2-15-1980

The Daily Egyptian, February 15, 1980

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: http://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_February1980
Volume 64, Issue 97

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1980 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in February 1980 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
Rowe steps down

By Paula Donner Walter

Within a period of about five minutes, SIU Board of Trustees Chairman Harris Rowe called the Feb. 11 meeting to order, announced his intention not to seek the chairmanship, nominated himself for the position and entertained a motion to close the nominations.

The result: William Norwood, former SIU-C student senator, was unanimously elected chairman of the board Thursday.

Although he was the only nominee, board policy requires that elections be held by secret ballot. So in order to fulfill the statute requirements, each member of the board voted by secret ballot.

"It may seem like a game, but since the statute requires it, we're doing it. This board is always going to go by the statute," Rowe said.

Rowe was nominated in the nomination and election of Trustees A. D. Van Meter as vice chairman and Carol Kimmel as secretary.

"The votes were counted and the results were unanimous," Rowe said.

Since the ballots were counted and the results were announced, University News Service issued a prepared news release on the election of the new officers.

"The meeting was then adjourned. Five minutes so a photographer could take pictures of the new officers," Rowe said.

Norwood, who turned 44 Thursday, is a 1999 graduate of SIUC and a senior pilot for United Airlines. The Elk Grove Village resident has been on the board since 1974 and has served as vice chairman for the past two years.

Van Meter, a resident of Springfield and president of the Illinois National Bank there, has served on the board since 1976. He earned a degree in journalism from Northwestern and is senior partner in the Springfield law firm Van Meter, Oxtoby & Funk.

Kimmel is a resident of Rock Island and has served as secretary for the past year. She has been a member of the board since 1977.

Norwood was recognized by the board for "his dedication and perseverance" as chairman of the board for the past three years. In his ninth year as a trustee, Rowe was presented with a wooden plaque by Norwood and the other trustees in appreciation for his service.

Kimmel and Van Meter, to the board's architecture and design committee.

Deputy OK after shootout with suspect

By Lesene Wexman

"It's a hard feeling to describe. It was a matter of training and self-confidence," Jackson County Sheriff's Deputy Robert Burns said Thursday of a shootout he was involved in with a burglary suspect. The incident Wednesday evening killed Burns and the suspect in Carbondale Memorial Hospital with gunshot wounds.

In a telephone interview from his hospital bed, Burns said, "An officer learns a lot from his day to day road experience. I think my experience helped me cope. I've never been shot at before."

The 30-year-old Burns was listed in satisfactory condition Thursday after undergoing treatment for a bullet wound he received while investigating an attempted burglary at the home of former SJC President Delvy Morris.

The suspect, 50-year-old Lyman Moore of Cambria, was listed in stable condition and resting in the intensive care unit of Memorial Hospital Thursday, a hospital official said.

"When something like that happens you just hope you can survive it," Burns said.

Burns was shot in the left elbow. Another shot hit him in the chest but the bullet proof vest he was wearing protected him from the second bullet. Jackson County Sheriff Don White said.

Moore was shot in the abdomen.

(Continued on Page 3)

Snowflakes—Jerry Solomon (above), sophomore in design, takes advantage of the warm, spring-like air Thursday by catching a few at the entrance to the Student Union Auditorium. Dan Hogan (right), senior in English, found a comfortable spot on one of the benches overlooking the building panorama. Rain or snow is predicted for Friday with temperatures reaching the high 40s.

Staff photos by Brent Cramer

Daily Egyptian

Southern Illinois University

Friday, February 15, 1980—Vol. 64, No. 97

Shaw: Tuition increase a necessity

By Chuck Hemstead

Staff Writer

A big increase in the cost of tuition for SIU students is necessary to maintain the current level of educational quality, Chancellor Kenneth Shaw told the Board of Trustees Thursday.

The proposal would generate approximately $1.5 million for the SIU System by increasing tuition for Illinois residents to $311 per semester. The increasing, recommended by the Illinois Board of Higher Education at its December meeting, will be voted on by the trustees at their March 15 meeting in Edwardsville. Board policy requires student fee increases be considered at two consecutive meetings.

Shaw said, "We face a problem where every resource is essential. The increase is in keeping with the IBHE policy meeting which will establish tuition as a constant, with allowances for economic in-dicating factors."

Shaw said that although tuition will continue to increase, the increases will be tied to the rate of inflation and therefore will be more predictable for students and parents.

In other action, acting SIUC President Hiram Leason announced the names of the Ad Hoc Campus Commission on Intercollegiate Athletics. The committee, which will meet next week, was commissioned by Leason to study the role of SIUC intercollegiate athletics and the fate of a $10 increase in student athletics fees. Choreographing the special committee will be John King, chairman of the department of education. He is expected to report back to Leason by Nov. 1.

Other members of the commission include: Seymour Bryson, dean of the college of human resources; Norma Ewing, assistant professor of special education; Ricardo Caballero-Aquino, graduate student; Linda Schneider, student senator; Larry Aut, administrative coordinator of the medical school Howard Allen, professor of history; Phyllis McCoy, stenographer in health education; Raymond Burchett, president of City National Bank of Murphysboro; James Beimiller, professor of chemistry and biochemistry.

Rounding out the panel are: Edward McGlane, chairman of the department of speech communication; Raymond Rainbow, associate professor of English; Imogene Beckemeyer, assistant professor of mathematics; Florence Yeates, professor emeritus of philosophy.

A resolution was passed honoring George L. Criminger, legislative liaison specialist for SIU for 15 years. Criminger is currently special assistant for external relations to Vice President for University Relations George Mace.

A finance committee was established to keep the board better informed on matters of financial impact. Members of the committee include new board chairman William Norwood and two board members appointed by the chairman of the Board of Trustees.
An explosion Thursday caused an undetermined amount of damage to a hotel in Herrin. The cause of the blast is not known. The blast caused parts of the roof to blow out (see arrows). At least four firefighters were treated for minor burns. Two employees were treated in Herrin Fire Department. Hearin firefighters were on the scene until late Thursday afternoon. Allen officials decline to comment on the incident.

USO, F-Senate split on $15 late fee

By Jacqi Koscrzak and Robin Sapone
Staff Writers

Student and faculty groups split on the issue of a $15 late registration fee, with the Undergraduate Student Organization rejecting the proposal and the Faculty Senate endorsing it.

At meetings this week, both groups took action on the proposal which was submitted to constituencies by a committee from the office of academic affairs and research.

The committee proposed establishing a "nonrefundable" fee for all students registering after the first day classes are in session.

Calling the proposal "an unfair policy, Christ Cordogon, east side senator, said in a case where late registration is the University's fault, no fee should not be assessed of students.

For instance, Cordogon said, the draft of the proposal does not include exceptions for transfer student who transer to the university late and are not able to schedule appointments in order to register on time. At Tuesday's Faculty Senate meeting, the proposal passed with only one dissenting vote.

Botany Professor Aristotel Pappas said he object to the plan because it would be imposing a penalty on students who register late rather than establishing a reward for those who register early.

"It's a rude way of telling students to get the job done," Pappas said.

He said the administration is committed to a "meritocracy policy," but only with regard to faculty and staff.

"I never see students being rewarded for something they do right," he said. "On the student level, the administration takes a punishment approach, always making things more difficult."

The Faculty Senate passed a resolution stating that there should be no exceptions to the late fee, in order for it to be effective.

Professor of History Howard Allen said the Senate discussed the possibility of students who may feel they should be exempted, but decided that "no prudent person should be able to work it out before the deadline.

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Alderman Ken Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done." Petersen said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."

The Senate's proposal passed unanimously. Petersen, the University's final word, said the Senate's proposal was a "rude way of telling students to get the job done."
Deputy OK after shootout with suspect

"Continued from Page 1"

(remains of the day) and right until after he. Burns and University Police Chief Nelson Pens exchanged gunshots. Jackson County State's Attorney William Schwartz said charges are pending against Moore in connection with the shootout.

Former President Morris', wife, Dorothy, is on vacation and was not at home when the incident occurred, according to J. D. Gilbert, the Morris' attorney. Burns and three University Police officers responded to a burglary alarm at the home on East Park Street at about 6 p.m. Wednesday.

According to Sheriff White, Burns and Perry entered the residence through an open garage door window while University Police Officers Clarence Herrington and Jack Fleming stood guard outside. Burns kicked open the garage door leading to the inside of the house. Moore was apparently standing behind the door inside the house when Burns stepped into the hallway. Moore fired three shots, one of which hit a .22-caliber snub-nosed revolver. Perry, who was carrying a shotgun, fired three or four shots and Burns fired about six shots with a pistol he was carrying. White said.

Gordon et al., a 30-year-old Marine veteran, who is in his third week of an internship with the sheriff's department, said, "It looked like they were having trouble finding him. I heard five shots and then I saw them bring Bob up the road."

The incident was paroled in 1978 after serving 12 years for murder and armed robbery, according to Parole Officer Murcia Eaton. "Up until now we haven't had any problems with him," Eaton said.

Negotiators: Inquiry to free hostages

By The Associated Press

A key negotiator for the release of the American hostages in Tehran said Thursday that the United States and the Iranians have agreed the hostages will be freed with the opening of the U.S. inquiry into alleged crimes of the deposed shah. However, America's U.N. ambassador said the situation was not yet resolved.

F. MacBride, former foreign minister of Ireland who has been actively involved in the crisis since the hostages were seized Nov. 4, told the inquiry would "inquire into the extent to which the regime of the shah may have committed offenses under international law."

Mondale confident of primary result

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Walter F. Mondale, in town to generate support for President Carter's re-election campaign, said Thursday he is confident the president will face well in the March 21 Illinois primary.

Mondale told a group of community and suburban newspaper editors that since a recent statement by Chip Carter, the president's son, that the Carter campaign has all but conceded losing Cook County in the primary, "we're not granting the loss of any area. We're going to contest across the board."

The vice president said that latest polls indicate the president is leading his challengers in the "city, suburbs and downstate... Right now, we feel we're doing well."

Chicago firefighters defy court order

CHICAGO (AP) — Thousands of angry firefighters walked out of station houses in defiance of a court order Thursday and for the first time ever, refused to answer fire calls in the nation's second largest city.

The city quickly served notice that the firefighters faced disciplinary hearings that could result in their dismissal. It also canceled their medical benefits.

The strike left fire protection for 3.5 million people up to non-striking firemen, supervisory personnel, Fire Academy cadets and other city workers with help from suburban departments.

As dark fell Thursday, however, no major fires had been reported, and many fires were handled by the police department.

Officials of the 3,500-member Chicago Fire Fighters Union said virtually in the day that the strike was being observed by 95 percent of its members.
Changes ahead

University Housing will next fall have a trash time selling the idea of off-campus living to freshmen and sophomores. For in fact, the first year or two of college life may be more expensive and less carefree than some students had anticipated.

Most freshmen and sophomores under the age of 18 are required to live in University housing. In most cases, this means a dorm. The choice is simple: live in a dorm or don't go to school. However, life in those dorms will undergo some changes next year.

Next fall, University Housing will set the ante for spending a year up to $275. The advance payment for the college fee will go up from $190 to $219. The additional cost is used partly to pay for the cool air supplied to the "individually controlled" air conditioning units. Enjoy that cool air. You're paying for it.

Alcohol is outlawed except in a few dorms and on a few floors. For those not old enough to legally consume, the spectre of getting caught hangs over a social gathering. Various infamous dorm parties in the past — Blestend, 2nd Floor Bailey, Bashes — are, for better or worse, out. A resident can always get stoned, but there's a R.A. down the hall, ever alert to the fuzzy, sensible closed.

Students could at one time break their housing contract for $75. In those cases, the fringe rent charged was $279. If it now could cost up to $500 to break that contract. The housing office implemented this policy to be sure that on-campus dorms are full each semester. This latest revision of the contract fee makes it even more expensive to leave the dorms. When it was $75, most people would just pay it and forget it. Now, that's not a cheap option.

Why the change? To keep the dorms full and furnishing each semester, which is especially important since dorm life will soon have not much going for it.

In most cases, off-campus housing is no treat either. Out there, one deals with landlords and folks and other fun people and things.

Still, next semester off-campus may look better than spending a year in a dry, expensive dorm.

---

DOONESBURY

by Garry Trudeau

Letters

Change archaic drinking law

I urge all SIU students to support Mr. Silver's Jan 30th effort to change an archaic drinking law. How can the government justify expecting us to pay $90 to kill and drink alcohol? A possibility that looks more real every day but will not let us drink legally.

The whole way House Bill 21 was passed sounds fishy. It was so sudden, few people knew about it but it was almost a certainty. There is also a legal aspect that is being questioned.

Not only are 19 and 20-year-olds being denied the right to drink, but home rule power was taken away.

People like to drink. People will take risks to be able to drink as prohibition so clearly showed us. So why don't we accept this instead of fighting it?

So vote! Write your legislator! Act! People can make a difference, especially young people. Mark Russin
Senior MarketIng

Paper plates, flowers waste of resources

People have been talking about how we waste our resources. And they couldn't be more right. There's a surplus for energy efficiency as opposed to increased energy consumption. We still throw away paper plates and plastic flowers. Have you ever stopped to think of this enormous waste? And besides ticks, it would rather make over our plates and plastic flowers.

Punkers' outfits boring

In her review of the punk rock disc at the Champaign Centre, Paula Walker described the outfits of the dancers as if the occasion was a formal wedding.

I attended the event, but not as a "viewer" who came to "watch the punk." In fact, I was rather bored by the sight of the punks, although I did ascertain that it was their intention that I watch them. I like dance too, but only for the joy in it and want to be watched. I'd go to a formal wedding, but not a punk disco party.

It's really cute, out of all the collapsing poverty and political repression in Jamaica, reggae music rises as an instrument for the squire and vital expression of joy, anger, comfort and the hope for social change.

In America, the children of influence can wear of new clothes more creative than mascara and clothes that were a common concept of nuclear warfare which most Americans still hold. It is no longer "the bomb," but has become a bone of worry. And if there were a true revolution and capable of being launched, dropped or fired in any number of ways. Tactics used to be long since began to view nuclear weapons in terms of conventional warfare. In Europe alone, the United States and its allies have nearly 7,000 nuclear weapons and recent NATO agreements promise more. These weapons are not designed for long range use, but merely as support for ground forces.

America, too, has ground forces. And these forces will be comprised of young Americans — you, your. It's the case of 3,586 young men died. In World War II, 3,000 or one of every 410 of the 1940 population — were victims of war. Korea added another 35,000 to the toll of American war casualties. And in Vietnam, nearly another 35,000, or another 300,000 were wounded (just look around you).

In the event of nuclear conflict, such numbers of casualties could be the result of just one clash between rival forces. You, young American, could be among the dead, just another statistic for the 6 p.m. news.

But it's not too late. The runnings of war, are just that — runnings. The time has come, you have. Raise your voices in unison so that elected officials will know the sentiments of the youth. Let this be the time for the people to sit in cars rust on the highways from lack of fuel. And above all, let someone live.

That dead soldier could be you

The time has come for American college students to cast off the label of apathy and save a life — the life of the human lives the United States government seems willing to sacrifice. Those who would be asked to give up living would be the young college student. Even women may be asked to make this ultimate sacrifice.

In a massive military conflict, the only winners are those who manage to escape with their lives. And with the increasing sophistication of weaponry, the odds of coming home alive are extremely small.

American armed forces are completely outnumbered, outgunned and literally out-classed in comparison to the Soviets. While Americans were bullied into semi-consensus by individual prosperity, the Soviets were sacrificing comfort in order to build what is probably the most modern and best equipped military force ever amassed. Our only alternative to certain defeat would be nuclear proliferation and inevitably destruction of much, if not all, the world.

Military tacticians have moved far beyond the 1940 concept of nuclear warfare which most Americans still hold. It is no longer "the bomb," but has become a bone of worry. And if there were a true revolution and capable of being launched, dropped or fired in any number of ways. Tactics used to be long since began to view nuclear weapons in terms of conventional warfare. In Europe alone, the United States and its allies have nearly 7,000 nuclear weapons and recent NATO agreements promise more. These weapons are not designed for long range use, but merely as support for ground forces.

America, too, has ground forces. And these forces will be comprised of young Americans — you, your. It's the case of 3,586 young men died. In World War II, 3,000 or one of every 410 of the 1940 population — were victims of war. Korea added another 35,000 to the toll of American war casualties. And in Vietnam, nearly another 35,000, or another 300,000 were wounded (just look around you).

In the event of nuclear conflict, such numbers of casualties could be the result of just one clash between rival forces. You, young American, could be among the dead, just another statistic for the 6 p.m. news.

But it's not too late. The runnings of war, are just that — runnings. The time has come, you have. Raise your voices in unison so that elected officials will know the sentiments of the youth. Let this be the time for the people to sit in cars rust on the highways from lack of fuel. And above all, let someone live.

Willy and Josephine

Dave Powers

That dead soldier could be you

The time has come for American college students to cast off the label of apathy and save a life — the life of the human lives the United States government seems willing to sacrifice. Those who would be asked to give up living would be the young college student. Even women may be asked to make this ultimate sacrifice.

In a massive military conflict, the only winners are those who manage to escape with their lives. And with the increasing sophistication of weaponry, the odds of coming home alive are extremely small.

American armed forces are completely outnumbered, outgunned and literally out-classed in comparison to the Soviets. While Americans were bullied into semi-consensus by individual prosperity, the Soviets were sacrificing comfort in order to build what is probably the most modern and best equipped military force ever amassed. Our only alternative to certain defeat would be nuclear proliferation and inevitably destruction of much, if not all, the world.
GSC OK's Law School allocation; will sponsor poet Dickey in May

By Mimi Jarzembsky
Staff Writer

A recommendation from the Fee Allocation Board that the Law School be given $1,000 for its annual moot court competition was passed by the Graduate Student Council. An acknowledgment of $50 per judge was recommended.

Sue Myerson, a representative from the Law School, told the GSC of its meeting Wednesday that 10 justices from Illinois and other states will preside over the mock court hearings and be giving short seminars.

Moot court is an oral advocacy program in which students write a legal brief and debate it before a judge. Myerson said the GSC will be held March 14. A Fee Allocation Board recommendation that $500 be given to the English Department for the poet James Dickey to SHC was also passed by the GSC.

Dickey will appear on campus May 1 and 2 in other business. The GSC appointed members to serve on committees with open positions.

A resolution to fund up to $1,900 for a graduate student handbook was also approved.

Activities
Friday

Fridays

Dental Hygiene, meeting, 4 a.m. in the. Ballroom B

GSM Annual Meeting, meeting, 4 a.m. in the Student Center Board Room.

Muslim Student Center, orientation, meeting, room.

Law School, Law School staff writer.

Perry Leach, attorney, meeting, room.

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship. Join a Bible Study

Our meetings are on Fridays at 7-30 p.m. in the Ohio River Room on the second floor of the Student Center

Busch Pleasure Hunt

Clue #3

ROYUE FIA

GINTNAW

NITCOAVA

Get Cups, 1 & 14 on Stadium

WCL Off. Fb

-Feb 15-17

Friday

Busch

Wednesday

Hamms

12pk. 12oz.

12pk. 12oz.

6pk. 12oz.

$1.50 Pitcher till 9

Mighty Joe Young

1st Beer FREE, FREE Munchies & Cake

Mirage

Sunday Night

Han Gar

Carlo Rossi Wines

99c

PLUS OTHER IN-STORE SPECIALS!
By Nick Storl Staff Writer

It is only a coincidence that the reaction of the public toward Semper Fidelis—a group organized to become platoon leaders in the Marines—happened at the same time as that of Semper Fidelis. The draft drill, says club President Rob Decker.

The group had been inactive for a few weeks, he had a "take a look" at all other platoon leaders and get the group organized. Members from all over the country participate in a "Take a Look" campaign, and the SICU (Scholastic) chapter is planning a benefit to raise money to help fight cancer.

"The group uses the organization to raise money to help fight cancer. Helping things that involve working together help us as Marines and help us a group," Decker said.

Sgt. Clifford Coats, an officer selection recruiter for 35 colleges in the southeast Missouri and Southern Illinois areas, said Semper Fidelis "serves to promote responsibility among Marines, while still giving them a chance to socialize."

Since retired Marines and others who have been affiliated with the Marines are eligible to join Semper Fidelis, the group helps future Marines get a feel for what they will be involved in by talking to those who have already been Marines. Coats said:

"This way they can talk to those who have already been there."

Coats said "It gives Marines a chance to talk to Marines, much like people who have a degree in business, and maybe would like to get together and talk." The group will be set up Friday in the Student Center with Semper Fidelis members and other members of the group will be there.

A booth will be set up Friday in the Student Center with Semper Fidelis members and information on Semper Fidelis. There is no obligation to join the group, although some of the members have the objective of becoming platoon leaders in the Marines.

"Those joining Semper Fidelis also have the option of becoming associate members, should they be in the 'seriously interested stage,'" said the group's chief of operations, who is a freshman management major. A person must be enrolled in some officer program for full membership in the group.

The group has two faculty advisers, William T. Shane and David Smith, both from the Recreation Department.

"Semper Fidelis has been down for a couple of years, but I'm glad to say it's on the way back up," Otten said.

Benefit skate-a-thon slated

By Mary Lee Montague Staff Writer

A skate-a-thon benefit for the American Cancer Society, sponsored by Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity, will be held at the Great Skate Train in Carbondale Saturday and Sunday.

Jack Stewart, chairman of the event, said the marathons will be held at the ice skating rink located at 10 a.m. both nights.

Stewart said pledges have already been distributed to potential skate-a-thon participants.

Skaters will take to the floor by the hour and the amount of money pledged to them by businesses and private citizens.

Participants are responsible for their own skating shoes and money pledged to them by the American Cancer Society no later than ten days after the skate-a-thon if the money is to be credited to the event.

There will be ten-minute breaks every hour and two half-hour breaks each night. Forty prizes will be awarded with the first place winner receiving a gift savings bond. First and second place trophies will be awarded to the high school with the most pledges.

Other prizes include gift certificates, one-day skate passes, and theater passes.

Campus McDonald's will reduce the price of breakfast and donate $1 to the Cancer Society for each person participating in the skate-a-thon who goes to McDonald's for breakfast between 9 and 11 a.m. both nights.

"The most important thing is to have a good time, make sure you rest well before skating rounds, and don't over exert yourself," Stewart said.

To guard against blisters, Stewart suggested participants wear the most comfortable shoes, and wear at least three layers of clothes, and keep your helmet on at all times.

"This is our first skating society benefit this year, and we are trying to make this into an annual event that will become bigger," Stewart said.

Pay Yourself First

The current rate on savings as follows are:

Share Account 6½% annually
Christmas Club Compounded Quarterly
Special Savings
Share Drafts 5% annually
Compounded Monthly

Payroll Deductions—The easy way to save

SIU Employees

CREDIT UNION

1217 W. Main St.
Carbondale, IL 62901
Health fee covers variety of services

By Carrie Sweeney
Staff Writer

When paying tuition and fees for the semester, do you ever wonder what services the $45 Student Medical Benefit Fee entitles you to receive? According to Dr. Don Knapp, Health Service Medical Director, the fee includes all primary health care.

The Student Wellness Resource Center receives $3 of the medical fee for the operation of their Lifestyles, Human Sexuality, Patient Activation and Alcohol Education services. Through various programs and workshops available to students, these services help students prevent illness and learn how to facilitate long-term health.

The largest portion of the SMB fee, $20, is utilized for on-campus outpatient care at the Health Service. This includes all visits to a nurse or physician and diagnostic lab work up to $15,000 within the Carbondale area.

"The Health Service provides the type of care that will keep you reasonably healthy and enable you to function properly as a student," Knapp said.

The Health Service currently staffs six general practitioners, one general surgeon, one part-time radiologist, one part-time ear, nose and throat specialist and one full-time psychiatrist.

When a patient's illness requires more care than a visit to the Health Service can offer, he or she may be referred to the infirmary, which is located on the second floor of the Health Service building, Bremhofer Hall.

A fee-paying student is entitled to room and board, diagnostic laboratory work and physician visits at no charge. Medications are charged for on a replacement cost basis and X-rays are billed at 45 per series. A $2 segment of the SMB fee goes towards such services.

"The infirmary is a health care facility that is for patients too sick to return to their home environment, but who are not sick enough to be in the hospital," Knapp said.

Five registered and licensed practical nurses and several student aids oversee the 16 bed infirmary. Knapp added. The average patient load, he said, is three students a day.

When cases require the extensive care of a specialist, the $2.50 portion of the SMB fee enables the student to be referred to other facilities or specialists.

(Continued on Page 15)

Student helps handicapped people as personal attendant, van driver

By Jenni Olson
Staff Writer

Mary Williams usually gets up at 8 a.m. in order to make it to class at 9. After class she goes to the home of a 27-year-old student who is confined to a wheelchair. She opens the drapes in the efficiency apartment, helps the woman out of bed, gives her a sponge bath, washes her hair and cooks breakfast before leaving for her 11 a.m. class. She'll return later to cook supper.

Williams, a sophomore in the physical therapy assistant program, is one of about 30 personal attendants on campus. Because SIUC has one of the largest disabled student populations in the state, there is always a need for people like Williams.

Williams was hesitant to be interviewed about what she does and while she talked she nervously flicked the ashes of her cigarette into an ashtray.

"There's nothing special about what I do," she said. "It's a job. It's experience for my major. I do it because I enjoy it."

According to Ron Blosser, coordinator of specialized student services, the job is not an easy one to fill. Attendees must often work in the morning and at night. They have to coordinate their schedules with someone else's. It is not a job with a four-hour work block.

"There is always a need for personal attendants," he said. "There are about 300 students on campus with permanent disabilities, and all of them are confined to wheelchairs."

"I enjoy it," she said. "Sometimes when I get bogged down with homework I think I should quit one of my jobs. But I can't quit either one because I like what I'm doing."

(Continued on Page 17)
$45 Student Medical Benefit Fee covers variety of student services

(Continued from Page 1)

The fee does not prohibit all abuse and misuse of the service, but it does provide some of the expense from unnecessary use of the program," Knapp said. In addition, a $5 emergency ambulance fee allows students to use the Jackson County Ambulance Service during medical emergencies at no cost. The ambulance service may be used to get to the Health Service in Carbondale Hospital or to the hospital emergency room. As long as the area benefit is referred to fee-paying students who need medical attention not available in the Carbondale area. We refer the student to the appropriate specialist, wherever that may be," Knapp said.

Under the insurance plan for out-of-the-area health care, the student has a copy of insurance policy... Knapp said. is that we have some exclusions in the policy, we don't offer abortion or prenatal care. Knapp said. The fee, he added, is limited to anything over $250 per illness, which ever comes first.

Secondary care is provided at Memorial Hospital in Carbondale when it becomes necessary for a patient to be hospitalized. A student must be admitted by a Health Service physician, an emergency room physician or by a physician to whom the patient has been referred.

The $4 hospital fee includes hospitalization and all necessary treatment for up to 31 days per illness. Each S$H fee is $1.50 emergency medical attention at Memorial Hospital emergency room when the Health Service is closed. A $10 emergency room fee is the only charge for this service. The fee helps pay some of the cost of the emergency room program," Knapp said. It does not come close to paying the total cost," he added.

The fee does not prohibit all abuse and misuse of the service, but it does provide some of the expense from unnecessary use of the program," Knapp said. In addition, a $5 emergency ambulance fee allows students to use the Jackson County Ambulance Service during medical emergencies at no cost. The ambulance service may be used to get to the Health Service in Carbondale Hospital or to the hospital emergency room. As long as the area benefit is referred to fee-paying students who need medical attention not available in the Carbondale area. We refer the student to the appropriate specialist, wherever that may be," Knapp said.

Under the insurance plan for out-of-the-area health care, the student has a copy of insurance policy... Knapp said. is that we have some exclusions in the policy, we don't offer abortion or prenatal care. Knapp said. The fee, he added, is limited to anything over $250 per illness, which ever comes first.

Secondary care is provided at Memorial Hospital in Carbondale when it becomes necessary for a patient to be hospitalized. A student must be admitted by a Health Service physician, an emergency room physician or by a physician to whom the patient has been referred.

The $4 hospital fee includes hospitalization and all necessary treatment for up to 31 days per illness. Each S$H fee is $1.50 emergency medical attention at Memorial Hospital emergency room when the Health Service is closed. A $10 emergency room fee is the only charge for this service. The fee helps pay some of the cost of the emergency room program," Knapp said. It does not come close to paying the total cost," he added.

The fee does not prohibit all abuse and misuse of the service, but it does provide some of the expense from unnecessary use of the program," Knapp said. In addition, a $5 emergency ambulance fee allows students to use the Jackson County Ambulance Service during medical emergencies at no cost. The ambulance service may be used to get to the Health Service in Carbondale Hospital or to the hospital emergency room. As long as the area benefit is referred to fee-paying students who need medical attention not available in the Carbondale area. We refer the student to the appropriate specialist, wherever that may be," Knapp said.

Under the insurance plan for out-of-the-area health care, the student has a copy of insurance policy... Knapp said. is that we have some exclusions in the policy, we don't offer abortion or prenatal care. Knapp said. The fee, he added, is limited to anything over $250 per illness, which ever comes first.

Secondary care is provided at Memorial Hospital in Carbondale when it becomes necessary for a patient to be hospitalized. A student must be admitted by a Health Service physician, an emergency room physician or by a physician to whom the patient has been referred.

The $4 hospital fee includes hospitalization and all necessary treatment for up to 31 days per illness. Each S$H fee is $1.50 emergency medical attention at Memorial Hospital emergency room when the Health Service is closed. A $10 emergency room fee is the only charge for this service. The fee helps pay some of the cost of the emergency room program," Knapp said. It does not come close to paying the total cost," he added.

The fee does not prohibit all abuse and misuse of the service, but it does provide some of the expense from unnecessary use of the program," Knapp said. In addition, a $5 emergency ambulance fee allows students to use the Jackson County Ambulance Service during medical emergencies at no cost. The ambulance service may be used to get to the Health Service in Carbondale Hospital or to the hospital emergency room. As long as the area benefit is referred to fee-paying students who need medical attention not available in the Carbondale area. We refer the student to the appropriate specialist, wherever that may be," Knapp said.

Under the insurance plan for out-of-the-area health care, the student has a copy of insurance policy... Knapp said. is that we have some exclusions in the policy, we don't offer abortion or prenatal care. Knapp said. The fee, he added, is limited to anything over $250 per illness, which ever comes first.
Future dentist has high hopes

By Craig DeVrieze
Staff Writer

It's not a question Ken Kollmann hasn't heard before — "Why do I want to be a dentist?" Everyone asks him that.

He unleashed a hearty laugh and said there are a lot of reasons actually. The main one is that he likes dealing with people. Another is that he wants to be his own boss. And the job has good hours.

Kollmann was one of 30 accepted last year to the SIU School of Dentistry in Alton from more than 300 applicants. The tall, personable blond is currently an SIU-C senior in physical therapy who had wanted to be a dentist during his first year here.

"When I was a senior in high school, it was between being an engineer or a dentist. As soon as I enrolled down here I decided on dentistry. And all through college I've been more on the one thing he wants most," he explained.

The Collinsville native said the one thing he wants most from a job is a chance working relationship with people. He has experience in that capacity, having served as a Resident Assistant in a university Park for the past two years. He said he particularly likes children and is strongly considering specializing as a pediatric dentist.

"I like kids. I think it would be a challenge to be a children's dentist and outsmart the little ones," he said.

Kollmann, who has thought a lot about his chosen field, subscribes to the "tree in the forest" method of dentistry. They don't feel you can hurt them. He feels that if a dentist relates well with his patients, especially when they are children, they are less likely to be afraid of him and expect tooth work to be excruciating.

"It's a lot to do with how you handle the patient. A lot of times the hurt can be suppressed in a more lax environment," he said. He thinks that the appearance of the office and of the dentist can do a lot to put a child at ease.

"You should have a nice environment with Walt Disney and that kind of stuff or, the walls. And wear regular clothes," Kollmann said he was never afraid of dentists himself and he's certainly not afraid of being one. He's not bothered by the prospect of having to work inside other people's mouths.

"I don't see anything wrong with putting my hand in some, jaw's mouth. That's what the clown down on it, then I might be bothered," he joked.

Ken was also accepted to the University of Illinois dental school in Chicago, but opted for the SIU-E school for a number of reasons. One was the fact that SIU-E requested interviews and he was impressed with their process of selection. Another is that SIU-E is a four-year, rather than a two-year, program with summers off. But the most important reason is its proximity to home. "I like Southern Illinois," he said. "I think that's more or less where I want to set up my practice.

And he does plan on starting his own practice as soon as he finishes dental school. That, he says, will probably be in six years because he will have to go an extra two years to specialize in pedodontistry or orthodontistry, which he is also considering.

"If you specialize, there's always room for you somewhere," he explained.

Kollmann, who will soon turn 22, realizes that some people may think that being able to relate to people who have a mouth full of dental equipment isn't really important. He sees it differently.

"The trick is to get those things into people's mouths without them screaming. If you can do that, you've accomplished something," he kidded.
Dental services help students’ teeth

By Craig DeVries
Staff Writer

The Student Emergency Dental Service was initiated January 1978 to provide dental care for students in pain or discomfort. Students wanting a check-up or to have their teeth cleaned can do so through the Dental Hygiene Clinic located in Room 25m C Wing of the Student Technical Careers building. The SEEDS treats a number of dental problems, including cavities, lost fillings and loose caps and bridges.

Dominic Cittadino is the service’s dentist. He is assisted by a dental assistant and a clerk. The service is open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Appointments are usually required, but walk-ins are accepted and usually treated between 8 and 10 a.m. Students with injury or trauma are taken care of any time, according to SEEDS clerk George Zembrun.

Since much of the care provided by the SEEDS is of a temporary nature, records of treatment are kept for students to take to their regular dentists. The service provides some follow-up care and the hours between noon and 4:30 are reserved for appointments for that.

The service is funded by a $2 dental fee taken from the $45 medical fee. This generates the SEEDS annual budget of $72,000. Dental care is available to any student with a paid fee statement. Appointments can be made by calling 549-9501.

The Dental Hygiene Clinic, located in the same room as the SEEDS, is staffed by student hygienists and provides X-rays, cleanings and X-rays. Appointments can be made for initial screenings beginning at 8 a.m. on Fridays and are booked at least one week in advance. Successive appointments are made by the individual hygienists. To make an appointment call 528-1542.
Pharmacy offers drugs, counseling

By Bill Crowe
Staff Writer

Prices for prescription medicines at the student-funded University Pharmacy are "generally lower than commercial pharmacies in town," according to John Batson, registered pharmacist and part-owner of Atwood Drugs, 224 S. Illinois Ave.

Batson said the pharmacy's prices are not always lower than the commercial operations. However, the University Pharmacy, located at 112 Small Group Housing, can charge lower prices on such items as antibiotics, various contraceptives and contergestants by buying the items in large quantities, he said.

"Quantity is the key to getting the best price available," Batson said.

Batson declined to participate in a price comparison with other pharmacies because he said it would not be fair to compare the University's prices with those of commercial pharmacies.

"We don't like to antagonize our private competitors," Batson said.

Batson said, "This place hasn't been too popular with the private sector. It takes business away from the pharmacies downtown. It's purely a financial matter."

Fred Bierer, a registered pharmacist and part-owner of Atwood Drugs, 224 S. Illinois Ave., also said a price comparison between the University Pharmacy and private or commercial operations would not be fair.

"They (University Pharmacy) offer services for a totally different type of population."

Bierer said his stores serve "non-student residents from all age brackets."

Generic drugs are sometimes stocked by the University Pharmacy, but not in large quantities, Batson said.

"Generic drugs are sometimes lower priced than brand name drugs. He said he is not impressed with the quality of some of the generic products.

"We stay away from them."

Application and more information are available in the SPC office
Student is attendant and van driver

(Continued from Page 7)

Several of the attendants on campus are people related to someone disabled. Williams, however, said she never saw a person in a wheelchair during most of the 18 years she lived in Chicago. It wasn't until she started working as a lifeguard that she was exposed to handicapped people through a YMCA program designed for them. The experience piqued her interest in the field.

Last year she worked for a student affected with cerebral palsy. "At first it was just naturally awkward because of my lack of exposure. It was difficult to understand what he was saying, but he didn't mind repeating things and I realized that I had to be patient," Williams said.

Through working with handicapped students, Williams said she has become aware of the prejudices many people hold toward them. "I wish people would know more," she said. "One thing I would like people to realize is that handicapped people are no different than you or I."

"His paper was about an encounter he had with a woman on an elevator in Chicago," she said. "The woman saw him alone and asked him when his mother was. He was 25 years old and as intelligent as you or I, but she took him to a security guard and made the guard call his mother. They wouldn't let him go home until his mother came and picked him up. I'm OK, I'm OK, I have a mind," he told them. But they wouldn't listen.

Williams said that the most important thing she has learned while working with handicapped students is that "people are just people."

"I once had someone ask me, 'Do you like people like that?' I was shocked. I said, 'Do you like tall people?' It's the same classification. You can't classify people as standing or sitting any more than you can by the color of their hair or eyes. I'd be a fool if I told you that I like every person; that is handicapped because you have to view each person on the basis of what they are," Williams said.

---

PUBLIC SERVICE

"A Touch of the Islands"

KAHALA

GARDENS

Restaurant

LUNCHEON SPECIAL:

Chicken Almond Ding $2.49
Egg roll and Rice

Murdale Shopping Center 529-2813

---

THE FREE COLLEGE RING

(seriously)

HERE'S HOW:

TRADE IN
a man's gold High School ring
(limit one per sale).

CHOOSE
any Stadum® class ring
(Stadum is a fine quality jeweler's alloy guaranteed for a lifetime.)

SAVE
a new gold College ring
with the trade-in of a man's gold High School ring.

ORDER NOW

Last Day

ARTCARVED

COLLEGE RINGS

Symbolizing your ability to achieve.

university bookstore

536-3321 STUDENT CENTER

---

CUT IT OUT

Yeah, cut this out so you don't forget to stop by and pick up your snacks, munchies, soft drinks, and all

Those little things.....

for the concert tonight!!

From baked chicken to band-aids
We're pepsi to papers

Pleasant Hill Road
Open 7 Days
6 a.m. - Midnight

---

Page 12 Daily Egyptian, February 15, 1980
Wellness Center goal is fitness

By Robin Sapunar
Staff Writer

Many people may brush their teeth daily yet they take care of their health only when illness occurs. "You don't have to get sick to get better," is the motto at the Student Wellness Resource Center to stress to its staff members.

"Wellness Center goes about sexual health students and staff members," said Director Marc Cohen in his office in the Center in Small Group Housing.

The center was established in August 1978 and consists of two programs: Lifestyling, Human Sexuality Services, Health and Alcohol Education Project.

The center's goal is the promotion of positive, holistic health for the purpose of optimal, long-term wellness. Cohen said. Individuals are encouraged to become ultimately responsible for their own health. "One of the neatest things about this job is working with people who are excited and care about health," Cohen said.

His attire of an orange vest, green-striped shirt and khaki pants reflected the informal atmosphere of the center. "We try to be informal in our actions and dress," he said. "In some of our sessions we have students sit on the floor with only pillows to rest on."

The center offers group and individual counseling, activities, workshops and resources for students wishing to improve their state of well-being. Programs are in individually designed to meet student needs and are provided a comfortable, non-threatening environment.

The center was originally called a prevention and health maintenance program, Cohen said. That name gives people false impressions. "We decided to call it something positive, proactive. It needed a name that people would stop and think about," Cohen said. "I think we've succeeded because people are becoming involved in the programs."

Last year about 10,000 students participated in the programs. Cohen said that for some of the programs, such as the Student Center the attendance was so good that "we had to turn people away—there just wasn't enough room."

"Our program is the largest and most comprehensive in the country," Cohen said. "At least 15 to 20 other universities have requested our assistance in starting a program."

As director of the center, Cohen takes care of the organizational duties. "I like to look at myself as a servant of the director here," Cohen said. "I'm trying to make everybody's job easier by taking care of the details. I try to make it easier to provide direct programming and make sure we serve students."

"I have to organize things overall be a motivator and an idea person," he said. "I must stimulate new things and plan long-range activities."

Classroom presentations are provided by the center on a regular basis. Programs on sexuality, holistic health, and alcohol have been requested by the departments of health.

(Continued on Page 15)
Clinic's equipment includes staff

By Paula Walker
Features Editor

The tin small rooms in the front of the Wham Building are crowded full of exercise equipment and mats machines and exercising different forms of heat and muscle only too glad to help their patients.

Julie Pape, a physical therapist and therapist in a physical therapy assistant and several students in the program who spend time in the clinic as part of their course work.

"Most patients that our physicans treat," Pape said. "It's better that way really because students are more aware of medical and are excited.

The clinic is separated into two areas. The "gym," as it is called, contains equipment ranging from simple weight and ankle weights to an exercise table which exhibits a complex system of controls and weights.

The other section of the clinic is called a multimodal room. A variety of equipment is packed into the room, most of it designed to allow for the use of various forms of heat. There is a whirlpool machine, which emits high-frequency sound waves that vibrate the body deep into the muscle it cannot be sensed.

Another machine is the dynamo, which uses direct current to stimulate the body's heating processes. Research in animals as well as humans, which cannot grow new limbs, has shown that a direct current can emanate from an injured limb.

"If we don't expect to be able to help people grow new limbs," Pape said, "but the current does help the healing process."

The theory that a person with a backache will benefit from a whirlpool is called a "neuroprobe." Electrical currents pulsed through the thin metal rod feels like a hot needle sinking into the flesh. The current stimulates fibers to release the bodies' natural pain relievers.

Other treatments that can be obtained at the clinic include whirlpools, paraffin baths, hot packs, ice packs and therapeutic swimming.

"To be treated at the clinic a person must present a physician's prescription. Students are treated free of charge and community members are charged a small fee.

In order to raise money for the program, students, therapists and assistants are staging a "mesa" day Friday. Visiters to Room 116 in the Wham Building can receive a 10-minute message for $1.

Prices lower at SIU Pharmacy

(continued from Page 11)

not we won't use it,

Baton said the purpose of the University Health Pharmacy is to provide quality pharmaceutical goods for as low a price as possible to students. The services of the pharmacy are available to anyone who has paid the Health Services fee. The families of students who have paid for the fee are included.

The pharmacy will fill prescriptions given from the health service, private physicians in the area or a student's personal physician. Baton said Faculty members are not eligible for prescription-filling services at the pharmacy.

This is really a student-oriented operation, Baton said.

Students who get a prescription from a doctor at the Health Service can have it filled at the University Pharmacy by presenting a registration and service statement filled out at the Health Service and the prescription to the pharmacist on duty. Students who want to fill a prescription written by a private physician, either local or from home, must present a paid fee statement with their prescription.

The University Pharmacy also provides vaccines required for travel, allergy vaccines and immunizing for students.

AHMED'S FANTASTIC FACTORY

901 S. Illinois (In front of the Purdue)

Your 1st Stop on the "STRIP"

We'll fix or deliver the lines.

Albanese dishes in Carbolene right to your door. 529-9581

7:00-4:00 Thu., Fri., Sat., & Sun.

HAWK'S CREATIONS

3001 S. 9th, Springfield, IL.

We'll fix or deliver the lines.

Albanese dishes in Carbolene right to your door. 529-9581

7:00-4:00 Thu., Fri., Sat., & Sun.

Carrier & Delivery 529-9581

The Saluki Saddle Club

and

I.S.U. Equitation Team

invite all persons interested in horses and horsemanship to attend our meeting.

Monday, February 18, 1980,

6:00 - 8:00 P.M.

Kaskaskia Room, Student Center

Mark Donohue, Le Cheval de Basquidel will guest lecture on the various styles of riding.

For more information, contact 549-4330

Hunker's Lounge

Introduces

Double Bubble

2 drinks for the price of 1

(4pm-6pm Sat)

Happy Hour

3-6pm

Beer-10c

Mixed Drinks-20c off

1341 Walnut

Sunday 5pm

Murphysboro

SATURDAY - FEBRUARY 16 IS THE

LAST CHANCE For The

WINTER SPECIAL

With New Extended Hours

9-8 Mon.-Fri.

9-3 Sat.

$15 for

1 Month of Unlimited Visits

at

Jeri Lynn

FIGURE SALON

1112 W. Main

437-2179

Stop In or Call

GRADUATING ENGINEERS

AND SCIENTISTS

have you considered these factors in determining where you will work?

1. Will the job offer salary and benefits?

2. Will your future employer encourage job mobility?

3. Will your future employer encourage continued professional education?

4. How much choice will you have in selecting your work assignment?

5. Big starting salaries are nice. But what is the salary growth and promotion potential in the job?

6. Can you afford the cost of living in the area?

7. At Naval Weapons Center we have given these things a lot of consideration and believe we have the answers for you.

Arrange through your placement office to interview with our representative. Pat Nolten on 2-26-80.

We think you will like what you hear.
Gays to protest movie about homosexual killer

SAN FRANCISCO—"Crusading," a brutally frank film about a killer preying on New York homosexuals, opens Friday as gays, fearing cop-cadillac violence, plan demonstrations at theaters showing the film.

The issue of censorship has been raised as homosexual groups angrily debate whether the film poses a menace to them or a chance to publicize their little-known lifestyle.

The film, which will be shown at about 60 theaters in the United States and Canada, was directed by William Friedkin, who directed "The French Connection." It stars Al Pacino in an undercover police officer investigating a series of murders in which the victims are all homosexual.

In San Francisco, where homosexuals account for about 15 percent of the 865,000 population, a group called "Stop the Movie Crusading Coalition" plans to protest at the St. Francis, one of two theaters set to show the film here.

United Artists, the movie's distributor, said theater owners can deduct costs of extra security from the receipts, before the profits are sent to San Francisco.

"It's a very obviously anti-gay movie," Michael Dawson, head of the coalition, said. "It presents gay men as willing victims of violent crime. We're victims, all right, but we're not willing."

Dawson said the movie has "no redeeming social or intellectual value."

A screening in New York on Monday, where the audience included Jack Gavett, Norman Mailer and cartoonist Garry Trudeau, was punctuated by about a hundred protesters, said Dawson.

(Continued on Page 15)

Wellness Center offers health tips

Continued from Page 13

...education, social welfare, psychology, recreation and communications."

(Continued from Page 15)

Campus Briefs

There will be a "Signing Lunch" for individuals interested in practicing and developing sign language skills at 12:15 p.m. Mondays in Woody Hall II, Rooms 142-144.

The Agritourism Economics Club is sponsoring a trip to New Orleans from March 16-21. The price is $100 for transportation and hotel accommodations for three nights. For more information call Jim Binfield at 631-2626 during the day or 449-1285 at night.

The Male Glee Club will perform in a free concert at 3 p.m. Sunday in Ballrooms A-B and C. The concert will include selections from "South Pacific" and folk songs.

A free program for family members and friends of alcoholics, "If You Loved Me," will be sponsored by the Alcohol Education Project at 7 p.m. Monday in the Ohio Room.

Interested in

Medical School, Dental School, or another Health Profession? **
...but you lack sufficient funds? $$$

FINANCIAL AID WORKSHOP
February 23, 1980
8:30-12:00
at Quad Lounge

Receive awareness of the information you need the kind of options you have, and how to utilize and maximize them.

Discover

sources of financial assistance and what they will cost you....
plus advice on personal budgeting.

for Registration
and further Info.
call 536-2147
or Visit the Health Professions Information Office
Weber's C161

February 23, 1980

A financial aid workshop sponsored by Health Professions Information Office and the Financial Aid Office.

BUCH
PLEASURE
HUNT
Clue #8
EKMA RIPT
TIXKAXY
ROYL
LIWL

It's a
"BRAND NEW BALL GAME"
at
Carbondale National Bank

Our New Name is . . .
MidAmerica Bank
and Trust Company of Carbondale

NEW AT MIDAMERICA BANK IN 1980!

• New Trust Services. Our Trust Department is staffed with "A team of Trust Experts" from one of Southern Illinois' largest Trust Departments.

• Expanded and more aggressive Installment Loan Services

• Complete Remodeling of the Interior of the Bank

• Convenience 24: A complete automatic 24 hour banking service

And More

MidAmerica Bank
and Trust Company of Carbondale
ILLINOIS & MAIN STREET • CARBONDALE, ILLINOIS 62901 • 618 457 2125

Nettie Friedkin, after a return from a film screening tour of Brazil, is complaining that gay people are more hyped up over screening tours of Brazil than over movies.
Sporting ‘Hounds’ stormy rockers

By Craig DeVriese

Staff Writer

“It’s like a sport to us. You know how in professional sports you go out, play your time and play to win. Well that’s our approach to our music too.”

That’s how John Hunter, lead vocalist and founder of Hounds, assesses the group’s onstage style. Wednesday night at Second Chance, the Chicago-based rockers employed that approach to the full. Loud and nanine. Hounds played rock ‘n’ roll with the same intensity that Dick Burton once played middle linebacker. The result was an explosive, entertaining, hour-long set.

Performing its second show of the evening, the group utilized familiar cuts from its latest release, “Puttin’ on the Dog,” to keep the sell-out crowd up and dancing. Interlaced within the set were less recognizable, though no less restrained, rockers from its first album.

“The album’s unaltered.”

The group was mobile and dynamic. Hunter leaped from keyboards to the center stage microphone, waving mike and drumstick to accentuate his style. Wednesday and dancing.

He’s been here a year and a half, the group’s style emanates from many years of playing the Chicago bar circuit. Among other things, that background has taught him how to play to crowds.

“You’ve got to get loose. You’ve got to lose the crowd time to get moving on the floor.” Hunter acknowledged. “A lot of times, in the early parts of the set, they’ll be back-kinda checking you out. You’ve got to keep working at it. The minute they feel it, then all of a sudden they’re drawn.”

He added that there’ve been times when the crowd didn’t cooperate quite the way the group had planned. “In Chicago, it gets really rowdy; and sometimes we’re not ready for it. We’re just trying to perform ourselves,” he said with a trace of laughter.

Hunter is the only member of Hounds that has seen the group since its beginnings. In fact, he’s been the only drummer who played on the first album. The 30-year-old Hunter has taken on the role of band through a lot of changes. “It was originally blues-oriented and thinks that Hounds has finally found a stable combination.”

The smallest, soft-spoken lead singer describes Hounds’ present sounds as “layered.”

Its most outstanding feature is the heavy drum-bass oriented rhythm section with ‘dual-layered rhythm guitars.’ His keyboards are used to accentuate and sweeten the rugged sound. He said this style isn’t necessarily what they were looking for, but rather, what evolved.

“You work for a sound,” he said, “but you can’t really see in the future as far as what it’s going to be like until you have a combination of people. Everybody has a different sound.”

Some of the more interesting pieces on “Puttin’ on the Dog” are covers of older rock ‘n’ roll tunes. In addition to the oft-done “Don Wad Daddy” are the Stones’ “Under My Thumb” and the Kinks’ “Who’ll be the Next in Line.”

Hounds since its beginnings, has been a band of musicians. Though somewhat hurried.

“It’s like putting on a suit to go out. It’s something that you wear.”

We’ve heard that John Hunter is the lead vocalist and founder of Hounds. Though somewhat hurried.

“...that’s the band.”

Though somewhat hurried.

“...the sound.”

We’ve heard that John Hunter is the lead vocalist and founder of Hounds. Though somewhat hurried.

“...that’s the band.”

Richard Rupp, Don Griffen and Joe Cutton, and drummer Michael Neff, provided a forceful backbeat. Though somewhat hurried.

“...that’s the band.”

“...that’s the band.”
Records

Pearl Harbor too slick, refined

By Bill Crowley
Entertainment Editor

Pearl Harbor and the Explosions’ Great northern folk band, right? The kind of band you expect to get - a play-thundering new wave music in the vein of The Clash or Sex Pistols. However, that’s not the case. This four-person band’s debut album is further the dance music which serves as a fresh alternative to disco even though it often sounds too smooth and refined.

In the same manner, Pearl Harbor and the Explosions is its smooth sound. The band creates offbeat dance music which is pleasing to listen to, but not the kind of stuff which makes you jump out of your chair and boogie across the hard floor.

The band’s arrangements are superior and the musicianship is above average, but there’s a certain lack of emotion in its sound. This takes the punch out of the music.

Dear Rush: Better luck next time

By Ken Mac Garrigle
Staff Writer

Have you received your latest album - Permanent Waves - and listened to your music. The number of chords reflect the number of cuts; many parts of this music, unless you are a radio station watcher, The Spirit of Radio as a single.

As for future lyrics, they ought to be equally as good as all the following: 1. They should have a deeper meaning, or at least some meaning, this year. 2. They should be written in the style of John Denver or Bruce Springsteen. 2. Perhaps the best way and the easiest way to write lyrics is to leave them make a little bit of sense, if only you make sense on the lyrics. This is one of the groups that fall into this category. Jack’s other includes Aerosmith, Led Zeppelin, Blue Oyster Cult, Robin Trower and Neil Young.

Rush: A third way is to record mounds in the garage disco record anyone where you get really simple, shallow “lyrics” and chords and then sing the little over and over through the song as in the songs “Love & Love” and “More, More, More - How Do You Like It.” After the formality of writing such a song, all you need is some slick orchestration, a driving beat and some harmonizing on the lyrics.

One way to get over bad lyrics is to shun them when they’re sung so they’re next to impossible to understand. These days through, good lyrics and music mean only as much as your perception.

Why am I telling you all this?

I’ll tell you why it’s because I always demand the best from Rush. I expect the same. So the best of everything, including albums. As far as Neil Peart lyricist, well, he’s got potential since he tries hard. However, unless he takes my suggestions listed above, he’ll keep going nowhere with his lyrics except the trash can. This may sound brutal, but the music business is no Sugar Bowl operation. If Rush is going to bet the bag on not changing to needing some first-class lyrics.

As for these “permanent wave” songs, they’re definitely original, which is good, but inconsistently, they need improvement. Especially, they should contain far less clichés and come from laziest work so hard better!!!

Jack Daniels Blk

75c

Nutrition Headquarters

The most complete stock of natural foods and vitamins in Southern Illinois

100 West Jackson St.
(Between North Illinois and the railroad)

Hours: 9:00 to 5:00 Mon. - Sat.
Sunday 12 to 5 Phone 548-1747

15c Special

Softe Frozen Yogurt

in a cup or cone

All the fun of ice cream-plus the good things of yogurt. High in protein, low in fat. Natural fruit flavors. Famous Dennison quality.

This coupon and 15c entitles bear or to reg. cup or cone of DANNY O

Coupon good thru 2-24-80

Arcade Fine Stereo

Open 10 am

Ladies Play FREE

The Gold Mine

HAPPY HOUR

2PM. TO 5PM.

M.T.W.F.S.

SOFT DRINKS, DRAFT BEER, AND WINE ARE 1/2 Price

349-7111

Friday and Saturday

A Special Valentine Weekend

STREAM WINNER

Voted one of the top ten bands in the Midwest, by WFBQ, Indianapolis. Toured with Pat Metheny and The Dixie Dregs.

SUNDAY

Jazz of the 40's & 50's - NE PLUS ULTRA

I am looking for a...

Please call me for appointments.

I am taking commissions for...

Spring Weddings
`Couple' is like old TV series

By Jenni Olsen
Staff Writer

If you liked the old television series "Love American Style," there's a good chance you'll like "The Last Married Couple in America." It's a comedy that fools around similar to several of the TV programs.

The four 50-to-60-year-old women seated in the row before me seemed to love it. They giggled like adolescents at the new situation, much as it means they giggled throughout the film.

Directed by Gilbert Cates, "The Last Married Couple in America" chronicles the deteriorating state of marriage. As one character put it, "Marriage is a fascist state...it's being swept into the dustbin of America..."

The film presents an exchange on a one-to-one basis. As the evening progressed, however, the talk turned into a public presentation with the audience.

"When I first saw this I couldn't sleep for two days," Woman says. "One day for me." He stares up at the TV. "Well, I was wasted at the time." (Laughter)

"They're digging devil out of earth!" "In you'll give it away!" "Easy, Jim. It's only a movie.

You should have watched it."

TV movies encourage conversation

By Ken Mac Garrigle
Staff Writer

When is a movie not a movie? When it's programmed on TV.

At a movie, the last thing you want to hear is the clod next to you giving a detailed description of the movie you're trying to watch.

"I'm tired of that," I thought. Then I realized they were being tuned out for anyone to hear.

"It's not in the script," the man said.

"It's everyone's job," I replied.

"They're just saying it, you know," he said. We turned up the volume at their request.

So what happens when a movie is shown on TV? Is this to be considered a TV show or a movie? Is the viewer supposed to clam up as if seated in a theater, or talk it up, making comments about the movie like one does about the wet swimsuit Charlie's Angels model every week?

Last Tuesday, The Exorcist was shown on the ABC network. I was at the Bailey Hall TV lounge. At first, this box office "It was treated like any other show," one commentator said. People turned it on, and at one point, the whole room turned it off.

As the evening progressed, however, the audience quieted down and treated it like a movie. A movie in a theater.

Many voice warned viewers "The Exorcist deals with the supernatural. Parental discretion is advised."

"You better not watch it, " I thought.

"I've already seen it!" "I've already seen it!"

This is a TV conversation. The talk is light, but often humorous. The target of the jokes is either the movie or the audience. The movie itself or a commercial - usually a particular program, and sometimes an advertisement.

In a theater, such cat-calls are considered rude. In front of a TV, they're considered all right. The people in the room take on the added responsibility of adding their insights to the program.

"When I first saw this I couldn't sleep for two days."

"One day for me."

"We were up at the TV. "Well, I was wasted at the time."

"They're digging devil out of earth!"

"In you'll give it away!"

"Easy, Jim. It's only a movie.

No only a TV show. It depends on how you watch it.

BUSCH
PLEASURE HUNT
Clue #10
RIDDLE SONE ETH
ANIGA SEVOL

Get Clues 13 & 14 on Station WOIL FM 101 E
on February 22 between 4 & 7 PM

CONVENIENCE

FLORIDA

FOR THE EIGHTH STRAIGHT YEAR DEITZ TRAVEL TOURS PRESENTS

DAYTONA BEACH

SPRING BREAK 1980

Friday, March 14 - Sunday, March 23

7 EXCITING DAYS!!!

LIMITED ACCOMMODATIONS! RESERVE YOUR SEAT NOW!

the last 2 years have been SOLD OUT!

Phone the Best Spring Break for only $199.00

For Complete Information

Contact 549-0412 Seats Available

AFTER 5 P.M.

BOBRICK SROO
Diver to go to pre-qualifying meet

By Rod Smith
Staff Writer

Upperclassman, a senior diver, a diver on the SWU women's swimming team and a member of the AIAW qualifier on the three-meter board as a sophomore and junior, will compete in the AIAW zone pre-qualifying dives Meet Monday and Tuesday in Columbus, Ohio, on the campus of Ohio State University.

If Warner is among the top eight divers, she will qualify for the AIAW national meet at Las Vegas, Nev. She will compete in both the one- and three-meter diving competition.

This is the first year of "pre-qualifying dives," in which a diver swimming. The AIAW previously had just one national "championship meet," but now has adopted the zone and national meets, used by the men's teams in NCAA competition. The Ohio State competition is one of three zones in the nation.

Warner qualified for the nationals last year and finished fourth in the one-meter diving and fifth in the three-meter diving.

To reach the zone pre-qualifying competition, a diver must achieve a certain qualifying point score during regular season competition. Doug Coach Denney Golden said Warner has reached the necessary point total in almost every meet this year. The coach feels that she will perform well at Ohio State.

"She's a big meet diver," Golden said. "She's coming to a mental and physical peak in the season and she has a very good chance of going to nationals.

Golden added that the Ohio State zone competition is probably the toughest in the country.

"I'm nervous," the sophomore from Louisville, Ky. said. "I don't know if I'm all the way ready.

When asked if she would be mentally prepared for the meet, Warner said, "Oh, yeah. It's easy to get psyched for this."

After the pre-qualifying competition, Warner and Golden will travel to Western Illinois at Macomb to reunite the women's swimming and diving teams for the AIAW state championships, which will begin next Wednesday and continue through Saturday.

Benton native rejoin 76er lineup

By The Associated Press

Benton native Doug Collins, who returned to the Philadelphia 76ers Wednesday night after sitting out more than two years because of back surgery, said his absence from the game helped him as much as his return would help.

"I learned more about myself than I did before, " he said earlier this week during a 75-minute workout at nearby Widener College.

"It was more beneficial to Doug Collins than if I'd been playing. Before basketball dictated my life. I want to get back 90 percent, but now basketball isn't my whole life. "I had my priorities all wrong. It compounded my frustration because it was so important to me. "What could I have done differently?"

"If I really helped a lot. He became a close friend that I could imagine. I've gotten involved in Bible study, and it's given me a peace of mind I never had before. "I have to carry a lot of inner hatred around in me that built up," Collins said. "I was too self-conscious. Things that were said about me bothered me. But now, I can handle 'em. Now I don't care."

"I used to have aPublication date: 2/13/80
Gymnastics:

By Ed Dougherty

Staff Writer

Coach Bill Meade's hopes that the men's gymnastics team can break its six-meet losing streak are not high. His team has yet to win a home meet this year, and it hasn't won on the road since Jan. 15 against Brigham Young.

The Salukis will have a chance to break the losing streak Saturday at 3 p.m. when they take on Ohio State. The Buckeyes, currently ranked in the nation's top 20, are led by all-arounder Randy Haisston. Ohio State has won its last eight meets.

"Ohio State is a good 250-point team," Meade said. "Their average score will give us trouble this week. The injuries we've had have taken us right out of the meet." The past week has not been kind to Meade, either. Last weekend, Meade learned that Dan Muczy will not try a comeback, and that Dave Huffman will be hospitalized longer than had been expected. Huffman suffered a severe back strain Sunday when he fell from the horizontal bar while forming a routine against Penn State.

"I'm not certain when David will be able to return," Meade said. "I'm going to have to go with Jim Mauzcr as his replacement in the all-around competition. But I don't know who will take David's place on the parallel bars or the horizontal bar."

Meade needs another replacement for the 1-2 men already is entered in those events. For the freshman, it will be only his second attempt in all-around competition. He scored a 42.42 against California State-Chico earlier this year.

"There will be several individual battles that will be worth watching," Meade said. "Plus, we will be trying to get Bob Barut and Randy Bettis qualified for the nationals."

The time of Saturday's meet has been changed from the original 2 p.m. starting time. After this weekend, the Salukis have one more home meet. That meet will be Feb. 24.

Badminton team eyes 4th place in state tournament

(Continued from Page 21)

Western Illinois will enter the tournament with the second best won-loss record among the participants. Only the 22-1 record of 1979 champion Monica Malone is better than Western's 10-1. The two, along with Eastern Illinois' Lisa Young (16-2), Western Illinois' Jackie Curtiss (16-4) and Illinois State's Terri Keigher (15-5) are pre-tournament favorites to win the singles title.

Keigher upset last year's top seed, Kay Metzger of Eastern Illinois, last to Malone, 11-7, 12-10, 12-10, in the finals. In doubles, Eastern Illinois' Young-Becky Stuckeisch combination (22-3) is favored to win. Western Illinois' Western Illinois' Pam Digati duo (12-5) and Illinois State's Carol Cappozzi-Nancy Weber tandem (14-4) also should be near the top.

Last year, Illinois State edged Western Illinois for the team championship, 33-47. Eastern Illinois was third, 47-35. St. Louis fourth, 9, and Northern Illinois fifth, 3.

"I'll be delighted if we score 12 points in the entire thing," Blair said. "The competition is going to be tough.

Tankers hope to jolt Indiana

(Continued from Page 21)

"On paper, it could be a bellwether meet," Steele said. "Two factors are how our swimmers come around from their workouts for the conference meet and what kind of crowds we have."

"The style have about six girls who are unable to train hard and may not be at full strength. But the crowd could help them overcome the physical limitations. I hope the place really is jammed.

"The meet will feature two of the most successful college swimming coaches in the nation in Steele and Counsilman. Steele doesn't exactly fear the so-called swimming genius, but has much respect for the Hoosier coach, nonetheless. "I respect the guy for his swimming the English Channel and what he's done for American swimming," Steele said.

Wolfpack stuns Blue Devils

By The Associated Press

Norm Sloan found some answers. On the other hand, Bill Foster was faced with a bigger question.

In short, that was the difference between winning and losing as North Carolina State upset 10th-ranked Duke 76-59 in college basketball Wednesday night.

"That certainly answered a lot of questions for me," Sloan said, alluding to his team's first-half rally without the services of leading scorer Hawk eye Whitney.

"We cut the lead with Hawkeye on the bench," added Sloan, in reference to Whitney's foul trouble which kept him out for the last 14 minutes of the first half. "That showed me something about this team. Hawkeye's a great scorer.

BUSCH

PAISACULU

Hunt

club #12

MALSOT

TON

TEQUIFindObject

VOYUE

Low Price

605 E. Grand

Levis Park

529-3348

Mens
tennis
tournaments

6-11 M-Th

11-2 F-S

1-1 Sun

Stroh - Red Label 86p. btl. 1.79

Cream Ale 5.7oz. 2.09

Miller - Red Label 6pk. cans 1.85

Olympia - Red Label 12pk. btl. 3.99

BUSCH - Red Label 12pk. cans 3.49

Cella 750ml 2.25

St. Helena (Greek) Wine Masters Varietals 2.25

Floio-Soave, Bardolino, Valpollicella 2.95

Cinzano Asti 7.39

Carlo Rossi Rhine 3l. 3.95

Popov Vodka 1.75

Seagram's Gin qt. 3.75

Castillo Rum 750ml 5.59

Cattos Scotch 750ml 3.79

QT Barton's qt. 4.12

Lord Calvert Canadian 750ml 4.99

Many In-Store Specials

Wide Selection of Wines
Buffaloes run past Salukis, 83-76

By Mark Pabich
Staff Writer

In a case of too much too soon and too little too late for the Saluki basketball team Thursday night against West Texas State at the Arena, SIU, which led by as many as 10 points in the first half, fell victim to the Buffaloes, 83-76.

SIU Head Coach Joe Gottfried said the Buffaloes’ quickness gave SIU many defensive problems in the second half.

"We had a complete defensive breakdown," Gottfried said. "Then in the second half, we're not in their transition game and they beat us on defense. They also beat us on the offensive glass.

The Buffs hit an impressive .667 of 31 shots in the final 20 minutes for a hot 65 percent.

A four-month stretch of games in the first half allowed the Buffaloes to chew up SIU’s 19 point lead coming within one point a half time.

The Salukis started strong in the second half, however, coming back from three points down with 16:13 remaining to take the lead at 13:41, 44-40. The score rocked back and forth and with 8:34 showing on the clock, senior Barry Smith joined SIU’s elite 1,000 point club and a 15-foot jumper. The shot put SIU in the lead 54-49, the Salukis last in the game.

The Buffs rattled off six straight baskets opening their lead to eight points with only six minutes left in the game. Gottfried said SIU’s foul troubles gave the Buffs extra scoring opportunities.

Indiana isn’t terroring the Big Ten Conference as it has in previous years. The loss of backstokers Mark Terry and Ronado Arron, and backstroker classy Bredescheider left the Hoosiers with question marks at the outset of the season. But IU’s 30-point victory last week over Michigan makes it difficult to overlook.

"I’d say as far as depth goes," Steeble said, "they’re as strong as anybody. But they don’t have the super-actives Olypmians they’ve had in the past years, like Mark Spitz.

If the Hoosiers are strong and deep in any events, it has to be the freestyle." Junior Chuck Sharpe has the nation’s top time in the 200-yard freestyle and fourth nationally in the 200 free.

But the Salukis will feature Bob Sampson, who will once again win the national best, 26.3, in the 50 free, against IU’s Ken McLaughlin, who has a 21.9.

But many of the Salukis’ top times were recorded in the 5-A meet last December, when the team was shaved and rested. Going into Sunday’s meet, SIU is in the midst of intense training for the National Invitational early March.

If illness hadn’t set the team back prior to last week’s Saluki Invitational, Steeble could have afforded to rest the team prior to this weekend.

“We can’t let the illnesses detract from our NIC and National Invitational," Steeble stressed. "If we had trained hard last week, we could afford to rest a couple of days. Now, we can’t afford to sacrifice a day or two of training just to rest."

There still are six Salukis at less than 100 percent, according to Steeble. But two key factors may determine SIU’s fortunes against the Hoosiers.

Tankers seek upset over Hoosiers

By Dave Kane
Staff Writer

When college sports are thought of certain schools are synonymous with certain sports. Football means Notre Dame. Basketball means UCLA or Kentucky. And swimming? It’s Indiana.

Coach Jim Dee Couslin, in his 22nd year at the controls, will bring the Hoosiers, third to the Student Recreation Center Saturday at 7:30 p.m. match-up with the Salukis.

SIU also will host the University of Cincinnati Friday at 7:30 p.m. Although Steele refuses to think about the Cincinnati meet at this point.

The Cincinnati meet may give us an opportunity to experience a little bit," Steele said. "They have four or five foreign guys who are fine swimmers. But much rather have as swim well against Indiana than using all our energy against Cincinnati."

Lady cagers' tips drake

By Rick Seymour
Staff Writer

An 18-foot jump shot by Vicki Stull with two crucial free throws by Leola Greer in the last minute and a half of play, gave the SIU women’s basketball team a 61-62 victory over Drake Thursday at the Arena.

The Salukis came back after losing 28, at the close of the first half.

Drake continued to increase their lead throughout the second half, the Salukas began making their comeback.

Drake was down, 54-49. Baskets by Barb Verberker, Erickson and Stalko tied the game. But the Salukas was all SIU. Drake stayed within three of the second half lead until Greer sank the crucial free throws.

Leola Erickson led all Salukas with 16 points, while center Alondra Rogers grabbed 10 rebounds. Coming off the bench a few minutes into the second half, she added 10.

"Stalko really pulled us out of the second half," said Head Coach Cindy Scott.

The Salukas will host to St. Louis University Monday night at the Arena. Game time is 5 p.m.

"Because they were breaking so fast at the start of game, we got caught behind them for some aggressive fouls," he said. "They scored 20 points on free-throws, compared to our six.

The Salukas finished the game with 25 team fouls, with Charles Nance fouling out. Nance began the game as he was out of the court, scoring on all three of his field goal attempts and pulling down two rebounds. Unfortunately for Nance, he also pulled down three fouls. Nance finished with 11.

Wayne Abrams scored 18 points, Scott Russee 12 and Smith 20.

Gottfried said the loss was crucial, but the Salukas could still make the Valley playoffs.