Vehicle, Traffic Safety Committee To Close Part of Grand Avenue

Part of West Grand Avenue will be closed beginning Friday morning in preparation for future construction and eventual elimination of that part of the street.

The section of Grand to be closed is from the parking lot in front of Morris Library, west to Campus Drive, according to the Vehicle, Traffic and Safety Committee.

An agreement between the University and the city called for that part of Grand to be closed permanently when the new Mill Street opened.

In other action by the committee in a Tuesday meeting, five parking spaces on Campus Drive in front of the Arena are to be reserved for purchasers of advanced tickets for events at the Arena.

The committee approved the proposal by Bill Brown, assistant athletic director, to relieve inconveniences and traffic problems created when students or area residents drive in to buy tickets to athletic and other events.

Small barricades and signs will be put up during hours advanced tickets are sold.

The five spaces will be located on the east side of Campus Drive in front of the Arena.

The committee also agreed that for the time being students, including graduate students, may appeal their traffic tickets to Joseph F. Zaleski, assistant dean of Student Affairs.

There is presently no office to which graduate students with motor vehicles may appeal tickets.

Plans of the committee call for recommending the establishment of a traffic appeal board which would deal with undergraduate and graduate students.

The committee also approved elimination of parking along a section of Campus Drive, near the west entrance to the Technology Building.

Cars which now park there are in the route of many students walking to and from the Technology Building.

Accounting Department Receives $1,000 Grant

The Price Waterhouse Foundation has presented a $1,000 grant to the Department of Accounting.

Ralph D. Swick, department chairman, said this is the second time the department has received a $1,000 grant from the foundation.

SIU is one of several educational institutions selected by Price Waterhouse Foundation to receive money to further improve the quality of accounting education.

Swick said the funds will be used for direct financial assistance to graduate students interested in teaching careers, for research by individual faculty members, or to finance attendance at professional meetings.

To Present Paper

Jen-Ho Fang, assistant professor of geology, will present a research paper, "Crystal Structure of Manganese Metagermanate," during the annual meeting of the American Crystallographic Assn. from Jan. 24 to 28 in Atlanta, Ga. Co-author of the paper is W. D. Townes of the U. S. Army Electronics Command, Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Student Wages May Be Hiked By Law Change

By Mike Nauer

A recently-added amendment to the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 may increase the minimum wage paid to student workers while at the same time create a headache for University fiscal administrators.

Provisions of the act were recently applied to institutions such as universities and hospitals. In the past, the act affected only industries and businesses involved in interstate commerce.

Insofar as SIU employees are concerned, the act dictates that the minimum wage as of Feb. 1 should be $1 an hour with annual increases 15 cents an hour for the next five years.

At the present, all University wages meet the minimum requirements. Officials are uncertain as to whether the act applies to part-time students working under the student work program, however.

Paul Isbell, director of business affairs, said the current thinking is that students will benefit from the labor act and the first pay increase should occur Feb. 1, 1968.

Isbell said the pay increases will not be made across the board, but rather only to those workers earning less than the projected minimum wage.

On the other side of the ledger, Isbell said the act will create fiscal problems in the payment of overtime wages and the salaries paid to graduate assistants.

The amendment to the act specifies that overtime compensation will be paid at time-and-a-half for all hours worked over 44 a week during the first year, 42 during the second year and 40 during the third.

Isbell said offices such as the Registrar have peak periods at the end and beginning of quarters, and during these times employees may work as many as 60 hours a week. He said in most cases these offices do not have the budgets to pay for the added overtime hours at the time-and-a-half rate.

"Sometimes we can skirt this problem by giving the employee time off following the rush period to keep his total hours within the maximum for the straight hourly scale," Isbell said.

If the peak work load falls near the end of an accounting period, however, as is often the case with the Registrar's Office, the extra hours cannot be carried over into the following week, Isbell said.

The director of business affairs said the law was writ-

NEW DEAN AT SIU—Robert S. Hancock, left, new School of Business dean, discusses programs with marketing chairman, Paul Hoffman,

Wife, 3 Sons, Pets Coming

New Dean of Business School, Family to Find Carbondale Home

The mass confusion of moving a family will soon be accustomed sounds for Robert S. Hancock, new dean of the School of Business.

Dean Hancock, who replaces Interim Dean William McKeefer, arrived in Carbondale Jan. 3. He left his position as professor of marketing in the School of Business Administration at the University of Minnesota to take the "top seat" in SIU's School of Business office at 1008 S. Elizabeth St.

This is not the first move for Dean Hancock, who taught and lived on the University of Illinois campus before moving to Minnesota.

His wife, Ruth, and three sons should arrive in Carbondale about Feb. 3. "We plan to live 'just up the street' at 810 Elizabeth temporarily," he said, "until we decide to buy or build a house."

Besides accumulated household belongings, Dean Hancock reported that his sons—David, 14, Philip, 12, and Kenneth, 10—will be moving a menagerie of their collections. "This will include skiing and other athletic equipment. Also," he said, "the boys will bring our hunting dog—a golden retriever—and two pet cats."

Dean Hancock said the boys enjoyed various activities. "Oh yes," he said with a smile. "I've no doubt this campus will find out when they're here."

Annual Swine Day Features

Discussions on automatic liquid feeding and on artificial insemination of swine will be features of SIU's 10th annual Swine Day Feb. 10 at the School of Agriculture.

The program, sponsored by the Department of Animal Industries in cooperation with the Extension Division will begin at 9:20 a.m. in Muckelroy Auditorium of the Agriculture Building.

Robert A. Young, manager of the swine division of Tri-State Breeders Co-op in Platteville, Wis., will suggest what producers can expect from artificial insemination of swine which now is past the experimental stage. The Tri-State Co-op operates one of the largest swine insemination services in the nation.

Leroy Hanson, director of nutrition, and Oscar Rasmussen, director of the scientific analysis program for Triple F Feeds of Des Moines, Iowa, will describe the firm's automatic liquid feeding programs which is reported useable in any type of building or with a dirt-lot setup in hog production.

J.E. Burnside, SIU swine specialist, will open the day's activities with a report on Southern's new "Bacon Bin," and research in space requirements, production criteria and costs which he is directing there.

Burnside, professor of animal industries, supervised summer construction of the circular steel bin. Black, Silvans and Bryson donated the building for research and the Whirlpool Division donated eight air conditioners to provide temperature control.

At 11 a.m., William H.M. Morris, agricultural economist at Purdue University, will discuss "The Latest in European Swine Management, Housing, and Manure Disposal." Morris has made production study trips to Europe the past few years.

There will be a noon luncheon prepared by the SIU Block and Bridle Club. Tours of the SIU Swine Center will begin after the 3:30 adjournment.

Annihilating the Anonymous Anarchist Or New Year's Rap Rapped

Well now! A voice has been heard, softly wafting from the "free" student. The Local Anarchist (Ho! Ho!) outlined our problems—Loco Parentis, the cajoneness, and the Student Guide Book. Ah, what revelations, what insight, what intelligence, what a pile of dung.

This anonymous (and he says we are without cajones) diatribe is, I hope, the final chapter of the series. One's stomach is only so strong. Your voice, Anarchist, must plunge below even the lowest that has whined and cried its way onto the pages of KA. It is almost beyond belief and transcended in irresponsibility only by the editorial staff of KA, who allowed it to crawl its way into print.

I take exception not only in your arguments, although they are a bit trite after the fall term, but also in your expression. Examples follow:

1. "our benevolent and poetic Zeus"
2. "This school has become a concentration camp, a bastion of mediocrity, and a pimp of the present political-economic systems."
3. "Everybody has to fit into the big machine."
4. "Efficiency can't handle chance, and error (i.e. freedom)."
5. "When you have something in demand, you've got power."
6. "...everyone is frothing at the mouth to sell his soul for his diploma, a Mustang, and a sterile little split-level in the suburbs."
7. "...the Student Guidebook...conceived by a constipated Puritannical grandmother."

Come now, Anarchist, who's putting who on? The few examples I've listed, and the bulk of equally worthless quotes I've passed over, read like Exercise 1 in Creative Writing 100. Sophomoric is a bit advanced to describe the attempt—how about pre-freshman?

True, Dr. Morris doesn't come down to Spudnuts and lean on a cup of coffee hours, but he doesn't live on an unattainable Mount Olympus, either.

True, there are women's hours, and fewer motorbikes, but show me a Rumpus Room, or, for that matter, a beer at Auschwitz. Mediocre, perhaps, but I wonder what you'll call it after you get your degree (presuming, of course, that you pass English Comp. 101). A pimp of the present political-economic systems—nice alliteration, but hardly valid. SIU isn't trying to sell my country to me, fella, I was sold a long time ago. Call that what you will, it's neither a blind purchase nor a mandatory one.

"Everybody has to fit into the big machine." Really! I think your copy of 1984 is overdue at the library. While you're on your way across campus, why not stop in at the Registrar's office and turn in your ID card, Anarchist banner, and Alan Ginsberg anthology; or would you rather stick around a while and get greased up to fit into the "big machine"? What's that? I thought so. You can get your advisement appointment for next term this week.

Numbers 4 and 5 of your quotes sound good (plagiarized maybe?) but what do they mean? What's the relation between efficiency and freedom? I don't understand, but then, I'm not alone, am I? Now about this "something in demand" we possess that gives us power. Enlighten me, what is it? Your avid followers are both waiting for your answer.

Though I doubt it, "Everyone" might be "frothing at the mouth" to graduate to buy a car and a house. "Everyone" is a lot of people, and some like country living and Chevrolets. Presuming again that you graduate, I'll bet a dollar to a donut (Spudnut?) that you make the dash to the Ford dealer and real estate man as fast as any of us. Yeh! Things like that really happen, even to correspondence course students of Mario Savoi's Best Unrest in the West Undergrad Training Corps.

Finally, conception of anything, even a guidebook, by a "constipated, puritannical grandmother" is a rather stuffy, unpleasant thought as well as being physically and spiritually impossible. However, I think it does show an interesting, diametric contrast to your creative talents. I refer again and finally to your essay, seemingly the product of a whining young man suffering from an overdose of Ex-lax.

Quit puttin' me on!
Charles E. Heisler

(Editor's note: We must say that we enjoyed Mr. Heisler's quotations).

The Professionals Are Coming

On December 30th, Paul Mann, who recently appeared in the Southern Players' production of RAINBOW TERRACE, showed up again at the Speech Association of America and Educational Theatre Association Joint Convention in Chicago. The program announced that Mr. Mann would speak on "American Acting." Unfortunately, he was not prepared, giving some lame excuse that he thought he was supposed to speak on "Polish Acting." Difficult as it may seem to confuse the two subjects, it was not totally unexpected for those from SIU who were acquainted with Mr. Mann's delinquency in preparing his lines for the play.

By way of a strange compromise, Mr. Mann attempted to win his audience with invective by embarking on a rambling tirade against the sorry state of university theatre training programs in the United States. He extended his attack to the teaching profession in general; he denigrated the scholarship of the Ph.D. degree; he accused educators of being generally unqualified to teach; and, he questioned the integrity of many who publish the results of their studies. In concluding, Mr. Mann claimed that he was in educational theatre while university people merely represented "the backwash of show business."

What are Mr. Mann's qualifications as an evaluator of the American university? Well, he claims to have taken a year's leave of absence from the Lincoln Repertory Centre in New York to explore the educational theatre. Actually, he spent a few weeks at SIU, rarely coming on campus except for rehearsals during which he set up cliques and pitted one group of students against another. After a rest in New York, he will be going to Edwardsville for a few more weeks to direct a play. Later in the year he will be going to Toronto and then to Arena Stage in Washington, D.C. This hardly seems adequate opportunity to study and understand the worth of all the universities in the nation. As sole proof to support the assertion that there are no good drama schools in this country, Mr. Mann announced that he had discovered a student at Edwardsville who did not recognize the names of Paul Mann and Alfred Lunt. (Now I ask you...)

Let's face it. Paul Mann is looking for a job. Like everyone else in this affluent society which presently enjoys its lowest unemployment rate, the "professionals" are also experiencing the "I want - your - job" syndrome. And what better job can a "professional" desire than security and glamor of a university position in the ambience of new buildings? However, they seem to think that they will be accepted if they ridicule the institution, its methods and its traditions. No matter how interesting this concept may appear to some, in the end it only creates frustration and prevents harmony.

The point seems to be that while educational theatre can be enhanced by professional contacts, there needs to be judicious care taken in selecting and limiting the relationship. A university drama school is not a conservatory; it is an integral part of a liberal arts institution whose unique and splendid characteristic is that it exists primarily for the student. A professional institution exists primarily for the aggrandizement of the professional.

Thus, I submit that if anything represents the "backwash of show business" it is the Lincoln Centre whose acting program was directed by Mr. Mann. Having found itself unable to develop adequate actors, Lincoln Centre now imports professionals for each show. Many of its best actors received their basic training in universities across the country. The failure of Lincoln Centre needs no reiteration in a university setting.

Charles Gattnig, Jr.

Comes now the Post-Dispatch with a whole fist full of giddy editorial notions concerning the true significance of Red China's current moon madness, and demands on the basis of its discoveries that a "great many supposedly self-evident truths about China" be revised.

For instance: We have long considered Mao to be the "invulnerable leader of a monolithic party which exerted control over every aspect of Chinese life," haven't we? Well, um, And up til now, wasn't he? Well, um...er... yes. But now we must face up to the brand new fact that there is a "possibility that he may in fact represent a highly personal minority waging a desperate struggle for survival."

Hold the phone. Isn't that precisely the fact we have been facing up to for lo these many years, in the very teeth of frantic Post exhortations to the contrary? Hasn't it been the Post-Dispatches and New York Times' of the country which have been insisting that Mao did not, in fact, represent the unwelcome rule of a highly personal minority, but rather represented the rule of a man who, like Ho Chi Minh, ruled as the sainted leader of a glorious national revolution which had driven out the evil Chiang and put food into the starving bellies of little children, ruled as a man beloved of God and C.R. Snow?

"One of the most important new facts about China is that it has gone isolationist, withdrawing into its shell as it struggles with domestic problems," pontificates the Post.

Well, if one withdraws into his shell by sending ambassadors to Africa in order to remark about the ripeness of revolutionary prospects there; if one goes into isolation by massing troops on the Soviet border, offering volunteers to N. Vietnam, instigating coup d'etat's in Indonesia, putting down revolts in Tibet, infiltrating arms into Thailand, invading India, and offering moral and material aid to Pakistan while Pakistan and India are at war—pray, what happens when a nation goes internationalist? (The UN votes mandatory sanctions against her, maybe?)

"Quite clearly a great many...notions about Red China will have to be revised." To say the least.

Phil Weber

The Daily Egyptian COULD Be A Great Student Newspaper

Many college newspapers are good. Some are great. The Daily Egyptian is difficult to classify.

The reason for that difficulty is this: the Daily Egyptian is in no sense a student newspaper. It is a laboratory workshop for the Journalism Department, and is not intended to represent, support, or forward the student viewpoint on matters of concern to the student body.

From the standpoint of the Journalism Department, the Daily Egyptian may be a great newspaper. From the standpoint of the Administration, who desire service to the entire University community and the area, as well as P.R., the Daily Egyptian may be a great newspaper.

From the standpoint of a student, the Daily Egyptian is not a great newspaper. It is probably not even a good one. This author was once challenged by a member of the Egyptian staff to tabulate the amount of space given in the Egyptian to articles of interest and concern to students and compare it to space directed toward other segments of the University and the area. Any student who does this may be justifiably chagrined to know that student activity fees finance the operation of the paper to the same extent as does the Administration (and the faculty gives no support.)

Granting the apparent purpose of the Daily Egyptian, and given the power structure of the University, this situation results. Yet some degree of blame may be laid on the Editorial Conference of the paper. It was demonstrated last quarter that student writers have a certain degree of latitude when composing editorials. Many were blatantly critical of Administration policies and procedures.

But something was lacking: the Daily Egyptian stirred no controversy—it was even upstaged by the Alestle of the Edwardsville campus.

There are two methods available to the Egyptian whereby it might enliven the campus: 1) crusade; 2) creation.

The critical editorials mentioned above were very good, but were dismally ineffective because they were forgotten by the Administration, by the students, and by the Egyptian staff. Rather than attacking every Administration blunder, and every questionable policy, the Editorial Conference should establish a limited number of goals, and try to achieve those goals within a quarter or a year. A series of articles, followed by some strong editorials, might provide a stimulus toward change. It might also generate a good deal of interest in the Egyptian among the students, to the benefit of all.

In addition to this, the staff should diligently seek out news (instead of waiting for bulletins, newsletters, releases, etc.) and create items of interest to the University community. Insofar as it may do so without irreparably damaging the institution, it should publicly expose any discrepancies it may find in, say, Administrative dealings. And it certainly should not limit itself to attacking the Administration, faculty findings and Student Government mismanagements should be prime targets for exposure.

The Daily Egyptian can play an extremely useful and constructive role in the University, even bound as it is by its structure. By concentrating on specific areas of concern, with the purpose of effecting change, and by exposing unethical or illegal practices within the University, with the purpose of correcting those situations, it could become a center of controversy, a vehicle a change, a great college newspaper.

Philosophy and Goals Behind the 'Free School'

In a brief letter I would like to explain the reason for the philosophy behind and the goals of the "Free School." Most basically, it is an attempt to create a "different" learning situation than presently exists. The "Free School" seeks to replace the large lecture hall with the small discussion groups, eliminate grades, and emphasize individual initiative.

The basic reason for the "Free School" is the present situation. That is to say, the present situation does not offer to any great degree any opportunity for earnest and lively discussion of many of the greatest concerns of students. The large lecture halls, the exam system, and the stress on grades leads to a very narrow type of education. Regurgitation of facts may have its place, training for certain endeavors may be needed in life, but it should also be clear that we need honest and intense personal involvement in the issues that concern us.

This need is essentially inherent in any true or meaningful attempt to educate oneself. Education must mean individual grasping of knowledge (as the student sees it) and not simply the receiving of what another considers important. Foremost among the motives for true learning is concern and interest, not grade pressure. The grade system may force people to memorize, but education should help people think. One may make A's by memorizing all facts given out in Sociology and Anthropology courses, but if he still hates Negroes (or whites) because of their skin color then those courses were pretty pointless. Education demands not a giver-receiver relationship, but rather a participant-participant relationship. The philosophy of the "Free School" is personal involvement for personal meaning.

Essentially the, the goals of the "Free School" are inherent in its philosophy. It will attempt to offer small discussion situations in which students and interested faculty members may discuss their common concerns. In terms of short range and more material goals the "Free School" will attempt to gain a permanent building on campus to house its classes, a group of faculty members who support the extracurricular-type programming the "Free School" offers, and university credit for regular participants in the "Free School" classes. In short, our goal is to create something beneficial.

We do hope to attain our goal of benefitting students by offering this "different" approach. It is obvious that many students are frustrated with the present system. We invite all who are frustrated and all who aren't to join in this initiative in education. Formal education must be something besides what a good many students now consider the "worst" part of going to college.

KA Hails Morris' Athletic Policy

We feel at this time the President of SIU, Dr. Delyte Morris, deserves congratulations for his policy concerning intercollegiate athletics.

Southern Illinois University maintains intercollegiate athletics under the Department of Physical Education. Unlike many of the "big time" universities, SIU does not maintain a special department of athletics. Last year Dr. Morris stressed the athletic program here as part of an educational process that should not be turned into a "semi-pro" athletic department. The primary purpose of the entire curriculum should be supplying elementary and secondary schools with educated men and women for their physical education departments.

Last year at this time there was a great deal of debate on whether or not there should be 150 new "full ride" grants-in-aid for athletics. At that time we at KA supported Dr. Morris in his stand against such a program.

It seems that this year both the football team, which was rebuilding, and our basketball team have proven that athletes do not have to be purchased as they are presently at the University of Illinois. With a good physical education department, some of the best coaches in the nation, a limited number of NCAA-type grants-in-aid, and teams of inspired STUDENTS, SIU is truly—Number ONE.

Mr. Reagan and Economy

The current dispute over the budget of the University of California is one of the methods in which movie star Ronald Reagan has chosen to attack his political enemies—the New Left.

In typical Hollywood fashion he has covered his budget reductions with a number of stage prop rationales. Among these props are -- more students should earn their way and perhaps too many young people are going to college because it is free. To do away with such juvenile behavior and at the same time Ronald proposes to initiate a $400 tuition charge (students presently pay $275 a year in various fees) and also to liquidate a $22 million contingency fund (from it have come such wasteful appropriations as the original $25,000 financing of the cyclotron experiments of Ernest O. Lawrence, which won him a Nobel Prize and contributed vitally to atomic research.)

Of course, this isn't too big a price to pay to get rid of those long-haired intellectual types who are agitating for some fuzzy-headed notions of freedom.

I guess Ronald figures that if the cost of college increases, all the radicals who are serious about their education will have to save the money they usually spend on pot and LSD in order to attend the school. Without these "artificial" stimulants they will again become sheep. They will forget about social and moral challenges facing their generation and again submit their minds and bodies to the diploma mill.

$5 Billion Increase in Defense Budget Projected by President

WASHINGTON (AP) President Johnson said Tuesday next year's defense Budget would top $73 billion--an increase of about $5 billion over the current level.

Johnson, meeting with newsmen in his office, also disclosed that military outlays in the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, would be increased by $9.4 billion under a supplemental appropriations request he will soon send to Congress.

The President previously had said the spending impact of the supplemental request in the current year would range between $9 billion and $10 billion.

Johnson summoned reporters to his office to brief them on administration efforts to hold down the budget deficit by postponing, deferring or stretching out programs authorized by Congress. He said he hoped to pare actual spending in the current year by $3 billion by holding up outlays for a broad range of projects involving an eventual total of $5.3 billion.

The chief executive, who had just conferred with Budget Director Charles L. Schultz, said he also was considering postponing $400 million additional in highway projects. He had announced earlier that there would be a stretch-out in spending $1.1 billion of road money.

Johnson also disclosed that the administration already was planning a variety of programs aimed at least partly at minimizing the economic impact should the war in Vietnam end abruptly.

For example, he said, he will ask Congress to authorize about $1 billion for defense facilities. Johnson added that he would not actually ask for appropriations to finance such work except in case of need or should the troops return from Vietnam and larger unemployment result.

Slum Abatement Program Slated By Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) - Twenty-four Senate Republicans signed a statement Tuesday proposing federal guarantees for private development operations to erase big city slums.

Promoted by Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and endorsed by minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, this program was offered as an alternative to what the signers said was President Johnson's failure to propose any new approaches to urban problems.

Johnson said in his State of the Union message he intends to push his model cities program. He proposed calling upon "the enormous resources and strength of private enterprise must be brought to bear against the many-faceted problem of the slum."

The government's role, they said, should "emphasize reinforcement and guarantee, rather than execution and control."

They called for a national effort to promote home ownership for the economically underprivileged but offered no proposal to accomplish this.

Johnson announced he also would send his new budget to Congress Jan. 24 and would submit his annual economic report Jan. 26 "unless we have something unforeseen develop."

In his State of the Union message last week, Johnson promised Congress a special report on Vietnam. Asked when this report would be submitted--and if it would include the request for supplemental defense appropriations--the President said he had no schedule for submission of special messages of this kind.

Sometimes, he said, a tentative schedule must be changed, and "I think it's bad to schedule and promise something and miss it."

In response to a question, Johnson said his proposal for a six per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes had been recommended by Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board, Chairman Gardner Ackley of the Council of Economic Advisors, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Commerce John T. Conner.

Johnson disclosed also that he and his principal economic and fiscal advisors had discussed the question of tax increases and an administration plan for increased Social Security benefits at a secret meeting here Dec. 12 with Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee and Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., of the Senate Finance Committee. The President said the session had lasted all afternoon.

Johnson said "no one wants a tax bill unless it is in the national interest." He said he believes his proposal fits that requirement, and "it won't require much sacrifice from anybody."

In addition to delays in highway spending, Johnson said the administration has no plan at the moment to release $750 million made available by Congress for use by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board to expand mortgage credit. He noted $250 million of such funds already had been released.

Communication Satellites Ready For Launching in Florida Today

CAPE KENNEDY (AP)--A might Titan 3 rocket aims spaceward today to ring the earth's equator with eight military communications satellites needed to speed messages "where the action is," including Vietnam.

The triple-barreled booster--mightiest rocket in the Defense Department's arsenal--will valuet skyward at 9 a.m. EST today on an acrobatic, six-hour flight. The eight switchboard satellites will spring loose shortly after 3 p.m. and begin slowly drifting globe.

The satellites will join seven identical payloads orbited last June.

With a total of 15 satellites in space, the ability of ground stations to transmit messages to other points around the world will "increase considerably," Col. Mitchell Goldenthal, commander of the Army's Satellite Communications Agency said at a news conference Tuesday.

The Defense Department already has two ground terminals in Vietnam and hopes to have the system in full, global operational use by summer to speed military messages "where the action is," Goldenthal said.

An attempt to orbit eight similar satellites failed last August when a glass-fiber nose cone collapsed shortly after lift-off, causing the Titan 3 rocket to bolt out of control and explode into fragments. A stronger metal nose cone has been constructed for Wednesday's launch.

Britain's Liberal Leader Jo Grimond Quits Post

LONDON (AP)--Jo Grimond quit Tuesday night as leader of the Liberal party that he rescued from near oblivion and rebuilt into a political force in Britain.

Although only 53, friends said Grimond felt the time has come to hand over leadership to a younger man to preserve the mood of youth, change and excitement that helped bring the Liberals back from the political depths.

Target Restrictions Remain, Sources Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — Informed sources said Tuesday that despite the recent bombing raids near Hanoi the Johnson administration has not lifted its restrictions on targets a few miles from the city's center.

The administration ordered a truck depot and railroad marshaling yard a few miles from Hanoi temporarily removed from the approved targets list shortly after the Dec. 13 and 14 raids that prompted controversy over civilian bombings.

Reliable sources said the restrictions are still ineffect. "I don't know of any change," said one official. "I have heard nothing."

Other informants emphasized that the restrictions are temporary and noted that the truck depot and rail yard had been hit four times within two weeks early last month.

U.S. fighter-bombers struck an oil depot at Ha Gia, 14 1/2 miles from Hanoi Monday in what was widely described as the nearest raids to the capital since the controversy. U.S. planes attacked within 40 miles of the capital Tuesday.

Defense officials pointed out, however, that U.S. bombers have staged at least four attacks within 35 miles of Hanoi since the bombing dispute, including a raid Dec. 19 at the Ha Gia oil depot.

"We've been within 30 to 40 miles of the place all the time," one source said, adding that many bombing attacks have not been reported because they were not aimed at fixed locations.

The sources also said that although U.S. planes no longer are hitting targets in the immediate area of Hanoi, bombing missions are being maintained at high levels throughout the country.

Last month's attack at Ha Gia and at least three other raids were cited in the daily communique supplied by U.S. military headquarters in Saigon, the officials said.

Other sources indicated they were pleased that permission for the new attack on Ha Gia was granted by the administration. It has been reported that U.S. aircraft are not permitted to bomb within 30 miles of Hanoi without special permission of the Pentagon, State Department and White House.

The strike against the oil depot was the first attack within 30 miles of Hanoi since dispatches by Asst. Managing Editor Harrison E. Salisbury began appearing in the New York Times on Dec. 24. Some military sources have said they believe the cutback in bombing was a result of the controversy created by Communist charges.

Anti-Theft Device Sought For New Cars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is urging automobile makers to build theft-detering devices into new cars — and it may eventually seek a law to require the equipment.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Fred M. Vinson Jr. said Tuesday the government may take the mandatory course if the manufacturers do not act voluntarily. Vinson mentioned steering wheel, transmission and hood locks and more secure ignition systems, as possible theft-fighting devices.

He told the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee the Justice Department already has conferred with representatives of the major automakers.

"They appeared to be interested in the subject and working on the subject," he said.

"I've heard that for years," said Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

Dodd said the rate of automobile thievery is soaring — and close to four million cars will be stolen in the next five years unless the trend can be reversed.

"We cannot just stand helplessly by while more and more young people wreck their futures by acquiring the stigma of criminals and delinquents."

Illinois House Approves McCormick Place Study

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., (AP)—With only a smattering of "no" votes, the Illinois House adopted overwhelmingly Tuesday a resolution to create a committee to study ways in which fire-ravaged McCormick Place in Chicago can be restored.

By a 159 to 7 vote, the resolution to create a 10-member legislative committee was forwarded to the Senate for action.

Democrats and Republicans joined in approving the resolution in the face of objections by a handful of legislators that the resolution was not broad enough.

Rep. Noble Lee, R-Chicago, and Rep. Robert Mann, D-Chicago, contended the resolution should be expanded to give the committee specific authority to investigate the possibility of moving McCormick Place from its present lake front site.

Rep. William Pollack of Chicago, Republican majority whip and chief sponsor, said he did not want "to clutter up the resolution with additional language and urged that the committee be created quickly.

"The financial problem is No. 1," Pollack said. "We should see that McCormick Place is replaced without a great intervening gap."

Lee said many Chicagoans are concerned about the dwindling lake front, and the fire at McCormick Place Monday gives Illinois a chance to "review all aspects" of the convention center.

The resolution said McCormick Place "became a major factor in the economic life of Illinois by expanding our state's economy by more than $150 million yearly from out-of-state sources."

Republicans named to the committee are Reps. Jack Walker of Lansing, GOP majority whip, and Paul Randolph of Chicago and John Lewis of Marshall. Democrats appointed are Reps. Paul Elward of Chicago and Clyde Choate of Anna.

The fire that destroyed Chicago's huge McCormick Place was called a "$2-billion fire" for the convention business.

Bromley Testimony Continues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wayne L. Bromley, a key witness in the Bobby Baker case, testified Tuesday he got checks from Baker, which were made out to him but meant for Baker. Bromley has testified he would cash the checks, from various firms, and give the money to Baker.

Bromley, a former close friend of Baker, took the witness stand for a second day after U.S. District Court Judge Oliver Gasch announced that he had denied a defense motion to dismiss the charges against Baker because of "bugging" incidents.

Gasch gave no reason for his ruling, saying only that "the court has denied the defense motion to dismiss and to suppress."

Baker's attorney had asked that if the changes weren't dismissed, Bromley's testimony about a March 26, 1965, Los Angeles hotel meeting that was bugged be suppressed.

Bromley told about that meeting but no mention was made in court that he carried a monitoring device on his person at the time.

Bromley, 38, a Washington attorney, acknowledged under questioning that he had borrowed money from Baker, defense attorney Boris Kostelanetz sought by the questions to show that thousands of dollars Bromley turned over to Baker were repayment of loans.

Mao's Opposition Crops Up Along Soviet Border in China

TOKYO (AP) — While Mao Tse-tung's forces were hailing smashing victories in the cultural revolution, a report from Peking said Tuesday opposition had cropped up in far-off Sinkiang Province on the Soviet border.

The Peking correspondent of the newspaper Yomiuri said that since Mao's return to Peking to take personal direction of the purge the chaotic situation on the mainland seemed to have passed its peak. Radio Peking reported victory of Mao's forces in the big port of Shanghai.

But the newspaper Asahi in a Peking dispatch said wall posters told of opposition to Mao in Sinkiang that had spread to the army.

The posters reported that pro-Mao forces held demonstrations and sit-down strikes against "bourgeois reactionary forces" in Urumchi, the provincial capital of what the Red Chinese call the Sinkiang-Uighur Autonomous Region.

The demonstrations came after Ying Sheng, deputy commander of the army corps in Urumchi, rejected demands of Red Guards and revolutionary students Dec. 18. The wall posters did not say what the demands were.

In Sinkiang's Kashgar, a city near the Soviet border, supporters of President Liu Shao-chi, Mao's chief antagonist, encircled Red Guard headquarters Dec. 29 and there was a clash in which 20 persons were injured, the wall posters reported.

Mao was reported last week to have returned to Peking, apparently from Shanghai, to take personal charge again of the cultural revolution. But Japanese correspondents said he had not appeared publicly.

This may have touched off rumors in the big south China city of Canton that the party chairman had died. Chinese arriving in Hong Kong said Red Guards moved through the streets in trucks to deny the rumors.

Weekly Paper Makes Debut On Thursday

The Carbondale Reporter, an eight page weekly "shopper", will be delivered to the homes of residents and mailed to rural route boxes on Thursday.

The newspaper-sized publication, to be printed in the plant of the DuQuoin Call, will contain seven pages of advertising and one page of local news, according to SIU journalism student Richard Livert, news editor.

Livert said the paper will arrive in Carbondale about 2 p.m. Thursday and will also be available at the newsstand at the corner of Illinois Avenue and Main Street. Livert said 9,000 copies will be printed.

Livert said the suspension of publication of the Southern Illinoisan because of a strike by printers and pressmen undoubtedly had something to do with the decision to begin publication of the Reporter.

He said the weekly will continue to publish when the strike against the Southern Illinoisan is settled. The Reporter will be distributed free of charge for a limited time, Livert said. He would give no specific date.

Owners of the new paper are Bill Frick and William Ridley. Frick is managing editor and Ridley advertising manager.

A mimeographed publication, the Carbondale Newsette, was started Jan. 6 by the Carbondale Jaycees. According to the publication, it is a community service project.

A 7 inch by 8 1/2 inch publication, the Newsette contains advertising, news bulletins and Jaycee news.

Banks Say JFK Coins Still Scarce

Coin shortage in Carbondale? Except for half dollars, it seems to be over, in the opinion of three bankers in the city.

Half dollars are still rare, and people appear to be hoarding Kennedy half dollars, the representatives said.

Melvin E. Lipe, assistant cashier at Carbondale National Bank, said the public and the banks have adjusted to the overall coin shortage of a year ago but are holding back 50 cent pieces. Lipe said that "close to 600 million halves were minted during the past year" but were snapped up by people as soon as the banks got them.

Hoarding Kennedy halves is a way that people have of "putting a little back" in the opinion of George Watson, assistant cashier at First National Bank of Carbondale. He said the bank has no trouble with the supply of other coinage.

"You just don't see a half anymore," commented Dean Bittle, cashier at University Bank. He said much of the bank's coinage comes from several vending machine accounts. Bittle said the Federal Reserve Bank rarely sends any half-dollars to the bank.

by the University, is one of a dozen donations by the firm to universities in the country. Looking on are Julian Lauchner, dean of the School of Technology, far left, and Steve Richardson, SIU placement consultant, right.

Dinner to Open YMCA Campaign

After many months of preparation the Jackson County YMCA Building Campaign will be launched Tuesday at an opening dinner rally.

The dinner will begin at 6:30 P.M. at the University Center Ballroom.

More than 300 volunteer workers of this campaign will attend the dinner. Dr. David F. Rendleman, president and general co-chairman, will preside. He will make a brief presentation of organizational history of the Jackson County YMCA and be in charge of remarks and responses. Martin Kirby will issue "A Challenge From the Youth of Jackson County". John W. Stotlar, general co-chairman, will respond.

James Zimmer will be master of ceremonies for a sales skit on "The Job Ahead and How To Do It". He will be assisted by Mrs. Robert C. Richardson, W.H. Whitson and Dr. Thomas Clark.

The campaign dinner will be served on a no-host basis with no set price for the meal. At the close of the meeting, participants will be invited to "pitch-in-tubs", placed at the doors, what they wish, to defray the cost of the dinner. This "pitch-in-tub" plan enables the YMCA to quite honestly say that campaign volunteers not only give freely of their time, shoe leather, and vehicle gasoline, but also share the cost of meals; meaning, that the maximum amount of the contributors' dollars are used for the purpose intended.

The building campaign goal is $472,990 for the proposed building. Facilities included in the building will include a year-round swimming pool; a health club; adequate locker rooms for men, women, girls and boys; a youth area to serve high school youth; rooms to be used for clubs and groups; a multi-purpose room to be used by "Y" and community groups. All of these facilities are planned to serve the entire family.

Wrong—Way Drivers

City to Ask Police To Patrol Mill St.

Carbondale police will be asked to patrol Mill Street more frequently to guard against motorists traveling the wrong way in traffic, according to William C. Norman, Carbondale city manager.

Norman said signs warning against wrong-way driving have been erected on Mill, which was recently opened as a four-lane street from Oakland to University.

Complaints have been made to the city and to the Daily Egyptian that motorists are crossing from the westbound lane into the eastbound lane and traveling up to a half-block to turn onto Campus Drive.

There is no crossover break in the concrete median at the entrance to Campus Drive. Norman said it is his understanding that plans have been made to relocate the Campus Drive entrance in the future, accounting for the lack of a break in the median.

City Councilman A.E. Ramsey reported at the Council meeting Monday night that the Central Illinois Public Service Co. may begin installing mercury vapor lights on Mill Street on a limited basis next week.

Norman reported Friday that a shortage of materials is delaying installation of the lights.

ALTON DAVIS

Jaycee Chapter

SIU Jamaican Student Hopes To Start Group in Hometown

An SIU student from Jamaica has become an active member of the Carbondale Jaycees because he thinks the experience will help him to establish a Jaycee chapter in his hometown of Spanish Town.

"My experience now will be valuable in achieving this goal," Alton Davis said.

Davis, a junior majoring in industrial technology, joined the Carbondale chapter in December and is now busy helping promote National Jaycee Week which began Sunday and continues through Saturday.

He said one of the highlights of the week for the Carbondale Jaycees will be the Jaycee Week Banquet Friday at the LBJ Restaurant.

Davis became interested in the local chapter through Charles Gray, counselor at the student employment office.

Davis said he is "really impressed" with the progress the Jaycees are making in Carbondale and that when he returns to Jamaica he wants to be involved in community affairs.

He said participation in the Jaycees helps a person in public speaking and working with people.

Davis graduated in June, 1965, from VTI with an associate degree in building construction technology. He worked for a boat construction firm in Weehaken, N. J., before returning to SIU in June, 1966. Davis and his wife Sandra have one son and live at Southern Hills.

SIU Baptist Cleric Receives Editorship

The Rev. Robert Fuson Jr., director of the Baptist Student Center at Southern Illinois University, has been named interim editor of the Illinois Baptist State Association newspaper, Illinois Baptist, filling the vacancy created by the resignation of the Rev. L. H. Moore.

The Rev. Moore resigned to become editor of the Ohio Baptist Messenger, the newspaper of the Ohio Baptist State Convention.

A graduate of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky., the Rev. Fuson earned a bachelor's degree in liberal arts from SIU in 1950. He has served two terms as a member of the board of directors of the Illinois Baptist State Association and was secretary of the board and its executive committee.

Student Bus Schedules Revised

The University bus schedules and routes have been changed this quarter to meet student needs.

William Gard, student supervisor for Auxiliary Enterprises, conducted a survey which showed that the number of bus riders has tripled since last year. The survey also showed that the largest number of riders comes from University City and Small Group Housing.

As a result of this survey, Gard said four buses an hour will cover University City and three buses an hour will cover Small Group Housing.

"All other areas will have one bus an hour. There are no areas being excluded this time that were included last fall," Gard continued.

He said all buses will start their runs from the University Center and it will still cost five cents a person.

Buses will now be using streets with "fast moving traffic" in order to cover living areas more frequently, Gard said.

The bus change was coordinated by the Student Government, Auxiliary Enterprises and other University officials.

The University bus service is financed by the University, the Student Government and the fare receipts.

Detailed bus routes and schedules are now available at the information desk at the University Center.

Edwardsville Students to Vote On Name Change for Atleste

SIU students at Edwardsville will vote Monday to select either Aleste or Spectator as the name for their campus newspaper. L. Dale Armstrong, editor of the Aleste, said.

An election was held Jan. 13 to narrow the list of names suggested for the paper. Included in that list were Observer, Cougar Chronicle, SIU Times and Southern Journal, along with Aleste and Spectator.

In the voting last Friday, Aleste received the largest number of votes at 300, with Spectator receiving 117. Cougar Chronicle received 111 and the remaining three, less than 50 each.

BeMiller Receives Grant Fifth Year

James N. BeMiller, associate professor of chemistry, has been awarded a $7,000 research grant this year from the Corn Industries Research Foundation.

This is BeMiller's fifth year to receive the grant to continue his research program on the acid-catalyzed hydrolysis of starch. His study provides basic information about what happens when starch is treated with acid to make pancake syrup, liquid sugar for soft drinks, postage stamp adhesives and other products.

After the voting Monday, the name selected will be sent to the Campus Senate and from there through the administrative channels for final approval.

SIU Swimmers Meet Cincinnati Bearcats

The Saluki swimmers, following a week off from dual meet competition, will return to the waters Saturday to meet the Cincinnati Bearcats in Cincinnati.

The Bearcats are the defending Missouri Valley conference swimming champions and have a solid team back for this season. They are expected to be strong in the backstroke and the freestyle.

Coach Ray Essick hints there may be some lineup changes for this meet for the Salukis. "I am going to make some adjustments in our squad to fill wholes that we have had," said Essick.

Essick plans to go with Scott Conkel in the 1,000-yard freestyle and will use Don Shaffer, Reinhardt Westreider, Ed Mossotti and Conkel in the freestyle relay.

"I think this combination will be our best going into the national finals and I want to give them a chance to work together in a meet," said Essick.

Kimo Miles is expected to work in the 200-yard freestyle Saturday and Essick is going to give two juniors, Eric Jones and Phil Tracey, a chance at starting with the varsity.

Essick cited the work of Herb Marquand in the breaststroke as being a pleasant surprise. The Salukis lost two of their star breaststrokers on grades.

Diving has bolstered the team this year. George Morley and Mike Morrissy came through with first and second place finishes in the Oklahoma meet.

"I hope the divers continue to give us the same effort. They could be the big factor in a successful dual meet season," said Essick.

Saluki Gymnasts Will Host Michigan State On Saturday Night

By Bill Kindt

There seems to be no rest for Coach Bill Meade and his Saluki gymnastics squad. After defeating Iowa State, last year's No. 4 finisher in the NCAA finals, the Salukis deserve a breather.

They won't get it. The Salukis will play host to the Michigan State Spartans Saturday night at the Arena. The Spartans, third in the NCAA last season, are expected to field another strong contender for the national title.

In fact, ever since Coach George Szypula formed a gymnastics team at East Lansing, the Spartans have been in the thick of things. Szypula took the head coaching job in 1947 and has a won-lost record of 103-53-5 for 19 seasons. Included in this record is a tie for the 1958 NCAA championship.

Last season his charges had a dual meet record of 8-0 and were second in the Big Ten to Michigan. Szypula has eight returning lettermen, including the NCAA rings champion and the Big Ten champions in rings, all-around floor exercise and side horse, to build form.

Heading the list of returnees is Ed Gunny who was the NCAA still rings champ last season. A personal battle between Gunny and SIU's Fred Dennis looms as a great possibility.

Ron Aure is the Captain of the 1967 Spartans. Aure is a two-year letterman who placed third in the Big Ten floor exercise last season.

Dave Croft is expected to provide the Spartans with depth in the still rings. Croft was the Big Ten champion last season in the rings and is expected to battle teammate Gunny for the NCAA championship this season.

Dave Thor is the defending Big Ten champion in the all-around and will provide SIU's Dennis with another battle. En route to his all-around championship, Thor took individual Big Ten titles in floor exercise and side horse and placed second in the long horse vault. Last season, Thor placed third in the all-around at the NCAA.

The sophomore to watch is Toby Towson who hails from Blue Mound, Ill. Towson is the Amateur Athletic Union's floor exercise champion and he won the 1966 Midwest Open floor exercise championship in his collegiate debut.

Coach Bill Meade ranks the floor exercise, the still rings and the long horse as the most outstanding events for the Spartans.

"Dave Thor is one of the most outstanding all-around men in the country and will be a great test for Fred Dennis," said Meade.

"There should be some real pressure going into the still rings event since it is the last event in the meet and they have such top individual performers," he continued.

Thor ranks number three in the nation in the all-around with an average 53.60 per meet. Rick Tucker, who is sidelined with injuries, ranks ninth in the nation with an average score of 51.20.

Paul Mayer of SIU is ranked second in floor exercise with State's Bill Diggins ranked fifth. Thor is No. 8 in the side horse in the nation, Saluki Dale Hardt is ranked first nation-wide in the trampoline. Tucker is considered second best in the high bar with Dennis ranking fourth nationally in that event.

Mayer also ranks No. 9 in the long horse. Ron Harstad is third and Mayer ninth in the parallel bars with Spartan Thor number five. Croft of the Spartans ranks number five nationally in the still rings.

The meet will start at 7:30 p.m. and will be followed at 9:30 p.m. by the Women's Gymnastics team meet with the Oklahoma Twisters. Tickets for this meet are on sale at the Arena Ticket Office.

COMEBACK EFFORT—SIU gymnast Fred Dennis lost the all-around event but won the high bar and still ring events against Iowa State at the Arena Saturday Night.

University of Illinois Names Gene Vance Athletic Director

CHAMPAIGN, (AP) — Gene Vance was named athletic director of scandal-shaken University of Illinois Tuesday and said that "the joy is tempered somewhat by the circumstances."

The 43-year-old former basketball "Whiz Kid of Illinois" title teams of 1942 and 1943 will take over his duties April 1.

He should find the house in fair order because the university already has financial aid irregularities involving a $21,000 slush fund. It swept five basketball and seven football players into suspension and checked head football and basketball coaches, Pete Elliott and Harry Combes, from personal recruiting activity for one year.

Big Ten action on the matter, which blew open last month as candidates were being lined up to succeed the resigned Doug Mills, still is pending. Commissioner Bill is pending. Commissioner Bill Reed said in Chicago Tuesday that he hopes conference action will come before its business meetings the first week of March in Chicago.

The NCAA also must review the case and pass judgment, but Reed said he had no inkling when this will happen. He added that it may come after Vance officially is installed in his new post.

Vance had been executive director of the Illinois Alumni Association the last six years.
