City Okays Zoning for Meadows

After about five weeks of debate over the zoning of Lewis Park Meadows development project, Carbondale City Council last night voted to accept the proposal as initially presented to them by the plan commission.

The initial plan called for seven of the 102 acres located at the east end of Grand Avenue to be zoned for commercial development.

Around mid-April, the Plan commission approved increasing the commercial allocation to 15 acres which the City Council balked at approving.

It was subsequently learned that the original zoning of the property R 3 Residential was not legally in effect because of the inadvertent omission of the enacting clause.

During this period the council was at odds with the plan commission over who had authority to grant or establish changes in zoning regulations within the development.

Monday night, representatives from the development firm met with the council and accepted the terms of the initial agreement stipulating that only seven acres would be zoned commercially.

The council also voted to accept a city payroll budget for the coming fiscal year submitted by City Manager C. William Norman.

The payroll for the coming year amounts to about $650,000, or an 11 per cent increase over last year.

Sam Silas, of the St. Louis Cardinals football fame and SIU graduate of 506 N. Marion, was appointed the Police and Fire Board of Commissioners along with Robert Brooks of 1704 W. Freeman.

Ambassador Proposes New Peace Approach

By Harry Hix

CHICAGO - The United States apparently has adopted a new approach in its efforts to get Hanoi to the negotiating table and to achieve a peaceful settlement of the Vietnam war.

An outline of this new effort was presented by Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. representative to the U.N., during a speech Friday afternoon in Chicago.

Goldberg was the main speaker at a Regional Foreign Policy Conference presented by the Department of State and cosponsored by the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations and the International Visitors Center of Chicago. The one-day meeting was held at the Pick-Congress Hotel and featured several speakers from the Department of State.

Goldberg, originally scheduled to discuss "The United Nations and World Order," departed from this topic early in his talk and devoted his remarks to the Vietnam crisis.

In the past, Goldberg said, efforts to negotiate a peace in Vietnam have placed an emphasis on procedure—who, when, where, how. But this should change, Goldberg said, and the emphasis be placed on "what."

To do this, Goldberg said both the U.S. and Hanoi must "establish a dialogue" by outlining points of agreement and disagreement and by setting forth definite outlines for settlement.

"If both sides looked ahead and set definite outlines for settlement, the procedure would fall into place," he said.

In a question and answer session following his speech, Goldberg emphasized that "first, we need to establish a dialogue" between Hanoi and the U.S. before negotiations can begin.

Department of State representatives on the program included Robert R. Bowie, counselor; Raymond E. Lisle, director for Eastern Europe; Deane R. Hinton, director for Atlantic political-economic affairs; Herbert J. Water, assistant administrator for War on Hunger, Agency for International Development; and Elbridge Durbrow, former ambassador to Vietnam. Moderator for the program was Mrs. Charlotte M. Hubbard, deputy assistant secretary of state.

More than 1,500 persons from Illinois and Indiana attended the conference. Representing SIU were Frank Klingberg, professor of government, and Harry Hix, Daily Egyptian. Also attending were

$20 Fee Proposed For Faculty, Staff Parking Permits

The Vehicle Traffic and Safety Committee has recommended that faculty and staff parking permit fees be hiked to $20 per year from the present rate of $3.

The recommendation, which has been sent to Vice President Ralph W. Ruffner and John Rendleman for review, are the results of an extensive study on traffic and parking problems.

After being reviewed by the vice presidents, the proposal is to be forwarded to President Delyte W. Morris for consideration and further recommendation according to Paul Isbell, director of business affairs.

"To give a story of what the recommendations included would be unfair to everyone as it has not all been approved and it would not be fair to President Morris who has not yet seen it in its entirety," said Isbell.

According to Isbell, the recommendations have developed in part from a questionnaire which was sent to faculty members last January. The questionnaire was part of a study the Vehicle Traffic and Safety Committee has been conducting in hopes of discovering possible solutions to the growing motor vehicle problems of SIU.

Isbell said, "Everyone is involved in this problem, and everyone has been considered."

Part of the problem has been directed to other uni-

200 Area Students To Get Discount

Thanks to a grant from the Illinois Arts Council, the first 200 area public school students who order tickets for the Metropolitan Opera National Company's production of "La Traviata" at SIU Saturday will get them at half price.

This announcement was made by Paul Hibbs, University coordinator of special programs, who is sponsoring the performance in cooperation with the programming board of the Student Activities Center.

The production will be staged in Shryock Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Tickets are available at the information desk at University Center or may be ordered by mail from the Student Activities Office, University Center.

versities such as Louisiana State, Michigan State, UCLA, and the University of California, asking for solutions that they may have arrived at for their traffic and vehicle problems.

Isbell said over 100 questionnaires were sent to other universities seeking information about the fees they charge, problems they have, and solutions they have developed.

A subcommittee has visited some of these universities for a personal look at the vehicle situations. Other studies were directed concerning all methods of university transportation, parking, and vehicle operation here at SIU by several other subcommittees.

If the $20 parking fee for faculty members is approved by President Morris, it will probably be brought before the SIU Board of Trustees, along with other financial concerns of the recommendations.

Flying Salukis Place Fourth In Air Meet

Fighting bad weather, the Saluki Flying Club won three times at the 19th Annual National Intercollegiate Flying Association air meet and conference held Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Southern Illinois Airport.

Judges from the Federal Aviation Agency were able to score only three of the four events because a low cloud ceiling forced cancellation of the navigation event. Many of the clubs from around the nation were not able to depart until Monday. Despite of the weather, it was the biggest meet in NIFA history.

William T. Allaben, a graduate student in endocrinology from Rockton, won second place for the Flying Salukis in the power-in-precision landing event. The SIU team placed fourth in the team championship award and three of the Saluki pilots were judged to be among the top 25 pilots among the more than 250 competitors. They were Thomas Stewart, Nelson Thorp and William Allaben.

The Brothers Four performed before an estimated 600 persons in the main hangar, while the 1930 transport, the Ford Trimotor operated by the American Airlines, gave courtesy rides.

Max Conrad, holder of number of world aviation records, was the principal speaker at the awards banquet in the University Center Ballroom. He told the NIFA members and their guests of his adventures while flying across the Atlantic from Denver to Paris in a small single engine airplane.

With Eyes Uplifted

Murky Skies Good for Trains

Four girls from St. Cloud State College, Minnesota were napping in a single engine Cessna airplane, Sunday. Others, from Ohio, Alabama and Oklahoma were sitting on suitcases eating apples and sandwiches around their club planes or in the Southern Illinois Airport lounge while keeping an eye toward the foggy skies.

This was the picture at the airport after the NIFA air meet this weekend as the weather outlook worsened Sunday. Some of the students from Colorado were forced to take the train to Chicago while two pilots with instrument ratings flew their planes to the city to meet them. The students from the University of Colorado at Boulder said they were told the chances of good weather on Monday were better in Chicago than in Carbondale.

Other clubs took off from the airport homeward bound but found the visibility so poor after they were aloft they decided to come back and wait. One pilot said he flew almost at tree-top level and could see less than a half mile.

As a result, the Carbondale motels had numerous unexpected out-of-state guests Sunday night.

Wet Weekend

Mississippi Rises Hourly

Carbondale was wet over the weekend, but "deluge" better describes the rainfall amount about 50 miles south.

The Carbondale sewage disposal plant recorded 1.69 inches of rain for the weekend.

Carro, about 50 miles south, had 9.25 inches of rain this past weekend, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau there.

Carbondale had .04 inch of rain Friday, .10 inch Saturday, and 1.55 inches Sunday. Carro had .19 inch of rain Friday, 2.96 inches Saturday, and 6.20 inches Sunday.

The river banks in Carro are 40 feet high but the water in these banks has been reported to have now reached 40, 9 feet, the U.S. Weather Bureau said. It was rising almost one inch an hour.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Carro reported there is no danger of flood in the region unless the height reaches 65 feet.

Hard Knocks School -- New Version

Secret Police Files? Not So, Officers Say

If students look long and hard enough, they will almost inevitably find something to protest. The students at Wayne State University in Detroit, Mich., came up with a protest that turned the whole campus topsy-turvy (literally) for a full week.

Student leaders on the Wayne State campus turned the University upside down looking for "secret files" on student non-academic affairs. The administration and University security department repeatedly denied existence of any such files.

Everyone on the campus was surprised when students did find two filing cabinets of confidential files on records or charges and arrests of sex offenders, paroled convicts attending the University, and pamphlets and leaflets of subversive campus organizations.

Everyone was surprised, including the University officials.

Donald F. Stevens, head of Wayne State's Safety and Security Department, said, "I had no idea they were there. It's been so long since I looked at them."

"I don't know why they are there," he added. "They are of no value."

It didn't matter to the students; they had something to protest now.

The students staged a rally, and then 400 of them kept a 24-hour vigil expressing over loudspeakers the demands they felt the administration should meet. They wanted to express their concern for more student involvement in University affairs.

The whole campus was in an uproar. The topsy-turvy affair ended, however, when the campus newspaper ran a front-page picture of the disputed files—filing cabinets and all. The picture was printed upside down.

In case SIU students are wondering if their own University is keeping secret filing cabinets, the answer is "no." A Sherlock-Holmes-type investigation isn't even needed to find this out.

"SIU has thousands and thousands of files like any other University," according to Bernard S. Nigg, assistant to the security officer, "but we're not trying to keep any of them secret."

Niggs said that the Security Office has hundreds of routine files of charges and arrests of students. There are no separate files. All the files are kept together, and sex offenders are filed categorically with motorcycle regulation offenders and traffic offenses.

Assistant Dean of Student Affairs Joseph F. Zaleski says his office has confidential files on students that are kept strictly for counseling and disciplinary purposes.

"There is no attempt to keep these files secret," Zaleski said, "but, of course, they are not available to the general public. These are personal affairs of individual students."

SIU students can rest easy. What the students know here won't hurt. It's just when students think they know something the administration knows, that things go topsy-turvy.

Margaret Perez

Writer Deserved Award

The Advisory Board on the Pulitzer Prizes, in our opinion, made a serious mistake in overturning the professional jury's recommendation that this year's prize for international reporting go to Harrison Salisbury of The New York Times for his dispatches from Hanoi.

By all odds, Mr. Salisbury's reporting represented the finest piece of work in his field during 1966. He did what innumerable correspondents had unsuccessfully tried to do in gaining admission to North Vietnam. He reported what he saw and what he learned with courage and objectivity even though he knew his reports might call into question his own government's credibility. He was subjected to unfair and petty attack from government and some journalistic quarters, but in the end his work spoke for itself. It was a distinguished example of independent reporting, by a correspondent of unassailable integrity, on matters of vital import to the American people.

This is how it was rated by four out of five working newspapermen who screened the entries as members of the professional jury. They were judging it, we believe, strictly on professional grounds and without regard to government attitudes either in Hanoi or Washington. That is how it should have been judged.

In overturning the recommendation, the majority of the Advisory Board raises a question whether the decision was affected by personal viewpoints toward the Vietnam war, or by the Johnson Administration's reaction to the Salisbury dispatches and its attempt to discredit them. In an award for journalistic excellence these considerations ought, of course, to play no part. Mr. Salisbury reported the truth as he found it, in the finest tradition of independent journalism.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Letters to the Editor

Editorial Wrong

To the Editor:
Mike Nauer's editorial on the National Rifle Association was apparently taken from the New York Times article on the same subject. Unfortunately, the "latest issue" (the May 1967 issue) of the American Rifleman DOES NOT call for "vigilantism." I suggest that Mr. Nauer read the magazine more closely, if he read it at all, and understand the words used. Nowhere is there a call for "every man to be a self-appointed police officer."

The "latest issue" of The American Rifleman clearly states that in the event of "full war mobilization" during which the "National Guard and our Armed Forces reserves would find themselves away on active duty" the armed citizen may be the only one left to aid the police forces. The editorial continues: "With homefront safeguards spotty and uncertain, the armed citizen represents a potential community stabilizer. His support of law and order, whether as a civilian member of the posse comitatus or as one of the unorganized militia, defined as the "whole body of able-bodied male citizens," could prove essential.

Realistic appraisals attest that there is widespread practice and belief in keeping firearms for home protection. "Nowhere in the magazine, or in any of the National Rifle Association's materials is there a call for privately organized police forces, for vigilantes, for the use of force against fellow citizens. Mr. Nauer apparently has some sort of ax to grind; why else would he deliberately misrepresent what he supposedly has read? The "Posse comitatus" happens to be a legal entity everywhere—it is the body of citizens which the local police forces can call on for aid in emergencies. All male citizens, between certain ages are in the state militia of the State of Illinois for the very same purpose. The National Rifle Association, in its "latest issue" has clearly issued a call for the citizens of this nation to aid the police whenever called upon to do so.

Elsewhere in the "latest issue," there are several excerpts from a new book about proper methods of defending your home, etc. Since a number of persons choose to have a firearm handy to protect their homes from criminals, The National Rifle Association has very clearly urged all such citizens to learn how to use such firearms (or other weapons as chosen) safely and legally. Over the years, the NRA has urged all gun owners to learn safety and to obey all the laws which apply.

It is unfortunate that an editorial writer, for any newspaper, should decide that a spectacular charge is better than careful investigation. Mr. Nauer should not have believed the New York Times story (as printed in the Southern Illinoisian)—he should have read the magazine involved and sought aid in understanding the legal terms used therein. Isn't the "press" interested in truth and fair play?

SIU Free School Showing Signs of Acceptance

Education is personal.

Since September, 1966, free school at SIU has given students the chance to become personally involved in their education.

Four organizers began making plans for free school in the spring of 1966. But interest lagged. The free school flower died in the bud.

But it sprang up again in the fall, with the support of Student Government.

The four organizers were Ray Lenzi, Charles Bauman, Paul Atwood and Stuart Sweetow.

Free school is a relatively new concept of education and is rooted in the notion that there must be steps made away from the career-centered atmosphere of the standard university in the United States.

Paul Atwood, a sophomore from Springfield, wrote in a recent newsletter, "unfortunately administrators and education planners have failed to realize that they are not dealing with the same easy-going conformist who tromped around campus in his saddle shoes during the fifties."

Free school is an escape from the large lecture halls and grades, according to Lenzi. Classes are held in groups of about 10 students. Both students and faculty members may teach as they learn.

The topics covered by free school classes include poverty, philosophy, folk music, civil rights, speech, the Vietnam question, poetry and women in society.

The "free university" idea is not new.

It can be seen in the New School for Social Research in 1919, and in the Black Mountain College which began with 19 students and 11 teachers in 1923.

The Free University of New York is the biggest of today's free universities. It accommodates more than 230 students with a faculty of about 30.

The courses include "A history of American Civil Liberties"; "The American Dream: A Tragic Illusion"; "The Ideological Question in Vietnam"; and "The Uses and Social Implications of Hallucinogenic Drugs."

Instructors are not paid. They are free to teach what they wish.

The school's policy has been to allow anyone who wanted to teach to do so. However, the instructor must teach a course not being offered elsewhere.

Future thoughts are that the instructors will be screened by a committee that will help to coordinate the school's standards.

Tuition is $24 for the first course and $8 for each additional course. Some students who cannot afford to pay the tuition are allowed to attend.

Some of the students are not happy about the idea of having to pay the tuition, but it is the school's only way to bring in money. It does not want to accept any endowments, because they feel it would tie them to certain points of view.

"Free University should be dedicated to the notion that anything should be fostered which would help people to relate meaningfully to themselves, to others, and to the world," according to Len Ragozin, teacher at the FUNY.

The school should be a place where people can shop for leftist ideas, find out about them and other groups and maybe join them, he said.

Classes are held in a loft on East 14th street, New York City.

This was the beginning of a nationwide idea which is catching on many college campuses.

The SIU Free school, modeled after the Free University of New York, is an "escape from the gigantic lecture halls; the depersonalization of the computerized university and the stress on grades, tests, and competition," according to a free bulletin.

A basic difference between this new learning system and regular classroom instruction is that the students decide what they want to learn in the class.

"It was designed that faculty members would be invited to participate as resource people, but as of now only a few topics are attended by faculty representatives," Bauman said.

A typical Free School class contains anywhere from six to 16 students, as various class attendance has shown. Topics discussed are usually of the speech and dramatic category, depending on the instructor. Movies and guest speakers highlight the class sessions.

Selwyn Goldstein, a sophomore majoring in speech and theatre, is one instructor of class sessions. He "informs" and discusses various aspects of speaking and speech presentation. "If we show the students what free school is like...then the student will 'fall into' the class," Goldstein said.

The basic difference in a Free School class and a regular class, said Goldstein, is that in the free school class the "student is taught what he wants to learn," according to Goldstein.

Student participation within the class is another factor that differentiates between the free school class and a regular class.

One similarity can be noted between the classes. "You can learn just as much about a subject in the free school as you can in a comparable SIU class," Goldstein said.

About 50 unpaid people comprise the staff of the school. The four organizers are in charge Bauman arranges for the coordinators who are responsible for securing publicity, materials and films for each class session. A coordinator serves for one quarter.

Student instructors monitor classes and aid in the discussion. Bauman arranges the class topic while the students decide what they want to learn.

Free School is sponsored by the Student Government and supported by Bob Drinan, student body president.

Having no central headquarters, the free school staff meets in the Student Government office.

Files of the school's activities and a newsletter, Free School News, are kept in the Student Government office.

About the Story

The Daily Egyptian recently assigned a team of reporters to examine the Free School at SIU. They talked to administrators, organizers of the Free School, and students who attend the school's sessions. Some of the reporters also attended Free School classes and gave their impressions of the movement. Today's story is the first of three; the second will appear in Thursday's Daily Egyptian.

The free school class on persuasion contained 13 students. Persons entered the class session at random.

Two movies began the class period. They dealt with the persuasion in the speeches of Adolph Hitler and Franklin Roosevelt.

Recordings of the speeches of John Kennedy were played to the students.

After the auxiliary material was presented to the students, the students spoke freely of their ideas of the best style of persuasive speech.

A speech was then given to the students and they were asked to read it aloud in a persuasive manner.

Observance of such a free school session allows one to compare the Free School concept of education with our present university concept of education.

There is no actual teacher of the free school classes.

The Free School classroom was conducted on a discussion basis. This system of small group discussion allows students to become more receptive to ideas other than their own. Also all the students took part in the discussion.

Students in the small discussion groups are more likely to participate and become involved in an education. On the other hand students in large lecture halls seldom participate.

Because free school offers open discussion and avid participation, free school will grow. It allows students to choose what they wish to learn and to gain as much or as little as they desire.

Through the free school idea, the student discusses and cares about the subject matter he is studying, rather than merely attending the normal lecture sessions.

Bauman said a poverty class session went to Kentucky to see some of the poverty-stricken areas, rather than simply discuss the matter. Through methods like this, the basic philosophy of the free school which is the motivation in subjects through deep, personal involvement, can be fulfilled.

Free school, if it achieves the role its organizers, hope it will, will have as many definitions as it has participants. Free School is a plan for a program which will offer each student an opportunity to design his study, Bauman said.

LET'S SPEND A WEEKEND IN LINE FOR SUPREMES TICKETS

3-Day Vigil Begins

Pledges Storm Ticket Line; Uphold Honor of Delta Chi

Friday at 8:15 a.m., the Alpha Delta pledge class of Delta Chi fraternity gathered outside the west entrance to the University Center.

"Fellas, the actives have assigned us to get at the front of the ticket line for The Supremes' stage show and hold position until Monday when the tickets go on sale. It's an either/or proposition; either we get the job done or we spend every night next week serenading Mike Stafford's parents," class president Bob Moss said.

"So what?" one pledge piped up. "Stafford is from Carbondale! That's not such a bad task."

"Brilliant," Moss said, "except Mike's parents leave tonight for a tour of the Far East."

"Well, let's get into line," another pledge said. "There's nobody there now and there's some other guys standing out at the other door looking mighty anxious."

"We can't," Moss said, "the rules say wait 'til 8:30."

"Aw, who'll know," one of his pledge brothers asked.

"Nobody, probably," Moss answered, "but we can't chance it. Remember when the Alpha Gamma pledge class ahead of us jumped the gun to get in the ticket line for the Herb Alpert show? The Theta Xi's found out about it and kidnapped two of them, tied them behind their surf boards and dragged them around Crab Orchard Lake until the stage show was over."

"Okay, okay, it's 8:30 now," the pledge pleaded.

Moss threw open the door, burst inside, raced to the information desk, planted the Delta Chi banner at the head of the line, started hopping back and forth from one foot to the other and, waving his right index finger in the air, singing "we're No. 1, we're No. 1, we're No. 1!!!"

He had barely got through half of this when a dozen or so students came crashing in at his back, scrambling for position in the now opened "line jumping" season.

Moss's pledge brothers, off to the side of the line, stomped and hooted and joined his chant.

"We're No. 1, we're No. 1, we're No. 1, we're No. 1!!!"

The 72-hour vigil had begun.

Biochemistry Seminar

Mary Sistler will discuss "Inorganic Sulfur Metabolism" at the Department of Chemistry biochemistry seminar at 4 p.m. Thursday in the Parkinson 204.

No Official Stand Expected

Trustees to Mull Coleman Report

It is expected that the Coleman Report on student rights and the University's role in society will be discussed at the Board of Trustees meeting May 26, according to Paul Morrill, assistant to the president.

"As yet there has been no official or formal response to the Coleman Report," Morrill said. "We expect that the Board of Trustees will make reference to the report at their next meeting, but that there will be no official proclamation concerning it."

Copies of the once-controversial Coleman Report that was released early this month were sent to the Board members and to the Graduate, Faculty and Student Councils for comment.

Morrill said that the Graduate and Faculty Councils have been discussing the report at their meetings, but that they have given no indication of opinion as yet.

E. Claude Coleman, chairman of the commission that wrote the report, said Monday that there has been little response to the report, but that all the comments that he has received have been very favorable.

"We have had no formal announcements concerning the report," Coleman said, "but all of the informal comments I have received have been nothing but favorable. The report hasn't even been attacked by Ka (student opinion weekly), so I consider this a favorable response on their part."

Over 100 copies of the report have been sent to colleges and universities across the country, and copies were also distributed at an SIU Alumni Association meeting, Coleman said.

After official opinions from the different campus groups has been received, President Delyte W. Morris will use the report as a guide to establishing commissions and committees to investigate the specific areas of conflict discussed in the report.

Any immediate action as a result of the Coleman Report is not expected, Morrill said.

Oxford Seminar Students to Meet For Discussion

Students who have signed up for the Oxford Summer Seminar will meet from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Thursday in the Faculty Lounge of Wham Education Building.

The meeting will allow students to meet their companions for the trip. Formal registration for classes will also take place. A discussion will be held with Orville Alexander and Robert Griffin, SIU faculty members who are in charge of arrangements and have traveled in Europe on other occasions. Friends and other interested persons are invited to come.

Approximately 40 persons have signed to make the trip for the summer study.

The group from SIU will study four weeks at Oxford University, Oxford, England. Nearly two weeks of travel before the group settles at Oxford will provide opportunity to see towns and countryside famed in history and literature.

The group will fly by jet from St. Louis June 21 to Prestwick, Scotland, and return from Amsterdam Aug. 15.

SIU Hosts District Meeting of AKP

The district conference of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity, was held at SIU last weekend for the second time since the fraternity's founding in 1905.

Frank Brye, manager and administrative officer of the national headquarters of Alpha Kappa Psi, attended the conference.

Also attending were representatives from Southeast Missouri State College and Murray State University.

Amphetamine Abuse Causes New Drug Problems

By Wade Roop
(Second of Three Stories)

Drug abuse has been a problem confronting man since the days of the ancient Greeks and Romans, not a problem solely facing 20th Century America.

Utilizing the wine of the poppy and the wine of the grape were first indications of drug abuse, a report at the First National Institute on Amphetamine Abuse stated.

Since the time of poppy-related drugs, some sort of alternative substance has been sought to relieve the possibility of habit-forming drugs. Today the amphetamine, which encompasses more than 200 substances, is the topic of much criticism with regard to legal and illegal uses.

"There is scarcely any agent which can be taken into the body to which some individuals will not get a reaction satisfactory or pleasurable to them, persuading them to continue its use even to the point of abuse, the report stated.

"Every day many thousands of persons are involved with drugs in the course of medical treatment in hospitals and out," the report continued; "this involvement in some instances is over a prolonged period."

"The vigor of narcotics control has not by any means eliminated illicit traffic. It probably makes only a small dent, but it does increase the difficulty of supply, and encourages marked adulteration of available drugs," the report indicated.

Medical use can create dependence on drugs, but the dependence more often arises for avoidance of stresses and frustrations. The latter often results in drug use continuance.

The amphetamine abuser is prone to accidents because of both the "excitation produced by these agents and the excessive fatigue which may break through and manifest itself at an inopportune time," the report indicated. Bizarre mental effects from intravenous administration of large quantities of amphetamines may also produce serious antisocial behavior.

In a similar report issued by Dr. Maurice H. SeEVERS for the Institute on Amphetamine Abuse, it was pointed out that amphetamines have been used in medical practice for about 35 years.

Areas the report pointed out as outside of the proper medical practice included the use to induce insomnia and counteract fatigue in persons required to perform mental or physical tasks of long duration, to increase athletic performance of normal individuals, and to induce "kick" hallucinations and other abnormal psychotoxic responses.

An increasing awareness of the drug use in this area has brought prominent attention to the use by truck drivers on long hauls and students cramming for exams. According to the report few studies available failed to reveal any significant difference between the use of amphetamines or non-use in increasing mental performance over the normal maximum.

The inability to make satisfactory evaluation of performance by the self-administered drug user is a principal hazard. Self-administered drugs often result in over-medication commonly leading to chronic abuse in neurotic and poorly balanced individuals.

Red China's Premier Opposes 'Sell-out Peace' in Vietnam

CHOU-EN-LAI

Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's threat to oppose a "sell-out peace" in Vietnam makes 1967 a critical year, if there is to be any progress toward negotiation of the war in Southeast Asia.

Chou's remark, as quoted by correspondent Simon Malley in a series copyright by the Chicago Daily News, reflects the mood of the Peking leadership. Evidently it is against any kind of peace at all in Vietnam. It refers to the United States will be bled economically, physically and militarily over a long period.

Peking has been cautious, however, about actual Chinese involvement. The threat of pouring in volunteers in the style of Korea remains qualified by the repeated assumption that Hanoi must ask for them.

This may be the critical year because China at this time is off balance. The turmoil of its "great proletarian cultural revolution" has damaged the party and government administrative structures. It has hurt China's economy and caused divisions among the officer corps of China's armed forces.

It is likely to take a good deal of time for China to regain her balance, even if the cultural revolution is calmed down soon. But Peking by 1968 may succeed in restoring sanity, and be in a better position to throw its weight around in Asia.

Hanoi appears to want almost anything except a Chinese invasion.

U.K. Faces Trouble in Possessions

(Compiled from AP dispatches)

Two small possessions remaining in Britain's once great empire are causing her trouble today.

The British colonial government alerted 20,000 police and troops Monday after Red China formally entered the dispute between pro-Communist Chinese in Hong Kong and the authorities of the territory.

Spain has barred all foreign flights from an area on either side of Gibraltar about 30 miles long and 9 miles wide. The British view the restrictions as harassment to support Spain's recently renewed claim to sovereignty over Gibraltar, a British possession since 1713.

In a formal note of protest to London, Peking accused colonial officials in Hong Kong which nudges the Chinese mainland, of "Fascist atrocities against Chinese" in three days of rioting that stemmed from a strike of workers in factories making artificial flowers over wages and unemployment. The note made five demands on Britain.

In London, British authorities acknowledged receipt of the Peking note but said there would be no comment.

Peking's note also accused Britain of collaborating with the United States in the Vietnam war and Hong Kong officials raised the possibility that Red China's real interest in the dispute might be an attempt to force Britain to bar U.S. warships, transport and cargo planes and servicemen from Hong Kong.

Britain maintained service into Gibraltar Monday despite tight Spanish flying restrictions and close surveillance by Spanish air force jets. A government spokesman said Britain will press for new talks on the worsening dispute.

Administration Asks For Debt Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's administration, forecasting continued high budget deficits because of Vietnam, asked Congress Monday for a $92-billion increase in the national debt ceiling.

This would be the biggest single increase since World War II. In addition to the increased borrowing authority, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler told the House Ways and Means Committee the government needs the six per cent income tax surcharge for which Johnson has asked.

Finally, the secretary asked for authority to sell some long-term government securities at an interest rate higher than the statutory 4 1/4 per cent.

Fowler also recommended that Congress abandon the distinction it has kept up since 1955 between a "permanent" and a "temporary" debt ceiling, and designate a proposed new $365 - billion ceiling permanent.

The present permanent ceiling is $285 billion. Unless Congress acts by July 1, this permanent ceiling will go back into effect—at a time when the debt is expected to be about $327 billion.

400 high school students from the Chicago area.

Although discussing primarily U.S. relations with Eastern Europe, Lisle made several points which he said were applicable in all areas of U.S. foreign policy. One of several which he stressed was that the U.S. needs to solve its "own problems, to show others we can solve them. Example is important."

In response to a question from the audience, Lisle, who has a son soon eligible for the draft, defended the American position in Vietnam and drew a prolonged round of applause from the audience.

Waters presented a graphic picture of the "hunger problem" and the population explosion. He said that hunger is "the world's No. 1 problem and that failure to solve it will only result in increasing political and economic unrest, uprisings and famine. "A hungry world is potentially an explosive world," he said.

The population increase is helping to widen the "hunger gap," he said. "It is a case of the stork outrunning the plow."

The Department of State demonstrated its awareness of the current free speech controvery not only by stressing that members of the audience would be given an opportunity to question each speaker but also through the speakers who mentioned several times that dissent and free speech were important and necessary.

Goldberg pointed out that freedom of speech "is the very foundation of constitutional government" and said he could "see no reason to deplore dissent itself or to curb it."

In commenting specifically about dissent over the Vietnam war, Goldberg said it is a sign of strength that such a debate can be held. He added that the nation can emerge cipient who whispered among themselves but did not speak out.

Although not observed attending the sessions or participating in the question and answer periods, some members of the University of Chicago Students for a Democratic Society dissented by passing out anti-Vietnam literature to conference members as they were leaving. Most of the leaflet passers from the debate as a stronger nation if it avoids the "danger of equating dissent with weakness."

Dissent was expressed in several forms at the conference. Anti-administration opinions were expressed in questions from the audience as well as by conference parti-

Overall, the conference was well received by the participants. As one remarked, "This has restored my faith in our foreign policy because I think I understand it better. There should be more of these."

Undergrads Must Live In Approved Housing

As of summer quarter, all undergraduate, single students must live in fully accepted living centers if they are going to live off-campus, according to Richard Angella, a spokesman for the Off-Campus Housing Office. "Starting with summer quarter," DeAngelis said, "any student regardless of age or status can live in off-campus housing as long as it is considered by the Housing Office to be a fully accepted living center."

In Carbondale these living centers range from full-sized dormitories to one-man accommodations in private homes.

To have a living area recommended for acceptance, a landlord must first fulfill the city and state requirements in reference to fire laws and zoning and health ordinances.

When the living center fulfills these requirements, the University housing officials inspect it. The University requirements are usually a little higher than the city and state requirements, DeAngelis said.

Under University regulations a living center must have some type of supervision. This can be a student resident manager, a student resident fellow or a resident counselor.

The living area must also have a list of accepted house rules approved by the Housing Office.

Students wishing to live in accepted off-campus housing for the summer or fall term must sign a contract for the living area and have it on file in the Housing Office before their registration for either term can be cleared through the Registrar's Office, DeAngelis said.

"A student will know if a center is approved by the Housing Office," DeAngelis said, "if the name of the area is on the Housing Office accepted living list."

The accepted living areas must all use the Housing Office contracts, so all contracts must also be signed by the Housing Office, DeAngelis said.

Glenn Yarbrough: A lyrical look at life

Few performers today can communicate the essential meaning of a song like Glenn Yarbrough. In this new album, Glenn expresses the poetry and lyrical beauty of such contemporary songs as "Gently Here Beside Me," "Pleasures of the Harbor," "For Emily, Whenever I May Find Her," "Golden Under the Sun" and "Everybody's Wrong." These are love songs... sometimes sweet, sometimes sad - but all representative of life - and it takes a great performer like Glenn to make them live.

Warren Commission

Few SIU Students Agree With Report

By James Furner

From the moment President Kennedy was shot until the time the Warren Commission released its findings, there has been one big question in the minds of many: Was the assassination a conspiracy?

After ten months of investigation, interrogation, and intensive study, the commission cluded that there was no conspiracy. The members said that Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone and irrationally, had murdered the President. Jack Ruby had killed Oswald on his own.

This report seemed to settle the question once and for all. However, in the past few months other views are being brought forth by persons who seem to have evidence to back up what they say.

People like W. Penn Jones, who recently visited the SIU campus, Mark Lane, who was to represent Oswald at the commission hearing, and James Garrison, New Orleans district attorney, disagree with the commission's findings.

The Daily Egyptian recently interviewed SIU students to see what they thought of the Warren Commission Report.

Fifty persons were interviewed. Of the 50, 31 were males and 19 were females. Class breakdowns were as follows: Graduate students, 3; seniors, 9; juniors, 15; sophomores, 7; and freshmen, 16. The students were asked if they agreed, disagreed, or were undecided about the commission's findings on the conspiracy question.

Only four of the students interviewed said they agreed with the findings. Thirty-one said they disagreed with the commission's findings and 15 were undecided.

One of the four students in agreement with the report, Jon Keith a senior from LaSalle-

Peru, said he had to agree with the commission because its members had all the facts involved in the assassination.

Ron Siegel, also a senior from Chicago, agreed with Keith. He said if it was good enough for the commission it was good enough for him. Sharon Stone, a freshman from Memphis, Tenn., disagreed strongly with the commission. She said that there was too much evidence that pointed toward a conspiracy.

The question met a difference of opinion with Donna and Karen Braeutigam, twin freshmen from Freeburg. Karen said she disagreed and Donna felt that more evidence and investigation was needed to change her undecided opinion one way or the other.

Patrick Schmalenberger also disagreed with the commission. "There is too much evidence for it all to be false," he said. The junior from Dayton, Ohio pointed to evidence found recently that shows that Oswald had Jack Ruby's phone number in code in a notebook as one example.

When asked if they felt that more investigation was needed, all but Keith and Joel Cramas, a junior from Decatur, said yes.

Many of those who said they were undecided gave a lack of information on the subject as the reason. They also said they doubted the validity of some of the evidence that has been found.

Saluki Golfers End Season by Beating Lincoln

SIU's golf team defeated Lincoln University 14 1/2-3 1/2 Friday to finish the regular season with a 14-5 record.

This mark was the best the Salukis have had since the 1964 season when they were 14-4 and won the NCAA championship. It also marked the thirteenth consecutive winning season for Coach Lynn Holder.

Holder attributes the success of this year's team to team play and balance, highlighted by the play of two juniors—Jim Schonhoff and Gary Robinson.

Schonhoff was last week's medalist in the rugged Murray State Invitational with a 54 hole total of 217 and averaged 72.6 per 18 holes in the final seven matches. He won his last seven matches and finished the season with a won-lost mark of 17-7.

Robinson called by Holder "one of SIU's best golfers ever"—was the medalist last Tuesday at St. Louis and repeated the honor against Lincoln with an identical score of 68.

Robinson also defeated his final seven foes to finish the season with a mark of 19-4-1. Among those wins are several medalist finishes.

In the dual meet Friday against Lincoln, Robinson defeated Jim Nichols 3-0, Steve Heckel lost to Bob Leslie 1-2, Jack Downey defeated

Vern Shelton 2 1/2-1/2, Dave Wargo defeated Steve Sampon 2-1 and Schonhoff beat Jim Garvin 3-0.

Robinson's 68 was low for the Salukis followed by Schonhoff with 71, Heckel with 75, Downey and Kortkamp with 76 and Wargo with 77.

Wargo finished the season with a won-lost record of 15 1/2-6 1/2, Downey was 16-8, Heckel 14 1/2-9 1/2 and Kortkamp 11-7.

Robinson to make himself ready for the NCAA championship meet in Paducah, Ky., June 12-16 competed in the Carmi Invitational Tourney last Saturday and Sunday. The Saluki No. 1 man won the tourney with a 36 hole total of 139.

He started the tourney on Saturday by registering a four under par 67 and never gave up the lead in winning the championship. He was the only golfer in the event to break par.

Rain Keeps Salukis Idle for Weekend

The Saluki baseball team met with weather problems again this weekend. A single game with St. Joseph's at Collegetown, Ind. was cancelled on Friday and a doubleheader with Kentucky Wesleyan in Owensboro, Ky. was called off on Saturday because of rain.

Southern hasn't been able to get in a contest this month but will try to do so on Saturday and Sunday. Saturday Tennessee Martin Branch will visit the Saluki field and on Sunday St. Louis University will be the visitors.

Softball Games Set

Intramural softball games will be played today at 4:30 p.m.

The schedule: (1) The Coors vs. Saluki Hall #1; (2) Forest Hall vs. Saluki Hall #2; (3) Checks vs. Fumbduckers; (4) Berndt's Bombers vs. Stevenson Arms; (Greek) Kappa Alpha Psi vs. Delta Chi and (University School) Felony Squad vs. Moeller's Marauders.

Pre-vacation offer.

All the travelers checks you want—up to $5,000 worth—for a fee of just $2<sup>00</sup>. At banks everywhere, during May only.

You can save real money by buying First National City Travelers Checks now for your summer vacation trip. Read how.

Normally travelers checks carry a fee of a penny a dollar. It costs $1 for $100 worth of checks, $2 for $200, $10 for $1,000, and so forth.

Now, during May only, you can buy any amount you need—up to $5,000 worth—for only $2, plus the face value of the checks. You could save up to $48. (For less than $200 worth, of course, the fee is less than $2.)

If you're planning a trip to Europe, what you save from this offer could pay for an extra day on the Rhine. Or dinner and Shakespeare at Stratford.

Or a patch of grass at the Newport Jazz Festival, if you're staying closer to home.

Welcomed everywhere

First National City Bank has been in the travelers check business for 63 years. Our checks are known and accepted in more than a million places throughout the world—airlines, car rental agencies, steamship lines, hotels, motels, restaurants, stores, etc.

You can spend them as easily at Le Drugstore as at the drugstore. And they're just as convenient on a weekend trip as on a world tour.

Fast refund in case of loss

The greatest advantage of First National City Travelers Checks is that you get your money back promptly if they're lost or stolen. We've built a security network of 25,000 banking offices around the world where you can get lost checks refunded fast. On the spot.

How do you find the nearest refund offices? In the Continental U.S., call Western Union Operator 25. Abroad, we've supplied every principal hotel with a list of the nearest offices.

No wonder we're called the Maximum Security travelers check.

Buy now, travel later

Buy your travelers checks now — at a saving — and use them later. Many people, in fact, keep some travelers checks on hand as insurance against the day when they may need cash in an emergency.

Offer good only in U.S. and Puerto Rico, May 1-31, 1967

Never before has such complete protection for your cash been so inexpensive. So act fast. Get your summer supply of First National City Travelers Checks now. They can be bought at most banks and savings institutions.

If your vacation money is in your local bank and you won't be home until after May 31, you can still take advantage of this offer. Just mail this ad to your parents and ask them to send your money to you.

Note to all banks and savings institutions

During the month of May, we're making this unusual introductory offer to your customers at no cost to you. Your customer gets the saving, but you earn your normal commission.

Villarete Lost for Season, . Tennis Team Wins

The Salukis tennis team came through with perhaps its biggest victory of the season Saturday downing the University of Oklahoma 4-3 at the SIU courts.

The triumph moved the Salukis a step closer to a perfect 1967 record and it came on the heels of a big setback, the loss of No. 1 man Jose Villarete for the remainder of the season due to mononucleosis.

Villarete became ill prior to Friday's match against Murray State and had to forfeit ships at SIU June 12-17.

Mike Sprengelmeyer, playing in place of Villarete at No. 1 position, lost to Steve Stockton 4-6, 7-9, and 11-9. Al Pena remained unbeaten by downing Hal McCoy in straight sets, 6-0, 6-3.

Jerry Perry knocked off Southern's Johnny Yang 6-1, 0-6 and 6-3. Dick Gilky defeated Jay Maggione 6-0 and 6-3.

Jerry Garver defeated So- oner John Hampton 6-3 and 6-2.

Sprengelmeyer and Pena won their doubles match in straight sets and Yang and Garver took a 6-4, 1-6 and 6-2 decision in their doubles competition.

Clay Seeks Delay for Trial

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Cassius Clay made a bid Monday to delay his trial for draft evasion.

Clay's attorneys mailed to a U.S. Fifth Circuit Appeals Court panel sitting here this week a request for an order delaying criminal proceedings against him until final disposition of Clay's civil case against selective service.

The appeals panel, headed by Chief Judge Elbert Tuttle of Atlanta, took no immediate notice of the request and there was no indication whether it will come up during the week; the panel is meeting in Jacksonville.

Clay's draft evasion trial is scheduled for June 5 at Houston.

Rematch Starts At 9 Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Tiger, an upset winner of the world light heavyweight boxing title in December, finds himself in the old familiar role of underdog again when he meets Jose Torres in a rematch tonight at Madison Square Garden.

The 15-round match will be carried on a national television network of Madison Square Garden-RKO General Presentations but New York will be blacked out.

Fight time is 9 p.m. CDT. In this era of multiple rematches and fighters who shift back and forth from division to division, the bout will be the eighth championship bout for Tiger and the sixth for Torres.

RELAY ANCHOR—Ross MacKenzie, shown above, takes the baton from Chuck Benson and begins his anchor leg of the mile relay team just a few steps behind his opponent from Lincoln University. Benson's 46.8 quarter brought the Salukis from about 30 yards back to within a few feet of the Lincoln opponent.

VICTORY—MacKenzie crosses the finish line the winner, having made up the difference on his 47.0 final leg. His face reflects the agony of running three races in a single meet. The victory was the eighth of the day for SIU.

Track Team Romps to Triangular Victory

By Tom Wood

second in the broad jump at 6-6 and ran a 46.8 quarter-mile for the winning mile relay squad.

The high jump was won by Mitch Livingston's stadium record leap of 6-9 1/4.

Jeff Duxbury cracked the old meet standard in the half-mile with a 1:50.3 time.

Western Kentucky's freshman flash Henry Jackson set meet and stadium records in the broad jump (24-5 1/2) and triple jump (52-1 1/2). The distance in the triple was the second best collegiate mark of the season.

Frank Whitman and Bill Burt helped the Salukis to a sweep of the hurdles, Whitman copped the highs while Burt ran second, Burt came back to grab the intermediate hurdles top spot.

The winning times in these two events were 15.3 and 55.0.

SIU's 440-yard relay team was the only loser Saturday in the running events. Lincoln took the event in meet record time of 41.8.

Most of the Salukis appear to be approaching peak performances as they begin looking toward the Central Collegiate and NCAA championships, within the month.

The Salukis are idle until May 27 when they will compete in the General's Invitational at Fort Campbell, Ky. They will go to Milwaukee the following weekend for the Central Collegiate championships and follow that with the USTFF, NCAA and AAU meets on successive weekends.

These are what Hartzog and his assistant Harvey Cannon have said they have been pointing the Salukis for all season.

Several outstanding individual performances added up to 11 records and a runaway victory for SIU in Saturday's triangular track meet against Lincoln and Western Kentucky in McAndrew Stadium. The score was SIU 75, Lincoln 55 and Western 49.

The Salukis swept all but one of the nine running events. The performance, according to track Coach Lew Hartzog, was SIU's best of the season and one of the best ever in dual or triangular competition.

Oscar Moore showed that he has all but recovered from a bronchial attack by scoring victories in the mile and two-mile events. Moore's 4:08.3 in the mile was a new meet record and his 8:46.8 eclipsed his old stadium two-mile mark.

Ross MacKenzie set meet records in the 100 (9.9) and 220-yard (21.6) dashes—on a very slow rain-soaked track.

Chuck Benson ran his first 440 event of the season in record time of 47.9, placed
