Football Team To Have 3 Captains

Harry Bobbitt, Jim Minton and Larry Wagner had been elected co-captains of Southern's football team for next year.

Bobbitt, who is a junior from Carbondale, led the Salukis as a defensive back last year and will probably see a lot of action this year in coach Carmen Piccone's new offense as a flanker back.

Minton, a 6-2, 210-pound linebacker, is a senior from St. Anne, Ill. A key performer for last year's squad, playing middle line - backer, Minton will most likely go both ways next year. One of the most hard hitting linemen on the squad, Minton will probably see action as an offensive guard as well as a linebacker on defense next year.

Wagner, who is called "Wags" by his teammates, is a 6-0, 205-pound guard from Overland, Mo. Wagner, who didn't see too much action as a second string guard last year, figures to be a starting lineman for next year's squad. Wagner is a senior.

The Salukis wound up their spring practice Saturday at an intra-squad game in which the first team was made up largely of "youngsters." Only one senior made the team.

The 1963 football season opens September 21 against Evansville College there. The first home game will be September 28 against Bowling Green.

New Housing Regulations Released

Sectioning Will Move To Center

Students going through the Sectioning Center this month should take a long look as they stand in line. It may be their last encounter with the familiar cramped quarters in the house where sectioning has been conducted for the past several years.

A new location is being prepared for Sectioning Center in the University Center. R.B. Jacobsen of the University Architect's Office said the preparation work by carpenters is expected to be completed by the last of this month.

Clarence G. Dougherty, director of the University Center, said plans are for the sectioning operation to be moved to the Center as soon as possible after the carpenters work is completed.

The 4,200 square feet that will be occupied by the Sectioning Center will be on the same floor as the Ballroom and will be directly above the University Book Store, Jacobsen said. It will be roughly one-half the width of the Center and one-fifth the Center's length.

Carpenters started work on the area about two weeks ago.

To Become Effective September 1, 1963

Copies of the new SIU Housing Regulations approved by the Board of Trustees were released yesterday by the Housing Office. The 19-page statement of standards was mailed to householders.

Mrs. Anita Kuo, supervisor of off-campus housing, said the new regulations apply to both off-campus and on-campus housing for the Carbondale campus and also the Edwardsville campus.

According to a resolution adopted by the Board of Trustees and included in the Housing Regulations report, beginning Sept. 1, 1963, single undergraduate students will be permitted to reside only in those accommodations which have been classified by the Administration as "Accepted Physical Facilities."

Minimum standards for "Accepted Physical Facilities" are set down in the new policy statement.

The resolution also provides that criteria for "Accepted Living Centers" will be recommended to the Board next April to stipulate minimum standards for the fall quarter of 1965.

Mrs. Kuo said that sign-cards designating housing as being "Accepted Living Centers" are also being issued at the present time, but are currently not required. In order to be designated as an "Accepted Living Center," a house must meet the standards for an "Accepted Physical Facility" and also must not discriminate against students because of race or nationality.

When the standards are revised and regulations for "Accepted Living Center," to be effective in the fall of 1965, are declared minimal for housing, discrimination will be unacceptable if a house is to be approved.

"By 1965," Mrs. Kuo said, "there should be no discrimination in housing against any student acceptable to the University and in good standing."

Many of the regulations set down in the newly-released standards are the same as those which the Housing Office has operated under in the past. There are several changes, however.

No single undergraduate student may live in unsupervised housing without the permission of the Housing Office. A supervised house is defined as "a student rooming house in which an adult or a Resident Fellow approved by the Housing Office lives on the premises, maintains the house in compliance with University Policies and Standards and agrees to and does enforce University regulations relating to student conduct."

Any single undergraduate student who resides in accommodations not designated as "Accepted Physical Facility" or "Accepted Living Center" shall be subject to disciplinary action.

In order that a housing facility may be given an "accepted" classification, the householder must first fill out an Application of Acceptance which may be obtained at the Housing Office. On the application card the householder signs an agreement to conform to housing policies of SIU and to standards governing student housing.

Accepted houses will be required to use rental agreement

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., said today two Soviet trawlers heavily equipped with electronic devices were spotted Tuesday morning in U. S. waters off southern Florida.

He demanded in a House speech that the government do something about violations of U. S. territorial waters and take steps to guard Cape Canaveral space operations "from any possible Soviet espionage."

WASHINGTON

Racial troubles in Birmingham, Ala., were a focal point of discussion yesterday in the weekly breakfast conference of President Kennedy and Democratic congressional leaders.

The Senate leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, said that the leaders and the President "hope that in that city the local elements will be able to bring about a solution of the uneasy situation existing at the present time."

President Kennedy has sent troops into Alabama under a federal law that Alabama Gov. George Wallace says violates an article of the U. S. Constitution.

The U. S. Supreme Court evidently never has fully tested the constitutionality of the law, which was passed by Congress in the post-Civil War Reconstruction Period.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.

Illinois Republican Senate leaders agreed at a meeting with Gov. Otto Kerner Tuesday to pass an emergency appropriation for May and June relief checks.

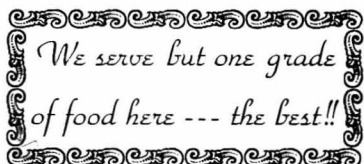

Sen. George Drach of Springfield, GOP Senate majority whip, announced the agreement and said he would recommend its acceptance by a Republican Senate caucus. Drach said that as part of the compromise, it also was agreed the legislature should go ahead immediately with plans to place ceilings on grants for the two-year budget period beginning July 1.

WASHINGTON

The White House said President Kennedy will ask Congress for authority to retaliate if the British government seizes U. S. planes in a dispute over fares on North Atlantic air routes.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the bill would be sent to Congress late Tuesday.

College Bowl Contestant Mixes Beauty And Brains

Who says beauty and brains don't mix?

Well one SIU coed could disapprove that saying, because Judy Sink has plenty of both.

As far as beauty is concerned, Judy is a contestant in the Miss Southern Illinois contest to be held at Herrin next month. In the brains department, Judy has the distinction of being one of the 16 finalists from the Carbondale campus, vying for a position on G.E. College Bowl next October.

It seems unusual for a girl, who is pretty enough to be in a beauty pageant and at the same time show off her mental attributes. The 16 finalists are probably all stereotyped "egg-heads" but Judy obviously does not classify herself in this category.

In fact she seems to think that the ridged, competition is "a lot of fun."

"I just go over my English at night and I read Mythology books, news magazines, and art books from cover to cover," said the blue-eyed beauty, "Mythology just fascinates me and I'm good at identifying musical pieces."

The amount of studying can be attested to because of the fact that her room is just cluttered with loads of books of all types. But strangely enough, the brown-haired junior who is from Springfield, rarely burns the "midnight oil" or goes to bed later than 11 o'clock.

JUDY SINK

"I have a full day, going to classes from 8 to 12 and then working from 1 to 5. I also have a night class," she said dragging on a cigarette. "I do all my studying at night. I go to the library quite a bit and sometimes spend all night there."

But for those of you who are thinking that Judy is nothing but an "egg head," forget it. The tall coed, who stands 5-5 and weighs 118-pounds "lives it up on the weekends."

She dates a lot and hardly ever stays home on Friday or Saturday nights. "I have a little trouble with guys who think that I am superior to them because of this thing, but that's ridiculous. I'm dating a fella now who thinks that way, but I think he's got a lot on the ball--he's just out of practice," commented Judy.

Nineteenth century classical music is Judy's favorite pastime when she is not studying, or dating, or competing in beauty contests, or modeling.

The Zoo Keepers Can Stay But The Wild Life Has To Go

Ever hear of Frank Rinella or Bob McGuire? They'll probably never go down in history as brave hunters like Frank "Bring Em Back Alive" Buck or the diminutive Clyde Beatty, but if they continue at their strange hobby, you can be sure they'll come close.

McGuire and Rinella, who by mere coincidence bears Buck's first name, have started a menagerie of their own, and they didn't have to search into the darkest wilds of Africa for their specimens.

The hills and creeks of southern Illinois are their "Africa" and their "zoo" was, until University regulations caught up with them, room 202 in Warren Hall at Thompson Point.

Rinella, a sophomore zoology major, and McGuire, a freshman physical education major, are roommates and collected two young cottontail rabbits, two snakes, a shrew, a toad, a frog, a starfish, a clam, and 150 minnows, and used their room as their "zoo."

The "safari" got under way when Rinella discovered a nest of rabbits while doing some gardening work for a Carbon-dale woman.

"I saw a cat go after them," Rinella explained "And I just rescued them. The cat got a hold of one of them and broke its leg. I brought them home and showed them to Bob."

The boys would save their own lettuce and carrots from Lentz Hall and take it up to their pets. "When there weren't any salads," said Frank, "We would go out at night and pick grass and clover for them."

The entire hobby is probably the most inexpensive one one could possibly find, for the boys have nature's resources right in their backyard. As far as feeding the snakes and toads, "We would go out to the campus lake and catch a few minnows to feed them. "But the shrew was a problem," sighed Frank, "All he did was eat, we'd

"We had to get rid of the water snake because he stunk too much," Frank simply explained.

But feeding and smelling aren't the only problems in maintaining their hobby because Frank and Bob live with 118 other men, including two other boys in their own room.

One roommate who is apparently afraid of the snakes, would not comment about his feelings on the subject. But one resident, who lives next door to the "menagerie" bravely replied, "It doesn't bother me---as long as they keep it in their room."

Frank and Bob were planning to get rid of their roommates, jokingly of course, so they could have more room for other animals. But University officials suggested that the boys find another abode for their animals, not so jokingly of course.

They complied with the University's wishes but still intend to keep up their hobby---stamps anyone?

Summer Jobs Still Available

Students who are interested in campus jobs this summer should contact the Student Work Office as soon as possible, according to Charles J. Carlsen of that office.

Carlsen said there still are a number of spring quarter jobs available which will carry over into the summer.

The most effective way to be sure of a summer job is to take one of these spring jobs and work right into the summer months.

The jobs available are largely clerical, janitorial and food services but more areas will be available as the term continues.

Students who are registered with the work office should stop in to bring their records up to date.

"SHE WAS ONLY THE DEAN OF MEN'S DAUGHTER"

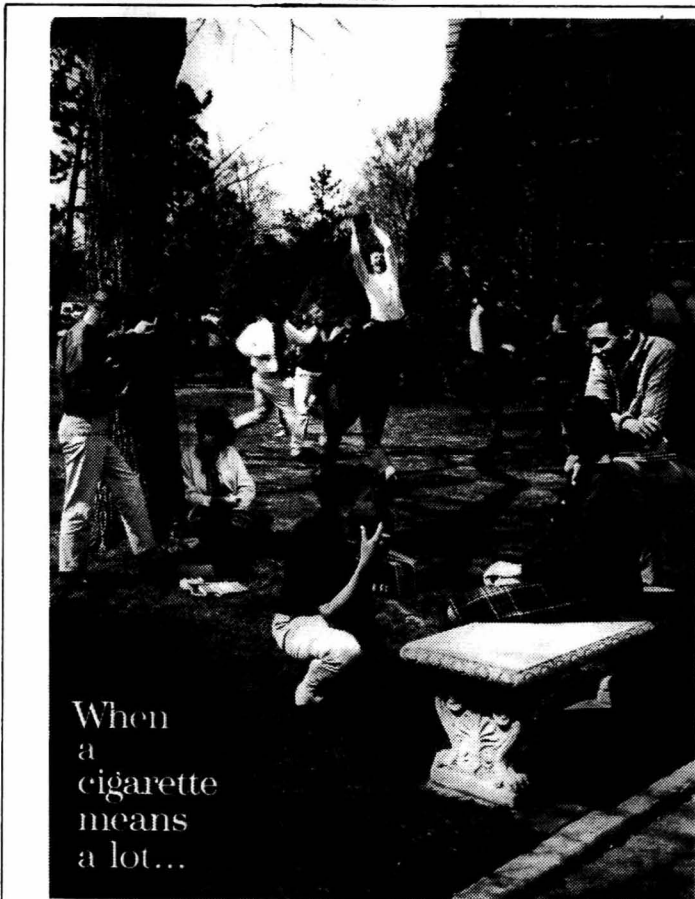

(But oh what a record she made)

The only trouble is, it's been banned. From the radio at least. In fact, the whole darn Capitol album, "Campus Confidential" by the Four Preps, has been banned. "She Was Only the Dean of Men's Daughter" and the other numbers, like "Princess Poo-poo-ly Has Plenty Papaya" are just a little too... well, colorful for air play.

This album was recorded during a Four Preps Concert at UCLA. Their performance was wildly appreciated by the students, and we strongly suspect it will be wildly appreciated by everyone who hears it on this new Capitol release. (With the sole exception of radio station owners who want to keep their stations on the air.)

So slip into your nearest record store for "Campus Confidential" on Capitol. (In plain brown wrapper, of course.)

(P.S. Look for the Four Preps in concert on your campus.)

For Unity And Responsibility

The proposed all-university Student Senate is something more than an addition to Student Government. It involves all of Southern Illinois University, both the Carbondale campus and the new Edwardsville campus, students and the administration.

Two points of interest elevate the proposal to something more than just another committee or council.

The first point is the basic reason for an all-university senate. The second is the function of the senate.

The all-university senate would consist of eight members, four students elected at large from each of the campuses. The part it is intended to play at SIU is one of unification, the promotion of a single SIU image.

The entire university council structure is being revamped with the type of unification in mind that will mean two campuses of a single university working together.

The student body and its government must also be involved if the unified image is to be complete. Student Councils operating as separate entities on each campus would deter the drawing together of the student body under common objectives.

The function of the proposed senate as outlined by the joint committee of the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses will contribute to the unification desired. The Student Senate is seen as an all-university policy recommending body by its planners-- "to be concerned only with the affairs of students at both campuses." This would serve to bring Student Government out of the realm of personalities, petty bickering and insignificant interests.

By all-university policy, it is meant that the senate would concern itself with such things as SIU admissions standards. The part to be played by the senate could well be the answer to the oft-voiced student cry for greater student involvement in university policy making--if that power is used properly.

It must be asked, however, how the senate will change the existing Student Councils. There is disagreement here, some feeling that the Student Senate will not change the status of the councils because it will be working in a different area.

However, the line dividing the senate and the councils will necessarily be thin. They will overlap in many areas. Unresolved differences will have to be ended by someone.

Thomas Cassidy, chairman of the joint committee which drew up the senate proposal, feels that "the wings of the Student Councils will be clipped a bit." At the same time, he feels that the senate will tend to bring out the best in the councils. Because the senate will be looking for important issues raised by the Student Councils, it is felt that the councils will become more responsible and more aware of total university problems.

When the senate will begin operation is still a question. The University Council discussed the senate last week, and the hope was expressed for the senate to begin operating next fall. An election of the eight members would probably have to be held this spring, which presents the problem of educating the students so they can vote intelligently.

The interest of the administration in the senate is great. There has been disappointment with the Student Councils.

It can be expected that the apathy and disinterest with which the majority of the students have regarded Student Government in the past will continue under an all-university Student Senate. But the fact remains that the senate provides a unique opportunity to those students who are concerned with getting more from their years at the university.

Letter To The Editor:

Activities Of Wendell O'Neal Reflect Qualities Lacking In Other Students

It is best that such a question as that of the integrationist activities of candidate Wendell O'Neal arose during the recent campaign for student officers. Although unpleasant due to the derogatory manner in which it arose, the question proved to some advantage because it openly suggested an opinion which may be held by many other students.

Another "opinion," however, also exists which is equally concerned with "Southern's name" and with the action of its students. This opinion not only agrees with, but, in many instances, encourages such activities as those participated in by O'Neal.

Many of O'Neal's activities, both on campus and off campus, reflect a quality lacking in many of us students--that of serious evaluation of current issues, willingness to express convictions, and the very courage to act upon these convictions at the risk of public slander.

Southern can only be proud both of its former students who are actively expressing their convictions in the South and of its students who are attempting to express similar convictions and concern for others in the Southern Illinois area.

Our Co-existence Policy

The question of an official policy on Cuba keeps recurring in the nation's capital. The administration keeps insisting that it has one and that it is not one of co-existence with communism.

But I don't know how else a New Frontiersman or anyone else could describe the official attitude of the United States to the situation in the Caribbean. If our policy isn't one of co-existence, what is it? We certainly are co-existing at the present time, and nothing in what the administration offers in the name of "policy" holds out the possibility that this will be changed.

For example, the question came up in Washington recently at the annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. Presidential advisor McGeorge Bundy, appearing on a foreign affairs panel discussion, was asked to outline in detail the government's policy on Cuba.

Here, according to the newspaper accounts, is what Mr. Bundy described as the major elements of the administration's Cuban policy:

1. To prevent the establishment of Communist military strength in Cuba that could be a threat to the security of the United States or could be used to expand communism to the rest of the hemisphere.
2. To isolate Castro from the free world by obtaining agreements with our allies to reduce trade with Cuba.
3. To build strong counteractive forces against communism by promoting social and economic programs in Latin America.

4. To follow a course of vigilant watchfulness.
5. To follow a policy of not imposing a naval blockade of Cuba and not to invade Cuba.

Point One apparently means that the United States will resist any attempt by the Russians to reintroduce big missiles and bombers into Cuba or any attempt by the Castro government to forcibly overthrow other Latin American governments.

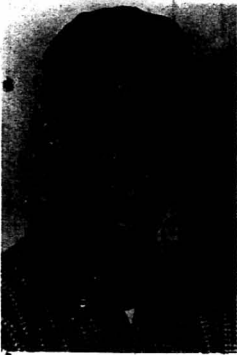

But what does Mr. Bundy mean when he says . . . prevent the establishment of Communist military strength that could be used to expand communism to the rest of the hemisphere? Presumably he means the entire hemisphere, for there is no doubt whatever that the Communist military strength already existing in Cuba is being used to expand communism.

Certainly the remainder of the points in Mr. Bundy's list of elements are all geared to co-existence with a soviet military presence in the western hemisphere. If we isolate Cuba by cutting off trade from our allies, it doesn't isolate Cuba from trade with the Communist-bloc powers, and it won't bring about the non-existence of a Sovietized Cuba. Nor will the cancer 90 miles off our southern coast disappear because we promote social and economic programs or follow a policy of watchful vigilance. It will merely grow and spread.

But any way you look at it, Point Five is the giveaway so far as American policy is concerned. If, as Mr. Bundy is quoted as saying, our policy is not to impose a naval blockade and not to invade, then it is completely meaningless.

Houston, Saunders, Gelso Make Final Home Track Appearance

Ed Houston, John Saunders and Alan Gelso will be competing for the last time before a home crowd Saturday night. They are the only seniors on this year's track squad which meets Notre Dame in McAndrew Stadium.

The meet will start at seven o'clock and will be the last time students will have a chance to see the Salukis run. Field events and track races will be held at the same time this weekend in order to enable Notre Dame to catch an airplane at 10 o'clock.

Houston is a quarter-miler, Gelso a distance runner and Saunders a middle distance specialist.

In dual meets Houston has been running the 440 and 220-yard dashes for Lew Hartzog's Saluki track squad. He also runs on the 440-yard and mile relay teams. He holds the SIU record for the 440 with a time of .48.4 seconds set last year. He was a member of the SIU sprint medley team which posted the U.S. fastest time in the event among all colleges and universities.

Saunders has been running the 440, 880 and intermediate hurdles since he enrolled at Southern. He also runs on the Salukis mile relay team.

He ran the intermediate hurdles for the first time at Kansas two weeks ago and posted a time of .39 seconds. He hails from Marion, Ill. and hopes to wind up his career with a flourish Saturday night.

Two years ago Saunders ran one of the greatest races of his life when he won the half-mile in the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference track meet. Hartzog calls the senior "the best competitor I have seen."

Gelso is another one of Hartzog's outstanding distance corps. He has been running distance for the Salukis for four years. He was a member of the cross-country team last year and will be going for his fourth track letter this spring.

He runs the two-mile for the Salukis. He is not on the same level with Brian Turner but can still hold his own with any other distance runner he might face.

Gelso came to Southern from West Frankfort, Ill., where he was a standout track man.

He has been hampered this spring by injuries which he received in the auto-track accident involving other track members.

Maybe Next Year:

MVC Passes Over SIU; Athletic Officials Mum

SIU athletic officials declined to comment on the Missouri Valley Conference's decision Saturday to table all discussion on expansion until next year.

The Saturday decision by the MVC was made at Peoria during a meeting of conference athletic directors and faculty representatives.

The MVC decision had to be a disappointment for the SIU athletic department because it now means the University must wait at least another two years before it could possibly find some conference affiliation and arrange a schedule to participate in the league.

SIU had been interested in gaining admission to the MVC for the past two years.

Southern has been an independent since dropping out of the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (IAC) last June.

There has been discussion and contacts between officials of the MVC and SIU for several months. The conference sent a group of officials on a campus inspection tour of Southern several weeks ago.

At the time the inspection team was on campus the athletic department was being investigated by the Student Council for mistreatment of athletes. Some observers believe this could have caused the MVC's latest decision on expansion.

SIU is in a position of being too strong in most sports for a small conference but not yet equipped with a stadium large enough to be a major school in football or basketball, the two sports which hold most interest at big schools.

Louisville recently was admitted to the league which already includes Drake, Bradley, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Tulsa, North Texas State and Wichita. Thus, there are eight teams in the conference which competes in football, basketball, baseball, tennis, golf and track.

SIU will compete against North Texas State, Louisville and Tulsa in football next fall. Louisville and Wichita have been scheduled by the Salukis in basketball. All the other SIU athletic teams also face MVC schools.

Qualls Leads SIU Batters

Jerry Qualls continues to lead SIU's baseball team in hitting this spring after 15 games with a .380 batting average.

He has hit safely 27 times in 71 appearances at the plate. Three home runs are included in his hit output. All last year he only hit two home runs and 22 base hits.

Jim Long, junior first baseman, is in second place behind Qualls with a .340 average. He has been at bat 50 times and hit safely 17 times.

Following Long with a .333 average is catcher Mike Pratte. Pratte appears to have regained his hitting form from his freshman year. He hit 390 his freshman year but last year hit only 198.

This spring the junior catcher from Bonne Terre, Mo., has hit safely 18 times in 54 appearances. Last year he appeared in 25 games but hit safely only 16 times.

John Siebel, SIU's sophomore center fielder, is hitting .311 with 23 hits in 74 times at bat.

Dave Leonard and Gib Snyder are the only other .300 hitters on SIU's baseball team. Leonard is hitting .304 with 21 hits in 69 times at bat. Snyder is one point ahead at .305 with 18 hits in 59 plate appearances.

Applications to act as student leader are now available at the Information Desk. They should be filled out and returned by May 17. One or two training sessions for leaders will be called before Orientation Day.

HOW TO SEE EUROPE FOR ONLY $300 A DAY: NO. 1

Summer vacation is just around the corner, and naturally all of you are going to Europe. Perhaps I can offer a handy tip or two. (I must confess that I myself have never been to Europe, but I do have a French poodle and a German shepherd, so I am not entirely unqualified.)

First let me say that no trip to Europe is complete without a visit to England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, France, Germany, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Lichtenstein, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Switzerland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Russia, Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania, Crete, Sardinia, Sicily, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria, Lapland, and Andorra.

Let us take up these countries in order. First, England.

The old ones are thrown away

The capital of England is London—or Liverpoo, as it is sometimes called. There are many interesting things to see in London—chiefly the changing of the guards. The guards are changed daily. The old ones are thrown away.

Another "must" while in London is a visit to the palace of the Duke of Marlborough. Marlborough is spelled Marlborough, but pronounced Marlboro. English spelling is very quaint, but terribly disorganized. The late George Bernard Shaw, author of Little Women, fought all his life to simplify English spelling. They tell a story about Shaw once asking a friend, "What does g-h-o-t-i spell?"

The friend pondered a bit and replied, "Goatee." Shaw sniggered. "Pshaw," said Shaw. "G-h-o-t-i does not spell goatee. It spells fish."

"How is that?" said the friend. Shaw answered, "Gh as in enough, o as in romeo, ti as in motion. Put them all together, you get fish."

This was very clever of Shaw when you consider that he was a vegetarian. And a good thing he was. As Disraeli once remarked to Guy Fawkes, "If Shaw were not a vegetarian, no lamb chop in London would be safe."

But I digress. We were speaking of the palace of the Duke of Marlborough—or Marlboro, as it is called in the United States. It is called Marlboro by every smoker who enjoys a fine, rich breed of tobaccos, who appreciates a pure white filter, who likes a soft pack that is really soft, a Flip-Top box that really flips. Be sure you are well supplied with Marlboros when you make your trip abroad. After a long, tiring day of sightseeing there is nothing so welcome as a good flavorful Marlboro and a foot-bath with hot Epsom salts.

Epsom salts can be obtained in England at Epsom Downs. Kensington salts can be obtained at Kensington Gardens. Albert salts can be obtained at Albert Hall. Hyde salts can be obtained at Hyde Park, and the crown jewels can be obtained at the Tower of London.

The guards at the Tower of London are called Beefeaters because they are always beefing about what they get to eat. This is also known as "erieket" or "petrol."

Well, I guess that about covers England. In next week's column we will visit the Land of the Midnight Sun—France.

* * *

Wherever you may roam in Europe and in all fifty states of the Union, you'll find Marlboro ever-present and ever-pleasant—filter, flavor, pack or box.
