Fire victim heated about boundaries

By Carolyn Schmidt
Staff Writer

After fire destroyed their rural Carbondale home July 7, John H. Erickson and his family found themselves the victims of unclear fire department boundaries.

Erickson said he is considering suing the city of Carbondale.

"It's difficult to deal with our loss, but it's even more difficult to deal with our anger," Erickson said. "If we sue it wouldn't be primarily to get the money. The reason is we're trying to see that no one is treated the way we were treated."

Erickson's home was in the Carbondale Township district, one-fourth mile west of the Carbondale city limit and one-fourth mile east of Murphysboro's boundaries, Erickson said.

Ron Eppenheimer, Carbondale township fire chief, said the Carbondale Township Fire Department did not know Erickson's home was in the township district until after firefighters arrived at the fire.

Erickson, a retired SIU-C professor, discovered the fire in his home at 6:15 a.m. A neighbor, Mike Trude, called the Carbondale Fire Department at about 6:20 a.m., Erickson said.

A dispatcher at the Carbondale Fire Station II on South Oakland told Trude to call the Murphysboro Fire Department, Erickson said. The dispatcher argued that Erickson's home, 625 Chatauga, was not in the Carbondale district.

Trude then called the Murphysboro Fire Department.

"When Murphysboro was called, they assumed we needed help and they came," Erickson said.

Erickson made a second call to the Carbondale Fire Department at about 6:30 a.m. and again was told to call Murphysboro. At one point, Joseph Elliot, Erickson's neighbor, drove to the Oakland station to ask firefighters to put out the fire. Elliot said two firefighters told him that somebody else would handle it.

The Murphysboro fire department arrived at the house at about 7 a.m., 40 minutes after the initial call was made, Erickson said. Carbondale Township received a "mutual aid" call from Murphysboro at 6:55 a.m. and arrived at about 7:30 a.m. A few volunteers from the Makanda Township department also helped put out the fire, he said.

By the time help arrived, the house already had burned to the ground, Erickson said.

Calls to the Carbondale Fire Department first are received by fire station II, but are monitored by the township fire department on Park Street and station I on Wall Street, Everett Rushing, Carbondale township fire chief said.

Kuwaiti naval escorts to begin within 24 hours

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is expected to begin naval escorts of Kuwaiti oil tankers through the Persian Gulf within the next 24 hours, with warships getting ready to shepherd two of the vessels through the Strait of Hormuz, officials said Monday.

Documents officially putting two of the tankers, the 400,000-ton Bridgeton and the smaller Gas Prince, under U.S. registry become effective Tuesday. Administration officials said the American captains of those ships already are in the gulf region.

Neither of the vessels is yet flying the Stars and Stripes.

President Reagan, who has approved standing Pentagon plans for the gulf run, probably has issued an order to begin the operation, which is to continue indefinitely, said officials knowledgeable about the escort plans who requested anonymity.

With all of the ships in place in the Gulf of Oman outside the strait, the officials said they expected the run through the 30-mile-wide channel and into the Persian Gulf to begin within the next 24 hours. Each voyage is expected to take 48 hours.

The operation originally was scheduled to begin Wednesday, the officials said.

Crab Orchard put on federal list for 'high priority' toxic removal

By Michele Eskins
Staff Writer

Just because Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge will be placed on the national superfund list today, that doesn't guarantee the availability of federal funds for toxic waste cleanup.

"The mere fact we have been placed on priority listing doesn't mean anyone has written a check," Norrell Wallace, project manager, said.

Placement on the superfund list means that if and when funds are available, Crab Orchard and 32 other federal facilities hold priority to receive them, he said.

Four of 33 sites tested at the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge were discovered to be contaminated by polychlorinated biphenyls.

Crab Orchard is eligible for funds because Congress amended the superfund program in October to make federal agencies liable, through taxation, for toxic waste damage they caused. Previously, federal agencies were excluded from the program, which was passed in 1980.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service was given $1 million in the fall of 1984 to study contamination and propose cleanup. Since then, a $250,000 federal government special appropriation has been added to the project.

The exploratory phase of the project tested 33 sites to determine the presence and extent of contamination in the refuge. Of the sites tested for air, water, soil and plant contamination, 21 showed nothing, Wallace said.

Of the 12 remaining sites, eight were not considered hazardous, Wallace said. Four contained traces of PCBs.

Poindexter takes exception to panel criticism

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rear Adm. John Poindexter, adamantly defending himself in the Iran-Contra scandal, said Monday he had no reason to apologize and that White House actions on behalf of the Contras were primarily prompted by "the lack of good faith" by congressional opponents.

"My whole time as national security adviser, I worked very hard to do the best that I could to protect the national security of the United States," said Poindexter with a note of anger in his usually placid voice. "I don't have any regrets for anything that I did. I think the actions that I took were in the long-term interests of the country, and I'm not going to change my mind. And I'm not going to be apologetic about it."

The fourth day of Poindexter's testimony before the select House-Senate committees investigating the scandal concentrated less on transaction details and more on the administration view that colored its actions: Congress cannot be trusted to keep secrets.

However, Democratic panel members pointedly listed discrepancies in critical testimony between Poindexter, 50, and his former aide, Lt. Col. Oliver North; in one particular clash with Sen. George Mitchell, D-Maine, Poindexter said he doubts the existence of five memos North said he wrote to solicit President Reagan's approval of the Contra cash connection.

As the committees opened their 10th week of hearings, the questioning of Poindexter highlighted a growing partisan tone of the probe — Republicans called for a swift end to the proceedings and Democrats outlined further policy issues yet to be explored.

Security Council demands Iran, Iraq end 7-year war

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The Security Council unanimously agreed Monday on the text of a resolution that demands that Iran and Iraq end their nearly 7-year-old war but carries no punishment for violators of a cease-fire, U.N. diplomats said. The 15-nation council "demands that, as a first step toward a negotiated settlement, Iran and Iraq observe an immediate cease-fire, discontinue all military action on land, at sea and in the air, and withdraw all forces to the internationally recognized boundaries without delay."

Iran pressed by 3 envoys to lift embassy siege

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — Three European ambassadors asked Iran Monday to lift a siege of the French Embassy in Tehran, but an Iranian official said France first must end a blockade of Iran's embassy in Paris, Iranian state radio said. Iranian Deputy Foreign Minister Mohammad Besharati told the ambassadors of Belgium, Denmark and West Germany that Iran would lift its siege only if the French government "stops violating the Vienna Convention" on diplomatic immunity and lifts restrictions on the Iranian Embassy and diplomats in Paris.

Egyptian urges Israel to join U.N. conference

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Egyptian Foreign Minister Esmat Abdel-Meguid arrived in Tel Aviv Monday "on a mission for peace" to urge Israel to join an international peace conference long sought by Jordan's King Hussein. The visit was the first to Israel by an Egyptian foreign minister in more than five years. Hussein's plans to hold a conference under the auspices of the United Nations, bringing together the five permanent U.N. Security Council members and the conflicting Middle Eastern parties.

President to name homosexual to AIDS panel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, in a move to protect the stature of the Presidential commission on the Human Immunodeficiency Virus Epidemic, has decided to include a homosexual on the 13-member panel, administration officials said Monday. The White House said Reagan, who created the panel a month ago, will announce its members Thursday when he visits the National Institutes of Health for a briefing on acquired immune deficiency syndrome research and to address the commission.

Search continues for last victim of flash flood

COMFORT, Texas (UPI) — Heavy equipment plowed through debris and mounted Texas Rangers rode the banks of the now-tame Guadalupe River Monday in search of the 10th victim of Friday's flash flood. As nearly 200 officials and volunteers began the fourth day of their search, John Bankston Sr., the father of the lone teenager missing from among 43 people swept into the river Friday morning, wept. John Bankston Jr., 17, of Dallas, has not been seen since Friday morning and is believed to be the 10th victim of a flash flood that toppled two church vehicles into the Guadalupe near a Texas Hill Country camp.

NBC, union resume 'extensive' contract talks

NEW YORK (UPI) — NBC and the union representing 2,800 striking network employees resumed contract talks Monday for the first time since the 3-week-old walkout began. NBC spokesman Dom Gfrore characterized the talks as "extensive" as the face-to-face bargaining session opened at 10 a.m. at the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service offices in Manhattan. "The union has presented some proposals to the company," said Van Cardish, a spokesman for the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians. He said he did not know which issues the proposals addressed.

Thompson budget cuts to affect education workers

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Gov. James R. Thompson today slashed another $340 million from the $10.8 billion state funds budget sent to him by lawmakers, saying the Legislature's failure to pass a tax hike means the public will not get the state services it expects. However, the budget cuts also will mean a reduction of the higher education payroll by 1,125. The bulk of those layoffs — 865 — are to come from the University of Illinois.

Library evaluation helps pinpoint strengths, weaknesses at Morris

By Cara Day
Staff Writer

Morris Library has been given improved rankings in nine of 13 areas evaluated each year by the Association of Research Libraries.

Last year Morris was ranked 63rd overall, but this year the association discontinued the composite ranking because members decided it was misleading. The association ranks 106 libraries nationwide and its latest report reflected the 1985-86 academic year.

Examining specific areas helps in pinpointing strengths and weaknesses, said Kenneth G. Peterson, dean of library affairs.

The main strengths of the library are its overall collection and staff capability, he said.

The library's weaknesses include a lack of space and an inadequate budget, he said. The McLafferty Road storage facility, now under construction, is only a temporary solution to a problem that could be rectified by an addition to Morris' building itself, he said.

A section of land east of the library was designated by former University President Delyte Morris for an addition, but funds were never appropriated.

The library has coordinated a fund-raising drive to raise $200,000 for an endowment fund. The drive will begin in September, Peterson said.

The library was most improved in the number of volumes it added. More than 59,440 volumes were added last year, raising the library's ranking in that area from 89th to 67th.

This addition increased the total number of volumes to almost 1.9 million, raising the library's ranking from 60th to 58th. In Illinois the library ranks fourth in the number of volumes. The University of Illinois has more than 7 million volumes, the University of Chicago has nearly 5 million, and Northwestern University has more than 3 million.

Other improved areas include: current serials, 49th from 53rd; non-professional staff, 91st from 95th; total staff, including student workers, 58th from 60th; materials expenditures, 82nd from 83rd; salaries and wages, 61st from 63rd; total expenditures, 69th from 71st; and total number of items borrowed through inter-library loans, 75th from 85th.

The rankings for professional staff, 55th, and serials expenditures, 56th, did not change, while ranking for total microform units slipped from 22nd to 23rd. The number of items loaned through the inter-library loan system also slipped from fifth to sixth place.

Morris plans '2-for-2' fund-raiser

By Luana Graves
Student Writer

Two very big figures dominate Morris Library's upcoming fund raising drive. In anticipation of adding Morris' 2 millionth volume by April 1988, Kenneth G. Peterson, dean of library affairs, said he wants to add $200,000 to the library's endowment fund by that same date.

In September, a "Two for Two" campaign will be launched to raise the money, which would be added to the approximately $140,000 now in the endowment fund, Peterson said. The first 'two' in the campaign theme represents the 2 million figure, while the latter represents the money goal, he said.

The fund-raising drive is "an investment for the future," Peterson said. Endowment money automatically is invested in various stock markets by the SIU Foundatation, and money collected in the "Two for Two" campaign could net the library $18,000 to $20,000 in extra income.

Peterson said there are 10 funding divisions from which donors could choose: education and psychology, humanities, science, social studies, undergraduate library, special collections, learning resources service, library automation equipment, browsing room and general endowment fund.

1 stance needed for 2 percent plan

PRESIDENT JOHN GUYON, in an apparent attempt to appease the faculty, said the 2 percent plan he developed could be eliminated if the faculty senate doesn't want the plan to continue.

The plan is designed to raise faculty salaries by reducing the number of faculty members.

But Guyon shouldn't relegate the decision about the 2 percent plan to the faculty without defending his position. He designed the plan, he endorses it, he's the president, he should help decide the fate of the plan.

Granted, the faculty senate originally decided to go with the plan, but Guyon is president now and shouldn't remove himself from the decision of what happens to the plan.

IF HE FEELS the plan was a mistake or has become unnecessary, then he should ask the senate to stop the plan.

If, on the other hand, Guyon feels the plan is working effectively, he should encourage the continuation of the plan.

The plan was begun to make up for an expected decrease in enrollment and because of Illinois Board of Higher Education claims that SIU was overstaffed and underpaid.

Enrollment hasn't declined, however, because of stepped-up recruitment efforts. Perhaps the administration should have insisted, and demonstrated, to the Legislature that enrollment would not decrease and the budget should not be decreased. Then the position cuts included in the 2 percent plan wouldn't have been necessary.

BY SAYING "that's fine" if the faculty senate wishes to stop the plan, Guyon shows a lack of conviction.

By leaving the decision entirely up to the faculty senate, he isn't showing the strength of a university president.

Stone House bills are questionable

I am a bit confused about a headline that appeared in the July 10 Daily Egyptian and would appreciate it very much if someone would set me straight.

As I understand it, the University is considering spending some $80,000 on "upkeep" for Stone House. How worn can that carpet be? Surely we did not give the former tenant his full deposit back. Besides, steam cleaners can be rented fairly cheaply.

The cost of painting is somewhat questionable as well. I got a very good deal on paint at one of those discount places and the roller and pan were under $2.

How many landlords actually put that much money out on rental property in Carbondale? If the University were making a large sum of this particular rental, maybe it would be worth the investment or possibly the University should allow the tenant to do the repairs and deduct the cost from the rent.

Considering all the cuts in the budget lately, maybe the University should rent a smaller, less of a white elephant house in a quiet neighborhood for all those visiting dignitaries. This would free up a nice sum of money to be used to save a program or two or even to give raises to the little people who really keep the University running. —Greg Batson, graduate student, social work.

Tower, golf course can 'improve' SIU

The saga of Stone House continues on as ever. Chancellor Pettit is starting a new tradition by moving himself in and he needs some money to clean the place up.

The 'new' President Guyon is going to receive a salary of $106,000, an increase of some $17,000 over former President Somit's salary.

It was reported that the president's salary was increased to bring SIU up to the level of its peer institutions. This is an excellent idea. I remember well that I almost didn't come to SIU when I found out that the president of SIU made far less than the president of the U of I. This fact made my choice of schools very different.

SIU needs, however, to go even further in bringing itself to the levels of peer institutions. For instance, most universities have campus golf courses. We need one too. What better place than Stone House? Those lawns would make great fairways. The clubhouse is already there. It could, of course, double as a campus pub, something else that is desperately needed to increase our stature.

A new chancellor's residence will be needed. I suggest building a large tower between SIU-C and SIU-E. This way, the chancellor can relax in luxury after a grueling day of budget-crunching decisions and also keep an eagle eye on both campuses.

After these things are accomplished, the only thing keeping SIU from greatness would be faculty members who are paid well enough so they will stay for more than a few years, but I guess you can't have everything. —Peter Utgaard, junior, german.

Students must be ranked higher than Stone House

If John Guyon truly wants to trim spending, why does he not look at the extravagant spending going on at the Stone House? Surely taxpayers would much rather see their money paying for the utilities that are being proposed for cuts than thriftless spending on "upkeep!"

As a student paying full tuition and taxes, I would prefer that the classrooms were kept heated this winter. It would seem that the chancellor is leading a life of luxury at the expenses of the taxpayers and students.

I too could spend outrageous amounts of money to renovate my home, and then have to "hope for a mild winter" because there would be no room in my budget for utilities. Yet, is that not just a little presumptuous when speaking of something as unpredictable as the weather? —Stephanie Bending, junior, business management.

Pope Guyon?

PRESIDENT GUYON, while talking to the faculty senate, said that if a national or local search isn't conducted to fill the two vacant vice president positions, then he just might "anoint" somebody.

Pope Guyon? Kind of has a nice ring to it. Guyon was joking when he said it. In the past, the president has appointed the vice presidents.

Let's just hope an act of God isn't necessary to get good vice presidents.

Big earthquake could ruin University's brick buildings

By Eric Oestmann
Staff Writer

Bricks and stones probably would fall off most of the University's buildings and Crab Orchard Lake might flood if a major earthquake hit the region, said Lawrence Malinicono, assistant professor in geology.

Because most of the campus' buildings have unreinforced brick or stone facing, persons outside during a major earthquake should stay away from such buildings to avoid falling bricks and stones, he said.

The Crab Orchard Dam probably would fail, resulting in flooding, he said.

Southern Illinois has about an 86 to 97 percent chance of having a magnitude 6.3 earthquake in the next 50 years, he said at a lecture in Parkinson Hall Thursday.

An earthquake measuring 6.3 on the Modified Mercalli Scale is considered strong, usually making trees sway and loose objects overturn or fall.

Southern Illinois had a major earthquake in 1811. The earthquake was centered in the New Madrid fault.

The New Madrid fault is located in the Missouri boot heel, which is about 100 miles south of Carbondale.

Malinicono quoted an account of a man who was in a boat on the Mississippi River during the 1811 earthquake. The man said the river bottom rose up and the river actually flowed backwards.

In another account, a man told of giant cracks appearing in the soil and huge blocks of land rising from the earth in some places and subsiding in others.

The ability to predict earthquakes is far from precise, Malinicono said. Earthquake prediction technology is as young and uncertain as a 2-day-old baby, he said.

Most fault zones have a major earthquake about every 700 years, he said.

"This does not mean we (Southern Illinois) have another 500 years before we get a major earthquake," he said.

If an earthquake were to occur tomorrow, it could be as high as magnitude 7.6. The strength of the earthquake depends on the amount of seismic energy the New Madrid has stored since 1811 and if all the energy is released at the time of the earthquake.

A 7.6 magnitude earthquake usually makes walls, plaster and masonry crack, chimneys fall, and poorly constructed buildings fall, Malinicono said.

If a 7.6 earthquake hit this area, a study from Memphis State University estimates it would cost $1 billion to restore the damage in Carbondale alone, he said.

Most damage from earthquakes occurs in regions sitting on unconsolidated soil, which is the type of soil in Southern Illinois, he said.

The two tremors that occurred in Southern Illinois in early June are signs that the region is seismically active, but are not necessarily signs that an earthquake is going to occur soon, Malinicono explained.

In the event of an earthquake, if people are inside a building, they should stay inside away from windows. If people are outside, they should stay outside and away from bricks or stones attached to buildings, he said.

Farewell reception and dinner planned for departing Swinburne

Bruce R. Swinburne, vice president for student affairs for the past 12 years, will be honored at a going-away reception and dinner on Saturday in Student Center Ballroom D.

Swinburne has been named president of Mitchell College, a private, two-year liberal arts school, in New London, Conn., and begins the job Sept. 1.

He joined the Department of Higher Education faculty in 1970, became dean of students in 1973 and a vice president in 1975.

The dinner, "A Tribute to Bruce R. Swinburne," is sponsored by the units he oversees at the University. They include the Student Center, the Student Health Program, Student Life, Student Services, Student Work and Financial Assistance and University Housing.

Tickets for the reception and dinner are available through the Office of Student Affairs Office. The reception begins at 6 p.m. in the Gallery Lounge and the dinner follows at 7 p.m. Tickets cost $10 per person. Checks should be made payable to the SIU Foundation. Those planning to attend the tribute should make reservations by today. Ticket money also is due by today. To make reservations, or for additional information, phone Dee Johnson at the Office of Student Affairs, 453-2461.

Plans are under way to establish a scholarship in Swinburne's name. Donations to the Swinburne Scholarship fund can be made through the SIU Foundation. Payroll deduction plans are available. Those who wish to contribute should write or call the Foundation at 1205 W. Chautauqua, Carbondale, 62901, 529-5900.

extension to break in on the call and ask the location of the fire, Rushing said.

Eppenheimer said the township fire department tried to break in on one of the calls, but the caller had already hung up before the department had a chance to break in.

Calls to station II usually are timed and recorded, but Rushing said the calls from Trude and Erickson were not recorded or timed because the recording device was being moved to another room that day.

Erickson estimated the cost to replace the house at more than $100,000. The remaining walls of the house must be torn down and the house rebuilt from the foundation up. Erickson said he had fire insurance but not replacement insurance for the house.

"We don't have enough insurance to totally rebuild, but we'll do the best we can," he said.

Erickson said he has been a Carbondale taxpayer for 30 years but will have to pay the city of Murphysboro $1,000 for putting out the fire. He said he is not yet sure if his insurance company will cover that cost.

Although the closest fire station to Erickson was on Oakland Street, Rushing said it has been city fire department policy for 10 years not to respond to calls outside city limits.

Erickson said that policy should change. He added that his house also is within 200 yards of a Carbondale fireplug and water tower.

"There needs to be a humane side to this. I think the nearest department should go out when there's a call and work out the costs afterward," Erickson said.

Similar questions about fire district jurisdictions arose last October when the Stanton Carroll residence on Parrish Lane in Murphysboro burned. The fire was put out by the Murphysboro Fire Department. Neighbors who watched the house burn to the ground questioned policies of putting out rural fires.

Murphysboro fire chief Chester Steele said in an interview last October that the Murphysboro Fire Department makes 30 to 32 calls outside the Murphysboro city limits each year.

The largest amount of PCBs found was 8,000 to 12,000 parts per million, Wallace said. PCB levels of 50 parts per million are considered hazardous.

The largest of the four waste sites contaminated by PCBs, the Sangamo dump, is a little more than two acres. The other three sites are small, "about room size," Wallace said.

The second phase of the project will analyze soil samples to determine the magnitude of contamination. That job is being done by the federal consulting firm of O'Brien and Gere Engineers Inc. of Syracuse, N.Y.

The contamination may have been the result of dumping by the Sangamo Electric Co., an electrical transformer manufacturer, from 1946 to 1962.

PCB is a biomultiplier because it accumulates the higher it goes in the food chain.

Famous figures trek through time in humorous, tragic 'Rebellions'

By Mary Caudle
Entertainment Editor

"Everyday Rebellions," the first Playwright's Workshop play of the season, starts off with a delightful bang, but ends in a somber, overdone fizzle.

Written by Brian T. Carney, a graduate student in theater, "Everyday Rebellions" takes a bizarre assortment of historical figures on an imaginary romp through time and space — bringing together Queen Victoria, Oscar Wilde, Florence Nightingale and other notables.

The sheer combination of these figures is comical, as is the first act of the play. Nothing is sacred as it pokes fun at everyone and everything from Queen Victoria to Oscar Wilde's penchant for pretty boys. With hilarious performances put in by the cast, the first act of the play is fast-paced and delightfully unpredictable, with one surprise happening after another. Nora C. Fergus is especially funny as daffy Queen Victoria, as are Buddy White as Oscar Wilde, Melissa Wolwend as Queen Victoria's less-refined double and Bill Kincaid Jr. as a filibustering Teddy Roosevelt.

However, the mood takes a drastic swing for the worse during the second act with death, war and despair coloring the action until it drags to a depressing, dead halt at the conclusion. What had been a very funny play suddenly becomes a downer. Perhaps Carney should have ended the play sooner rather than trying to follow each character to the grave and back again.

Carney seems to have written himself into a corner by dealing with too many issues at once, taking on anti-war, anti-homophobia, anti-everything in one play as well as trying to follow four romances, at least five deaths, a world war and the overthrow of a government or two. Maintaining a sense of humor must not have been a priority with all of this to follow.

That sense of humor appears to be lost in the second act, as once-funny characters abruptly change. Almost a separate play from the first act, the messages are lost in their overdone seriousness. Perhaps it's easier to laugh at these issues in the manner of its farcical first act than try to make the play into more than it can handle, as it appeared at the conclusion.

Director Lawrence J. Knowles worked well with such a large cast, dealing with the intricacies of moving 15 characters around a 20-by-20 foot stage with the least amount of confusion possible and playing up the humor to its hilt.

At times the action is hard to follow, however, which might have been helped by having the narrator — Gordon, a newspaper reporter played by Jerry Morey — explain the action more consistently, especially in regard to historical figures with whom the audience may not have been familiar.

A second performance of "Everyday Rebellions" will be held at 8 p.m. July 27 in the Laboratory Theater in the Communications Building. Tickets may be purchased for $2 from the McLeod Theater Box Office or by calling 453-3001.

Wendy Lucero

Lucero nabs gold

Former SIU-C diving standout Wendy Lucero nabbed a gold medal with her first-place finish in the women's springboard finals Sunday in Raleigh, N.C. Her total score was 537.12.

Lucero defeated two-time defending champ Michele Mitchell for the springboard title.

Lucero became the first Saluki woman diver to win a NCAA national championship in March, 1985 and was the 1984-1985 SIU female athlete of the year.

BASKETBALL,

tremendous competitors and showed more guts when it came down to crunch time."

Southern moved on to battle West Central thanks to a victory by Blue-Gray over Wilco after Wilco had already lost to Southern.

In the West Central contest, Middleton led the attack with 18, Tate fired in 16, Bardo netted 15, Edwards poured in 14, Kunz bucketed 13 and House added 8 in a 93-80 Southern victory.

The stage was set for a 9 a.m. Saturday morning game between the Blackhawk Region and the Southerners, and Smith knew it was going to be a tough assignment all the way around.

Down by six at the half, the Southerners went to the running game to erase that margin and gain an eight-point lead near the 5:00 mark. But the never-say-die Blackhawk squad powered back to a five-point lead with less than 50 seconds left in the game.

Middleton hit a jumper to cut the lead to three with 45 seconds and Southern took a timeout. The Blackhawks inbounded the ball only to have it stolen. Middleton was credited with an assist on Wilson's 9-foot turnaround to slice the lead to one. The Blackhawks' Powell attempted another inbound pass which was deflected by Edwards to Middleton, who came down and penetrated the lane, only to watch a 9-foot jumper roll off the rim. Luckily for Southern, Edwards was able to put it in with 10 seconds remaining to put Smith's hoopsters up 102-101.

"Our players did a really great job of defense those last nine seconds," Smith said. "With two seconds left, Middleton made a headsy move knocking the ball high into the air after the Blackhawks put up a poor shot. By the time it came down, the horn had sounded.

Edwards led the Southerners in the bronze medal game with 25, followed by Bardo's 16, Middleton's 14, Wilson's 14 and House's 12.

Highs, lows for women basketballers

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

Region 8 women's basketball teams experienced mixed results this weekend at the Prairie State Games, with the open scholastic division winning the gold.

Belleville, and Cyd Mitchell, of Harrisburg, scored a combined total of 77 points, helping the Region 8 scholastic division to a perfect 4-0 record and a gold medal.

In a 90-68 trouncing of the Windy City team in the championship game, Rakers tossed in 20 points on eight field goals and four free throw shots while Mitchell chipped in four points.

In the Southern region's first game, against the Blackhawk region, Mitchell scored 16 points while Rakers added 10 to the 81-63 win.

Against the Blue-Gray region, the two new Salukis were held to just four points each while a pair of John A. Logan recruits combined to pace the Southern region to an 80-71 win.

Stephanie Dial, who led all scoring in the scholastic division at the Games, scored 34 points while Lorrie Krisch added 16 points. Both will suit up at JALC for coach Gary Barton this fall.

In the Southern region's third game, Rakers scored 14 points while Mitchell added five in a 77-59 defeat of the North Shore region.

Assistant coach of the region 8 team, Ron Gregory of the Marion High School women's basketball coaching staff, said both SIU-C recruits played well.

"I've seen Rakers compete at the Games for three years running and this was her finest showing," Gregory said. "She had trouble in previous years controlling her emotions, but she was outstanding this year."

Gregory added that Rakers "played her role as well as a player could have at that position."

"She played physical, aggressive and dominating," Gregory said. "Her play in the lane, both on offense and defense, was just great."

Mitchell needed to be stronger and more aggressive to be a force at the Games, Gregory said, but she played well from the eight- to 15-foot range on offense.

"She carried us against the Blackhawk region when we were having trouble scoring," Gregory said. Mitchell scored 16 points in the 81-63 win.

Mitchell wasn't strong enough to go inside with most of the inside players at the Games, Gregory said, but added that she could still learn how to play the inside game.

When asked if either Rakers or Mitchell would be able to play Division I basketball, Gregory said it was something that would have to be "proved to coaches and opponents through hard work and their performances both in games and in practice."

The region 8 open division team, coached by former Saluki point guard Marialice Jenkins, went a disappointing 1-2 at the Games and did not finish with a medal.

In an 88-61 loss to the West-Central region, three Salukis combined for 22 points. Anne Thouvenin scored 10, while Mary Berghuis and Deanna Sanders combined for 12.

The three teamed up for 21 points in a 74-72 win over the North Shore region, and followed up with a 14-point combined effort against the Blue-Gray region.

'Couch potatoes' lack physical abilities

NEW YORK (UPI) — High school students who shun television run faster and jump higher than other teens who spend a significant amount of their time before the tube, a study reported Monday.

A Texas researcher divided 397 high school boys into three groups, depending on the number of hours of TV they watched every day, then put them through a workout that included sit-ups, pull-ups, long jumps and a six-minute jog.

"Even after accounting for age, year in school, race and income, those who watched TV infrequently did significantly better on an overall index of fitness," Larr' Tucker, a professor of health at Auburn University, reported in the magazine Psychology Today.

He said frequent TV viewers may be in worse shape because they are learning poor eating habits from advertisers and because they remain inactive for hours at a time.

Speed pays off as Southerners claim bronze

By Darren Richardson
Staff Writer

The 1987 Prairie State Games are history, but memories of the men's basketball tournament will live on in the Southern Region team and head coach Ron Smith.

By his own admission, Smith's Southern squad was not expected to fare that well in the tourney, held at Assembly Hall on the campus of University of Illinois in Champaign-Urbana Thursday through Saturday.

"I'm sure people didn't give us a great deal of a chance of doing this," Smith said.

But do it they did — well enough to post a 3-1 mark and capture the bronze medal in the open division.

Smith, an assistant coach to

Randy House

Steve Middleton

Rich Herrin in SIU-C's basketball program, emphasized speed and quickness against the bigger, stronger squads his team played.

Forced to compete with an eight-man roster due to last-minute lineup scratches of Drake's Glenn Martin and Missouri's 7-foot Gary Leonard, Smith went with a starting lineup of SIU-C's Steve Middleton, SIU-E's John Edwards and Frankie

Williams and Illinois' Stephen Bardo and Phil Kunz. SIU-C's Randy House and Eastern Illinois' Ronnie Tate and Jerry Wilson, coach at Wayne City High School, provided strength off the bench.

Smith's crew dropped the first game Thursday morning 112-95 to the eventual silver medalists, the Blue-Gray team featuring Kenny Battle of the Fighting Illini and two Illini graduates and NBA draft picks; Ken Norman, No. 1 pick of the L.A. Clippers, and Doug Altenberger, a sixth-round choice of the Chicago Bulls.

"We were only down by three at the half," Smith said. "It was a closer game than the 17-point spread indicates."

After dropping the first game, Smith was faced with the task of preparing his team to face players from Will and southern Cook County. The Wilco team featured such prominent stars as the Dallas Mavericks' No. 1 choice, DePaul graduate Dallas Megyesy, DePaul's 7-foot center, Lamone Lampley, and Kendall Gill of Illinois.

The Southerners trailed by three at the half Thursday night, but Southern's speed proved too much for the Wilco squad in the second 20 minutes.

"The key in that game, as in all the games, was that our running game caught up with the other team in the second half," Smith said. "The players who represented the Southern Region may not have the big names but they're
