1-26-1995

The Daily Egyptian, January 26, 1995

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_January1995
Volume 80, Issue 83
Trustee takes internship: Sawyer says Kochan gave his word to resign from student government post.

By Shawnna Donovan
Daily Egyptian Reporter

The S3 health fee increase, planned for next semester, received the Undergraduate Student Government's support Wednesday night despite one senator's concerns.

The fee increase, proposed last semester by Health Services Director Terrance Buek would pay for additional health services on campus.

Three additional services include HIV testing, a new clinical psychologist, and an emergency medical vehicle to transport mental health patients from Harrisburg and a residence hall.

There has not been a health fee increase in four years, Buek said.

Armed Powell, a senior from the College of Mass Communication and Media Arts, said he realized if the proposed services will become a reality.

"Who is to say the health services will actually go through with these services?" Powell said to the senate. "We need to examine and make sure health service will go through with this." Before the senate voted, USG Vice President Carin Musik urged them to support the resolution.

The senators talked Powell's resolution that asked SIUC Student Trustee Mark Kochan to resign his position taking an internship in Chicago this semester.

Kochan said he took the internship because the opportunity came up and that it is a requirement for completing his master's of public administration degree. Kochan planned on keeping the trustee position despite his limited contact with students through voice mail and visiting the campus couple of weeks.

Earlier in the meeting, USG President El Sawyer said he had been in contact with Kochan.

"I talked with Kochan and he gave me his word he would resign," Sawyer said. "We both (student government president and me) were working on his resignation letter."

Kochan said he definitely took the internship, and now is dealing with the campus reactions.

"I'm pleased with this issue being tabled."

---

Development of Kinkaid sparks debate

By Dave Katzman
Daily Egyptian Reporter

Approximately 200 Jackson County residents and organization leaders gathered at Murphysboro High School Tuesday to express their concerns about the proposed Conservatory District under a 1993 Conservation which can transfer land is utilized for the public. The land is currently owned by the Illinois Department of Natural Resources.

The resolution was passed by the senate Wednesday night and now must go before any public facilities are built.

One of the chief complaints heard was regarding the 398 private lots in the development.

USG students would see a pay raise from plan - officials

By Amanda Estabrook
Daily Egyptian Reporter

A possible increase in the national minimum wage suggested by President Clinton in his State of the Union Address would mean more money for student employees though the effect on campus jobs depends on the different departments, SIUC officials said.

Daniel Alm, associate director for financial aid, said when the minimum wage increased in past years there was a corresponding wage money increase. This means that the amount of money the hiring department has to pay student workers decreases.

Carol Henry, the director of the budget office, said her office decides how much of a department's budget is spent on student wages. She said a minimum wage increase in past years meant the government picks up 30 percent of the other resources such as endowments or grants.

There has not been a health fee increase in four years, Buek said.

Armed Powell, a senior from the College of Mass Communication and Media Arts, said he realized if the proposed services will become a reality.

"Who is to say the health services will actually go through with these services?" Powell said to the senate. "We need to examine and make sure health service will go through with this." Before the senate voted, USG Vice President Carin Musik urged them to support the resolution.

The senators talked Powell's resolution that asked SIUC Student Trustee Mark Kochan to resign his position taking an internship in Chicago this semester.

Kochan said he took the internship because the opportunity came up and that it is a requirement for completing his master's of public administration degree. Kochan planned on keeping the trustee position despite his limited contact with students through voice mail and visiting the campus couple of weeks.

Earlier in the meeting, USG President El Sawyer said he had been in contact with Kochan.

"I talked with Kochan and he gave me his word he would resign," Sawyer said. "We both (student government president and me) were working on his resignation letter."

Kochan said he definitely took the internship, and now is dealing with the campus reactions.

"I'm pleased with this issue being tabled."

---

Clinton suggests wage hike

Students would see pay raise from plan - officials

By Aaron Butler
Daily Egyptian Reporter

A possible increase in the national minimum wage suggested by President Clinton in his State of the Union Address would mean more money for student employees though the effect on campus jobs depends on the different departments, SIUC officials said.

Daniel Alm, associate director for financial aid, said when the minimum wage increased in past years there was a corresponding wage money increase. This means that the amount of money the hiring department has to pay student workers decreases.

Carol Henry, the director of the budget office, said her office decides how much of a department's budget is spent on student wages. She said a minimum wage increase in past years meant the government picks up 30 percent of the other resources such as endowments or grants.

There has not been a health fee increase in four years, Buek said.

Armed Powell, a senior from the College of Mass Communication and Media Arts, said he realized if the proposed services will become a reality.

"Who is to say the health services will actually go through with these services?" Powell said to the senate. "We need to examine and make sure health service will go through with this." Before the senate voted, USG Vice President Carin Musik urged them to support the resolution.

The senators talked Powell's resolution that asked SIUC Student Trustee Mark Kochan to resign his position taking an internship in Chicago this semester.

Kochan said he took the internship because the opportunity came up and that it is a requirement for completing his master's of public administration degree. Kochan planned on keeping the trustee position despite his limited contact with students through voice mail and visiting the campus couple of weeks.

Earlier in the meeting, USG President El Sawyer said he had been in contact with Kochan.

"I talked with Kochan and he gave me his word he would resign," Sawyer said. "We both (student government president and me) were working on his resignation letter."

Kochan said he definitely took the internship, and now is dealing with the campus reactions.

"I'm pleased with this issue being tabled."

---

Turnout low for interviews

What if they offered a job and nobody came?

University Career Services is having trouble booking on-campus interviews with companies who are hiring, not because of lack of employer interest, but instead due to low student turnout at the interviews.

Marilyn DeTorni, assistant director of University Career Services for Education, said despite the lower number of companies conducting on-campus interviews, turnout to these interviews is surprisingly low. "It's hard to believe," she said. Sometimes we actually call students at home and ask them to come in to be interviewed, order to get enough candidates to make a visit worth an employer's time."

DeTorni said large corporations such as Commonwealth Edison, Ford Motor Company, Kmart and Kroger no longer send recruiters to SIUC, in part because of low student turnout at their interview sessions.

She said students need to realize the best time to meet a wide variety of prospective employers is while INTERVIEWS, page 5

Gus Bode

---

Football fans, city's watering holes gear up for Super Bowl bashes

By Shawnna Donovan
Daily Egyptian Reporter

Football fans, city's watering holes gear up for Super Bowl bashes - Inside, page 10

Classifieds

Sports

Opinion

Weather

Index

Comics
IGNITE YOUR FUTURE—Call SIUC Smoking OPENTO Thursday, January 26, 1995, 7:30 p.m.
For more information, please call 453-3561

SPC Travel presents...

SPRING BREAK South Padre Island Style
$279
(Transportation not included)
- REGISTRATION DEADLINE: March 2, 1995
- High quality accommodations for 7 Fun-filled nights at Galilee Bay Condominiums.
- Great discounts, activities, special events, & promotions.
- On-location staff to serve you during your stay.
- For more info 535-3393

SPRING BREAK '95 CANCUN FROM $449
HURRY! SPACE IS LIMITED!
CALL FOR AVAILABILITY, PRICES AND OTHER BREAK DESTINATIONS

Congratulations to last year's green-card lottery winners. Federal officials have said that 200,000 of the more than 3 million applications filed in 1994 were disqualified because they were duplicates.

RESTORE BRAIN CELLS—Researchers said a year or more of work remains to be done before the substan tial injury to the brain cells to regenerate, offering hope that a treatment may eventually be found for peo tle with Parkinson’s disease and other disorders of the brain and nerves. Researchers said a year or more of work remains to be done before a substan tose a naturally occurring brain chemical called glial cell line-derived

CEASE-FIRE UNRAVELS; STARVATION POSSIBILITY—A tenuous cease-fire agreement in Bosnia continued to unravel Wednesday after international mediators failed to win Serb acceptance of a peace plan and the Bosnian government broke off talks with its enemy. At the same time, international aid workers sounded the alarm over the likely starvation of refugees in the besieged Bosnian enclave of Bihac, a scene in recent days of heavy shelling.

RUSSIAN BEAR CONTINUES TO BATTER GROZNY—Russian forces battered Chechen-held neighborhoods of Grozny Wednesday with heavy artillery, tank and rocket fire, breaking a relative lull in the fighting in Chechnya, causing new civilian casualties, and sending a new wave of refugees fleeing for their lives. The resumed barrage, which was accompanied by the vector against at least one village where Chechen resistance has been strong, appeared to herald a fresh Russian push aimed at driving the separatist rebels out of the remaining sections of Chechen capital under their control.

World
ITALIANS INSTALL 54TH POST-WAR GOVERNMENT—ROME—A de facto government of technocrats won an establishing vote of confidence in Parliament on Wednesday, simultaneously undermining Italy’s shaky reformist government and its inability to achieve 1 Prime Minister Lamberto Dini, a 63-year-old former central banker, easily won backing in the Chamber of Deputies for his nonpartisan government of economists, execu tives, lawyers and academics. It is Italy’s 35th government since World War II.

NATION
EXPERIMENTAL DRUG—A NEW TOOL FOR RESTORE BRAIN CELLS—WASHINGTON—Scientists...
Tutors
Mother-son duo brush up brains in math, English
By Sean J. Walker
DE Campus Life Editor

It is the day before a test, and college students all over campus are busy cramming, but some material in the course is still unclear. Here is where Janet and Dean Banerjee step in and lend a helping hand, or in this case, brain.

Janet and Dean, of Murphysboro, are tutors, and are willing to lend that brain to students in need, for a fee.

Janet, who holds a master’s degree in linguistics with a specialty in English as a foreign language from SIUC, specializes in tutoring international students who need help with English.

Teaching is not new to Janet. She was an instructor for the Center for English as a Second Language (CESL), located in Filer Hall, at SIUC for 10 years before turning to tutoring.

Auntie Hutcheson, the staff clerk at CESL, said the center helps international students attain a certain level of English so they can enroll at an American university.

“Basically they (international students) have never had a certain level of English proficiency before they can get into an American university, and we teach them until they reach that level,” Hutcheson said.

The course is taught in eight-week terms during the fall and spring semesters, and in six-week terms during the summer. CESL costs about $1,200 per term, which includes the instructor’s pay, a recreation center fee and a health service fee, so each term may differ in cost depending on the fees.

For other people the situation is more serious. A sublesser may mean the difference between paying rent at one or two places.

“Considering all the responsibilities of taking care of a house, it is mandatory for her to find a sublesser,” Aoun said. “If I don’t find a sublesser, I will have to find anyone.”

Aoun said the process of finding a sublesser has been more pleasant. “As of February 1, I will be paying rent at another place.” Aoun said.

Other people like Josef Hill, a sophomore in computer science from Ontario, said the process of finding a sublesser has been more difficult.

Hill said even though he has only advertised for a few days, many people have already been interested.

“I have had four or five calls, and one is coming to look at it today,” he said. “They all heard about me through word of mouth.”

Sublessee woes put many behind money 8-ball

By Dustin Coleman
Daily Egyptian Reporter

Nikia Green’s roommate decided not to attend school this semester, leaving Nikia with the responsibilities of taking care of a house. With the semester underway, Nikia, a sophomore in biology, is beginning to wonder whether or not she is going to find someone to sublease her place.

“Since my roommate moved out, I have this big house all to myself,” Green said. “I have to pay all of the rent by myself.”

Green said she has not received any serious offers, and as the semester goes on it will probably be harder to find a roommate.

Everyone seems to have found a place already,” she said. “I’ll keep on advertising until I find someone, but right now it doesn’t look very good.”

For other people the situation is more serious. A sublessee may mean the difference between paying rent at one or two places.

Lorelei Aoun, a graduate from Perros, said it is mandatory for her to find a sublessee before the end of the month.

As of February 1, I will be paying rent at another place,” Aoun said. “If I can’t find a sublessee by then, I will have to pay rent at two different places.”

Aoun said the process of finding a place is even more difficult for her because of her landlord’s restrictions.

“My landlord has restrictions on who I can rent to,” she said. “That makes it hard to find anyone.”

Aoun said a different way of advertising may help her situation.

“I want to put an ad in the newspaper,” she said. “I have been using fliers but they obviously aren’t working.”

Other people like Josef Hill, a sophomore in computer science from Ontario, said the process of finding a sublessee has been more pleasant.

Hill said even though he has only advertised for a few days, many people have already been interested.

“I have had four or five calls, and one is coming to look at it today,” he said. “They all heard about me through word of mouth.”

The Daily Egyptian’s first ever Rock & Roll Poll

Hey kids, here it is again! This is your last chance to give your vote for the best and worst of rock ’n’ roll over the past year of 1994. You think Green Day is a joke, let us hear about it. You think Kiss should make a comeback, let us hear about it. You think K.D. Lang is the sexiest individual, let us hear about it. What ever you think about, let us hear about it.

It’s very simple. Grab a pen or pencil fill in the blanks with the answers. PLEASE PRINT! Turn in the Daily Egyptian Rock & Roll Poll at any of the following locations: Lentz Hall, Trueblood Hall, Grillon Hall or the Information Station in the Student Center by the elevator. If those locations are inconvenient, you can drop it off or mail it to the Daily Egyptian at Communications Building SIUC. There will be a ballot box provided, please place ballots in box. Deadline for the Rock & Roll Poll is Friday, Jan. 27, 1995.

Results will be published in the Entertainment section of the Daily Egyptian on Tuesday, Feb. 2, 1995.

BEST ARTIST:
BEST BAND:
BEST ALBUM:
BEST SINGLE:
SINGLE THAT MADE YOU PUKE:
BEST VIDEO:
VIDEO THAT MADE YOU WANT TO KICK YOUR TV:
FAVORITE BAND TO PLAY CARBONDALE:

SHOW OR PERSON MTV SHOULD GET RID OF:
MORE OVERATED ARTIST OR BAND:
WHO WILL HIT IT BIG IN 1995:
WHO WILL HIT ROCK BOTTOM IN 1995:
ARTIST OR BAND YOU NEVER WANT TO HEAR FROM IN 1995:

BIG NEW TREND:
BEST LIVE PERFORMER:

Tutors, page 14
Firm stance needed in Halloween issue

EACH YEAR, CITY AND UNIVERSITY OFFICIALS and concerned citizens come together to search for answers to problems that occur as a result of Carbondale's unique, organized street party every Halloween. Solutions are proposed and policies are implemented, but for more than 20 years, the problems have continued to grow, even though the size of the crowds has shrunk.

One solution to the illegal activity on South Illinois Avenue is enforcing existing laws. If revelers go out and vandalize property or violate city ordinances, they should be arrested and punished. Only two people were arrested and charged with mob action after cars were overturned last Halloween. The operative word here is "mob." It takes more than two people to turn a car upside down. But even if police are called and the situation is under control before police arrive, that does not excuse the two who were arrested. Any individual who is caught in the act of destroying property or breaking the law in any way should be punished to the fullest extent of the law.

Another possible solution to the problem would be to dry up the town. If they want to end Halloween, the City Council had the right idea last fall in closing the bars, but they needed to be more firm about it. Closing a few bars early and leaving the rest open just caused the crowds to spill onto the street at 10 p.m., instead of 2 a.m. If they were intent on stopping the party, the Council should have closed all the bars at 10 p.m. Thursday and kept them closed until after Halloween.

Of course, such an extreme measure would be unfair to bar owners, who would lose all their profits for the weekend. An alternative solution would be to let the bars stay open, but forbid them to sell alcohol during Halloween weekend. The problem with Halloween is not the fact that 2,000 people dressed in a festive costume gather in the middle of the road late at night. The problem is that most of those people are drunk, and drunk people tend to behave in an unpredictable, potentially dangerous manner. If the alcohol factor were taken away, Halloween would be little more than a hyperactive masquerade ball. Bars have alcohol-free "teen nights" all the time, and they don't go bankrupt. Surely local business owners would not mind serving shots of espresso rather than tequila one week instead of the good tipping regulars. All we ask is for consideration and understanding towards our job duties. If there is a problem with your meal, do not blame us. We bring out the food when it's ready; we have no control over the taste or the time it takes. "Stiffing" your server will not make decent money. They don't care if we're tipped or not.

Tips more than simple courtesy; essential part of servers' income

"Stiffing" your server will not make your food any better the next time. The cooks make decent money. They don't care if we're tipped or not.

Liza Roscetti and Jennifer Devolder

USG appears self-serving in campaign to register voters for April elections

According to the front page of Monday's DE, it seems that the Undergraduate Student Government is very interested in registering students to vote, but only if it is in their best interest. Last week I nearly beat over backwards to use a table in the Student Center to register students from Chicago. This would enable them to have a say in the government in their permanent residence via absentee ballot. However, I was given the "run-around" when I met with a USG elected official. While the USG might deny this accusation, what reasonable explanation could they give for not sponsoring my public service to the students of SIU? I guess they think getting one of their own into office is worth denying a great number of Chicago resident students their opportunity to vote in Chicago. USG, at least give students a choice to vote in the district they feel is most important to them, rather than choosing for them.

Phillip Wyatt

A: You
B: Letter
C: Editor

Editorial Policies
Signed articles, including letters, viewpoints and other commentaries, reflect the opinions of their authors only. Unsigned editorials represent a consensus of the Daily Egyptian Board. Letters to the editor must be submitted in person to the editorial page editor, Room 1247, Communications Building. Letters should be typewritten and double spaced. All letters are subject to editing and will be limited to 300 words. Letters fewer than 250 words will be given preference for publication. Students must identify themselves by class and major, faculty members by rank and department, non-academic staff by position and department. Letters for which verification of authorship cannot be made will not be published.

How to submit a letter to the editor:
Wages

continued from page 1

budget allocation to them by student employers to pay student employees. He said this makes it hard to say how many jobs would be cut if there were an increase in the minimum wage.

Mann said a proposal is being evaluated by the Department of Labor and the minimum-wage range of student employees. Current salaries for student employees conducting an environmental impact study, though it is not required at this time.

When asked how much he projected to profit from the development, Taylor said he did not know and refused to make a calculation based on the current prime rate, since the question was irrelevant and indeterminable at this time. However, Taylor changed his original projection of $16 million in new revenue tax revenues for Jackson County to $23 million over 15 years. After that, $3 million a year would be collected.

Residents voiced concern over topics ranging from boat traffic and water quality to shoreline erosion and endangered species. Taylor repeatedly told his detractors to look at all of the hundreds of other projects that have been seen in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Hillsboro, in Montgomery County. He admitted the crowd that both residents and government were impressed with his work.

“We have put more thought and planning into the aesthetics of this project than any other project in our history,” Taylor said.

Michael Bittner, an SUIC student and former colleague to the 5th District Conservatory Congress, threatened to sue to make sure the project complied with environmental laws. He said he believes an environmental impact study would show a large impact on people and the environment.

Several supporters were concerned with the employment that would come with the project.

Interviews

continued from page 1

they are still in school.

“One time you (students) are out in the real world, you will be very surprised at how hard it is to get an interview.”

“Now is the time to look around, learn what your options are,” she said.

“You don’t have to take a job just because you do an interview, but if you don’t do the interview you may miss out on your dream job and never know.”

Although local turnout is low, nationwide recruiting is way up, according to the September 1994 National Recruiting Survey. The survey said the 1993-94 graduating class size was down for the first time in more than a decade. The recession has affected the way: employers conduct interviews from interested employers.

Mike Murray, assistant director of University Career Services for Engineering, said despite problems, interviews and job opportunities this year over last year is huge.

“Last year I felt like the Maytag repairman,” he said. “But this year the demand for tech majors is way up, as is the need for environmental engineers.”

Karen Benz, a professional placement counselor, said the recession has affected the way employers look for eligible graduates.

“This year most companies are trying to re-evaluate their recruiting strategies.”

“The whole area for recruiting has changed,” he said. “We have 40-50 percent fewer on-campus interviews from companies compared to before the recession.”

Murray said this is because employers are much more cautious about hiring new employees, making sure an individual is right for the position.

“There is a much greater demand for internships and students who are willing to work part-time and temporary positions,” he said. “Some companies want to judge the dependability and compatibility of prospective employees before hiring them to a full-time position.”

Different hiring strategies also seem evident in the way interviews are conducted,” he said. “Companies want a larger pool of people to work with before they are willing to pay for someone to move to a campus to meet possible recruits.”

Calendar

Today

PRINCE HALL MASON S SLCU will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the Saline room of the student center for their first banquet meeting of the semester. Attendance is required. For more info. call Franzi at 544-1074.

ISC will meet to discuss the International Festival at 4 p.m. in the student center basement. For more info. call Yvonne at 453-3434.

FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT Assisted Living will have an open house night at 6 p.m. in Room 108. For more info. call Darma at 529-4354.

TOPS (Take off pounds sensibly) will meet at 6:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church (University and Main). For more info. call 457-4428.

Tomorrow

SPANISH CLUB will meet in the Melange coffee shop from 4-6 p.m. For more info. call Jason at 457-3133.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST STUDENT Ministries will meet in the NW Annex auditorium at 7 p.m. For more info. call 457-2096.

GOLDEN KEY NATIONAll Hall of Fame Society will have an open house at Magpy's Grill from 7-9 p.m for more info. call Susan at 681-5167.

SOCIETY OF PROFESSIONAL Journalists will meet in room 1246, at 3 p.m. All are welcome. For more info. call Dean or Dave at 536-3311.

Upcoming

WIBD will have a general interest meeting Jan. 31 at 7 p.m. in the video lounge on the fourth floor of the student center. For more info. call Jill at 536-2361.

SPC will show “A Bronx Tale” at 7 and 9:30 p.m. on Jan. 27 & 28 in the student center auditorium. Admission is $5.

CALENDAR POLICY - The deadline for Calendar entries is Tuesday at 3 p.m. For new and updated listings, please use the Calendar Update Form, which is available in the Daily Egyptian and in the student center. All items must be typewritten and must include date, time, place, identification number of the event and the name and telephone number of the sponsor. Fee information for ticketed events is available in the Daily Egyptian, and this information should be delivered or mailed to the Daily Egyptian, 1020 S. Saline, Carbondale, IL 62901. Calendar information will be taken over the telephone.

Art Alley policies reviewed

Three-legged stool: Separate policies may conflict; study begins by center and SPC

By Kristi Debority

Daily Egyptian Reporter

The SIUC Student Center Board and Student Programming Council are both reviewing Art Alley policy and are at a crossroads of inconsistencies between the separate policies which cover what is appropriate artwork for the Student Center.

Art Alley consists of three large display cases located on the second floor of the student center.

Join Corker, director of the Student Center, as he discusses the issue.

SFC and Art Alley were under criticism last semester when they censored the art of Jay Thomson, who displayed photos of himself painted with homophobic slurs. SFC censored Thomson's work because they had not approved of some of the pieces he displayed.

The policies could contain inconsistent guidelines depending on whether the exhibit for an alley is an art display, or includes political, interactive, or philosophical displays.

"SFC guidelines put together may be inconsistent, it is approved by the board to look into if there are conflicts," Corker said.

In a memo, Corker sent to SFC he stated one of the purposes is to decide if Art Alley procedures are effective and fair in exhibit selection and process.

Corker said there is a need for clarity in the procedures used to qualify an exhibit, because SFC policy in accordance with student center policy is equally important.

Thomson said SFC is unclear on their selection policies and needs to make more of a commitment to using everybody fairly on a consistent level.

"When SFC realizes it or not, the student center is an important venue for art in Carbondale," he said. "They need to be more professional. They need to set up and follow policies."

Corker said there should be guidelines giving SFC flexibility and a consistent perspective with which to judge work submitted.

"I think they (SFC) need to preview the caliber of work and concept of the work," he said. "It does not change the fact that we have a responsibility. It is a public arena—people do walk by there, SFC has responsibilities to the public." Corker said the board needs to be more protective of individual rights and artists' rights, but should not bend over backwards for one person's feelings.

The committee will submit their review to the Student Center Board on Feb. 1.

Ted Smith, current SFC fine arts committee chair, said the review has not affected this semester.

"We are still in the planning stages. These are all corrections that we have thought of," Smith said. "There are still more coming.

"If there are inconsistencies, adjustments will be made," Corker said. "I would like adjustments approved by the latest in March."

Tutors continued from page 3

hour, and she likes to meet with the person in the student center. "In the past I used to go wherever they wanted, but now I go to the student center," she said. "It is more convenient for me, it is easier to get into the studying mode there."

"Studying in their homes is not a good atmosphere, because there are too many distractions," Janet said.

Janet said tutoring is nice, because the people come to learn. "There are highly motivated people for whatever reason, and it is nice to have someone come to me to help," she said. "They are motivated to do well, and usually do."

"I do it mainly just because I like to help," Dean said.

Unlike his mother Janet, Dean, who holds a master’s degree in math from the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana and is currently working on a master’s degree in electrical engineering at SIUC, is a math tutor.

Dean said he likes to tutor, because it helps him reinforce his knowledge of math for his new degree.

"When I first started tutoring, it was at the U of I," he said. "I started working in his math class and I learned a lot.

"I enjoy tutoring harder math classes, because that is what I need, and I get more out of it."

"Since upper-level classes is easier, Dean said, but they are the base for the upper-level classes."

"If you can't do the lower-level work, then you won't be able to do the upper-level work," he said.

Dean, who has been tutoring for six semesters, also gets people with different levels of knowledge, and, like his mother, bases his tutoring style on what they are doing.

"I make it a joint effort to solve the problem," he said.

He said people are more likely to work harder.

"Because they are so serious, I don't want to let them down, so I work harder," he said.

Dean's rates for tutoring begin at $8.50 per hour for the first hour, and $7.50 for each additional hour. He said two-hour sessions are just the right length for him and the student.

"It is a joint effort to solve the problem," he said. "I don't want to lecture and see a bunch of head-nodding," he said. "We work through some problems, and then I throw out problems for them to work and make sure they know what they are doing."

"I make it a joint effort to solve them," he said.

He said people are more likely to learn something from him, rather than their class instructor, because he is paying for it.

"Sometimes people are scared to ask questions in class, but if they are paying for it, they don't feel like asking," Dean said.

"If you want to, they don't want to let them down, so I work harder," he said.

Dean's rates for tutoring begin at $8.50 per hour for the first hour, and $7.50 for each additional hour. He said two-hour sessions are just the right length for him and the student.

"Shyner than an hour is too short to get all in, and more than two hours is too long," he said. "If we go more than two hours, people tend to get bored, or over-stuffed."
Kustra provides internships

By Stephanie Moletti

Daily Egyptian Reporter

Students have an opportunity to be paid for work at the offices of government through the 1995 Lieutenant Governor’s Fellowship and Internship Programs. Each year Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra’s office accepts applications from those interested in working in his Springfield office and another in Chicago. Two or three summer intern applicants also are selected for each office.

Kustra, a fellow in the Springfield office and fellowship coordinator for the internship programs, said that fellowships represent the chance to work with senior staff members in a variety of areas including education, community service, the environment, economic development, technology and rural affairs.

Kustra advised students gain a better understanding of the legislative process and governmental divisions.

Applications are being accepted now for both the internship and fellowship programs.

Mary Galligan, press secretary for Kustra, said with the legislative session ahead expected to be an active one, interns and fellows will be heavily involved with the legislative process.

“We have a very small staff — about 35 employees — so the fellows and interns are treated like full staff members,” Galligan said.

Galligan said those chosen for the positions in the Springfield office will concentrate on legislative concerns, while Chicago fellows will deal primarily with that office’s primary program interests, including AmeriCorps and Partnerships to End Drug Free Illinois.

Barbara Kossman, the current Chicago fellow, said she has worked to get the media involved with what Kustra is doing, helping to take the public interest away.

Kossman said she applied for the position for the experience in government.

“It’s a great opportunity to learn how the state operates,” she said. “It’s a good way to understand the workings of government and to see politics in a different light.”

Kossman said working in the office during last fall’s elections was “a little stressful and pretty eventful.”

“There was a lot of positive energy going around,” she said. “I think it kind of feeds into itself. There’s never a dull moment; it’s definitely not a stale thing.”

The fellowship program, which began in 1986, is open to July 1995 college graduates with a grade-point average between 3.0 and 4.0.

Those chosen for the position will begin work July 1. Applications are available in the lieutenant governor’s office in Springfield or by contacting the Illinois secretary of state’s office in Springfield.

Applications must be submitted by March 1.

Eco video tonight

By Dave Kalmaz

Daily Egyptian Reporter

Jan Wilder Thomas, head of the Shawnee Defense Fund, will present her video, “Last Chance At Cripps Bend,” during a speech to the Student Environmental Center tonight.

The video, 30 minutes in length, discusses hardwood logging in the Cripps Bend corridor in southern Jackson County. A 31-acre area of Cripps Bend was sold to East Perry Lumber Company of Florence, Mo., for $18,000, but a lawsuit filed by10 students majoring in government, political science or public administration, who have an interest in government and politics in a different light”, she said.

Wilder Thomas, the current Chicago fellow, said she has worked to get the media involved with what Kustra is doing, helping to take the public interest away.

Kossman said she applied for the position for the experience in government.

“It’s a great opportunity to learn how the state operates,” she said. “It’s a good way to understand the workings of government and to see politics in a different light.”

Kossman said working in the office during last fall’s elections was “a little stressful and pretty eventful.”

“There was a lot of positive energy going around,” she said. “I think it kind of feeds into itself. There’s never a dull moment; it’s definitely not a stale thing.”

The fellowship program, which began in 1986, is open to July 1995 college graduates with a grade-point average between 3.0 and 4.0.

Those chosen for the position will begin work July 1. Applications are available in the lieutenant governor’s office in Springfield or by contacting the Illinois secretary of state’s office in Springfield.

Applications must be submitted by March 1.

 Tonight Alternative Night

EVERYTHING’S A BUCK... Well Almost!

Join us Sunday for the HUGEBLOBERDI PARTY!

100 Inch L.V.'s! Free Food, Cheap Beer

See Ya!

SALUKIS VS. DRAKE

At halftime, Country Fair will throw 60 Turtle shirts into the crowd. 10 of the shirts are numbered and you could win any number of prizes, from a free trip to the MVC Tournament to free food from Country Fair. Catch a numbered shirt and you will be a winner!

Pinch Penny Pub

Live Music Tonight

Nighthawk Sunday Superbowl Party!

$12.00 Superbowl Party Package includes Domestic draft beer, speedeals, and food buffet. Food Buffet includes pizza, chill, hot dogs and more!

MUST BE 21 TO ENTER

700 E. Grand 349-3398
The world famous basketball team comes to the SIU Arena

By James J. Fares  D E Entertainment Editor

Packer up, Carbondale and start whistling 'Sweet Georgia Brown,' as the world famous Harlem Globetrotters visit SIUC to show off their dazzling dribbling and off-the-wall antics.

Certain kids in this day and age look up to the National Basketball Association for role models and find out Charles Barkley doesn't want to be their role model. Others turn to drugs and gangs. It's difficult for young ones across America to find somebody or something to look up to. Look no longer.

BBLAS:  A Broadway play about gangsters with a floating crap table and a little bit of love involved. A must see. Tickets are $18.50 & $16.50. Show runs on Sunday, Jan. 29, at 8 p.m.

Student Center

Finding Yourself  A performance lecture by Donna Blue Lachman, Artistic Director of the Blue Rider Theatre in Chicago. Tuesday, Feb. 7, 8 p.m. Ballrooms A, B, & C. $3 SIUC students, $5 General Public.

Last Laugh  Every Friday Night at 8 p.m. a stand-up comic will perform in the Big Muddy Room for just SI. January 27 to March 3.

The List

The Daily Egyptian's top five worst TV commercials:

1. MENTOS — Way too politically correct for anyone to understand.
2. TACO BELL — Horrible way to ruin a perfectly good jingle by the Beach Boys.
3. '70s PRESERVATION SOCIETY — Get John Travolta and Olivia Newton-John a commercial and things might begin to look up.
4. Old Town Liquors — Old Town man should hit the bottle. "You come and see us" line, need to go see an acting lesson.

Weekend jams

Today

Hanger 9 — MU330 (St. Louis), $2 cover, 10 p.m.

Finch Penny Pub — Night Hawk, $1 cover, 9:30 p.m.

Tres Honestos — Carney & Connelly (Blue Grass, Folk), No cover, 9:30 p.m.

Friday

Hanger 9 — New World Spirits, $3 cover, 10 p.m.

Cousins — Night Hawk (Classic Rock), $1 cover, 9:30 p.m.

FR'S — Fry Daddies, 9:30 p.m., No cover.

Saturday

Hanger 9 — New World Spirits, $3 cover, 10 p.m.

Cousins — St. Stevens Blues (Live), $1 cover, 9:30 p.m.

Finch Penny Pub — Marvin Funk, $9.30 p.m.

FR'S — Fry Daddies, 9:30 p.m., No cover.

Patty’s — Soul Dog (Alternative Rock), $3 cover, 10 p.m. Maza Zot opens.

Sunday

Cousins — St. Stevens Blues (Acoustic), 9:30 p.m. No cover.

Overheard

"Everyone in Santa Cruz looks like a deadhead! We're not responsible for every long-hair in a tie-dye." — Grateful Dead's publicist response to the Mayor of Santa Cruz complaining about deadheads eating all of the food at soup kitchens and shoplifting while biding time in between shows.

"We'll be at Ciregson, probably in a restaurant watching the game if we get a chance. I want San Francisco to win. — Nikki Gilmore, radio-television major from St. Louis.

"Staying home and watching it with friends on television. I don't care who wins." — Cheng Hung Yu, foreign language major from Taiwan.

"I want the Chargers to win. We are going to have a get-together at one of my fraternity brother's apartment. Drinks, drinks, chips, dips and BBQ. — Christopher Hild, a mechanical engineering major from Chicago.

Entertainment Briefs

Theater auditions will be held at McLeod Theatre for Langston, Serata, Equations, Pen Pal and Vincent Has a Gun and Becomes a Man on Thursday, Jan. 26 at 7 p.m. for non-majors, freshman majors and transfer students. For more information call the Department of Theater at 453-3741.

Shryock Events

Stephen Hamilton, a concert organizer and SIUC alumnus of 1970 will host a Distinguished Alumni Recital on Feb. 26 at 4 p.m. Admission is free.

Guys & Dolls  A Broadway play about gangsters with a floating crap table and a little bit of love involved. A must see. Tickets are $18.50 & $16.50. Show runs on Sunday, Jan. 29, at 8 p.m.

SIUC School of Music Faculty Concert to benefit music scholarships. $6 for the public, $3 students. Friday, Feb. 3, 8 p.m.

Student Center

Finding Yourself  A performance lecture by Donna Blue Lachman, Artistic Director of the Blue Rider Theatre in Chicago. Tuesday, Feb. 7, 8 p.m. Ballrooms A, B, & C. $3 SIUC students, $5 General Public.

Last Laugh  Every Friday Night at 8 p.m. a stand-up comic will perform in the Big Muddy Room for just SI. January 27 to March 3.

Upcoming

Harlem Globetrotters  The world famous hoops team will make a stop at the SIU Arena on Jan. 28 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are priced at $8 to 12 and available through the SIU Arena Special Events Ticket Office. Discounts available. For information, call 453-5541.

Annual Combined Faculty Exhibition of works by SIUC students in Art & Design, Cinema & Photography and Theater. Showing at the University Museum now until Feb. 26. Admission is free.

The List

The Daily Egyptian's top five worst TV commercials:

1. MENTOS — Way too politically correct for anyone to understand.
2. TACO BELL — Horrible way to ruin a perfectly good jingle by the Beach Boys.
3. '70s PRESERVATION SOCIETY — Get John Travolta and Olivia Newton-John a commercial and things might begin to look up.
4. Old Town Liquors — Old Town man should hit the bottle. "You come and see us" line, need to go see an acting lesson.

Faces on campus

What are your plans for Super Bowl Sunday? Who do you want to win?

- To party somewhere in Lewis Park. 49ers to win. — Matt Seibert, a finance major from Allison.
- To watch the game at home. 49ers to win. — Tim Walters, a concert organist and SIUC School of Music faculty.
- "I won't even realize it's on until it's over." — Pete Peterson, a communications major from Oak Park.
- The world famous basketball team will make a stop at the SIU Arena on Jan. 28 at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are priced at $8 to 12 and available through the SIU Arena Special Events Ticket Office. Discounts available. For information, call 453-5541.

Hollywood parties include food, and extra-large TV's

By James J. Fares  D E Entertainment Editor

The Super Bowl is the single largest attended sporting event in the world outside of the Indianapolis 500. Not to mention the highest rating television program of the year. The big question is: what is Carbondale to do on such a big day that is not Halloween?

What's the landscape of bars and the large amount of fraternities on campus, it shouldn't be hard to find an outlet to plug your television set into.

SUPER PARTIES, page 10

The Harlem Globetrotters

Philauser Smith College in Arkansas, Geese earned AllAmerica honors, and won Elgin Baylor and Oscar Robinson as the third trading scorer in the nation. "I grew up idolizing the Harlem Globetrotters and their incredible skill," he said.

Weekend jams

Today

Hanger 9 — MU330 (St. Louis), $2 cover, 10 p.m.

Finch Penny Pub — Night Hawk, $1 cover, 9:30 p.m.

Tres Honestos — Carney & Connelly (Blue Grass, Folk), No cover, 9:30 p.m.

Friday

Hanger 9 — New World Spirits, $3 cover, 10 p.m.

Cousins — Night Hawk (Classic Rock), $1 cover, 9:30 p.m.

FR'S — Fry Daddies, 9:30 p.m., No cover.

Saturday

Hanger 9 — New World Spirits, $3 cover, 10 p.m.

Cousins — St. Stevens Blues (Live), $1 cover, 9:30 p.m.

Finch Penny Pub — Marvin Funk, 9:30 p.m.

FR'S — Fry Daddies, 9:30 p.m., No cover.

Patty’s — Soul Dog (Alternative Rock), $3 cover, 10 p.m. Maza Zot opens.

Sunday

Cousins — St. Stevens Blues (Acoustic), 9:30 p.m. No cover.

"The weekend calendar in a bit of live events going on in Carbondale. To be included, please bring a press release detailing the event as the Daily Newsweek, Centre 215, SIUC Submission deadline is Tuesday.

Globe Trotting role models

The world famous basketball team comes to the SIU Arena.
'Guys and Dolls' grace Shryock

By Kristi Defehly

Nathan Detroit, the gambler who's only concern is finding the next crap game, is not aware that Miss Adelaide is out to make him the marrying man. Nathan Detroit and Miss Adelaide are the lead characters of the Broadway musical "Guys and Dolls," which will be performed at Shryock Auditorium Sunday at 2 p.m.

The critically acclaimed musical originally opened on Broadway on November 29, 1950. Its unique story line, thrilling stages and music score, won the musical four Tony Awards including Best Revival.

The story line, set in the fast-paced, modernized New York, intertwines the lives of two couples and their unrelated goals. One of the main leads, is Nathan Detroit, (who was played by Frank Sinatra in the 1955 movie version.) Jason Singer, who plays Nathan in the musical, said "This tour is the last professional production of Guys and Dolls, and it is the greatest musical."

This is the second national tour for the musical and will not be performed professionally for possibly another three years," Singer said.

Shryock Auditorium is located at 701 N. State St., and is accompanied by a full production company. Shryock has limited seating available with tickets selling for $10.00-$20.00.

The show starts at 7 p.m.

Cast members of 'Guys and Dolls'

"Guys and Dolls" is part of Shryock Auditorium's Celebrity Series.

"Guys and Dolls" will finish touring the country the third week of April.

Shryock has been performing for over 25 years and is the greatest production to perform there since the 1975 tour.

Classical Tans

More music, more accessible to an audience at Shryock Auditorium's Celebrity Series.

Gypsy Hayride plays debut

By Benjamin Golshahr

Dchorily

By the mythical phoenix of old, two veterans of Carbondale's music scene have risen from the ashes of the defunct band, New Minstrel Cycles.

Jayme and Lynda Killoran, the original members of NMC, have formed a new band - a duo known as Gypsy Hayride.

After four months of putting material together, they will debut Friday night at Cousin Andy's Mill Street. It's not a imitation of an existing band," Singer said.

Jayme described their sound as "having a jazzy-folky feel, but with a strong, bouncy, rhythmic drive to it. "It's almost like an old country song," she said. "We have our own style, that's for sure. We write about life - the rebellious things the band has done or is doing." Killoran said although Gypsy Hayride will bear some similarities to NMC, the band has formed a new sound.

"Since we're half the band (NMC), there will be some similarities," she said. "The old songs will be done differently and there will be many that no one's heard before."

Unlike New Minstrel Cycles, Gypsy Hayride is a more acoustic band. Hayride plays the guitar, mandolin, fiddle and harmonica, while Killoran plays an upright bass and guitar. They both sing in harmonies. Killoran said playing in coffee shops is a big change from the bars, "I just imagine we're in NMC, and we're playing in a small room and the music's loud and everybody's drinking - you have to care what you're playing, it's "play Lynyrd Skynnyard,"" in coffee shops the people are actually looking to you - you're seeing you up there. It's scary because you can't hide it," she said. "It's definitely more challenging."

Jayme said crafting the music comes easier to them than attaching lyrics.

"I think I like about the acoustic, coffee shop thing is that the music's more accessible to an audience," she said. "It's more intimate. Jayme said crafting the music comes easier to them than attaching lyrics.

"Lynda and I are great at doing the music, but finding the right lyrics is hard," she said. "We don't always agree on the lyrics..."
Super Parties

continued from page 8

with not-so-good eye sight there are four other big sister television available for the price.

Paul Robb, a junior in biochemistry, said it is ideal with friends to Sponsor Fis Eulpion to throw a Super Bowl Party.

The Super Bowl party is held at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house, open to Sig Epsilon groups around campuses. The festivities will be begin at noon and some of the specialties offered is the 127 inch mammoth television. There will also be sandwiches, subs, sodas, kitchen utensils, finger sticks and chips with dip available. Eulpion will provide entertainment in the best and most comfortable Super Bowl experience with a large TV and Beres.

Beres’ local bars will be entertaining the area with specials to entice the crowd to spend this day evening in their atmosphere.

- Pitch Penny Pub offers all an也好-cut home-made pizza buffet, chili and hot dogs for $12.

You can wash down all of these good food with all for speed rail drinks and domestic draft beers that are included in the price.

Pitch Penny Pub will be showing the big contest broadcast on TV to bring you all of the football action.

Doors open at 4 p.m.

Sides will be served
free, chili, hot dogs, chips

and popcon on to their bloody Mary special. There is no cover charge and doors open at 11 p.m.

If you are having trouble finding a place to watch the game, the Student Center will be open

The Super Bowl party is a Super Bowl XXIII at 5:10 p.m. and will be televised on ABC nation-wide.

Super Parties

continued from page 8

ball-handling maneuvers,” Geese said. “I was always initiating their sticks in the high school game my coach even told me to sit on the bench and stop

Gloose started playing for the Globetrotters when he was around ten years old, less than eleven to the team’s founder, Abe Saperstein, asking for a tryout. Gloose had opportunities to play for the Minneapolis

Globetrotters when his wife wrote more
ten letters to the team’s founder, Abe Saperstein.

Geese started playing for the Chicago Cubs. It was an excellent ball-handling skills to be able to wear the red, white and blue uniform. Geese said, “Gloose is the role models for today’s youth, and with that comes an added moral responsibility.”

Gloose is declining the invitation to the reigning "Clown Prince of Basketball," "Sweet Lou" Dunbar, who has played more than 3,400 games on six continents during the past 16 seasons.

"I’m sure we all will miss Lou,” Gloose said. "He’s the number one steals assets."

Long before the Globetrotters added a mar-
cot to their circus of activities, named Gloose. Greetings fast at SIUC, Gloose was known before the Chicago Bulls.

hard court action begins. Gloose will be included at both the games and at the looks on the court floor.

"Gloose was much a bit last season, we’ve explored the role so children can have their own official host at every game,” said Gloose about the family's involvement in the game.

to the Super Bowl experience.

There will be a post-game autograph
signing session that allows free admission
to the Super Bowl experience.

"It takes more than excellent ball-handling
maneuvers,” Geese said “I have the chance to play for the Minneapolis

Globetrotters when his wife wrote more
ten letters to the team’s founder, Abe Saperstein.

Geese started playing for the

Chicago Globals. It was an excellent ball-handling skills to be able to wear the red, white and blue uniform. Geese said, "Gloose is the role models for today’s youth, and with that comes an added moral responsibility.”

Gloose is declining the invitation to the reigning "Clown Prince of Basketball," "Sweet Lou" Dunbar, who has played more than 3,400 games on six continents during the past 16 seasons.

"I’m sure we all will miss Lou,” Gloose said. "He’s the number one steals assets."

Long before the Globetrotters added a mar-
cot to their circus of activities, named Gloose. Greetings fast at SIUC, Gloose was known before the Chicago Bulls.

hard court action begins. Gloose will be included at both the games and at the looks on the court floor.

"Gloose was much a bit last season, we’ve

explored the role so children can have their own official host at every game,” said Gloose about the family's involvement in the game.

to the Super Bowl experience.

There will be a post-game autograph
signing session that allows free admission
to the Super Bowl experience.

"It takes more than excellent ball-handling
maneuvers,” Geese said “I have the chance to play for the Minneapolis

Globetrotters when his wife wrote more
ten letters to the team’s founder, Abe Saperstein.

Geese started playing for the

Chicago Globals. It was an excellent ball-handling skills to be able to wear the red, white and blue uniform. Geese said, "Gloose is the role models for today’s youth, and with that comes an added moral responsibility.”

Gloose is declining the invitation to the reigning "Clown Prince of Basketball," "Sweet Lou" Dunbar, who has played more than 3,400 games on six continents during the past 16 seasons.

"I’m sure we all will miss Lou,” Gloose said. "He’s the number one steals assets."

Long before the Globetrotters added a mar-
cot to their circus of activities, named Gloose. Greetings fast at SIUC, Gloose was known before the Chicago Bulls.

hard court action begins. Gloose will be included at both the games and at the looks on the court floor.

"Gloose was much a bit last season, we’ve

explored the role so children can have their own official host at every game,” said Gloose about the family's involvement in the game.

to the Super Bowl experience.

There will be a post-game autograph
signing session that allows free admission
to the Super Bowl experience.

"It takes more than excellent ball-handling
maneuvers,” Geese said “I have the chance to play for the Minneapolis

Globetrotters when his wife wrote more
ten letters to the team’s founder, Abe Saperstein.

Geese started playing for the

Chicago Globals. It was an excellent ball-handling skills to be able to wear the red, white and blue uniform. Geese said, "Gloose is the role models for today’s youth, and with that comes an added moral responsibility.”

Gloose is declining the invitation to the reigning "Clown Prince of Basketball," "Sweet Lou" Dunbar, who has played more than 3,400 games on six continents during the past 16 seasons.

"I’m sure we all will miss Lou,” Gloose said. "He’s the number one steals assets."

Long before the Globetrotters added a mar-
cot to their circus of activities, named Gloose. Greetings fast at SIUC, Gloose was known before the Chicago Bulls.

hard court action begins. Gloose will be included at both the games and at the looks on the court floor.

"Gloose was much a bit last season, we’ve

explored the role so children can have their own official host at every game,” said Gloose about the family's involvement in the game.

to the Super Bowl experience.

There will be a post-game autograph
signing session that allows free admission
to the Super Bowl experience.

"It takes more than excellent ball-handling
maneuvers,” Geese said “I have the chance to play for the Minneapolis

Globetrotters when his wife wrote more
ten letters to the team’s founder, Abe Saperstein.

Geese started playing for the

Chicago Globals. It was an excellent ball-handling skills to be able to wear the red, white and blue uniform. Geese said, "Gloose is the role models for today’s youth, and with that comes an added moral responsibility.”

Gloose is declining the invitation to the reigning "Clown Prince of Basketball," "Sweet Lou" Dunbar, who has played more than 3,400 games on six continents during the past 16 seasons.

"I’m sure we all will miss Lou,” Gloose said. "He’s the number one steals assets."

Long before the Globetrotters added a mar-
cot to their circus of activities, named Gloose. Greetings fast at SIUC, Gloose was known before the Chicago Bulls.

hard court action begins. Gloose will be included at both the games and at the looks on the court floor.

"Gloose was much a bit last season, we’ve

explored the role so children can have their own official host at every game,” said Gloose about the family's involvement in the game.
RENTING FOR Summer or Fall

314 W Cherry St.
$550/
316 W Walnut
$570/
324 W Walnut
$625/
328 W Walnut
$570/
314 W York St.
$625/
316 W York St.
$550/
338 W York St.
$570/
342 W York St.
$570/
202 S St. Paul $625/
208 S St. Paul
$570/
210 S St. Paul $625/
204 E Walnut
$680/
206 E Walnut
$680/
212 E Walnut
$680/
214 E Walnut
$700/
216 E Walnut
$700/
218 E Walnut
$700/
220 E Walnut
$700/
222 E Walnut
$700/
224 E Walnut
$700/
226 E Walnut
$700/
228 E Walnut
$700/
230 E Walnut
$700/
234 E Walnut
$700/
238 E Walnut
$700/
250 E Walnut
$700/
252 E Walnut
$700/
254 E Walnut
$700/
256 E Walnut
$700/
258 E Walnut
$700/
260 E Walnut
$700/
262 E Walnut
$700/
264 E Walnut
$700/
266 E Walnut
$700/
268 E Walnut
$700/
270 E Walnut
$700/
272 E Walnut
$700/
274 E Walnut
$700/
276 E Walnut
$700/
278 E Walnut
$700/
280 E Walnut
$700/
282 E Walnut
$700/
284 E Walnut
$700/
286 E Walnut
$700/
288 E Walnut
$700/
290 E Walnut
$700/
292 E Walnut
$700/
294 E Walnut
$700/
296 E Walnut
$700/
298 E Walnut
$700/
300 E Walnut
$700/
302 E Walnut
$700/
304 E Walnut
$700/
306 E Walnut
$700/
308 E Walnut
$700/
310 E Walnut
$700/
312 E Walnut
$700/
314 E Walnut
$700/
316 E Walnut
$700/
318 E Walnut
$700/
320 E Walnut
$700/
322 E Walnut
$700/
324 E Walnut
$700/
326 E Walnut
$700/
328 E Walnut
$700/
330 E Walnut
$700/
332 E Walnut
$700/
334 E Walnut
$700/
336 E Walnut
$700/
338 E Walnut
$700/
340 E Walnut
$700/
342 E Walnut
$700/
344 E Walnut
$700/
346 E Walnut
$700/
348 E Walnut
$700/
350 E Walnut
$700/
352 E Walnut
$700/
354 E Walnut
$700/
356 E Walnut
$700/
358 E Walnut
$700/
360 E Walnut
$700/
362 E Walnut
$700/
364 E Walnut
$700/
366 E Walnut
$700/
368 E Walnut
$700/
370 E Walnut
$700/
372 E Walnut
$700/
374 E Walnut
$700/
376 E Walnut
$700/
378 E Walnut
$700/
380 E Walnut
$700/
382 E Walnut
$700/
384 E Walnut
$700/
386 E Walnut
$700/
388 E Walnut
$700/
390 E Walnut
$700/
392 E Walnut
$700/
394 E Walnut
$700/
396 E Walnut
$700/
398 E Walnut
$700/
400 E Walnut
$700/
402 E Walnut
$700/
404 E Walnut
$700/
406 E Walnut
$700/
408 E Walnut
$700/
410 E Walnut
$700/
APPLICATIONS UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE

Now Renting for Spring, Summer, & Fall Brand New 14 Wks.

- 2 blocks from campus
- Next to Wash House Laundry
- Furnished
- Owner lives on premises
- Air conditioned
- No pets

By Appointment Only- Leave Message

LEGAL SERVICES
Diverse Law 335 S.
503 W, Park 629-1286
Second floor, general practice.

HOPPINS MICHIGAN
305 E, Park 629-1286

POSITIONS AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY

Daily Egyptian
Pick up your application at the Daily Egyptian Building, Room 207, Monday through Friday, 8 A.M. - 6:30 P.M. 629-3111
FREE CLASSIFIED ADS!
Over $5,500 in private sector grants & scholarships in your discipline. All applicants are eligible regardless of gender. Grants can be used for tuition or books. Call Captain Michael Ass, 435-5746.

NEW OPENS SIMPLY.
10411 S. Fashing Direct Social worker, 300 E Main, Topeka & 530-2700.

SUPER RAIN ROAD.
Excel in writing, improved memory. Contact 863-5856.

DON'T FORGET
When you place a classified ad with the Daily Egyptian

Call 536-3311 and place your ad today.

JASON ULITZSCH ΣΦΕ
engaged to
CANDACE LYNN JOHNSON

Congratulations from all your brothers!

PAUL ROBB ΣΦΕ
lavaliere to
MARINA WELCH ΣΚ

Congratulations from all your brothers!

Eric Fastabend (ΣΦΕ)
lavaliere to
Beth Kirtley

Congratulations from all your brothers!

DOUG O'BRIEN ΣΦΕ
lavaliere to
SUZY BURNS ΣΚ

Congratulations from all your brothers!

HEATHER MORGAN
The ΣΦΕ Sweetheart

SPRING BREAK 95
Premier City Center AVOC 3 Mile South Indian Hills
The Best Hotel
Call Mark 536-8181.

SEND YOUR LOVE a Line for Valentine's Day

- No foreign languages
- Subject to approval and may be revised or rejected at any time.

Cost = $6.50
Cost w/ artwork = $7.50

Circle artwork (if applicable)

Name _____________________________
Address ___________________________
City _____________________________ State ___________ Zip _________
Phone _____________________________

Your Love Line will appear in the Daily Egyptian Tuesday, February 14

Credit card type and number (if applicable) Visa ______ MasterCard _________
Card # ____________________________
Expiration Date _________________
JUMBLE:

MITTEN

NOYKED

REEBOF

Answers: MITTEN  NOYKED  REEBOF

---

Comics

Doonesbury

Shoe

Mother Goose and Grimm

Calvin and Hobbes

---

WISE GUYS PIZZA

FRATERNITY RUSH

Sign up Feb. 8, 9, 10 at Cafeterias, the Recreation Center, & the Student Center between 8 a.m. - 6 p.m. for more information call Jason at 536-8592 or Mike at 536-8614

---

Daily Crossword

---

THE Daily Crossword by Harold B. Counts

---

Super Bowl Specials

Having a Super Bowl Party, Call Us for Great Deals

---

FRIDAY NIGHT SPECIALS

---

Wise Guys Pizza

---

BEAT THE CLOCK

---

SUPER BOWL SPECIALS

---

Wise Guys Pizza

---

FRIDAY NIGHT SPECIALS

---

BEAT THE CLOCK

---

SUPER BOWL SPECIALS
Handcrafted knives bring more than history to South Gallery

By Benjamin Golshahr

After resting at the bottom of the Arctic Sea for decades, the task of a walrus is now used to adorn the handle of one of the many hand-crafted knives now on display at the University Museum's South Gallery.

“Heartland Knifemakers” features the works of eight Midwestern knifemakers, and is the first such museum exhibit in the Southern Illinois area.

The show includes craftsman Daryl Meier of Carbondale, who specializes in English daggers and Persian knives. Potocki, an exhibitor from Carbondale, specializes in English daggers and Persian knives. Paul Myers, an exhibitor from Georgia, creates designs on the blades of Bowie knives, hunting knives and skinning knives.

“Till I made every thing out of little folding knives to three-foot English broadswords,” he said.

Knives by Charles Bohon, A.W. Spalding and Michael Parsons are also in the exhibition.

The exhibit also features several items from Meier’s collection. A biography of each artist is also included in their respective work.

One group of panels briefly outlines the process Meier uses to achieve the fabrication of his Damascuss patterns. Another details the different parts of a knife, such as the scale, tang, bolster, blade and hilt. Two other panels deal with the making of a knife and “User vs. Collector Knives.”

The show emerged as part of a practicum project for a class in the School of Art and Design, which enables students to learn firsthand all that goes into opening a museum exhibit.

Mari Greenslate, Yamiko Nobuhara and Chad Strooker are the current curators of the exhibit, while instructor Lori Huffman and Daryl Meier stress the practicum to make sure everything runs smoothly.

Stoﬀord said knifemaking may not be the sort of thing people would expect of a museum exhibit, but maintains a craftsman’s work is art, too.

“I think it’s about time this kind of thing happened,” he said.

People may not realize that a museum is not just about history. Greenslate feels there is some interest in the handcrafted knife,” she said.

Damascus popular material

V.J. McCrackin, an exhibitor from House Springs, Mo., said Meier is one of the best in the country in designing pattern-welded steel, known as Damascus.

McC rackin also works with Damascus, pointed out the intricacy of Meier’s design on one knife which he drew at my place,” Coﬃeld said. “I have had about five or six serious callers.”

Carla Boehne, from Woodruff Student Center, stops to take a look at the handcrafted knives exhibit shown at the SIUC University Museum in Farmer Hall. The exhibit is open to the public from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and runs through March 10.

sublease

continued from page 3...

seem to be serious and need a place to stay.

“The only thing they have to do is keep the place reasonably clean,” he said. “But if I don’t get rid of it now, I’ll just keep on advertising ‘til I do”.

Andrew Coﬃeld, a senior in cines and photography from Chillicothe, said he has only advertised his room for sublet for three or four days and has already had interested callers.

“There are three people that are particularly interested in the room, and I have had about five or six serious callers.”

Carla Boehne, from Woodruff Real Estate Management, said compared to other times of the year, it is very hard to find subletas at this time in the semester.

“It is very difﬁcult right now, because people who come in this time of the year are many times transfer students who are looking for room one places,” she said. “Many do not want to move in with two or three other people who already established relationships. So if two or three are looking for a sub- lessee, they are usually out of luck.”

“We create a list of people who are interested in subletting to help our tenants out,” Boehne said. “But we have that haven’t found anyone yet.”
NFL interactive: You make the call

Los Angeles Times

Somewhere, a seat at an NFL game could be better than a first-class ticket on an airplane. Bring a head-set, plug into the armrest and dial up either the local radio broadcast or the in-house public address system.

In front of you, shared with the fan in the next seat, will be a four-inch monitor that will allow you to not only watch the game but call for instant replays. Should you want an appetizer, call the food server by pressing a button, and someone will come over to take your order.

"These are dreams, only dreams," he said. "But I would love to see a pop-up ad for the Philadelphia Eagles. Auerbach, vice president of business development and broadcasting for the Philadelphia Eagles. Former quarterback Pat Haden foresaw consoles built into the armrests with interactive capabilities "where fans can guess what the quarterback is going to do on the next play. Compare yourself to Steve Young and Jerry Rice."

These innovations previously seemed destined only for luxury boxes. But should NFL owners get their way, technology will turn a stadium seat for the average fan into its own sort of luxury box.

"If you get too gimmicky, there is a danger," Auerbach said. "State of the art stadiums and changes need to enhance the game-day experience for fans, rather than pull them away for these little mini-experiences, and that's the delicate balance that will be worked out over the next five to 10 years."

Auerbach, along with Eagles owner Jeffrey Lurie, are among the NFL's forward-thinkers who hope to take advantage of new technology and combine it with the game-day experience. Another is Jerry Jones, owner of the Dallas Cowboys; whose dreams of the interactive age include a theme park adjacent to his stadium, where a theater with virtual reality technology could pit fans against Roger Staubach or Troy Aikman.

The Eagles were ready to install an interactive football game in their luxury boxes last season that would allow suite holders to compete against one another, but, by the time they were ready to install it, the technology was outdated. A new version is planned.

The impact of all this on the cost of tickets, though, is unknown. Auerbach, while acknowledging that innovations could raise prices, also believes that costs could be circumvented by selling advertising.

"In the case of the personal monitor at your seat, if you sell advertising on it, you could sell a sponsor for every monitor," he said.

Cowboy vice president Stephen Jones doesn't foresee prices rising. "I'm not sure that technology will escalate," Jones said. "I think they (prices) will always escalate," Jones said. "Just like a car or the cost of living, it's natural for anything to go up. But I don't see any increases more significant than in the past."

---

MVC

MVC Women's Basketball

Standings

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>MVC Overall</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Macomb</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Midway</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Shady</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oak</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>State</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Normal</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Normal State</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Normal State</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Normal State</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Normal State</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

Ward poured in 22 points and pulled down 11 boards.

Evansville got their first mark in the Valley's win column when the Aces throttled Northern Iowa, 69-59, in a battle of cellar-dwellers, Saturday. The Aces are having problems stopping anybody, giving up a league high 81 points a game in conference play.

Northern Iowa, losers of seven games in a row, looks to get back on track against a team with a 0-2 mark in the Valley, Illinois State on Thursday. Sophomore Karen Fenske tied her career best in scoring and leading the Panthers to a 15-point victory over Chicago State. Mameros said he plans to attend Cornell to give Mameros a shot at his dream of playing football in the NFL.

---

Freedom

continued from page 16

SiUC.

Mameros said he plans to attend Cornell for giving Mameros a shot at his dream of playing football in the NFL.

---

SALE

50% PLUS

additional 20% off all winter Merchandise

tops, bottoms, sweaters, casual and special occasion dresses

Mon., Fri., & Sat. 9:30 - 6
Tue., Wed., & Thur. 9:30 - 8
Sun. 1 - 5

For More Info call 453-2803
The greatest concern of Stelios Mameros is not his time in the mile run. It is not the Saluki men’s track team winning out on top in itsoeff,' nor is it achieving a quality academic standing at SIUC.

In fact, his biggest priority has nothing to do with anything in athletics, or academics.

Mameros has a much bigger concern, one that most Americans cannot identify with in that he desperately wants to achieve freedom throughout his home country of Cyprus. On July 20, 1971, a Turkish invasion of northern Cyprus forced Mameros’ family, along with thousands of other Greeks, out of their homes and onto the southern portion of the nation.

Even though there is no fighting in Cyprus today, the Turks have established their own illegal government in the northern 17 percent of the country since 1983, and will severely punish Greeks who cross into what they now claim as their land.

Mameros, 22, does not want to fight the Turks, nor does he even want tension on his government. All he wants is to live in peace with them.

“One member one concern is the freedom of my country. It’s this first and everything else second,” he said. “Running, academics—everything that’s second.”

Mameros wishes that one day his family can peacefully return to northern Cyprus where many generations of his family have made their home, and he would be even happier if he could one day call a Turk his neighbor.

“There (Northern Cyprus), the power of our fathers and their fathers had lived there for many years,” he said. “We do not want war. We just want the freedom to go where we want to go in our home country.”

Similar to his goal of experiencing freedom throughout Cyprus, Mameros’ greatest moment as a long distance runner is not a first place finish or a personal best time, but rather an opportunity he had at last summer’s international meet in Istanbul, Turkey. It was there that the Cyprus and Turkish national teams squared off in a competition that did not involve guns, hostages or peace negotiations.

“We were going there for athletic sports, not war,” he said.

Mameros’ opportunity came when the International Athletic Association reiterates to Turkey its responsibilities as a host of the year 2000 Olympics, which included accepting the Cyprus team.

Mameros’ biggest concern, Mameros must one day, return to his home country. But for the meantime, as a U.S. resident, Mameros has great expectations to take advantage of the tremendous opportunities in front of him at SIUC.

Mameros wishes that one day his family can peacefully return to northern Cyprus where many generations of his family have made their home, and he would be even happier if he could one day call a Turk his neighbor.

“Their (Northern Cyprus), the power of our fathers and their fathers had lived there for many years,” he said. “We do not want war. We just want the freedom to go where we want to go in our home country.”

Similar to his goal of experiencing freedom throughout Cyprus, Mameros’ greatest moment as a long distance runner is not a first place finish or a personal best time, but rather an opportunity he had at last summer’s international meet in Istanbul, Turkey. It was there that the Cyprus and Turkish national teams squared off in a competition that did not involve guns, hostages or peace negotiations.

“We were going there for athletic sports, not war,” he said.

Mameros’ opportunity came when the International Athletic Association reiterates to Turkey its responsibilities as a host of the year 2000 Olympics, which included accepting the Cyprus team.

Mameros’ biggest concern, Mameros must one day, return to his home country. But for the meantime, as a U.S. resident, Mameros has great expectations to take advantage of the tremendous opportunities in front of him at SIUC.