Gray, Simon leery of Reagan's move

By William Walker
Staff Writer

Echoing the general feeling of Congress, Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., and Rep. Ken Gray, D-West Frankfort, have expressed support for President Reagan's decision to bomb Libya, but both lawmakers say they have some reservations about the move.

"There's no question about Mr. Khadafy's direct relationship with the bombing that occurred in Berlin, but the question is whether we are wise and prudent in doing what we have done," Simon said in a statement made on the Senate floor Tuesday and released by his aide Dave Carle.

"My fear is that we have elevated him (Khadafy) rather than weakened him," Simon said in the statement, which was made after a briefing to apprise Senate members of the situation.

"I have the feeling that we're responding to feelings rather than the national interest, and that is a very easy thing to do," he said.

But despite the reservations, Carle said Simon stands by the belief that the United States acted well within its rights in retaliating against Libya.

Gray also said the United States acted correctly, and he supports the plan to continue an "eye for an eye" strategy. "The president made the right decision. He made the only decision he could make," Gray said in an interview Tuesday following a separate briefing held for House members.

He said the decision came only after all other options to force Khadafy to stop exporting terrorism had been tried and had failed.

Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Ill., could not be reached for comment, but according to United Press International reports he too supported the president, saying he "is justified in his decision to surgically attack selected terrorist-related targets in Libya."

Gray said the United States should and will respond to any further terrorist action that can be traced to Libya by using an "eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" strategy.

"Talking's over. It's time for action," said Gray, adding that the aim of the United States is to prompt the Libyan army, in which there is some strong anti-Khadafy sentiments, to overthrow the Libyan leader.

Toward this end the United States concentrated Monday's attack on pro-Khadafy

Reagan vows to strike again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The blistering U.S. airstrike against Libya was a victory in the global battle against terrorism, President Reagan said Tuesday, warning the United States is ready to repeat its message "in the only language Khadafy seems to understand."

As Reagan pledged he will not relent in his campaign to "eradicate the scourge of terror in the modern world," reports from the Libyan capital of Tripoli said that Moammar Khadafy's 15-month-old adopted daughter was killed in the bombing and two of the Libyan leader's sons were seriously hurt.

After night fell in Tripoli Tuesday, the thud of anti-aircraft guns could be heard, arousing fears another raid was under way, but Pentagon spokesmen flatly denied another U.S. assault was taking place. White House spokesman Larry Speakes also told reporters that the military operations had concluded.

Reagan, speaking to a business group, noted that two American airmen are missing — their F-111 bomber failed to get back to its base in Britain after Monday night's surprise attack that the Pentagon called "Operation Eldorado Canyon."

In the first direct diplomatic fallout from the raid, Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev canceled a planned meeting between Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze because of the "criminal" attack on Libya.

The two diplomats had planned to review prospects for a U.S.-Soviet summit this year in Washington and Speakes called the Soviet decision to abort the meeting a mistake.

At the White House, Speakes said the attack was but the first installment of the "heavy price" Khadafy will have to pay unless he gives up his support of terrorists and was designed to "deter future terrorist attacks."

Monday's assault, hitting suspected "terrorist-related" targets near Tripoli and the eastern port city of Benghazi, was intended "to send a clear message that we will no longer tolerate the deaths of Americans and others," Speakes said. "We are confident this message was heard and understood."

The president, in remarks Tuesday to the American Business Council, said, "We spoke to the outlaw Libyan regime in the only language that Khadafy seems to understand. Yesterday, the United States won but a single engagement in a long battle against terrorism."

Reagan warned Khadafy "not to underestimate the capacity or the legitimate anger of a free people."

Blood drive beats old record

Although blood drive organizers didn't reach their goal to collect 5,000 units, they broke the existing record and reached the "basic goal to supply" blood that was needed," says Vivian Ugent, blood drive coordinator for Southern Illinois.

Last week's blood drive yielded 3,706 units, which surpassed the peacetime record of 3,379 that SIU-C set in November in response to an emergency appeal. More than 4,100 people attempted to donate — some were turned away for medical reasons — and 829 people donated for the first time.

"It was a tremendous success," Ugent said.

Donors spent an average of 30 minutes at the drive as opposed to minimum of an hour during November's drive, said Garry Huebner, blood drive promotions director. "That's a pretty phenomenal pace."

SIU-C employees to get added dental insurance

By Paula Buckner
Staff Writer

University employees will not only be covered by a new insurance agent in June but are likely to have free dental insurance coverage added to their benefits starting Oct. 1.

The addition comes as a result of the Central Management Services Act, which was amended in April 1985 to include all state workers, including public university employees.

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, which represents 40,000 Illinois workers, negotiated with Gov. James Thompson for the improved benefits.

Mitch Vogel of the Illinois Federation of Teachers Universities Council said the addition has to be ratified by AFSCME, but expects the contract language to be ironed out and approved in about two months.

Crews find more wreckage where shuttle cabin sank

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Salvage crews found more wreckage Tuesday from the area where Challenger's crew cabin sank and cryptic radio traffic raised the possibility additional astronaut remains were found. On shore, NASA engineers were eagerly examining a giant piece of charred wreckage from the rocket joint that ruptured Jan. 28. Photographs clearly showed a jagged, apparently melted hole in the joint area where a tongue of flame swept out with deadly results.

Leftist radicals suspected in attack on base

TOKYO (UPI) — A truck exploded and burned Tuesday in what was believed to be an attempt by suspected radicals to fire homemade rockets at the U.S. Yokota Air Base, the headquarters for American forces in Japan, officials said. There were no immediate reports of casualties or damage in the incident, which occurred about 25 miles west of Tokyo. There were no immediate claims of responsibility, but police suspected leftist radicals, who carried out a spate of rocket attacks on high-profile targets late last month.

FBI releases sketches of tampering suspect

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI, pressing its investigation of poisoned drug capsules, Tuesday released sketches and a voice recording of a suspect in last month's contamination of Contac, Teldrin and Dietac capsules. Several witnesses have been located who believe that they may have observed the individual responsible and a police artist has provided composite sketches of this person, FBI spokesman Bill Baker said in a statement. "Tape recordings of this individual's voice have also been obtained," Baker said.

Reagan slow to compromise budget deadline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican leader Robert Dole called Tuesday's deadline to pass a budget "meaningless" and indicated there may be some easing of the Senate-White House dispute that has stalled action on the spending plan. Dole met with White House chief of staff Donald Reagan and budget director James Miller Monday to discuss compromise on the fiscal 1987 budget. But President Reagan showed no indication he was ready to begin to compromise.

Florida inmate executed; Texan inmate waits

STARKE, Fla. (UPI) — A minister's son convicted of murdering a man and raping his wife as his victim lay dying was executed Tuesday in Florida's electric chair. Daniel Morris Thomas 37, was pronounced dead at 12:19 p.m. EST, just 24 minutes after the Supreme Court denied his bid for a stay. In Huntsville, Texas, convicted murderer Jeffrey Allen Barney refused to authorize any appeals. His execution is scheduled before dawn Wednesday.

Soldiers, Marines photographed at rallies

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (UPI) — Armed soldiers and Marines based at Fort Bragg and Camp Lejeune have been photographed participating in rallies conducted by paramilitary hate groups, police and a Klan-watch group said Tuesday. Lt. J.D. Harrell, special operations officer with the Fayetteville Police Department, said five Marines and "tentatively" three soldiers have been identified in photographs taken at rallies of the White Patriot Party and other paramilitary groups.

Militias fail to deploy around refugee camps

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Syrian-backed militias Tuesday delayed for the second time deployment of a 200-man peace-keeping force around two Palestinian refugee camps to end more than two weeks of fighting between Palestinians and Shiite Moslem militiamen. Security sources Tuesday reported no new casualties in the fighting that erupted March 28 and has so far killed at least 52 people, wounded 200 others and forced hundreds of Palestinians to seek refuge outside the two small camps.

S. African police kill suspected black guerrilla

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Police in the tribal homeland of Transkei shot and killed a suspected black guerrilla armed with a Soviet-made automatic rifle and arrested two others, authorities said Tuesday. George Matanzima, Minister of Police and Defense of Transkei, said police manning a roadblock set up for the Transkei National Independence Party's Congress stopped a car carrying three suspected black guerrillas. The three tried to flee and police opened fire, killing one.

USO slates gymnastics resolution

By Brett Yates
Staff Writer

A resolution opposing the cut of women's gymnastics will be discussed Wednesday by the Undergraduate Student Organization Senate.

The resolution was originally scheduled for discussion April 2, but the meeting was canceled because it failed to meet a quorum. The meeting Wednesday will begin at 7 p.m. in Student Center Ballroom D.

Jim Livengood, athletics director, proposed to President Albert Somit that the gymnastics team be cut from the women's athletics roster because of funding problems. Somit accepted the recommendation March 25.

The USO resolution states that the team should not be cut because it "has been a breeding ground for competition" and because the gymnastics program helps "expand the atmosphere and variety available in the University experience."

Also on the agenda are four resolutions to give senate salutes, one of which proposes to salute William Bleyer, director of Intramural Recreational Sports. Bleyer has raised "to a conscious level both qualitative and quantitative contributions to the students" of SIU-C, the resolution states.

The debate team is also recommended for the distinction because SIU-C is the first debate team school east of Colorado to win the national title.

The School of Social Work director, faculty and staff and Jackie Adams are also recommended for senate salutes. The Social Work School is nominated for its "determination, persistence, and perseverance" in receiving pre-accreditation from the Council of Social Work Education in Washington, D.C., and for its Master of Social Work program which began during fall semester 1988.

The resolutions recommends Adams for the award because she has been "an outstanding member of the SIU-C community as a spouse, mother, vice-chairperson of the Evergreen Terrace Council, co-ordinator of special projects for SIU-C Headstart and Rainbow's End Preschool, and has worked extensively with our international student population.

The senate will decide whether to fund 41 Registered Student Organizations and Rainbow's End Preschool for fiscal year 1987, which begins July 1, 1986. It will also decide to ratify the USO election results and write-in candidates.

Feminist calls pornography a legalized sexual violation

By Nola Cowser
Staff Writer

Calling pornography the "most extreme systematic, institutionalized and legalized form of sexual violation and abuse of women," Kathleen Barry condemned pornography and prostitution as crimes against all women at a press conference Tuesday.

Barry, a feminist and professor of sociology at Brandeis University, near Boston, is in Carbondale as a guest of the Women's Studies Program in conjunction with the College of Human Resources Conference.

Barry has conducted research on pornography and prostitution and included her findings in her book, "Female Sex Slavery."

Barry said she found evidence in her research of women being forced into prostitution and being controlled by pimps. She said requirements forced upon prostitutes are similar to demands made against victims.

"Falling into prostitution" is one of the most frequent ways women in prostitution are spoken of, Barry said. She said this phrase says nothing, but implies that there are women who are destined to go into prostitution to fulfill a need. She said that 65 to 80 percent of prostitutes were the victims of incest or rape.

"There is an interconnection between different forms of sexual violence," she said.

Barry said men are solely responsible for prostitution, adding that she blames women who have helped make the system work on an individual basis. She said that one of the ways a prostitute makes her life easier is to help the pimp procure other women for prostitution. She said these women should be held accountable for their actions, but stressed that they had started out as victims and should not be blamed.

Barry said it was difficult to obtain research on prostitution. She said she gained her information basically by following cases in the news, learning of cases from other people and going to court trials and grand jury testimonies. "It took a little bit of detective work," Barry added.

According to Barry, viable statistics on prostitution are not currently available. Most available statistics come from the arrests of prostitutes, Barry said. She called the whole practice of arresting prostitutes, whom she called the victims, absurd.

Pornography is another form of sexual violation of women, Barry said. She said the sale of pornographic magazines and home videos in grocery stores provides a constant affront to women.

"We sell it the way we do doughnuts," she said.

Barry said, "Cultural sadism is built into the everyday life of society." According to Barry, the quantity of pornography has not increased, but it has become more severe and violent.

Palestinian students to register for vote to settle name dispute

By Brett Yates
Staff Writer

The Undergraduate Student Organization will be registering members for the Palestinian Student Association to resolve a conflict that arose when two groups opted for the same name.

The registration will take place Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Student Center.

A group of Palestinian students "with a difference in philosophy" formed a second Palestinian Student Association, said Jim Williams, member of the USO Committee of Internal Affairs.

Each group has claimed to be the Palestinian Student Association, and the newest group formed has applied to the USO for Registered Student Organization status, Williams said.

The newest and "unofficial" Palestinian Student Association has as its faculty adviser Luke Tripp, coordinator of Black American studies.

The first Palestinian Student Association has its faculty adviser Jared Dorn, director of International Programs and Services. An RSO can only have one faculty adviser.

The CIA decided at its meeting Monday night to register students for one Palestinian Student Association as a compromise between the two groups. An election will be held April 21 to allow all registered members to vote on five officers to represent them.

Reagan is justified in bombing Libya

LET'S NOT JUMP ON THE Rambo bandwagon just yet. And let's also not accuse President Reagan of launching an unnecessary attack against Khadafy. There is justification for Tuesday's military strike against Libya.

Khadafy has openly flaunted his ties to international terrorism, and publicized his training facilities for terrorists.

Reagan has vowed that the United States will fight against terrorist attacks on innocent citizens, especially vacationing Americans like Leon Klinghoffer. Is it wrong to punish those who supported the terrorists who threw a handicapped man off an ocean liner to drown?

KHADAFY JUSTIFIES HIS actions by declaring a "jihad," or holy war against the United States. But there is nothing holy about killing innocent people, and warring against the United States is not in any way in the best interests of the Libyan people.

Khadafy has said the Libyans would die to the last man in a war against the United States. Yet our quarrel is not with the Libyan citizens, but with Khadafy. Our strikes were not aimed at either the Libyan military or its citizens but at terrorist training facilities in Libya.

Khadafy maintains these facilities for his personal crusade against injustices that only he can begin to fathom. His irrationality is threat to all, including the Libyan people.

REAGAN GRADUALLY INCREASED pressure on Khadafy to stop financing and training terrorist groups. He implored him to stop allowing terrorists refuge in Libya, which has become a homeland for international criminals.

Khadafy has set up a modern-day version of the Barbary pirates, terrorists demanding tribute from a hesitant world. Hesitancy approaching impotence has been the stance the world has taken when dealing with Khadafy.

It seemed that he had hypnotized other countries into submission. France and Italy signed agreements allowing his agents on their soil under the understanding he would not attack their citizens. This is out-and-out blackmail.

HE HAS ATTEMPTED SIMILAR blackmail against the United States, saying that terrorism would be used to get us to renounce our support of Israel. Obviously we have rejected his twisted offer.

Military action against Khadafy was the only recourse left to the Reagan administration. Critics will say Reagan had not exhausted all diplomatic channels available. They will say Reagan had a personal vendetta against Khadafy. They will say covert action against Khadafy alone was needed. And they will say the air strikes were wrong.

But Reagan has tried over a five-year period to get Khadafy to stop his terrorist ways. In reply, Khadafy escalated his terrorist activities around the world, killing more and more innocent people for reasons only he can justify. It is regrettable that one of the innocent people killed in Khadafy's war was his 15-month-old adopted daughter.

PRESIDENT REAGAN HAS MADE it clear that more military strikes will be launched as he deems them necessary, and only after he has sufficient evidence Khadafy is at the heart of the problem.

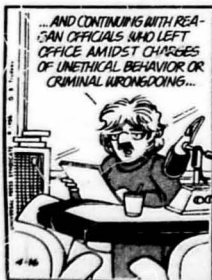

Before ordering such military action, though, the president must consult Congress instead of informing congressional leaders after an attack has been launched. This is out of respect for the balance of power between the branches of government, something they know nothing of in Libya.

Otherwise we will be functioning by Rambo diplomacy, something as inimical to U.S. interests as Khadafy's methods and madness are to Libya's.

Opinions from elsewhere

"Let terrorists be aware that when the rules of international behavior are violated, our policy will be one of swift and effective retribution. We hear it said that we live in an era of limit to our powers. Well, let it also be understood there are limits to our patience." — President Reagan, Jan. 27, 1981, after the American hostages in Iran had been released.

Letters

Don't blame Israel for terrorism

Don Smith wrote an obviously slanderous letter (DE, April 15) on how Israel is to blame for terrorism. Mr. Smith said, "The state of Israel is a mistake and the reason for the havoc in the Middle East."

I personally do not see how this can be. The Jewish people throughout history have been suppressed. In ancient Egypt the Hebrews were slaves. In the Roman Empire the Jews were persecuted, and even the Spanish used their crude inquisitions to try to force the Hebrews to become Christian. In the United States the Ku Klux Klan practices their hatred of the Jews. In Nazi Germany, during World War II, six million Jews were murdered.

In 1917 Arthur Balfour, the British Foreign Secretary, declared that the people of Israel would have a community of their own. The Arabs were not pleased with this, I agree, but the Hebrews have wandered in that wilderness for as many centuries as the Arabs. So don't the Israelis deserve a homeland of their own?

Mr. Smith also said, "The state of Israel has wreaked havoc in the world by continuing to threaten the survival of civilization." How did you derive this? Israel is not a threat to the survival of civilization. But terrorism is. All Israel has done was defend against it. Israel has acted just as the United States has on Libya. Only they have retaliated against terrorists longer than our country.

Don Smith is blind to the real problem. Israel is not to blame for terrorism. It is the countries with leaders like Col. Moammar Khadafy that are responsible for terrorist acts. So before one blames a country for all of the world's terrorism, have proof. Because what you blame Israel for just is not true. — Stephan Trubitt, freshman, Radio-TV station.

Student editorials hard to live with

I guess I can live with the fact that the DE is a student newspaper and almost by definition second rate. As much as I am incensed by it, I guess I can live with the DE's odd sense of priorities — for example, the lack of coverage of a forum April 7 about the lockdown at Marion Prison that every other news agency in town saw fit to cover.

Much harder to live with are the student editorials, those sagacious bits of political sophistication that spring from the vast reserve of some 19-year-old reactionary's experience in life.

I remember one short editorial that contained 10 factual errors, and even though this was pointed out in person to faculty and staff alike, no correction was ever printed.

Completely unacceptable, however, is the recent story about the financial situation

People Living the Dream co-founder Kevin Valentine. As bad as it is that the Board of Trustees would engage in such obvious skulduggery, it is even worse that the DE would print it. Unless, of course, the lesson being taught the junior Woodwards and Bernsteins by the managing faculty is how to kill black political movements through character assassination, an old trick of racist publishers. —David Baker, senior, University Studies.

Internal Affairs kept USO elections clean

The dust has settled from the April 2 elections, and I am very pleased to see that was one of the cleanest elections in the history of the USO.

Sure, there were a couple of totally unfounded charges of racism against the Trojan Party, and the Phoenix Party had a few of the usual complaints about misposted flyers, but all in all the candidates themselves acted like total gentlemen.

Student Senators DeFosse,

Lyons, Williams and Grigas (all members of the USO Committee on Internal Affairs) should be very proud of themselves. Being members of this committee has taught them how to work together despite being on opposite sides of the fence. The credit for restoring integrity to the USO belongs exclusively to the men of the CIA.

Remarkable as it may seem, the cooperation of this team made it possible to hold the elections earlier, ensure people to man the polls, and the naming of an election commissioner with a level head. Their involvement in the election was no accident, nor was it a curse.

Thanks to these silent overseers, the students got what they deserved — experienced government. — Larry G. Geiler, junior, Public Relations.

Editorial Policies

Signed articles, including letters, viewpoints and other commentaries, reflect the opinions of their authors only. Unsigned editorials represent a consensus of the Daily Egyptian Editorial Committee, whose members are the student editor-in-chief, the editorial page editor, a news staff member, the faculty managing editor and a Journalism School faculty member.

Letters to the editor may be submitted by mail or directly to the editorial page editor, Room 1247, Communications Building. Letters should be typewritten, double spaced. All letters are subject to editing and will be limited to 500 words. Letters of less than 250 words will be given preference for publication. Students must identify themselves by class and major, faculty members by rank and department, non-academic staff by position and department.

Letters submitted by mail should include the author's address and telephone number. Letters for which verification of authorship cannot be made will not be published.

Jeans day was for choices

Jeans Day (April 11) was not to trick anyone into supporting the rights of gay and lesbian people. Rather, the intent was to force people to make a choice.

The Gay and Lesbian Peoples Union decided to create a Blue Jeans Day to illustrate what many homosexuals go through everyday. Blue jeans are a normal everyday sort of thing. People on Blue Jeans Day were forced to make a decision. Would they succumb to social pressures and not wear blue jeans or would they stand up to social pressures and wear blue jeans anyway? The intent was to let people know what it is like for something that is normal for them to be made a social taboo.

It is hoped that some people then realized what it must be like for gay and lesbian people to have to hide their homosexuality every day of their lives. Homosexual people who wore blue jeans expressed their gay pride. Heterosexual people who wore blue jeans expressed their pride in being straight (which is equally wonderful.)

People who chose not to wear blue jeans expressed their need to conform to social values and pressures.

To Cathy Sullivan, who wrote that people were not aware of Blue Jeans Day and that we abused people: There was a quarter-page ad in the DE with the schedule of Gay Awareness Week and an quarter-page ad stating "Why Blue Jeans?" There was an article, also in the DE, that talked about Gay Awareness Week and Blue Jeans Day.

There were also flyers with the schedule and flyers dealing specifically with Blue Jeans Day. It was ever talked about by the disc jockeys on WCIL-FM.

If gay and lesbian people were not harassed and discriminated against, there would be no need for a Blue Jeans Day. We are not trying to take over the world. What we are trying to gain is acceptance and equal rights in the world that we live in. Our hope is that one day all people will live harmoniously in this world no matter what their race, no matter what their religion, and no matter what their sexual preference.

However, until that time, there will continue to be a Blue Jeans Day. — Jim Shields, assistant director of finance and records, Gay and Lesbian Peoples Union.

Nicaragua to be next Bay of Pigs?

According to Contra rebel leader Adolfo Calero, the additional $100 million the Reagan administration wants for the "freedom fighters" would assure the overthrow of the Sandinista government of Nicaragua. Popular sympathy is with the Contras, he argues. The passivity of the people is only because the Contras aren't perceived as winners.

If we got $100 million, he says, within months "we could be provoking a final crisis where the people would join in — which is what happened to Somoza." This, as some may recall, was the rationale for the ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba in the not-so-distant past of the Kennedy administration.

Perhaps we will go the whole sordid route once more, maybe even get to welcome the Contra survivors to Miami, where they should feel right at home. Recent FBI evidence has revealed a thriving business relationship between some of the Contras and members of the 2506 Brigade, a group of Cuban exiles based in Miami, whose business is (you guessed it) cocaine.

The mayor of Miami, defending himself recently against criticism for failing to provide police protection for a group of anti-war demonstrators who were attacked and beaten by a pro-Contra mob, suggested that Miami wasn't really a good place for anti-war people, that perhaps they ought to keep such sentiments to themselves or go elsewhere.

The real threat to the American way of life, it seems to me, is not the "red tide" fantasized by the aging actor in the White House, so much as the polluting debris of another CIA disaster which may be washing up on the beaches of Florida in the coming time. — Robert Griffin, associate professor, English.

Double standard in foreign policy?

For several days almost all of the media have reported that Sandinista stubbornness torpedoed the recent peace conference in Panama which was attended by representatives from a dozen Central and South American countries. Now we learn that Nicaragua agreed to reduce its armaments along with its neighbors only if the United States agreed to end its support of the Contras.

That sounds reasonable enough. Without assurance that the United States would discontinue its Contra support, any agreement among the Central American nations to reduce their armaments would accomplish nothing and would leave Nicaragua with little or no defense against continuing Contra attacks.

Our media therefore should be telling us that it was the United States' stubbornness and not Nicaragua's that brought the peace conference to naught.

Why is it that if Israel retaliates against the PLO in Lebanon with troops, tanks and planes we hardly raise an eyebrow, and yet if Nicaraguan troops go a few miles into the Honduras to get at Contras who are terrorizing the Nicaraguan people and countryside it is a major international incident? Why the double standard in our foreign policy?

Three members of the House of Representatives recently returned from Central America and reported emphatically that none of the leaders with whom they talked favored U.S. support of the Contras.

Reagan and his crowd are deaf to these Central American leaders, so we must tell our Congressmen in the strongest terms to vote against any more aid to the Contras. Let Central Americans work out their own problems without U.S. military interference. — D.E. Christensen, professor emeritus, Geography.

strongholds instead of regular military installations, he said.

But Gray also said that this is a "good time to reflect back" on the root causes of terrorism, primarily the lack of a Palestinian homeland, and he stressed that those problems must be solved if terrorism is to be stopped.

And he added that certain moves by the United States, such as Reagan's decision to send Marines to Lebanon as part of a multi-national peacekeeping force in 1983, simply lead to anger in the Middle East and an escalation of terrorism.

"I think we need now to stop and look at what has been causing this all along," Gray said.

But he stressed that Monday's attack was necessary given the circumstances, and he said it was a success, despite the loss of one American jet fighter and the presumed death of the two Americans aboard.

However, he expressed some anger at the French government for refusing to allow the American F-11 bombers that were dispatched from England to fly over French airspace.

That decision, and similar restrictions from Spain and Portugal, forced the planes to fly about an extra 2,400 miles on the mission. Spain, however, did allow one plane with engine trouble to land there on the return trip.

Gray said that during the House briefing, which was attended by about 250 congressmen, there was an informal agreement that the lawmakers would each express their dissatisfaction directly to the French government.

"It's their freedom we're fighting for too," he said

INSURANCE, from Page 1

However, William Capie, executive director of personnel services, said the Illinois Department of Central Management Services has released no formal information on the new coverage.

"We fully expect dental coverage to be added," Capie said, "but I don't want to inform our employees of any changes until I get confirmation from Central Management Services."

CMS is a state agency responsible for coordinating all health insurance plans for public employees.

The University's coverage by Blue Cross-Blue Shield will be discontinued June 30. No new insurance company has been named.

Mary Schwartz, legislative director for IFT, said that prior to collective bargaining legislation in 1983, some benefits for all public employees — including state university employees — were not negotiable.

"You took what they gave you," she said. CMS, however — with the IFT University Council, AFSCME and other public employees unions — took the position that extension of benefit improvements applied to all public employees, she said.

"The mere fact that university employees are state employees got the amended legislation to cover them," Schwartz said.

The additional dental insurance will be extended to dependents of employees who have dependent coverage. The benefits will be added to the state health plan at no cost to the employee.

Starting Oct. 1, the plan covers regular check-ups, X-rays, teeth cleaning and fillings for employees. Coverage for check-ups and X-rays for dependents also starts then.

Added to the plan July 1, 1987, is general oral surgery for the employee and restorative coverage for dependents. Endodontic, or root canal, work is added for employees July 1, 1988, and general oral surgery and endodontic work is added for the dependent.

Employees also may purchase supplemental coverage for services not covered by the basic plan and dental-only coverage for their dependents.

Koehler vows to continue attack on Dixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican Judy Koehler said she will keep using charges that Sen. Alan Dixon is a wimp for staying on the regular Democratic ticket Tuesday, despite adverse reaction to her advertisements.

Koehler, the GOP Senate nominee, raised the charge last week in a 10-second advertisement that ran for four days on three downstate Illinois television stations. Several newspapers and columnists criticized the ad as improper.

During a news conference, Koehler called Dixon a wimp and a backstabber for staying on the ticket after adherents of extremist Lyndon LaRouche won Democratic nominations for Illinois lieutenant governor and secretary of state.

She also said all statewide Democratic candidates should run as independents, as gubernatorial nominee Adlai Stevenson is doing, but declined to say whether they also are wimps and backstabbers.

"My candidacy is against Alan Dixon. The others can take care of themselves," she said.

Koehler said she had no regrets about running the advertisement but said there is no decision if it will be used again. She said she will retain the New York political consultant, Arthur Finkelstein, who engineered the ad.

She also said she will continue to use the LaRouche candidates as a way to question Dixon's leadership.

"This will be an issue" until election day, she said.

Officials in the Republican National Senatorial Committee said they intend to give Koehler the maximum aid possible. Koehler already has received $15,000 in a direct contribution, a spokeswoman said, and the RNSC is trying to raise $735,000 for so-called coordinated expenditures.

Koehler said she supports the Gramm-Rudman deficit-cutting law and a constitutional amendment to require a balanced federal budget. Dixon voted for both of those, an aide said.

The Dixon aide said a telephone poll two weeks after the Illinois primary "leaves us optimistic about the future."

Asked if she considers herself a partner to religious organizations that are also attacking pornography, Barry said, "Religion doesn't terribly interest me. It's not a crime against God, it's a crime against women. I don't know what God's role in this is."

She said religion considers sex wrong and dirty, while women want to know what sex is and want sex that has not been corrupted, abused or debased.

she does not do them anymore.

"I really consider my work too important to be debating with 'low-life,'" she said.

"My experience on television programs with commentators, emcees, moderators — whatever they are — is that they get so enthralled with the pornographers that they just let them have the show," Barry said.

Barry will present "Prostitution and the Traffic in Women" at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Center Ohio Room during the College of Human Resources Conference. At 7 p.m., she will present the lecture "Pornography and Prostitution: Women's Bodies as Commodities" in Lawson 171.

Barry said she has appeared on several programs with people who support the sale of pornography. The debates, she said, ended with no results, so

Students utilize MAGIC to improve studying ability

By Cloteria Slider
Staff Writer

Helping students to be better students is the major goal of Project Maximize Academic Growth In College Assistant Director of Student Development Daniel Nadler said Tuesday.

Project MAGIC is a program designed by Director of Student Development Nancy Pei and Assistant to Vice President of Student Academic Affairs Gene Paratore.

Nadler said the program, which has been a part of SIU-C's curriculum for three years, was set up to match faculty and staff members with new freshmen in an informal mentoring relationship.

The program calls for 200 to 250 faculty and staff to volunteer as mentors, for the 400 students who have enrolled for the 1986-1987 academic school year.

According to Nadler, all freshmen can apply to be a part of Project MAGIC by filling out a brochure that is mailed to all incoming students.

"New students enjoy working with mentors," Nadler added, "Most of all they like to know that someone, especially faculty or administrator, is there to give them support."

Nadler said that mentors are encouraged to meet with students at least three times a semester to help them become acclimated to the university and to give friendly advice on a variety of academic and non-academic concerns, that may contribute to the success of the student's career at the university.

Nadler said that SIU-C has the largest volunteering mentoring program in the nation.

Food developer slated to lecture on overseas aid

Robert W. Kleis, executive director of the Board for International Food and Agriculture Development, will speak at 3 p.m. Wednesday in Room 209 of the Agriculture Building.

Kleis's speech, "United States Universities in the International Agriculture Arena," is sponsored by the Office of International Agriculture.

Kleis will talk about the importance of universities in overseas development.

BIFAD's aim is to involve American universities in foreign aid programs to develop agriculture education programs and help underdeveloped countries grow and process their own food.

BIFAD is an advisory board to the U.S. Department of State's Agency for International Development, which runs numerous U.S. international development programs.

Sirens called best tornado alert

ATLANTA (UPI) — Most people killed or seriously injured by tornadoes had less than a minute's warning of danger, federal health officials said last week in warning communities not to depend on radio or television to sound the alert.

The majority of tornadoes, according to a federal study, occur during the late afternoon "when radio-television audiences are at their lowest. Therefore, utilization of positive alerts (sirens) are important."

The study was released Thursday by the Division of Environmental Hazards and Health Effects of the national Centers for Disease Control and involved an investigation of a series of tornadoes that struck May 31, 1985. On that day, 27 tornadoes swept across parts of Ohio, Pennsylvania, western New York and Ontario, killing at least 91 people and injuring more than 800.

Dr. Wendy Kaye, an epidemiologist with the CDC, said the federal agency recommends not only siren warning systems in areas prone to tornadoes but an educational program to teach people the meaning of the warning and what to do.

"I know that in one of the small communities hit badly in western Pennsylvania, they actually had a siren. The people heard it but didn't know what it was for," said said.

Statistics gathered by investigators of the 1985 tornadoes "showed that 52 percent of the persons both fatally and seriously injured had less than one minute's warning and 65 percent had less than five minute's warning," Kaye said.

The study indicated that 31 percent of the initial warnings to seriously injured people consisted of the person seeing or hearing the tornado, high winds or flying debris. Only 9.6 percent saw an alert on television.

"I think we would say that if people had had more warning and they knew how to protect themselves, there would have been fewer fatalities," she said.

The CDC said the study also showed that only 34 percent of the seriously injured knew the difference between a tornado warning and a tornado watch.

Student wins computer set spending $1 on raffle ticket

Joel R. Skalnik, an industrial technology major, got a computer for $1.

Skalnik was lucky enough to have a $1 raffle ticket — one of 43 he purchased — selected at random Monday night by the Financial Investment Society. His prize was a Kaypro professional computer with dual disc drives, monitor, printer and a start-up kit of software.

FIS, a non-profit student organization, purchased the computer at a reduced rate from Computer Corner at the University Mall. About $1,500 was raised from $1 donations, according to Brian Richardson, a senior in finance and vice chairman of finance for the club.

Although the club fell short of their $2,500 goal, Richardson was content with the results.

"I would say the giveaway was a success to a certain extent," he said. "If we were to do it again, I think I'd do it differently though."

Richardson said the local community showed more interest in the giveaway than did the University community, citing ticket sales of about 130 at Computer Corner alone. He said he would look for better locations for sales tables to increase the visibility of the project.

Volunteers sought to pass torch to senior and special Olympians

By Patricia Edwards
Staff Writer

The campus will be buzzing with the flurry of senior and special olympians April 24-26 as some of the finest athletes from the eight southernmost counties in Illinois compete in a variety of events.

Faculty, staff and students are encouraged to become involved as volunteers in the activities.

Between 400 and 500 volunteers are needed to help with the events. Two-hundred people have already notified the Department of Recreation and the Carbondale Park District, sponsors of the event, of their intentions to volunteer.

"It's a real rewarding experience," said Lori Lynn, volunteer chairwoman.

"Everybody's happy. There are no losers. They're out there for the fun of it."

Two informational meetings for volunteers are scheduled for Thursday and Tuesday, both at 7 p.m. in Lawson 151. Specific responsibilities will be assigned at the meetings. Volunteers are needed as timers, record-keepers and markers. Huggers are needed for the Special Olympics competitors.

Huggers congratulate competitors at the end of each event, exemplifying the theme that "everybody's a winner" in the Special Olympics.

The day-long Special Olympics on April 25 are expected to attract 600 competitors. Men, women and children will run, jump and throw, each striving to be the best they can be.

The Senior Olympics are open to those 55 and older. The track and field events will take place at McAndrew Stadium on Friday. They will begin at 9 a.m. following the opening ceremony at 8:30 a.m. Tennis, bowling and billiards will comprise the afternoon events.

The events to take place on Saturday include swimming, table tennis, shuffleboard, and free-throw and hot-shot basketball.

The Special Olympics were founded by the Kennedy Foundation in 1969. The first games were held in Chicago. Eunice P. Kennedy-Shriver heads the Special Olympics organization.

Radiothon benefit set Wednesday for cancer study

The 10th Annual WCIL-FM St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Radiothon will be from 6 a.m. to midnight Wednesday at the University Mall.

Last year, the radiothon raised over $20,000 in donations. Tony Waitkus, coordinator for the event, estimates this year's total will be over $30,000, with some of the money already raised in preradiothon events.

The hospital primary concern is finding a cure for childhood cancer.

Foundation head to speak

Anne Carman, newly appointed head of the SIU Foundation, will speak on the mission of the foundation at the SIU-C Annuitants Association annual meeting at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Student Center Ballroom B.

A special award for distinguished service to the annuitants of Illinois will be presented to Edward Gibala, first executive director of the State Retirement System of Illinois from 1952-79.

Reports on Illinois pension changes, survivors benefits and new developments in health insurance will also be presented at the meeting.

The association is the campus chapter of the state annuitants system of Illinois, said Jerry Auerbach, chapter president, and is made up of 1,400 retired University faculty, administration and civil service personnel.

Eleven annuitants chapters statewide make up the state system and Auerbach said the annuitants system exists primarily for the protection of the annuitant's pensions.

Friends and foes of Libya unite in condemning attack

By United Press International

America's enemies around the world — and many of its allies — overwhelmingly condemned the U.S. attack on Libya Tuesday, calling the military action a violation of international law that will have little impact on terrorism.

The Israeli government took an unequivocal stand of support for the raid, and the leaders of Britain and West Germany also backed the action.

But the Soviet Union called the attack an "aggressive criminal action" and canceled a mid-May meeting between Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze to set a date for the next summit between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

Gorbachev said the assault on Libya "cannot be justified by any arguments" and has "stamped out positive tendencies and hopes" for an improvement in U.S.-Soviet relations.

Moscow's Warsaw Pact allies joined the criticism.

Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu complained to U.S. officials that the Romanian Embassy in Tripoli was damaged and four Romanians were injured. Poland called the raid "another show of state terrorism by the present U.S. administration."

Moammar Khadafy

Cuba said the "genocidal bombings" show that state terrorism is centered in Washington and is headed by Reagan.

Nicaragua labeled the strike "premeditated, unjustifiable and irresponsible" and accused the United States of launching "the most indiscriminate international terrorism by ordering the bombardment of targets in populated zones of Tripoli."

Libyan foes and allies in the Middle East condemned the attack.

Syria, Libya's staunchest supporter in the Arab world, has in recent weeks offered to fight alongside Libyan troops in the event of an American offensive. Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy reportedly telephoned Syrian President Hafez Assad after the U.S. attack, but Damascus did not comment on any Syrian military action.

Yemen and Palestine Liberation Organization Chairman Yasser Arafat — both critics of Khadafy — called for an emergency Arab summit meeting to discuss "U.S. aggression."

Israel issued the strongest praise for the American strike. "The attack doesn't surprise me," Prime Minister Shimon Peres said. "It doesn't surprise me that the U.S. takes self-defensive action. Those who send murderers to kill others will be harmed too."

Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir said Israel regards the strike "as an action of defense by the United States and the entire free world against international terrorism."

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher also approved the raid, lending a hand by permitting U.S. warplanes to stage the strikes from British bases.

Seas scoured for 2 downed fliers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy scoured the seas off Libya Tuesday in a relentless air and ship search for two fliers from one of the 18 Air Force F-111F fighter-bombers that has been missing since the attack on Libya, the Pentagon said.

Pentagon officials did not rule out the possibility the plane may have been shot down during the mission, dubbed "Operation Eldorado Canyon" by the Pentagon.

"We do not know" whether the F-111F was downed, said Pentagon spokesman Robert Sims. "The plane did not report to its rendezvous point" after the attack.

"We don't have anything to indicate that they ejected," he said.

Pentagon sources held out little hope of finding the two-man crew.

The pilot of the missing plane was Capt. Fernando L. Ribas-Dominici, 33, of Puerto Rico, and the weapons officer was Capt. Paul F. Lorence, 31, of San Francisco, the Air Force said. The plane was attached to the 48th Tactical Fighter Wing at the British base of Lakenheath, England.

Ribas-Dominici's brother said the family received word the swing-wing aircraft crashed into the sea.

He described the search and rescue operation as extensive and said it was "continuing in the dark" more than 24 hours after the 33 planes launched the primary attack at 7 p.m. EST Monday.

"Continuing efforts thus far have shown no evidence of survivors," he told reporters.

He said he was sure the commander of the search operation "will exhaust every effort and not give up."

The F-111F flew 6,400 miles from their bases in Britain to Libya and back late Monday (early Tuesday Libya time) — a seven-hour flight in each direction. They were forced to travel a circuitous route because of France's refusal to permit them to fly over French territory, the administration said.

U.S. orders airlines to tighten security

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government ordered Tuesday that U.S. airlines flying into foreign airports take extra security against possible terrorism by Libya and additional sky marshals will be boarding more flights as protection.

The Federal Aviation Administration directed American carriers to be "extra vigilant as a result of yesterday's events in the Mediterranean" when the United States bombed several targets in the North African nation.

"In addition, the agency will be requiring additional security measures to be put into effect by U.S. airlines that operate to foreign airports," said an FAA spokesman.

State Department spokesman Bernard Kalb said the department has not issued an advisory urging Americans to avoid travel in any areas as a result of the raid.

"Having said that, Americans should obviously exercise caution in all international travel during this period of tension," he said.

"The majority of states in the area have taken stringent precautions to prevent terrorist incidents. Nevertheless, the threat exists."

The Air Line Pilots Association called Tuesday for a boycott against "countries that harbor terrorists." Association President Henry Duffy also said boycott action will be taken "against airports that continue to operate without adequate security."

The International Federation of Airline Pilots Association has called for a similar boycott.

Spain's aid to bomber protested

MADRID (UPI) — Spain allowed a disabled fighter jet that took part in the U.S. attack on Libya to make an emergency landing Tuesday despite Madrid's earlier refusal to let the strike force use its airspace or bases in the assault.

Riot police used rubber truncheons to disperse a crowd of more than 1,000 angry protesters who threw paint, eggs and stones in a demonstration outside the U.S. Embassy Tuesday, authorities said. Three people, including two policemen, were injured. Riot squads also broke up a demonstration by several hundred stone-throwing protesters outside the American consulate in Barcelona, police said.

The U.S. Embassy in Madrid advised Americans in Spain to avoid places frequented by U.S. citizens and to watch for possible terrorist attacks.

"We have told citizens that we have reason to believe that American organizations or individuals are at risk as a result of the continuing situation with Libya," an embassy spokesman said.

Some 62,000 Americans, including about 10,500 U.S. servicemen, live in Spain.

Security was tightened outside the bases and at other potential terrorist targets.

Socialist Prime Minister Felipe Gonzalez said Spain allowed the plane to land because of international agreements on safety.

Gorbachev scorns U.S. for attack on Libya, cancels May meeting

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Kremlin Tuesday canceled a crucial May meeting between the American secretary of state and Soviet foreign minister because of the U.S. attack on Libya. Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev said the U.S. action had "stamped out" chances for better superpower relations.

Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze were to meet in mid-May to lay the groundwork for a summit meeting in the United States between President Reagan and Gorbachev, the second between the two leaders.

In Washington, White House spokesman Larry Speakes called the Soviet cancellation "a mistake." He said the United States continues to accept the Soviets at their word that a summit will take place this year.

The Soviet Union canceled

the Shultz-Shevardnadze meeting after a reported emergency session in the Kremlin on the bombing raids early Tuesday against Moscow's Middle East ally and recipient of billions of dollars in Soviet weaponry.

Until Tuesday Moscow confined its support to words during the clash between Libyan and U.S. forces in the disputed Gulf of Sidra last month. But hours after the U.S. strike on Libya cities early Tuesday, an official Kremlin statement said American actions made it "impossible" for the foreign ministers to meet.

"The U.S. administration itself has made impossible at the present time the planned meeting on the level of the ministers of foreign affairs of our two countries," the statement said. "The Soviet government resolutely condemns the aggressive criminal action taken by the United States against Libya."

Diplomatic sources said the statement, read over Soviet television, was prepared during an emergency session of the leadership convened by Gorbachev, who earlier called the attack a "deliberate aggravation of Soviet-American relations."

Gorbachev met with visiting Swedish Prime Minister Ingvar Carlsson and said the U.S. air strikes on Libya "cannot be justified by any arguments." He called the attack frustrating and said it impeded the "search for ways of improving international relations."

The Soviet leader, whose remarks were reported on Soviet television and by the Tass news agency, also said the action had "stamped out" the "positive tendencies and hopes" for an improvement in U.S.-Soviet relations.

Middle East countries blast U.S. attack

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Libya's friends and foes in the Middle East Tuesday condemned the U.S. attack on the North African nation amid warnings the air strikes will trigger a new wave of anti-American terrorism throughout the Middle East and Europe.

A radical Palestinian group headed by Abu Nidal threatened to attack U.S. interests worldwide, and a previously unknown group calling itself the Arab Armed Brigades vowed to kill Americans, Britons and Frenchmen.

The statement by Abu Nidal, delivered to Western news agencies in Beirut, pledged to attack "American interests and institutions and all forms of aggressive American presence in our countries and the whole world."

Abu Nidal, believed to be based in the Libyan capital Tripoli, broke away from the more moderate Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization in 1974 and is believed responsible for a string of terrorist attacks since the early 1970s, including the bloody hijacking of an EgyptAir plane in 1985.

Earlier, a man who claimed to be speaking on behalf of the Arab Armed Brigades called the Christian Voice of Lebanon radio station, saying, "We have decided to retaliate by kidnapping and killing all American, British and French nationals in Lebanon."

Lebanese security sources said they had not previously heard of the group, but believed "it is probably one of the several pro-Libyan factions which have sprung up in Lebanon since the start of the Libyan-American crisis."

Both Libya's friends and enemies in the Middle East condemned the raids near Tripoli and Benghazi, which U.S. officials said were in retaliation for Libyan involvement in an April 5 West Berlin bombing that killed an American soldier.

Libyans appeal to U.N. council

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Libya condemned the United States in an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council Tuesday for the "barbaric and savage" U.S. military attack on Tripoli and other targets in the north African country.

The Libyans, who claimed the assault was aimed at residential areas, also condemned British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's government for providing logistical support for the U.S. bombing raid.

The United States said the attack on Libya was an exercise of its right of self-defense allowed by the U.N. Charter.

The raid was carried out by 18 F-111 fighter-bombers and 15 A-6 Intruder Navy attack planes assisted by flying tankers. The U.S. jets struck Tripoli and the port city of Benghazi, hitting military bases and the headquarters of Libyan leader Moammar Khadafi.

"We condemn the barbaric and savage American military raid, which was conducted with the blessing and support of certain states — first and foremost the United Kingdom," Libyan delegate Rajab Azzarouk told the 15-nation council.

Azzarouk claimed the raids were directed at residential areas. "They were intended to make civilians and foreigners the victims," he said. Azzarouk said the embassies of Switzerland and France in Tripoli were damaged and that schools and a center for the handicapped were destroyed.

U.S. Ambassador Vernon Walters just back from a trip to European capitals where he sought support for the U.S. action, said the United States has "direct, precise and irrefutable" evidence that Libya directed the bombing of a nightclub in West Berlin, which killed a U.S. soldier and a Turkish woman.

Americans react to strike with mixture of pride, fear

By Jack Warner
United Press International

Americans viewed the air raids on Libya with mixed emotions Tuesday, and some of those whose lives have been directly touched by terrorism were among the least enthusiastic.

A billionaire Texan who rocketed to fame in 1979 when he engineered the escape of his employees from an Iran prison blamed France for the loss of one of the U.S. attack planes.

H. Ross Perot said France's refusal to allow the returning F-111s to fly over France "put that airplane at risk. It had to fly thousands of miles out of the way."

"Twice in this century we rescued the French nation," said the irate Texan. "As far as I'm concerned, as long as I'm around, if our country ever considers spilling one drop of American blood for the French, I'll do everything I can to stop it."

"If they're an ally, I'd hate to meet an enemy," Perot said. "I'm absolutely disgusted, and I'm of French descent."

Ilsa and Lisa Klinghoffer, whose father Leon was killed by terrorists aboard the Italian cruise liner

Achille Lauro last year, said they were "elated with the president's actions."

"We know these actions will not bring our father back," they said in a statement issued in New York. "Terrorism is not acceptable in any guise. It is a criminal act, not a political one. We hope the other nations of this world will join with us in driving terrorists and terrorism from the face of the earth. Terrorists should have no place to run and no place to hide."

Alice Beecham, the mother of the U.S. soldier whose death in a discotheque bombing in West Berlin was the direct cause of the raids, supported the attacks only reluctantly.

"If my son were still alive right now, I would be really afraid," she said. "Now that he's dead, I worry for the other mothers who have sons and daughters over there."

"All I have to say is President Reagan did what he had to do," she said. "I really feel sorry for the United States and Libya that it's had to come to this. We don't believe in violence and killing people, but we did what we had to do."

Denise M. DeBarre, a native of East Moline, has been chosen as the outstanding senior in the Liberal Arts and Sciences Honor Society.

She was awarded the Phi Beta Kappa Book Award, which symbolizes the honor, at the society's banquet April 6.

The Liberal Arts and Sciences Honor Society is SIUC's equivalent of Phi Beta Kappa and is sponsored by the Illinois Beta Association of that national scholastic honorary society.

DeBarre, a senior in psychology, was selected on the basis of superior academic achievement. She was chosen as a junior for membership in the Liberal Arts and Sciences Honor Society and for the honors program in the Psychology Department, distinctions usually reserved for seniors.

She attended Black Hawk College in Moline for one year before transferring to SIUC. She plans to begin graduate studies in clinical psychology after receiving her bachelor's degree in May.

Texas broadcaster named R-TV Alumnus of the Year

William G. Moll, president of the broadcast and entertainment division of Harte-Hanks Communications, Inc., has been selected the 1986 Television Alumnus of the Year at SIUC.

Moll, a native of Sikeston, Mo., attended SIUC and Anderson College in Anderson, Ind. He earned a bachelor of science degree at Southeast Missouri State in Cape Girardeau and a master of arts degree at University of Texas-Austin.

Harte-Hanks is headquartered in San Antonio, Texas. Moll heads a division that includes four television stations and a radio and records trade journal. Moll has been involved in some aspect of radio and television broadcasting since 1954 — from on-air performance and programming to sales, news and management.

He is immediate past chairman of the Board of the Television Bureau of Advertising and is past president of the Texas Association of Broadcasters. He serves on the boards of the CBS Television Affiliates Association and the International Radio and Television Foundation.

Moll has announced a personal contribution of $1,000 to the Radio-Television Department's Ralph Becker Scholarship fund. Three scholarships are awarded from the fund each year to students in the Radio and Television Department.

Research money to be raised by March of Dimes walk-a-thon

By Justus Weathersby Jr.
Staff Writer

Money raised through the local March of Dimes Walk-a-thon Saturday will go toward helping the more than 250,000 children are born with birth defects every year, says Walk-a-thon spokesman David Ore.

The money will be used to support children's medical expenses and fund maternal education classes and psychological support groups for parents, Ore says.

Ore is the chairman of the Alpha Kappa Psi service committee, which has spearheaded local support for the Walk-a-thon. This year's walk marks the second consecutive observance of the Walk-a-thon. Local sponsors hope to raise enough interest to lend support for children with birth defects.

The March of Dimes collected $22 million last year after 1,100 walkers nationwide received contributions from sponsors. Ore said SIUC walkers only raised $100 last year, but because of better publicity efforts he said the group hopes to raise more money this year.

An unlimited number of people can sponsor a walker, Ore said, and each walker will ask for a minimum of 25 cents for each kilometer walked. Twenty-five cents per kilometer equals about 42 cents a mile.

The national March of Dimes Walk-a-thon is scheduled to begin April 26. Ore said that the local Walk-a-thon has been scheduled for Saturday to avoid a conflict with Springfest '86.

Sponsor sheets will be available from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Thursday in the Student Center near the bakery.

Walkers have been asked to walk 30 kilometers — about 18 miles. Walkers will assemble at 8:30 a.m. Saturday at Abe Martin baseball field near the Arena. All participants in the Walk-a-thon will be given refreshments and two free hours of bowling, which will be supplied by Egyptian Bowl and Sports Center, 1215 E. Walnut St.

Ore said that not only has the March of Dimes been successful in finding a vaccine for polio, but other research activities have resulted in more frequent successes for treatments of life-threatening health problems than any other research group. He said that the Walk-a-thon is the second largest March of Dimes fundraiser. The annual telethon is its No. 1 fundraiser, he said.

K-Mart, east on Route 13, and Egyptian Bowl and Sports Center are the local sponsors of the Walk-a-thon.

Ore said that the March of Dimes has been successful in its prenatal care research for the prevention of heart defects in unborn children.

Six communication students get awards

Six students in the College of Communications and Fine Arts have received scholarships for the 1986-87 school year.

Patrick J. Morrison, junior in advertising from Carbondale, received the $750 Virginia Marmaduke Scholarship. He is vice president of marketing and media for SIUC's chapter of the American Advertising Federation.

The $180 Leah M. Reef

Memorial Scholarship went to Susan Alpert, senior in radio-television from Van Nuys, Calif. She has a grade point average of 4.0.

Tracy Turner, senior in journalism and radio-television from Kirkwood, Mo., was awarded a $500 Delyte W. Morris Scholarship. Turner has made the dean's list each of her seven semesters at SIUC.

A $100 Carrie M. Eunn

Scholarship went to Toby Eckert, sophomore in journalism from Millstadt, Ill.

Two students received $300 Robert W. Davis scholarships: Judith Pindroh, junior in journalism from Naperville, Ill.; and Kevin Doyle, junior in music. Pindroh works for the Daily Egyptian and is an officer in the campus chapter of the American Advertising Federation. Doyle, a pianist, has a perfect grade point average.

Flying Salukis in Texas trying to win national title

SIUC's Flying Salukis will climb into the Texas skies Thursday in an attempt to return the National Intercollegiate Flying Championship title to the SIUC campus.

The Flying Salukis, national winners in six of the past eight years, will battle for the title again by competing in three days of grueling testing in Waco, Texas. The event will be hosted by the Texas State Technical Institute.

Collegiate pilots from around the country will test their navigational and piloting skills in five flying and five ground events. A new event at this year's competition is entering and interpreting weather information on a flight computer.

While in Waco, the Flying Salukis will also lobby other competitors to vote for SIUC as the site for the 1987 competition. SIUC hosted the competition in 1973.

Alaskan police to retrieve man lost on Soviet island

LITTLE DIOMEDE, Alaska (UPI) — Four Alaska state troopers flew to an island in the frozen Bering Strait Tuesday to take custody of an American drifter jailed by Soviet soldiers two weeks ago for crossing their border.

The Alaska troopers, led by Capt. Joseph DeTemple and representing the U.S. State Department, left Nome at 11:30 a.m. Alaska time aboard a twin-engine Navajo ski plane for the 50-minute flight to the Alaska island of Little Diomedede.

They awaited the return to American soil of John Weymouth, 33, San Francisco, who was scheduled to be transported by Russian soldiers on a 2-mile helicopter flight from the Soviet island of Big Diomedede.

The exchange was arranged by negotiations between Washington and Moscow. It was to be made at the foot of Little Diomedede, only yards from a village of about 135 Eskimos.

It was originally scheduled Monday but had to be delayed because of thick fog and snow on the U.S. island.

A military outpost is located on Big Diomedede, the closest point in the Soviet Union to the United States.

Weymouth would be the first known American to return from Big Diomedede and it was believed the prisoner exchange would mark the first time the Soviets have flown to the neighboring U.S. island.

Weymouth will be a free man once he arrives back in U.S. territory.

Plans bring church closer to Latin Americans

By Clotelia Slider
Staff Writer

The Roman Catholic Church has developed new structures in Latin America designed to bring the church closer to the people and to deal with a critical shortage of priests, says William Garner, professor in political science.

Garner joined a group of American priests on a visit to the Latin American nation of Panama from Feb. 17 to March 2. He said the focus of his trip was to study the nation's Christian-based communities.

Christian-based communities are the lowest organizations in the structure of the Latin American church, Garner said, adding that they are unique to Latin America.

HE SAID the communities, which are administrated almost totally by lay people, grew out of liberation theology, a belief that the church should try to alleviate the miseries of the poor and that it should be closer to its membership. Garner said liberation theology is also unique to Central America.

The goal of the theology, Garner explained, "is to put the church more into the hands of the people." He said that it grew "out of the misery of the people."

IN LIBERATION theology, Garner said, the lay members of the church become as important as its hierarchy, priests and nuns.

He said the development of Christian-based communities has allowed the church to overcome a critical shortage of priests and to get lay members more involved in the church's activities.

In the Chiriqui province of Panama, where Garner spent most of his visit, there are only eight priests to cater to the spiritual needs of 89,000 Catholics who live in a diocese that spans 1,000 square miles.

William Garner

HE SAID the priests work from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. and perform five to six masses every day but are still unable to visit each of the communities more than once every two months.

The shortage of priests in Latin America, Garner said, is the result of the importance Latin societies place on machismo, which has led to a distaste among men toward taking the vow of celibacy. Catholic priests are required to take.

Garner, who serves as a lay minister at St. Francis Xavier Church in Carbondale, said Christian-based communities have existed in Latin America for close to 35 years but it was not until Vatican II, which took place from 1962 to 1965, that the church began to acknowledge their existence.

"VATICAN II took the position that the hierarchy, priests and nuns are not the whole church," he said. "It stressed the importance of the laity working with the church."

AMONG THE responsibilities taken over by the leaders of the communities, Garner said, are partially sharing the interpretation of the scriptures and raising the socio-economic consciousness of church members.

In the diocese he visited, Garner said there were 226 "Delegates of the Word," lay ministers who are allowed to perform some of the religious duties once reserved for priests, and 420 people training to be delegates.

He said the delegates had to undergo six weekends of training for four years before being ordained and must take part in three weekends of training each year as long as they remain active.

GARNER SAID the idea of Christian-based communities has already caught on in parts of Africa and is starting to catch on in the United States.

Garner said that liberation theology is also becoming popular in the United States. He said this can be seen in the growing number of books being written about the theology.

LIBERATION THEOLOGY holds that before social sin can be ended, personal sin must be dealt with, Garner said, because individual sins are bound to breed unjust structures.

House kills GOP attempts to cut spending rider from Contra aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Democrats killed Republican efforts Tuesday to keep President Reagan's request for aid to the Nicaraguan rebels from being hitched to a spending bill the GOP branded a "barrel of rancid pork" certain to be vetoed.

Reagan, pressing his case for aid to the Contras, appealed to the House to promptly approve $100 million for the Nicaraguan insurgents to help stop the spread of communist subversion he charged is being bankrolled by Libya's Moammar Khadafy.

But his request for the rebels was locked to a $1.7 billion spending bill containing such popular programs as emergency flood relief, nutrition assistance, relief for the farmers and aid to Northern Ireland. The administration opposes much of the spending called for in the bill and there have been repeated warnings Reagan would veto it.

"The Republicans want to fund the Contras, but not the combes," Rep. Tony Coelho, D-Calif., told the House.

The House defeated two efforts by the GOP to separate the issues by votes of 221-202 and 212-208.

Lawmakers recessed after the votes and were to meet Wednesday morning to finish debate and vote on Reagan's proposal to give the Contras arms and other assistance, as well as alternatives that deny or restrict the assistance. Reagan has said the rebels must have U.S. aid to survive efforts by Nicaragua's Marxist-led Sandinista government to exterminate them.

House Republican leader Robert Michel of Illinois said the Democratic majority was "rolling out this great bursting barrel of rancid pork on the floor of the House. There has not been so much pork seen in one place since the last Porky Pig film festival."

But Rep. David Bonior, D-Mich., said the Democratic leadership, when it agreed last month to allow another vote on the Contra aid, did not obligate itself to provide the Republicans with an independent legislative vehicle for the $100 million request.

Reagan, speaking to a business group about Monday night's U.S. bombing of Libya targets branded as bases for terrorist activities, said the House should not underestimate "the reach of Khadafy's terror."

"I would remind the House that this arcterrorist has sent $400 million and weapons and advisers into Nicaragua," Reagan said.

AT & T listens to workers, cuts ties to South Africa

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co., yielding to an employee group's anti-apartheid efforts, vowed Tuesday to cut virtually all its business ties with South Africa.

AT&T spokesman Herb Linnen said the company will halt computer sales, phase out $5.5 million a year in mineral purchases and drop any plans to offer toll-free 800 numbers and such services as video-conferencing and special data transmission in South Africa.

He said a seven-point program outlining the changes would be officially announced at AT&T's annual stockholder meeting Wednesday in San Francisco.

Under the plan, the only service AT&T will continue to provide in South Africa is long-distance voice telephone service, a $14 million business in 1985.

A contract with the Olivetti Co., which sold $600,000 worth of AT&T equipment in South Africa last year, will be discontinued. AT&T owns 25 percent of Olivetti.

"It is fair to say this is an unprecedented development," Linnen said, but he pointed out that AT&T has no plants or sales offices in South Africa and does not want to be seen as grandstanding.

"While our decision has not been lightly reached, it does not involve the deep and complex relationships that other American companies would have to consider in like circumstances," he said. "We don't want AT&T to look sanctimonious."

Groups fighting South Africa's policy of racial separation, however, hailed the action.

AT&T promised to end, by December 1987, its purchases of platinum and paladium, used in manufacturing electronic equipment. South Africa supplies 80 percent of the world's platinum.

Softball squad faces nationally-ranked SEMO

By Steve Merritt

Sports Editor

Trying to even a 10-12 record, the Saluki softball team will have its hands full Wednesday night in Cape Girardeau when they take on the Otahkians of Southeast Missouri State.

SEMO currently sports a record of 31-8 and is ranked No. 9 in the nation among Division II schools.

Saluki coach Kay Brechtelsbauer's squad is coming off an 11-day rest and said that her squad is going to Cape Girardeau healthy and ready to play after a good week of practice.

The Salukis, currently 2-2 in GCAC play, will be gearing up for a pair of weekend twinbills with Northern Iowa and Drake, needing wins to stay near the top of the Gateway title race.

Behind the offensive strength of Jenny Shupryt, Kelly Fox and Rhonda Snow, the Salukis have managed to outpace opponents (.216 average compared to .162 average for opponents) but still have come out on the short end of most scores.

Shupryt, a senior shortstop, was the third-best hitter in the GCAC last season (.341) and has continued her consistent hitting into this season, as she is tied with centerfielder Snow for the team-high batting average (.292).

Snow, a two-time junior college All-American at Cleveland State Community college, also has a team-high 11 runs scored while sporting the team's second-best slugging percentage.

Fox, another junior transfer who has paid dividends for Brechtelsbauer, leads the team in slugging percentage (.391) and RBI (15) while scoring nine runs.

Lisa Peterson, a sophomore, has a 5-5 record while compiling a strikout to walk ratio of nearly 4:1.

Freshman Lori Day shows outstanding potential in her first year of collegiate hurling.

Day holds a 1.03 ERA with a 5-6 record and 62 strikeouts.

SEMO, however, will be no pushover and statistically the Otahkians matchup quite well with the Salukis.

With a team batting average of .323 and a team ERA of 0.57, the Otahkians will be one of the few teams the Salukis have faced this year that have better statistics in every category.

Tracy Udaley is the complete player for SEMO, sporting a sparkling 17-4 record and a 0.30 ERA. The sophomore has walked just 28 while fanning 142 in 143.1 innings pitched, ranking her among the best pitchers in the nation.

On the other side of the plate, Udaley has a slugging percentage of .500 with a batting average of .388 and 32 RBI. She has stolen two bases and fields fluently (.989 fielding percentage), making her the most rounded player on the SEMO squad.

Besides Udaley, SEMO's offensive thrusters are headed by Pat McDonagh and Robin Keating. McDonagh has scored 36 runs with three doubles, five triples and five homers while hitting for a .398 average. Keating has 35 RBI and has scored 29 runs on six doubles, five triples and two homers for a .416 average.

Sharing the starting role with Udaley will be Beth Russell, 12-4 with a 0.98 ERA.

Saluki swim teams land top recruits

By Sandra Todd

Associate Sports Editor

The Saluki men's swimming and diving team has signed Kevin Nagy, a nationally prominent swimmer presently enrolled at Indian River Community College in Ft. Pierce, Fla., to join the 1986-'87 squad.

"It was a good, solid recruiting battle which came down to Florida, South Carolina, Penn State and SIU, but we won," Coach Doug Ingram said.

Nagy, who specializes in the 50, 100 and 200 freestyles and the 100 butterfly, will have two years of eligibility left to contribute to SIU-C's program, which finished 17th in the nation this season.

"He's a really fine athlete and he'll come in and immediately be able to help us out tremendously on relays," Ingram said. "He's one of the best junior college swimmers in his events."

The 6-foot-4, 180-pound Nagy will major in marketing management and holds personal-best times of :21.2 in the 50 free; 45.5 in the 100 free; 1:41.0 in the 200 free and :51.1 in the 100 fly.

The current Saluki records in the 50- and 100-yard freestyles are :20.29 and :48.36.

THE NO. 5 nationally ranked Saluki women's swimming and diving program has acquired a new member for next year's team.

Sarah Bell, a middle-distance freestyler who currently swims on the Cincinnati Marlins and specializes in the 200 and 500 freestyles, has signed with the Salukis.

Most recently, Bell participated on two relays at Senior Nationals which placed sixth and eighth.

"She's just beginning in the sport in terms of her potential," Coach Bailey Weathers said.

"I feel pretty good about where we are with recruiting right now," Weathers said. "We're in really good shape."

1986 Spring Semester Final Examination Schedule Information

The examination schedule attempts to avoid examination conflicts by providing separate examination periods for Tuesday-Thursday lecture classes. Other information about final examinations is listed below:

1. The class final exam period is scheduled based on the meeting time and days configuration listed on the first line of the class entry in the Schedule of Classes book (which should be the same as the first printed line for the section on the registered student's schedule print-out). For example, a class section is listed in the Schedule book on two lines in the manner:

08:00 T Th
09:00-10:50 W

The listed starting time for the first line of entry is "8:00." The meeting days of that first line are "T TH", and therefore are in the category "Only T or TH or T TH". The Exam Date and Period is by the attached Spring '86 Final Examination Schedule to be Friday May 9 at 10:10-12:10 a.m.

2. Classes should plan to hold their final examination in their regularly scheduled class rooms. The space scheduling section of the Office of Admissions and Records will forward to departments information relative to the location for examinations for those classes that cannot hold their examinations in their regularly scheduled rooms because of a space conflict. This will be done sufficiently in advance of the final examination days to provide sufficient notice for all.

3. Students who find they have more than three examinations on one day may petition, and students who have two examinations scheduled at one time should petition their academic dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that students may decide to miss the scheduled examination time and expect to make it up during this make-up period. This period is to be used only for students whose petitions have been approved by their dean.

4. Students who must miss a final examination may not take an examination before the time scheduled for the class examination. Information relative to the proper grade to be given students who miss a final examination and are not involved in a situation covered in the preceding paragraph will be found in the mimeographed memorandum forwarded to members of the instructional staff at the time they receive the final grade listing for the recording of grades.

Trackster improves training plan for enhanced success as senior

By Steve Koulos
Staff Writer

Although Saluki middle-distance runner Mike Elliott is a talented athlete, it's apparent that he'll never appear on the cover of a Wheaties box.

Even though Elliott is a two-time national qualifier and holds two indoor school records in the 800- and 1000-yard runs, he openly admits that his training habits are not the greatest in the world.

Elliott has often been reminded about such training habits by Saluki men's track coach Bill Cornell.

Cornell, the Salukis' second-year coach, said he feels that Elliott has the potential of running a time of one minute and 47.5 seconds or better in the 800 meters if he is willing to pay the price in training and disciplining himself. Elliott's best time in the event is 1:48.84.

"ELLIOTT IS one of those guys that has trouble getting to bed at night," Cornell said. "He doesn't get enough sleep and therefore isn't able to train as hard as he should."

Cornell said Elliott has shown a little more training discipline this season.

"He has been working out three mornings a week, even though he should be working out every morning," Cornell said. "There is no doubt in the world he would be a better athlete if he trained more."

BUT ELLIOTT says he feels more comfortable keeping his morning-workout routine at three per week.

"I believe in three," Elliott said. "If I do five morning workouts per week it will carry into the meet and I won't run as fast."

"I don't stay up as late as I used to and I end up getting more sleep," he said. "I realize this is my last season so my social life is starting to slow down, even though I should train more."

Judging by Elliott's performance this season, most observers would think he doesn't have any problems with his training habits.

IN THE indoor season, Elliott finished as the second-leading scorer on the team and shattered the school record in the 1000-yard run with a NCAA indoor qualifying time of 2:08.03 in the Last Chance Invitational at Murfreesboro, Tenn.

After a disappointing 18th-place finish in the 1000 at the NCAA indoor championships, Elliott has responded with strong performances in the outdoor season.

Elliott put together his best outdoor-season meet last weekend in the Dogwood Relays at Knoxville, Tenn. He ran a personal best 1:48.84 in the 800-meter run and helped the Salukis post the second-best collegiate time (9:35.62) in the country in the distance medley relay by posting a 2:57.60 split for the first 1200 meters.

Senior trackster Mike Elliott, a two-time national qualifier and owner of Saluki records in the 800- and 1,000-yard runs, strives to improve his training habits for a final year of success.

"I WAS really happy with our performance in the distance-medley relay and I was just happy to get the baton off near the front," Elliott said. "Our relay teams are really gearing for these big meets coming up."

In the 800, Elliott came within .73 of a second of qualifying for the NCAA Outdoor Championships. He finished first in his heat and fourth of 58 runners.

"I think if I was in the first heat, I would have qualified for nationals," Elliott said. "I'm not saying I would have won the race overall, but I would have had a faster time. I think I just need to be in the right race at the right time to qualify."

Elliott said his remaining goals this season are to qualify for the nationals in the 800 and then to qualify for finals.

The 5-foot-6, 142-pound Elliott was originally signed by former Saluki track coach Lew Hartzog in the spring of 1982 after a distinguished three-year varsity track career at Belvidere High School.

In his senior year, Elliott was the IHSAA Class AA state champion in the 800 after finishing second in the state as a junior.

In his four-year track career at SIU-C, Elliott says his most embarrassing moment occurred when he was chewed out by Hartzog after failing to qualify for the finals in the 800 at the 1984 Missouri Valley Conference Indoor Track Championships.

THINKING HE had the race won, Elliott said he made the mistake of relaxing and was passed by two opposing runners. As a result, he did not make finals because only the top two finishers in each heat qualify.

"Lew was so upset," recalled Elliott. "The minute I was done with the race he was right there at the finish line. I think I run through the finish line the majority of the time now because I think Lew is going to be there."

Sweden's 3-2 victory over defending champion Czechoslovakia.

In the final game of the day, the Soviet Union racked up seven straight goals before Poland was able to score in the USSR's 7-2 victory.

Hull of Minnesota-Duluth, is the right wing on an all-college line centered by Tony Granato of Wisconsin and with Clark Donatelli of Boston University on the other side. Hull opened the scoring on his first shift at 1:31 of the first period.

Scoring two goals for the U.S. team was its top scorer, Bryan Erickson of the Los Angeles Kings, and John Carter of Rennselaer Polytech, Jim Sprenger of Minnesota-Duluth, David Jensen of the Minnesota North Stars and the Buffalo Sabres' Phil Housley. Sprenger's was short handed.

The victory moved the Americans into contention for the medal round with a 2-1 record, the same as Sweden, their next opponent Wednesday night.

Runner goes from walk-on to top long-distance runner

By Toby Eckert
Staff Writer

As far as collegiate track athletes go, Vivian Sinou is a bit of an anomaly.

Sinou, a junior from Athens, Greece, joined the Saluki women's track team in August as a walk-on and since has proven her mettle by becoming the Salukis' top distance runner.

"I've never had an athlete that has made as much progress in one year as she has," Saluki Coach Don DeNoon said. "It is very rare that a walk-on would ever have an impact as a Division I athlete."

In the recently completed indoor season, Sinou set records in the mile (five minutes, 4.84 seconds), the 2-mile (10:44.50), the 3-mile (16:49.80) and the 3,000-meter (9:45.50) runs. Thus far in the outdoor season, she is threatening team records in the 1,500-, 3,000-, and 5,000-meter runs.

THE EXTENT of Sinou's success can perhaps be best gauged by the number of points she has amassed in her short running career for the Salukis. In less than a year, she has run up a total of 106 points, just 48 points shy of the mark that would qualify her as one of the Salukis' top 20 all-time scorers.

According to DeNoon, Sinou still has ample time to make the top 20 list this season. But, he adds, "It's kind of bad that she won't be here a full four years." She could be the all-time top scorer if she were.

Before coming to the United States, Sinou competed in several running clubs in Greece. But she says she really didn't take her running seriously then. It took the superior level of competition and training in the U.S. to change her attitude.

"I RUN 60 miles a week. I wasn't doing more than 20 or 25 (in Greece). Back then when I would get tired I would just go to my coach and say 'I can't do anything else' and I would quit."

Greek coaches would accept that, Sinou says. American coaches won't.

Since she left Greece, Sinou has become one of the top two Greek national runners in the 3,000-meter run and is seated third in the 1,500-meter. And she is confident that she will do as well in the 5,000- and 10,000-meter runs.

SINOU believes that Greek coaches could learn a lot from American coaches. Greek coaches are much too experimental and inconsistent, she says. She credits DeNoon with an especially sound training regimen.

Vivian Sinou came to the Salukis as a walk-on athlete but will leave with a host of school track records.

"His program works for me. I've improved a lot since I've been here. Don has a particular training program that works and he puts all his athletes through it."

The level of competition in the U.S. also has aided in Sinou's evolution into a top-notch athlete. She says the competition in the U.S. is tougher and of a greater variety than that in Greece. "You just can't jog around in Division I competition."

SINOU believes that another factor in her success at SIU-C was her decision to become a vegetarian. In her opinion, it is much more important for runners to ingest a large amount of carbohydrates than a large amount of protein, a belief that many coaches challenge.

But Sinou says DeNoon accepts her vegetarianism and even encourages her to help other athletes on the team who are having trouble with their diets.

Sinou is hoping to go back to Greece this summer to compete in several national competitions. The times she has achieved in running events at SIU-C easily qualify her for the Greek national track and field team.

AS AN ULTIMATE goal, Sinou someday would like to compete for Greece in the Olympics. But she does not let that desire consume her.

"That would be the peak of my career as an athlete. I don't want to get all kinds of fantasies in my mind. Just take one day at a time, stay healthy and not be injured."

N.C. center opts for pros

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — North Carolina State center Chris Washburn will forego his final two years of college eligibility and apply for the NBA draft under hardship status, Wolfpack coach Jim Valvano announced Tuesday.

Valvano said he spoke with Washburn's mother Monday night and again Tuesday morning. He said Savannah Washburn informed the N.C. State staff of her son's decision.

Washburn left the Raleigh school's campus and could not be reached for comment at his home in Hickory, N.C.

Washburn, 20, a 6-foot-11 sophomore, averaged 17.6 points and 6.7 rebounds for the 1985-86 Wolfpack. He paced N.C. State to the 1986 NCAA Tournament's round of eight and a final record of 21-13.

Washburn received much of his attention as a freshman off the basketball court. He was charged with stealing a stereo from a schoolmate's dormitory room, and later pleaded guilty to three misdemeanor charges.

Washburn insisted the theft had been a prank, but was sentenced to three days in jail.

Chisox cancel Tiger game due to weather

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago White Sox postponed Tuesday night's game against the Detroit Tigers because of cold and snow, club officials said.

No makeup date was immediately scheduled for the contest.

Under an inch of snow fell early Tuesday and temperatures were expected to remain in the upper 30s throughout the day, the National Weather Service said.

The effect of the postponement on the clubs' pitching rotations was not immediately known.

Baseball Salukis sweep Aces to further streak

By Ron Warnick
Staff Writer

The Salukis continued their hot streak by sweeping a twinbill from the Evansville Aces Tuesday afternoon at a cloudy, chilly Abe Martin Field.

Led by Chuck Locke's two-run homer and Robert Jones' two-run double, the Salukis took the first game 6-4. Tim McKinley hit three doubles for six runs batted in a 15-3 pasting in the second game.

SIU-C's record improved to 25-12-1, while Evansville's fell to 17-21.

Coach Richard "Itchy" Jones was unhappy, however, about the squad's four infield errors in the two games, which led to two unearned runs. Two miscues apiece were charged to shortstop Jay Burch and second baseman Chuck Verschoore.

"If it's a routine play, we don't get anybody out. If we need a double play, we don't get it," Jones said.

The two wins also didn't come without casualties. In the second inning of the first game, shortstop Burch took a relay throw from the outfield and threw to third baseman Joe Hall in an attempt to get a tag out against Brad Waikie, who was barreling into third.

The ball bounced off Waikie and smashed the freshman third-sacker on the mouth. Hall had to leave the game, suffering a swollen upper lip and three chipped teeth. Terry Jones took over the third base spot for the rest of the doubleheader.

"The throw must have bounced off his shoulder," Hall said, tenderly covering his mouth. "I really didn't see it. It happened that quick."

"From the angle I had, it really frightened me," Jones said, who was coaching near third base when it happened. "As hard as he got hit, he came out of it in good shape."

Hall had his teeth repaired Wednesday and is expected to take back his position as the Salukis' No. 1 third sacker on Thursday.

The second injury of the day occurred during the fourth inning of the second contest. Starter Robb Osborne, working with a 7-3 lead with one out in the fourth, threw ball four to Ace batter Phil Quinlan. Osborne then had a conference on the mound with catcher McKinley and the Saluki coaches and left the game, his arm noticeably limp, with elbow troubles.

"My elbow was stiff during the game, and when I made that last pitch, it felt like my elbow caught on fire," Osborne said. "There was no way I could throw anymore." Reliever George Goich finished the game, getting his first win of the year.

The Aces took a 3-0 lead in the second game with two unearned runs on a Verschoore error in the second and one run on two doubles in the third. Then the Salukis started honing their bats.

Five successive singles to open the bottom of the third inning scored two runs. Burch was hit by a pitch to force in the third run, and McKinley smashed a bases-clearing double to give the Salukis a 6-3 lead.

"I was seeing the ball really well today," McKinley said. "I was looking for curveballs to hit because I was behind on the count."

McKinley later scored on a Chuck Locke double. The Salukis scored three more runs in fourth on four hits and an error, brought three runners across the plate in the fifth with three hits and a walk and scored one run with Charlie Hillemann's solo home run in the sixth.

Evansville also drew first blood in the second game with a run on two hits and a walk.

The Salukis set up a big inning in the third with Terry Jones' leadoff single, Gerald Pitchford's walk and Chuck Verschoore's bunt single. Steve Finley sent one runner home with a sacrifice fly and Robert Jones cleared two men from the bases with a double. Jones scored on Burch's single for a 4-1 lead.

Jay Hammond relieved starter Shane Gooden after he gave up a two-run homer by Lester Zitkus. Chuck Locke added two insurance runs in the sixth with his second home run.

Gateway honors golfer

Senior Saluki golfer Jill Bertram is the GCAC Golf Athlete of the Week for her performance last weekend at the Illini Spring Classic in Champaign.

A preschool and early childhood education major, Bertram shot just six over par in the 54-hole event with consecutive rounds of 79, 78 and 77 for a seventh-place individual tie with Ohio State's Jane Kang.

"I'm happy for her," Coach Sonya Stalberger said. "I think it's well-deserved. It's probably her best total tournament in her four years on the team."

In addition to her accomplishments on the golf course, Bertram also shines in the classroom with a 3.7 grade point average.

Dogs face McKendree College in next twinbill as 'afterthought'

By Ron Warnick
Staff Writer

The 1:30 p.m. Wednesday doubleheader at Abe Martin Field against tiny McKendree College was pretty much put on the baseball Salukis' schedule as an afterthought, coach Richard "Itchy" Jones said.

"They called us because they wanted to play us. We had some room on our schedule, so we accepted," Jones recalled. "They think they have a really good club, and they wanted to put us on the schedule."

Jones will send Todd Neibel (4-4, 5.18 earned run average) to the mound in Wednesday's first game and had not yet decided on a pitcher for the second.

McKendree College (enrollment 750) is based in Lebanon. McKendree's baseball team, called the Bearcats, have a fine record of 13-6 under the tutelage of coach Van Smith, but if their other games against SIU-C are any indication of what might happen Wednesday, the Salukis are going to have fun. SIU-C is 9-0 against McKendree.

The Bearcats recently split a doubleheader with St. Xavier, whom the Salukis swept in four games two weeks ago.

The Bearcats will probably start Warren Fehrenz, who has a 6-0 record, or Dan Netejer, who is 2-2. Their top hitters are Jeff Junker and Joe Houk.

Expos take Cubs 4-3 in 11th inning

MONTREAL (UPI) — Montreal manager Buck Rodgers emerged successfully from his first game-situation experience with the 24-man roster.

Rodgers, who had run out of extra batters by the 11th inning in Tuesday's game with the Chicago Cubs, used pitcher Dan Schatzeder as a pinch hitter and Schatzeder scored the winning run to give the Expos a 4-3 victory in their home opener. "Now that we have decided not to carry 25 men you are going to see a lot of that this season," Rodgers said.

Schatzeder scored when losing pitcher Lee Smith walked Mitch Webster with none out and the bases loaded.

"Schatzeder is a superb athlete and I won't hesitate to use him as a pinch hitter," Rodgers said.

Chicago manager Jim Frey

was furious at the way he saw his team lose.

"Smith was wild and that's not like him," said Frey, whose team fell to 1-5. "That is not the type of performance you enjoy seeing at the beginning of the season from the ace of your bull pen."

Schatzeder pinch hit for reliever Jeff Reardon and walked. A passed ball by Jody Davis moved Schatzeder to second and Hubie Brooks reached first on an error by first baseman Leva Durham. Tim Wallach was intentionally walked to load the bases. Smith went to a 3-2 count on Mitch Webster before throwing ball four on a high and outside pitch to the right-handed hitter.

Reardon, 1-0, pitched two innings of two-hit relief to earn the victory.

Montreal tied the score 3-3 in the seventh on Wallach's three-run homer. With one out, Jason Thompson doubled and Hubie Brooks singled him to third. Wallach hit a 1-1 pitch over the left-field wall, off Dennis Eckersley.

The Cubs took a 2-0 lead with two out in the fourth. Durham walked off starter Jay Tibbs. Jody Davis doubled to the wall in center field to score Durham. Ron Cey then drilled a double along the third-base line.
