U.S. bombers strike Libya

TRIPOLI, Libya (UPI) — U.S. warplanes staged a surprise bombing raid on the Libyan capital early Tuesday, damaging an air base, the French Embassy and the headquarters of Col. Moammar Khadafi in the largest American air raid since the Vietnam War.

In Washington, Secretary of State George Shultz said American embassies worldwide went on alert in the wake of the U.S. attack and reports indicating that Col. Moammar Khadafi had plans to attack up to 30 embassies.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said in a nationally broadcast news conference as first reports of the attack became known that the United States "has chosen to exercise its right to self-defense."

He said President Reagan made the decision to wage the strike on Libyan cities, including Tripoli and Benghazi, after weeks of gathering evidence linking Libyan leader Moammar Khadafi to the bombing of a West Berlin night club that killed one American serviceman and a Turkish woman and wounded 240 others.

CBS News, quoting a congressional source, reported that the targets included Khadafi's suspected headquarters, two missile batteries, two terrorist camps and one terrorist training area. Three of those targets were near Tripoli and two were on the other side of the Gulf of Sidra.

Speakes said U.S. planes struck "targets that are part of Khadafi's terrorist infrastructure" in a dramatic last-minute televised news conference that confirmed what had been rumored behind the scenes for hours in Washington.

Speakes also said there was evidence that Khadafi

Ralliers condemn U.S. aid to Contras

By Catherine Edman
Staff Writer

At a protest rally Monday in the Free Forum Area, people were urged to contact their congressmen and express their dissatisfaction with the aid to the Nicaraguan Contra rebels on or before the debate about the aid resumes Tuesday in the House of Representatives.

The rally, which was sponsored by the Southern Illinois Latin America Solidarity and the Pledge of Resistance committees, was in protest of President Reagan's proposed $100 million Contra aid package, which is 12 votes short of passage in the House, passed in the Senate and will now return to the House for a second vote.

"We're part of a body of the United States demanding that our government cannot continue its war policy against the people of Nicaragua," said Georgeann Hartzog, a member of SILAS. "Approving any level of aid," she continued, "would be an act of war against the people of Nicaragua and would be a significant escalation of our role in Nicaragua."

She asked that people continue to contact members of Congress, such as Ken Gray, who she said have given them support and encouraged them to continue that support.

Reagan thinks of war as a sort of B-rated movie where he has figured out the plot in his head, said Tim Larson, member of People Living the Dream. Larson called Reagan's system of deciding policy the good guy-bad guy system, which on the domestic level includes Liberty Foundation leader Jerry Falwell and U.S. Attorney General Edwin Meese on the side of the good guys.

R.J. Sussman, right, junior in university studies, joins a protest of Congress' Contra aid vote as he sits atop the wooden structure in front of the Federal Building, 250 W. Cherry, in Carbondale's downtown area.

The protestors, donning cardboard triangles, each with letters painted on, formed in lines to spell sentences of protest and began a march Sunday down University Avenue after holding a rally in the Free Forum Area.

Democrats, liberals, welfare recipients, union leaders and farmers are the bad guys for Reagan, he added.

When applied to the national level, the United States is the good guy and everybody else is a bad guy, he said. In Nicaragua, the Contras are the good guys and the Sandinistas are the bad guys. Larson asked people to take notice that the Nicaraguan people are ignored and don't belong to either side.

"This 'feel good principle' has succeeded," he said, "because it is easier to be a football quarterback in an armchair than one on the line facing 'The Refrigerator.' Larson said after the 18-month aid is over and people realize that the plan did not accomplish what it was supposed to, they will sit up and say "deja vu."

Larson encouraged people to return home and light a candle, not for peace, but for Reagan and the imminent passing of the good guy-bad guy system that he said will die when presented in Nicaragua.

Former SIUC geography

professor Dave Christensen, who spent two weeks in Nicaragua last summer on the "Witness for Peace Observer" tour, said he is 65 years old, impressed with the constant vigorous activity of the 75-year-old president and congratulates him on his physique. He said he has questions, however, about Reagan's mind.

He quoted a portion of a speech given by Reagan last spring: "I have always believed it is coun-

Hebel given 15 years for assault

By Jim McBride
Staff Writer

Former Carbondale dentist Robert G. Hebel was sentenced to 15 years in state prison Monday in Jackson County Circuit Court for photographing and touching the genitals of an 8-year-old girl.

Hebel was convicted March 10 on charges of aggravated criminal sexual assault and abuse in a bench trial by Circuit Judge Richard Richman.

Before pronouncing the sentence, Richman said Hebel "used" his position in the community "to get little girls to his place to take pictures of them."

"Calling the crimes 'repulsive,' and an 'indication of a perverse mentality,'" Richman said, "he has, lost his profession, besmirched his reputation, disgraced his family's name, insulted the community and deserves to be punished."

Hebel was also fined $5,000 plus court costs and was ordered to pay $150 to the victim's family to cover counseling costs for the child.

Hebel was arrested at his home Feb. 2, 1985, and charged with three counts of child pornography, one count of aggravated criminal sexual assault and one count of criminal sexual abuse after Carbondale police found hundreds of photos depicting nude young girls during a search of Hebel's home.

A search warrant was issued by Richman after police questioned Hebel about photos that he had submitted for development at Flash Photo in

Progress slow, Urban League head says

By Nola Cowsert
Staff Writer

It would be dishonest to say progress has not been made in civil rights, but blacks have a long way to go before they will be on a level of parity with national norms, says John Jacob, president and chief executive officer of the National Urban League.

Jacob said that while blacks have been able to get laws passed protecting their civil rights these laws have yet to be fully implemented.

Jacob and Nancy Humphreys, director of the School of Social Work at Michigan State University, spoke to media representatives Monday at the Student Center on the opening day of the College of Human Resources Conference. The conference is focusing this year on the link between economic development and human services.

Jacob said that black activism has increased, especially at the federal and state levels, as a by-product of some Reagan administration policies tending toward minority advancement.

"Clearly there has been progress by all measurements," Jacob said, citing large black student enrollment at elite universities and involvement in business as progress in civil rights.

"But one also has to look at where we are and where we ought to be," he said. "Clearly blacks have a long way to go."

Jacob said there has been a backsliding in civil rights in recent years through such means as attacks on affirmative action. But he said that "devastating cuts" in social welfare programs have affected civil rights most profoundly.

He said there is an increasing number of women

Agent's funeral attended by FBI head, 1,700 others

MIAMI (UPI) — Twenty motorcycle policemen led a long blue line of 220 patrol cars Monday to the funeral of an FBI agent killed in a street battle and a federal judge compared the death to Jesus at the hands of "uncaring people." FBI Director William Webster was among the crowd of 1,700 people attending the funeral of agent Benjamin P. Grogan, 53, at the Visitation Catholic Church.

Aquino assassins' prosecutor seeks mistrial

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — The chief prosecutor of 26 men charged last year in the assassination of opposition leader Benigno Aquino urged the Supreme Court to declare a mistrial Monday, saying deposed ruler Ferdinand Marcos directed a whitewash that led to the defendants' acquittal. All 26 men who stood trial last year in the 1983 slaying, including Marcos' military chief, Gen. Fabian Ver, were acquitted Dec. 2, 1985, after a seven-month trial.

Soviets say nuclear test ban caused setbacks

MOSCOW (UPI) — Deputy Defense Minister Sergei Akhromyev said Monday the Soviet military suffered setbacks during Moscow's eight-month nuclear testing moratorium, which the United States refused to join. The Soviet contention, however, was played down by Western diplomats, one of whom said, "Eight months of a nuclear test ban is hardly suicidal when you consider the size of the Soviet arsenal."

U.S., Japan make trade balance agreement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan and Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone pledged Monday to slash the $50 billion trade imbalance between their countries together, a job Nakasone compared to scaling Mt. Everest. Nakasone and Reagan, at the end of two days of talks, agreed to tackle the sizeable job from both sides — a task that will entail restructuring the Japanese economy to move it away from an emphasis on exports.

Yale apartheid protest ends in 78 arrests

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Yale University campus police arrested 78 people Monday as officials ordered removal of a shantytown built to protest apartheid and the school's policy on South African investments. The orderly arrests climaxed a weekend of protest by hundreds of Yale students and supporters demanding Yale sell $350 million to $400 million in holdings in 98 companies doing business in segregated South Africa.

De Beauvoir, French feminism pioneer, dies

PARIS (UPI) — Simone de Beauvoir, the French author and philosopher who pioneered feminism and was a long-time friend of French existentialist writer Jean-Paul Sartre, died Monday. She was 78. De Beauvoir died at the Cochin Hospital in Paris, a spokeswoman for the hospital said. Her death comes nearly six years to the day after the death of Sartre on April 15, 1980.

Veterinarians criticize face-branding of cows

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — Veterinarians branded the Agriculture Department as "cruel" Monday for wanting to face-brand cows earmarked for a buyout program, but a government official said tattoos and implants on other parts of the body are less effective. Farmers, animal rights advocates and government officials testified at a daylong hearing on a federal requirement that 1.5 million cattle in the nationwide buyout program be branded in the face. Testimony was to resume Tuesday.

FHA calls for 'viable plan' to finish trainway project

By Tricia Yocum
Staff Writer

Federal Highway Administration funds for the final and largest phase of the Carbondale Railroad Relocation Project are up in the air — again.

Eldon Gosnell, director of the project, received a letter from the FHA saying that a "viable financial plan" was needed for completing the depression phase of the railroad relocation project before funds would be released for a temporary trainway.

The trainway is needed to carry Illinois Central Gulf traffic while the 30-foot depression is being constructed.

A "viable financial plan" may mean that a plan must be on paper for the project or that the funds must be in place for the depression phase before FHA will release $2.67 million in funds for the trainway, Gosnell said.

He said he is "concerned, but not alarmed" about the letter.

The Reagan administration has opposed the project the last five years so the fight for funding is nothing new, Gosnell said. The only difference this year is the "added twist" of the ambiguous requirement of the "viable financial plan."

He added that the setback hasn't caused problems as far as timing, since the funds are not set to be released until Oct. 1, when work on the temporary trainway is up for bidding.

However, "as months go by," it may become a problem, Gosnell said.

U.S. Rep. Ken Gray is aware of the problem and is pursuing ways to get the funds released, Gosnell said.

Patrick McCaffrey, spokesman for Gray, said Gray was a bit "mystified" about the letter, especially since the release of the $2.8 million was announced by Gray's office in February.

Before Easter recess, which was the first week in March, Gray's office was informed that the funds would be released, McCaffrey said.

The problem arose while Congress was not in session.

McCaffrey said the FHA announcement may be only a routine process of the Reagan administration to impound the funds.

planned attacks against American targets in 10 other countries.

Loud explosions at 2 a.m. awakened terrified residents of Tripoli, who poured into the streets on foot and in their automobiles, jamming roads and honking their horns as smoke from the attack drifted across the city.

Libyan Radio claimed Libyan forces shot down three U.S. planes and the American pilots were killed by Libyan civilians. No other details were provided.

Tracer fire lit the sky as the planes came in. Libyan anti-aircraft fire did not appear to hit any of the American planes.

Libyan radio reported that a number of Khadafi's relatives and some foreigners had been injured in the surprise U.S. air strike.

The number of casualties was unknown, but Libyan Television early Tuesday appealed to Libyan citizens to donate blood.

The bombing lasted about 25 minutes.

Bombs also hit Khadafi's residence, but the extent of damage was not immediately known. Khadafi and his family, including his wife and seven children, live there.

Libyan Radio broke into its regular broadcast of patriotic songs to announce some members of Khadafi's family had been injured in the raid.

The French foreign minister reported the French Embassy in Tripoli was hit by the bombing, which damaged the building but caused no injuries, reports from Paris said.

Syria said Sunday it would side with Libya in the event of a U.S. attack and urged other Arab states to oppose any "unjustified offensive," state-run Damascus radio said.

"Syria will back Libya in combating the expected flagrant attack by the United States," Syria and Iraq are Libya's main allies in the Middle East.

Laundry Service kept afloat by fee increase

By David Sheets
Staff Writer

The University has opted to keep the University Laundry Service from getting washed up by boosting the cost of using the service by 30 percent.

The increase, which will go into effect prior to the start of the fall term, is intended to keep the service going for at least another year and help reverse a two-year plunge in profits, said Clarence Dougherty, vice president for campus services.

"This has been a point of concern for at least a year," Dougherty said. "We've been gathering information about it for the last five or six months."

DOUGHERTY SAID he is not sure exactly what prompted the steep decline in laundry volume responsible for the deficit but he suggested a couple of contributing factors.

"Some of the campus services have taken their business elsewhere," he said. "Also, there has certainly been a decrease in volume from University Housing," the service's biggest customer.

Sam Rinella, housing director, confirmed that linen service usage in the residence halls has decreased 6 percent each of the past two academic years. Dormitory linen makes up most of Laundry Service's volume.

"PEOPLE WILL check out their sheets and pillowcases at the beginning of the year but that will be it," Rinella said. "Most students, especially women, bring their own sheets from home or buy some."

Neither Rinella nor Dougherty could elaborate on why this usage pattern has increased recently as opposed to previous years.

Continued support of the Laundry Service rather than opting to go off-campus to meet laundry needs was endorsed at a meeting April 19 of representatives from the campus departments that use the service.

Continued support of the laundry service, which was endorsed at a meeting April 9 of the representatives, came despite the option to go off-campus with all laundry needs.

"WE SOLICITED bids from laundry companies in Southern Illinois, St. Louis and Paducah, looked at the bids and found only one company that has been interested in doing the laundry for us," Dougherty said.

Charles Hindersman, vice president of financial affairs, identified the one company as Selmeir-Peerless Towel & Linen Service, 302 S. Washington in Carbondale, which has been beset by an employees strike since Dec. 3.

"They were the only supplier considered as an optimum outside agent," Hindersman said. "But since they're on strike we can't have them."

A 12-percent increase in Laundry Service prices last year did not thwart the trend toward falling income.

were increased the usage dropped off," Dougherty said.

Dougherty added that the 30 percent increase means roughly $45,000 extra to help alleviate the Laundry Service deficit. Although most University services operate from student funds, students will not see the increase reflected in their financial statements.

"In fact, there will be a small impact, if any," on each of the campus departments that use the laundry, he said.

Next to University Housing, the Recreation Center is Laundry Service's biggest customer, followed by the Student Center, the Health Service and "all University departments that need laundry done," Dougherty said.

Nature looks better without all the trash

SPRING IS HERE AGAIN, and it is apparently time to once again trash your favorite nature hangout.

Giant City State Park, with its towering cliffs and verdant forests, is a favorite party place for SIU-C students. Ask anyone where they are going on a sunny April or May afternoon, and the answer will probably be a destination somewhere in the bounds of the nearby Shawnee National Forest.

The opportunities are there for a good time in beautiful surroundings. But the surroundings aren't going to remain beautiful if people continue to trash the place.

GIANT CITY LOOKS GOOD on the mornings after park service workers have cleaned it up, but take another look at it after the crowds have left just before the sun goes down. It looks like most garbage dumps.

Plastic beer cups, paper cups, paper plates, broken glass and beer cans clutter the ground around each parking area. After the last frisbee has come down there are still potato chip bags blowing around in the wind.

A trashed Giant City is not only ugly, it's hazardous. It's no fun to reach for a handhold in the cliffs, only to slice your hand on a broken bottle. Or how about cutting your foot on a piece of glass while walking barefoot across a supposedly wild and clean patch of grass near a nature trail?

A LOT OF PEOPLE ENJOY just sitting and relaxing on sunny rocks at the base of the cliffs. But that's kind of hard to do while dodging beer cans tossed off the top. Can throwers — or cretins, as they are more commonly known — have been heard to tell the sunbathers not to sit in such places because they could get hit by flying objects.

Oh, and lest it be forgotten, how about the unique pleasure of finding out, while climbing a trail, the number to call "for a good time" once you're back in town? Graffiti is no more appealing when accented by greenery and blossoming trees and bushes.

COMMON, FOLKS, WE'RE ALL supposed to be adults here. It doesn't take much effort to tuck a small plastic garbage bag in your back pocket and pick up your own garbage as you go along. You might have to bend over a few times, but that should be no problem in this new age of physical fitness.

Keep Rec open past 9 p.m.

The following is a staff response to requests to keep the Rec Center open past 9 p.m., signed by Rec Center Director William C. Bleyer: "The decision to close the Recreation Center at 9 p.m. beginning April 1 was based on lack of attendance at this time and a request by students to keep operating costs at a minimum. I do not feel that it is a wise use of funds to remain open for the benefit of just a few individuals. However, if there is a need on the part of a large number of students, we can discuss the possibility of increasing the hours."

Students, take special note of the last sentence of Mr. Bleyer's response. He suggests that the student body must collectively express its wishes if the Rec Center is to have any chance of operating beyond 9 p.m.

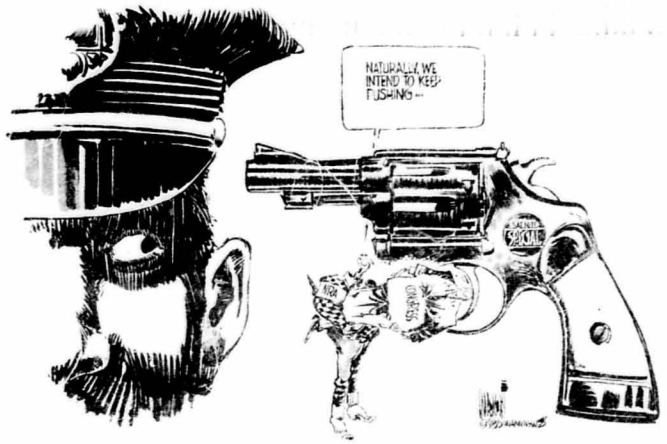

Since 10 to 20 suggestions per day have not proven sufficient "need" on the part of the students, I suggest all concerned do their best to stuff the suggestion box beyond capacity at the Rec Center.

If this strategy proves ineffective, and it probably will, perhaps a petition can be circulated to present our case. Our only alternative is to form a mob and storm Bleyer's office. Then he will have no choice but to take us seriously.

Why does the final decision concerning Rec Center hours rest solely with one man who obviously is insensitive to the student's needs? Costs must be kept at a minimum, but there must be a better way.

I wonder if severing Mr. Bleyer from the University's payroll might help provide the extra funds necessary for later operation of the Rec Center. After all, all avenues must be considered, and so far they have haven't been — David Teich, senior, Finance and Economics.

Blame Israel for terrorism

As acts of terrorism rise, the American government and many other governments around the world try to get to the root of the problem. Blaming the terrorism all on Col. Moammar Khadafi is not the answer. The state of Israel is a mistake and the reason for the havoc in the Middle East.

I'm sure many Jewish students on this campus will be upset with what I say, but I have to tell the truth. The Bible states that a true Jew is one who has reached a spiritual state of being (Romans 2:23-29), and anyone who claims to be a Jew and is not is actually of the synagogue of Satan (Revelations 2:9).

The founding of Israel was a blunder. The state of Israel has wreaked havoc in the world by continuing to threaten the survival of civilization. If Arabs have a knife at Israel's throat, it's because Israel stands delinquent in terms of United Nations resolutions — including giving Palestinian refugees the right to return or be compensated and on the withdrawal of Israelis from occupied Arab territories.

We have forgotten the basic facts of history. In 1948, the Israelis drove out tens of thousands of Palestinian Arabs from their homeland. And now, when the refugees insist on their right to return, and conflict ensues, Zionist propagandists promote the idea that Arab hostility and Hitlerian anti-Semitism are the same thing.

The coverage of the Middle East in the American media is 99 percent pro-Jewish. Why? The pro-Israeli reportage is a complicated story of pressure. The Jewish-Zionist ownership of ABC, CBS, the New York Times and the Washington Post is a factor in the kind of news people receive.

In addition to the power of the Jewish lobby, there is this inbred repugnance on the part of decent Christians to criticize Israel lest they appear anti-Semitic. So-called Christians are misled to believe that God is a Jew because his alleged "Son" was a Jew.

I'm sure I'll be labeled an anti-Semite by Jewish students on this campus. Are the Jews the only Semitic people? Of course not. Arabs are Semitic people. Semitic people are those that have an origin in the Afro-Asian culture and language of the world. The outlaw state of Israel is unjust, inhumane, and not in the true spirit of Judaism. The ills and evils induced by the Zionists who use the Jewish caption to shield their demonic department is the cause of terrorism. — Don Smith, junior, Administration of Justice.

Keep University Studies director

I'm writing in regards to the changes that have been made to the University Studies program. I am terribly upset not only with the fact that administrators are changing the program, but they are replacing one of the finest academic counselors this school has ever seen.

I is truly unfair that Marie Kilker will be removed as director, since she's overqualified for the position.

Kilker knows each and every University Studies student on an individual basis. I personally have discussed other matters with her, and she takes time to listen and help when it's needed most. I do not understand how Lillie Lockhart and John Guyon can make such a decision without going to the Faculty Senate.

There must be something that can be done to save the program, and to continue having Kilker as the director. I came to this program because I was undecided about my major. Kilker and University Studies helped me to form a program by selecting classes that I was interested in. Now, since they are changing the program, I can forget about graduating next May. I am sure the other students in the program feel as I do. — Rita D. Ecco, junior, University Studies.

Wearing jeans wasn't a statement

Last Friday there was a great injustice done to students at SIU, and most people weren't even aware of it. The people on campus who support gays and lesbians have abused an American institution — blue jeans.

These people proposed that the wearing of jeans on Friday constituted support of their movement. WRONG! I wore jeans because I like jeans. They are comfortable, casual, and clothing that I want to wear, not a social statement for homosexuality.

I find it difficult to believe that anyone would let this group of people intimidate them into not wearing jeans. Most people wore sweat pants or shorts, as if they had to prove they weren't homosexual. I am quite secure with my heterosexuality, and I for one will not succumb to pressure as to what I wear having any type of support for homosexuals.

I suggest that the next time this movement looks for support, they do so by wearing a badge saying so, not through abuse of this American tradition. — Cathy Sullivan, sophomore, Journalism.

Carbondale. The photos were of a nude young girl, police said.

Carbondale Police Detective Michael Osifcin earlier testified that he found a large box in a crawlspace in Hebel's home containing hundreds of slides, photos and negatives depicting young girls in "lewd exhibition" of their genitals.

Osifcin Monday identified additional photos found during the search that depicted a penis superimposed over the genitals of young girls in the photos.

Jackson County State's Attorney John Clemons said some of the photos found in Hebel's home had been categorized by Hebel according to degrees of sexual explicitness. Clemons also said it was also possible that Hebel had drugged the victim, who was unaware that any photos of her genitals had been taken.

Despite an objection by defense attorney P. Michael Kimmel, Clemons prior to sentencing showed the judge two carousels of slides on a viewer set up before the bench and out of sight of spectators in the courtroom. Clemons said the slides showed nude young girls and young girls' genitals.

Police Detective Lynn Trella testified that the photos found in Hebel's home depicted about 40 different females and that police were able to identify about 17 of the girls in the photos.

Defense witness Mary Andrews, a family guidance counselor, said she has counseled Hebel and his family numerous times since the incident and added that she felt he presented no harm to the community.

"He would never intentionally harm a child," said Andrews, who depicted Hebel as a "loving, caring father."

When asked if she thought he could commit such an act again, she said she believed he would not commit an act that would bring additional "trauma" to his family and that he could serve as a "positive role model" for his two sons.

Hebel, who read a letter in his defense, said the case had caused "a great deal of pain and frustration" to his family in the past 16 months.

He said foreclosure on the family's home, loss of his dentist's license, loss of about $100,000 in debts owed to him, harassment of his family by television news crews and reporters and other "hardships" had damaged his family's life.

Hebel also said police and officials from the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services had "seized" his daughter from her grandmother's home in Northern Illinois and told her that she would be taken from her family and placed in a foster home.

"Imagine what this would do to a child and her parents," he said.

He said his lawyers had tried to minimize the effects of the trial on the victim and her family by not contesting the girl's testimony and that he was "extremely sorry" for his actions.

"I understand your anger and your hate. If it were my children, I would share your feelings," Hebel said in a part of the letter addressed to the girl and her family. "I hope that this will be all behind you and that you can carry on your lives."

Richman, calling Hebel's statement "self-serving," said the justice system is not a "conduit for cruelty" and added that his decision would not be swayed by "public outcry or self-pitying statements."

Following the sentencing Clemons said the sentence "reflects how sick this man is" and added that his office may prosecute Hebel on additional charges of pornography.

Kimmel immediately filed a motion for appeal and said there are "errors" in the court record that will have to be dealt with by the appeals court.

Hebel remained in the custody of Jackson County officials without bond.

and minorities in the work force and that unless these groups are provided with the necessary training and education there will be a crisis in the future.

The Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Act, which will mean across-the-board budget cuts for most government programs if the federal budget is not balanced, will have a major effect on social welfare, Jacob said.

He said the act is not a strategy for eliminating the federal deficit, but "a political instrument put into place by ideologists who believe in less government."

Jacob said the National Urban League does not lobby, but that it does strongly denounce legislation such as the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Act.

Humphreys said that one-half of all black children are growing up in poverty, along with one-third of all Hispanic children and one-fourth of all children in the United States. She said that this is setting up a long-term agenda that Americans will pay for in years to come.

"The future for social work is bright, unfortunately, because of situations we are creating today," Humphreys said.

She said early deaths of poor children, drug abuse and prison costs paid by taxpayers are ways in which society will pay later for social welfare cuts now.

"We are sitting on a time bomb, and it won't be too much longer before we realize it," Humphreys said.

She said it is heartening in light of what she termed a hostile atmosphere for social workers that there is still a significant number of students who want to study social work at undergraduate and graduate levels.

She added that if social work can endure the past five years under the Reagan administration, it can endure just about anything. "We'll not see anything much worse, although the Gramm-Rudman Act will significantly affect social work," Humphreys said.

Jacob said that it is a popular belief that poverty is caused by welfare and, under President Reagan, any hope of progress has been given up.

Jacob said the media has to "rediscover poverty" because Americans do not realize there is a problem until the media reports it. He said the media has stopped reporting about poverty because "it is not a sexy issue."

"It's hard to generate interest in the problem of poverty," Jacob said. "America gets weary of battles, and they thought they'd won this won. They dealt with the unfairness."

terproductive for one country to splash itself all over the headlines in demanding another government do something. That other government is put in an almost impossible situation. It can't appear to be rolling over at the demands of outsiders."

A row of people wearing sandwich boards stretched into a "human billboard" that spelled "In the Name of God," "Stop the Lies" and "Stop the Killing." After the rally and a skit that parodied Reagan's flowery style of speeches to the public and congress, the group of about 40 proceeded through the Old Main Mall, headed north on South University Avenue and ended at the Federal Building where a poem by a Nicaraguan woman was read and a moment of silence observed.

The rally on campus was part of a day of protests across the nation.

In New York, Baltimore and Washington D.C. more than 220 people were arrested on disorderly conduct or trespassing charges, and Pledge of Resistance spokeswoman Susan Davidoff said protests were held in 220 cities.

Author Grace Paley, 63, one of those arrested in New York, credited citizens protests with the measure's defeat last time. She said she feared the aid to the Contras could lead to another Vietnam.

"It's really hard to sort of stand by and think that all this money is going to these bandits," she said.

Scholarship fund donations top $2,000

A campaign by the senior class to raise money for "Super Student" scholarships has netted $2,600.

Michael T. Miller, a student intern for the SIU Foundation and president-elect of the Student Alumni Council, said the money will provide two $1,000 scholarships this fall.

More donations are still coming in, and Miller said the final tally may reach $3,000.

Donations over the $2,000 mark will be used to start an endowment fund.

Volunteers telephoned classmates during the drive.

Members of Alpha Tau Omega sorority raised $1,000, best effort by a group. Top individual fund-raiser was Edward A. Hamilton of Murphysboro, who brought in $137.

The fund raising was sponsored by the Student Alumni Council and the SIU Foundation.

'Burned out' rocket joint found

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) -- In a breakthrough for shuttle salvage crews, a "burned out" section of the rocket joint that ruptured to doom Challenger and its crew has been recovered for analysis, the presidential disaster commission announced Monday.

It was the most significant find yet in the hunt for wreckage from Challenger's right-side booster, the No. 1 priority of the three-month search for shuttle debris, and it could provide conclusive proof of why the suspect joint failed Jan. 28.

"This piece is part of the aft center segment (of the rocket) in the joint area where a leak was suspected," a commission statement said. "A burned out area of the joint... is evident.

The wreckage was recovered Sunday by the crew of the salvage vessel Stena Workhorse.

Navy spokeswoman Lt. Cmdr. Deborah Burnette said the 4,000-pound piece of wreckage was found in 560 feet of water about 40 miles northeast of Challenger's launch pad.

The debris measured 10 feet by 20 feet and featured a burned out "hole" in the joint area that measured two feet across. The location of the "burn through" was consistent with photographic evidence of where the leak occurred.

On shore Monday, NASA engineers worked to put the finishing touches on the space agency's accident report detailing the causes of the Challenger disaster for the presidential panel.

Acting NASA Administrator William Graham and Rear

Adm. Richard Truly, associate administrator for space flight, planned to review the report Tuesday at the Kennedy Space Center before turning it over to the disaster commission on Friday.

The panel, chaired by former Secretary of State William Rogers, is scheduled to report to President Reagan in early June.

A key element of NASA's accident review is what caused a deadly leak in the joint between the lower two of four fuel segments that made up Challenger's right-side solid-fuel booster.

The wreckage recovered by the Stena Workhorse included part of the "tang" portion of the suspect joint, located on the lower end of the second fuel segment from the bottom.

Tutu elected archbishop

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI) — Bishop Desmond Tutu was elected Monday to preside over South Africa's Anglican church despite threats that many whites would leave the church if the black Nobel laureate was named.

Tutu, 54, the bishop of the Johannesburg diocese, was elected as archbishop by an overwhelming majority of the 500 church leaders who convened to select a successor to Archbishop Phillip Russell retiring in August, the state-run South African radio said.

The new archbishop, who will preside over all of South Africa and lead the 2-million membership, beat out white Bishop Michael Nuttall of Natal province, also an outspoken opponent of apartheid, the white-minority government's institutionalized policy of racial segregation.

Tutu, who won the 1984 Nobel Peace Prize for his decades-long peaceful campaign against apartheid, was named to the post despite threats by many whites to leave the church and withdraw financial support.

A decision by the Anglican officials meeting in secret had not been expected before Tuesday night, with many expecting a virtual replay of the 1981 synod that first pitted Tutu — appointed the first black bishop of Johannesburg in 1984 — against Nuttall.

That election ended in a deadlock for the first time in church history and Russell emerged as a compromise leader of the Anglicans.

Blacks make up about 80 percent of the church's membership but white worshippers donate about 80 percent of its income.

Hundreds of white Anglicans have warned they will quit the church if Tutu is elected to the top position of the South African church.

Libya attack called success by Reagan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan said Monday night that U.S. forces "succeeded in their mission" against Libyan targets of Moammar Khadafy's "reign of terror."

Reagan held a nationally broadcast news conference after U.S. warplanes attacked Libya, including the capital city of Tripoli, Monday night in retaliation for a terrorist bombing that killed an American GI.

The intelligence information leading to the U.S. attack, Reagan said, is exact, precise and "irrefutable" that Libya was responsible for the bombing of the discotheque in Berlin.

The responding U.S. attacks, the president said, "were concentrated and carefully measured" to ensure no casualties against the Libyan people.

"I MADE IT clear we would retaliate if there was evidence presented that Libya was responsible. This monstrous brutality is but the latest evidence in the Khadafy regime," Reagan said.

The president also said that preliminary indications showed the U.S. attacks were successful, after earlier reports from the White House there were no U.S. casualties. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger said at a later briefing that one of the U.S. warplanes, an F111, was unaccounted for.

Reagan also said U.S. sources had "solid evidence" about other attacks Khadafy had planned against U.S. targets.

"THANKS TO close cooperation from our friends, some of these attacks have been prevented," the president said. "Colonel Khadafy is not only an enemy of the United States," he said in praising allied cooperation.

"We have done what we had to do," Reagan said. "If necessary we shall do it again. It gives me no pleasure to say so."

Reagan made the decision to wage the strike on Libyan cities, including Tripoli and Benghazi, after weeks of gathering evidence linking Khadafy to the bombing of a West Berlin night club that killed one American serviceman and a Turkish woman.

Graduate painter to present talk on New York life

Frederick Brown, internationally known painter and SIU-C graduate, will give a talk on his experiences as a painter in New York at 1 p.m. Wednesday in the University Museum Auditorium.

Brown will also present a slide show of his recent work and a videotape of his recent trip to China as a guest of the Chinese government.

Brown has had major exhibits at the Marlborough Galleries in New York City and the Hokin-Kaufman Gallery in Chicago. He also has several pieces in the permanent collection of the Metropolitan Museum in New York City.

Admission is free. The University Museum is located in the north wing of Faneer Hall.

and wounded 240 others.

REAGAN, ECHOING themes promoted by Khadafy himself, said the "Libyan people and the American people were friends," but added that since Khadafy has taken power in the North African nation, all are "ashamed and disgusted that this man has made Libya a synonym for barbarism around the world."

Said Reagan: "(Some believe) the proper way to deal with him is to ignore him. I do not agree. Colonel Khadafy has engaged in terrorist attacks. And for us to ignore by inaction the slaughter of American citizens ... is not the American way."

"SELF-DEFENSE is not only our right," Reagan said. "It is our duty."

At 7 p.m. EST, Reagan said, "forces of the United States launched a series of strikes against the headquarters, terrorist facilities and military assets that support Moammar Khadafy's subversive activities."

"The attacks were concentrated and carefully targeted to minimize casualties among the Libyan people with whom we have no quarrel. From initial reports, our forces have succeeded in their mission," he said.

Reagan, who warned the Libyan leader that the United States would hold him responsible for any new terrorist attacks against Americans, said: "I made it clear we would respond as soon as we determined conclusively who was responsible for such attacks."

American response united: 'about time'

United Press International

because of how bad it is over there.

Most Americans — and a few Arabs — seemed to have a single reaction Monday night to the U.S. retaliation against Libya — "It's about time."

Many, even while applauding the raids, feared it would mean more terrorist attacks.

Some of the applause came from unexpected quarters.

A 39-year-old Arab minister in Detroit, who declined to be identified for fear of reprisals, said "When I heard about it tonight, I called a friend of mine and we congratulated each other."

"The whole lot of us (Arab-American Christians) are sick of Khadafy. We are here in this country

"Our feeling in the Arab community has been that if Reagan doesn't get rid of Khadafy, then whatever he does is wrong."

"Good," said a Chicago policeman who didn't want his name used. "America's like a voodoo doll. It kept on getting stuck until it couldn't take any more."

"I think it's about time we started curtailing this terrorist activity that's going on. Bravo, Reagan," said Kenny O'Grin, owner of a tavern in downtown Los Angeles. "It's about time," said Jonathan Greener, a Los Angeles social worker.

"No more words, but it's time for action. But I do wonder what the ramifications will be from our own allies."

Moot court team takes 2nd and advances to nationals

By William Walker
Staff Writer

The defending national champion moot court team from SIU-C placed second in the regionals of the American Bar Association Appellate Advocacy Competition last week and will advance to the national competition this summer in New York.

Earlier in the week, the International Law Moot Court Team competed in the opening rounds of the Philip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition, winning two contests and losing two.

Law students Michael Parkinson and Ronald Vance were the two members of the team that lost in the final round to Chicago Kent Illinois Institute of Technology School of Law to place second in the ABA competition. One other SIU-C team competed.

Last year Parkinson and Vance placed first in both the regional and national competition, beating South Texas College of Law in Houston for the national championship.

Despite their final-round loss to Kent, they will advance to the national competition, which consists of the first and second place teams from each of 12 regions, said Howard B.

Vintage aircraft to be displayed during airshow

One of the hottest planes that flew in World War II will roar into life at Fly-In '86 Saturday at the Southern Illinois Airport.

The P-51D Mustang fighter, owned and flown by John T. Baugh Jr., is a regular prize winner on the air show circuit.

Other period attractions at the Fly-In will be the P-40 "Warhawk" flown in the movie "1941," which featured John Belushi, and an AT-6 trainer, flown by Phil Van Reeth of Chicago.

Over 30 aircrafts will be on display from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the airport just west of Carbondale. Aerial acts are scheduled from 1 to 3 p.m.

Show organizers are members of SIU-C's chapter of the Rotor and Wing Association of America. Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. of Marion and B&L Photo of Carbondale are co-sponsors of the event.

Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for students and free to children under 12.

Exhibit to feature student artworks

Student works will be showcased in the Purchase Awards Exhibit Tuesday through Friday in the Student Center Ballroom B.

The works include watercolors, photographs, paintings, drawings and other mixed media works.

Pieces given Purchase Awards will be purchased by the Student Center for display in the building.

Admission to the exhibit is free.

Eisenberg, faculty adviser for the team.

The two SIU-C teams were among 10 teams in this region, which covers Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin. The 12 regions in the country correspond to the 12 federal judicial districts.

Last week's regional contest, which was held from Thursday through Saturday in Chicago, involved the teams' arguing both sides of a hypothetical case where a city has refused to allow a church to present a passion play and erect a cross in a public park.

Eisenberg was pleased with the team's performance, calling the loss to Kent "a very close round" that came down to a 3-2 decision from the judges.

"You'd rather win, obviously, but the team did very well," Eisenberg said. "I think we're going into the finals strong and we have a substantial chance of winning."

In the Jessup competition, which was held in Washington D.C., SIU-C was one of 12 teams vying for the chance to compete in the 30-team international division.

Maria Frankowska, the team's faculty adviser said except for the first and second place slots, final results are not yet available, but she said she expects SIU-C to finish fifth or sixth.

Boston College Law School and Oklahoma City University School of Law placed first and second, respectively, and Boston College went on to win the Jessup Cup in the international competition.

SIU-C did take home some honors, however, with the team receiving the award for best memorials, or court briefs, and team member Kathleen A. Kroker being named fifth best in oral discourse.

Study finds filter cigarettes harmful to passive smokers

NEW YORK (UPI) — A nearby non-smoker may inhale more nicotine from a filter cigarette than the person who is smoking it, a researcher reported Monday.

"A filter cigarette will deliver less nicotine to the smoker but not to those present," said University of Massachusetts researcher Dr. S. Katherine Hammond.

She said filter cigarettes dilute the smoke inhaled by the smoker but emit the same ash and particles of a traditional cigarette into the surrounding air.

"To put it in perspective, though, active smoking is a far more serious health risk than passive smoking because a smoker is exposed to far more material in the smoke," said Hammond, who presented her finding at a conference of the American Chemical Society.

She said her testing device, about the size of a tape recorder, "breathes in" air samples and then separates nicotine particles from other environmental pollutants with a chemically treated filter and a process called gas chromatography.

In her studies at the university medical center in Worcester, Hammond tested air surrounding four smokers in both a controlled chamber and in an office setting. After analyzing data obtained in both sets of tests, she determined a non-smoker in the immediate vicinity would have inhaled roughly the same amount of nicotine from both filter and traditional cigarettes.

Hammond said that by measuring nicotine, researchers can roughly determine the amount of cigarette smoke inhaled by non-smokers.

"Nicotine is used as a tracer, a marker for cigarette smoke," she said.

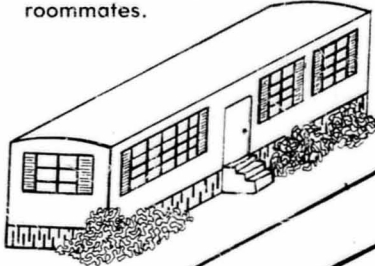

This ability to accurately test the effect of smoke on non-smokers could be beneficial as the legal debate over the rights of smokers vs. non-smokers crops up across the country.

Call it a trailer.
 Call it a mobile home.
 We call it "affordable accomodation."

How affordable is it? Like $50 a month*

It's all how you look at it. Some students wouldn't be caught dead in a mobile home/trailer. Others wouldn't be able to get by without it.

Let's face it. Unless you're living in a geodesic dome, your "home away from home" has four walls. Within those four basic walls are 1 or more baths, and none or more roommates.

At Carbondale Mobile Homes, you have access to that, and then some. Like a year-round indoor heated pool open to tenants only. A convenient nearby laundromat and post-office. Even free roundtrip transportation to SIU on school days.

Oh yes, there's free water free lawn care too!
 Look. If you're driving a 'vette and living off dad's credit cards, we're probably not your kind of place. But if you count pennies between meals and still want luxuries unheard of on a tight budget, give us a call!

'Futurist' to give Counts lecture

By Patricia Edwards
Staff Writer

Philosopher Glenn A. Olds, president of Alaska Pacific University, will speak Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Student Center Auditorium in observance of Founder's Day and the 14th annual George S. Counts Lecture.

The two events have been combined this year.

A noted futurist, Olds concentrates in the areas of ethics and social and political philosophies. His speech is titled "Human Nihilism," which translates as "Nothing Human is Alien to Us."

The George S. Counts Lecture honors the man who served nine years at SIU-C as a visiting professor after his retirement from Columbia

Glenn A. Olds

University Counts, who died in 1974, is recognized for his contributions as an authority on Soviet education.

Olds, an ordained Methodist minister, is a graduate of Northwestern University. The one-time president of Kent State University worked under philosopher Paul A. Schilpp, professor emeritus at SIU-C.

An early consultant for the Peace Corps, Olds has served four U.S. presidents. He was U.S. ambassador to the United Nations' Economic and Social Council in the early 1970s and chaired the International Consortium on Energy Research.

The Delyte and Dorothy Morris Doctoral Fellowship Awards for 1986 will be presented during Founder's Day. They will pay five top-ranked graduate students $10,000 per year for three years.

Reagan decries Contra aid delay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan said Monday members of Congress who use "subterfuge or backroom deal" to stop passage of military aid to the Contra rebels will set back the cause of peace and "hand down a verdict of shame on us all."

Reagan, in an emotional speech to the General Contractors of America at the White House, portrayed the Marxist-led Sandinista government in Nicaragua as a repressive gang and blasted plans by the House Democratic leadership to attach the $100 million Contra aid plan to a federal spending bill.

"If this happens, the bill could be lost for months in a forest of legislative delay" and could cause the destruction of the CIA-backed Contra forces, Reagan said.

"The Sandinista government is not a duly elected chosen government," Reagan said. "It's a gang that took over by force, so we think that maybe force on them will cause them, perhaps, to be willing to listen to the will of the people of Nicaragua."

Reagan rejected the House Rules Committee decision to make the aid request the centerpiece to a $1.7 billion spending bill packed with disaster relief funds, aid to Northern Ireland and other politically cherished projects — some of which Reagan opposes and has threatened to veto.

Reagan charged that "if the House votes 'yes,' but aid doesn't go through or if the House amends our bill to block defensive weapons the freedom fighters need, there is no question that the lives of countless young Nicaraguans will be put in jeopardy."

"There's no question that the cause of peace and democracy will be set back," he said, "and there is no question that the judgment of history will hand down a verdict of shame on us all."

But an aide to Rep. David Bonior, D-Mich., a leading critic of Reagan's Nicaragua policy, said the Contra aid would never get to the floor on its own and House Republicans were not concerned with its attachment to the spending bill until Reagan raised his objections.

"It's hardly unusual for the House or Senate to attach various things to the supplemental," the aide said. "Their concerns only started as the president, in a political decision, decided to veto the supplemental."

The House opens debate Tuesday on the aid package, which includes surface-to-air Stinger missiles, and is expected to vote Wednesday.

"Even if a majority of House members vote for aid to the freedom fighters we still wouldn't be able to get the aid to them, and certainly not in time," Reagan said after the contractors were issued brochures titled, "Will Democracy Prevail in Nicaragua?"

Millions to delay filing taxes, IRS says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On the eve of the April 15 deadline, the Internal Revenue Service said Monday 40 million taxpayers are waiting until the last minute to file their 1985 income tax returns.

IRS spokeswoman Johnell Hunter said the agency's hotline will stay open two extra hours Monday and until midnight Tuesday to help beleaguered taxpayers who delayed completing their returns.

Hunter, however, said it may be difficult to reach the taxpayer assistance service because a large volume of telephone calls is expected.

"People procrastinate with their taxes. That's all there is to it," Hunter said.

However, she said operations are running smoother this year and the IRS is prepared for the last-minute avalanche of returns.

"There are those who think we won't be able to handle last minute crunch," Hunter said. "We're doing well enough to handle it."

The Tax Foundation Inc., meanwhile, proclaimed May 1 as Tax Freedom Day, meaning that the average American works from Jan. 1 through April 30 just to earn enough money to pay his income taxes.

The foundation, a non-profit research group organized in 1937 to monitor taxes at all governmental levels, also said that in 1986 taxes will take a two-hour, 39-minute bite out of the average worker's eight-hour daily earnings, the same as in 1985.

Tax Foundation researchers said federal taxes will claim one hour and 44 minutes of the average worker's daily earnings.

Saluki men's track relay tops 24-year old medley record

By Steve Koulos
Staff Writer

It might have taken 24 years to accomplish, but the SIU-C men's track and field team shattered the school record in the distance medley relay Saturday at the 20th annual Dogwood Relays.

The Salukis' quartet of Mike Elliott, Connor Mason, Bret Garrett and Andrew Pettigrew set a new school record with a time of 9:35.62, eclipsing the old standard by more than two seconds.

The previous standard of 9:37.94 was set in 1962 by John Saunders, Jim Dupree, Brian Turner, and current men's track coach Bill Cornell.

Cornell says he is happy the old school record was broken.

"I would like to see all of them go," said Cornell of the two individual school records he still holds and the three relay school records he helped establish.

The Salukis finished second among the 33 schools entered in the distance medley relay. Villanova edged SIU-C with a time of 9:35.13.

The other top two Saluki performances in the non-scored meet were turned in by Elliott in the 800-meter run and Pettigrew in the 1,500.

Elliott had a personal best 1:48.84 in the 800 to finish fourth out of 58 runners. He missed the NCAA qualifying standard of 1:48.11 by .73 of a second.

"If Elliott didn't make one slight tactical error, he would have qualified for nationals," Cornell said. "Halfway through the race he got boxed in with the other runners and he had to slow up to get out of the pack."

After competing in the distance medley relay, Pettigrew came back two hours later and turned in a 3:48.05 effort in the 1,500 to finish fifth out of 52 runners.

"It wasn't a bad performance by Pettigrew considering he had to come back from the distance medley relay," Cornell said.

Turning in personal bests for the Salukis were Brian Anderson in the hammer (161-6); Larry Holloway in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles (55.42); and Scott Szczec in the discus (155-6).

Overall, Cornell said he was happy with his team's performance.

"I'm a lot happier with our performance this past weekend in comparison to our previous meets," Cornell said. "The Dogwood Relays was our toughest competition of the outdoor season."

The Salukis return to action next weekend in the Arkansas Invitational.

Field hockey squad signs four

By Steve Merritt
Sports Editor

A pair of St Louis natives and a pair of East Coast recruits have signed letters of intent to play field hockey next fall with SIU-C.

New additions to Julee Illner's squad will be Wendy Darius of Cheshire, Conn., Klaudia Gorman of Ocean City, N.J., and Nancy Hattrich and Cindy Oppermann of St. Louis.

The Salukis, 10-10-1 last season, graduate seven seniors this spring and will need both immediate and long-term help from this year's crop of recruits. Illner expects more signings before the deadline.

Darius attended Cheshire High School along with current Saluki star-out Mindy Thorne and had a reasonable chance of starting at either link or halfback.

Cheshire HS, a traditionally strong field hockey school in one of the top field hockey states, compiled a 60-7-8 record during Darius' career, winning two state championships and finishing runner-up two years.

Gorman, another product of a strong field hockey background, scored 32 goals while collecting 43 assists during her junior and senior years at Ocean City High School, where she was the first four-year starter in the school's history.

Gorman was recruited by Iowa, Syracuse, Ohio and Toledo.

Hattrich and Oppermann were both named to the Team Missouri field hockey squad that competed at the U.S. Field Hockey Assoc. in Norfolk, Va., last Thanksgiving.

Oppermann, primarily a forward at Ursuline Academy, led the team in scoring all four years while landing all-conference accolades two years and chose SIU-C over Iowa, Toledo and Southwest Missouri, among others.

Hattrich played halfback at Visitation Academy, where she captained the team, but was changed to sweeper on Team Missouri.

Illner said that the team needs work on the midfield area and will be losing both starting forwards after this fall, so getting depth and experience to the new recruits would be an important part of the Salukis' long term plans.

Wilson paces Royals to win over Boston with 3 hits

BOSTON (UPI) — Willie Wilson stroked three hits and keyed a six-run eighth inning Monday to pace the Kansas City Royals to an 8-2 victory over Boston and hand the Red Sox their fifth home opening day loss in six years.

With the score tied 2-2, Wilson led off the eighth with a single, moved to third on George Brett's single and scored on Hal McRae's fielder's choice grounder to shortstop. Frank White doubled off third baseman Wade Boggs' glove bringing home Brett and chasing Boston starter Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd, 0-1.

Volleyball team signs recruits for next season

By Steve Merritt
Sports Editor

Saluki volleyball coach Debbie Hunter signed two recruits and might possibly sign more before next fall.

Barb Oswald, a 5-9 hitter-middle blocker from Seneca, was ranked among the top 100 volleyball players in the Midwest by Midwest Volleyball Magazine and comes to SIU-C after a three-year interet by Hunter and assistant coach Sonya Locke.

Oswald led her team to a 26-5 effort this season and a top-eight finish in the state tournament. A four-year veteran of the sport, Oswald is comparable to former Saluki hitter Darlene Hogue but has a 26-inch vertical jump and is considered faster and more mobile than Hogue.

Heavily recruited, Oswald chose SIU-C over Arizona State, Iowa, Eastern Illinois, Western Illinois and defending Gateway champ Illinois State.

McMahon comes from a less extensive volleyball background but shows outstanding potential as a setter.

As SIU-C's first-ever left-handed setter, Hunter says McMahon will give the Salukis offensive options not possible with a right-handed setter.

Setting figures to be a crucial position for the Salukis this fall, as four-year starter and conference standout Lisa Cummins will be lost to graduation. Sue Sinclair, Cummins' understudy, is out of spring practice with an injury, leaving freshman Terrin Noble, a hitter by nature, to learn the setting trade as a backup.

Hitting might also be a problem area for the Salukis, with the loss of Hogue to graduation and starting counterpart Donna Tindali to marriage.

Hunter said that with progress over the spring and summer, Oswald could see 50 percent playing time this fall. Development would also determine McMahon's role on the team, Hunter said.

Men netters win 3 of 4 over weekend

By Martin Folan
Staff Writer

The Saluki men's tennis team dominated three of its last four matches, boosting its record to 4-16, however lost "the most disappointing" meet of the season last weekend to Louisville on the Cardinals' courts.

The Salukis won four of their six singles matches against Louisville, calling for only one doubles win to seal their first contest of the quadrangular event including Western Kentucky and Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis.

The Salukis' No. 1 doubles team of Per Wadmark and Rollie Oliquino lost to Brendan Burke and Tim Brueggeman — one of the top collegiate doubles teams in the country.

Wadmark and Oliquino split the first two sets, 6-4 and 4-6, but were shelled in the third set, 6-0.

"They lost, but they lost to a real good doubles team," Saluki coach Dick LeFevre said.

The No. 2 doubles match was "critical," LeFevre said.

Auld nets highly-ranked prospect

By Steve Merritt
Sports Editor

Beth Boardman, runner up at the Wisconsin State Tournament singles competition this fall, has signed a letter of intent to play tennis this fall for SIU-C.

A top five finisher all four years of her high school career, Boardman compiled an 88-15 record at Appleton East High School.

Boardman was ranked No. 29 in Girls 18s by the Western Tennis Association and was ranked No. 2 singles and doubles player by the same organization.

Judy Auld, SIU-C coach, said Boardman would be a valuable addition to the squad and that her quickness, desire and competitiveness would make her an outstanding collegiate tennis player.

"Beth started playing tennis at age 8 and she's had good instruction from her local pro and high school coach," Auld said. "I'm anxious to see her compete as a collegian."

Also a star in the classroom, Boardman was ranked among the top 93 percent of her class and part of her financial aid will come in the form of an academic scholarship from the College of Business.

Saluki gymnast Spillman unsure of taking scholarship from LSU

By M.J. Starhak
Staff Writer

Michelle Spillman, SIU-C's All-American from Montclair, N.J., has been offered a full scholarship from Louisiana State University to continue her college and gymnastics careers. Spillman said that she has not yet made a decision.

Spillman, who women's gymnastics coach Herb Vogel called "one of the highest-recruited athletes around," owns four SIU-C all-time scoring records in her three years as a Saluki.

LSU women's gymnastics coach D.D. Pollock said that the Tigers are "extremely interested" in obtaining Spillman for their young squad. Spillman would be the only senior on the LSU team, said Pollock.

"Everybody in the country knows who Michelle is," said Pollock, contrasting Spillman's recent popularity to the relative obscurity of her freshman year.

The Tigers' coach described her team as "eager and enthusiastic" and said that Spillman's "competitive experience, calmness" and maturity would be very helpful in balancing the team.

"LSU would be better for it," said Pollock, adding that the 5-foot gymnast would be one of LSU's better recruits.

The Tigers recently took the top spot in regional competition over favorite University of Alabama. SIU-C placed sixth in the competition. LSU will advance to NCAA competition, which will be held in Gainesville, Fla., April 18-19.

Spillman received offers from 17 schools, according to Vogel, including Oklahoma, California State University at Fullerton, Illinois, Oregon and New Mexico.

Pollock added that Spillman would give the Tigers strength in their weak events and in return, the LSU team may help Spillman to gain more consistency in control events like

Meyer recalled. "It felt great."
In his next game against Evansville, the reborn Meyer struck out 14 batters en route to a 6-2 victory and his second straight complete game.
"In the early going, I was striking them out with a fastball. Later, I was using a curve ball," Meyer explained. "It was the first time I felt comfortable throwing it on a three-and-two count."

In his victory against Bradley, however, he often fell behind on the ball-strike count but just missed his third consecutive complete game, going six and two-thirds innings.
"I didn't get into the groove I wanted to," Meyer said. "But that's encouraging that I could do as well as I could without my best stuff."

For now, Meyer is patiently waiting for his next start at Wichita State this weekend. He prefers to look back at the slump as a temporary painful setback, not a learning experience.
"If I've learned from my mistakes, I should be a genius," Meyer said.

Team effort paces lady golfers to 4th-place finish at Illini Classic

By Sandra Todd
Associate Sports Editor

The Saluki women golfers got into the swing of their spring season by putting in a true team effort to take fourth place at the 12-team, 54-hole Illini Spring Classic in Champaign last weekend.
Finishing first was Indiana with a 906 total; Ohio State was second with 922; Illinois took third with 946; the Salukis were next with 958, followed by Michigan with 974 and Gateway competitor Illinois State with 994.

Coach Sonya Stalberger attributed her squad's high quality of performance to its consistent positive attitude through competition. The degree of team unity exhibited resulted in some of the best individual games played all year.

"It's the most successful tournament we've played all year," said Stalberger. "I think one of the biggest reasons for our success is that it was the first time we've ever really played as a team."

Led by senior Jill Bertram, who shot rounds of 79, 78 and 77 for a total of 234 and a seventh-place individual tie with Ohio State's Jane Kang, the Salukis moved from sixth place after the first round (324) and retained the eventual fourth place with successive rounds of 316 and 318.

"Jill had her best tournament ever," Stalberger said. "Three consecutive rounds in the 70's is just terrific."
Because the Illinois Orange Course (76 par for 18 holes) had more par-five holes than many courses, Stalberger said that Bertram's score was especially commendable in that she shot just six over par for the weekend.

Despite strong wind gusts and rain in the second round of action, Tina Kozlowski hit a 79, improving on her initial tally of 84. In the third round, she shot back up to an 82 for a composite of 245.
Kozlowski was not the only contributor to a second-round Saluki surge, however. Kelly Mason (81, 81, 88), Vicki Higginson (81, 78, 81) and Pat Putnam (83, 83, 78) all shot their lowest counts of the weekend in round two.

"Our second round was outstanding," Stalberger said. "Besides the girls wanting and knowing they could do well, it was the key to our success."
Mason had "two spectacular rounds of 81, tying her career low," Stalberger said. "It was actually better because of the high-par course."
Higginson achieved her best individual performance with a 78 in the second round, breaking the 80 barrier for the first time in competition.

"She's been working extremely hard on her mental approach of the game and it paid off," Stalberger said.

Putnam boosted the team with a 78 in the final round. "It was a huge contribution," Stalberger said. "It was good to see her fight back and finish like that."

Although not competing for team points, Peggy Ellsworth, who has played for less than a year, consecutively hit career lows in the first and second rounds with 85 and 80 but increased to an 87 in the final round.

NETTERS, from Page 17

Chris Visconti and Jairo Aldana lost the first seven games of the match, but rebounded to win the second set, 6-2.

Visconti and Aldana came close to a victory for themselves and the team but dropped the last set, 7-5.

"We were up 3-1, and we had triple break point at 4-1, but we lost it," LeFevre said. "We should've won."

Fabiano Ramos and Juan Martinez were defeated at No. 3 doubles, 6-0 and 6-2.

"That was the most disappointing loss this year," the balance beam and uneven bars.

Vogel said that he has responded to recruiting offers from between 35-40 schools concerned with obtaining gymnasts from the 1986 Saluki squad. Eight of the nine athletes are listed in SIU-C's all-time scoring books.

Freshman Cheri Crosby is listed in the top 20 all-time women's gymnastics scorers in two events plus the all-around.

Robyn Sussman and Carri Salem, who had verbally agreed to attend SIU-C, are among the gymnasts shopping for schools. Sussman, of Milwaukee, was the Wisconsin state all-around champion. Salem, of Des Moines, was the Iowa all-around champion.

Vogel said that walk-on candidate Laura Bertleman, an all-arounder with good potential, also is looking for a school at which to continue her education and gymnastics career.

LeFevre said. "If you win four of six singles, you should win at least one doubles."

SIU-C shut out its next two opponents, WKU and IU-PUI.

LeFevre said that the 9-0 score may lead people to believe the Salukis won easily, but Nos. 1, 3, 4 and 6 singles and No. 1 doubles went three sets,

"so it was a tighter match than 9-0."

The Salukis breezed past IU-PUI, 9-0, winning all their matches in two sets.

New pairings for the Saluki doubles teams have proven to be successful — to an extent, LeFevre said.

Meyer winning battle over control

By Ron Warnick
Staff Writer

Only a few weeks ago, when someone mentioned Saluki pitcher Lee Meyer, others would usually respond with stifled snickers or pained groans.

Meyer's seemingly endless pitching troubles got so bad that Saluki coach Richard "Itchy" Jones once shook his head and said, "I don't even want to talk about Lee Meyer."

But the 6-foot-2, 190-pound junior has wrestled his two years of control problems long enough to reel off three straight wins, his latest a 5-2 victory over Bradley last Sunday.

Meyer, once nicknamed "Mr. Excitement" because of his mighty if unsuccessful pitching struggles, is turning the jeers into cheers again.

"After that slump, it makes each win that much better," Meyer said.

To fully appreciate the magnitude of Meyer's "slump" and his sudden comeback, one must go back to the summer of 1984, after he completed his freshman year with a fine 4-1 record and a 4.74 earned run average. It was in the collegiate Valley League in Virginia that his control problems developed.

Jones thinks his lack of control stemmed from mechanical problems, notably throwing off a stiff front leg and a herky-jerky pitching motion.

"Those problems are difficult to get straightened out. It's hard to be consistent," Jones said.

After a shoddy summer,

Lee Meyer has been a pleasant surprise for coach Itchy Jones this season, improving dramatically since last spring.

Meyer got a bitter taste of what the 1985 season would be like in his opening game against Army in Florida. He pitched 50 minutes, wearing just two batters and allowing eight runs.

"That's not a good start," Meyer understated.

It didn't get any better

Meyer pitched five games for only eight innings, gave up nine hits and 19 walks for an sky-high ERA of 15.75.

"I was really depressed," Meyer recalled. "I had a decent freshman year and figured I could go out and do it again."

Meyer did have a problem with warts on his pitching hand during the year, but refused to make it an excuse for his performance. The warts were removed in the off-season.

After three games this year, Meyer seemed to be up to his old tricks again. Through three games and six and a third innings, he gave up nine hits, 11 walks, threw three wild pitches and hit two batters for a 14.22 ERA. But he never gave up his quest for control.

"Instead of sitting down to put," Jones said, "he would sit down to think about it a few minutes and go to the bullpen to work on it."

The turning point finally came when he started the tail end of an April 3 doubleheader. In the first inning he pitched, two unearned runs scored.

"I looked at Coach Kirk Champion and said, 'His problem isn't that he hasn't gotten people out, but he hasn't thrown the ball over the plate,'" Jones said.

"He got through the inning, which was something he hadn't done in a while," Jones said.

Not only did he finish the inning, but he finished the game with a 7-2 win for his first complete game and first victory in two years.

"I couldn't quite believe it,"

The baseball Salukis will have a rematch with the Evansville Aces at a 1:30 p.m. doubleheader Tuesday at Abe Martin Field.

Last Tuesday, the Dogs lost the first game at Evansville, Ind., 6-3 but came back to take the second game 6-2.

The Aces recently have been playing more consistently than their 17-19 record indicates. They are 4-0 in the Mid-Continent Conference, tied with co-leader and nationally ranked Oral Roberts.

Saluki coach Richard "Itchy" Jones will send Shane Gooden (2-2, 2.57 earned run average) and Robb Osborne (2-1, 3.38 ERA) to the mound.

One Saluki hitter worth watching is outfielder Steve Finley, who had five hits in seven at-bats against the Aces last week and hit three home runs in two games Sunday.

If there's an ace Ace Evansville will send against the Salukis, it will probably be Jim Burger, who mowed them down 6-3 and retired the last 10 of the Dog's batters in a row. Burger has a 5-1 record with a 5.48 ERA.

Paul Lee has also been one of the Aces' better pitchers with a 3-2 record and a 5.19 ERA. He is also a valuable infielder with a .303 average, one homer and 34 RBI.

The rest of the staff includes Andy Benes (3-4, 6.23 ERA) and Bill Marsh (1-2, 6.66).

Their chief fence-smasher is Keith Aubille with six homers, 33 RBI and a .406 average. Other big bat-swingers include Lester Zitkus (.397, three homers, 19 RBI), Rob Maurer (.385, two homers, 18 RBI) and Daren Niethammer (five homers, 39 RBI).

Crucial error loses home opener for Gooden, Mets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Third baseman Howard Johnson's error with the bases loaded in the top of the 13th Monday paved the way for a four-run inning and helped the St. Louis Cardinals defeat New York, 6-2, and spoil the Mets' home opener.

Willie McGee led off the 13th with an infield single off loser Randy Niemann, 0-2. Tom Herr, attempting to sacrifice, bunted the ball to Niemann, whose throw to second base was not in time to catch McGee. Bruce Berenyi relieved Niemann and yielded a walk to Jack Clark, loading the bases.

With New York's infield playing in, Tito Landrum hit a one-hopper which went under Johnson's glove for an error, allowing McGee and Herr to score. One out later, Ozzie Smith stroked a two-run double to right to make the score 6-2.

Pat Perry, 1-0, pitched two innings for the victory. The victory improved St. Louis' record to 5-1, while the Mets dropped their third straight to lower their record to 2-3.

The Mets tied the score at 2-2 in the bottom of the ninth inning when Darryl Strawberry, hitting only .188 entering the game, stroked a one-out RBI single off reliever Todd Worrel.

Baseball Salukis second in MVC

By taking three of four games last weekend from former conference leader Bradley, the baseball Salukis have taken sole possession of second place in the Missouri Valley with a 5-3 record.

The Dogs, however, are still two games behind MVC leader Indiana State, which has a 7-1 record after sweeping four games over Creighton.

Because Indiana State's statistics hadn't yet been updated at press time, the information of just five teams are available.

SIU-C is ranked third among the five teams with an earned run average of 4.50, trailing frontrunner Wichita State's ERA of 3.91 and runner-up Creighton's 4.45 ERA.

The Salukis' .325 batting

MVC Standings

Indiana St.	7-1	25-8
SIU-C	5-3	23-12
Bradley	4-4	22-16
Wichita St.	3-5	26-10
Illinois St.	3-5	18-16
Creighton	2-6	26-14

In contrast to their inconsistent fielding, the Dogs are second among the five teams with a .950 fielding average. Wichita is first with a .959 average.

Former Top Twenty team Wichita State continued to spin its wheels in Valley play, splitting four weekend games with Illinois State.

With the split, the Shockers are tied for fourth in the conference standings with ISU, both with 3-5 records.

The Shockers' unimpressive MVC record shows that there is more parity in the country as a whole, as well as the conference, this year, Saluki coach "Itchy" Jones said.

"Everywhere you look, even the best teams in the country have eight or ten losses. I think that's how it should be. It's better for baseball," Jones said.

Braves' baseball squad victims of vandalism

Losing three of four baseball games is one thing, but getting water put in your gas tank before you can leave town is another.

So says Bradley baseball coach Dewey Kalmer, who discovered that someone had sabotaged his team's bus Sunday as it sat in the arena parking lot by putting water in the gas tank.

"Getting swept on Sunday didn't put me in the best of moods but finding that out about the bus really topped things off," Kalmer said.

"It's unfortunate," Kalmer continued. "SIU-C has a first-class coach and a first class program — it's a shame their fans don't live up to the high standards set by the rest of the program."

Kalmer said that Richard "Itchy" Jones is "one of the best coaches in the country and probably one of the nicest guys in the country, too," and that as coach, Jones could not be blamed for the incident.

Kalmer said that Jones could not, or should not, be expected to "police the area" in the midst of a game but said someone should think about stricter security measures.

Kalmer said that he has had problems at SIU-C before: two years ago during Bradley's last trip to Abe Martin Field, Bradley players throwing in the bullpen area were splashed with beer and soft drinks by what Kalmer called "drunken fans."

"If this kind of problem exists with some regularity, then the situation obviously calls for stricter security," Kalmer said. "Every school has its idiots, but it's my personal feeling that something needs to be done about those few people who screw things up."

Kalmer said that although he didn't know the SIU-C athletics director personally, the AD was the person who had to take responsibility for such actions.

"Any time you have people leaving the games drunk, you're going to have problems," Kalmer said. "It isn't a situation unique to SIU-C, we have our share of rowdy fans in Peoria, too."

Kalmer said that a police report was filled out and a letter detailing the incident will be written and mailed to Athletics Director Jim Livengood.

Kalmer's squad has had two successive weekend's of bad luck involving their team bus — two weekends ago at Wichita State, someone kicked the doors in, causing about $400 worth of damage.
