clerk, Delmar Ward, to vote in the election. Ward said voters may still register today until the courthouse closing time at 4:30 p.m.

Polls in Carbondale will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., according to City Clerk Elizabeth Leighty. The polling places are:

Ward 2—Church of God, South Wall and College streets.

Ward 3—Highrise apartments, 300 S. Marion St., Ward 4—Community room, 209 N. Marion St.,

Ward 5—Ism's Store building, 821 N. Marion St.,

Late bulletin Gus Bode

About 300 girls staged a walkout from Neely Hall in protest of women's hours around 11:25 p.m. Monday, according to John Murray, resident counselor at the University Park dormitory.

Fire alarms in the building were set off after the doors of the dormitory were locked in accordance with women's hours, Murray said.

Gus says the administration may believe the Big Muddy Gazette is as "dirty" as the river it is named after.

Expansion guidelines okayed

By Morris Jones
Staff Writer

Chancellor Robert W. MacVicar has approved the expansion guidelines for the SIU fraternity and sorority system.

Groups interested may pick up an information packet concerning Greek expansion at the area office, in the basement of 116 Small Group Housing.

The packet will contain a copy of the Fraternal Expansion Guidelines, a checklist specifying what the group will have to turn in for approval, and a membership petition.

The plan provides an expansion of the Greek system without new housing. "If we are going to build (fraternity) houses, it would require Board (of Trustees) action," MacVicar recently said, "but recognition of colonies would not." The Board of Trustees has not acted at this time.

Ken Varcoe, assistant dean of Small Group Housing, said that the expansion guidelines, set down in a ten-page booklet, tried to encompass three points: diversity, flexibility and innovation.

"We tried to make the system as wide in scope as possible," he explained. The true test, of course, is what happens, the assistant dean said. Hopefully the document is flexible enough to allow all desirable activities to occur, he added.

The expansion guidelines set up two categories of organizational membership in the fraternal system, full and associate. Associate membership is attained by all newly petitioning organizations that meet the established standards. Associates have no vote in the Inter-Greek Council, the Interfraternity Council, or the Panhellenic Council. They are assessed for pro-rated costs upon their membership size, and evaluated on their participation in activities. National charters are not granted until the groups have met the full membership requirements.

Each petitioning group must submit a constitution, membership roster, and meet all requirements as follows:

1) All shall have a minimum cumulative grade average of 3.0.

2) All shall be in good disciplinary standing.

3) All shall submit a comprehensive financial statement.

4) All shall have at least two chapter advisors who are members of the faculty or administrative staff.

Associate members are eligible to petition for full membership after one quarter, the booklet said. If the associate member cannot reach full membership requirements within two years, it loses recognition and will not be eligible for reconsideration for at least two years.

According to the guidelines, full membership groups must have a chapter quarterly grade point average which is equal to or greater than the average quarterly men's or women's undergraduate grade point average.

No fraternal organization shall have an off-campus house or headquarters, the guidelines stated. Organizations wishing to have housing in University residence halls should petition Varcoe. An organization wishing to establish a chapter house on Greek Row must have an account of not less than $1,000, the booklet said.

The guidelines divided all recognized social fraternal organizations as residential or non-residential in nature. Residential organizations are those with group-living in University housing.

Apart from the present 14 fraternities and sororities, 24 new fraternities and ten sororities have expressed interest in SIU's system, Varcoe said. The "Greek" system embraces approximately six per cent of the student body.

Receiving the expansion okay from MacVicar on February 3, the Inter-Greek Council spent the next four weeks in intensive study of the guidelines followed by two weeks of additional review.

Before going to the Chancellor's office on April 1, the guidelines were approved by the University Interfraternity Council, the Panhellenic Council, the Inter-Greek Council, the Faculty Adviser's Council, Varcoe and Wilbur Moulton, dean of students.

Vehicle rules hit by petition

More than 1,000 students and faculty members have signed a petition asking for the halt of the allegedly illegal motor vehicle regulations existing at SIU. The signatures were obtained in two days.

According to Carl Courtner, chairman of a special Senate ad hoc committee to study the parking restrictions, "the signatures indicate only that students are behind us. To initiate action from the administration, however, we will be taking the matter to court."

The American Civil Liberties Union will defend six students who have been discriminated against, he continued, with such action coming as soon as the end of the quarter.

"The committee has been advised by the ACLU what students are legally guaranteed," he added, and this included no restrictions whatsoever on students except those dealing with the regulation of parking lots.

A "speak out" will be held this Thursday at 1 p.m. in the forum area in front of Browne Auditorium to discuss this and also the fair price survey which the SIU Student Consumer Committee has been working on.

Nelson and Kirk deserve support

In this most important year for Carbondale city council elections, two candidates stand out as men of extraordinary capability and foresight. Councilmen Randall Nelson and Frank Kirk seek reelection to their posts and are justly deserving of the voters support.

Nelson is a man of proven performance. He has fought for well-planned water and sewer programs desperately needed by the city. He was instrumental in obtaining Carbondale's designation as a Model City site and its grant of federal assistance.

During Nelson's tenure, he has been active in attempts to correct and establish Fair Housing laws which are satisfactory to all citizens. He has encouraged employment of low-income citizens on projects beneficial to Carbondale.

Nelson's unique position as a professor of government at SIU and a member of the community aid him in understanding the problems of both areas.

Frank Kirk is a training consultant for the Community Development Training & Consulting Services at the University. He is the author of Carbondale's Model Cities application and was among the first to urge study of the city's government structure, leading to the adoption of the Council-Manager government now used.

Kirk has been a consultant to the Greater Carbondale Community Development Association, Regional Director for the Illinois Board of Economic Development, a member of the Carbondale Community Conservation Board, and has served as Chairman of the Carbondale Citizens Advisory Committee.

Both Nelson and Kirk have similar objectives for the improvement of Carbondale and a better life for its citizens. Among the goals are more sidewalk construction in critical areas; more programs to aid the elderly, those unemployed and low income citizens; improved street conditions and easing of heavy traffic routes; and continued support of the City Plan Commission as it enforces zoning laws and sub-division regulations.

Nelson and Kirk deserve to be supported because of their impartiality to both the University and Carbondale communities. No matter what your interests as a voter, nothing can substitute for the just decisions needed from the local government authorities—decisions which affect you the most.

The city council elections today are the first to offer positions of four years in office in Carbondale. This longer term adds important weight to election races coming at a critical time in the city's life. It is imperative that Carbondale citizens vote today for candidates who support equitable solutions to human problems. Carbondale needs Frank Kirk and Randall Nelson as councilmen.

Better tribute suggested

To the Daily Egyptian:

The two recent letter writers who complain that the five-minute noon tribute to General Eisenhower is insufficient and therefore an affront to him may rest assured that the General is beyond all that now and that such a tribute is really for us the living. It would be more helpful if they would suggest a more fitting tribute and move to organize such an effort.

Are Jews really to blame, Mr. Williams?

To the Daily Egyptian:

After standing by as an observer in the exchanges which have appeared in these columns following the publication of an interview with Mr. John Williams, I am impelled to comment on his latest reply to Dr. Mark (whom I do not know.)

If Mr. Williams wants to communicate that some of the businesses in the ghettos of major cities are owned by Jewish individuals, then he is right—but only if he says just that—that some of the businesses are owned by Jews. Furthermore, if he wants to say that some of the owners of these businesses charge excessive prices, let him say just that—that some of these businessmen, who happen to be Jewish, charge excessive prices.

However, to state, as he did (or as he was quoted), that it is "The Jew or 'the Jews' who are systematically plundering blacks, is to engage in the most vicious kind of stereotyping and scapegoating. As a student member of the university community, Mr. Williams is aware of the necessity of producing evidence to buttress his contentions. Of what city is he talking? What specific area does he define as "the ghetto"? Within the boundaries under discussion, how many retail establishments are owned by whites? Of these, how many are owned by Jewish people? What is the net income derived from these businesses in the aggregate and in each case? What is the median net income of the group?

Is he talking about New York,

Chicago, Detroit, Boston, Los Angeles, the District of Columbia, St. Louis, Cleveland, or Carbondale?

What is needed are some well-designed studies of retail ownership in major cities, as well as realistic appraisals of the economic factors involved. Many of these so-called "exploiters" are marginal, addicted to inefficient business operations, and subject to economic forces which place them in a poor competitive position. Others are profitable, and may or may not be operated in an exploitative manner.

Why not get out of the bag of stereotyping and scapegoating, much to the satisfaction of the mutual enemies of both Jews and blacks, and put the pressure where it belongs—on those levels of government which are capable of creating consumer protection agencies, and enforcing a program of legislation and consumer education.

If Mr. Williams insists on arguing economics, let him confine his arguments to economics. Major American corporations are the guts of the American economy. Government is the arbiter of economic policy. The plight of black America is not the work of a handful of retail establishments. The decay of the cities is not the product of a few inconsequential business operations. The failure to enforce public policy on behalf of the poorest of our citizens is one source of urban rot. The indifference of private capital is another.

But, in the face of such monstrous and gargantuan opponents, how easy it is to single out some individual or group and point the finger, especially when the group in question has been historically vulnerable to the frustrations of the have-nots and objectives of the powerful. In Russia and Poland, it was commonplace to fine the feudal landowners hiring Jews (who could often get no other source of sustenance) as rent collectors. When the peasants revolted, the response was, "Who me? Blame the Jews." During the Black Plague, it was easy to blame the Jews—this time for poisoning the wells. Hitler found it easy to use the Jews to destroy liberty in the name of saving Germany from Bolshevism. The Soviet and Polish governments still find the label "Zionists" a convenient means of stifling dissent.

Scapegoating is a blind alley. It leads one directly into the hands of the real villains. Fortunately, most of black America knows this, and has not wasted time and energy in pursuing the kind of vilification contained in the Williams interview. Blacks are demonstrably less anti-Jewish than white Christians. There is research data available to prove this. Mr. Williams represents no one but himself. But this brings us to the point of the power of the press (in this case The Egyptian) to create "instant movements", whether on a single campus community or via the networks. That is another question for another day and in another context.

PAID POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

New entrance policies set to begin this summer

By Theo J. Howard

A student graduating in the lower half of his high school class will be admitted to SIU only during summer sessions from now on, said H. W. Wohlwend, assistant registrar.

Wohlwend said the new policy is intended to reduce freshman enrollment during the regular academic year. However, conditional students will still have the opportunity to prove themselves during the summer quarter. Those receiving a 3. grade point average or higher, will be allowed to continue in the fall.

Wohlwend said the Registrar's Office had anticipated more applications from would-be conditional students than they presently are receiving. He attributed this to the possibility that more students are enrolling in junior college programs or that many high school seniors may not be aware of their class standing at this time.

Estimated enrollment for this year's summer sessions is 12,100 as compared to 10,492 in 1968, and 9,084 in 1967.

The Brush Towers living area will be the only on-campus housing available for undergraduate students during the summer.

The registration calendar for summer quarter follows: April 9-June 3: Advance registration for all undergraduate students. All continuing undergraduates are expected to be registered by June 3. Undergraduate students will have advance registration cancelled if fees are not paid at the Bursar's Office by 4 p.m. June 4, unless they receive approval for deferred payment.

April 14-June 27: Registration for graduate students.

June 17: Last day of regular registration for undergraduate students. Only new and re-entering students will be advised and registered. All undergraduate students are expected to have completed registration by this date, except those registering for short courses that begin after June 17. Students may register on the first day of class without a late fee payment. Any other exceptions will involve late registration fee charges. Workshops, short courses and night classes (5:45 p.m. or later) begin.

June 18: Program change processing only. Day classes begin.

June 19: Late registration for undergraduate students. Late fees will be assessed. Program changes will be processed.

June 23: Registration for summer quarter, including registration for new courses and section changes, ends.

June 30: Deadline for the payment of fees by students whose fees were deferred. Graduate student registration will be cancelled if fees aren't paid by 4 p.m. Last day to officially withdraw from school to be eligible for a refund of fees.

July 14: Last day for undergraduates to officially withdraw from a course without receiving a letter grade. Graduate students dropping a course after this date need not be given an evaluative letter grade. Last day to change from credit to audit or visa versa.

August 15: Last day for making a program change or withdrawing from school, except under exceptional circumstances.

August 25-29: Final examinations.

August 30: Commencement (Carbondale campus).

Schedule of classes for the summer quarter are available at the Registrar's Office. Students should refer to this for further information.

Seven Museum exhibits set during the spring quarter

By Kathy Kleis

The University Museum, located on the first floor of Old Main, will present seven exhibits during spring quarter.

The exhibits are "Africa Is," on display until April 30; "Islaletta Pueblo Paintings," until April 27; "Ten In Focus," April 12 to May 4; "Animal Behavior," April 26 to May 18; "Fine Arts Festival," May 4 to May 16; "Sculpture of Fredda Brilliant," May 18 to June 1; "First Year Graduate Student Art Show," May 18 to June 1.

An audio-visual presentation of the sights and sounds of Africa, "Africa Is," will include an art show stressing textiles.

"Islaletta Pueblo Paintings" is an exhibit from the Smithsonian Institute sponsored by the Department of Anthropology. These works from Islaletta Pueblo, Mexico, constitute a memorable depiction of life in an American Indian village—the only such detailed pictorial record of ceremonial life in existence.

"Ten In Focus" is an exhibition of 59 photographs made from the works of ten outstanding New England photographers. This exhibit also from the Smithsonian Institute is being sponsored by the Department of Photography & Cinematography.

The exhibit "Animal Behavior" demonstrates through photographs and tests the methods employed and the progress made in gaining new insight into the complicated causes and patterns of animal behavior. The Department of Zoology is sponsoring this exhibit.

A student art show offering competition for prizes will be on display at the museum during the Fine Arts Festival.

Sculpture of Fredda Brilliant will be an exhibit of the bronze sculpture of Miss Brilliant, who is the wife of Herbert Marshall, distinguished visiting professor at SIU.

The University Museum is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and on Sunday from 2:30 to 4:30 a.m.

Pan-Am Festival to have speakers

Robert N. Ossenbeck, finance manager, Canada-Caribbean Division of Caterpillar Tractor Co., Peoria, will be the keynote speaker at the Pan American Festival, April 14-17.

Ossenbeck will speak on "How a Multi-National Company Operates." Histalk will be in the University Center Ballroom B at 8 p.m., Monday. A movie, "One Turn of the Earth," will be presented.

Also representing Caterpillar at the festival will be Frank Carder, assistant finance manager for Mexico and Central America.

While visiting SIU, Ossenbeck and Carder will attend question-and-answer sessions at School of Business classes. The guests will be invited to a luncheon, Tuesday noon, when they will meet SIU administrative heads in charge of international development programs.

A new portable photographic exhibit, which is being made available for use, will make it easier to exhibit pictures of SIU activities at special events.

The exhibit will enable faculty and staff members to exhibit these pictures at conferences, public events and special meetings.

The exhibit, which is the only one of its kind, was designed to be portable, lightweight and still be able to present a large exhibit.

It consists of 16 by 20 inch aluminum backed pictures which can be joined together by plastic joints to form different shapes. The exhibits can be made in different sizes and shapes to make the pictures more suitable for presentation.

The designers of the exhibit were Herb Meyer and Charles Daugherty, both of the University Exhibits staff. They designed it so that everyone could take it around. The panels and joints are reusable, so all that has to be changed are the pictures.

Mr. Daugherty said that up until now, anyone wanting to present pictures had to construct his own exhibit. But now staff and faculty members can apply for the portable exhibit to make a presentation.

Applications for the use of this exhibit can be made through Rex Karnes, coordinator of University Exhibits.

Football team University Agenda series impressive in 1st scrimmage

Saturday was the first real chance that Coach Dick Towers has had to look at the future 1969 Saluki football team. And he liked what he saw at the first scrimmage of the spring practice.

"Considering the poor working conditions that we had during the first week of drills, I thought we did very well," Towers said.

"The number one defensive and offensive units did a fine job. The defensive unit hit hard, and the offensive linemen did some great things that I haven't seen since I've been here."

This scrimmage has given the coaching staff a working knowledge of the personnel, and from this Towers and his staff hope to work toward finding the top 44 players by next Wednesday or Thursday.

Currently, the number one offensive unit is: ends, Lionel Antoine and John Norris; tackles, Rich Smith and Bob Hultz; guards, Terry Cotham and Earl Collins; center, Ted Schoch; fullback, Bob Hasberry; halfback, Ed Edelman; wingback, Mike Bradley; quarterback, Barclay Allen.

The top defensive team line-up is: ends, Dave Krisman and Ken McAnelly; tackles, Charles Canali and Bob Laputka; linebackers, Jack Rushing, Ted Ewert and Mark Colvis; cornerbacks, Chuck Goro and Ed Buksas; safeties, Mike Goro and Eric King.

Among the most notable absences Saturday were three starters from last year's team—Bill Grainger, Ed Wallner and Tim Ambrose.

Wallner and Ambrose are recovering from head injuries; and Grainger has been out this spring following an automobile accident.

Bob Mougey, the number two offensive tackle, and Mike Wood, a quarterback, are the latest casualties. They were both injured Saturday.

Mougey sustained a knee injury and will be out at least a week, while Wood suffered a collapsed lung and will be sidelined indefinitely.

Fortas says Court hasn't aided crime

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Recent Supreme Court decisions "have not contributed to the amount of crime in the United States," Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas said Monday.

Fortas, speaking to a Civic Club luncheon, said the major increases in crime have come from juveniles, and the Supreme Court has made few rulings on juveniles. The court has made numerous decisions on adult crime.

Fortas suggested there might be fewer crimes under dictatorships.

He said there might be less crime "if your son was suspected of smoking marijuana and the police could break into your home any time of day or night without a warrant."

But, he added, the founders of the United States chose to make values of the individuals just as important as the power of the state.

"The Supreme Court's rule is to guard these constitutional rights," he said.

Luncheon seminars begin

Controversy raised by the SIU administration ban on the sale and distribution of the Big Muddy Gazette on campus, and the alleged harassment of the SIU chapter of Students for a Democratic Society, will be the first topics of discussion for University Agenda, the Tuesday sessions of the Student Christian Foundation luncheon seminars.

The University Agenda series begins today at noon at the Student Christian Foundation, 913 University Avenue.

Doug Allen, instructor in philosophy, will be the moderator for the seminars on the universities. According to Allen, the seminars will attempt to make an analysis of the position and attitudes of universities today. The seminars will study the different aspects of a university and the role played by institutions of higher learning in society at large.

Among the topics to be discussed are: The structure and function of the American university. Are students being educated? Who controls our universities? What is the relationship between the university and business? The university and the government? The university and the military?

The focus will be on the general structure of the American university, but special emphasis will be given to local issues, Allen added.

Allen also said he hopes the seminars will be used by the participants to study what he termed the role played by universities in the perpetuation of racism in the American society and the complicity of various schools in military research.

"Professors are fooling themselves when they say the universities are neutral. The universities are already involved and very much so,"

Allen asserted.

During the seminars, articles by Paul Goodman, Noam Chomsky and other critics of the American system of higher education will be read by the participants.

The format of the seminars will be as unstructured as possible with the direction of the discussion left to the people attending the meeting, Allen said.

The dates for the Tuesday seminars are: April 15, 22, 29 and May 6, 13, 20. Lunch will be served at 12 noon for 50 cents. Those wishing lunch should plan to arrive by 12:15 p.m.

Thirteen convicted for Chicago march

CHICAGO (AP) — Thirteen persons, five of them Democratic National Convention delegates, were convicted Monday of disorderly conduct for staging a march on the convention hall in August.

They were assessed fines ranging from $400 to $200. The verdict in what was the longest disorderly conduct trial in Chicago history was handed down by Magistrate Arthur L. Dunne of Circuit Court who heard the trial without a jury.

At issue during the marathon trial were police power and the guarantee of freedom of speech and assembly in the First Amendment to the Constitution.

Nixon unveils outline of domestic program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon gave Congress Monday a bare-bones peek at a domestic program embracing continued high taxes, bigger Social Security benefits, a crackdown on crime, and a two-stage tax reform.

The President pointed his administration along its homefront course in what will serve as his 1969 version of a State of the Union message.

While dealing in generalities for the most part, the President promised to fill in details and start specific recommendations to Congress this week. And Tuesday the White House will begin disclosing on an agency-by-agency basis what programs will get how much money under a budget Nixon has pared by $4 billion, to a little over $192 billion.

In the absence of spelled-out details, there was scant early response in Congress to the President's outline.

Announcing for the first time a decision against sending Congress a State of the Union message, the President instead listed ten specific recommendations with more to follow. Coming later are ideas for what he termed vigorous and innovative measures to combat hunger and malnutrition, in place of past efforts the President said have failed.

He promised a complete reappraisal and direction of welfare programs rather than tinkering with existing ones he said had perpetuated "the dismal cycle of dependency from one generation to the next."

"We have to design systems that go beyond 'commitments,' and guarantee performance," Nixon said.

While Democrats controlling Congress have been showing foot-tapping impatience at Nixon's pace in putting together his domestic program, he told the Senate and House members Monday that in the first 12 weeks of his administration "peace has been the first priority."

The ten items he unveiled in almost that few sentences Monday were these:

—Increased Social Security benefits to help meet increased living costs—without saying who foots the bill.

—Unspecified new measures to battle organized crime, racketeers, narcotics traffickers and peddlers of obscenity.

—Tax credits designed to attract private financial help for meeting urgent social needs.

—A program to strengthen a national drive for equal employment opportunity for all Americans.

—A thorough reorganization of the Post Office Department. Nixon wants postal rates raised but took no stand on whether to put the service in the hands of a semi-private corporation.

—Home rule for the national capital plus a representative in Congress.

—Cutting in state and local governments on part of federal revenues to help them avoid "a constant fiscal crisis"—a step bound to please many governors and mayors who are on record for this.

—A far-reaching, new program for developing mass transit systems, airways and airports.

—A comprehensive manpower program taking in job training and placement, improved unemployment insurance, and better health and safety features.

—Reforming the tax system in the interest of wiping out unfairness and abuses, plus the first full-dress revision since 1954. A few steps are to be taken this year but the main review is slated for 1970.

Nixon raised expectations that once inflation can be damped down, there will be some sizable increases in "our dollar investment in America's future." He gave no other measure of the financial dimensions involved.

But for the time being, he said the programs will not carry extravagant promises nor "will they carry large price tags for the coming fiscal year."

In evident answer to those in Congress and elsewhere who have chided him for his pace in the field of domestic activity, Nixon said:

"It will be the goal of this administration to propose only legislation that we know we can execute once it becomes law."

He said there was long, hard deliberation on each recommendation to insure it could be made to work.

"Merely making proposals," the President said, "takes only a typewriter; making workable proposals takes time. We have taken this time."

"In other areas, where more time is needed, we will take more time. I urge the Congress to join with this administration in this careful approach to the most fundamental issues confronting our country. Hasty action or a seeking after partisan advantage either by the Congress or executive branch can only be self-defeating and aggravate the very ills we seek to remedy."

In the first few months, Nixon said his administration has moved quietly, thoughtfully, but urgently "to redirect the course of the nation."

"I am confident of the direction," he concluded, "and convinced that 'the time to take it has come.'"

Sam Panayotovich, student body president, was not present at Monday night's session. He had condemned the contents of the Gazette earlier in the day.

"People I talked to were disgusted that this thing was being sold on campus," Panayotovich said. "If the paper had abided by the law and some rules of good journalism I would have fought for it. Now, some of the Gazette was fine, but I can't see the pages with the filth in it."

"My mother was on campus Friday," he said, "and I was ashamed for her to see that this was being sold at the University. I feel a majority of the students I have talked to agree with me."

explosives was really a publicity gimmick to draw attendance and that the event turned out to be a talk by a man from New Mexico who claimed to be Ulysses S. Grant reincarnated.

"We would like to state that Free School was in error in publicizing the class in explosives," said Kapral. "We want to make public the fact that they think they were wrong. They didn't realize the effect it would have."

"They (Free School) do not have as an objective to disrupt the educational system, but to supplement it," he added.

Members of the SGAC will meet Wednesday evening with MacVicar, Tony Giannelli, assistant dean of students for activities, and Clarence Dougherty, director of the University Center.

Kapral said the meeting should produce a clarification of the position of both the University and the SGAC and should straighten out the problems of Free School.

Young Republicans to sponsor petition for all-volunteer army

By Rick Kraus

If you're dissatisfied with the present process of military conscription, you will be given the opportunity to express your disapproval.

The SIU Young Republican Club is sponsoring a petition advocating the establishment of an all-volunteer army in place of the present Selective Service System.

The petition endorses recently introduced bill by U.S. Senators McGovern, Goldwater and Hatfield favoring an all-volunteer army. The petition will be sent to Senator Percy.

"The Senators' bill will be introduced Wednesday night to the Student Senate," Dale Boatright, Young Republican president, said. "I hope for quick endorsement by the Student Senate."

A booth will be set-up April 16, 17 and 18, in Area H of University Center, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., where people may sign the petition. The petition reads as follows.

Whereas, the present selective service system has proved to be militarily inefficient, and inherently inequitable to draft-age Americans;

Whereas, each American should have as much freedom as possible in choosing the method of fulfilling his obligation to his country;

Whereas, an all-volunteer army will provide for efficiency, equity, high morale, and fundamental American freedoms;

Therefore be it resolved, that we the undersigned of Southern Illinois University support and encourage the prompt passage of the Senate bill recently introduced by Senators Hatfield, Goldwater, and McGovern calling for the establishment of an all volunteer army in place of the present Selective Service System.

'Highpockets' back at SIU; April 18 next performance

By Dean Robuffoni
Staff Writer

Last July, following the Southern Players' premiere performance of "Mr. Highpockets," we wrote that the play was a "very exciting and interesting" one, and that it revealed the "real Abraham Lincoln."

It still is and does—with reservations. Performed Friday through Sunday evenings in the University Theater, "Mr. Highpockets" is the near-equal of last summer's fine production, and rather gives the lie to the old adage of "too much of a good thing, etc."

The play, which will also be performed April 18-20, differs somewhat from the earlier version. A musical score by Robert Mueller, professor of music, has been added, but it's restricted to underscoring certain parts of the play. Never does it threaten to stifle the actors' lines or become the focus for the audience's attention.

And the cast has been changed: July's version had David Selby, a professional actor, in the lead role of Lincoln—and Selby was very, very good. This year's production has Paul Bahan in the role, and while Bahan is one of the two or three top male Southern Players, he just isn't—not quite—Selby.

Then there's the rapid descent into baghous on the part of Lincoln in the last two acts. It's somewhat overdone; an overdose of sentimentality.

Still, "Mr. Highpockets" is one of the finest plays performed at SIU in the past two years. It doesn't really engross the audience; rather, it entertains. Christian Moe, associate professor of theater and director of "Mr. Highpockets," said that "It's a straight play," and it is, and gladly so.

Addenda:

David Hardin as "The Friend" and Arthur Burns as "Dr. Stygian Sticks": fine performances.

The wrestling match choreographed by W. Grant Gray, assistant professor of theater; ultra-realism combined with super-fantasy, and it comes off very well.

The set by Darwin Payne, assistant professor of theater, and the costumes by Eelin Stewart Harrison; as always, excellent.

Network says Bucher innocent

NEW YORK (AP)—A U.S. Navy court of inquiry probing the capture of the intelligence ship USS Pueblo has found Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher innocent of violating any Navy regulations, the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. said Monday.

Westinghouse said a high official on the inquiry panel had disclosed the Navy's decision.

In Honolulu, a spokesman for the Pacific Fleet said the case is still being reviewed. He said he had no idea when the report would be issued.

SIU Foundation meeting schedules

The spring board meeting of the SIU Foundation will be held Wednesday on the Edwardsville Campus, Kenneth R. Miller, executive director, has announced.

John S. Rendleman, chancellor at Edwardsville, will be luncheon speaker.

The session will open at 9 a.m. in the University Center. Reports on research and projects supported by the Foundation financial statements and various committee reports will be submitted.

The June 13 meeting of the board will be held on the Carbondale Campus, Miller said.

Al-Rubayi to join summer research

Najim Al-Rubayi, assistant professor of SIU's School of Technology, has been invited by Stanford University to join its National Science Foundation summer research program for 10 weeks.

Research will be done in the area of structural analysis of composite plates and shells. The program is being carried on by the Department of Aeronautics and Astronautics of Stanford University.

Beauty Pageant judges selected here

Like to judge the Miss Southern Illinois University Beauty Pageant?

It takes more than just a desire to look at pretty coeds. You have to be approved by the state committee for the Miss Illinois Pageant.

The Miss SIU Steering Committee was given a list of qualified state judges to choose from, said Roger Streitmatter, publicity chairman. The judges are from throughout the state to insure equal representation, Streitmatter said.

This year's judges are Norman Calt of Calumet City, Col. Milt Cully, Jr., of Des Plaines, Richard Schiller of Aurora, Paul Morris of Wheaton, Bob Foote of Macomb, Mrs. Darrell Bell of Peoria and Miss Kay Tree of Elgin.

Any person who has directed a recognized beauty pageant in Illinois is placed on the eligibility list to judge the Miss SIU Pageant. The judges will meet the contestants for the first time at a brunch at the Holiday Inn given by the steering committee on April 18.

The judges will rate the contestants on wearing of formal, swimsuit, and on talent in competition to be held in the University Center Ballroom at 8 p.m. April 18. This year's contestants are Vicki Bearden of Herrin, Diann Bilderback of St. Louis, Beverly Bulow of Overland Park, Kan., Donna Chalmers of Terre Haute, Ind., Lynette Dierks of Sparta, Eva Domokly of Lyons, Jessica Jemison of Lafayette, Calif., Pamela Pollack of Wilmette, Diana Stephens of Aurora, Montel Whitten of Salem, and Kathy Zenik of Granite City.

Christian Foundation to stage readings

By Frank Volk

The Student Christian Foundation will present staged readings of plays at the Foundation building starting April 17 and continuing every Thursday during spring quarter until May 22. The readings will begin at noon and last for about one hour.

The readings are done by the Southern Players, an undergraduate dramatic club comprised mainly of students from SIU's Department of Theatre.

While watching the readings, the audience may purchase a lunch for 50 cents. As a consequence, the Christian Foundation has chosen to call it the Chips and Sandwich Theatre.

The readings are on topics that have been devised by the people in the club. These readings are not actual productions, for no sets or elaborate props are used. They are simply read aloud on stage by people who provide the characterization. The subjects are only limited to the imagination of the students who devise them.

Christian Moe, a playwriting teacher in the Theatre Department, goes over the various plays submitted, and selects the ones he feels are the best. The main qualification Moe looks for before approving a play, is how adaptable it is for a reading production. Timeliness may also be considered. Once the play receives his approval, the person who wrote it will direct it.

After the reading is over, an informal discussion will take place between the audience and the playwright. The playwright will answer all questions about the play, and hope to learn something from the reactions of the audience. The criticism offered by the audience may be hard or soft. In either case, the playwright hopes to learn how he might be able to improve his script. Audience participation is welcomed.

On April 17, original songs and poems will be performed by Steve Falcone, Robert Randolph and James Nagle. On April 24, more songs and poems will be done by Falcone, Randolph, and Nagle.

On May 1, the readings will begin with the "Hairy Man" written by Jack Stokes.

Other readings will be "Kaskaskia" by William Hammack, May 8; "Brave New World" by Lee Newman, May 15; and "Chicago City of Broad" by Rick Umbaugh on May 22.

Schickel, film critic and author to speak Thursday at Convocation

Richard Schickel, film critic, social commentator, author and editor, will speak at convocation April 17.

Former senior editor of Look and of Show magazines, Schickel has been the principal film critic for Life since 1964 and is the author of four books on movies and the people who make them.

"The Stars," hailed as "a first-rate work" by the New York Times, was a study of movie stars and their effect on film content and the American scene.

"Movies: The History of an Art and an Institution" is used in many colleges as an introductory text for students of film history, and "The Disney Version," published in 1963, is the first major objective biography of one of film history's amazing figures.

Schickel's interests extend beyond the film. He is author of "The World of Carnegie Hall," a social history; "The World of Goya," a biography of the artist; "The Gentle Knight," a children's fable; and is co-author of the best-selling "Lena," the autobiography of Lena Horne.

Schickel was born in Milwaukee and is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. He is the recipient of a Guggenheim Fellowship, and has served as a book critic on NBC's "Sunday" television show, and has been a consultant to both the Rockefeller Foundation and the Rockefeller Brothers Fund. His articles and reviews appear in Commentary, Harper's, The Nation, Holiday, Esquire, The Reporter and The New York Times.

Titled "Comparative Study of Four Community Councils in Rural Saskatchewan," the report compares two active and successful voluntary associations with two inactive community organizations in accordance with three principles of organization: legi-

Hawley, born in Nutley, N. J., obtained his Ph. D. in education in 1957. He has been at SIU since 1965. Prior to coming here he was a program specialist with HEW (Health, Education, and Welfare) in Washington, D.C.

Three attend Chicago meeting

Three SIU students attended "Opportunities, Unlimited," a conference sponsored by the Illinois Republican State Central Committee, in Chicago Saturday.

They were Glen Bower, a sophomore from Beecher City; Charles Lewis, a freshman from Oak Forest; and Doug Van Wiggeren, a freshman from Salem. All three are members of the SIU Young Republican Club. Bower is also southern area chairman of the Illinois Young Republican College Foundation.

The conference, described as planned for Illinois youth who wish to help shape the world in which they live, was held at the Damon Center of Loyola University's Uptown Campus, Chicago.

Included in the program were speeches and seminars on careers in public affairs. They will be led by representatives of the Governor's office, the Illinois General Assembly, private industry and the Republican Party, both nationally and in Illinois.

A leadership luncheon was held at noon, when those attending the conference had the opportunity of discussing careers in public affairs with public officials and Republican leaders.

Salukis out to improve record as they host McKendree today

Blank scoreboards have become the rule for the Saluki baseball opposition this year as SIU pitchers have thrown 10 shutouts in 21 outings prior to today's contest with McKendree College, compared with nine for the entire 1968 season.

The six pitchers in the 1969 record book show an earned run average of 1.40, paced by Jerry Paetzhold (6-1) with a 1.29 and Steve Webber (4-0) with a 1.73.

Even stingier than these two big winners have been Bob Ash (3-1) with a 0.51 and Mark Newman (1-0) with an even lower 0.44.

Skip Pitlock, although only 2-2 with a 2.13 ERA, turned in perhaps the finest performance so far this season when he fanned 18 Morehead batters in a three-hit, 9-0 win. He leads Saluki pitchers in the strikeout department with 45 in 37 1/3 innings, better than one per inning.

Backing up the pitchers, Saluki hitters have been pushing across better than six runs per game with a .271 team batting average, compared to a .195 average for opposition hitters.

Mike Rogodzinski, Barry O'Sullivan and Bill Stein are currently fighting it out for the RBI title with 18, 17 and 16, respectively.

Randy Coker, with 18 at-bats, leads the squad with a .444 batting average, followed by Stein with .364, Bond with .318, Bill Clark's .292, O'Sullivan's .280 and Rogodzinski's .277.

Entering the McKendree game today at 3 p.m., SIU will be going for its eighth in a row and seventh straight home field shutout. Currently the team's record is 16-4-1.

After lengthy layoff

SIU plays McKendree today

SIU's baseball coach, Joe Lutz is somewhat concerned about the effect poor weather has had on his team. They take to the field today at 3 p.m. against McKendree College.

"It takes time to get a team trained to a certain point of conditioning," Lutz said. "At present, the team has good morale and good momentum in all three areas: fielding, hitting, and pitching." The last two days of rain have hindered the SIU baseballers in their practices and made it almost impossible for them to practice on the field. "The field is soggy and wet and if the rain continues, our pitchers may not be able to pitch in the regular rotation," Lutz added. "Our batters may lose their timing. But too, a good ball club has to learn to overcome all obstacles."

The McKendree team will serve as a warm-up game for the Salukis who haven't had any baseball action since last Tuesday when they defeated Morehead State 11-0. Thursday's game with North Dakota was rained out.

Weather-wise, Lutz is looking for good weather for the Salukis Third Annual Governor's Baseball tournament scheduled for Thursday and Sunday at SIU.

Five other universities will participate besides Southern, the host. These are: the University of Illinois, Western Illinois, Air Force Academy, St. Louis University, and Western Kentucky.

"We feel that this is the strongest field in the three-year-old tournament," Lutz said. "It should provide good entertainment for baseball fans. There is only one other collegiate baseball tournament that supersedes this magnitude and that's the one at Riverside, Calif."

"We'd like to invite all those students, faculty, and staff, who have the time, to come out to all 15 games."

All tournament games will be played on one of three diamonds. Diamond No. 1 will be the main SIU diamond southwest of the SIU Arena. Diamond No. 2 is located adjacent (south) of the main diamond while the third diamond is located at Evergreen Park, two miles southwest of the campus.

The Salukis are slated to begin tourney action against Western Kentucky at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Evergreen field. Friday, Southern plays the University of Illinois in the nightcap at 7:30 p.m. at Evergreen.

Saturday, SIU will be pitted against Western Illinois at 2 p.m. at the main SIU diamond and will play the Air Force Academy at 7:30 p.m. at the Evergreen field.

Soccer Club tied

SIU's International Soccer Club tied its first game of the season, 2-2, with the University of Kentucky at Lexington, Saturday.

Jim Bell, a sophomore from Chicago, and Ian D. Beattie of Scotland, a graduate student in education, scored two points for SIU. The SIU international team beat Kentucky, 3-1, last year.

The team will play Eastern Illinois at 2 p.m., Saturday at the SIU soccer field.

Softball tourney to begin today

The intramural softball tournament gets under way today at 4:20 p.m. when Celler Dwellers meet Supreme Court on field one.

Other games are: Long Branch Loafers vs. The Club, field two; Golden Crest vs. Foul Balls, field three; Bolters vs. BFD, field four;

Chemistry Grads vs. Rotsee Rapids, field five; and Gazelle Shafts vs. Keggers, field six.

Players may wear spikes if they so desire, however, it is not mandatory.

Golf team splits meet; win 200th victory in 22 years

Playing without the services of last year's overall medalist, Steve Heckel, the SIU golf squad split their triangular meet Saturday, losing to the University of Missouri 378-380 and winning from St. Louis University 380-395.

Heckel, lost to the National Guard over the weekend, was replaced by Fred Hickie, who shot a 76, good for one win and a one stroke loss.

Terry Tessary, Southern's second best medalist player, boosted his record to 5-3 with a 75, good enough for two wins. Harvey Ott also came through with two wins, and pushed his record to 7-1 for the year.

Terry Rohlfing split with a 78 for a 6-2 slate to date and Mike Beckman garnered a win and a tie for a 5-2-1 record. Dave Wargo stands at 4-4 after splitting his matches.

The match, the 200th win for the SIU golf team, all under present Coach Lynn Holder, 22 years the SIU varsity golf coach, extended the Salukis' 1969 record to 5-3.

Monday's scheduled match with Southeast Missouri State at Cape Girardeau was cancelled due to wet grounds. The Salukis swing into action again Wednesday in a triangular match with Murray State and St. Louis University.

The match will be held at the Crab Orchard Country Club beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Volleyball action today

The intramural volleyball schedule for today has:

7:15 p.m. — TK5 vs. Phi Sigma Kappa, court one; Sigma Pi vs. LEAC, court four.

8:15 p.m. — Delta Chi vs. Phi Kappa Tau, court one; Drunk Squad vs. Forest Hall, court four; 9:15 p.m. — Saluki Saints vs. Big 6, court one; Persian Eagles vs. Internationals, court four.

29,184 fans at Jarry Park on Coco Laboy's double and Dan McGinn's single in the seventh.

The Expos had blown an early 6-0 lead but pulled it out in the seventh when McGinn, the second Montreal pitcher, singled to break the 7-7 tie.

The Expos made a show of themselves in the fourth inning when they were guilty of five errors while St. Louis scored seven times on five hits, including a grand slam homer by Dal Maxvill and a bases-empty homer by Joe Torre.

Netmen break even in Oklahoma

The SIU tennis team's quest for an undefeated season was thwarted over the weekend as it suffered two defeats at the rackets of Oklahoma squads. Southern's six match win streak was broken by a 6-3 loss to the University of Okla-netters were forced to come back 10 minutes later to meet Oklahoma City.

Even with the short amount of time between matches, two Salukis, Fritz Gildemeister, number one SIU tennis player; and Bill Lloyd, SIU's number two man, came through with victories.

Gildemeister defeated Ron Wilkinson 5-7, 10-8, and 8-6 while Lloyd edged Bill Robinson 6-4, and 8-6.

The Salukis were 2-2 for the Invitational with a 7-0 win Thursday over the University of Wisconsin. The two losses dropped the Saluki slate to 7-2 for the season.

homa Friday in the second round of the Oklahoma City Invitational.

Saturday the Salukis barely edged out the University of Houston 4-3 in an early morning duel, but dropped a 6-3 decision to Oklahoma City in the afternoon match.

Sailing Club wins first regatta

With wind, waves and spirits running high, skippers and crews from four visiting university sailing clubs ran round the markers on Crab Orchard Lake Saturday for the first SIU Sailing Club regatta of the year.

Sailors came from as far as Siena Heights College at Adrian, Mich., whose female sailors traveled all night to attend the regatta. Other schools represented were Northwestern, Iowa State and SIU's Edwardsville campus.

All competition was held in Flying Juniors, four of them belonging to the SIU club and the other brought by Iowa State.

Lodging is provided for the visitors at SIU club members' residences.

Of the more than 100 students attending the regatta, 20 sailed, either as crews or skippers. The sailors divided into A and B teams representing each school.

Point totals for 10 races and placing positions are as follows:

Siena Heights, 68 points, fifth place. SIU (Edwardsville) 43 points, fourth place. Northwestern University, 30 points, third place. Iowa State, 29 points, second place and SIU Carbondale, 12 points, first place.

High and low point skippers were also acknowledged. SIU receiving both. George Beukema, junior from Palos Heights, Ill., was the high point skipper and Russ Stephens, of Carbondale, was low point skipper.

Relay team takes fifth place

The sprint medley relay was the only event in which any SIU track members could place over the weekend at the tough Texas Relays.

The Saluki relay team of Willie Richardson, Barry Liebovitz, Chuck Benson and Gerry Hinton finished fifth with a time of 3:20.8.

"Benson hasn't had time to get ready for the track season," Coach Lew Hartzog said. "I think it will take him at least another three weeks to be at full strength."

At the same time Hartzog stated that Hinton performed exceptionally well, especially for a freshman.

Kansas State captured the event with a sizzling 3:15.6, which is only .4 of a second off the world record. Rice was second, followed by Kansas and Texas.

"This was an outstanding field," Coach Lew Hartzog said. "If there hasn't been the rain and the wet track, many records would have been broken."

Although no team scores were kept, Hartzog commented that Kansas was the top squad.

Next weekend the Salukis go to the Kansas Relays where they will be up against many of the same teams which were in the Texas Relays plus some Big Ten schools.

Weightlifting meet reset for April 26

An intramural weightlifting tournament is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. April 26 in Pulliam Hall, Room 17 according to the Intramural Office.

The tournament, originally scheduled for April 5, was cancelled at that time due to lack of entries.

Weight classifications are 123 and under, 132, 148, 165, 181 and heavyweight. Lifts required are the military press, snatch and clean and jerk.

Sign up must be completed prior to 5 p.m. April 23 in the Intramural Office. Interested persons may obtain further information from that office.

SIU swimmers

fall short in meet

SIU's swimmers Scott Onkel and Bruce Steiner came in sixth and seventh in their respective events in the National AAU Short Course Championships at Long Beach, Calif., last weekend.

Conkel swam the 100-yard freestyle in 47.3, not as fast as his SIU record 46.7, set in the NCAA meet this year.

Steiner bettered his own school mark in the 1650-yard freestyle by going 16:23.6. This time is .3 of a second faster than his NCAA clocking.

With these two tankmen representing the entire Southern squad, the Salukis tied for 11th in the team standings with the Mexican Swimming Federation.
