Gus Bode

Gus says if you can figure out all that paperwork, you don't need a college education.

Santa's angels

Volunteers from Harper Angel Flight bag toys which will be given to underprivileged families and children this Christmas. From left, Sandy Hickie, Linda Kullick and Heidi Kuhman sort toys in the town of the J. C. Penney in the University Mall. Last year the donated toys helped brighten Christmas for 2,679 children.

'Spy' called mercenary

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) - President Daniel Ortega said Tuesday an American held on suspicion of spying is a "mercenary" who should stand trial before a People's Tribunal.

Sam Hall, 49, a former Olympic diving medalist believed to be the brother of Rep. Tony Hall, D-Ohio, was arrested Friday at a restricted military air base in Panama Tuesday night.

DE publication returns Jan. 20

This is the last issue of the Daily Egyptian for the fall semester. The Daily Egyptian will resume publication Jan. 20, 1987.

The DE business office will be open during break from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday except between Dec. 20 and Jan. 1, when the office will be closed.
The administration said Tuesday that Solidarity founder Lech Walensa, "Moors murderer" returns to burying ground.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - After 20 years in prison, child killer Myra Hindley joined police Tuesday on a snowy wasteland to search for more victims of the "Moors Murders" and the father of one victim showed up with a knife "prepared to kill her." Hindley, 61, is said to have provided "new information" in the case. She was taken by helicopter to the mines outside Manchester where she and her lover, Ian Brady, buried two of their three known victims in the mid-1960's.

Walesa marks anniversary of martial law.

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) - Solidarity founder Lech Walesa, who was forbidden to participate in a ceremony marking the 25th anniversary of martial law, laid a wreath Tuesday in memory of dock workers killed during 1970 food riots. Dissident sources said Walesa laid the wreath at a monument in Gdansk on the northern Baltic coast, that after he was refused permission to travel to Katowice in southwest Poland to attend a ceremony marking the death of nine coal miners. The miners were killed Dec. 16, 1981, three days after martial law was imposed and the Solidarity labor union was outlawed. Martial law lasted for three years.

The crew of the Voyager skirted the worst of several tropical storms and breezed toward the South China Sea in clear skies Tuesday, riding typhoon tailwinds in a historic attempt to fly around the world without refueling. Soaring at 145 mph, pilots Dick Rutan and Jeana Yeager were 50 miles southwest of Guam at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday and expected to cross the Malay peninsula at 9 p.m. today, project officials said.

"Credible" reports of killings concern U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department expressed serious concern over the situation in the tiny South American country of Suriname Tuesday and cited "credible" reports of Army massacres of men, women and children. The department called for international condemnation, for the Surinamese government to allow international observers visit the area of fighting and warned Americans in the country to take precautions and stay away from the area of strife.

U.S. changes loan program for friendly allies.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration said Tuesday it has changed the ground rules for the repayment of loans by some favored allies such as Egypt and Israel so they can pay off their debts now or pay lower interest rates. U.S. sources said the new plan, which takes effect immediately, will cost the United States several hundred million dollars in current loan repayments, but the U.S. Treasury will eventually get all the money owed.

Casey undergoes series of diagnostic tests.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Doctors performed a series of tests on CIA Director William Casey Tuesday to determine what injuries now or perhaps later triggered a pair of minor cerebral seizures that 73-year-old spy chief into the hospital. Casey was in stable condition Tuesday morning after being taken to Walter Reed hospital in Washington. The agency has not released any information about the tests or their results.
Case against ‘Topless Seven’ dropped

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — A nudist leader predicted Tuesday a judge’s decision to drop charges against seven bare-breasted activists will open the door for public nudity in all of New York’s parks and beaches next summer.

Morley Schloss, 45, leader of the nudist group Naturist Rochester and an administrator in the city’s school district, said nudist advocates will be carrying “signs and handing out leaflets.”

Monday, City Court Judge Herman Walz dismissed charges against seven women who doffed their shirts in a “topfree picnic” at Rochester’s Cobbe Hill Park.

BECAUSE the bookstores usually buy used books for about one-third of the original cost, Greenspan said, the co-op gives students the opportunity to price their books below original cost, but above the amount bookstores pay for books.

Mike Bromley, vice-president of AMA’s finance department, said students who use the co-op can save up to 40 percent on books.

“If a student buys a book for $20 at the bookstore, they will probably only get $5 back,” Greenspan said. “At the co-op students can price their $20 book for $15 and come out $10 ahead.”

TO ENTER the co-op they must bring their books to the AMA tables, which are on the first floor of the Student Center, near the bookstore.

The other disadvantage, Bromley said, is that not all books are available.

This year AMA has targeted their co-op campaign toward international students. Many international students apply in Carbondale for the holidays, and don’t need the money to go home. They will likely benefit the most from the co-op, Bromley said.
Letters

Some clarification needed

In reference to the article “COLA Panel Debates Catering to Teachers” of Jan. 27, the Religious Studies Department has seven majors, not four. The seven majors are “double-majors,” with History and English respectively.

In quoting Dean John Jackson that “there are 1,001 unweighted student contact hours being housed, the building has no heating,” the significance of this number was not clarified by the article. The instructional cost per credit hour for the College of Liberal Arts is $128.71. The per credit hour for Religious Studies is $55.46. The difference between the two figures, $73.75, multiplied by the number of hours utilized by the Religious Studies Department this semester, suggests that the Religious Studies Department subsidized COLA for $4,421.67 Fall 1986.

Where are the savings in eliminating this number? It was not clarified by the article.

The instructional cost per student.

Don’t trample their rights

There are many senators and congressmen speculating that there are individuals in the executive branch of government who have disregarded the law. Liberals and others in Congress have contemptuously called for Admiral Poindexter and Lt. Col. Oliver North to make their case under the Fifth Amendment protection. There are, of course, two positions, and most of those opposing the camera have, in the curious position of decrying disrespect for constitutionally passed laws by showing disrespect themselves for the Constitution. The case of President Ford and the crime figures may avail themselves of the right against incrimination but not military officers who have fought to protect the rights embodied in the Constitution, which is reprehensible.

Don’t you elect Bob Graham of Florida so went as far as state that he did not support the “flat-rate income tax. Nudging up to 3 percent would raise $2 billion worth of proposals for spending it. He clearly believes, as governors are wont to do, that the states’ chief executives are best suited for the role of national chief executive than are senators and congressmen. But he insists he can not enter the race.

Ab, but Iowa (“We are from Iowa, Iowa, state of all the land, joy on every hand”) is next door, to the northwest, sprang across yonder Mississippi River, first testing ground of a presidential candidate’s character and mettle in the Iowa caucuses. And how much of Iowa’s population receives signals from Illinois television stations? A study Thompson says laconically but so quickly that it almost seems the thought has hitherto crossed his mind.

LAST SUNDAY, Thompson headed across the river, draws to Iowa, he insists, only for the “smell of grease in the air.” Delight in the smell of baking bread, Thompson says he has promised Mrs. Thompson that “he will not care a bit of urban challenge. The urban challengers are preferable to presidential

Letters

Some clarification needed

In reference to the article “COLA Panel Debates Catering to Teachers” of Jan. 27, the Religious Studies Department has seven majors, not four. The seven majors are “double-majors,” with History and English respectively.

In quoting Dean John Jackson that “there are 1,001 unweighted student contact hours being housed, the building has no heating,” the significance of this number was not clarified by the article. The instructional cost per credit hour for the College of Liberal Arts is $128.71. The per credit hour for Religious Studies is $55.46. The difference between the two figures, $73.75, multiplied by the number of hours utilized by the Religious Studies Department this semester, suggests that the Religious Studies Department subsidized COLA for $4,421.67 Fall 1986.

Where are the savings in eliminating this number? It was not clarified by the article.

The instructional cost per student.

Don’t trample their rights

There are many senators and congressmen speculating that there are individuals in the executive branch of government who have disregarded the law. Liberals and others in Congress have contemptuously called for Admiral Poindexter and Lt. Col. Oliver North to make their case under the Fifth Amendment protection. There are, of course, two positions, and most of those opposing the camera have, in the curious position of decrying disrespect for constitutionally passed laws by showing disrespect themselves for the Constitution. The case of President Ford and the crime figures may avail themselves of the right against incrimination but not military officers who have fought to protect the rights embodied in the Constitution, which is reprehensible.

Don’t you elect Bob Graham of Florida so went as far as state that he did not support the “flat-rate income tax. Nudging up to 3 percent would raise $2 billion worth of proposals for spending it. He clearly believes, as governors are wont to do, that the states’ chief executives are best suited for the role of national chief executive than are senators and congressmen. But he insists he can not enter the race.

Ab, but Iowa (“We are from Iowa, Iowa, state of all the land, joy on every hand”) is next door, to the northwest, sprang across yonder Mississippi River, first testing ground of a presidential candidate’s character and mettle in the Iowa caucuses. And how much of Iowa’s population receives signals from Illinois television stations? A study Thompson says laconically but so quickly that it almost seems the thought has hitherto crossed his mind.

LAST SUNDAY, Thompson headed across the river, draws to Iowa, he insists, only for the “smell of grease in the air.” Delight in the smell of baking bread, Thompson says he has promised Mrs. Thompson that “he will not care a
Letters

So many people said so many things that deserve a reply

There really is a parking problem at SUU. Questions can be confusing, and stickers should be issued a sticker and what the requirements should be for parking. My solution like, but I believe the problem would be solved if by now finishing by the garage. It was designed to be four or five levels, where the corner where the garage rooms were used to be.

Also in transportation, the bike problem has alleviated if the bikers and pedestrians, appropriately, and I mean common sense to the problem. Use the rules of the road. Stay on the right. Allow bikes to pass on the left.

All of you dipsticks who walk down the middle of the walk, or work you understand the bicycle clusters of you who do the same, should stop. You have grown sensitive to the clicking sprocket and squealing brakes of a bike.

Jeff Seyfert commented that the football Salukis are like a European drama and names in Sweden.

He has surprisingly but deeply touched, overcome, and annoyed if the bikers and pedestrians, applied some consideration that if the president accused the same type of character to me the author was guilty of neglect of the same type of character to me.

I'd like to ask people who write the ten Nobel Prize winners for an Asian laureate. It seems to me the author was guilty of neglect of the same type of character to me. It is also possible he has lied about dealing with terrorists and paying ransom for hostages, then is also possible he has lied about the situation in Nicaragua.

In fact, there is a large amount of evidence that shows the contra revolutionaries deal in drugs, run guns and kidnap and kill innocent people.

Those who would dismiss the well-documented reports of criminal behavior on the part of the contras as “carefully planned publicity” have yet to explain the great diversity of sources—from religious, human rights organizations and congressional committees to the victims themselves—who consistently report the same charges.

It strikes me that many of those who write letters in defense of the contras or defend the foreign policy speak in generalizations whereas those who oppose it frequently recount specific instances that can be checked.

And can personally refute the numerous accounts of government-sponsored torture, oppression and abuse in Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Chile and pre-Revolution Nicaragua. I’ll find her confessions of Soviet-sponsored revolutionary movements more credible.

In much of Latin America, attempts to improve the lives of the poor majority is labeled as communism, whether that person in a teacher, union leader, student or priest.

It is a big difference between the morality of phalanx of aggressive violence against non-aggressive persons. I submit that the former does exactly what is happening in Nicaragua today; however, unfortunately it is the U.S. government that if funding the latter—Bonnie Swift, Carbondale, Ill.
WASHINGTON (UPI) - Sen. leaders named Watergate veteran Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, to head an 11-member investigative committee Tuesday that might summon President Reagan to testify about the sale of arms to Iran and diversion of money to Nicaraguan rebels.

The members of the blue ribbon panel, six Democrats and five Republicans, were named by Senate leaders, Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., and Robert Dole, R-Kan., at a news conference and are expected to begin the investigation shortly after Congress convenes Jan. 6.

House leaders planned to announce today membership of a similar special House committee Wednesday morning. Democratic leader Jim Wright of Texas previously said the 11-member committee, nine Democrats and six Republicans, will include the chairman of the five committees with jurisdiction in the matter -- Foreign Affairs, Intelligence, Government Operations, Judiciary and Armed Services.

Inouye, 62, was a member of the joint Watergate committee that investigated the Watergate scandal and was the first chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee.

The Hawaii senator, a hero in World War II who suffered the loss of an arm in combat, is No. 3 in the Senate Democratic hierarchy, but for many years a quiet but influential force in Congress. Also named to the committee, chosen from among the majority leaders, was Senate Armed Services Chairman Frank Church, D-Jersey, and Rep. Lee Hagen, D-Ore., who plans to come to Congress seeking immunity to testify about the scandal in the Iran-Contra case.

Watergate veteran Edwin Meese.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said Reagan requested limited immunity for former National Security adviser John Poindexter and his deputy, Lt. Col. Oliver North to "have the full story about Iran come out."

Both men have invoked their Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination and refused to testify before the special joint committees about their knowledge of the sale of arms to Iran and the diversion of profits to the Nicaraguan rebels.

But some legal experts say it may be premature to grant immunity, the same kind of immunity given John Dean, H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman during the Watergate scandal in the 1970s. Dean, Haldeman and Ehrlichman told their stories to the Senate Watergate Committee under "use immunity" but later were prosecuted and went to jail under evidence developed elsewhere.

Richard Ben-Veniste, a former Watergate prosecutor, told CNN Tuesday that any prudent prosecutor would want to ... look where the money went, find that paper trail before anyone considers a grant of immunity."

There seems to me to be premature to grant immunity to the Iran-Contra scandal could take up to a month to fulfill and could make it hard for the special prosecutor to investigate the case, legal experts said Tuesday.

"The president has jumped the gun," said Harvard Law professor Lawrence Tribe. "It seems to me to be premature ... to grant immunity is to make prosecution extraordinarily difficult."

Under the law, the committee, with two-thirds vote, can decide to seek an immunity order from a federal court.

It remains an open question whether the Senate Intelligence Committee would vote for immunity or whether the special Senate committee, announced Tuesday, would consider that request when it begins investigating the worst scandal of the Reagan presidency. Even sympathetic congressional Republicans said it seemed unlikely.

"There has been no effort on the part of the majority to move in the direction of immunity," said Sen. David Durenberger, R-Minn., outgoing chairman of the intelligence committee.

The committee must give the attorney general a request, in this case, the special prosecutor if he is appointed, ten days to try to persuade them not to take the action, and then wait another 20 days before granting immunity so the prosecutor can develop an independent case against the witness.

A special three-judge federal court has yet to announce the appointment of a Watergate-style prosecutor to investigate the operation -- a request submitted by a New Hampshire Democrat, Edward Mansfield.

Watergate veteran

Also named to the committee were Sens. George Mitchell, D-Maine, Sam Nunn, D-Ga., Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., Howell Heflin, D-Ala., David Boren, D-Okl., Warren Rudman, R-N.H., and Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., who plans to come to Congress seeking immunity to testify about the scandal in the Iran-Contra case.

Congressional leaders named Frank Carlucci, former Secretary of Defense, and Robert Teicher, senior director of political-military affairs for the NSC, resigned for personal reasons, effective at the end of March.

Teicher's resignation, disclosed the same day he was scheduled to testify about the scandal before the Senate Intelligence Committee, is expected to be the start of an exodus from the NSC as new national security adviser Frank Carlucci takes over.

Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes said Teicher, senior director of political-military affairs for the NSC, resigned for personal reasons, effective at the end of March.

"I refer you to the new NSC director," Speakes explained. "I presume there will be others (resignations)."

The -- also named NSC executive secretary Robert White, then acting and now permanent special counsel to the Senate Watergate Committee, is expected to depart soon as Carlucci formally takes over the post Jan. 3.
STATUS, from Page 1

But those students aren't automatically eligible anymore. All students will be required to fill out a needs analysis, known as the American College Testing-Monetary Award Program, no matter how much money students or their families make.

In related matters:

—The NDSS program has been renamed "Perkins Loans," in memory of Carl D. Perkins, the late chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee.

—Illinois State Scholarships will be reduced $25 for the spring semester. On Aug. 11, the scholarship commission voted to extend the maximum award to private school students from $2,000 to $2,100. Camille said that the ISSC didn't know at that time if they'd have enough money to cover the extension.

The commission chose to create the needed funds by docking all students' awards $25, he said.

—GSL borrowing limits for a student's entire college career have been increased from $25,000 to $54,750, starting Jan. 1. Currently, an undergraduate can borrow up to $2,500 per year for five years, or a total of $12,500. A graduate student can borrow up to $5,000 per year for five years, or a total of $25,000 for the entire post-secondary education, which includes undergraduate work.

With the increases, an undergraduate can borrow up to $3,625 per year for the first two years of college. After the first two years, the student can borrow up to $4,000 per year, for a total of $17,250.

A graduate student will be able to borrow $7,500 per year for five years, for a total of $37,500.

However, students are not automatically eligible for these higher amounts. Camille said they must "demonstrate need" for the funds.

Students who already receive GSLs can file for additional loans up to the new maximum amounts for the spring semester, Camille said.
'Three Amigos!' has silly plot, sparse gags

Film Review
By Mary Wiatrowski
Entertainment Editor

The "Three Amigos!," now playing at Fox Eastgate theater, would be a funny movie if it were half an hour long.

Half an hour would be just time enough to fit in those beautiful gags that now occur at 15­minute intervals. In half an hour, there would be time to worry about the movie's silly plot, half­developed characters and confused sense of purpose.

But as a full­length feature, this story of three old­line movie caballeros who face real­life Mexican bandits is as rife with dry patches as the Painted Desert. Unsure of whether it's a parody or a serious revival of 1940s musical westerns, "Three Amigos!" is a disappointing effort by "Animal House" director John Landis, script­writer Randy Newman and other people who should know better.

"THREE AMIGOS!" stars Steve Martin, Chevy Chase and Martin Short as three bumbling movie stars used to the soft life in the early days of Hollywood. They fight evil and oppression so convinced is the screen that a naive Mexican girl (Patrice Martinez) sends them a note to ride the village of the bandit chieftain EI Guapo (Alfonso Arau). The note arrives just as the three movie heroes have lost their jobs and are knocked out on Hollywood Boulevard in their skivvies. Overwhelmed by the girl's offer of 100,000 pesos, the Amigos go to Mexico for what they think is a personal appearance tour.

Instead, the Amigos discover real bandits, real bullets and pretty senoritas in distress. Deciding that jobs as mythical heroes are better than none at all, the Amigos set out to perform daring deeds beneath a technicolor Western sky.

One of the problems with "Three Amigos!" is its confusion of different movie styles. In an opening scene, Carpenters is shown watching the "Amigo" feature "Shooting for Love." The heroes' white pancake makeup, the cheapy cardboard set and the bland senoritas make "Shooting for Love" a perfect replica of a 1916 western.

The contrast between the silent movie and the grimy Mexican town forebodes the movie stars' difficult introduction to real life heroes. But while the beginning of "Three Amigos!" looks like turn­of­the­century Mexico, the setting deteriorates into phony backdrops and the script fills with anachronisms. It is as though when the Amigos come to Mexico, it's only brought the celluloid with them.

The cardboard cacti and silk drop sunsets are too obvious not to be intentional, and Landis uses these awful sets as part of a true family bit. But one wonders why "Three Amigos!" would mix authenticly with Roy Rodgers schtick. This movie could be a parody of musical westerns in the style of Bob Hope's "Pajama" pictures if it had stayed consistent.

Another problem with "Three Amigos!" is that its gags are beaten into the dust with repetition.

Steve Martin, as the cool­headed Lucky Day, is greatest by banditos.

For example, the Amigos seek El Guapo's hideout with help from a singing bush (Newman). The magic bush, which one would expect to be singing something Wagnerian with a Cecil B. DeMille­style chorus of angels, is howling "She'll Be Coming Round the Mountain" and "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" like a senile desert geezer. But Martin kills this gag by asking "Are you the singing bush?" five times.

In a Campfire scene, the Amigos sing one of the movie's three Newman originals, "Blue Skies Over the Trail," which sounds just like a Gene Autry number from 1948. But the song goes on too long, and the chorus of horses and turtles that try to kill the joke. Martin's one in his first feature­note gives a nice performance as plucky, realistic ex­child star Ned Newlander. This may be because Short was given a real character while Chase and Martin were stuck on stage to play themselves.

More good performances come from the villains, townpeople and the very beautiful Martinez. El Guapo is an amiable villain who bothered at the idea of turning 40, and his relationship with his henchmen (played by Tony Plana) is fascinating. Martinez and the other villagers are perfect straightmen for the Amigos' antics.

But goad bits and good acting in "Three Amigos!" are too infrequent. Maybe the idea was to parody corny westerns by making a corny western.
Get 'em at Your Nearby Kroger Store!
Parents urged to pick toys which enhance learning

CHICAGO (UPI) — Children spend hours and days thinking about what they want for Christmas. Parents should spend as much time thinking about what the child will actually receive, a child psychologist says.

Children know that while mom and dad may say no to some toys during the rest of the year, their parents and Santa are more likely to say yes at Christmas — especially when the choices are limited to what is left on the toy department shelves.

HOEVEW, CHILD psychologist Susan Youdovin advises parents to give the same consideration to their children’s Christmas presents as they do at any other time of the year.

“Play is a child’s work. That’s the way they learn and it’s important for parents to choose their children’s toys carefully,” she said in a recent interview.

YOUDOVIN said parents not only should determine how much they want to spend on toys, but also what it is they are looking for in a toy. Parents should consider the learning areas they want to highlight for the child, the child’s physical limitations and age.

“Make a list, work out how much you can get for how much you plan on spending,” she said. “You usually go over it anyhow, but it is really necessary for parents to plan.”

WHEN PURCHASING toys, Youdovin says parents should try to pick a variety of toys that will help in the development of both large and small muscle skills as well as thinking and emotional or social skills.

“It’s important to have a good variety of toys as well as flexible toys that can be used at various levels of development,” Youdovin said.

If parents do not approve of a gift a child is demanding, she said, they should let the child know that toy will not be under the Christmas tree.

“If you don’t want your child to have something you need to start telling them you don’t want them to have it in September or October — not in December,” she said.

HOWEVER, IT’S usually not a good idea to tell children they aren’t going to get the toy at the same time they ask for it. Instead, Youdovin suggested telling children the subject will be discussed later, then talking about the issue when the toy is not in the child’s sight.

“Children tend not to be very reasonable when they want something badly,” she said. “Try to get parents really need to pretty honest with the child and make them understand this is something they are not going to get.”

A SMART CHILD will try to get around parental discretion by saying “Santa will bring it to me.” Youdovin says parents must put Santa in the role of a caring adult who shares their concern about the inproper value of the gift.

“Parents need to put Santa in the role of a parent, somebody who is responsibl e individual who cares about the child,” she said.

Holiday trees need water, care

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — It just wouldn’t seem like Christmas season without the perfect Christmas tree filling the air with a sweet pine smell and standing watch over carefully wrapped presents.

The key to freshness is to get a tree as soon as possible and take good care of it properly,” said Mike Bolin, a forester with the University of Illinois Extension Service.

“Most of you are going to find on the lots have been cut for a while, some as early as mid-October,” Bolin said. Some buyers rely on few simple tests to gauge how much a tree has dried out, but Bolin said the standard tests can be misleading.

“There’s really no sure-fire way to tell how fresh a tree is by bending the needles to check for softness or bouncing the tree to see how many ‘snap’ fall out,” said Bolin.

“It’s hard to tell if a tree is fresh just by looking at it,” agreed Randy Reichert, retail sales manager at Illinois Forest Products near Beardstown.

“Just don’t cut it yourself, the best way to tell how fresh the tree is to see the tree ‘s look and smell and out where the tree came from.’”

To make sure a tree is able to absorb water, the owner should cut about two inches off the bottom of the tree just before it is placed in a stand, Bolin said. Anytime the base of the tree is cut, sap quickly forms a seal to hold in as much moisture as possible.

Spirirt shines despite hard times

INGRAM (UPI) — The lights are shining bright this Christmas season at the Paul Mullins farm. Despite hard times, Mullins has said he will continue to take care of the large forest with the University of Illinois Extension Service.

“Most of you are going to find on the lots have been cut for a while, some as early as mid-October,” Bolin said. Some buyers rely on a few simple tests to gauge how much a tree has dried out, but Bolin said the standard tests can be misleading.

“The key to freshness is to get a tree as soon as possible and take good care of it properly,” said Mike Bolin, a forester with the University of Illinois Extension Service.

“Most of you are going to find on the lots have been cut for a while, some as early as mid-October,” Bolin said. Some buyers rely on a few simple tests to gauge how much a tree has dried out, but Bolin said the standard tests can be misleading.

“If you don’t want your child to have something you need to start telling them you don’t want them to have it in September or October — not in December,” she said.

HOWEVER, IT’S usually not a good idea to tell children they aren’t going to get the toy at the same time they ask for it. Instead, Youdovin suggested telling children the subject will be discussed later, then talking about the issue when the toy is not in the child’s sight.

“Children tend not to be very reasonable when they want something badly,” she said. “Try to get parents really need to pretty honest with the child and make them understand this is something they are not going to get.”

A SMART CHILD will try to get around parental discretion by saying “Santa will bring it to me.” Youdovin says parents must put Santa in the role of a caring adult who shares their concern about the inproper value of the gift.

“Parents need to put Santa in the role of a parent, somebody who is responsibl e individual who cares about the child,” she said.

Holiday trees need water, care

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — The lights are shining bright this Christmas season at the Paul Mullins farm. Despite hard times, Mullins has said he will continue to take care of the large forest with the University of Illinois Extension Service.

“Most of you are going to find on the lots have been cut for a while, some as early as mid-October,” Bolin said. Some buyers rely on a few simple tests to gauge how much a tree has dried out, but Bolin said the standard tests can be misleading.

“The key to freshness is to get a tree as soon as possible and take good care of it properly,” said Mike Bolin, a forester with the University of Illinois Extension Service.

“Most of you are going to find on the lots have been cut for a while, some as early as mid-October,” Bolin said. Some buyers rely on a few simple tests to gauge how much a tree has dried out, but Bolin said the standard tests can be misleading.

“If you don’t want your child to have something you need to start telling them you don’t want them to have it in September or October — not in December,” she said.

HOWEVER, IT’S usually not a good idea to tell children they aren’t going to get the toy at the same time they ask for it. Instead, Youdovin suggested telling children the subject will be discussed later, then talking about the issue when the toy is not in the child’s sight.

“Children tend not to be very reasonable when they want something badly,” she said. “Try to get parents really need to pretty honest with the child and make them understand this is something they are not going to get.”

A SMART CHILD will try to get around parental discretion by saying “Santa will bring it to me.” Youdovin says parents must put Santa in the role of a caring adult who shares their concern about the inproper value of the gift.

“Parents need to put Santa in the role of a parent, somebody who is responsibl e individual who cares about the child,” she said.

LAKOMA’S PIZZA

Wednesday Special

LARGE PEPPERONI & 2-32 oz. Pepsi’s

ONLY $7

Wednesday Special not valid with any other coupons or substitutions.

TRAVEL/STUDY ’87

Les Impressions de la Culture
France & Great Britain, May 19-June 29

British Television Programming, Policy and Production
Great Britain, May 29-June 8

International Business Operations
Great Britain, June 1-30

The Erotic, the Irrational and the Moral:
Imitations of Human Excellence in Ancient Greek Civilization
Greece, May 21-June 14

Special Education in Japan
Japan, June 1-July 8

History of Chemistry
Europe, June 1-July 18

Making Public Relations Work for You
Florida, May 28-June 8

Field Ecology Studies in the N. Rockies
Montana, Mid-June-Late July

Design & Innovation for the Future
Florida, May 28-June 8

Innovations in Educational Communication
Florida, June 8-12

A Dream Remembered!

MARTIN LUTHER KING JR.

2nd ANNUAL BIRTHDAY OBSERVANCE IN ATLANTA

JANUARY 16 THROUGH JANUARY 19, 1986

$70 Roundtrip includes:
• Workshop Registration,
• Tour of King Center
• Historical Sites, and
• Sleeping Accommodations

($30 Deposit Required by December 19, 1986)

COMMEMORATIVE MARCH AND MUCH MORF

Sign up at the SPC Office
3rd Floor, Student Center, 533-3933
Sponsored by the King Holiday Committee

Head’s Up Body Toning Salon

What Is The Motorized Cailisthetic Concept?

It’s the new science of fitness for men and women of all ages. Muscle toning without the stress or fatigue of regular exercise. You don’t get sore, tired or leak because muscle strength is gained through the isometrics of our motorized exercise tables. Come see them.

Stop by or call for an appointment.

572-1494

Re: East, Carbondale, Next to the Buick, Dealership.

New Opportunities, Inc.

New Opportunities is a help, training and resource center for single women with children or without jobs.

During this Holiday Season we are asking you to help us help these women with donations of food, clothing and other necessities.

Please help us help them make it through this holiday season.

Donations will be accepted at: New Opportunities, 1400 W. Main, Carbondale.

For more information, please call 529-2413.

515 S. L’Cdale 529-1344
Bone In Hams $0.98 Lb.
LIMIT 1

Young Turkeys $0.89 Lb.
LIMIT ONE PER FAMILY PLEASE

Pevely Butter $1.69 Lb.
WITH COUPON $20.00 PURCHASE, SENIOR CITIZENS WITH $10.00 PURCHASE

Coke, Diet Coke $0.99 2 Liter Bottle

PRICES GOOD THRU WED. DECEMBER 24th. RIGHT TO LIMIT. NO SALES TO DEALERS.
State mumps cases rise 797 percent

CHICAGO (UPI) - An eight-fold surge in mumps cases this year has local and national health authorities grappling for answers to why Illinois now accounts for nearly half the U.S. cases of the disease, it was reported.

Of the 2,328 cases of mumps reported in Illinois during the first 47 weeks of 1986, 73 percent - or 1,700 cases - were from Chicago, the Chicago Sun-Times reported Tuesday. The numbers indicate a 797 percent rise in mumps statewide.

"It's burning like wildfire," said Clay Kober, director of the immunization program for the Chicago Department of Health. Mumps appears to be hitting children in the 11-15 age bracket, Kober said.

Mumps is characterized by swelling of the salivary glands, fever and headache and is transmitted virally. The disease is rarely fatal but has been known to cause sterility in adult males.

Health authorities cited several possible causes for the dramatic increase in mumps cases, including:

- The lack of a mumps vaccination requirement in Illinois, where one out of every five residents is not immunized.
- The state's large urban populations where the virus can spread easily from person to person through coughing, sneezing and breathing.
- Better health statistic tracking in Illinois combined with sometimes erroneous reporting of unconfirmed mumps cases.
Don’t be confused about where to sell your books. Ask a friend and they will tell you that 710 is the store that pays TOP CASH.

We’ll pay top price for your textbooks, no matter where you bought them.

"When students compare, We gain a customer."

710 S. ILLINOIS AVE

BOOKSTORE

Hours:
M-Sat. 8:30-5:30
Carbondale in the running for betting parlor

By Toby Eckert
Staff Writer

It's too early to tell whether Carbondale will benefit from a bill passed recently by the Illinois General Assembly legalizing off-track betting, on horse races.

The bill, passed by the Illinois House Dec. 5, would allow each of the state's seven horse racing tracks to open two off-track betting parlors within a specified distance - 90 miles for Chicago-area tracks and 135 miles for tracks in other areas of the state.

OFFICIALS AT Fairmount Park Race Track in Collinsville, about 90 miles northwest of Carbondale, have mentioned Carbondale as a possible location for one of their betting parlors.

But Brian Zander, Fairmount Park general manager, said Monday it was too early to tell where either of the park's parlors will be located.

"There really has not been any decision made where any of the parlors will go," Zander said in a telephone interview. "If the legislature had given each track five parlors, then Carbondale would definitely be considered."

SPRINGFIELD AND Decatur have been mentioned as other possible locations, and Zander said track officials were considering several sites near the Illinois border.

Zander believes the legislature eventually will increase the number of parlors each track may have. But, he added, that will depend on how successful the parlors are in attracting bettors.

"I think the legislature limited it to two because of the unknown nature of off-track betting," he said.

THE OFF-TRACK betting measure is contained in a larger horse-racing package providing $75 million in tax breaks and other financial incentives to race tracks. The package also provides for closer scrutiny of betting clerks and steps to prevent the illegal drugging of horses.

However, OPPONENTS of the measure say it could worsen the problem of compulsive gambling. And downstate legislators see it as mainly benefiting the northern tier of the state.

Sen. Ralph Dunn, R-Du Quoin, said the betting measure was a "sweetener" to entice downstate lawmakers into voting for a bill that was essentially meant to fund the rebuilding of Arlington Race Track, a Chicagoland horse track that burned to the ground last year.

DUNN SAID he would have voted for the package had it not contained the betting measure. But a long history of voting against pro-gambling legislation led him to oppose the bill, he said.

"That's just not the way to finance state government," Dunn said.

But Nancy Vanier, a horse breeder from Waterloo and a vice president of the Illinois Thoroughbred Breeders and Owners Foundation, welcomed the legislation.

"WE COULDN'T BE more enthusiastic," she said. "It's going to widen the scope of what people see, what's going on in racing."

She said the measure would increase the amount of money bet on horse races in the state, benefiting both breeders and the state's economy.

"The direct result for us will be terrific," Vanier said. "The result for the state will be tremendous spinoffs."

City discusses 1987 budget cuts

By John Baldwin
Staff Writer

The City Council Monday night approved a list of possible ways to reduce next year's budget, which will become effective in May.

Items included in the list will be studied by the city manager and the city Finance Department and brought back to the City Council in January for final action.

The reductions are necessary to compensate for an expected $50,000 shortfall in the city's general fund. The general fund will be reduced because federal revenue sharing has been eliminated.

One of the suggestions was to study scaling back the lake and forestry program.

Council members were reluctant to decide to reduce the program until more information is available about its possible consequences.

The Council also discussed reducing funding to community service organizations. Councilman Keith Tuchorn expressed continued opposition to reducing funding for community service organizations. He recommended setting up a three- to five-year program to maintain the funding level for community service organizations.

City Manager Bill Dixon said providing the same amount of funding over a period of time for community service organizations was worthy trying.

In past years, the city has reduced funding to service organizations to compensate for funding losses.

Mayor Helen Westberg said: "Philosophically, I think it's a very good idea. Whether it turns out to be practical or not has yet to be seen."

One final consideration was to examine incremental reductions, when feasible, in all areas of the city.

Carbondale in the running for betting parlor

By Toby Eckert
Staff Writer

It's too early to tell whether Carbondale will benefit from a bill passed recently by the Illinois General Assembly legalizing off-track betting, on horse races.

The bill, passed by the Illinois House Dec. 5, would allow each of the state's seven horse racing tracks to open two off-track betting parlors within a specified distance - 90 miles for Chicago-area tracks and 135 miles for tracks in other areas of the state.

OFFICIALS AT Fairmount Park Race Track in Collinsville, about 90 miles northwest of Carbondale, have mentioned Carbondale as a possible location for one of their betting parlors.

But Brian Zander, Fairmount Park general manager, said Monday it was too early to tell where either of the park's parlors will be located.

"There really has not been any decision made where any of the parlors will go," Zander said in a telephone interview. "If the legislature had given each track five parlors, then Carbondale would definitely be considered."

SPRINGFIELD AND Decatur have been mentioned as other possible locations, and Zander said track officials were considering several sites near the Illinois border.

Zander believes the legislature eventually will increase the number of parlors each track may have. But, he added, that will depend on how successful the parlors are in attracting bettors.

"I think the legislature limited it to two because of the unknown nature of off-track betting," he said.

THE OFF-TRACK betting measure is contained in a larger horse-racing package providing $75 million in tax breaks and other financial incentives to race tracks. The package also provides for closer scrutiny of betting clerks and steps to prevent the illegal drugging of horses.

However, OPPONENTS of the measure say it could worsen the problem of compulsive gambling. And downstate legislators see it as mainly benefiting the northern tier of the state.

Sen. Ralph Dunn, R-Du Quoin, said the betting measure was a "sweetener" to entice downstate lawmakers into voting for a bill that was essentially meant to fund the rebuilding of Arlington Race Track, a Chicagoland horse track that burned to the ground last year.

DUNN SAID he would have voted for the package had it not contained the betting measure. But a long history of voting against pro-gambling legislation led him to oppose the bill, he said.

"That's just not the way to finance state government," Dunn said.

But Nancy Vanier, a horse breeder from Waterloo and a vice president of the Illinois Thoroughbred Breeders and Owners Foundation, welcomed the legislation.

"WE COULDN'T BE more enthusiastic," she said. "It's going to widen the scope of what people see, what's going on in racing."

She said the measure would increase the amount of money bet on horse races in the state, benefiting both breeders and the state's economy.

"The direct result for us will be terrific," Vanier said. "The result for the state will be tremendous spinoffs."

City discusses 1987 budget cuts

By John Baldwin
Staff Writer

The City Council Monday night approved a list of possible ways to reduce next year's budget, which will become effective in May.

Items included in the list will be studied by the city manager and the city Finance Department and brought back to the City Council in January for final action.

The reductions are necessary to compensate for an expected $50,000 shortfall in the city's general fund. The general fund will be reduced because federal revenue sharing has been eliminated.

One of the suggestions was to study scaling back the lake and forestry program.

Council members were reluctant to decide to reduce the program until more information is available about its possible consequences.

The Council also discussed reducing funding to community service organizations. Councilman Keith Tuchorn expressed continued opposition to reducing funding for community service organizations. He recommended setting up a three- to five-year program to maintain the funding level for community service organizations.

City Manager Bill Dixon said providing the same amount of funding over a period of time for community service organizations was worthy trying.

In past years, the city has reduced funding to service organizations to compensate for funding losses.

Mayor Helen Westberg said: "Philosophically, I think it's a very good idea. Whether it turns out to be practical or not has yet to be seen."

One final consideration was to examine incremental reductions, when feasible, in all areas of the city.
AUTOMOBILES

1981 TOYOTA HSB. 3 sp. 45 mpg.
1981 HONDA CIVIC DR 4 sp.
1980 CIVIC DX 4 door.
1979 HONDA CIVIC 4 dr.
1976 CHEVY MONZA 1-3/4 miles.
1975 DODGE MONTACAR
1974 MERCURY COUGAR.
1973 CORVETTE 1-3/4 miles.
1972 BUICK ELECTRA 2-25 miles.
1971 BUICK ELECTRA 2-25 miles.
1970 MONTREAL CUBA.
1969 MONTREAL CUBA.
1968 MONTREAL CUBA.
1967 OLDMOBILE DELTA 88.
1966 OLDMOBILE DELTA 88.
1965 OLDMOBILE DELTA 88.
1964 OLDMOBILE DELTA 88.
1963 OLDMOBILE DELTA 88.

INSURANCE
Low Motorcycle Rates
Auto Home Mobile Home

ATTALIA INSURANCE
437-4122

Mobile Homes

12 x 6 2 RODM GOOD condition
1979 TOYOTA COROLLA LE

HUFF'S RADIATOR
& AUTO CENTER
3501 UNIVERSITY AVE.

FLASHING LIGHT
Transmission
Front End Alignment
Air conditioning
Diesel Repair
Brakes
Electrical Problems

CARLA'S BARGAINS

356-3311

WINTER BRINGS
White Snow
Classifieds
Bringing
Green Cash!

Daily Egyptian

WINTER STORAGE

$130 a month

502-8000

*.

at Carbandale Auto Dealers
ROYAL RENTALS

Apartment Available Now: thru Spring Semester
Lincoln Ave Apartments
515 & 535 S. Lincoln
BE THE FIRST TO LIVE IN OUR NEWLY REMODELED APARTMENTS
Clean, Close to Campus
Efficiencies, Newly Painted and Freshly Painted

Phone: 457-4422 for our reasonable rates
Office: 501 E. College

SPACES FURNISHED FOR UN-Furnished:
1 or 2 bedroom, quiet area
Close between 5th St. and S. Park Ave.
FREE NEWER 3 BR AND 2 1/2 Bath
FREE KITCHEN APPLIANCES
FREE NEWER 1 BR

LARGE BEDROOMS
FREE APARTMENTS

Houses

3 515 W Main $650 1st & 2nd Bdrm., 950 monthly
2 419 S. Stinson $600 1st Bdrm. & 2nd Bdrm.
1 419 S. Stinson $550 1st Bdrm.

For Rent

CORNELSON - 620 W. Freeman $700 per month - reduced to $600 if signed prior to Dec. 15. 3/2 Bdrm. with washer and dryer. Great location.
Saluki Hut - 716 S. University $710.00 per month - semi-breaks. 427-3926.
Saluki Acres - 300 S. West $750 per month - semi-breaks. 427-3926.
Studio - 344 S. Wash. $550 per month - semi-breaks. 427-3926.

Call

457-4334 529-3513

MAKING THE NEXT TERM THE BEST TERM OF YOUR LIFE.

We've got quality housing for singles, doubles, and small groups. We've got

REDUCED, NICE, 3 1/2 Bdrm. $1200 per month. Includes,
1st & 2nd Bdrm., 2 Car Garage
1st Bdrm. $800 per month
2nd Bdrm. $500 per month

CATCH THE EXCITEMENT 457-3321

Page 16, Daily Egyptian, December 13, 1986
John Larson
* * * Merry Christmas * * *
* Sweetest's * * *
* Love, * * *
* Lynnette * * *

To Bill, Wolfe, Greg and Lynn,

Thanks for a great semester.

Merry Christmas

Love, Lyn

To My * * * K Buddy, Deb, * * *
I hope Santa is good to you * * *
Merry Christmas * * *

Love, * * *
Your * * *
K Buddy, Lyn

ΦΣΚ

Dale and

Disco Denny
The teddy bears, champagne, and pizza were fantastic but what really made it special was being with you two.

Love, Michelle and Sonya

Δ Χ

Invites all men interested in joining a fraternity to stop by or call

Δ Χ

105 Greek Row
556-5561

Real Estate

GOVERNMENT HOMES FROM $1 (sight).

POLLY'S ANTIQUES ANNUAL.

BUS OPPORTUNITIES

RENTED MOBILE HOMES for sale excellent condition. Location and price $295-500.

BRIEFS

GUARANTEED STUDENT LOAN INFORMATION

The Higher Education Amendments of 1986 have increased the annual loan limits for students who wish to borrow under the Guaranteed Student Loan Program. These new loan limits will be effective for periods of enrollment beginning on or after Jan. 1, 1987.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>Loan Limit</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Freshman</td>
<td>$2825</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sophomore</td>
<td>$2825</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Junior</td>
<td>$4000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Senior</td>
<td>$4000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Graduate</td>
<td>$7500</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Paid for by the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance
Utilities’ holdings discussed
By Patricia Edwards
Streator

The General Assembly is considering a bill that would bring utility companies’ investment holdings under stricter scrutiny by the Illinois Commerce Commission. Utility companies during the past two to three years have moved to diversify their holdings, says a representative of the Citizens Utility Board, and that raises concerns about where the money is coming from and where it is going.

Pat Clark, spokeswoman for CUB, said that investing profits in non-utility companies opens the door for utilities to lower utility rates.

“Diversification is a risky business,” she said.

Profits should be used to benefit the raters.

Utilities are monopolies, the companies should be held accountable to the consumers for their investments.

To police responsible investment, the bill proposes to require regular audits of the utility companies’ dealings with the holding companies, which make their investments, and will allow the ICC access to the companies’ books and records,” Rea said.

Blue lobster is ocean gem

BOSTON (UPI) — An extremely rare blue lobster, caught in frigid waters off the coast of Maine, was put on display at a local fish market Tuesday before heading to its new home at the New England Aquarium.

Described by researchers as one-in-20 million catch, the sky blue male lobster was caught last Wednesday off Portland by a fisherman who supplies the Boston and Maine Fish Co.

Correction

Catherine Vaucher is a lecturer in dance. The Dec. 12 issue of the Daily Egyptian incorrectly stated her title in a dance review.

“Blue lobster is ocean gem”

By Patricia Edwards

Utilities’ holdings discussed

The General Assembly is considering a bill that would bring utility companies’ investment holdings under stricter scrutiny by the Illinois Commerce Commission. Utility companies during the past two to three years have moved to diversify their holdings, says a representative of the Citizens Utility Board, and that raises concerns about where the money is coming from and where it is going.

Pat Clark, spokeswoman for CUB, said that investing profits in non-utility companies opens the door for utilities to lower utility rates.

“Diversification is a risky business,” she said.

Profits should be used to benefit the raters.

Utilities are monopolies, the companies should be held accountable to the consumers for their investments.

To police responsible investment, the bill proposes to require regular audits of the utility companies’ dealings with the holding companies, which make their investments, and will allow the ICC access to the companies’ books and records,” Rea said.

Blue lobster is ocean gem

BOSTON (UPI) — An extremely rare blue lobster, caught in frigid waters off the coast of Maine, was put on display at a local fish market Tuesday before heading to its new home at the New England Aquarium.

Described by researchers as one-in-20 million catch, the sky blue male lobster was caught last Wednesday off Portland by a fisherman who supplies the Boston and Maine Fish Co.

Correction

Catherine Vaucher is a lecturer in dance. The Dec. 12 issue of the Daily Egyptian incorrectly stated her title in a dance review.
Men's track surprises indoor foes, Cornell

By Peter Rechenberg

The men's track team opened up the indoor season at Illinois State Friday, and Saluki coach Doug Ingram said: "there were some pleasant surprises and some disappointments."

The pleasant surprise for the Salukis was the victory in Nebraska 120-97 Saturday. Saluki coach Doug Ingram said he thinks the meet has been good for his team.

"We may have played as a team," said Ingram. "Our guys were very spirited and fought tooth-and-nail right to the end."

Ingram said that one event where the Salukis really got hurt was the diving competition. Nebraska took first, second and third places in both the one- and three-meter diving.

"It was 84-81 going into the last diving event and then they went 1-2-3 and that put it at 90-87 and that pretty well put us out of it," said Ingram.

Performances from junior Kevin Nagy and senior Bruce Dickson were two pleasant surprises that Ingram said should help ease the loss of December graduates Gary Brinkman and Joakim Sjoholm.

Nagy dropped three seconds off his season best with a 1:41.1 third place finish in the 200 freestyle. The Charlotte, N.C. native also won the 100 free in 45.86 which Ingram called "another real nice drop for him."

Dickson, a Bellevue, Wash. native, gave an impressive performance with lifetime bests in the 200 individual medley and the 200 backstroke as well as a season best in the 200 butterfly.

Brinkman, an outstanding Saluki tanker, ended his collegiate swimming career in grand style. The 22-year-old freestyle and distance swimmer broke the pool record in the 500 freestyle with a time of 4:25.3. He also placed second in both the 200 and 1,000 freestyle competitions.

"He went out in fine style," said Ingram.

Sjoholm, another December graduate, swam well, said Ingram. The Stockholm, Sweden native scored points for the Salukis in the 200 individual as well as the 100 freestyle.
Utilities’ holdings discussed

By Patricia Edwards

The General Assembly is considering a bill that would bring utility companies’ investment holdings under stricter scrutiny by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Utility companies during the past two to three years have moved to diversify their holdings, says a representative of the Citizens Utility Board, and that raises concerns about where the money is coming from and where it is going.

Pat Clark, spokeswoman for CUB, said that investing profits in non-utility companies opens the door for investments that do not benefit the ratepayers as a monopoly, a utility company must give up some rights that vest in the utilities and could be at the expense of the ratepayers.

"Diversification is a risky business," she said.

"Profits should be used to benefit the ratepayers through investment in utilities or a rate decrease," Clark said. "Reinvestment could be in the form of energy conservation programs," she said, or other programs that would ultimately benefit the ratepayers.

The proposed bill would make measures to ensure that the utilities implement weatherization programs.

"Rea and Rep. Dave Phelps, D-Eldorado, sponsor the bill. Rea said that because the utilities are monopolies, the companies should be held accountable to the consumers for their investments.

To police responsible investment, the bill proposes to require regular audits of the utility companies’ dealings with the holding companies, which make their investments, and will allow the ICC access to the companies’ books and records." Rea said.

Blue lobster is ocean gem

BOSTON (UPI) — An extremely rare blue lobster, caught in frigid waters off the coast of Maine, was put on display at a local fish market Tuesday before heading to its new home at the New England Aquarium.

Described by researchers as a one-in-20 million catch, the sky blue male lobster was caught last Wednesday off Piertland by a fisherman who supplies the Boston and Maine Fish Co.

Correction

Catherine Vaucler is a lecturer in dance. The Dec. 12 issue of the Daily Egyptian incorrectly stated her title in a dance review.

THE GOLD MINE

$1 OFF

Limit 1 per pizza
Medium or Large Pizza - In-house or Delivery
FREE 1-32 oz. Coke with delivery of small or medium pizza
2-32 oz Cokes with large pizza
615 S. Illinois
529-4138

CARVER

Powerful Musical Accurate

Don’t Miss This One
Prices Too Low To List
Full Warranty
Only One of Each Model
Eastgate Shopping Center — Carbondale

DEMO SALE

Gyros, Fried Mushrooms, Soup & Salad

Doesn’t Sound Like Fast Food, Does It?

But we are fast...and different. Our onion rings and mushrooms are made from scratch. So is our Avgolemono (rice, egg-lemon) soup and our salad.

We’re fast and inexpensive—yet everything at El Greco is made-to-order.

Eli GRACK

516 S. Illinois Ave.
Men’s track surprises indoor foes, Cornell

By Peter Rechenberg

The men’s track team opened up the indoor season at Illinois State University Friday, and Saluki coach Bill Cornell said, “there were some pleasant surprises as well as some disappointments.”

The pleasant surprise for the Salukis was the victory in the 300-yard hurdles, won by Andy Bradbury, who won the hurdles with a personal best of 53 feet, 8 inches in the 35-pound weight throw. He also won the 100-meter hurdles and a victory in the mile relay.

The pleasant surprise for the Salukis really got hurt was the diving competition. Nebraska took first, second, and third places in both the one- and three-meter diving.

“IT was 84-64 going into the last diving event and then they went 1-2-3 and that put it at 96-67 and that pretty well put us out of it,” said Ingram. Performances from junior Kevin Nagy and senior Bruce Dickson were two pleasant surprises that Ingram said should help ease the loss of December graduates Gary Brinkman and Joakim Sjoholm.

Nagy dropped three seconds off his season best with a 1:41.1 third place finish in the 200 freestyle. The Charlotte, N.C. native also won the 100 free in 45.86 which Ingram called “another real nice drop for him.”

Dickson, a Bellevue, Wash. native, gave an impressive performance with lifetime bests in the 200 individual medley and the 200 backstroke as well as a season best in the 200 butterfly.

Brinkman, an outstanding Saluki tanker, ended his collegiate swimming career in grand style. The 22-year-old freestyler and distance swimmer broke the pool record in the 500 freestyle with a time of 4:25.5. He also placed second in both the 200 and 1000 freestyle competitions.

“He went out in fine style,” said Ingram.

Sjoholm, another December graduate, swam well, said Ingram. The Stockholm, Sweden native scored points for the Salukis in the 200 individual as well as the 100 freestyle.

Men tankers lose, lack dive skill

By M.J. Starshak

Although SIU’s men’s swim team lost to Nebraska 120-97 Saturday, Saluki coach Doug Ingram said he thinks the meet may have been good for his team.

“We may have jelled as a team,” said Ingram. “Our guys were very spirited and fought tooth-and-nail right to the end.”

Ingram said that one event where the Salukis really got hurt was the diving competition. Nebraska took first, second, and third places in both the one- and three-meter diving.

“It was 84-64 going into the last diving event and then they went 1-2-3 and that put it at 96-67 and that pretty well put us out of it,” said Ingram.

When is the right time to call your boyfriend?

a) When the president of Phi Gamma Delta asks you to Saturday night’s Fiji Formal.

b) After raquetball class, to tell him that the instructor with the Australian accent and those blue eyes did wonders for your serve.

c) When you just feel like telling him you miss him after all.

Maybe you shouldn’t tell him everything that’s going on. But if you still care about him, why not call and whisper some sweet things he’ll never forget?

Like you call using AT&T Long Distance Service, and why you trust AT&T’s high quality service and exceptional value.

When you tell him that AT&T gives you immediate credit if you dial a wrong number, he won’t be able to get you out of his mind.

And telling him you can count on AT&T for clear, long distance connections will drive him crazy.

All of which will probably inspire him to drive out for the weekend, giving you an excuse to blow off that silly frat party after all.
Ice hockey takes break, resumes Jan. 15

By Peter Rechenberg
Staff Writer

The Southern Illinois Wild Dogs ice hockey team, which has a 9-1-1 record and is in first place in an Evansville, Ind., league by eight points, will take a month off for Christmas Break. The Wild Dogs return to action on Thursday, January 15, against the Evansville Chargers in Evansville.

Captain Steve Pelkowski described the team as "starting from nothing and evolving into something." The Wild Dogs have dominated almost every game they have played. They have scored 68 goals while only giving up 33 through 11 games.

Pelkowski is the leading scorer with 27 points. Todd Trippany and Tony Krause are tied for second place in scoring with 18 points each. Trippany has the most assists with 12 while Pelkowski has the most goals with 16. Krause has had three 3-goal games.

HOCKEY, Page 22

What do I do next?

Saluki senior forward Ann Kattreh looks for an assist against St. Louis at Davies Gym. Kattreh will try to avenge a loss last year vs. the Illini Saturday.
HOCKEY, from Page 21

women in seven turns, Drake visits SIU Jan. 3 at 7:35 p.m.

But from Drake comes the Gateway player of the week, Missy Siockett. Siockett, a sophomore guard, matched 68 total points in three games last week on 53 percent shooting. Siockett had to play all 22 minutes of those games, probably because of Drake's depleted roster. Latest off the list, Bulldog forward Kelly Sioda was granted three surgery and miss the remainder of the season.

Bradley sits in fourth place with a 2-0 record, one of only four GCAC teams at the .500 mark.

Northern Iowa holds fifth at 2-3, trailed by Indiana State and Western Illinois at 2-4. Eastern Illinois rounds out the 10 GCAC teams in ninth place with a 2-5 record.

In individual statistical categories, Saluki center Mary Berghuis ranks second in rebounding (.98 per game), fourth in field goal percentage (58.1) and fifth in blocked shots (1.8 per game).

Saluki guard Dana Fitzpatrick ranks sixth in assists with 3.3 per game.

Sokol has only given up one goal four times and has given up two goals only three times for an impressive record of 8-1. The Wild Dogs are 78 percent successful while killing penalties and they have scored six short-handed goals, with a 29 percent success rate on power plays.

Pelkowski said the key to the Wild Dogs' success is that everybody works to play. "Everyone is playing well together, and most of us have played since we were little kids," Pelkowski said.

The Salukis have two and Kurt Goetze has one. Jeff Feldman leads the Wild Dogs in penalty minutes with 18. The Western Jaguars' tie is usually Dan Sokol. Darren Kilenberger played one game in the nets and came away with a win.

The 1987-88 ACT/FFS forms are now available at the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance, Woody Hall, B-Wing, Third Floor.

The 1987-88 ACT/FFS will allow you to apply for the Pell Grant, the Illinois State Scholarship Commission Monetary Award (ISSC), the SIUC Campus-Based Aid Programs, the Student Work Program and the Student Loan Programs. (Beginning with the 1987-88 academic school year, student loan information will be collected on the ACT/FFS. Therefore, to apply for a loan, you must complete and mail the ACT/FFS instead of obtaining the loan application from your lending institution).

Since some financial aid program funding is limited, you should mail the 1987-88 ACT/FFS as soon after January 1, 1987 as possible.

BE SURE TO PICK UP THE 1987-88 ACT/FFS BEFORE YOU GO HOME FOR CHRISTMAS BREAK!!

The 1987-88 ACT/FFS forms are now available at the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance, Woody Hall, B-Wing, Third Floor.

The 1987-88 ACT/FFS will allow you to apply for the Pell Grant, the Illinois State Scholarship Commission Monetary Award (ISSC), the SIUC Campus-Based Aid Programs, the Student Work Program and the Student Loan Programs. (Beginning with the 1987-88 academic school year, student loan information will be collected on the ACT/FFS. Therefore, to apply for a loan, you must complete and mail the ACT/FFS instead of obtaining the loan application from your lending institution).

Since some financial aid program funding is limited, you should mail the 1987-88 ACT/FFS as soon after January 1, 1987 as possible.
Valley conference slate. Both SIU-E and St. Louis suffered losses to the Salukis last season, the Lillikens in a double-overtime thriller in St. Louis.

"After the SIU-E game things start to get a little tougher," Herrin said.

The Salukis travel to Peoria on Jan. 10 for a televised MVC game with the defending conference champion Bradley Braves.

Talk about dark clouds. As if the graduation losses of MVC Player of the Year Jim Les and hulking 6-4 center Mike Williams weren't enough, the defending conference champion Bradley Braves

WHILE THE BRAVES have landed the coaching talents of former Chicago Bulls coach Stan Albeck and feature the sensational Hersey Hawkins (the Valley's preseason player of the year pick), they won't have the incentive of post-season play this season and don't expect to be nearly as competitive.

The Dogs will be playing with the incentive of two near-misses to the nationally-ranked Braves last season, when SIU-C fell by three and one point. With talent between the two teams more balanced than in the previous four or five years, the Dogs could beat the Braves for the first time since 1983-84.

Herrin says the close games last year will be an incentive for both teams. "They'll remember those close ones last season when they were supposed to blow us out," Herrin said. "But those two losses also proved that we could play with them."

The league's overwhelming preseason title favorite, Tulsa's Golden Hurricane, invades the Arena with a 10-1 record and 10th-ranked SIU-C, both teams on a roll in their last two games with scores of 70-58 and 65-39.

Herrin is looking for a better pair of performances.

"Tulsa will probably play us as tough as any team we face this year," Herrin said. "We'll have to get a fine effort to keep in the game."

The Redbirds of Illinois State were picked to finish third in the Valley race, behind both Tulsa and Bradley, but the loss of 7-0 Bill Braksik may hurt those high hopes.

Last season, the Redbirds also inflicted serious scarring on the Salukis, winning by scores of 77-63 and 80-69.

With SIU-C adding height and depth in the offseason, combined with Braksik's unforeseen departure, the Salukis will have a chance to avenge those losses.

WICHITA STATE was picked to finish the Valley race right behind Illinois State, but return all five starters and could surprise a few people. Led by Gus Santos, one of the Valley's most consistent scorers the past two seasons, the Shockers will be trying to match up with their personnel and stay in the play.

For sure, we can't double up because they can all shoot the ball."

Both coaches discussed the rankings, with Scott saying, "I'm glad we made the top 25. But I'm disappointed we didn't make the AP poll. This is our last chance before going into the conference to crack the top 20."

Golden said some nights her squad looks 15th and other nights they play like a No. 1 seed.

"On any given night we could say yes we're 15th or no," Golden said. "Four of six of our games were on the road, and 10 in on the road against the teams we had to play. I'd say we definitely deserve top 20."

NEW CONCEPT HAIR SHOP

Perm, Style, & Cut $25

Sculptured Nails by Keri $24.95
Gift Certificates Available

300 E. Main, Hunter Bldg. - Carbondale

(Next to European Tan Spa)

457-8211

ALEXANDER COLE

Ladies Night Show With

Tommy Lee Johnston

LIVE REMOTE Speedrails

9-1:30 $1.05

2 for 1 Ice Tea Free Champagne for Ladies 9-11

Dine w. Contest Prices & Giveaways

Appearing Dec. 18th-21st Come See

Ice Turners Jr. Revue

518 South Illinois Avenue

457-4472
The battle for bragging rights in the state will tip off at 7:35 p.m. in Davies Gym Saturday, when the women's basketball teams of the University of Illinois and SIU collide.

"This is an intense rivalry," Saluki coach Cindy Scott said. "We're always trying to out-recruit each other and this series gives bragging rights to the winner of the game."

The undefeated Illini (6-0) hold the edge entering with a No. 15 ranking in the two top national polls. The Salukis (5-1) with their best non-conference start just crept into the USA Today Top 25 at No. 25 and would rate 21st in the AP poll if it had more than 20 places.

The Illini sport many other advantages in little things such as having five coaches to the Salukis' three. But once these teams step on court, a similar style of play relying on defense and balanced offensive attack places the odds pretty close to even.

Both squads return four starters from last year, when the Illini came from behind to defeat the Salukis, 78-74, in Champaign.

Joselle Poik, a 6-3 senior center, leads the way for the Illini as a senior leader. When Poik scores and plays effectively, the Illini can be tied to his performance in the past, in which he averaged 12.6 points and 10.2 rebounds per game (rpg). She's paced the Illini for three years and notched a 23-point effort against SIU last year.

"She's playing much better and matured, hopefully because it's her senior year," Illini coach Laura Goldin said. "I also think the supporting cast helps her game."

Golden referred to Angie McClellan, a 5-10 junior forward who averages 13.8 ppg. as well as junior guard Jenny Johnson, junior forward Dee Dee Deeken and junior guard Lisa Bradley, each of whom supply balanced scoring as probable starters.

But Golden could not say for sure yet just who she will give the nod to.

"We've had seven or eight different people start at one time or another," Golden said. "We haven't talked about SIU yet, but once we have our

Men cagers face NIU to begin break slate

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

The SIU-C men cagers will take a 4-4 record into Christmas break, but Saluki coach Rich Herrin isn't sure what the holidays will hold for his upstart squad.

With four nonconference games kicking off an eight-game break schedule, Herrin says his team is matched up evenly in what will be close games.

"We could win the first four or we could lose 'em," Herrin said. "The first four games of break will be very close games. I'd like to think we can win them all.

The Dogs kick off the break schedule on Dec. 20 at DeKalb against the Huskies of Northern Illinois. NIU will be without the services of star forward-guard Kenny Battle, who is now attending the University of Illinois.

"I expect them to be tough, but we can play with them," Herrin said. "They've struggled a bit this year, but they return four starters and it'll be a good game."

FOLLOWING ARE home contests with St. Louis University on Dec. 21 and Eastern Illinois on Jan. 3, both of which should prove to be interesting contests.

The Bilikens feature five returning starters and two almmost-Salukis as key contributors: Anthony Bonner and Anthony Jones.

The Dogs then travel to face the Cougars of SIU-Edwardsville Jan. 8 before finally kicking off the Missouri Valley Conference. The Cougars, SIU-C's annual rival, are an in-state team facing a conference.

Both squads return four starters from last year, when the Illini came from behind to defeat the Salukis, 78-74, in Champaign.

Joselle Poik, a 6-3 senior center, leads the way for the Illini as a senior leader. When Poik scores and plays effectively, the Illini can be tied to his performance in the past, in which he averaged 12.6 points and 10.2 rebounds per game (rpg). She's paced the Illini for three years and notched a 23-point effort against SIU last year.

"She's playing much better and matured, hopefully because it's her senior year," Illini coach Laura Goldin said. "I also think the supporting cast helps her game."

Golden referred to Angie McClellan, a 5-10 junior forward who averages 13.8 ppg. as well as junior guard Jenny Johnson, junior forward Dee Dee Deeken and junior guard Lisa Bradley, each of whom supply balanced scoring as probable starters.

But Golden could not say for sure yet just who she will give the nod to.

"We've had seven or eight different people start at one time or another," Golden said. "We haven't talked about SIU yet, but once we have our

Wichita State’s Carr named MVC’s top player

By Scott Freeman
Staff Writer

Wichita State center Henry Carr has been named the Missouri Valley Conference Player of the Week.

Carr threw in 47 points over a three-game span for an 15.7 points per game average, including a career-high of 15 points in the Shockers 61-48 win at Mississippi State. Carr also snagged 13 rebounds in the contest.

The Shockers, Carr for the week, shot 55.6 percent from the field (15 of 27), 70.8 percent from the free throw stripe (17 of 24) and pulled down 25 rebounds.

Wichita State currently sports a 5-2 record, with the brothers of former Shocker standout forward Antoine Carr leading the way.

Carr leads the Shockers in scoring and rebounding, averaging 15.4 points and 9.7 rebounds per contest. This is in contrast to his shaky performance in the past, in which he averaged only 4.8 points and 3.6 rebounds for his career.

Carr has scored in double figures in six of the Shocker’s seven games, including the last five in a row.

Much of his improvement can be tied to his performance at the charity stripe, where a new shooting style has resulted in a 67.9 percent average. Carr shot only 38.4 percent from the line last season.

CONFERENCE NOTES: MVC athletics directors and faculty reps met in St. Louis last week during the conference’s annual winter meetings and voted to change the format of the league’s postseason tournament.

The league will have three separate first round tourney matchups, with the No. 2, 3, and 4 seeded teams as hosts.

Originally, the league planned to go with two first round doubleheaders. But that was changed after Bradley was placed on probation by the MVC and the NCAA for rule violations.

"We studied the concept and felt it would be in the best interests of the conference financially to have three separate first round games," MVC Commissioner James Haney said.

With only seven of the eight schools competing in the tourney, the No. 1 seeded team (regular season champ) will draw a first round bye and will play the winner of the No. 2 versus No. 3 game in the semifinals.

The championship game will be played at the site of the highest surviving seeded team, and will be televised live on ESPN to a national audience.