Film Festival, Study, Liberty Part of Finals

Extension of women's hours, free films and academic help sessions are several of the activities planned for final examination week, according to Marvin Silliman, staff assistant in the Student Activities Office.

Women's hours will be extended until 2 a.m. from Aug. 19-30.

Silliman said the University Center's Magnolia Lounge and Roman Room will remain open for studying until 2 a.m. as will the Oasis Room from Aug. 19-23 and from Aug. 26-29.

Morris Library will remain open until 1 a.m. from Aug. 25-29, while the 2-hour Reserve Room will remain open until 2 a.m.

A number of academic departments will offer help sessions. Announcements of these help sessions will probably be made by individual instructors during class periods preceding final exam week, Silliman said.

In addition, three film festivals will be presented in the University Center Ballrooms. There will be no charge for the six films which will be shown.

The W.C. Fields Festival will be held on Aug. 26. Films to be shown include "Tillie and Gus" at 8:30 p.m. and "International House" at 10:00 p.m.

On Aug. 27, Marx Brothers films will be shown. "Horse Feathers" will be shown at 8:30 p.m. while "Cocoanuts" will be presented at 10 p.m.

Two Bogart films will be presented on Aug. 28. "Casablanca" will be shown at 8:30 p.m. and will be followed by "Treasure of Sierra Madre" at 10:30 p.m.

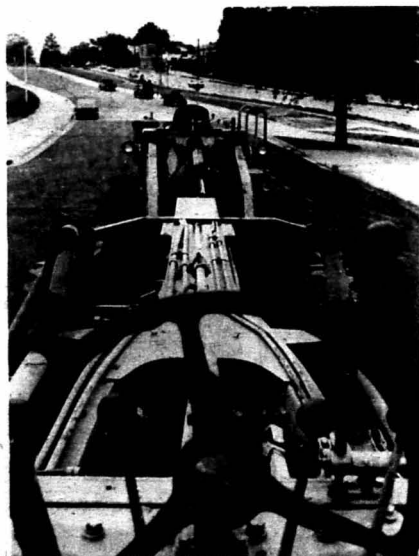

The Intramurals Office, Room 128 in the Arena, will be open from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Aug. 26-29. Students may secure recreation equipment and facilities upon request.

The University School Pool, Weight Room and Gymnasium will be open from 6:30 p.m. to midnight from Aug. 26-29.

Gus says he has some activities planned for finals week but they certainly don't include studying in the Roman Room until 2 a.m.

Faculty Council Acts

'11' Students Defended

The Carbondale Faculty Council has approved unanimously a four-part resolution defending the 11 students who were placed on disciplinary probation because of alleged participation in a May 2 demonstration against Army recruiters in the University Center.

The resolution was approved during the Council's regular bi-weekly meeting Tuesday afternoon. It reads as follows:

The faculty council reaffirms its commitment to the principle of due process; (2) in the judgment of the Faculty Council, due process was not accorded the 11 students when they were placed on disciplinary probation; (3) because of the information that some students may make appeals, the Faculty Council recognizes that this is not a closed matter; and (4) that, the Student Activities Committee of the Faculty Council be asked to investigate all actions in connection with this matter and make recommendations early in the Fall quarter."

The meeting, which lasted for nearly four hours, was divided into two segments, the first being an informal luncheon with Chancellor Robert MacVicar, and the second consisting of the regular business meeting, from which MacVicar absented himself. The resolution was approved during the business meeting.

Roland Keene, assistant to the President's office and secretary for the Faculty Council, said that in the future, the minutes of the council's business meetings will be distributed to all the faculty shortly after the meeting.

Keene said that the Council also discussed what the structure of the new Carbondale Faculty Council and the University Faculty Council should be in light of the recent reorganization. Keene noted that the Council has the matter under consideration.

Parade, Booths Add Excitement

Circus Ends Park Program

The summer Lincoln Recreation Park Program will wind up its activities with a Carbondale Community Circus this weekend at the park, according to Mike Norrington, a senior from the Department of Recreation and Outdoor Education and director of the circus.

Sponsored by the department in conjunction with the Carbondale Park District, Teen Center and School District No. 95, the circus will open with a parade Friday at 11 a.m.

The 21-unit parade will include Carbondale police cars and fire trucks, a 70-piece band from the Marissa, Ill., High School, the department's mobile education wagons, the SIU Tour Train and members of the bigtop show. Beginning at the park, the parade will go south on Marion to Grand, down Illinois, Jackson, University and College before winding up back at the park.

The bigtop show, under the tent at the west end of the park, will feature two programs from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. on Friday and Saturday. The program will feature Richard Price, a professional clown and magician, Sylvia Thompson and her animals, and Bill Boley, a professional magician and ventriloquist, all from Kentucky. Skits by area 4-H groups and a guitar-singing performance from Bob Halley of Anna, will also be on the program. Cost of admission is 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults.

Fifteen game booths in the midway area will be open from noon to 11 p.m. each day. Games such as baseball dunk, Tarzan's Grapevine and Ring-a-Duck will offer a prize every

Loop Extention Completed Soon

The extension of the campus loop at the corner of West Mill and South University Avenue will soon be open to traffic.

According to Phil Boyd of the Mid-America Landscaping Company, their phase of the project will be completed Thursday afternoon. Boyd added that as far as he knows the only job to be completed after the landscaping will be the electrical hook-up of the street lights.

Boyd said that straw lying on the raw earth is used to keep the rains from washing away the grass seed and to conserve moisture.

A mixture of Blue Grass, Fescue, Red Top and pre-annual Ryegrass is used for seed. Boyd said, "I hope the students can stay off the bare ground until the grass has a chance to get started." Boyd said that the grass should be covering the ground by frost time this fall.

SIU Olney TV Outlet Starts Airing Monday

SIU's second television station, Channel 16 WUSI, located near Olney, will go on the air Monday.

Buren Robbins, director of SIU Broadcasting Services, said the new station would begin broadcasting without fanfare, picking up the regular offerings of the University's Channel 8 station, WSUI. The first program will be at 4:30 p.m. The ultra-high frequency station is designed to extend the coverage of the education television offerings and will be used by schools in the Olney area that have been unable to receive the Channel 8 broadcasts.

Initially, Robbins said, all broadcasts on WUSI will be pick-ups from the Channel 8 station. Listeners in the Olney area may write to SIU Broadcasting Services for a monthly program guide.

A formal dedication ceremony at the new transmitter is planned for a future date, Robbins said.

Lists Guest Shows

A list of artists who will appear in guest recitals and workshops during the 1968-69 school year has been released by the SIU Department of Music.

The first workshop will take place Nov. 9, and will be conducted by organists Harold Gleason and Catherine Crozier. Robert Dumm, pianist-lecturer, will conduct a piano teachers institute Nov. 10-11 and will also give a lecture-recital.

A seminar Jan. 17-20 featuring Vladimir Ussachevsky, an eminent composer in the fields of contemporary and electronic music, will also include a concert of his works.

During Winter Quarter, 1969, Howard Brown, of the Collegium Musicum at the University of Chicago, will work with the Collegium of SIU and present a formal concert.

The highlight of spring quarter will be the appearance of the Fine Arts String Quartet at a string clinic and formal concert May 10-11. Members of the Fine Arts Quartet are artists-in-residence at the University of Wisconsin and have made many recordings, including the complete works of Beethoven for string quartet.

Blacks Charge Bias

OEO Funds Shift Proposed

The Northeast Community Development Congress is considering backing a proposal that all agencies handling federal poverty funds patronize banks with an unbiased lending policy.

The proposal was made to the Jackson-Williamson Community Action Agency by northeast resident Elbert Simon, who serves as one of Carbondale's two representatives to the bi-county agency's board. Indications are that the Northeast Congress will take actions to support Simon's proposal, a member of the congress said.

The JWCAA board members heard Simon's proposal but have not acted to accept it, he said. Simon said he is one of about five blacks on the 24-member board. He said he believes that if he could get the support of the black community he represents, then action might be taken by the board.

Presently the federal money from the Office of Economic Opportunity locally administered by the JWCAA, is in the Bank of Herrin. Simon charged that the bank does not lend to blacks.

"I don't know of any black people who have gotten any money from the bank," he said.

Herrin is an all-white town,

Simon said, and blacks are apprehensive and reluctant to try to do business there except to shop or work during the day.

"It is known that black people aren't welcome over there," he said.

SIU Organizations

Receive Invitations

To Labor Day Fun

SIU organizations and marching groups have received an invitation to participate in Labor Day festivities at Benton, Monday, Sept. 2.

James Swofford, chairman of the Southern Illinois Labor Day Association celebration committee, said fraternities and other groups are "cordially invited" to take part in the parade and other entertainment to be held on the Franklin County fairgrounds on Labor Day.

Along with hundreds of labor and civic organizations and entertainment groups, Sen. Everett Dirksen, Congressman Kenneth Gray and Gov. Shapiro will attend, Swofford said. Prizes are to be given for best entries in the parade.

Simon advocated transferring the funds to a bank where biased policies do not exist.

When asked about the charge, Dale Young, an official at the Bank of Herrin said, "I think that's an absurdity. He speaks without knowledge of the truth."

Bert Shemwell, chairman of the bi-county board, could not be reached for comment, but Carbondale Mayor David Keene said he is not aware of the reasons the board chose to deposit funds in the Bank of Herrin.

"I agree with it 100 percent," Mayor Keene said of Simon's proposal.

"This dream," he added, speaking about the hopes of the white establishment, "that these (black) people are going to help themselves and be passive is not true. Now they are leaders, and what the establishment must realize is that the leaders are going to lead."

Mayor Keene lauded the formation of the community Congress and said, "They're going to be heard as far as city hall is concerned."

Pfannkuch Given Industrial Grants For Ground Study

Hans O. Pfannkuch, assistant professor of engineering in the School of Technology, has received grants totalling $710 for research dealing with the capacity of underground formations to store and release water.

He received $600 from the Illinois Mining Institute and $110 from Geo-Engineering Laboratories, Inc., of Mt. Vernon. Geo-Engineering Laboratories has also contributed laboratory equipment to the project.

The research is done by graduate students Bruce Scheiman of Joliet and Yin Tuen Lai of Hong Kong under Pfannkuch's direction.

Feirich Re-Elected To National Society

At a recent meeting of the American Judicature Society John C. Feirich, a Carbondale attorney, was elected to serve a second term on the Board of Directors of the Society.

Feirich was first elected to membership on the Board a year ago.

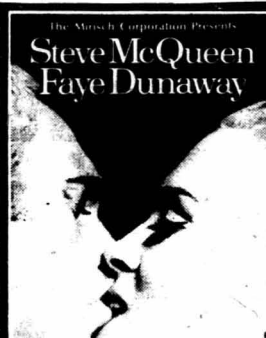

Arthur J. Goldberg was the featured speaker at the Society's 55th annual meeting held in Philadelphia. In his speech the former U.S. Supreme Court justice and American ambassador to the United Nations attacked the recently enacted Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act as being of "dubious constitutionality."

Why So Fast?

The University Vehicle Traffic and Parking committee's recommendations to increase parking and registration fees call for an expensive change which is, relatively, too sudden.

The committee's proposal—if approved—will mean that faculty and staff members will be charged $25 per year to park and register their cars. Red decals will also be increased to $15. Other decals to $5. At present, all decals cost $3.

In addition, the committee is asking for an increase to $45 and $25 next year and to $65 and $35 in 1970-1 for blue and red decals, respectively. Lastly, the committee has requested that parking meters be installed in three campus lots.

Needless to say, such changes would be an expense worth considering to most campus drivers. Yet, most drivers who get their news from the usual sources of local and campus newspapers have not been afforded sufficient time to consider these plans.

Unfortunately, during the past few months information on these major changes in parking and vehicle policy have been vague and non-committal. In fact, it wasn't until last Thursday that press releases gave campus drivers a chance to read about recommendations that already have been submitted for approval!

On the other hand, a faculty member who might have to pay $65 in 1970 to drive his car to work and park it, or for that matter, any student or staff member who counts his pennies, should have been presented with detailed and meaningful coverage of any news building up to the recent submission of the committee's recommendations.

It's not a matter of protesting against a form of taxation, but a matter of University policy and procedure. A far more democratic and considerate atmosphere could be maintained on campus if the University would let people know a little more, a little earlier about policy or plans that directly affect the people. After all, in this case the increase in fees will pay for more parking acreage and a proposed 224-car underground garage: both of which help contribute to SIU's growth and refinement. Such developments are something to be proud of. So why does the University wait until now to inform its "taxpayers" of a recommended increase?

Herrin Shoot-out

When people go to the polls to vote for their candidate in an election, they assume that the man they give their vote will act in a rational manner and represent them well. However, politicians sometimes forget this and perform such acts that are unbecoming to their political status.

Such was the case recently. An innocent bystander was accidentally shot during a quarrel between Herrin Mayor Fred Henderson and Alderman Tom Shoemaker.

Henderson and Shoemaker were involved in an argument, so they settled it in a gun showdown. Gunfights disappeared with the old West, and modern man is supposed to conduct himself in a civilized manner—settling arguments and differences through talk or the courts. Political figures should be the last people you would expect to act in such a manner, but this appears to be a false assumption.

It was a good thing that no one was killed. But, it is still a shattering thought that a person might help elect a man to office one day and then later have the man shoot you after he is in office, accident or not.

If political figures can't conduct themselves well in office, then they should get out of office and let someone in who acts in a rational manner.

Public Forum

The Daily Egyptian encourages free discussion of current issues through editorials and letters. Editorials are written by members of the student news staff and by students enrolled in journalism courses and represent opinions of the author only. Readers are invited to express their opinions in letters, which must be signed with name, address and telephone number, preferably typewritten, and be no longer than 250 words. Letter writers should respect the generally accepted standards of good taste and are urged to make their points in terms of issues rather than personalities. Acceptance for publication will depend upon the limitations of space and the timeliness and relevance of the material. It is the responsibility of the Daily Egyptian to determine content of the opinion pages. Other material on pages four and five includes editorials and articles reprinted from other newspapers, syndicated columns and articles, and interpretive or opinion articles authored locally.

An Editor's Outlook

Communism Not So Benign

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones

At the spring meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington, the young editor of the University of Michigan Daily, who had led his newspaper into the far-left flank of American college journalism, lectured to his colleagues of the "commercial press" on many things, including communism.

What the "commercial press" didn't understand, he said, was that communism had changed vastly since Stalin or even Khrushchev. There is a new and much benign communism today, he explained, and fear of it is not only old-fashioned but, perhaps, paranoiac.

It would be almost worth the price to buy the gentleman a ticket to Czechoslovakia.

The "New Wave" in Czechoslovakia, under Alexander Dubcek, is still only a ripple that may be erased at any moment by a tidal wave of Russian reaction. Dubcek's cryptic statement on Aug. 2, following the arm-twisting by the Russians at the Cierna conference, spoke of "deepening mutual co-operation" between the Communist nations. What does this mean? How much had he surrendered? Or had he really surrendered anything?

New forces have been unleashed in this drab and shabby land in the past 100 days, forces that have shaken European communism more than any event since the Moscow-Peking split. Can Moscow stuff the genie back into the bottle?

The old Czech who had once lived in London takes me by the arm to guide me through the twisted streets of the Old City.

"I can be seen talking with you," he says. "Two years ago that would have been dangerous. I can speak to you of what I think. Six months ago I would have been careful. And it is only the beginning. You should read our newspapers. 'When are the Russian troops going?' they ask every day. It is wonderful."

It is wonderful in the sense that a tourniquet is better than a severed artery, but it is not health. Under discussion is a new law that a man may hire as many as two other people. At present the state is the only employer and where one has no choice of employers the grossest exploitation is not only practical, but inevitable.

So, as in all the satellites, what was advertised as the key to universal prosperity has only opened the door to universal poverty. The citizens who were told they would own everything own next to nothing. What was once one of the most prosperous nations in Europe, a land of gifted, energetic people, cannot generate the capital to keep its old buildings in repair.

The very failure of the bureaucracy tends to perpetuate its power. As industry grows less efficient, the ability to find markets outside the Communist bloc diminishes. Who, given a choice including an Opel, a Volkswagen and a Fiat, would buy a Skoda? Czechoslovakia depends upon Russia for 98% of its petroleum. This is the hand upon the throat. For what can Czechoslovakia trade for Western oil?

Still, tourists from other satellite countries travel to Czechoslovakia because it is regarded as "advanced." And the old hotels and rooming houses are jammed with Germans, for here is where families split between East and West Germany may meet. And over the land there lies an air of great expectation and hope.

If the Red satchels fail to cancel the fragile and still hesitant "new freedom," there is belief that the special Czechoslovak Communist Party Congress called for September will oust the Moscow-dominated members of the Central Committee and strengthen the pro-Czech group in the Presidium. The hope? Further "revisions," but only within the framework of the Communist apparatus. The Dubcek government still swears fealty to the Warsaw Pact and adheres to the anti-American line.

To test the anti-Americanism of the street, I put on my "American costume." I appear as a sort of comic Hoot Gibson in a broad-brimmed hat, a Western shirt and a bolo tie with an arrowhead. Everywhere I am met with exaggerated politeness.

The man on the walk down from Prague Castle pauses to give me directions and then adds, gratuitously, "Another Budapest? The time is past. They wouldn't dare!"

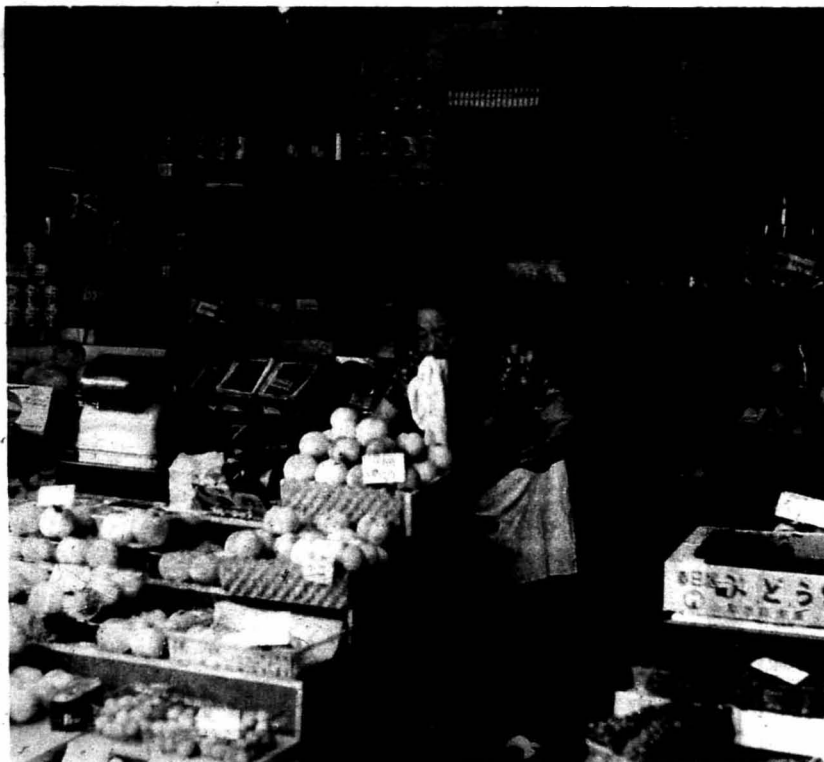

And then he points to a rude sign lettered on a wall:

"Democraciel!"

Tiny Japanese Shops Display Many Items

By John Durbin

TOKYO—The small neighborhood shop-owner in Japan has an uncanny knack of making the best use of the least possible space to earn his family a living.

The little shops are normally in front of or below the owner's living quarters which hardly ever consist of more than three or four rooms. The shops are usually managed by an old man with the aid of his wife and children.

Because space is greatly limited, nearly every store owner displays much of his merchandise right out on the sidewalk, making it easily visible to those walking or driving along the streets.

The store itself is usually no bigger than an average size living room in an American home. In all cases the store owners with open-fronts have built in big aluminum doors which they pull down after the shop is closed.

Most shops, although small, offer a wide variety of items. They do not, however, as in the U.S., offer a number of brands of a particular item. A customer must buy the brand of bread his neighborhood store offers, for instance, or else go to another shop somewhere else.

In Japan there is no such thing as a little shop which handles only groceries, hardware supplies or drug store sundries. A shop owner can sell a number of items of each in just his one small shop.

In what appeared to be only a hardware and appliance store there were electric fans and air conditioners along with a variety of tools and sporting goods. Yet on a counter over in the corner of the store were drug store sundries such as non-prescription medicines and cosmetics.

Many of the small shops which specialize in fruits or meats also sell drug store items and beer as well. Beer certainly is not confined to particular types of stores. It can be purchased in most small shops.

At first glance the small shops appear junky and unkept. But this is far from the truth. The reason they appear junky is that so many items are sold they must be stacked very close to one another. But the mamasan (the owner's wife) and the children who work in the shops are very careful to keep a clean, neat store. There is little question that each owner tries to make the most of the little space he has to work with.

Competition is quite heavy between store owners because in just an area of two or three blocks there could very likely be a dozen or more stores handling much the same type of stock.

There are exceptions such as small arts and crafts shops which are unique to a particular area. There are also antique shops and special little stores which deal in nothing but handmade trinkets for all members of a family.

A foreigner walking along the street and watching each hard working shopkeeper putting in his 13 or 14 hour day (7 or 8 a.m. until about 9 p.m.) wonders how a family is able to remain in business with so many other competitive shops in the area. It is not uncommon at all to see between six and 10 small shops jammed right next to each other hoping to pull in the same prospective customer.

But as one shopkeeper explained "I make enough to live and feed my family, and we are all happy doing what we are doing."

John Durbin, a junior majoring in journalism, is working as a summer intern on the Pacific Stars and Stripes in Tokyo. He is also serving as a correspondent for the Daily Egyptian.

Demos List VP Favorites

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A coalition of Southern Democratic chairmen announced Wednesday a list of seven Southerners they will push for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

On the list are Gov. John Connally of Texas, Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee, Gov. John McKeithen of Louisiana, Gov. Robert McNair of South Carolina, former governors Carl Sanders of Georgia and Terry Sanford of North Carolina, and Sen. George Smathers of Florida.

The chairmen said at a news conference after their second meeting within a week that they will present the list to candidates for the presidential nomination at the National Democratic Convention on the basis that the South can unite behind any one of the seven.

Represented at Wednesday's meeting were six states, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina, Alabama and Mississippi.

Pat Thomas of Florida, one of the spokesmen for the group, said however that the chairmen from six other states—Texas, Louisiana, Virginia, Tennessee, Arkansas and Kentucky—are being kept informed of the coalition's actions and are in agreement.

Thomas said the group hopes to interview all of those selected as potential vice presidential nominees to determine whether they would accept.

The Southern chairmen will caucus in Chicago Saturday, Aug. 24, and hope to present their list to all candidates for the presidential nomination prior to the start of the convention, he said.

At their news conference, the chairmen also said they hope to see strong planks written on law and order, support of freedom of choice, plans for schools and broad changes in the nation's farm program.

The group also will communicate to the Convention Credentials Committee its desire that challenges to various state delegations be investigated strictly on the basis of "the legality of the selection of the delegates."

Without naming any candidate, Robert Vance of Alabama said some presidential hopefuls are supporting challenges to advance their own candidacy, and declared, "We don't think that's a responsible way to run a political party."

Red Leader Says No Excuse

For Soviet Armed Meddling

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Romanian party leader Nicolae Ceausescu said Wednesday there could be "no justification for armed intervention in the internal affairs of any Warsaw Treaty member country" as he prepared to visit Czechoslovakia's liberal leaders in Prague.

He did not mention Czechoslovakia specifically, but it was obvious he referred to the threat of intervention by the Soviet Union and other hard-line countries prior to the Bratislava summit conference Aug. 3.

"The observance of the independence of each party, and noninterference in internal affairs are fundamental conditions for building up relations of equality and mutual trust among the Communist parties," he told graduates of the Bucharest Military School.

HOMECOMING 1968

Any officially recognized campus organization, which has not been contacted and which is planning to host an open house, coffee hour, etc., for the 1968 Homecoming, should fill out an information blank for Publicity by August 27, 1968. The information blanks are available in the Activities Programming Board Office, which is located in the University Center. Failure to do so, may result in the organization not being listed in the schedule of events for the 1968 Homecoming. This information is needed as soon as possible to assure adequate time for printing the schedules.

time for a cost of 5 cents per game.

The Carbondale Teen Center will serve a lunch of coney dogs, hot dogs, potato chips and a drink and a dinner of fried chicken, potato salad and coke. Other concession stands will also be available.

The Illinois Heart Association, American Cancer Society, Negro Culture, Southern Illinois Incorporated groups will have a display in the midway area. Roger Huber, a Decatur glass-blower, will display his work.

The circus is the finale for what seems to have been a very successful program.

GLs, S. Viets Find VC Ammo Caches

SAIGON (AP)—American and South Vietnamese troops reported finding large new enemy caches Wednesday in a tunnel complex beneath a cluster of villages 25 miles north of Saigon.

The allied sweep began Tuesday and so far has uncovered 500 rounds of rockets and recoilless rifle ammunition and 72,000 rounds for automatic weapons. The search operation is designed to upset any enemy plans for a new attack on Saigon.

Ten Viet Cong who attempted to flee were killed in a 15-minute clash Tuesday.

"I am highly pleased in every way with the summer recreation program," said Mayor David Keene. "Especially with the racial participation."

He explained that about half of the participants were from culturally-deprived families.

"I am so pleased with the program that I am trying to get it on a yearly basis."

John C. Murphy, coordinator of the program, was also pleased with the program's progress.

"All our goals have been met," he said.

Second in Three Months

Copter Crash Claims 21 Near Disneyland

COMPTON, Calif. (AP)—A helicopter carrying youngsters and adults to Disneyland broke apart and plunged in pieces onto a playground Wednesday, killing its 21 occupants in yellow fire and black smoke.

It was the second crash of a helicopter carrying Disneyland visitors in three months. Twenty-three were killed at nearby Paramount on May 22. Both craft were operated by Los Angeles Airways. The company suspended all flights until further notice.

Fifteen bodies—one child, two teen-agers and 12 adults—were pulled from the charred and crumpled wreckage by mid-afternoon. Most were found strapped in their seats.

The body of the pilot was part way out of the cockpit and his head was resting on the ground, said Don Rosteing, 28, of Lynwood, a mechanic at a nearby transmission shop.

"His hair was on fire," Rosteing said. "We tried to spray him with the extinguishers, but the flames swept right over him."

"God bless that man," said a witness, Johnathan Dollar, 46, about the pilot. "He tried to the very end to keep that copter airborne."

Dollar watched from his trailer house across the street as the single-rotor Sikorsky S61 plunged from about 50 feet into Leuder's Park in the suburb of Compton 10 miles south of downtown Los Angeles.

"The fuselage was distorted and it came down slanted to the right," said Dollar. He ran outside.

"Two small gears and a dime hit me on the chest and fell in front of me. Someone told me 'I can see a guy in there we can still get.'"

"We reached the front and saw the cockpit was torn away and the pilot was trapped partially in the seat by a bar pushed over his midsection.

"I and the other guy tried to pull the bar loose when flames crept up the pilot's pants leg. The man didn't change expression. I guess he was already dead."

Other witnesses used small fire extinguishers on the helicopter, but the fire still raged.

Flames streaked along the full length of the fuselage.

"Oh, that one man. It was terrible," said Linda Stewell, 21, one of the first to arrive, referring to the dead pilot. "I just couldn't believe it."

About 30 youngsters were playing in the park when another mechanic at the transmission shop heard three loud pops and looked up to see the helicopter.

"It seemed to hesitate and its main rotor blade stopped for a second," said John Sears, 22, of Pico Rivera.

Harriman Accuses North Viets Of Planning New Drives South

PARIS, (AP)—U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman dismissed as "unrealistic" Wednesday Hanoi's insistent demand for an unconditional halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and accused the North Vietnamese of planning a new and large attack in South Vietnam.

Ambassador Xuan Thuy defended his North Vietnamese government's position, saying the demand was "legitimate, realistic and reasonable."

He blamed the Americans for the deadlock in the talks, and repeated his warning that the two sides could move no closer to peace until U.S. air raids on the North were stopped.

Thus, after 17 meetings over three months, the peace talks still appeared to be stalled. The chief point at issue, as it was when the discussions began May 13, was the question of bombing.

Harriman said President Johnson could not order a complete halt of the bombing as long as North Vietnam continued to pour troops and material into South Vietnam for "another round of large-scale attacks."

He declared to reporters after the four-hour meeting: "I told them the President was ready to stop all the bombing so we could get on with the talks and I held them responsible for this delay because of their unrealistic position."

"They didn't realize that the President means what he says, that he cannot stop all the bombing when they're increasing the threat to the battle area of the demilitarized zone."

Nixon Enlists Rocky Aide

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Richard M. Nixon enlisted one of defeated rival Nelson Rockefeller's top strategists Wednesday as a special traveling adviser in his Republican presidential campaign.

Sen. Thruston Morton, R-Ky., chairman of the Rockefeller for President Committee, met with Nixon at the candidate's beach-side resort campaign headquarters and agreed to join his campaign after Labor Day.

Working to present a united front to the Democrats in the fall, Nixon also telephoned four more Republican governors and, aides said, received pledges of all possible help from them.

They were Govs. John Love of Colorado, Dan Evans of Washington, John Chafee of Rhode Island and Harold Levander of Minnesota.

Nigeria Sends Commandos

Against HQ Biafra Rebs

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—The Nigerian high command has launched two columns of commandos in a pincer movement against the headquarters of Biafran rebels at Aba, informed sources said Wednesday.

The drive could be the start of an all-out offensive for a quick military solution to the 13-month-old civil war that successive peace conferences in Kampala, Uganda, and Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, have failed to settle.

At least two brigades of Nigeria's 3rd Marine Commando Division—Perhaps 6,000 men—were reported pushing north from the Port Harcourt sector toward Aba, a city of 130,000 about 40 miles inland.

A high-ranking officer said a contingent commanded by Col. Benjamin Adekunle crossed the Imo River 15 miles south of Aba. The leading element of the other pincer was believed to be crossing the river at the Imo railway station, 22 miles from the city.

Bryant displays gavels from many groups

Placement Director Roye Bryant To Retire

A five-gavel man, Roye R. Bryant, director of Placement Services has an unusual distinction.

He is the only man who has served as national president of the two major organizations in his field—the Association of School, College and University Staffing and the College Placement Council, Inc. (U.S. and Canada).

He prizes the gavels presented him by these two groups, and also has one each from the Midwest College Placement Association, one from the Illinois ASCUS and a fifth from the Illinois Schoolmaster's Association. As another executive job he headed the Southern Division of the Illinois Education Association.

Bryant retires Sept. 1 after running SIU's placement operations since 1950 when he became the school's first full-time placement director.

As president of the College Placement Council, Bryant logged more than 100,000 miles of travel to meetings and conferences.

Bryant passed the state teacher's certification examination at the tender age of 17 after completing only three years of high school at his native Norris City. Fortunately, his birthday fell on August 9 so he reached the maturity of 18 before he met his first class at Stokes Station in White County.

On that first job, school "kept" only seven months out of the year, so between sessions he rushed to Carbondale to complete his studies for the high school diploma in University School.

He completed the bachelor's degree at SIU (then Southern Illinois Normal University) in three years plus summers, graduating in 1930. He earned the master of arts degree at the University of Illinois, 1937, and the doctorate at Washington University, St. Louis, 1952.

Bryant had 22 years' experience as a public school administrator in Illinois, most of it at Omaha, Enfield and Metropolis, before he was called to SIU in 1948 as a field representative for the University.

Two years later he was assigned to full-time placement duties and began to build up an organization that now spans two campuses plus the Vocational Technical Institute and answers calls for SIU graduates from around the globe.

In the beginning, Bryant's placement job was to connect SIU graduates with teaching positions, for at that time the University was just beginning to diversify into non-teaching fields. Today, he said, more recruiters from business and industry visit the University than do educators. Last year, 863 personnel representatives from business and industry visited the two campuses, Carbondale and Edwardsville, compared to 339 teacher recruiters.

"And we have calls for our graduates from all 50 states and from all continents, he added. "Last year we received requests from 23 foreign countries."

While SIU is still one of the country's largest teacher-training institutions, today only a little more than a third enter teaching as a profession, he said.

Almost all SIU students who want jobs are placed by October after commencement, he said. Last year, by Oct. 1, when his office closed out its annual report, only 5 per cent were unemployed. Some years, he added, the figure is as low as 1 per cent.

Bryant has no plans to remain idle for long. He has been offered the opportunity to teach a class now and then in SIU's department of educational administration and supervision.

Footnote to Fame

Maris Shows Class with Early Retirement

By Bill Conlin
Copley News Service

Roger Maris (*—see footnote), who will uniquely go to the Baseball Hall of Fame with an asterisk after his name, also is singular by the degree of class he had demonstrated in retiring from the game.

While his skills dim and his batting eye clouds, the 33-year-old Maris (*) gracefully turned his back on another season or two at $75,000 and chucked all that money rather than continue as a caricature of the fine player he once was.

Others have quit on top, notably Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams, but the tendency in these days of baseball expansion is to hang onto the payroll long after the peak years have passed. The game itself is to blame for the policies that have contributed to a dwindling source of talent and the equal shortage of name attractions.

Still, rather than hang on as a fringe player, seeing his lifetime average go to pot as is the case with Mickey Mantle, Maris (*) has had a strange career. The man who beat Babe Ruth's record and caused thereby great resentments, particularly in New York) was a home run hitter of the Bambino's proportions only in one season. Never before had he hit as many as 40 home runs in one year; never again was he to do it. In succeeding seasons after his one glory campaign, Maris (*) was to have fourmaster totals of 33, 23, 26, 8, 13 and 9.

Actually the baseball establishment put its top appraisal on Maris (*) as a fine defensive outfielder, rather than as a slugger.

His lifetime batting average is a mere .260, but he could run and throw and field with great skill. Such fineness as playing balls off the fences revealed Roger's real outfield greatness.

With the fans in New York, hittless Mantle was apt to tear the dressing room apart and throw it at inquiring reporters.

A strange fellow, The Man With The Asterisk. He could have been a greater hero had he rolled with the punches and allowed himself the adulation that the New York press was prepared to give him. Instead, the circumstances of Maris (*) developed the reputation as a monumental blow-top. But Gotham writers said it was really undeserved. They considered Mantle the Immortal Mick as a hotter-to-handle Yankee, particularly after those games in which he wore the horsecollar. A synthetically beating Ruth's record, and being chided in some quarters as a cheese champion, put a chip on his shoulder.

At the end, though, Roger is proving himself a class guy. He's quitting while he's ahead, and he can now laugh at the strains and stresses that beset the baseball world.

FOOTNOTE. (*)—Maris hit 61 homers in 1961 during a 162-game schedule, breaking the record of 60 held by Babe Ruth since 1927. Ruth did it in a 154-game schedule, and the circumstances caused many baseball fans to be resentful of the new home run king.

End Losing Streak

St. Louis Cards Cool Cubs, 3-1;

Gibson's 14th Straight Victory

CHICAGO (AP)—Bob Gibson, recording his 14th straight victory, cooled off Chicago 3-1 with an eight hitter as the St. Louis Cardinals ended a seven-game losing string against the pesky Cubs Wednesday.

The victory boosted the league-leading Cardinals' margin over second place Chicago to 13 games again.

Another amazing matinee crowd of 32,733 saw Gibson, unbeaten since May 28, nip a four-game Cub winning streak as the Cards peaked away at Cub starter Joe Niekro's first setback after six straight victories. Joe Niekro, 12-7, for nine hits in the first seven innings.

It was Niekro's first setback after six straight victories.

In three weekday games against the Cards, crowds of 30,693, 35,198 and 32,733 packed Wrigley Field.

Gibson, now 16-5, had his shut-out bid spoiled in the fourth on Al Spangler's double and Jim Hickman's single. The Cards took a 1-0 lead in the third when Adolfo Phillips dropped Roger Maris' fly to the center field wall for a two-base error and Orlando Cepeda followed with a double.

Phillips was injured on the play and had to be carried from the field on a stretcher. He suffered a bruised back.

The Cards got another run in the fourth on Julian Javier's triple and Dal Maxvill's single.

St. Louis made it 3-1 in the seventh on Lou Brock's leadoff double, a sacrifice and an infield out.

Third From Illinois

Martin Named to Tri-State Hall of Fame

By Barb Leebens

Honors are nothing new to Glenn "Abe" Martin, director of SIU's Intramural Department. He's been getting them by the armfuls since he entered Southern as a football player in 1928.

His most recent honor came last Sunday when he was named to the Evansville Courier and Press Tri-State Hall of Fame. The award is given annually to men who have made outstanding contributions to athletics in Kentucky, Illinois and Indiana. Martin is the third person from Illinois to be named.

In 1958, he was selected to the Helms Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame, and, in 1967, was selected to the NCAA's Baseball Coaches Hall of Fame for his success in those sports at SIU. He was chosen as the NCAA's District Four Coach of the Year in 1964.

A native of Fairfield, Ill., Martin came to SIU as a student in 1928. In four years as an SIU athlete he won four letters each in football and track. As a halfback, Martin helped Southern to its only unbeaten season in 1930 while playing in 16 straight wins in two seasons.

After graduation in 1932 he signed a professional football contract with the Chicago Cardinals where he started every game in his first season. In 1933, Martin left the Cardinals to coach at his hometown high school, Fairfield, which won a pair of North Egypt Conference football titles in three years and two basketball titles under his guidance. The basketball team reached the sectional finals all three years.

Yearning to return to his old alma mater, Martin came back to SIU in 1938 as assistant football coach to Coach William McAndrew. In 1939, he became head coach. In 12 years as SIU football coach he compiled a 34-47-6 record.

Coaching one sport was not enough for Martin and in 1943 he became head basketball coach as well as athletic director. Three years later, Martin became the first coach in the history of SIU to direct a team to a national championship. Playing without scholarship players, the Salukis won the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Championship in a 32 team tournament at Kansas City.

Switching from basketball to baseball, Martin formed SIU's first baseball team in 1947. Before retiring in June 1965, Martin compiled 275 wins and 118 losses and won six Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference titles (five of them in a row).

In 1947 Martin took the SIU football team to appear in its only bowl game. The Salukis won the Corn Bowl beating North Central College of Naperville, Ill. and added another notch to Martin's list of honors.

After coaching three sports for three decades at SIU, Martin stepped down to take the job as head of the Intramural Department in 1958. At that time the department only offered softball and basketball to the SIU students.

Under Martin's direction the intramural department has blossomed into a 17 sport field enabling nearly 9,000 students to participate annually in the intramural program. The sports include flag football, golf, tennis, bowling, badminton, wrestling, basketball, swimming, weight lifting, volleyball, softball, horse shoes, track and field events, free throw contests, and hand ball and hole-in-one golf.

Martin is presently on the NCAA basketball research committee. In 1958 the State Department asked him to introduce baseball to Israel, where he visited for four months.

As an athlete, a coach, an athletic director and head of the SIU Intramural Department, Martin has established himself as a natural winner.

Pro Golfers May Begin Own Tour

NEW YORK (AP)—The Professional Golfers Association kept the door open to the rebelling tournament pros Wednesday as players stiffened their determination to strike out on a tour of their own.

"I don't believe the PGA position has been fairly presented to the players," said Max Elbin, PGA president, from his office at the Burning Tree Golf Club in Bethesda, Md. "We would like to appear before a meeting of all the men so that we can present the facts of the case."

Named to the Evansville Courier and Press Tri-state Hall of Fame recently was SIU's Glenn "Abe" Martin who heads the intramural program. He had previously been elected to Helms Basketball Hall of Fame and the NCAA Baseball Hall of Fame.

Methodist Team Wins Half Season Softball Championship

The United First Methodist-Wesley Foundation softball team won the playoffs in the first half of the Jackson County Slo-pitch Softball League this week with a 14-10 win over Immanuel Lutheran of Murphysboro.

The winners were led in hitting by Dick Shuford who drove in three runs with a home run in the fifth inning. He was also given credit for a run-batted-in with a sacrifice fly in the sixth inning.

The United Methodist increased a narrow lead over

Immanuel Lutheran to eight with an explosive seven run top of the fifth inning. Shuford's home run, in addition to a two base hit by Ross Wheeler, accounted for the difference.

George Everingham, E.Z. Zimmerman and Don Cherry each had three hits for the winners.

Third place in the first half of the season went to United Methodist of Murphysboro, which beat Elm Street Baptist of Murphysboro, 14-9.

Football Cardinals Trade Hillebrand

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis football Cardinals Wednesday traded veteran line-backer Jerry Hillebrand to the Pittsburgh Steelers for a draft choice.

The Cardinals announced also they have acquired defensive back Clarence Childs from the New York Giants in exchange for a 1969 high draft choice.

Childs has been a leading kickoff and punt return artist until he lost his starting spot to rookie Willie Williams last season.
