Spring has arrived

Spring along with students has finally returned to the campus. Magnolia trees are in full blossom all throughout Southern Illinois, while temperatures in the northern part of the state remain near freezing. Derge may still get new home

By Richard Lorenz
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The controversial $900,000 University House originally constructed as a residence for SIU's president may become President David R. Derge's home.

Under a plan approved by the Board of Trustees at its March meeting, the University administration is authorized and directed to negotiate with the SIU Foundation to sell the University's interest in the house to the foundation in order to recover the cost of the real estate and the University's contribution to the house. The University has spent approximately $650,000 on the house.

The plan also limits the use of the house to that of the official residence of the president. The University can negotiate a lease for the house from the foundation so that the house can be used as Derge's residence. The results of the negotiations are to be reported to the board for its consideration.

HEW charges SIU with discrimination

By Sue Roll
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

After 16 months since the case was filed, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) has upheld charges of sex discrimination filed against the University by Marisa Canut-Amoros, former professor in the School of Engineering and Technology.

Shortly after the findings were made last week, Dan Orescanin, executive assistant to the president, issued a statement before the University's Board of Trustees claiming that the HEW report "contains many omissions and errors of fact." He made the report's conclusions and proposed remedies "highly questionable" and unacceptable to SIU.

Orescanin said the administration will prepare a reply to the HEW report and will "exercise its rights to the seven hearing procedures and remedies available."

In its letter notifying Ms. Canut-Amoros of its findings, HEW recommends that she be reinstated to her position as a tenured faculty member and that she be paid a salary "commensurate with her qualifications" retroactive to October, 1968.

The HEW recommendations also include that she be paid for the period for which summer employment was denied; that she receive a salary adjustment in connection with sabbatical leave dispute; and that she be paid the adjusted salary rate for the period employment was denied to her.

Also, she is to be paid interest at the rate of six per cent per annum on back pay to be computed from the date pay was denied.

The HEW findings further state that she is "not to be intimidated, harassed or coerced in any manner in regard to the complaint or the HEW investigation."

"Of course I am really very pleased," said Canut-Amoros. "This case is most important for all women on campus. We got a victory. All of us. Ms. Canut-Amoros has estimated that monetary compensation for the different areas will total at least $5,000.

Ms. Canut-Amoros is a full professor of applied science in the School of Engineering and Technology until she resigns, which will require the SIU Board of Trustees in July to decide her appeal that it be withdrawn.

Despite the months of delay in making the finding, Ms. Canut-Amoros has remained confident that HEW would rule in her favor. "Until almost the very last minute I was sure they would rule for me," she said. "But then there was so much delay. I was beginning to wonder."

Under the authority of Executive Order 11246 which prohibits discrimination by federal contractors, including universities, HEW can order that federal contracts be withheld from universities not complying with the order.

Orescanin said Monday the University has not yet decided how it will respond to a HEW finding, which is expected to be submitted to the HEW.

More vacancies seen in University housing

By Sue Millen
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

For the first time since Southern Hills and Evergreen Terrace opened, SIU is threatened with vacancies in the housing complexes, according to James Dugger, area manager for Housing Business Services.

Dugger attributed the vacancies and a low rate of applications for the apartments to "all the new housing" and decreased enrollment.

He said he thinks all landlords are going to be faced with the problem of excess housing. "Because of this," he said, "I think landlords are going to have to reevaluate their rental rates or the way they are doing business."

Dugger explained that landlords who previously have been lax in their service will have to be more cooperative or students just won't rent from them. "I just don't know what to expect in this situation, but I do think that landlords who haven't opened their doors yet are going to find themselves in serious financial trouble," he said.

Dugger said spring quarter is the first time in University history it has advertised its married students' housing.

"In the past the waiting list has been as long as 500 applicants. This quarter we have six vacancies and five pending which we don't know if we can fill," he added.

Dugger explained that there has been a decrease in applications and an increase in cancellations of those applications. He said his office was contacting those who have applied for the spaces but are finding that more and more applicants are canceling out.

Dugger said he expects at least 75 vacancies this summer in Evergreen Terrace alone. This may force con-

SIU charged with sex discrimination by HEW

Legal Counsel T. Richard Mager said there are three claims of appeal through HEW with the final appeal in Washington, D.C. They, if HEW still finds against the University, HEW may order that contracts be withheld. "But then there can be more hearings after HEW settles with Mager. "It would be quite a while before this whole thing is resolved completely."

"Whether SIU accepts the finding or not is irrelevant to the cause of women at SIU," said Ms. Canel-Amoros. My case is like a blueprint for other women. Now when HEW studies other cases, it can act quite fast. This is the important issue.

Derge may stil get to live in new house

The plan which the board approved at its March meeting was presented by Richard Mager, legal counsel. Mager told the board the University has tried to convert the house to a conference center. "The house just doesn't lend itself to change," Mager said. He cited some of the necessary changes, such as a sprinkler system, which the house would need.

SIU Museum, zoology start research museum

An agreement of cooperation between the SIU Museum and the Department of Zoology has been outlined in a "memorandum of understanding" concerning collections of zoological materials. Under the agreement, a Zoological Research Museum to serve graduate research instruction will be maintained by the department, while the University Museum will continue to collect zoological materials to carry out its own educational programs of research and public service. The Zoological Research Museum will be an affiliate of the University Museum, but will be housed in the Department, with department curators large. The University Museum cooperate to the extent feasible practicable in developing zoology collections, with the interest reciprocating.

The zoology department will not initiate exhibits from its collection set in turn the University Museum will not maintain study class for University faculty students in the areas included in the zoology museum. The "memorandum of understand- ing" was signed by B.C. Hedrick, director of University Museum, and Geor- ginian, acting chairman of department of zoology, with the presence of University administrators.

HOW is currently conducting an overall compliance review of all employees at SIU pertaining to both sexual and sex discrimination, but with special emphasis on cases of sex discrimination since this is where most of the current complaints lie.

Donald Scott, civil rights specialist with the HEW Chicago office four seven or eight individual complaints have been filled by SIU faculty women with the HEW office. Several class action suits have also been filed.

Scott has given no indication of how it will take before findings in the compliance review are made. Scott Paul, who held the Gargo office, was at SIU the first of February to gather data in the total compliance review but he was not back since. Initial they had said they planned to have the data for the review gathered by the end of March.

Truitt William W. Allen of Bloomington was the only speaker to speak at the meeting. "It is impossible to use these as a conference center they are," he said. He cited the building material and safety factor on the reasons why the house would not be converted.

Classroom dilemma

Production and sale of commercially written college term papers has become a big business. At the same time, the submission of such work by college students for course credit has presented a dilemma in the classroom.

The term paper business, which produces themes, essays, book reports, research projects and even theses, has been investigated by New York Attorney General Lefkowitz as a multi-million dollar industry enticing students to meet academic requirements and obtain degrees by fraudulent means.

The old familiar fraternity and club file for college assignments is being exploited by firms such as Term Paper Unlimited, Inc., which has sold over 100,000 commercially written term papers in the past year for $2 to over $6 per page. Because business is so good, since the opening of the main office in Boston a year and a half ago, 50 branch offices have been opened in college towns across the country, the alleged national branch office, called Alternative Research, recently opened in Carbondale.

Plagiarism and cheating are harsh accusations, but this is what the use of commercially written assignments entails. The student may be subject to disciplinary action at the discretion of the instructor. At SIU plagiarism and cheating come under Article I of the Code of Student conduct.

Why do some students revert to such ethics in order to meet course requirements? The answer may lie in a reevaluation and review of course instructors. Instructors should specifically define learning and assign meaningful work.

Sometimes oral presentations or group discussions may be better than a term paper and involve meaningful participation for students. Essay examinations can be given instead of term paper assignments to stimulate thought and not regurgitation of information.

Emphasis can be removed from grades with the passing/fail system and courses can be redesigned for meaningful participation. The student still must learn to express himself and do his own work, no matter what his field. Students who plagiarize do not build the system, in the long run only cheat themselves and it costs them money to do so.

Letters to the editor

Allen criticized

To the Daily Egyptian:

In a March 9 letter, John Gadway pointed out that his father-in-law had been persecuted for demonstrating at Nazi rallies and tried to draw a parallel between the behaviors of Douglas Allen and of Gadway's father-in-law. Actually, a parallel can be more convincingly made between Allen's tactics and those of the Nazis. They did not permit an open forum, and had the Germans been more energetic in protecting an open forum, the Nazi party would never have held the hold on Germany that it did.

It is the height of hypocrisy to bring a stream of radical speakers and films on campus while mouthing pious pronouncements as to the necessity of presenting all points of view to the students, while sitting by as any other view is shot down.

For years the academic community has closed its eyes to this situation. Now that it has a clear cut chance to stand up and be counted, some campus organizations and even majors in some departments have solemnly stood up for continued opposition under the guise of protecting the so-called rights of the oppressors to oppress.

Allen defended

To Daily Egyptian:

If I come as a surprise to some that until recently I neither met nor talked with Doug Allen. Since I did not know Allen personally I tended to accept as fact various accusations which his detractors made against him, for these accusations, even if true seemed to be of little consequence beside the real issues, issues which his detractors ignored and completely.

I tended the "aura" of Allen's stand against the prevailing illegalism of his critics. But now I see irrefutable evidence that even the most damaging of accusations brought against him—his supposed last respect for the open forum—are fabrications supported by facts.

The handling of the Douglas Allen tenure case is a measure, it would seem that the situation at SIU is worse than I had imagined.

Art thief beseeched

To the Daily Egyptian:

A letter to the art thief

Concerning the theft of my painting, "Queen Anastasia's Erotic Dream of Her Dada," from the art faculty recently, I compliment you! Your good taste in picking my work to add to your ever-growing collection of the last few years.

I feel honored to have it among other stolen art treasures such as the bust of Horace Mann, the Lincoln wood sculptures, pieces from visiting exhibits, etc.

You're a very lucky and rich collector. I value the painting at $100,000. Unfortunately, it is not unique, but it is unframed and unsigned. Therefore, I would appreciate it if you would return it, as I need the money.

Do you expect to work when you graduate?

Some years ago, college graduates with a liberal arts degree, if they were men, might be accepted into business. If they were alert and learned in their apprenticeship period, they could hope to advance. Women with such a degree would likely hear that they were hopelessly too slow. The cold fact fast you can you pun, for there was, and still is, in most firms, no interest in advancing women to responsible positions.

But teaching and social work were available for men and women uninterested in business, and for those inclined by academia, several years of hard work would be rewarded by a degree and a position. It's changed.

Business! The trend in business at least since World War II has been toward specialization. The problem of production is solved—the problem is now marketing. Creating demand where before there was none, test marketing the product, modifying it to suit test results, distributing it, and coordinating all the myriad details of the flow. And this process is still an art, not a science. The batting average of business is what professors call specialization. Businessmen want accountants, engineers, specialists, chemists, geologists, geophysicists, physicists, and engineers and ecologists. There will also be shortages in artistic and dental schools are not being expanded at a sufficient rate to train students interested in these fields, so it will continue to be hard to enter them.

It's wise to read the special periodicals in the field you're interested in and be aware so that you are likely to have up-to-date information on career prospects, but watch out for overly-optimistic articles.

Some sources of information are advisors in the various departments and University Placement. Watching the degrees desired by business recruiters, as printed in the Daily Egyptian, will give you a feel for current shortages.

The need for careful choice of field is even more important for career-oriented women since teaching, a primary source of professional employment for women in the past, will now be substantially closed. Other "women's professions" or fields that have employed substantial numbers of women in the past—registered nurses, librarians, home economists and medical laboratory technicians—are not expected to grow sufficiently to take up the slack.

Paced by prejudice, women and members of minorities are most likely to be employed if they enter fields in which growth is projected and in which there will be shortages of trained personnel.

Other fields besides the ones mentioned above that should have shortages are architects, draftsmen, science and engineering technicians, veterinarians, and statisticians.

It isn't too sensible to rain for a field if the field hasn't enough openings. Of course there is nothing wrong with attending college solely for a liberal education—if it is done on purpose.

Old hatreds, new friends

By Arthur Hoppe
Chronicle Features

Six months ago I had 800 million enemies where now I have 888 million PLUS dentists, but minus the angry chewing grade no.1 high school. An angry and intelligent group of people had been talking about me, discussing me, and questioning me twelve months ago. I was a leader of the liberal arts and social sciences.

The anger grew all week as picture followed picture from far-away China: a beaming Nixon shaking hands with a beaming Mao, a smiling Nixon toasting a graciously bowing Chou En-lai—the papers, the news magazines and my television set seemed crowded with laughing Nixons, chuckling Mao and wryly grinning Chou En-lai.

How warm and witty they all were. And the Chinese people! How friendly and kind and thoughtful and dedicated and happy with their lot. That's fine. I am glad to have 800 million new friends. I am grateful to Mr. Nixon for having the courage to give them to me—and me to them. And I am delighted that Mao and Chou went along with the deal.

How easy it all was.

Yet for 30 years I have been taught to hate and fear the Chinese people and their leaders. The people were automatons or automatons being driven from place to place by that driving power of the great revolutionary and economic strides China. The Chinese people were a tool of the imperialistic powers, which would use them as and when they were needed. For years my leaders have been teaching me that. They have led me into wars in Korea and Vietnam to preserve democracy and contain those bloody-handed Red tyrants.

For the same 30 years, Mao and Chou were teaching their 800 million people to hate and fear me. I was a running dog of imperialism, bent on destroying their revolution and ruling them again through corrupt capitalist warlords like Chiang Kai-

Trustees tell plans to drop eight VTI degree programs

By Richard Lemen
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

At their March meeting, the SIU Board of Trustees approved a proposal which will eliminate eight degree-granting programs at the Vocational-Technical Institute (VTI).

The programs to be phased out are accounting, machine drafting and design technology, professional pilot option of aviation technology, forest products, executive secretarial, cooperative rotating electrical power transmission operation of electronics technology and industrial data processing option of electronic data processing.

Admission to these programs will be ended. Associate degrees in the eliminated programs will not be granted after Sept. 15, 1973. Students who are not able to receive their degree by this date will be allowed to finish their work.

The proposal was presented to the board by Willis Malone, executive vice president. Malone told the board that the proposal was based on a year-long evaluation of VTI and its position in relation to the University and the junior college system.

Trustees ok dorm, apartment rates hike

Increases in residence hall and apartment rates have been approved by the SIU Board of Trustees.

At March meeting, the board approved a $10 increase in quarterly rates for all residence halls. The increase will begin fall quarter.

Currently, the rates are $275 per quarter for Brush Towers, Thompson Point and Newly Hall; $300 at the University Park trade; $335 for Southern Acres, and $360 for the VTI dormitory.

Room rates at Group Housing, which includes fraternity and sorority, will go up $7 per quarter. The present rate is $140 per quarter. Monthly rentals will be increased $3 at Southern Hills beginning Sept. 1.

Currently, efficiency apartments cost $84, one-bedroom apartments cost $104 and two-bedroom apartments cost $109 a month at Southern Hills.

Rent at the Elizabeth and University Court apartments will be increased $10 to $135 a month beginning July 1. Students desiring a single room anywhere on campus will have to pay an additional $10 per quarter starting fall quarter.

The reason given for the increases are the anticipated additional operating and fiscal costs. Operating costs are expected to rise because of increased utility charges, food costs, personal services and utility taxes. In the case of the Elizabeth and University Court apartments, required kitchen appliance replacement, painting, floor covering and other minor improvements are the reasons for the increase.

Malone said enrollment, the job market and the question of duplication were used as standards in making the evaluation.

"A working relationship with the community colleges has begun," Malone said. He said SIU President David R. Derge is going to meet with the deans of instruction of several of the community colleges on April 4 in the Marion Holiday Inn.

The board also endorsed and encouraged the administration to continue evaluating VTI programs. The administration has recommended that nine programs be revised. The programs which would be revised include data processing, tool and manufacturing technology (numerical control), correctional services, commercial graphics design, commercial photography, media technology (library assistant), construction technology (building), construction technology (civil) and secretarial and office specialties.

Programs which have been recommended to be retained in their present form are architectural technology, automotive technology, electronics technology, mortuary science and funeral service, dental hygiene, denial laboratory technology, physical therapy assistant, aviation technology, avionics and law enforcement.

New programs which might be formed include cooperative programs with neighboring community colleges, community college career teaching preparation, provision for "third-year" specialty education programs, bachelor-level programs, pre-service teaching internships and workshops for specialized teachers, career education for minority group individuals and increased cooperation between VTI and other campus units in cooperative course offerings and joint development of programs.

The board's actions are an attempt to bring VTI within the guidelines of Master Plan Phase III of the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE). The plan calls for the de-emphasizing of associate degree programs except in high-cost, low-demand areas and those for which the University is uniquely suited to offer.

Trustees approve MFA in theater, modification in MA degree program

Approval of a master of fine arts degree program in theater was granted by the SIU Board of Trustees at its March meeting.

Currently, the theater department offers the M.A. and M.F.A. degrees in theater. A Ph.D. in speech is offered by means of an integrated program with the speech department. Under the new plan, the M.S. degree would be dropped when the M.F.A. begins and the M.A. would be modified.

The M.F.A. will be open to students with a creative bent who are seeking training as theater artists. At least 25 more hours will be required, making a minimum of 75 hours in order to receive a degree. The thesis will also be creative rather than research-oriented.

In addition to required courses in the core requirement, the M.F.A. program would be required to spend two academic years working in one of three areas: directing, acting, design (asian, costume) or playwriting. A graduate student entering the M.F.A. program would be required to take a minimum of 23 hours of advanced courses beyond the core requirement. At least 12 of these hours would be spent on preparatory projects designated seminars and at four hours on a major final project to be regarded as a thesis.

For a thesis, a student would be allowed to direct a full-length play, design the sets, costumes or the lightning and sound for one or more public performances or perform a major acting assignment.

The program has been previously approved by an outside consultant and the Graduate School Council. Approval from the Illinois Board of Higher Education is still necessary.

Passover events set at Hillel

The Hillel Center will celebrate the first night of Passover, described as the Jewish festival of freedom, with a Seder meal at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

According to Rabbi Earl Vinecour, Seder will be held at the Hillel Center for the first two nights of the eight-day holiday, which he says originated from the Jewish exodus from Egypt and is the world's oldest continually observed holiday.

During these eight days, Rabbi Vinecour said, Jews abstain from eating food containing leavening and eat an unleavened bread, matzah, instead.

The Hillel Seders, he said, will have several hundred students attending and many students will be attending Seder at their private homes.

The Hillel Center will also send matzah to Russia and will have a special ceremony remembering Russian Jews, who are not allowed to celebrate Passover. A community Seder will be conducted by Hillel students, Rabbi Vinecour said.

Rabbi Vinecour said that many symbolic foods are used Seder meal, some of which have been taken over by Christianity. Hardboiled egg symbolizes fertility, the sacrificial bone symbolizes the Passover sacrifice, bitter herbs stand for the bitterness of oppression, greens symbolize rebirth, and spring, the four cups of wine symbolize joy and the matzah, the bread of affliction, he explained.

Jack Anderson to speak at SIU April 12

By University News Services

Controversial newspaper columnist Jack Anderson, whose syndicated "Washington Merry-go-Round" appears in more than 400 papers coast-to-coast, will deliver the Elijah P. Lovejoy Memorial Lecture to kick off the annual Journalism Week April 12-15 at SIU.

A proponent of the late Drew Pear­son, Anderson has been a reporter of the national political scene for 25 years. He first became associated with Pearson in 1947 and became his journalistic heir at Pearson's death a few years ago. Anderson was Washington editor of Parade Magazine from 1954 to 1968 and since that time has been Parade's bureau chief in the nation's capital.

Anderson is the co-author of four books: "McCarthy, the Man, the Senator, the Liar," in 1958, with Ronald May; "The Kaufman Story: 1941, with Fred Zinnem­thal; and with Drew Pearson, "USA-Soviet Relations: 1937-1947." His most recent book was "The Case Against Congress" 1968.

Journalism Week is sponsored by the SIU School of Journalism. The Lovejoy lecture honors the pre-Civil War editor of Alton, Ill., who was murdered in 1857 because of his anti-slavery editorials.

Ike and Tina Turner have been rescheduled for April 7 in the Carbondale Murdale Shopping Center. The concert was recently confirmed with the Turner manager Rhonda Graham via a telegram.

The Turners were previously scheduled to appear at SIU Arena Dec. 11. However, they were forced to cancel because the date had become unsuitable, Arena Management said Monday. Although a signed contract hadn't been received, Arena Management had been verbally assured that Ike and Tina agreed to the first date prior to the show being advertised and ticket sales.

W.D. Justice, Arena manager, said that the initial response to the first scheduled Turner contest was "terrific." Over $10,000 in ticket sales were obtained on the first day. "There were also numerous inquiries as to the possibility of the concert being rescheduled after it was cancelled," he said.

Due to the high demand and in an attempt to reschedule the Turner concert, Arena Management maintained contact with the Turners frequently since last December in an attempt to reschedule a concert, Justice said.

Tickets for the new concert will go on sale Thursday at 7:30 a.m. at the SIU Student Center Central Ticket Office. If tickets are still available following the first day of sales, they will go on sale Friday at Penny's Sav-Mart, Tempo and the SIU Arena. Tickets will be priced at $5.00, $4.50 and $5.00.

There will be two types of ticket purchases available at the Student Center Thursday. Two windows will be for the purchase of 19 or less tickets. The remaining window will be for the block purchases of 20 or more tickets. Due to the limited time between the beginning of the quarter and the ticket sales date, approved block applications will not be required.

Bill Searcy, Assistant Manager of the Arena, said that the telegram is considered to be a verbal commitment, which confirms in writing that the Turners will be at SIU.

"Last time," he said, "all we had was a verbal commitment."

Details of the contract are now being worked out. Searcy added that students who want tickets for the Turner show should go as early as possible, since he feels most of the good seats will be sold out by the end of the first day.

"My experience and that of others indicates that the kind of tickets we were enjoying with the first scheduled Turner concert usually means sell out or very high ticket sales," he said.

The Scott Brothers World, featuring Irene Scott and the Soul Majestics from Chicago will also appear as the opening act. Their group consists of a seven piece band which plays and sings soul music. Irene Scott is the featured vocalist for the group.

Ike and Tina do a raw primitive brand of soul music. Tina Turner sings and dances while Ike accompanies her on the piano.

U-Senate committee posts filled; Senate meeting times changed

The executive committee of the University Senate has named two new committee chairmen.

At its March 15 meeting, the committee appointed Tony Catanese to serve as chairman of the governance committee and William Atkinson to serve as chairman of the campus planning committee. Catanese, a graduate student, replaces William Lewis, professor of education, who was acting chairman. Atkinson is also vice president of the senate. Atkinson, an undergraduate student, replaces John Baker, professor of government. Baker resigned from the senate when he became a fulltime administrator. The executive committee also decided that the spring meetings of the senate will be held at 7 p.m. on the first Monday of each month in Lawson 301. The April meeting will be an exception. The meeting will be held April 10 instead of April 3 because of Easter.

The executive committee will meet again at 4 p.m. Monday.

Police arrest two on grass charge

By Barry Cleveland
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Two SIU students were arrested early Saturday morning and charged with violation of the Cannabis Control Act of 1977.

David A. Unstadcher, 10, and Kathleen A. Holmgen, 19, both of 412 E. Homer St., Carbondale, were taken into custody about 12:37 a.m. at their home.

They were arrested after police spotted what appeared to be a marijuana plant growing in a container on the window sill.

Police then searched the house and seized the plant, two bags of what was described as "dusty green substance," several bottles of pills and other articles.

The two students were taken to Jackson County Jail in Murphysboro and released on bail. They will appear in circuit court Tuesday morning.

Police also turned up what appeared to be marijuanas growing in a fire-ravaged mobile home early Sunday.

SIU Security Police and the Carbondale Fire Department were called to a fire in the trailer at Pleasant Valley Trailer Court located east of Carbondale, at 3:05 a.m. Sunday.

After a 10-minute fight to put out the fire, police entered the badly damaged trailer to determine whether or not there were occupants. No one was found inside, but police did turn up three plants which were identified as marijuanas and a small jar of dried marijuanas.

The occupants of the trailer, both SIU students, have apparently not returned from quarter break, police said. No arrests have been made.

Supreme Court upholds law banning cigarette ads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal law that has kept all cigarette advertising off radio and television form more than a year was approved 7 to 2 Monday by the Supreme Court.

Turned aside without comment or a hearing were appeals by the broadcasting industry claiming the ban restrained freedom of speech and discriminates in favor of newspapers and magazines, which carry cigarette advertisements.

Muskie wins primary in Southern Illinois

By David L. Mahan
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

At the top of the ballot for the Democratic, Sen. Edmund Muskie ousted Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota by more than 21,000 votes in the 24th Congressional District preferential contest. The totals were 37,518 for Muskie and 14,400 for McCarthy.

But Muskie did not do so well in the contest for delegate to the Democratic Nomination Convention to be held this summer in Miami. In that contest, uncommitted delegates made a clean sweep in the 24th Congressional District. The uncommitted candidates, many of them party regulars, took the seven 24th District seats at the convention, as well as the three alternate spots.

On the Republican side, all three candidates supported President Nixon's renomination. Nixon also received 2,879 write-in votes in his party's presidential preference contest.

Some Republicans wrote-in Alabama Gov. George Wallace, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination.

Rep. Kenneth Gray, D-West Frankfort, was renominated by his party to run in the 24th District for a possible 10th term in Congress. Gray was unopposed in the primary.

James W. Sanders, Marion, was the winner in a write-in contest on the Republican ballot to oppose Gray in November.

In uncontested races, Kenneth Busbee, D-Carbondale, and State Rep. Gale Williams, R-Murphysboro, were chosen by their parties to face each other in November for the 24th District seat in the Illinois Senate. Williams, who is completing his fifth term as a state representative, is seeking his first term in the state senate, as is Busbee, who lost in his bid for a seat in the General Assembly two years ago. James R. Kerley, Murphysboro, defeated Wilma Burks of Carbondale, to be the Democratic candidate for circuit clerk. Kerley has been circuit clerk since 1964. Mrs. Burke was a deputy clerk from 1964 to 1976.

The race for the Democratic nomination for circuit clerk was the only contested slot for a Jackson County office in the March 21 primary. The Republican nominee for circuit clerk is Billy G. Madison.

Coroner Harry Flynn was renominated in the Democratic primary. He will be faced in November by Republican Wiley B. Parrish.

State's Attorney Ron Briggs received 2,879 votes in the Republican primary. There was no Democratic nominee for state's attorney.

Board hears faculty evaluation plan

By Richard Lorenz
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Approval was given by the Board of Trustees at its March meeting to terminate faculty at the Edwardsville campus of SIU because of budget reduction.

The four units to be eliminated are the labor institute, international service division, extension division and the division of technical and adult education. The faculty members in each unit will be transferred to appropriate academic units.

John S. Rendleman, president of SIUE, submitted an information report on a proposed faculty evaluation to the board. The evaluation, developed by the SIUE University Senate, will begin soon.

The senate plan establishes teaching excellence, academic leadership and professional excellence as the three criteria for the evaluation.

According to this policy,

Board formally approves campus parking rules

A resolution which formally establishes parking and traffic regulations for University employees and students was approved at the March meeting of the SIU Board of Trustees.

According to the resolution, fees and charges would be as follows: parking in areas requiring a decal without having purchased a decal, $3; parking in an area requiring a decal without displaying a decal, $3 if paid within five days of notice or $5 thereafter; parking in metered stalls where time has expired, $3 if paid within five days or $3 thereafter; improper parking, $3 if paid within five days or $5 thereafter; and parking in an area on campus other than in a designated lot or space, $25.

The board also ratified and adopted the motor vehicle regulations which the administration has previously published. President David R. Derge was given the power to take any administrative actions necessary to implement the regulations.

The resolution was a reaction to a recent decision in a parking fine case in which a judge decided that University regulations were not clear and that the University did not have the right to withhold money from paychecks to pay traffic fines. The case is now under appeal.

Two 'Soledad Brothers' freed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An all-white jury Monday acquitted the two surviving Soledad Brothers, black convicts charged with murdering a white prison guard.

The two—John Cluehette and Fleets Brangue—and George Jackson, a third Soledad Brother who died in San Quentin violence last Aug. 21, the prosecution's Angela Davis is charged with plotting to free them.

"The verdict is beautiful" Miss Davis said in San Jose where: the black Communist militant is on trial for kidnap, conspiracy and murder.

Budget cut kills four units at Edwardsville

Diane Bresnahan, Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Budget cuts at SIU resulted in four units being terminated this summer. These units are the labor institute, international service division, extension division and the division of technical and adult education.

Each unit will have faculty transferred to an appropriate academic unit.

According to this policy, faculty evaluation will be based on "ratings of a faculty member's service to his students, expressed by students, alumni and colleagues." Academic leadership is to be measured by "attainment of the degree to which the faculty member participates and stimulates others in the development of research, teaching or service programs at SIUE." Judgment of professional excellence is to be based on professional colleagues plus the quality of the faculty member's publications or creative works.

Student participation in the evaluation process will come through the use of a student opinion poll of teaching effectiveness which will be distributed to students the week before finals on a voluntary basis. Each faculty unit will determine the kind of questionnaires to be used in its own classes.

The results will be made available within one year to a committee of students and faculty appointed by the senate. This committee will make long-term recommendations and feasibility studies.

An evaluation of the faculty at SIUE at Carbondale is also scheduled, but President David R. Derge has given no details. He had previously announced that careful and continuing reviews of individual faculty members, regardless of academic rank and tenure, will be made.

The board also approved the appointment of two department chairmen at SIUE—Donald T. King, associate professor of counselor education, was named chairman of the department of counselor education. Earl E. Larkson, associate professor of mathematics, was named chairman of the department of mathematical studies.

The board did not approve a plan concerning additional student housing at Edwardsville.

Fun-raising banquet planned

By University News Service

Fund raising activities to support the 1972 Special Olympics to be held at SIU will begin with a Tag Day April 8 in towns and cities throughout Southern Illinois, said Robert L. Gergen, public relations officer.

A fund raising banquet on April 15 also will be held at SIU, he said.

The Special Olympics, now in its 15th year, is sponsored by Southern Illinois Special Olympics, Inc., and consists of competitive events in track and field, gymnastics and swimming for mentally retarded persons, Gergen said.

Some 700 letters have been sent to mayors of towns and cities in a 44-county area of Southern Illinois asking them to proclaim April 8 as Special Olympics Tag Day. Community service groups in each town will be asked to solicit donations by selling printed tags bearing facts about Special Olympics meets which are conducted on an international scale, Gergen said.

Funds collected during Tag Day will be used to conduct the Southern Illinois Qualification Meet on May 12 at SIU and to send Special Olympics competitors from Illinois to the 1972 International Special Olympics Meet to be held this summer in Anaheim, Calif.

Remodeling for Allyn approved

Contract awards totaling $474,515 have been approved for the remodeling of the Allyn building.

The SIU Board of Trustees granted the awards at its March meeting. The $4.4-million building will get new plumbing, heating, ventilating and electrical systems. A new elevator-stairwell wing will be added for the convenience of wheelchair students.

The building formerly housed SIU's teacher training school. Since 1961, the School of Art has used the building. It is eventually destined to be used as a general classroom facility.

General construction work will be handled by W.C. Simmons Construction Co., Inc. of Decatur. Plumbing, heating, refrigeration and piping will be installed by Blaine, Inc. of Centralia, and ventilation will be done by the Fowler Co. of Centralia. The electrical system will be installed by Anderson Electric Inc. of Danville.

Architects expect the remodeled building to be ready by summer 1973.

Winning times and scores from the May 15 qualification meet will designate the state representatives from Southern Illinois who will compete in the international meet. Winners of the Chicago regional Special Olympics meet also will represent Illinois at the international meet, Gergen said.

April 15 is the last day to register for competition in the qualification meet at SIU, he said. Registration is handled by Southern Illinois Special Olympics, Inc., at the SIU Department of Recreation, 438-4331.

Gergen said the second annual fund raising banquet will be held at 7 p.m. April 15 at the SIU Student Center. Ballrooms A, B and C. Professional sports celebrities from the Chicago area will be guest speakers, but names have not been confirmed, he said. Entertainment, demonstrations and arts and crafts exhibits will be sponsored by children from the Allyn Bowen Children's Center in Decatur and other area institutions.

The banquet is open to the public. Prices are $5 per person and $25 per couple. Some $6,000 was raised last year, Gergen said.

Rapists take vacation over spring break

No rapes were reported to Carbondale Police during the Easter break just ended, Carbondale Lt. Ed Hogan said.

Hogan attributed the lack of assaults to a severely diminished female pedestrian on local streets and highways.

Police suspect that at least two men are involved in the flurry of rapes reported since the beginning of the year, Hogan said.

There are reports of two types. Film hitchhikers have been picked up in the area, taken to remote areas and raped. Different cars have been used in each case. The victims described the rapists as assailants in similar terms, Hogan said.

Two women have been approached from behind at night by men on foot, threatened and forced to accompany them to darker areas where they were raped.

Police are continuing to investigate.

Clark seeks people’s aid, not pity for Squids team

By Ken Stewart
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Things haven’t been the same for the Squids since Ray Clark came to Southern Illinois last fall.

The Squids-SIU’s wheelchair basketball team—were harshly introduced to the sport last year and ended up with a 1-4 record.

But that was a year ago. Since the coming of Clark, the Squids have won the runner-up spot in the Midwest Conference this past season and went to the regionals as the nation’s No. 1 college wheelchair basketball team. However, other amateur teams were also invited to the regionals in Carbondale.

SIU was quickly bumped off in the opening game of the tournament, by losing to the Indianapolis Olympians, 78-41. Clark’s one-game appearance (14 points) in the five-team regional was enough to put him on the tournament’s class three all-star team.

A relatively green SIU team found itself facing some seasoned veterans when paired with Indianapolis. The Olympians have been playing since 1946 and some of the original players are still on the team.

But it was not Indianapolis who would be crowned national champion this year. Detroit and the Chicago Pacemakers finished 1-2 in the regionals and nationals.

The Squid’s wheel of fortune ground to a stop temporarily at the regionals, but it first began to turn last summer in Jamaica.

The small Caribbean commonwealth was hosting the Pan American Paraplegic Games and wheelchair veteran Harry Jakobson met Clark, a member of the U.S. national basketball team.

It didn’t take much persuading to get the 25-year-old Aurora native to matriculate at Southern instead of the University of Illinois.

Unlike SIU, Illinois has backed its program up with money including a $550,000 rehabilitation center.

But Clark chose Southern where he had to dish out as much as $100 out of his own pocket for equipment to play basketball for the Squids. He said “The U of I has a baby-type attitude.”

“For Illinois they deal with younger athletes just out of high school and they’re treated and pampered like babies.”

“I like to feel that I’m competing on the same level as the Squids with that competitive sports atmosphere.”

Clark said most “able-bodied” people look at paraplegics with pity. “We want people’s help, not their pity,” he said.

“We’re able to get things done and it shows through with wheelchair sports.” Clark added. “We want people to support us because of the ability we have, not because of a disability.”

Clark wants SU to take a more positive attitude towards wheelchair sports. He wants the physical education department to add three additional courses for paraplegics, wheelchair basketball, track and field and swimming for the disabled. This would be more productive than the present restrictive P.E. which Clark calls a “waste of time.”

Former athletes to gather for ‘Abe’ Martin testimonial

Glenn “Abe” Martin, who retired this past fall after 43 years service in SUU athletics, will be honored at an April 26 testimonial banquet.

Friends, former associates, students and athletes who played under Martin will be invited to the banquet, to be held at the Ramada Inn in Carbondale.

Ceremonies honoring Martin will continue April 30, which has been proclaimed “Glenn (Abe) Martin Day.” He will receive special recognition prior to the SUU-Western Kentucky baseball game.

During his tenure at SUU, Martin served as an athlete, athletic director, baseball, basketball and football coach plus coordinator of intramural athletics.

He revived baseball in 1947 and in 10 years recorded a 277-154-2 record. In 1967, he was admitted to the American Association of Baseball Coaches Hall of Fame.

His achievements in football included a Corn Bowl championship in 1967. In basketball, he won an NAIA crown in 1946 and was later voted into the NAIA Basketball Hall of Fame.

Reservations for the Martin banquet can be made through Reid Martin, 8 Hunter Woods, Carbondale.
Tennis team finds losses, injuries on southern trip

By Ernie Schwebt
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Southern Illinois' tennis team returned from its annual spring trip through the South with a dismal 0-13 record and an alarmingly long injury list.

The Salukis finished their trip through the warm country with a 2-5 record, losing to nationally ranked University of Miami twice, Florida State, Mississippi State and University of Alabama.

The wins came over the University of Florida, 7-2, on the first day of the journey and Yale, 6-3, on the fourth day.

The Salukis might have come home with a more impressive record had it not been for injuries to key players. Perhaps the most significant injury was to Jorge Ramirez who pulled a shoulder muscle and didn't compete after the second match.

Ramirez said the injury bothered him most when he hits his backhand. He also said that he can't compete Friday's home opener against Indiana, Missouri and Northern Iowa.

Also on the injured list is last year's No. 4 singles man Ryan Briscoe also with an injured shoulder.

"Ray was almost unbeatable on the tennis court," said coach Dick LeFevre, "his injury is almost a chronic thing and we are still worried about him."

Briscoe was an important cog in the Saluki tennis machine last year as he compiled an 11-9 record and won valuable points in the Salukis' 16th place NCAA finish.

Rounding out the injury list is first-year man Chris Gunning. The freshman from Auckland, New Zealand is having back problems.

LeFevre said he couldn't tell which of the three if any would be able to compete at full strength in the opener. "We just hope we can get them all in shape by Friday," he said.

The injury problem also throws the race for "who plays at what position?" up for grabs. During the trip Graham Snook, one Saluki who managed to return to SIU uninjured, played excellent tennis, according to LeFevre.

Snook played at No. 2 singles last season while Ramirez competed at No. 1. Chris Greendale played at No. 3 while Mike Clayton was at No. 5.

The final singles spot was filled by Clay Tudor who didn't come out for this season's ten match season.

Ramirez said the injury might not keep him out of the action so the rest of the lineup is still up in the air.

Golf coach keeps faith despite tourney disaster

By Jim Braun
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Although his golf squad placed seventh out of ten schools in a spring break tournament, SIU golf coach Lynn Holder remains confident.

"The tourney featured some of the best golf teams in the country," he said, referring to last weekend's West Florida State Invitational held in Gulf Breeze. "Most of the schools had already competed in earlier spring tournaments."

The three-day affair saw Southern's final score of 917 well off the 807 pace set by the champions from University of Alabama. Auburn placed second.

The No. 1 finisher for Southern was senior Greg Young who carded 226 score for three rounds. The Quincy native was followed closely by senior Rich Tock (128) and freshmen Brad Miller (30).

"Considering the strong wind and the length of the course, our top three boys had outstanding scores," Holder said. He pointed out that Santa Rosa Country Club is 6800 yards long and difficult.

Rounding out SIU's individual finishes were Jay Wilkinson, Vito Saputo and Dave Perkins with respective marks of 241, 242 and 243. "If our fourth through sixth-place finishers had shot better scores," Holder said, "we would have probably finished among the top three schools."

The SIU linksters meet their first dual-meet challenger, the University of Missouri at St. Louis at 1:15 p.m. Tuesday, April 4 in a home match at the Crab Orchard Golf Club.

The 1972 edition of the Saluki golf team returned almost in full force after last season's 9-1 squad. Gone is 1971 captain Harvey Ott, who averaged 78.9 strokes per 18 holes last year. Ott has since turned professional and is currently a golf pro at a Milwaukee course.

"We still expect to have a good team this year," Holder contends. "We should be right near the top at this spring's conference meet."

Southern finished third in last year's Midwestern Conference golf meet, following winner Ball State and Illinois State.

Holder, now in his 26th year as SIU golf coach, thinks that the present conference is as good as any in the Midwest. Last year's record proves it as MC teams won five of eight matches against the Big Ten.

When asked which teams on the 1972 schedule would present the biggest problems for SIU, Holder said, "all of our matches this spring will be tough."

The Saluki linksters will compete in only four dual matches this year but face four future invitations, excluding June's NCAA championships.

IM announces spring pool hours

The SIU Intramural Office has announced its spring quarter hours for using the University School Gym and Pulliam Pool.

The pool will be open Monday through Thursday, 8 p.m.-11 p.m.; Wednesday from 9 p.m.-11 p.m.; Friday from 2 p.m.-11 p.m.; Saturday from 1 a.m.-11 p.m. and Sunday from 1 a.m.-5 p.m. and 7 p.m.-11 p.m.

The gym facilities and weight room will be open Monday through Friday from 3 p.m.-11 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from 1 p.m.-11 p.m.
SIU boasts 6-2-1 spoils from South

Eden had two of Southern's three hits and an RBI.

GAME SIX. Miami, 6. Southern 1. The Lakers picked off Mike Brooking. Miami 6 runs, 6 hits. SIU 0, 4 hits. Southern Illinois was shutout for the first time in 40 games. Two years ago, Southern Illinois shutout whitewashed SIU, 7-0, in the NCAA Double-A Baseline.

This most recent blanking found SIU hitters only the third when Ken Kral singled. And hitters again until the seventh when Thomas doubled. Southern Illinois picked up an elusive inning single by Liggett and Thomas in the fifth.

Brooking went the distance, holding Miami to a single run until sixth when he yielded a two-run homer. Miami gained four runs in the eighth on two singles, two doubles and six walks. Oddly, Brooking fanned 12 while the Salukis whiffed just five times.

Game Five. Southern Illinois 2, Michigan State 2. SIU 2 runs, 3 hits. Michigan State 2 runs, 3 hits, 3 walks. SIU made one scoring error, while Michigan State committed none. This was the third time in six meetings with Michigan State that SIU would be blanked.

Despite the triple jump, it was a big day for the Lakers. MIami swept the 100 and 200 yard dashes with Crockett, Patterson and Smith finishing first and second.

Bill Sennett, Jr. of the 1000 and 1100 mile was more impressive because Sennett "stuck his foot over the board at least eight inches before the officials didn't see it," said Hargning. The jump was picked up and he would have doubled the lead.

Swimmers finish 1st in nationals

In one of the toughest fields ever to compete in the NCAA swimming championships, the Southern Illinois swimming team raced to an 11th place finish last weekend in the 200-yard freestyle relay at West Point’s pool.

The Salukis showed 42 points in the three day national meet, eight points below last year’s production and second highest in SIU history. The meet was a highly contested event, won by Indiana.

Second place went to USC.

The Salukis finished 11th in last year’s meet too, but Saluki coach Ray Essick doesn’t feel this year’s identical finish in anyway reflects the squad quality.

“Since we are more a championship meet type of team, by God, an 11th place finish is excellent,” he said.

Essick also said the entire collegiate swimming field had improved greatly over last season which would give the U.S. a good shot at winning loads of medals in this summer’s Olympic swimming.

“American swimming if further ahead of the rest of the world than any other country this year,” he said.

In this country, swimming ball which no body else plays,” Essick said.

In all the Salukis broke seven school records with Pat Miles leading the way with two. Miles’ first mark came in the 500-yard freestyle where he finished ninth in 4:59.3, his best of the season. Indiana’s John Kinsella won the event, setting a new American record.

Miles also finished fifth in the 1,600-yard freestyle, setting another varsity mark of 15:46. On his way to the 1,600 he broke the 1,000-yard freestyle record of 9:30.5. In all, the Saluki man from Little Rock, Ark., accounted for 14 points which ranks him second in total points won by a freshman in national competition.

Last season Dale Korner accounted for 19 of SIU’s 50 points. This season Korner placed second and also broke the 1,000-yard freestyle record with a 9:26.0. Korner’s finish was good for seventh points. Stanford’s Brian Job won the event in 9:20.0.

The final SIU varsity record went to McGinley who swam a 1:41.8 in the 200-yard freestyle, and placed 15th.

As a result of their finishes in their respective races, Korner and Dickson were named All-Americans as were both SIU relay teams.

The Salukis next competition will be in the A&M’s on April 6-8 in Dallas. The results of the meet will be the Olympic Trials slated for Chicago in August.

Trackmen look OK in Florida

Several SIU track records fell during the Salukis’ week-long stay in the balmy climes of Florida.

While the school marks were crumbling, so was some of the varnish on claims that Florida is a very healthy place.

The Salukis returned to Carbondale this weekend after a week with Florida State, S4-U2, and being edged by the University of Florida, 7-27, in dual meets.

Hartog was putting on a real impressive showing in the Florida Relays.

“We would have had a fantastic relay if North Carolina-Central had stayed home,” said Saluki coach Lew Hartzog, who is suffering from larragitus picked up on the trip in the Sunshine State.

Augmented by some of the top runners from the U.S. and other North Carolina Central (NUCC), dominated the Florida Relays although no scores were kept. Southern Illinois played a good second fiddle.

SIU’s 440 and 800 yard relay teams—Eddie Sutton, Terry Erickson, Stanley Patterson and Ivory Crockett—set new school records on the track but was edged out at the finish line by the No. 1 team.

The final team of in 40.1 (old mark for SIU was 40.4) and SIU’s 880 was clocked in 2:33.4 (knocking a full second off the old record) to North Carolina’s 1:22.7, NCCU’s time would have been a world record had been recorded a year ago, according to Hartzog.

Southern’s mile relay team finished third behind winner NCCU and runner-up Alabama-Georgia Smith, Crockett, Sutton and Erickson comprised the Saluki team.

Hartog scratched the distanced relays because Ken Nailer, who has been suffering from food poisoning and that, was not recuperating in the sub-tropical climate. Also, teammate Dave Hill was suffering from food poisoning.

In other action at the Relays, Mike Bernstein and Mike England, both of the Saluki track, were good second fiddle.

Essick doesn’t feel this year’s identical finish in anyway reflects the squad quality.

“We felt the Saluki man from Little Rock, Ark., accounted for 14 points which ranks him second in total points won by a freshman in national competition. Last season Dale Korner accounted for 19 of SIU’s 50 points. This season Korner placed second and also broke the 1,000-yard freestyle record with a 9:26.0. Korner’s finish was good for seventh points. Stanford’s Brian Job won the event in 9:20.0.

The final SIU varsity record went to McGinley who swam a 1:41.8 in the 200-yard freestyle, and placed 15th.

As a result of their finishes in their respective races, Korner and Dickson were named All-Americans as were both SIU relay teams.

The Salukis next competition will be in the A&M’s on April 6-8 in Dallas. The results of the meet will be the Olympic Trials slated for Chicago in August.

Southern Illinois' baseball team returned home Sunday from Florida, carrying a 6-2-1 record and not at all happy about it.

As first baseman Denisy Thomas said, “We played really shabby but we won anyhow.”

Nevertheless, the Salukis started quicker than last year when they were NCAA runner-ups behind Southern California. Last year’s spring trip to California was a disaster.

While down south last week, SIU won each of three games in Columbus, Ga., then fell to a 3-5-1 finish in the Sun Belt Regional. That was good for second place.

The tourney title went to Miami (4-2) with Michigan State third (3-3-1) and Ohio State fourth (2-4-1).

Radison and Danny Thomas were named to the all-tourney team.

When the Salukis began their final game, a 7-3 win over Miami, they had no title hopes because of a 2-4 tie with the Mustangs.

That tie cost the Salukis their title hopes but did not leave Richard “itch” Jones bitter. “We knew of the understanding no inning would start after 7-45,” the third-year coach said.

“I was very aware of what happened and not bitter at all. In fact, we beat Michigan State the first time (3-2) in a game that only went seven innings for the win. Southern’s 2-2 tie with Michigan State was a 10-inning affair.

That game was a game-game wrap-up:

GAME ONE: Southern Illinois 2, Austin Peay 0. Winning pitcher: Jim Fischer. SIU 2 runs, 5 hits, Austin Peay 0 runs, 3 hits.

Fischer worked the first three innings, fanning six batters and fanned five. He held Austin Peay scoreless in the first, fanning three straight, after allowing a single. Double and.wait to load the bags.

The Salukis picked up their only runs in the third on singles by Thomas and Larry “Mouse” Calafuti plus walks to Steve Regenold and John Calafuti.

GAME TWO: Southern Illinois 14, Columbus College 1. Winning pitcher: Steve Randall. SIU 3 runs, five hits, Columbus College 2 runs, 7 hits.

Southern Illinois had its biggest inning in the fifth, collecting two runs on just one hit, Edens’ double.

GAME FIVE: Ohio State 4, Southern Illinois 1. Losing pitcher: Scott Fischer. Ohio State 4 runs, 8 hits; SIU 1 run, three hits.

The Buckeyes made the most of their lone second inning hit, scoring three runs. After retiring two men, Wallemate yielded two free passes, then a homer.

Starrick on second team

‘Mouse’ all-conference

In a surprise move, Midwestern Conference head coaches have voted Saluki guard John “Mouse” Garrett first team All-Conference.

Teammate Greg Starrick was voted to the second team.

Only unanimous choices on the first team were scoring champ Doug Collins of Illinois State, plus Jerry Zielinski and Jim Rosey by both league championship Northern Illinois. Joining Garrett at the other guard is NIU’s Billy Harris.

Second team choices aside from Starrick are Ball State forwards Jim Regenold and Chris Collins, center Ron DeVries of Illinois State and guard Dan Bush from Indiana State.

Garrett and NIU’s Zielinski are lone seniors on the first team. Collins and Harris are juniors, Braday a sophomore.

NIU’s Tom Jorgenson was named Coach-of-the-Year.
