Europe Flight Deadline Is March 29

New deadline for reservations for a European study flight sponsored by the Division of University Extension has been set for March 29, according to Raymond H. Dey, dean of the division.

Students may enroll for either of two six-week courses—a second-year college-level course in the German language, with classes to be held at Jugenheim an de Bergstrasse, in the Odenwald Mountains, or for an on-site course in "The Development of German Democracy," to be held at the University of Hamburg.

Each course will be taught by an SIU faculty member, the language course by Hellmut A. Hartwig, the government course by Carl L. Schweinfurth.

Excursions on weekends will permit the students to visit historic and cultural sites in West Germany and adjoining countries. A few days sightseeing in London will precede the opening of classes and a period of leisure for individual travel of a "grand tour" of Europe will be allowed before the return flight.

The flight will leave New York June 18, returning September 9. A down payment of $100 is required with the application.

Library Buys 2 Major Collections

Two extensive private libraries have recently been purchased and will be divided between Morris Library and the library on the Edwardsville campus.

They are the 14,000-volume Germanic collection of the late Professor Wilhelm Kosch of Vienna -- largest single acquisition made by SIU -- and the 8,000-volume Hirschberg collection.

The Kosch collection, gathered by a noted German lexicographer and literary historian, is shortly to be shipped from a German port.

Strong in national bibliography, literary criticism, linguistics, collected literary works, bibliography theater, theology and cultural history, and including long runs of periodicals and serials, this collection is an exceptionally valuable one, vastly strengthening the present SIU collection of German literature, according to Ralph McCoy, director of libraries.

The bulk of the Hirschberg library, collected by Joseph Hirschberg, retired accountant of St. Louis, will remain in the Edwardsville library, where it is being sorted and listed.

This collection is strong in the fields of philosophy, religion, art, modern poetry, literary criticism and intellectual history. It contains special collections of Henry and William James and William Blake, which will become part of the Edwardsville library.

Books on art, aesthetics and Oriental philosophy will come to the Carbondale Campus, McCoy said.

A large collection of law reference books, donated by Franklin M. Hartzell of Carthage, will be divided between the two campuses, as will the family library of Gen. Robert W. Davis of Carbondale, former member of the SIU Board of Trustees, which he presented to the University. The Davis library includes

Council Meets Tonight

The Student Council will review 15 program recommendations emerging from the Student Activity Fee Study hearings, according to University Housing Senator George Graham.

The Council meeting is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Terry Cook, communications officer for Student Government, said the agenda also includes a bill calling for an SIU Forum.

publications relating to the Illinois National Guard, in which General Davis was active for many years.

The Edwardsville library, in charge of John C. Abbott as head librarian, now totals some 83,000 volumes, of which approximately 40 per cent has been added in the past two years.

"While the major task of building a book collection lies ahead, there appears to be a widespread feeling that we are well on our way," Abbott said of the development of the Edwardsville library.

At the Carbondale Campus, the Morris Library now totals approximately 600,000 volumes, with 50,000 to 60,000 volumes being added each year, McCoy said.

Author-Illustrator Opens Convocation Series Today

Don Freeman, illustrator-author, will present the opening convocation of the spring term today at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium.

His program, "Sketchbook Review," will include his impressions of Hollywood and Broadway, the story of children's picture book development and a demonstration of speed drawing.

Freeman has worked on animated cartoons in Hollywood and helped create a story for the adventure of Mr. Magoo. His illustrations have appeared in more than 50 books including those of James Thurber, William Saroyan and Brooks Atkinson.

Late Registration Begins Tomorrow

The Sectioning Center will be handling program changes and registration for new students, transfer students and re-entering students today, according to Marion B. Treece, supervisor of sectioning.

Continuing students who failed to pre-register can start registering Friday. Some program changes will also be handled on Friday. On Saturday from 8:30 a.m.

Advisement Appointments

Appointments for academic advisement for summer and fall terms may be made April 3, 4 and 5 in the University Center.

Only juniors and seniors may make appointments on April 3.

Hours for making appointments will be from 8 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. daily.

until noon there will be a special registration for students who are taking only night and Saturday classes.

Treece said most of the new, transfer and re-entering students went through Sectioning Center Wednesday.

Late registration for continuing students will begin again on Monday and run through April 9, which is the last day for registration without the dean's written approval. April 23 is the last day to withdraw from a course without receiving a letter grade, and April 19 is the deadline for deferred fee payment.

Loren Young, assistant supervisor in the Registrar's Office, said the total spring quarter enrollment cannot be determined until April 8 or 9 when the figures for late registration are in.

Judging from past experience, however, it is expected that spring quarter enrollment will be somewhat less than winter quarter enrollment. Last year's winter enrollment on the Carbondale Campus was 10,202, Young said, and dropped to 9,870 for the spring quarter.

The enrollment for the just-completed 1963 winter quarter was 11,753. This marked the first time SIU winter quarter enrollment was higher than fall quarter enrollment. The 1962 fall quarter enrollment was 11,619.

Treece said more than 10,000 student pre-registered for spring quarter, but some dropouts and cancellations are expected. The Sectioning Center is expecting to handle about 1,500 students during late registration and registration for transfer and new students, Treece said.

Swimming May 11:

Lake-On-The-Campus Open For Boating, Fishing

Lake-On-The-Campus is open.

The beautiful, many-fingered lake, providing frontage for some living areas and recreation for students, faculty and staff, is now available for boating and fishing.

Use of the lake and the adjoining intramural athletic field became available Wednesday.

The boat dock is supplied with seven row boats, 14 canoes, bicycles, picnic baskets, horse shoes, volley balls, footballs, croquet sets and fishing equipment.

The fishing equipment includes rods, reels and lures. Fishing is allowed from row boats and from fishing piers spotted around the lake which is now full of sparkling water from winter rains.

William Bleyer, assistant coordinator in the Student Activities Office, said many good bass and blue gill have been taken from the lake which was opened for fishing four years ago after scientific stocking.

The dock where boats may be rented and sports equipment secured, will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. daily. The swimming beach is expected to be opened May 11, Spring Festival weekend.

Regulations for use of the Lake-On-The-Campus facilities are simple. Students must have activity and identification cards; faculty and staff, identification cards.

Spouses of students, faculty and staff can obtain cards permitting them to use the facilities by applying at the Office of Student Activities.

Use of the lake is restricted to students, faculty, staff members and their families, and their out-of-town guests.

Children under 16 years of age must be accompanied by at least one parent while in the area.

People over 16 must have a valid Illinois fishing license to fish the lake. These licenses are not sold on the campus.

Aides Promoted Too

University Architect Given Promotion

University Architect Charles Pulley has stepped up to an overall planning position and two former assistants have been put in charge of building operations on the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses.

Pulley's title remains the same but he will report to the president's office and assume the direction of future capital developments for the two campuses.

Pulley said he will continue certain former duties such as advising the president and maintaining University contacts with agencies such as the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency. He said he will divide his time half-and-half between the two campuses.

Moving in to Pulley's Carbondale office with the title of associate university architect will be Willard Hart, formerly construction supervisor. Hart said his duties will center on personnel management, construction budgets and immediate construction planning.

Serving in the same capacity on the Edwardsville campus will be John Randall formerly assistant architect.

William Volk, assistant to Hart, will take over his construction supervision duties.

SIU is set to begin its $25 million new-campus construction program at Edwardsville and is in the midst of a $28 million classroom construction effort on the Carbondale campus, all from Universities Bond Issue funds. Also set to begin this is a $10.5 million residence halls project.

Pulley, a Marion native, came to SIU in 1951 after earning SIU and University of Illinois degrees and serving 12 years with private firms. He is a member of the American Institute of Architects and the Association of University Architects.

Hart, a lifelong resident of Murphysboro, received an architectural engineering degree from the University of Illinois and has been SIU construction supervisor since 1950.

April Exhibit Features

New German Theater

"The New Theatre in Germany" is the title of an exhibition of documents in photographs, which will be on display in SIU's Mitchell Gallery throughout the month of April.

The exhibit, co-sponsored by the Theater and Art Departments, tells the story of the post-war renaissance of the German Theater, nearly destroyed by Hitlerism in 1933.

It was brought to the United States as a public service by the Pepsi-Cola Company.

Victor McLaglen's consummate portrayal of the huge, drunken, boastful Gypo Nolan, who betrays his best friend in the Irish Rebellion for a reward, stands as one of the screen's most forceful and compelling interpretations. # 20 Upperclassmen Lead New Students By Hand

New students attending their first classes at SIU today were greeted Wednesday by approximately 20 upperclassmen and introduced to the campus in a full day of orientation activities.

A new, simplified map was put into each student's hands which helped pin-point locations at a glance. A sketch of a "Fighting Saluki" illustrated the cover of the Spring Quarter orientation program.

Marion Dean, chairman of the Student Leaders Committee, said each new student received a personal letter from an SIU upperclassman in addition to the regular packet of new student information.

Miss Dean said this gesture of friendliness is unique in Midwest schools. Southern students who volunteered for the job wrote ten letters each to students planning to matriculate here this quarter.

Following are the upperclassmen who donned white beanies and name buttons to spend the day taking groups of new students through the routine of registration, tours, and meetings.

George J. Paluch, Barbara Nemetsky, Carol Cubra, Sue Fleming, Joann Jaffe, Retha Holder, Judy Williams, Donna Kotarek and Carolyn Holloman.

Also, Bill Wetzel, Jerry Anderson, Barbara Hitt, L. C. Keel, Janet Marchildon,

Puerto Rico Seeks English Teachers

Virginia Matters, director of teacher exchange and apprentice programs for the Puerto Rican department of education, is visiting campus today and tomorrow.

She will be interviewing persons interested in going to Puerto Rico to teach English.

Miss Matters also will speak on education in Puerto Rico at a public meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the Agriculture seminar room. It is open to the public.

Her appearance on campus is being sponsored by the Latin American Institute and the Foreign Languages Department.

Robert Snyder, a sophomore, from Puerto Rico, has been named Sigma Pi "Active of the Year." This award is presented annually by the fraternity's fall pledge class.

Judith Gray, Fred Rauch, Diane Sudeikis, Micki Goldfeather and Frances Fitch.

Groups were routed according to need. The students who were already registered followed one pattern, those needing advisement, sectioning, etc., followed another. VTI students were taken by bus to that campus after the welcome for all new students by Dean L. Clark Davis in Muckelroy Auditorium.

Another new feature of the orientation program this quarter was inclusion of the Southern Illinois University Objectives. The four-point set of goals was printed in full on the back of the folder.

No estimate of the number of new students entering Southern this quarter has been made available at this time.

Spring Quarter Activities Get Underway Today

Classes and activities begin together today. Hardworking groups throughout the campus have scheduled meetings, rehearsals, tryouts and workouts.

Unclassified Student Advisement will get underway in the University Center Ballrooms B and C at 8 a.m.

Pre-Student Teaching Day is scheduled for Muckelroy Auditorium at 9 a.m.

At 10 a.m., the Spring Festival Concessions Committee of the Center Programming Board will meet in Room F of the Center.

Women's Recreation Association class and varsity volleyball will kick off at 4 p.m. in the Women's Gym.

Two events are scheduled for 6:30 p.m. The University Glee Club will rehearse at Shryock and the Christian Science Organization will meet in Room F.

The revenue increase would amount to $13 million a year with the bill earmarking half this amount for outdoor recreational developments. Kerr is chairman of the State Outdoor Recreation Commission, which estimates the state will need 125,000 additional acres for recreational purposes if Illinois is to compete successfully for tourist dollars.

Kerr said the bill will upgrade what he calls "inadequate tourist facilities" in the state by enabling the state conservation department to reserve more land for increasing tourist activities.

Dean Eli G. Lentz Dies At 81 Years Of Age

Funeral services were held last Tuesday at the Huffman Funeral Home in Carbondale for Eli Gilbert Lentz, retired Southern Illinois University dean.

Dean Lentz, who taught at SIU for 36 years, from 1914 until his retirement in 1950, died last Sunday at the age of 81.

President Delyte W. Morris granted Dean Lentz the title of University Professor in 1948, the highest rank ever attained by an SIU teacher.

He taught several years in rural southern Illinois schools and was superintendent of schools in Creal Springs, Carterville and Marion. In 1912 he served as president of the Southern Illinois Teachers association.

He came to SIU in 1914 as an English instructor, but soon transferred to the history department.

He was promoted to assistant professor in 1920, to associate professor in 1927 and attained the rank of full professor a few years later.

His speciality was English history.

He became SIU dean of men in 1935 and held the post 10 years.

In 1949 he wrote a history of SIU, "75 Years in Retrospect," for the university's diamond jubilee celebration. The book was published in 1955 by the SIU Press.

Dean Lentz left retirement in 1951 to serve as acting director of the Alumni Organization for a year.

He received the Alumni Achievement Award in 1960 and the SIU Great Teachers Award in 1961.

After coming to Carbondale in 1914, the Lentzes lived until 1958 on South University Avenue in the large brick home which is now the McGowan Clinic.

E.G. LENTZ

The Lentz Dining Hall at Thompson Point dormitories was named after Dean Lentz in 1960.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church in Carbondale and taught the men's bible class at the First Presbyterian Church for a number of years.

Two SIU psychology students have won two out of three of the second annual student research awards given in special competition by the Illinois Psychological Association.

Frankfort junior, took the $100 top prize in the undergraduate research division for his study titled "The Frustration Effect as a Function of Second-Alley Magnitude of Reward."

Both students read their papers at the annual IPA meeting in Springfield March 15.

The statewide college and university competition was set up last year with a grant from a Chicago firm of psychological consultants. Another SIU Ph.D. student, David Warshauer, won a top prize last year.

A permanent cast has been used throughout the series, with the same actors playing the same characters in succeeding eras, thus retaining identity.

The series was produced by the British Broadcasting Corporation and is presented through National Educational Television and its network of 67 educational stations.

A limited supply of booklets describing the series and giving a synopsis of each of the programs is available and may be obtained by writing WSIU-TV, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

We went to the mountain to make 1963 Ford-built cars go 30,000 to 100,000 miles between major chassis lubrications

Quite a task faced Ford Motor Company engineers when they set out to eliminate the traditional trip to the grease rack every 1,000 miles.

Like Mohammed, they went to the mountain—Bartlett Mountain on the Continental Divide in Colorado. More molybdenite is mined there than in the rest of the world combined. And from molybdenite ore comes the amazing "moly" grease that helps extend the chassis lubrication intervals for Ford-built cars. This grease sticks tenaciously to metal, stands up under extreme pressures and resists moisture, pounding and squeezing. It is slicker than skates on ice!

New, improved seals were developed. Bushings, bearings and washers of many materials were investigated. Slippery synthetics, like nylon and teflon, were used a number of new ways.

The search for means to extend chassis lubrication also led to New Orleans—where experimental suspension ball joints tested in taxicabs in regular service went two years without relubrication.

It took time. And ingenuity. But the effort paid off when Ford-built cars were the first to build in chassis lubrication good for 30,000 miles or two years—whichever came first.

Another assignment completed—another "Ford First" and another example of how Ford Motor Company provides engineering leadership for the American Road.

Toward A Student Mandate

Now is as good a time as any to begin thinking about spring elections.

A large vote turnout is needed in the election of Student Body President and Vice-President and the Student Council. If present Student Government members were to mingle among their constituents and personally urge them to vote, it would go far toward arousing an interested student body and creating a better Student Government.

As for the candidates, an intensified campaign will not only bring out the vote but will allow the voters to know what they are voting for.

A well-executed campaign could well include two methods of reaching the voters that have not been used to best advantage in the past: a wide distribution of leaflets stating the candidate's platform and speeches before student groups.

Student Government should actively attempt to gain the support of the student body if it intends to speak with authority.

The less than 25 per cent who voted in last spring's election did not present anything close to a mandate to Student Government. Instead it raised some serious questions as to whether the students wanted a Student Government.

The Religious Freedom Issue

Even before the Supreme court has a chance to pass on the Pennsylvania and Baltimore religious freedom cases, sides are forming and the charge of irreligion is being raised.

The Pennsylvania case was brought by the Schempps, Unitarians living in suburban Philadelphia, who objected to a compulsory Bible reading law as a violation of the first amendment's separation of church and state.

The Schempps' son, Elory, was required to give up studying during morning devotions in public school to "show respect." This undercut the state's contention that the religious exercises were voluntary. So the parents sued to stop the practice.

'Profession of Disbelief'

Their interesting contention was that they should not be required to request an excuse for their children since this means a "profession of disbelief," which, they say, the state has no right to exact.

In the Baltimore case, Mrs. Madalyn Murray argued that her son, a high school senior, should not be subjected to "reproach and insult" because she is teaching him not to participate in daily recitation of the Lord's Prayer.

How tangled the skein is can be judged from the fact that the Baltimore prayer and Bible reading ordinance had two lower court victories behind it, while the Pennsylvania law went to the high tribunal in Washington after two lower court defeats.

Why is it not clear that the issue is not between atheism and religion? Nor is anyone contending the eloquent passages in the King James version of the Bible may not be studied in literature class. The objection is to daily devotions which tend to favor one religion over others. This inevitably has the state taking sides in sectarian competition for adherents.

Separation Termed Best

Sixty-six major Jewish religious and civic bodies see this more clearly than many Christian denominations. For these Jewish groups support a brief of the noted religious freedom lawyer, Leo Pfeffer of the American Jewish Congress, which holds that "history has validated the premise that separation of church and state is best for religion and best for the state."

Oddly enough in Illinois, some legislators want to pass a morning prayer law but apparently do not realize that public school religious exercises have been unconstitutional in the state for some 50 years.

The lack of morning devotions in public schools did not trouble them until the Supreme court decided against the New York official school prayer last June. Would these legislators—or anyone else—like to demonstrate that New York is more religious than Illinois as a result?

Organized Procedures Of Hanky Panky To Be Found In Most Housing Units

I would like to make a reply to various articles which have appeared in the Egyptian from time to time, concerning Greeks, finals, and the like.

I was an Independent for a year and a half and I have been a pledge for only a month. During this month more deliberate slams have been made by this paper than I care to count. A paper of this type should introduce "helpful criticism" of a constructive nature, viewing both sides objectively. This has constantly been neglected.

In my opinion there is

Gus Bode...

Gus says he has been learning so much at SIU he thinks he will take some courses this term.

no real argument between Greeks and Independents in on-campus housing. Most of it comes from those off-campus and just those who feel radically opposed to any efficient organization. I don't feel that at SIU any particular emphasis is put on belonging to a fraternity or sorority, rather it is what the individual wants and with whom he feels most at ease.

In regard to "stealing" of finals, etc., I have a few ideas too. This is my second year of residence at Woody Hall, and while not as well organized, there is a "file" of sorts here, too. Cheating and stealing is evident in all housing units, not one lone one. A "file" is to aid and help a person who is having difficulties, it is not a method of dishonest practices. Professors who have any ingenuity or just plain common sense should realize that a "repeat" final is impractical. It should be geared for the particular class in which it is given. So how about some varied tests?

Thank you for letting me take the stand and do some testifying. Perhaps if a little more objective observation could be made, the radicals of both sides could see that Greeks, or no, we ARE all still SIU students in a similar situation, and only through a constructive program of working together will we succeed.

People With Most Criticism Of Greeks Not Well Informed About Fraternities

I am sick and tired of reading letters attacking the Greeks, written by people who don't know what they are talking about.

Certain people attack the Greeks by criticizing their functions and ideals, when these people actually don't know what these functions and ideals consist of.

If these misguided persons were able to examine the purposes and ideals of the different sororities and fraternities, they would realize that "congeniality" or "pleasing social relationships" are only a minor concern in the overall goals of Greek life. The Greeks realize, however, that their social life is one of the only aspects of their lives that non-members are free to examine, and is therefore sometimes considered by non-members to be the only aspect of Greek life.

Only a person who has worked in the coal mines can know what it is like to be a coal miner and know what he gains from his work. A person who has never been a part of a sorority or a fraternity cannot possibly know what membership accomplishes. Only the members are able to understand fully the ideals of Greek life, and to know what is being done to forward these ideals.

SIU Gymnasts 'The Team To Beat' For Title

Seeking Elusive NCAA Crown

By Tom McNamara

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—SIU is rated one of the early favorites to win the 21st annual National Collegiate Gymnastics Championships this weekend at the University of Pittsburgh.

Southern Illinois is led by former Olympian Fred Orlofsky, National Junior AAU all-around champion Dennis Wolf and NCAA tumbling champion Rusty Mitchell.

SIU, Michigan, Temple, Penn State and Southern California are rated among the early favorites. Southern California is the defending champion but doesn't appear to be as strong this year.

Missing from the California team is Bobby Lynn who won four titles at last year's extravaganza. Lynn took blue ribbons in the all-around, free exercise, parallel bars and

Rebuilding Job Lies Ahead For 1964 Basketball Team

"It was a long hard year but the boys never quit fighting," Jack Hartman said while reviewing the basketball season which saw SIU finish fourth in the seventh annual NCAA College-Division tournament.

"They gave me 100 percent in every game," Hartman added. "A coach can not ask for anything more than that. Even when the chips were down and it appeared we were sure losers the boys never gave up."

"I am well-pleased with the season," he added. "The boys kept improving throughout the season and that's a sign of a good team. In my book, these boys are true champions."

SIU won 20 of 30 game enroute to the fourth place spot among the more than 356 schools eligible for the tournament.

Hartman's squad upset Evansville, 86-73, in the quarter-final game then lost to eventual champions South Dakota State in the semi-final round. Oglethorpe (Ga.) won the third place trophy by beating Southern in overtime 68-64.

"Defense, good rebounding and shooting were key factors in our success," Hartman said. "In most of the games we won defense played a major part. In the tournaments it was quite obvious that defense kept us in the game and then the shooting and rebounding aided in victory."

"The seniors, Henson, Hood and Lentfer, gave everything they had," Hartman said. "The underclassmen now have something to shoot for next season."

high bar events for the USC Trojans.

Returning members from last year's Southern squad which finished second are Orlofsky, Bruno Klaus, Charles Woerz, Charles Ehrlich, Tom Geocaris and Mitchell.

Mitchell will be trying to successfully defend his tumbling crown against the challenge of Hal Holmes. Holmes has beaten Mitchell twice this season.

"I would rather win the all-around title this year," Mitchell said, "instead of tumbling. But I wouldn't mind both."

Klaus will be trying to regain the high bar championship after Lynn's steal of the crown last year. Klaus won the high bar event in 1961.

Orlofsky will be trying to win his first all-around championship after two years in second place. Last year he finished behind USC's Bobby Lynn and then two years ago Greg Weiss of Penn State finished ahead of the Salukis all-around ace.

Dave Henson Wins Basketball Scoring Honors

Chalks Up 391 Points In 30 Games This Season

Dave Henson, senior forward from Dupo, ended the season with 391 points in 30 games to win SIU's scoring title. The 6-3 senior averaged 13 points a game.

Henson attracted the attention of the professional basketball Detroit Pistons at the NCAA tournament in Evansville.

"They told me I could probably play guard," the affable Henson said after the tournament. "It surprised me but I told them I wasn't interested. They told me they would stay in contact with me."

Henson hit 156 of 342 field goal attempts for a .456 percentage. From the free throw line the graduating senior converted 79 of 106 chances.

SIU's other seniors, Frank Lentfer and Harold Hood, also ended their careers in a flourish. Lentfer set a new single game rebound record with 16 against Evansville in the tournament breaking Lou Williams' record of 15 which he equalled three times.

Lentfer scored 236 points in 29 games for a 8.1 per game average. He hit 91 of 208 field goal attempts for a .438 percentage. From the free throw line he hit .750 with 54 of 72 throws.

Hood scored 325 points in 30 appearances for a 10.8 per game average. He concluded his career with a .454 shooting percentage with 133 of 293 field goal attempts. He hit 59 of 84 free throws for a .702 percentage.

Sophomore Joe Ramsey scored 208 points. He averaged 8.1 points a game. He had an accuracy percentage of .452 hitting 84 of 186 field goals.

Three SIU Swimmers Enter NCAA Championship Meet

After drawing a blank in National AAU swim competition last weekend, Jack Schiltz, Darrell Green and Ted Petras will enter the NCAA championship meet at Raleigh, N.C., this week.

Coach Ralph Casey is expecting to enter Schiltz, captain of this year's SIU squad, in the individual medley events while Green will compete in the 200-yard backstroke and freestyle events and Petras in the 100-yard breaststroke.

Although unable to win points individually at the AAU meet, Green and SIU senior Ray Padovan teamed with two other members of the Hinsdale Swim Club to place fourth in the freestyle relay.
