The Daily Egyptian, February 15, 1983

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_February1983
Volume 68, Issue 99

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1983 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in February 1983 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
Gus Bode

Gus says the GSC is like the cat on the hot tin roof — busy, but going nowhere.

Officials test dioxin levels at Illinois sites

SAUGET, Ill. — Federal and state environmental officials began testing Monday to determine the extent of dioxin contamination at three of the state's former munitions sites.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency announced in Chicago that samples from two sites in Carbondale and one in Sauget, were contaminated with dioxin.

The Carbondale site is a former munitions plant, while the Sauget site was once a small drainage ditch in Cahokia that was fenced off earlier during the Vietnam war.

“These are relatively low,” Hartian said. “But the sites are highly toxic and any exposure is of concern.”

None were among nine sites tested for possible dioxin contamination by the EPA in February. Some of the sites have been cleared of any suspicion and one site, the Koyuk Stables in Madison County, is being tested.

Hartian said that it’s hard to say what a test will mean. “It might be that it is a problem, it may be that it is not or it may be that it is somewhere in between,” Hartian said.

Hartian said, though, that any exposure is an exposure. “Dioxin is a toxic byproduct of chemical warfare and it’s impacts on human effects has not yet been determined in laboratories.”

Hartian said federal and state environmental officials traveled to Sauget and nearby St. Louis to conduct the tests in Sauget. The tests are expected to show if the dioxin is still present and if it spreads over a larger area than previously known.

The initial tests showed dioxin levels of about 54 and 39 parts per billion at the St. Louis and Carbondale sites, respectively.

Four of the nine sites were tested because of reports that waste oil contamination had been occurring at those sites.

Dr. Carl Bode, spokesman for the EPA's Chicago office, said that the EPA was successor to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Bode testifies that the OSHA rule, the occupational health and safety agency, will be the 'new standard' for the workplace.

Thursday's hearing was set to determine how the OSHA rule will affect the workplace.

The OSHA rule has been criticized by many as too strict and too expensive. It is expected to have a significant impact on employers and employees alike.

The OSHA rule, which was proposed in 1997, sets new standards for workplace safety and health.

The rule requires employers to provide employees with a safe workplace and to ensure that employees are protected from hazards that could cause serious harm or death.

The OSHA rule also requires employers to develop written plans to ensure that employees are protected from hazards and to provide training and education on workplace safety and health.

The rule has been met with mixed reactions. Some employers have criticized the rule as too expensive and too burdensome, while others have praised it as a necessary step to improve workplace safety and health.

The Hearing to Determinate the Rule's Impact

The hearing, which is being held in Washington, D.C., is expected to last several days. It is being conducted by the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH), which is part of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

The hearing is being held to determine how the rule will impact the workplace and to gather input from employers, employees, and other stakeholders.

The hearing is expected to include testimony from government officials, representatives from labor and employer groups, and individuals who have been affected by workplace hazards.

The OSHA rule is expected to be finalized by the end of the year.

The rule is expected to have a significant impact on the workplace, with employers and employees alike expected to change the way they work to comply with the new standards.

The rule has been met with mixed reactions, with some employers and employees critical of the rule as too expensive and too burdensome, while others have praised it as a necessary step to improve workplace safety and health.
Israeli ambassador, Arens, accepts defense minister post

By Arthur Max
Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Moshe Arens, Israel's hawkish ambassador to Washington, accepted the post of defense minister Monday in place of the ousted Ariel Sharon, who quit the ministry last week saying "I am not leaving a beaten man."

The opposition to Sharon's government, which voted 56-56 to remove Sharon and reshuffle the cabinet of Prime Minister Menachem Begin, began to hold the defense portfolio until Arens is confirmed.

The Parliament debated the government's refusal to follow the recommendations of the Beirut massacre commission, which urged Sharon's removal.

Sharon, who runs a Defence Ministry for 18 months, remains in the Cabinet as a minister without portfolio. He resigned the defense post after the Cabinet approved findings of an Israeli judicial commission that Sharon bore responsibility for allowing the Beirut massacre of Palestinian by Lebanese Christian militia men Sept. 16.

The commission said Sharon should have had the Lebanese militia men from committing the atrocity inside the Israeli-ruled Sabra and Chatilla camps. It also said Begin and other top officials were partial to the atrocity.

Begin's secretary, Yehiel Kadishai, said Arens would fly to Israel in a few days to go through cabinet and parliamentary proceedings. Little opposition is expected.

Arens, 57, is a soft-spoken, practical diplomat with a hard line on making peace with the Arabs.

Begin replied. "I accepted the prime minister's request.

Though Arens opposed the 1978 peace treaty with Egypt, he now accepts it as an accomplished fact.

Sharon served notice that he would continue to press his tough line in the Cabinet, even without a portfolio.

Blizzard kills 87; buries Northeast

By David L. Langford
Associated Press Writer

Millions of Eastern city dwellers struggled back to work Monday as the region prepared to recover from a record-shattering blizzard that left some shoddy blocking buses, stalled cars and delaying overcrowded commuter trains up to 20 hours.

The killing death toll from the Blizzard of '83, which dumped 2 feet of snow on the East Coast, tripled to 24. 24 people were killed in the city, most of them by falling大树. 24 people were killed in the city, most of them by falling大树.

In the city, the meanwhile, a Pacific storm drenched powerful surf along the coast Sunday night to Monday, tossing waves up to San Francisco, capsizing boats and killing at least three people.

The latest East Coast storm glided up today with freezing rain in North Carolina around Greensboro and in area towns covered with snow. Waves pounding into the coast, shutting down four ferry operations.

But to the north it was mainly cold, with snow readings across New York and New England. Many city streets remained blocked with cars stuck in snow up to the doors handles.

Many people complained of problems with trains and buses.

The New Jersey Division of Consumer Affairs said it had received 10,000 calls by noon, with snow readings up to six hours.

Traffic jams developed in Philadelphia, where residents largely ignored a plea from police to use public transportation and leave their cars at home. Many Philadelphia neighborhoods remained snowbound and Green Ashford Municipal Court was closed.

"It will be several days at least before the secondary snowstorm arrives," said Gene Underwood, spokesman for the Philadelphia Department of Streets. "We're still trying to get the primary streets cleared."

New York was feeling better, as far as getting streets at least partially cleared, but most six-lane highways had only four lanes open. 400,000 vehicles attempted to use major roads.

But rush hour traffic was about 30 percent lighter than usual, with 20 miles on the "total chute," as one official put it.

On the rails, commuter trains were running late some delay up to two hours and others canceled outright.

News Roundup

Pentagon may propose military cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A key defense official says the Pentagon may haul out a number of proposed base closings and cuts to the defense budget. A top aide to Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger said some of the cutbacks are the "brunt of the heat-getting-heavy" for deep cuts in the military budget.

The official said the Pentagon might propose a base realignment and closure that will result in some $200 billion in defense cuts over the next 20 years, although the official did not name any specific locations.

Teamsters applaud president

CHICAGO (AP) — Teamsters President Roy L. Williams, expected to be sentenced for conspiracy to bribe a U.S. senator, was greeted with a standing ovation Monday by hundreds of the union's local leaders, a union spokesman said.

Williams, 57, is projected to face his sentencing in the coming weeks, but he has been in court less than 10 times in the past 10 months.

Speculation over Williams' future is expected to overshadow other critical issues — including trucking industry appeals for substantial wage-cut concessions — facing the 300,000-member Teamsters.

The closed meetings conclude Thursday.

Police seek 'fanatic' protester

HEATON, N.D. (AP) — Officers hunted a 60-year-old "fanatic" taxi protestor on the hag-shaped prairie Monday after two U.S. marshals who tried to arrest him were cut down in a hail of gunfire.

About 50 federal and state officers converged in east-central North Dakota looking for Gordon Kahl and another man who were believed to have escaped from the shootout in Medora that killed five marshals and wounded a third, and injured two police officers, authorities said.

U.S. marshals had been trying to arrest Kahl for violating federal probation and for attempting to arrest him, but the suspects blasted their way out of the police net and disappeared into the countryside as darkness set in.

Office worker gunned down

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy Jr. regained consciousness Monday as authorities continued to question how he came by the chemicals that enabled his third apparent attempt at suicide since he has been in federal custody.

Kennedy, 27, was thought to have been taking the anti-depressant drug imipramine. But Wayne Pines, a spokesman for the mental hospital where Kennedy had been held, said patients are supposed to be under the watch of attendants wherever they take medication.

Kennedy was found semi-conscious Sunday on the floor of his room at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, where he had been confined since his acquittal by reason of insanity last June. Officials said he was close to dying.

Daily Egyptian

The American Tap

Happy Hour 11:30-8:00

35c Drafts
1.75 Pitchers
30c Lowenbrau
75c Speedeals
75c Seagram's
75c Jack Daniels

Special of the Month

White & Black Russians

95¢

Happy Hour 11:30-8:00

35c Drafts
1.75 Pitchers
30c Lowenbrau
75c Speedeals
75c Seagram's
75c Jack Daniels

On Special All Day & Night

LaBatts (in bottles)

97¢

The American Tap

Happy Hour 11:30-8:00

35c Drafts
1.75 Pitchers
30c Lowenbrau
75c Speedeals
75c Seagram's
75c Jack Daniels

On Special All Day & Night

LaBatts (in bottles)
Chamber supports consolidation plan

By Karen Terry
Staff Writer

The Carbondale Chamber of Commerce Monday announced its support for a $3.2 million bond referendum for consolidation of the three Carbondale Community High School campuses.

The Chamber endorsement was "based on what was good for Carbondale and what the Chamber felt was good for the business community," said Chamber President Don Shay.

"Carbondale as a whole would be improved," he said. Regardless of quality of education, it can be difficult to bring people with school-aged children into the community while the high school's central campus is "a state of disrepair," Shay said. "The central campus gives a wrong impression of Carbondale as a whole."

If passed, the Feb. 22 referendum would finance an 85,000-square-foot addition to the existing classrooms at 1201 Walnut St., where all classes would be held. The central campus, 200 N. Spring St., and the Vocational Center, 400 E. Main St., would be closed.

"Of course we are very pleased that they did endorse us," said Bill Martin, superintendent of CCCHS District 165. "I feel that they reflect the feelings of the entire business community. People are aware of the need for a strong educational system."

"The Chamber of Commerce endorsement is very well received," agreed John Cherry, chairman of Citizen's Committee for the Referendum. Cherry said he is uncertain whether the endorsement will affect the outcome of the referendum.

"The main thing that is going to sway the voters is facts," Cherry said. If the referendum passed, property owners will pay an average increase of 65 cents per $100 of the equalized assessed valuation of their homes. If it fails, a state-mandated bond issue of $12 million, also funded by tax dollars, would be necessary to bring the central campus buildings into compliance with health, life and safety standards. The second bond issue would not be decided by voters.

Supporters of the referendum believe that money spent for improvements to the central campus, if necessary, would not improve the lifetime or educational function of the building. "The basics — roof repair, plumbing, electrical upkeep, encapsulation of asbestos — would be paid for, but no money would be available for aesthetic improvements or insulation, according to Cherry.

"Some people feel that money will be saved, but millions of dollars will be spent, one way or another," Cherry said. "It would be a tragic waste of taxpayers' money' to invest it in an old building if the referendum fails he said.

The same proposal was voted down in May 1981, but may stand a better chance of passing this year. On the last ballot, it was coupled with a $2.5 million bond issue for building a new jail.

District 165 residents can vote at regular polling places from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. next Tuesday. The district includes Carbondale, DeSoto and Giendale, Unity Point and Giant City grade school districts.

Stolen equipment recovered; Pamona man charged in theft

Carbondale police have recovered $20,000 worth of musical equipment, which was stolen from the Carbondale Public Works last month, and have arrested a Pamona man for the theft.

The equipment was traced to a mobile home in Dallas area, where it was allegedly sold by the suspect, police said. The equipment is now being transported to Carbondale.

With the assistance of the

Two burglaries reported over weekend

Over $3,000 worth of property was reported stolen to police over the weekend in two unrelated thefts.

A report that several musical instruments were stolen from Lincoln Junior High School, 501 S. Washington St., was received by police at 8:16 a.m. Friday, Carbondale police said.

Mike R. Missing, a music instructor, told police the crash bars on a door were broken, causing $225 in damage. The stolen instruments were valued at $2,450.

Jackson County Sheriff's Department and Carbondale Detective William Branden, the suspect was arrested in Texas March 21. He would face a Jackson County charge, but has not been charged yet with the theft according to police.

Although probable cause exists for the theft and the interstate transportation of the equipment have been identified, no additional arrests have been made, police said.

The equipment was reported stolen on May 31, 1982. Police said they have no suspects.

Saturday, SIUC Security received a report that a total of 106 items had been stolen from the SIUC-A Air Institute, located at the Southern Illinois Airport. Police would not release descriptions of the stolen items, pending investigation, but reported a total loss of $219. police said. The theft was reported at 8:30 p.m.

Although police have a suspect, no arrests have been made.

Red letter day

After selecting two carnations from the Valentine's Day sale, Richard Beck, senior in electronic data processing, said he would give them to the "first two ladies" that he ran into Monday. The sale, sponsored by the SIUC fraternity club, was held at the south end of Flat Rock Hall. Flowers were sold for $1 and the club grossed over 300 sales.
Nix Phoenix VI
One bite is enough

IT APPEARS AS IF the administration is willing to dance with the snake that bit it in the Phoenix VI cable television fiasco. Apparently, the wound doesn't hurt as bad now as it did when the snake first bit the administration. Apparently, it wasn't damaging enough to the University to permit another contract with the company. It may lose enough for the administration to consider another contract with Phoebe Phoenix VI.

Phoenix VI breached its promises with SU-C from the beginning. Phoebe Phoenix VI told the University last October that it had eight stations lined up which would buy the Saluki sports television package. In truth, it has only three.

Phoenix VI made a deal to develop a cable package worth $25,000. When it was done, it was with John June 30 and June 31. In truth, the company told the University this month that it would not "dict the idea totally." It could be better, but it is not.

WE CAN ONLY WONDER why Phoenix VI is not looking to a director in charge of a cable television service. Phoenix VI broke its promises with SU-C and the University.

The idea that Phoebe Phoenix VI could adequately investigate the deal was done. It was not done. It was not done in the American tradition of education. When we think of Phoenix VI, we think of the Broadcasting of their children and the universities.

Swinburne told the council this week that it will not honor its contract — it backed out.

RICK LIPPS, general manager of WSIL-TV in Harrisburg, the only station in the area with a television package — said last week that he would have to "in the long run and at any future dealings with Phoenix VI.

We suggest that Swinburne not look at Phoenix VI at all.

Food Service has always been one of the most primary functions on this campus with the exception of classes of course.

But did you ever stop to wonder where all of these meals are served? Yes, Anthony Hall. The summer break? They're laid off. That's where they are. And for those three months, too. We used to feed the summer school students. We used to feed the summer school students. There was a way out. At Christmas break, we got laid-off another week. Next November one week will be closed for another week.

Thanksgiving Day, we do as we live? If you want to do it, he or she will use it. In the past it was, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can.

RICK LIPPS, general manager of WSIL-TV in Harrisburg, the only station in the area with a television package — said last week that he would have to "in the long run and at any future dealings with Phoenix VI."

We suggest that Swinburne not look at Phoenix VI at all.

Food Service has always been one of the most primary functions on this campus with the exception of classes of course.

But did you ever stop to wonder where all of these meals are served? Yes, Anthony Hall. The summer break? They're laid off. That's where they are. And for those three months, too. We used to feed the summer school students. We used to feed the summer school students. There was a way out. At Christmas break, we got laid-off another week. Next November one week will be closed for another week.

Thanksgiving Day, we do as we live? If you want to do it, he or she will use it. In the past it was, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can.

RICK LIPPS, general manager of WSIL-TV in Harrisburg, the only station in the area with a television package — said last week that he would have to "in the long run and at any future dealings with Phoenix VI."

We suggest that Swinburne not look at Phoenix VI at all.

Food Service has always been one of the most primary functions on this campus with the exception of classes of course.

But did you ever stop to wonder where all of these meals are served? Yes, Anthony Hall. The summer break? They're laid off. That's where they are. And for those three months, too. We used to feed the summer school students. We used to feed the summer school students. There was a way out. At Christmas break, we got laid-off another week. Next November one week will be closed for another week.

Thanksgiving Day, we do as we live? If you want to do it, he or she will use it. In the past it was, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can.

RICK LIPPS, general manager of WSIL-TV in Harrisburg, the only station in the area with a television package — said last week that he would have to "in the long run and at any future dealings with Phoenix VI."

We suggest that Swinburne not look at Phoenix VI at all.

Food Service has always been one of the most primary functions on this campus with the exception of classes of course.

But did you ever stop to wonder where all of these meals are served? Yes, Anthony Hall. The summer break? They're laid off. That's where they are. And for those three months, too. We used to feed the summer school students. We used to feed the summer school students. There was a way out. At Christmas break, we got laid-off another week. Next November one week will be closed for another week.

Thanksgiving Day, we do as we live? If you want to do it, he or she will use it. In the past it was, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can.

RICK LIPPS, general manager of WSIL-TV in Harrisburg, the only station in the area with a television package — said last week that he would have to "in the long run and at any future dealings with Phoenix VI."

We suggest that Swinburne not look at Phoenix VI at all.

Food Service has always been one of the most primary functions on this campus with the exception of classes of course.

But did you ever stop to wonder where all of these meals are served? Yes, Anthony Hall. The summer break? They're laid off. That's where they are. And for those three months, too. We used to feed the summer school students. We used to feed the summer school students. There was a way out. At Christmas break, we got laid-off another week. Next November one week will be closed for another week.

Thanksgiving Day, we do as we live? If you want to do it, he or she will use it. In the past it was, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can.

RICK LIPPS, general manager of WSIL-TV in Harrisburg, the only station in the area with a television package — said last week that he would have to "in the long run and at any future dealings with Phoenix VI."

We suggest that Swinburne not look at Phoenix VI at all.

Food Service has always been one of the most primary functions on this campus with the exception of classes of course.

But did you ever stop to wonder where all of these meals are served? Yes, Anthony Hall. The summer break? They're laid off. That's where they are. And for those three months, too. We used to feed the summer school students. We used to feed the summer school students. There was a way out. At Christmas break, we got laid-off another week. Next November one week will be closed for another week.

Thanksgiving Day, we do as we live? If you want to do it, he or she will use it. In the past it was, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can.

RICK LIPPS, general manager of WSIL-TV in Harrisburg, the only station in the area with a television package — said last week that he would have to "in the long run and at any future dealings with Phoenix VI."

We suggest that Swinburne not look at Phoenix VI at all.

Food Service has always been one of the most primary functions on this campus with the exception of classes of course.

But did you ever stop to wonder where all of these meals are served? Yes, Anthony Hall. The summer break? They're laid off. That's where they are. And for those three months, too. We used to feed the summer school students. We used to feed the summer school students. There was a way out. At Christmas break, we got laid-off another week. Next November one week will be closed for another week.

Thanksgiving Day, we do as we live? If you want to do it, he or she will use it. In the past it was, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can.

RICK LIPPS, general manager of WSIL-TV in Harrisburg, the only station in the area with a television package — said last week that he would have to "in the long run and at any future dealings with Phoenix VI."

We suggest that Swinburne not look at Phoenix VI at all.

Food Service has always been one of the most primary functions on this campus with the exception of classes of course.

But did you ever stop to wonder where all of these meals are served? Yes, Anthony Hall. The summer break? They're laid off. That's where they are. And for those three months, too. We used to feed the summer school students. We used to feed the summer school students. There was a way out. At Christmas break, we got laid-off another week. Next November one week will be closed for another week.

Thanksgiving Day, we do as we live? If you want to do it, he or she will use it. In the past it was, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can.

RICK LIPPS, general manager of WSIL-TV in Harrisburg, the only station in the area with a television package — said last week that he would have to "in the long run and at any future dealings with Phoenix VI."

We suggest that Swinburne not look at Phoenix VI at all.

Food Service has always been one of the most primary functions on this campus with the exception of classes of course.

But did you ever stop to wonder where all of these meals are served? Yes, Anthony Hall. The summer break? They're laid off. That's where they are. And for those three months, too. We used to feed the summer school students. We used to feed the summer school students. There was a way out. At Christmas break, we got laid-off another week. Next November one week will be closed for another week.

Thanksgiving Day, we do as we live? If you want to do it, he or she will use it. In the past it was, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can, he can.
Budweiser may get dumped in protest

By Sheila Washington
Staff Writer

The Black Affairs Council may lead some SPH students in a protest against Anheuser-Busch Wednesday. The protest may be completed through the dumping of a case of beer.

To date, FAC has not made it official, but project coordinator and FAC President Karen Shari'ati said a "strong possibility" exists that a case of Budweiser beer will be dumped on campus.

"We have approached FAC with the idea of creating a media event by dumping a case of beer in protest of Anheuser-Busch's activities, including dumping the company's products on many college campuses across the country," Shari'ati said.

The students have been inspired by the work of the Student for Amnesty International (SAI), a student-run organization. SAI has encouraged students and faculty members at colleges and universities across the country to sponsor protests against Anheuser-Busch. The organization also has been conducting a nationwide campaign to boycott the company's products.

The protest against Anheuser-Busch will take place in several stages. FAC will secure a case of beer from the Anheuser-Busch warehouse and then transport it to a location on campus. FAC will then place the case of beer on the ground and invite other students and faculty members to join in the protest by dumping it.

"We are trying to create a media event that will attract attention to the issue of Anheuser-Busch's activities and encourage other students and faculty members to join in the protest," Shari'ati said.

The protest will be held in the Student Center at 1 p.m. Wednesday. FAC will be joined by other groups and organizations, including the Black Student Union and the Student for Amnesty International.

"We hope to create a media event that will attract attention to the issue of Anheuser-Busch's activities and encourage other students and faculty members to join in the protest," Shari'ati said.

The protest against Anheuser-Busch will be a demonstration of solidarity with students at other campuses across the country who are also protesting the company's activities.

"We are trying to create a media event that will attract attention to the issue of Anheuser-Busch's activities and encourage other students and faculty members to join in the protest," Shari'ati said.

The protest against Anheuser-Busch will be a demonstration of solidarity with students at other campuses across the country who are also protesting the company's activities.

"We are trying to create a media event that will attract attention to the issue of Anheuser-Busch's activities and encourage other students and faculty members to join in the protest," Shari'ati said.

"We are trying to create a media event that will attract attention to the issue of Anheuser-Busch's activities and encourage other students and faculty members to join in the protest," Shari'ati said.
Eclectic offering from new band

Ishade's and her costumes have the same bare-naked spirit as Bozza, streaked in one squeak and sound as taut as a filament. The group's sound may be similar to Zappa's, but the rhythms, the texture, the force and the power of Zappa exactly, it's tame enough for pop airplay, and quite in flavor with New Wave palate.

The songs seem to maintain their pop-rock flavor by sheer juxtaposition. If the bass line and lead guitar let loose into a hard rock frenzy, Dale's vocals and a synthesizer add a light bouncy flavor. When Dale gets defiant, chances are the instruments are playing a pop sound. The feel is similar to the Go Go's first LP in its being sentimental, but Missing Persons are less consistently cute and are more hard-driving, especially on songs like "Walking in L.A."

This rockin' Dale's square clumps down an octave and demands as much energy as her mate's drumming. Lyrics point out that people in the know don't walk in L.A. and by the end of the song the listener better start asking why. Most of the lyrics originate from Dale's poetry. Many songs are blatant, some rely on tight imagery. All sound. Like most prominent, people in Dale's group possesses a energy to bring out her lack of restraint, pretrained by musical naivety, into the world where it is mixed by profit.

The frontperson and the group's only female is Dale. Bozza the anemic looking lead singer frequently punctuates lyrics with the group's squawks and squeals, which sound as strung-out as her looks. Her voice was usually screamed in or two shocking shades and her costumes have the same bare navel spirit as Wendy O. Williams or the early Cher Bono. She takes her lack of restraint, pretrained by musical naivety, into the studio where it is mixed by profit.

One of the pros is her husband, Terry. A consistently good drummer, the other Bozza was trained on avant-garde forms of jazz and classical music. He revels in complex forms, with a taste for rock and roll, and until he tried out for Zappa's band in 1974, the same year he met Dale. After a three-year stint playing Zappa's rhythms, he felt ready to try out his wings. Terry doesn't hide the fact that he's the band's pulse. In fact, he doesn't hide tradition by setting up his drum set at the front of the stage during performance. Not摇头, every drummer is insecure.

The group's most common chord is its Zappa influence. Dale's first vocals were sounds she emitted while playing around in his studio, and guitarist Warren Cuccurullo spent a year playing guitar for Zappa's band. Although the group's sound may reflect the energy, it's tame enough for pop airplay, and quite in flavor with New Wave palate.

The songs seem to maintain their pop-rock flavor by sheer juxtaposition. If the bass line and lead guitar let loose into a hard rock frenzy, Dale's vocals and a synthesizer add a light bouncy flavor. When Dale gets defiant, chances are the instruments are playing a pop sound. The feel is similar to the Go Go's first LP in its being sentimental, but Missing Persons are less consistently cute and are more hard-driving, especially on songs like "Walking in L.A."

For this rocker Dale's square clumps down an octave and demands as much energy as her mate's drumming. Lyrics point out that people in the know don't walk in L.A. and by the end of the song the listener better start asking why. Most of the lyrics originate from Dale's poetry. Many songs are blatant, some rely on tight imagery. All sound. Like most prominent, people in Dale's group possesses a energy to bring out her lack of restraint, pretrained by musical naivety, into the world where it is mixed by profit.

The frontperson and the group's only female is Dale. Bozza the anemic looking lead singer frequently punctuates lyrics with the group's squawks and squeals, which sound as strung-out as her looks. Her voice was usually screamed in or two shocking shades and her costumes have the same bare navel spirit as Wendy O. Williams or the early Cher Bono. She takes her lack of restraint, pretrained by musical naivety, into the studio where it is mixed by profit.

One of the pros is her husband, Terry. A consistently good drummer, the other Bozza was trained on avant-garde forms of jazz and classical music. He revels in complex forms, with a taste for rock and roll, and until he tried out for Zappa's band in 1974, the same year he met Dale. After a three-year stint playing Zappa's rhythms, he felt ready to try out his wings. Terry doesn't hide the fact that he's the band's pulse. In fact, he doesn't hide tradition by setting up his drum set at the front of the stage during performance. Not摇头, every drummer is insecure.

The group's most common chord is its Zappa influence. Dale's first vocals were sounds she emitted while playing around in his studio, and guitarist Warren Cuccurullo spent a year playing guitar for Zappa's band. Although the group's sound may reflect the energy, it's tame enough for pop airplay, and quite in flavor with New Wave palate.

The songs seem to maintain their pop-rock flavor by sheer juxtaposition. If the bass line and lead guitar let loose into a hard rock frenzy, Dale's vocals and a synthesizer add a light bouncy flavor. When Dale gets defiant, chances are the instruments are playing a pop sound. The feel is similar to the Go Go's first LP in its being sentimental, but Missing Persons are less consistently cute and are more hard-driving, especially on songs like "Walking in L.A."

For this rocker Dale's square clumps down an octave and demands as much energy as her mate's drumming. Lyrics point out that people in the know don't walk in L.A. and by the end of the song the listener better start asking why. Most of the lyrics originate from Dale's poetry. Many songs are blatant, some rely on tight imagery. All sound. Like most prominent, people in Dale's group possesses a energy to bring out her lack of restraint, pretrained by musical naivety, into the world where it is mixed by profit.

One of the pros is her husband, Terry. A consistently good drummer, the other Bozza was trained on avant-garde forms of jazz and classical music. He revels in complex forms, with a taste for rock and roll, and until he tried out for Zappa's band in 1974, the same year he met Dale. After a three-year stint playing Zappa's rhythms, he felt ready to try out his wings. Terry doesn't hide the fact that he's the band's pulse. In fact, he doesn't hide tradition by setting up his drum set at the front of the stage during performance. Not摇头, every drummer is insecure.

The group's most common chord is its Zappa influence. Dale's first vocals were sounds she emitted while playing around in his studio, and guitarist Warren Cuccurullo spent a year playing guitar for Zappa's band. Although the group's sound may reflect the energy, it's tame enough for pop airplay, and quite in flavor with New Wave palate.

The songs seem to maintain their pop-rock flavor by sheer juxtaposition. If the bass line and lead guitar let loose into a hard rock frenzy, Dale's vocals and a synthesizer add a light bouncy flavor. When Dale gets defiant, chances are the instruments are playing a pop sound. The feel is similar to the Go Go's first LP in its being sentimental, but Missing Persons are less consistently cute and are more hard-driving, especially on songs like "Walking in L.A."

For this rocker Dale's square clumps down an octave and demands as much energy as her mate's drumming. Lyrics point out that people in the know don't walk in L.A. and by the end of the song the listener better start asking why. Most of the lyrics originate from Dale's poetry. Many songs are blatant, some rely on tight imagery. All sound. Like most prominent, people in Dale's group possesses a energy to bring out her lack of restraint, pretrained by musical naivety, into the world where it is mixed by profit.
‘Entity’ establishes new low for ‘women in danger’ films

By James Derk
Staff Writer

Gag me with hot buttered popcorn.

Movies that show women being beaten and raped have become pretty common these days, but none are quite as disgusting as "Entity," a low-budget release from Century-Fox.

The makers of the film were trying to make a horror movie. What they came up with is a crude exploitation of women in general.

The film, supposedly based on a true story, is billed as "The Entity" a mysterious invisible force in California, a Freudian psychologist who thinks she's possessed by something supernatural. This conflict is never fully developed and is often buried beneath a pile of special effects.

The Entity, although well done, never make much sense in the plot. At one point, Hershey in a scene joy ride in downtown Los Angeles by the invisible force for no particular reason. Windows and furniture get broken in her house and then magically reappear in the next scene unscathed.

Director Sidney Furie seems unsure if he wanted to make a serious documentary or a horror flick, what he succeeds in making is a bad attempt at both.

The plot is very similar to "The Amityville Horror" in style and content. I just sat through both movies wondering why they simply didn't move out of the house. The film is full of unexplained holes in the plot, including an awesome light-long display in her bedroom that has nothing to do with the movie.

The movie is adapted from a book by Frank DeFelitta based on a supposedly true incident in Los Angeles in 1976.

Eventually, the whole movie becomes nothing more than waiting to see when and where Hershey will get attacked. Each attack is accompanied by a Charles Bernstein soundtrack that sounds like a crazed preschooler playing violin.

In short, "The Entity" could have been a serious documentary or a decent horror film, but falls miserably at both.

"Save your money and read the book."

Professor to give slide presentation

William Larson, associate professor and department chairman of photography at the Tyler School of Art, Temple University, will give a slide and lecture presentation at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Davis Auditorium in Wham Hall, Room 100.

This appearance is part of the Contemporary Color Photography series and is presented by the Department of Cinema and Photography. An open discussion will follow the presentation.

Golden Key National Honor Society

Information about Golden Key National Honor Society will be available in the Student Center February 15th & 16th between 9a.m. and 2p.m.

Officers welcome the opportunity to answer your questions.

Fertility Awareness

The Natural Birth Control

WHEN
Wednesday: 3-5:00 for three weeks starting February 16

WHERE
The Wellness Center
To sign up call 735-8441

International Buffet

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1983

Daily Egyptian, February 15, 1983, Page 7
Bald eagles and Canada goose sighted on wildlife refuge trip

By Robert Green
Staff Writer

Bald eagles and Canadian geese were the main focus of interest Saturday for about 30 SIUC students who journeyed to the Union County Wildlife Refuge.

Bearing cameras, binoculars and a telescope, the students attending the third annual Student Environmental Center Eagle Trip sighted about 20 bald eagles perched in trees or flying high overhead.

The students also had the opportunity to hold both Canadian geese. A waterfowl biologist explained how to band and weigh geese and how to determine their age and sex.

Dennis Thornburg, the state's chief waterfowl biologist, said about 64 bald eagles and about 35,000 Canadian geese were spending the winter at the refuge.

He said the goose population would normally number between 60,000 and 80,000, but many birds have preferred wintering in Wisconsin because of abnormally mild winter.

The refuge, Thornburg said, is one of the three main wintering grounds for waterfowl along the Mississippi flyway, and he said the geese normally arrive in mid-September and return to Canada in early spring.

Thornburg led the students on a small enclosure where geese are banded and weighed.

The students then boarded the SIUC bus and began searching for bald eagles. Although many eagles were sighted, the wary birds kept a safe distance from the bus.

Thornburg led the students into a small enclosure where geese are banded and weighed.

He said the students were able to hold and examine the geese, and after the banding and weighing, students set the geese free.

The students then boarded the SIUC bus and began searching for bald eagles. Although many eagles were sighted, the wary birds kept a safe distance from the bus.

Thornburg led the students into a small enclosure where geese are banded and weighed.

After discussing refuge efforts in managing the waterfowl, Thornburg led the students into a small enclosure where geese are banded and weighed.

He said the banding is done for the purposes of scientific study of migratory habits and how many geese are banded at the Union County refuge than at any other site in North America.

The students were allowed to hold and examine the geese, and after the banding and weighing, students set the geese free.

The students then boarded the SIUC bus and began searching for bald eagles. Although many eagles were sighted, the wary birds kept a safe distance from the bus.

Thornburg led the students into a small enclosure where geese are banded and weighed.

"It was an interesting experience for people," she said.

"Many of the students had never seen a bald eagle before and overall, it was a very good trip."
Former ‘high risk’ infants are reunited in celebration of life

By Sheila Washington

Katie Lingle was born with her umbilical cord wrapped around her neck. She needed oxygen to transform her blue complexion into one of a healthy baby. Lingle and several other babies had transfusions to keep her alive during the first few hours of her complicated life.

The situation could have ended in tragedy for Jim and Kay Lingle, but today Katie is alive and well.

With about a hundred other children who survived birth complications in the Special Care Nursery at Memorial Hospital of Carbondale, Katie, an 8-month-old Makanda resident, celebrated her survival in Memorial Hospital during a reunion of children who had been classified “high risk” at birth.

The reunion was a celebration of life. Despite the television cameras, photographers, cooks and support staff, many of the healthy children who cried for balloons or a ride on a shuttle board or just a comforting hug from their parents didn’t realize they were special children—ones that once lived in Memorial Hospital crying for help.

Prior to 1969, babies like Katie Lingle could not have received life-saving treatment in Carbondale because no hospital existed in Southern Illinois that could provide sophisticated care for the high-risk infants.

This was the making of the Special Care Nursery, a specialized nursery that enabled the miracle children to participate in the reunion.

More than 1,200 babies from 30 Southern Illinois counties have been treated at the Special Care Nursery since its start. According to a press release from the hospital, the state of Illinois began designating Regional Perinatal Centers in 1970 and in 1975 Memorial Hospital was designated as an Intermediate Care Center. In 1979, Memorial Hospital became the first Level II Perinatal Center in the state and the nursery became known as a Special Care Nursery. A Level II designation denotes an advanced level of both obstetrical care and neonatal care.

“We’re one of the most developed hospitals in Southern Illinois,” said Linda Pick, a nurse at the hospital.

Katie Lingle, supervisor of the obstetrics department at Carbondale Memorial Hospital, said she is proud of the program there and the turnout for the reunion.

“I’m glad to see everybody here. We do a lot of good work here. Most of these children might not have made it,” she said.

More than 200 babies receive care each year in the Special Care Nursery. About 50 percent of the high-risk infants born in Southern Illinois hospitals are transferred to Memorial Hospital, the release said.

Kellee Renee Karchen of Mount Vernon was transferred to Memorial Hospital after birth in West Frankfort. She weighed 3 pounds 7 ounces. After receiving treatment through the Special Care Nursery, she eventually gained weight and was able to go home.

In Southern Illinois, infant mortality rates may become more common because of the Special Care Nursery. Parents like the Karchens and the Lingles have living proof.
Culinary purists not starved for health food stores in city

By Mary Pries
Staff Writer

Carbondale health food stores come in an assortment of flavors. Although the city has three stores that sell groceries specifically for the person who wants to eat what is ‘better for him,’ the character of each store is a little bit different.

‘Vitamins are what we are known for,’ said Lois Lacy, assistant manager of Nutrition Headquarters, 301 W. Main.

Bonnie Cook, owner of Mr. Natural’s at 192 E. Jackson, said her opposite is true for her store.

‘I only carry one line of vitamins,’ she said. ‘I carry the same products as all GNCs, and they seem to sell well here. I don’t feel that having two other health food stores in town has a big impact on business. We all have our clientele,’ she said.

Cook said some customers buy the majority of their groceries at Mr. Natural’s.

‘I think the whole foods are the key because health foods bring a person in touch with his food again,’ she said.

Both are strong with both natural and organic foods at Mr. Natural’s.

‘If a food is natural, that means no chemicals were sprayed on the plant but it doesn’t say anything about the soil. Foods with organic foods, nothing has been added to the plant or the soil. So, we let the customer know which is which by putting it right on the label,’ she said.

‘The only problem with selling some natural foods as that people don’t always know how to use them. We get a lot of people who come in the store just to browse. We have been trying to put information cards and recipes on some of the foods to give people ideas for their cooking,’ Lacy said.

Lacy said at Nutrition Headquarters, the stock is ‘all natural’ per Mr. Natural’s.

‘We have all natural flours and baking goods, but they come in packages, not in a-a

*plus installation
*Most American cars

Staff Photo by Gregory Drechsel
Sandy Shipe of Mr. Natural’s prepares a health food lover’s lime-cheese delight—prune juice, yogurt, cheese and bread.

Culinary purists not starved for health food stores in city

Mr. Natural’s runs workshops throughout the entire year where you scoop out your own. Also, we offer snacks with no sugar or salt as an alternative to junk foods. But really the most popular food with our customers is yogurt,’ she said.

Nutrition Headquarters has always been best known for selling yogurt at a lower price than the grocery stores and for carrying its own brand of vitamins, Lacy said.

Elders said General Nutrition Center sells some foods to be used in cooking. ‘We have a lot of whole wheat noodles and pastas. The whole wheat is 130 percent better for a person and has about the same amount of calories as regular pasta,’ she said.

Elders believes many people are more interested in the quality of their food. ‘Students, University employees, and other working people shop here,’ she said.

Both Mr. Natural’s and Nutrition Headquarters also said they have a wide range of customers.

Elders said that a ‘health food nut’ shops and what he buys depends on his needs.

Lecture to focus on Education’s future

An Ohio State University teacher education expert will present the 1980 Glenn John Martin Lecture Feb. 16 at SIU-

Daryl Siedentop, professor of physical education at Ohio State, will discuss ‘The Future of Teacher Education’ at 7:30 p.m. in the Morris Library Auditorium. The lecture is open to the public at no charge.

The lecture is held each year to honor Martin, who served as baseball, football and basketball coach and as director of athletics during a long career at SIU-C. He was named to the SIU-C Athletics Hall of Fame in 1978.

You can easily learn to:
- manage your stress
- relax your mind & body
- feel good
- improve concentration
- enhance self-awareness

Stress Management Workshop
Tues. Feb. 19, 9-10 a.m. Mississippi Room, Student Center
Sponsored by the Wellness Center

Health News...
BY DR. ROY S. WHITE
Doctor of Chiropractic

WHAT ARE THE BACKPAIN ODDS?

More than 25,000,000 Americans suffer from severe pain in the back. Each year more than 2,500,000 back injuries occur in the United States. More than 1,000,000 (40%) of the back injuries are due to injuries while at work and these injuries cost our national economy over $1,000,000,000 per year.

In four out of ten back injuries occur at work and then six out of ten back injuries are experienced ‘off work.’

Our findings—The most common cause of recurrent and persistent back pain is misaligned vertebrae in the spine with the subsequent development of nervous irritation. What causes these problems?

Pain, posture, lack of exercise, mental stress and lack of knowledge on how to lift are all contributors, but by far away the greatest cause of back injuries is accidents. Weeding the list are auto accidents, slips and falls around the home or over exertion at work. Today’s accidental injuries to the back are the areas that respond most readily to Chiropractic care.

You can avoid the need for an intensive program of Chiropractic by practicing good posture, exercise and periodic Chiropractic spinal examinations, but, if you have suffered a back injury, go to the first line of defense for back problems—your Chiropractor. Remember, the five most dangerous words are, ‘MAYBE IT WILL GO AWAY.’

Dr. Roy S. White
3606 Carbondale Chiropractic Clinic
103 S. Washington
Carbondale, Illinois
61050
681-457-8127

ALIGNMENT SPECIAL
ONLY $12.95

for most cars with copy of this ad.

First 10 customers taking advantage of this coupon will get an alignment for the super low Price of

$7.95

OFFER EXPIRES 3-25-83

VIC KENOIG
CHEVROLET-SUBARU-BMW
1040 E. Main Carbondale 997-4709/527-1000

Computer monitor
Bell & Howell

MUFFLERS
$19.95

CUSTOM
PIPE
BENDING
*Complete
*Muffler
*Head
*Tip
*Service
*Jet
*Post Service

34 Tires
Computer Balance $14.00
40-month ZF
Battery $29.95

MUF3ER

CERALREL
F153-92813
F163-90813
F173-7511
F183-7511
F203-7515
F213-7515
F223-7515
F233-7515
F243-7515
F253-7515

1.75-15
1.75-15
1.75-15
1.75-15
1.75-15
1.75-15
1.75-15
1.75-15
1.75-15
1.75-15
1.75-15

$19.95
$19.95
$19.95
$19.95
$19.95
$19.95
$19.95
$19.95
$19.95
$19.95
$19.95

prices include tax — mount/fill

*Most American cars

Peeples

Steel Reliner Details

*All Tread Plys of Polyester & Whitewall

*4 Full Tread Plies of Polyester & Whitewall

*6 Full Tread Plies of Polyester & Whitewall

$57.50
$57.50
$57.50
$57.50
$57.50
$57.50
$57.50
$57.50
$57.50
$57.50
$57.50

Mobil

Mufflers

Mobil
Today's puzzle

Puzzle answers are on Page 5

SECRETARY of State Jim Edgar will be the guest speaker at the Annual Lincoln Dinner at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in the Sunshine Inn, 400 S. Main St., in Anna. Elected to a four-year term in November after being appointed to the office vacated by Sen. Alan Dixon in 1986, Edgar has strongly advocated tougher drunk driving laws. He served two terms in the Illinois General Assembly.

The dinner is sponsored by the Union County Republican Central Committee, Republican Women's Club and the Young Republicans. Tickets are $10. Persons desiring to make reservations may call 892-4659.

Edgar to speak at annual dinner
Saturday in Anna
By Karen Terry
Staff Writer
BARGAIN RATE
Call BIRTHRIGHT
FREE
QUADS-
camrrms.
west side.
FEMALE
DIE:::
--------
ROOMMATE
ROOMMATE
WORKING
ROOMMATE
ecOllOlcal
bedroom.

WANTED,
&:::B:fJs
8427Bel01
TO Utilities
rent
free'!. For 2 bedroom mobile

ROOMMATE

WOMAN
457-rrrT.

ROOMMATE

OVERSEAS JOBS -
resume

CARS PAINTED, $150
Rent required. All work guaranteed. 12 years experience.

BARGAIN RATE
Call BIRTHRIGHT
FREE
QUADS-
camrrms.
west side.
FEMALE
DIE:::
--------
ROOMMATE
ROOMMATE
WORKING
ROOMMATE
TENANTED
bedroom.

WANTED,
&:::B:fJs
8427Bel01
TO Utilities
rent
free'!. For 2 bedroom mobile

ROOMMATE

WOMAN
457-rrrT.

ROOMMATE

OVERSEAS JOBS -
resume

CARS PAINTED, $150
Rent required. All work guaranteed. 12 years experience.

BARGAIN RATE
Call BIRTHRIGHT
FREE
QUADS-
camrrms.
west side.
FEMALE
DIE:::
--------
ROOMMATE
ROOMMATE
WORKING
ROOMMATE
TENANTED
bedroom.

WANTED,
&:::B:fJs
8427Bel01
TO Utilities
rent
free'!. For 2 bedroom mobile

ROOMMATE

WOMAN
457-rrrT.

ROOMMATE

OVERSEAS JOBS -
resume

CARS PAINTED, $150
Rent required. All work guaranteed. 12 years experience.

BARGAIN RATE
Call BIRTHRIGHT
FREE
QUADS-
camrrms.
west side.
FEMALE
DIE:::
--------
ROOMMATE
ROOMMATE
WORKING
ROOMMATE
TENANTED
bedroom.

WANTED,
&:::B:fJs
8427Bel01
TO Utilities
rent
free'!. For 2 bedroom mobile

ROOMMATE

WOMAN
457-rrrT.

ROOMMATE

OVERSEAS JOBS -
resume

CARS PAINTED, $150
Rent required. All work guaranteed. 12 years experience.

BARGAIN RATE
Call BIRTHRIGHT
FREE
QUADS-
camrrms.
west side.
FEMALE
DIE:::
--------
ROOMMATE
ROOMMATE
WORKING
ROOMMATE
TENANTED
bedroom.

WANTED,
&:::B:fJs
8427Bel01
TO Utilities
rent
free'!. For 2 bedroom mobile

ROOMMATE

WOMAN
457-rrrT.

ROOMMATE

OVERSEAS JOBS -
resume

CARS PAINTED, $150
Rent required. All work guaranteed. 12 years experience.

BARGAIN RATE
Call BIRTHRIGHT
FREE
QUADS-
camrrms.
west side.
FEMALE
DIE:::
--------
ROOMMATE
ROOMMATE
WORKING
ROOMMATE
TENANTED
bedroom.

WANTED,
&:::B:fJs
8427Bel01
TO Utilities
rent
free'!. For 2 bedroom mobile

ROOMMATE

WOMAN
457-rrrT.

ROOMMATE

OVERSEAS JOBS -
resume

CARS PAINTED, $150
Rent required. All work guaranteed. 12 years experience.

BARGAIN RATE
Call BIRTHRIGHT
FREE
QUADS-
camrrms.
west side.
FEMALE
DIE:::
--------
ROOMMATE
ROOMMATE
WORKING
ROOMMATE
TENANTED
bedroom.

WANTED,
&:::B:fJs
8427Bel01
TO Utilities
rent
free'!. For 2 bedroom mobile

ROOMMATE

WOMAN
457-rrrT.

ROOMMATE

OVERSEAS JOBS -
resume

CARS PAINTED, $150
Rent required. All work guaranteed. 12 years experience.

BARGAIN RATE
Call BIRTHRIGHT
FREE
QUADS-
camrrms.
west side.
FEMALE
DIE:::
--------
ROOMMATE
ROOMMATE
WORKING
ROOMMATE
TENANTED
bedroom.
'Playchart' helps in day care centers

By William Jason Yong Staff Writer

In a recent study of child development, the Rehabilitation Institute addressed a concern about the lack of social interaction between care providers and infants in many day care centers.

The study said day care centers spend more time attending to housekeeping activities than engaging in developmental activities with children.

Responding to these concerns, the Behavior Analysis and Therapy Program at the institute conducted two experiments which evaluated a staff-managed feedback system to improve developmental skills of children in an infant center.

John R. Lutzker, co-coordinator of the experiments, said "The experiment involved cooperation of the social and behavioral sciences, just as the professionals involved in the center's developmental sequence to child development.

The playchart, a poster board, is also used in piano recitals at 8 p.m. each day. The selection was based on the number of games and activities each child had taken part in during the day.

The feedback system allows care providers to keep track of the total number of games each infant has received, and consequently motivates care providers to engage in these developmental skills with the infants.

"Playchart," which is used by the staff in the infant center at Quincy Hall, plots the daily activities for all of the infants.

Women's center to celebrate Susan B. Anthony's birthday

The birthday anniversary of Susan B. Anthony, one of the pioneers of the women's movement in America, will be remembered this week by the Carbondale Women's Center.

Anthony, who was born Feb. 15, 1820, is remembered for her efforts to gain women the right to vote and for her efforts to improve women's rights.

The study was conducted by seven faculty members of the Rehabilitation Institute, including Lutzker's wife, Sandra Z. Lutzker.

The playchart was a success in improving the quality of the care provider and infant relationship." Lutzker said.

"Our goal is to stimulate the staff to stimulate the babies. The feedback system allows care providers to keep track of the types and total number of games each infant has received, and consequently motivates care providers to engage in these developmental skills with the infants.

"The staff conducted the study with the introduction of the playchart to the center. The average play given by the staff to the infants was 54 percent of the time for the morning session and 48 percent for the afternoon session.

Removal of the chart produced a dramatic decrease in the percentage of time devoted to providing games and exercises to the infants. Dropping to 26.4 percent for the morning session and to 27.5 percent for the afternoon session.

With the charts reintroduced, the percentage of play time the infants received increased by a sharp increase to an average of 59.5 percent.

"The interesting thing about the playchart is that it's virtually nothing," said Lutzker, who came to SIU-C in May 1978. "Yet it is successful in its function of promoting positive staff behavior for the benefit of the infants."

The playchart led care centers to spend more time on housekeeping activities, said Lutzker. Ten of the women involved in the project were involved in the project.

The center provides temporary shelter to women in need. The center offers a place for women to meet, as an information and referral source. The center also initiates programs to secure and enhance the quality of life for women.

The center is holding several special events in commemoration of Anthony's birthday. Speakers from the center will tell students in 10 Jackson County elementary and high schools about Anthony's life. Joyce Webb, president of the Women's Center Board, will speak about Anthony in short spots to be broadcast by local radio stations at various times throughout the week.

Reports get makeovers

By John Cunniff

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) -- The latest in corporate fashion is done up in black and white and muted gray, reflecting, as one designer put it, "more subdued feelings appropriate in these rough times."

Directness, frankness and clarity of communications are among the qualities sought this way, said William Plum, who advises corporations on how to best to style and produce their annual reports.

Annual reports, have grown more sophisticated in the past 20 years, after having spent more time and effort to develop collections of financial data preferred by the chairman's letter and promise of bonds to come.

They convey an image as well as numbers, and if you study the image projected you learn much about the aura corporations seek to present.

Senior piano recital slated for Shroock

Laura Jeanne DeNeal, senior in music, will present a piano recital at 8 p.m. today in Shroock Auditorium. At 8 p.m. the recital will be open to the public.

Works to be presented are Beethoven's Sonata, Op. 31, No. 3," and Grieg's "Concerto in A Minor." The second number was written when Grieg was 25 years old and is the only concerto he ever wrote.

DeNeal is the daughter of Wanda Oakesy of Carbondale and Sam DeNeal of Marion.

The recital is free and open to the public.

Women's center to celebrate Susan B. Anthony's birthday

by Lisa Nichols Staff Writer

The birthday anniversary of Susan B. Anthony, one of the pioneers of the women's movement in America, will be remembered this week by the Carbondale Women's Center.

Anthony, who was born Feb. 15, 1820, is remembered for her efforts to gain women the right to vote and for her efforts to improve women's rights.

The study was conducted by seven faculty members of the Rehabilitation Institute, including Lutzker's wife, Sandra Z. Lutzker.

The playchart was a success in improving the quality of the care provider and infant relationship." Lutzker said.

"Our goal is to stimulate the staff to stimulate the babies. The feedback system allows care providers to keep track of the types and total number of games each infant has received, and consequently motivates care providers to engage in these developmental skills with the infants.

"The interesting thing about the playchart is that it's virtually nothing," said Lutzker, who came to SIU-C in May 1978. "Yet it is successful in its function of promoting positive staff behavior for the benefit of the infants."

The playchart led care centers to spend more time on housekeeping activities, said Lutzker. Ten of the women involved in the project were involved in the project.

The center provides temporary shelter to women in need. The center offers a place for women to meet, as an information and referral source. The center also initiates programs to secure and enhance the quality of life for women.

The center is holding several special events in commemoration of Anthony's birthday. Speakers from the center will tell students in 10 Jackson County elementary and high schools about Anthony's life. Joyce Webb, president of the Women's Center Board, will speak about Anthony in short spots to be broadcast by local radio stations at various times throughout the week.

Reports get makeovers

By John Cunniff

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) -- The latest in corporate fashion is done up in black and white and muted gray, reflecting, as one designer put it, "more subdued feelings appropriate in these rough times.

Directness, frankness and clarity of communications are among the qualities sought this way, said William Plum, who advises corporations on how to best to style and produce their annual reports.

Annual reports, have grown more sophisticated in the past 20 years, after having spent more time and effort to develop collections of financial data preferred by the chairman's letter and promise of bonds to come.

They convey an image as well as numbers, and if you study the image projected you learn much about the aura corporations seek to present.

Senior piano recital slated for Shroock

Laura Jeanne DeNeal, senior in music, will present a piano recital at 8 p.m. today in Shroock Auditorium. At 8 p.m. the recital will be open to the public.

Works to be presented are Beethoven's Sonata, Op. 31, No. 3," and Grieg's "Concerto in A Minor." The second number was written when Grieg was 25 years old and is the only concerto he ever wrote.

DeNeal is the daughter of Wanda Oakesy of Carbondale and Sam DeNeal of Marion.

The recital is free and open to the public.

Women's center to celebrate Susan B. Anthony's birthday

by Lisa Nichols Staff Writer

The birthday anniversary of Susan B. Anthony, one of the pioneers of the women's movement in America, will be remembered this week by the Carbondale Women's Center.

Anthony, who was born Feb. 15, 1820, is remembered for her efforts to gain women the right to vote and for her efforts to improve women's rights.

The study was conducted by seven faculty members of the Rehabilitation Institute, including Lutzker's wife, Sandra Z. Lutzker.

The playchart was a success in improving the quality of the care provider and infant relationship." Lutzker said.

"Our goal is to stimulate the staff to stimulate the babies. The feedback system allows care providers to keep track of the types and total number of games each infant has received, and consequently motivates care providers to engage in these developmental skills with the infants.

"The interesting thing about the playchart is that it's virtually nothing," said Lutzker, who came to SIU-C in May 1978. "Yet it is successful in its function of promoting positive staff behavior for the benefit of the infants."

The playchart led care centers to spend more time on housekeeping activities, said Lutzker. Ten of the women involved in the project were involved in the project.

The center provides temporary shelter to women in need. The center offers a place for women to meet, as an information and referral source. The center also initiates programs to secure and enhance the quality of life for women.

The center is holding several special events in commemoration of Anthony's birthday. Speakers from the center will tell students in 10 Jackson County elementary and high schools about Anthony's life. Joyce Webb, president of the Women's Center Board, will speak about Anthony in short spots to be broadcast by local radio stations at various times throughout the week.

Reports get makeovers

By John Cunniff

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) -- The latest in corporate fashion is done up in black and white and muted gray, reflecting, as one designer put it, "more subdued feelings appropriate in these rough times.

Directness, frankness and clarity of communications are among the qualities sought this way, said William Plum, who advises corporations on how to best to style and produce their annual reports.

Annual reports, have grown more sophisticated in the past 20 years, after having spent more time and effort to develop collections of financial data preferred by the chairman's letter and promise of bonds to come.

They convey an image as well as numbers, and if you study the image projected you learn much about the aura corporations seek to present.

Senior piano recital slated for Shroock

Laura Jeanne DeNeal, senior in music, will present a piano recital at 8 p.m. today in Shroock Auditorium. At 8 p.m. the recital will be open to the public.

Works to be presented are Beethoven's Sonata, Op. 31, No. 3," and Grieg's "Concerto in A Minor." The second number was written when Grieg was 25 years old and is the only concerto he ever wrote.

DeNeal is the daughter of Wanda Oakesy of Carbondale and Sam DeNeal of Marion.

The recital is free and open to the public.
Record-holding gymnast keeping company with the best

One year after tearing ligaments in his leg and undergoing knee surgery, Brian Babcock is going strong. After nine months of rigorous rehabilitation, Babcock returned to competition in November without any sign of weakness. This season, his last as a Saluki, he is performing at his best.

When SIUC travels to California for two meets this week, it will compete against many of the top teams in the country, including Nebraska and UCLA. It will also be a gathering of the top all-arounders in the country, of which Babcock is a member. Giving the Saluki senior the toughest test of the season so far will be Scott Johnson from Nebraska, a member of the United States World team, who scored 85.0 against Penn State. Phil Cahn, also from Nebraska and a member of the 1984 Olympic team, whose high score this season is 79.0, and Peter Viterle, the NCAA all-around champion last year, who recorded a 57.80 for his highest mark of the season. Averaging above 57 during the season, Babcock's high score, a school record 57.80, keeps him with the nation's best.

A bona fide contender for a spot on the 1984 Olympic team, Babcock holds or shares most of the SIUC gymnastics records: a 9.7 on floor exercise, 9.6 on parallel bars, 9.8 on high bar and 9.5 on pommel horse with Herb Vou. In international format of all-around competition, he reached 111.95.

According to men's gymnastics coach Bill Meade's determination on the part of the gymnast has helped him get so far, especially after injuries. "He's one of the most positive individuals I've ever coached," Meade said.

Staff Photos by Gregory Drezdzon
Winning, not promotion, draws fans

By Ken Perkins

Staff Writer

Winning may have been the only thing to football legends like Vince Lombardi but to mere mortals like Fred Huff, it's not the only thing. But it sure makes his job a lot easier.

The assistant director of men's athletics has a quick fix solution to all the commotion about the lack of bodies at St. Louis University-Catholics basketball games. And it has nothing to do with promotions in between-game, or post-game shows, uniformed bands or shorter skirts for cheerleaders.

Says Huff: "You can do all you want in promotions, but there is no substitute for success in the win-loss column. If the product isn't exciting, there is not much you can do about it. It's right. The men coaches aren't a very exciting team. They are not flashy or stylish. Their highest point producer is averaging 12.8 points per game. They are 7-14 overall 3-9 in the Missouri Valley Conference. Teams say they too want a shot at them. There are reasons for out-shows.

The St. Louis U-Catholic's attendance this year of 2,297 people per game is the smallest crowd to watch a Saluki game since Dec. 20, 1971, when 1,917 beat South Florida. Only 2,100 came out for that one. Saturday afternoon against (St. John's, on back night, where all ticket prices were one dollar. 2,100 turned out and the Salukis beat Blue Jays by 10. That's how thin has been all season for the basketball program. The Salukis rank next to last, a notch above West Texas State, in average home attendance this year with 3,071. Yet they are behind WTS in stadium capacity average because the Armario Civic Center holds only 6,000 people.

So far this season, SUU-C has filled up an average of 38 percent of the arena, which seats 10,000. Fifth largest in the conference. In that category, SUU-C is last far behind MVC colleagues.

Huff concerns.

"Sure we are very concerned," he said. "You have to be concerned about it. Budgets have to be planned, which includes ticket revenues and the business personnel had anticipated a better season."

They weren't alone. Many Saluki fans sympathized with the 1980-81 team that won only seven of 22 games and was lowest in the conference. "It's the coach," they said. "We'll be better next year.

They were disappointed last year when the Salukis went 11-16 and 7-9 in conference play. "New coach, gotta get used to players, system," they said. "We'll be better next year.

This year, however, they are angry, with the team so-called "the most improved in the nation." Now with the acquisitions of talented "red-shorts" they are saying, "Next year will be it.

Huff believes it too. I'd say we are about one or two years away from becoming a very good basketball team," he said. "Our main goal is to get a winning program and we will continue to work at it. Coach Allen Van Winkle is doing a great job and he will continue to do a good job. He'll work in his area and we'll work in ours.

Some Saluki diehards say the administration isn't pulling much weight on its side of the fence. Let us more players. Have more entertainment. Push for bigger and better support, they say.

Phooey. Without double digits in the win column, promotions of any kind will fall on deaf ears.

Says Huff: "It's not that there haven't been any promotions, but there have been. We've had Saluki Futures night and buck night as well as the presentation of a total package. Alone with that package is parking, convenience, security, people, others. We do everything we can to make it very comfortable."

Personnel at Tulsa, come to think of it, had the same problem. After averaging around 5,000 in its 9-18 season Assembly Center, Tulsa turned after Nolan Richardson brought back the exciting basketball back to Tulsa. They had two winning seasons, capturing the National Invitational Tournament in 1981 and have sold 7,000 season tickets this year.

At Bradley, Dick Versace came in five years ago and his MVC credentials include conference championships, an appearance in the NCAA Tournament, and a boost in attendance. This year they moved from the old Robertson Fieldhouse to the new Peoria Civic Center, which seats 15,401. They average 9,500. Five times this year they have sold out.

"We can't be mad at the people for not coming," said Huff.

They have been 16 sellouts since the arena's conception in 1964. Those came when SUU-C faced nationally ranked teams and when the Salukis had something to shout about. An exciting leading scorer.

Says Huff: "Individuals are factors in attracting people. They're right. A chart made up by the athletic department shows how attendance skyrocketed when they had a top-notch leading scorer. The chart also showed how attendance shot up even more when those top-notch razzle dazzles were local boys making good."

"I'd rather we had a Walt Frazier or Larry Bird and be shitty to have five players who average no more than 10 points and have a 26-1 record. The 20th team, because of that exciting individual, would draw a larger crowd," said Huff.

The athletic department isn't losing money because of the no-shows, at least not yet anyway, but they aren't making much either. But what they are losing is the respect of the fans who want a winner. Each year a "new era" seems to emerge in Saluki basketball with all new promises. With the exception of the 1975-76 season, and yes, their recruiting budget is lower than most other Valley teams.

Nevertheless, Saluki basketball fans are getting tried of some of those promises. Especially the ones that fall short on production.

Salukis jump out fast, then cruise to big win

Staff Photo by David McChesney

Char Warring goes up for two of her game-high 18 points.

By Brian Higgins

Staff Writer

Making 4 out of every 5 shots from the free throw line would seem to anyone watching play to be a better description.

"I thought we played the first half as well as any other game," said Saluki (coach) Cindy Scott after her team shot an unbelieveable 79 percent from the floor in the first half in St. Louis University-Catholics' 85-56 win over Indiana State.

"We knew if we lost we wouldn't play at home in the first round of the GCAC tournament. We've got that sewn up now. Indeed they do. The Salukis now stand at 5-2 in conference play. 16-6 overall. The record is 7-1-4 in the GCAC. 19-10 in the season."

Char Warring led SUU-C with a game-high 18 points and 12 rebounds. Linda Wilson broke her career-high for the third game in a row, netting 14 points on nine rebounds. Guard Lori Dietz paced SUU with 15.