* Paluch Sets
Campus Talk

Student body president George Paluch will give the annual address at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Shryock Auditorium. The address has traditionally been given during a session with the Student Senate but Paluch said he was opening the event to the public in effort to communicate among faculty, students and the community.

Convocation credit will be given for the program.

Members Sought For Peace Corps

Four Peace Corps representatives are on campus this week to interview applicants and administer placement tests to persons interested in volunteering with the Corps.

In addition to maintaining a booth from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily in Room 101 of the University Center, the recruiters are available to speak to various clubs and organizations on campus.

Included in their schedule this week will be an open meeting at 9 a.m. Wednesday in Muckelroy to explain to which Peace Corps opportunities applicants might be assigned. The meeting is sponsored by the School of Agriculture, but is open to all interested students.

Other clubs and organizations interested in having a Peace Corps speaker should contact the activities office.

Richard McMahon, a member of the recruiting team, said any American citizen over 18 is eligible for the corps. However, the recruiters are concentrating on graduate who served as a volunteer in Peace Corps.

Spirit of Christmas Campaign Nets $2,500; Drive Continues Toward Goal of $5,000

The Spirit of Christmas drive has netted more than $2,500 in its effort to collect money to send holiday gifts to U.S. servicemen now fighting in Viet Nam.

According to Mike Peck, chairman of the campaign, approximately $1,000 was collected Saturday in the 'time of dimes' staged in downtown Carbondale.

The campaign will continue with a door-to-door collection from 8 to 10 o'clock tonight. The Carbondale City Council Monday night approved the committee's request to conduct the canvass. Sally Sers, interested in helping should meet at 7 p.m. in dining room at Lena Hall, Thompson Point.

Another $250 was collected at the variety show held Sunday night in Shryock Auditorium. An estimated 400 persons attended the show. Ray Oxtis, disc jockey at radio station EX8K in St. Louis, was the master of ceremonies at the fund-raising show.

Acts in the show included such groups as the Angel Flight singers, the Dusty Road Boys, the Esquire rock and roll combo, and various folk singing groups, individual and group entertainers.

The Edwardsville campus also contributed several acts; Bill Rayburn, dancer; Dale Price, comedian; Roger Douglas, singer.

Pock said additional money will be collected through donations to be picked up and promised checks are received from Carbondale merchants.

Radio station WNI in Murphysboro staged a radiothon from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday in which listeners were asked to phone in donations.

The Spirit of Christmas Campaign is being sponsored by the Thompson Point Executive Council. A sum of $5,000 was set as the goal to buy gifts to send to the men of the First Brigade of the 110th Arinboro Division, formerly stationed in Ft. Campbell, Ky.

The schedule is as follows: Wednesday, 7:45 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Thursday through Saturday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Sunday, 2 to 10:30 p.m.

The south doors of the library will be the only ones open. On Thanksgiving the circulation desk will be the only service available.

Legal Threat Raised by Coeds

Many of the coeds of Smith Hall have a grave belief they would rather fight than switch, and might turn in to a legal battle.

They are opposed to the plan announced by the Housing Office to change the hall from a women's to a men's dormitory at the end of the quarter. And they have won the first round.

After hearing their opposition at a meeting of the Thompson Point Executive Council Monday night, Vernon H. Beveridge, a coordinator of housing, announced that the Housing Office would hold off further action until the legality of the change could be determined.

Terry L. Hickey, a student living at Thompson Point, raised the legal point, saying he had consulted with University and Carbondale lawyers who told him that the girls could not be moved out of Smith Hall without breaking their contracts.

Brower said that there are 378 vacant spaces in women's living accomodations, and that Smith Hall is filled to capacity.

"Because of this, the decision was made to change one of the halls to accommodate men," he said.

He added that even this measure would not be able to accommodate the number of incoming men.

He said that "a change at this time of year is not good," but that it could not be helped, John Paul, student body president, stated that if the University were not allowed to switch housing in order to keep up with the changing enrollment demands then the result would be a raise in rent for students next year.

The Thompson Point executive council then voted to let the Hall decide what action they want to take.

Smith Hall was to meet later Monday night to decide on a course of action.

SIU's Bookish

All I can add to Ronald Helfer's letter, "Big Time 'Up Here Finishes in Aman'"...
SIU has asked the federal government for $1.2 million over the next three years to continue a program of retraining 1,000 hard-core unemployed persons in Franklin and Williamson counties.

The new project bid is much like a present $2.3 million project to retrain 1,000 persons. It will, however, "concentrate more on helping to re-educate and retrain the illiterate and functionally illiterate," according to William C. Westberg, chairman of the Department of Industrial Psychology.

As a result of preliminary findings in the current project, the new program's main goal would be to develop a battery of tests to be published at the end of the project to evaluate the vocational trainability of illiterates and near-illiterates.

The two-county unemployment rate averages 3,000, of which about one-half are chronically jobless. The current project terminates in December. About 600 trainees will be transferred to the new program along with 1,000 new members.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The trigger that plunged the nation's Northeast into darkness last Tuesday was a broken relay in a Canadian power plant near Niagara Falls, it was announced Monday. U.S. and Canadian officials reported their findings after a week of intensive inquiry into the chain-reaction blackout, but said they still don't know the origin of the surge of power that tripped out the system on the Niagara River. He said it was in his system's Ontario Hydroelectric Commission which operates a system on the Niagara River. He said it was in the system's Ontario Hydroelectric plant No. 2 at Queenston, a village in southern Ontario four miles west of Niagara Falls.

Strike announced the findings in Toronto as almost the same time Chairman Joseph C. Swidler of the Federal Power Commission was issuing a update saying the failure "seems to have occurred" at the Beck plant. He said the FPC will work with Ontario officials to "confirm these preliminary findings."

The Beck plant was producing 1.2 million kilowatts and taking 400,000 kilowatts from the United States under the agreement in which power systems are linked together to give each other a helping hand. The 1.0 million kilowatts was being fed northward to Canadian users over five lines.

The relay knocked out was one of the five lines feeding Beck's customers.

Platoon ‘Wasn’t Ready to Die Just Yet’

By Peter Arnott
IA DRANG VALLEY, South Viet Nam (AP)—First came the six unwounded men. Unmanned, they moved toward the area of exhausting battle was in their direction, steps, plain eyes, and filthy uniforms.

Then came the wounded, some with Gawky casts of the limbs while others were helped along the jungle path by the helicopters. Others were in stretchers.

And at the end of the column came the dead, carried on stretchers.

This was a platoon from the U.S. Army’s Ist Cavalry, Air-mobile, Division 36 hours after it met the Communists on a hillside seven miles from Cambodia and 12 for Piti Mo.

They were battered and bloody. Caught on a kool at noon Sunday by an overwhelming North Vietnamese force, they were penned up and again.

In desperation, they even called their own artillery onto themselves to drive the Communists away.

In the end, the 2nd Platoon of Bravo Company, 1st Bat-talion of the 7th Regiment held on. The 1st Cavalry was Gen. George Custer’s old regiment at the Battle of Little Big Horn in the Sioux Indian war in 1876.

Sgt. Clyde E. Savage, from Birmingham, Ala., found himself in charge at one point. Savage estimated that 200 Communists were after his small group of 30 men. The enemy, dressed in flowery camouflage uniforms, and weakly, tanked the platoon in some bloody maneuvering and pinned them down.

At night, with the Communists creeping in for the kill, Savage called for artillery on top of himself and his men in a desperate attempt to keep the enemy off them. It worked.

Savage, whose wife, Caro lyn, and two children live at Fairfield, Ala., recalled, “I knew we would hold out. I wasn’t ready to die just yet.” But Savage’s friends died, Spec. 4 James J. Blythe of Chester, Pa., lost his machine gun from enemy fire and his right thumb with it. He picked up an automatic weapon and continued firing.

Sgt. Gerald Zallon from West Palm Beach, Fla., remembered being there the whole 36 hours.

“Our way ran out early. We gave some fruit to the wounded, but, oh, how we needed water,” he said.

A three-company relief force reached the platoon at 2 p.m. Monday.

Sewny Viet Cong bodies lay around the platoon’s position.

U.S. Forces Locked in Battle With North Vietnamese Regiment

By Peter Arnott
IA DRANG VALLEY, South Viet Nam (AP)—Despite a heavy pounding from B52 bombers, a North Vietnamese army regiment held its position early Tuesday against troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Air-mobile, Division in this bloody valley between the Cambodian border and Plei Me.

The American forces also held their ground after 36 hours of hard fighting but away from the prospects of a new Communist attack at dawn. At no time in the fight- ing did the Communist regulars penetrate American lines, although some units were badly hit, U.S. officers estimated.

The cavalrymen strengthened their positions overnight. The attack by the B52s from Guam came Monday after the U.S. troops, with support from U.S. Air Force fighter-bombers, kept the enemy up a hill two miles by one mile. Then from 20,000 feet up, the B52s dropped more than 350 tons of bombs into that postage stamp target. The American troops pulled away from the target zone during the attack.

The aerial bombardment brought a halt in the fighting but the full effects of the strike were not immediately known.

It was the first time in the Viet Nam war that the Strategic Air Command bombers had attacked an enemy on the move. Previous B52 attacks have been against dug-in Viet Cong positions.

The ground fighting was so intense that the Americans were unable to make an accurate count of the enemy dead, but 120 Communists were known killed Monday and perhaps 130 others littered the battlefield a few miles from the Cambodian border.

The Americans suffered moderate casualties.

Southern Players to Present Program of One-Act Plays

A program of three original one-act plays, written and directed by SIU students, will be presented by the Southern Players at 8 p.m. Sunday and Monday in the Playhouse.

One of the plays, "The Homecoming," written by J. Christopher Jones, doctoral candidate in theater, was the prize-winning play in the Southern Players' one-act play contest held last spring. Jones describes the play as "a brief study of that shell of loneliness in which we seem to live out our lives." The play is directed by Amari Leonard, graduate student in theater.

The other two one-act plays were written by Louis E. Carter, doctoral candidate in theater. "Everything's George," directed by Beverly Bevers, graduate student in theater, "seeks to find new methods or techniques to emphasize critical problems of modern society," according to the author. "The Tenth Wave of(Dictionary," directed by William Hulmes, junior in drama, will be directed by James Fuller, drama student in directing, the play deals with the stresses of war and its being supervised by Herbert Marshall, visiting professor of theater.

Panel discussions will follow the presentations on each performance night. The audience will be invited to address questions, comments or questions in the panel, and a "question and answer" session will be shown. The four-hour session of the Pulitzer Prize for poetry will be shown in an interview with Bob Koontz, Hungarian-born author, who won the award.

Oscar Moore Sets Record In 3-Mile Cross-Country Run

SIU Freshman Oscar Moore set a record breaking time of 14 minutes, 28 and 8/10 seconds Saturday at the Washington Park course in Chicago.

Moore set the record on the three-mile course and was considerably ahead of 28 other freshmen competing in the Central Collegiate Conference championships.

Last year, Canadian Dan Shaughnessy of SIU set the record on the same course with a time of 15 minutes, three seconds.

This year, Moore's closest competitor, Mike Hazilla of Western Michigan, finished second with a time of 14 seconds 42 seconds slower than Moore's, and about 10 seconds slower than Shaughnessy's record of last year.

The SIU varsity competitors did not fare as well as Moore, however. John Lawson of Kansas won the five-mile division in which John Trowbridge and Al Ackman of SIU finished 22nd and 28th, respectively.

Trowbridge's time was 26 minutes, 41 seconds, and Ackman's time was 27 minutes, 1 second, compared to Lawson's winning time of 25 minutes, 7 and 7/10 seconds.

Western Michigan won the team title with a low score of 40 points. Miami of Ohio was second with 52 points, Kansas was third with 59, Ohio University was fourth with 111, and DePaul was fifth with 195.

SIU did not enter a team, and competed for individual awards only.

Next on the cross-country schedule is the NCAA championships at Lawrence, Kan., Saturday. SIU competed there on Oct. 9, with the Kansas squad.

Intrasquad Meet Will Open Women's Gymnastics Season

The SIU women's gymnastics team will open its competitive season with an intrasquad meet at 8 p.m. Friday in the SIU Arena.

The meet, which is named the Kennedy Memorial Meet, commemorates the tragic death of the President John F. Kennedy, because the first women's gymnastics meet at Southern was held that night.

This year the meet will pit the Black team, captained by four-time Canadian national champion Gail Daley, against the Blue team captained by Donna Schaenzer, the 1965 intercollegiate all-around and tumbling champion.

Miss Daley's team will be composed of Janis Dunham, the 1965 intercollegiate balance beam champion; Nancy Smith, third-place finisher in the world trampoline competition; Mary Ellen Toth, Midwest floor exercise champion; and three freshman girls, Sherry Keillor, Gail Evans, Linda Scott and Lori Westa.

Miss Schaenzer's team will be composed of Irene Hawkins, runner-up Canadian all-around champion; Judy Wells, the two-time world trampoline champion; Judy Dunham, former Midwest all-around champion; and three freshmen, Sue Rodgers, Carol Najowski and Kristi Barkheimer.

'Dropsy' Proves Fatal to Salukis in Indiana
SIU Loses to Ball State 30-19 for Eighth Straight Defeat

Jim Hart must have thought that the sticky substance his receivers were using on their hands to catch his passes wasn’t working. A fourth-quarter punt by Frank Houk fumbled again. A fourth-down pass fluttered and fell incomplete. The best pass protection so far in the season was finished with a 6-6 tie.

Forbidding the scoreless one thanks mainly to a fumble by Steve Riffer at the opening of the third quarter after moving 81 yards in eight plays with Monty Ripper at quarterback.

Moments later the Salukis started a touchdown march from their 27 yard line. Hart apparently had a touchdown pass to Ference but officials ruled that Ference caught the ball out of the end zone.

On the next play Hart threw his second interception and the fired-up Cardinals moved 82 yards in 11 plays with halfback Jim Todd going the last eight.

The Cardinals went for two points and got them. It didn’t take long for Ball State to add to its lead. The Cardinals took a Rich Hawks punt and downed it on the Ball State 44 and four plays later went in for the two points, and at the half the Ball State led 1-0.

Southern finally got on the scoreboard in the third quarter after moving 81 yards in eight plays with Monty Ripper at quarterback. Todd ran for the extra two points and Ball State had a 2-0 lead.

Southern had another scoring chance late in the third quarter, but fullback Monty Ripper fumbled on the one to end that threat.

Ball State couldn’t move the ball, however, and a bad punt gave Southern the ball at the Ball State 25-yard line. After running a play and an incomplete pass Hart threw an 18-yard pass to Eugene James on the five. Riffer carried the ball to the one on two plays, but was stopped just short of the goal line.

The try for two points failed.

Another interception of a Hart pass gave Ball State the ball on Southern’s 13-yard line and Ball State added its final touchdown when Reeves ran five yards around end, Host to Dean Howard, they had their third touchdowns.

Hart got plenty of help from his offensive line which gave him the best pass protection so far this season.

Hart took advantage of the unusual protection by breaking 47 times and completing 21, both school records.

End John Ference was least bothered by the butter. He caught nine of Hart’s passes for 123 yards.

The first quarter was a scoreless one thanks mainly to one Southern and two Ball State fumbles.

After an exchange of punts at the opening of the game, Ball State got a break when Warren Stahlhut fumbled a punt and the Cardinals recovered on the Saluki 40-yard line.

The Cardinals started a drive but with a first and 10 on the Southern 25, quarter- back Frank Houk fumbled and Stahlhut fell on it for Southern, Ball State didn’t wait long to fumble again. A fourth-down punt by the Ball State 44 and four plays later went in for the two points, and at the half the Ball State led 1-0.

Ferrece Returns to SIU

By Joe Cook

The steady performance of sophomore John Ferrece week after week has brought one ray of sunshine into what otherwise has been a dismal football season.

Ferrece broke one school pass-receiving record against Ball State Saturday and is in line to set another this Saturday against the Southwest Missouri State Indians.

Ferrece caught nine more passes against the Cardinals to run his total to 43 for the season, a new school record. His nine passes were for 123 yardage total to 491, just 12 shy of the record set by the late Harry Bobbitt in 1963.

When Mougey kicked the extra point following the third Southern touchdown, it marked Southern's first successful attempt since the third game of the season.

Southern had scored eight touchdowns without extra points.

Mougey had one blocked but from then the closing minutes of the Ball State game, it would have been able to kick an extra point.

Ball State fans, excited by their team's perfect record, tore down both of the goal posts before the game ended.

They also carried Coach Ray Louthen and many of his players off the field after the final gun.

Ball State's 9-0 record puts it in line for the Grantland Rice Bowl.

A familiar face will return to McAndrew Stadium Saturday, but this time it will be in the form of an enemy.

Frank Sovich, who coached the freshman team two years before he moved to Southwest Missouri State last year, is a line coach for the Indians.

Many of the juniors and sophomores on the varsity team were coached by him.

Sovich's freshman team has compiled a 9-1 record.

Kent Pearson, sports information director at the University of Tulsa, offers this ode to Jerry Rhone, who set most of the NCAA passing records last year only to have fellow teammate Bill Anderson break every one of them this year.
