LBJ Outlines State of the Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told the nation Wednesday night it can expect higher taxes, continued progress, the most massive $186 billion spending program in all history, and continued explorations for peace.

There was a call for legislation to "free our gold reserves" without backing off from commitments to maintain the price of gold at $35 an ounce.

Johnson also urged in his State of the Union message, legislation aimed at private employment of 500,000 hard core unemployed in three years.

He urged steps to improve what he called the shocking infant mortality rate in America.

In addition to prodding Congress to pass consumer legislation still left over from the last session, the chief executive suggested a major study of automobile insurance, "new safeguards to insure the quality of fish and poultry, and the safety of our community water supplies."

These and other proposals will be covered in a budget for the 1969 fiscal year that will be up $10.4 billion in spending over the current year.

There was no backing away from the President's bid for a 10 per cent surtax on incomes of individuals and corporations.

Johnson said the economic outlook for this year, if the country is vigilant, is one for steady growth.

"True," he said, "there are some clouds on the horizon. Prices are rising. Interest rates have passed the peak of 1966; and if there is continued inaction on the tax bill, they will climb higher."

"I warn the nation that this failure to act will sweep us into an accelerating spiral of price increases; a slump in home building; and a continuing erosion of the American dollar.

He said that we have the strength to meet every challenge and he believes with an abiding conviction that the American people "have the will to meet the trials these times impose."

Among the trials, of course, is the war in Vietnam. And Johnson said there are marks of progress.

Athletics Vote Set for Students By Campus Senate

The Student Senate voted Wednesday to hold a referendum among the student body on the question of athletic expansion.

The Student Welfare Committee and the ad hoc committee which originally studied athletics will meet at 2 p.m. today to draw up a ballot and set the referendum date.

During discussion of the proposal, it was made clear that the referendum will be held before the next meeting of the University Council, which has been tentatively set for Feb. 7.

The Senate last week unanimously passed a four page recommendation of its ad hoc committee on athletics, calling for an increase in activity fees of $3.50 per term to boost sports.

Senator Paul Wheeler, speaking Wednesday at the close of business listed on the agenda, scolded the Senate for making last week's decision on athletics without consulting the student body.

After a motion to adjourn was unsuccessful, Senator Gary Krischer attempted to amend last week's decision, but the parliamentarian ruled that out of order. He then moved for a referendum, and the motion carried.

Students, faculty and staff filled out a questionnaire last year for the report of the University Study Commission on Athletics, but at least several senators who backed the new referendum Wednesday said they feel students should have the opportunity to express their opinion this year.

The Faculty Council and Graduate Council have recommended to the University Council that the football program not be expanded, and have voted against some other provisions of the Study Commission report. The University Council is the highest advisory body in the University.

In other action, Senator Jerry Finney urged students to quit cooperating with the administration by serving on study committees.

He said that students shouldn't "perpetuate the myth that students are involved in decision-making."

Crime Statistics Indicate City's Police Weakness

By George M. Killenberg

Carbondale's 1967 crime statistics released this week reflect the city's serious need for more policemen and crime fighting equipment, according to Public Safety Director Richard Wilhelmy.

"In comparison to other cities Carbondale's size, we have had an unusually large number of criminal offenses," said Wilhelmy, who directs the city police and fire departments.

A total of 1169 major criminal offenses was reported in 1967, including three rapes, 13 robberies, 130 assaults, 271 burglaries, 94 auto thefts and 214 larceny cases of $50 or over.

These figures do not include the large number of offenses committed in Carbondale last year which were not reported to the police. Wilhelmy estimates that in some cases, particularly minor thefts, as many as 50 per cent of the offenses are not reported.

Wilhelmy attributed the high crime figures to a manpower shortage, not necessarily any failure on the part of the Carbondale police to cope with lawlessness.

"The first job of any police department is crime prevention but with the limited force we have now we are only able to do our second job and that is solving crimes," he said.

In order to raise the level of police service in Carbondale, Wilhelmy indicated that he might submit a $500,000 budget for the next fiscal year, which would be more than double the department's present $214,000 budget.

Much of the budget increase would be used to hire additional police officers. Wilhelmy said that he would like to see the force enlarged from its present size of 20 officers to 40.

This added manpower would enable the department to concentrate on specific problem areas, such as crime prevention campaigns, juvenile offenders and traffic enforcement, which have had to be neglected in the past, Wilhelmy said.

The city currently has only one detective to do all the city's follow-up criminal investigation. Wilhelmy would like to add two detectives for investigation work plus another detective to handle the rising number of crimes involving juveniles.

Wilhelmy also feels that the city could use a special section to handle only traffic enforcement.

Carbondale's high crime rate can also be traced to a lack of modern crime fighting equipment, Wilhelmy contends.

Carbondale has no crime lab, no darkroom, no training facilities, no pistol range, and must share its radio band with neighboring departments.

Wilhelmy said that city officials have told him that any additions to the police force in manpower or equipment before the end of the fiscal year in April is out of the question. Wilhelmy hopes that the police budget for the coming year will be realistic enough to improve Carbondale police standards.

Moulton Available

For Student Talks

Wilbur Moulton, dean of students, or a representative will be available to all students for discussions on any topic every Thursday morning from 10 a.m. until 12 noon in the Student Government Office conference room in the University Center.

In the event that Dean Moulton himself is unable to attend, someone from the Office of Student Affairs will substitute for him. Moulton pointed out that if students wished to talk with specialists in other areas of the University, they will be asked to attend.

The first two-hour conference period was held last week.

Exchange Robbed Again

A middle-aged woman who apparently was unarmed robbed the Saluki Currency Exchange of about $1,100 Wednesday and escaped on foot.

It was the third time the Exchange had been robbed within the past 12 months.

William Budslick Jr., owner of the firm located in the Campus Shopping Center, set the amount of the loss.

According to statements given to Carbondale police, the woman entered the firm about 10:45 a.m. and handed Mrs. Carol Holtz, one of the two women employes, a brown paper sack and a note saying, "Give me all of your money and hurry."

Mrs. Holtz placed the money in the bag and the bandit walked out of the office.

The other employe, Mary Ann Doyle, was working at an office machine and did not notice that the robbery was in progress. Neither did a woman customer whose back was turned.

The firm has facilities for photographing persons at the business counter but employes were unable to get the woman's picture, they said.

The robber was described as about 5'4" tall and weighing 125 pounds. She was wearing a short jacket with a hood drawn around her face, baggy slacks and boots.

According to Budslick, both employes would have been safe had they been able to drop behind a bullet proof wall separating them from the customer area. It was installed after a $500 robbery last Aug. 14.

Previous robberies were by men. Michael France, Carbondale, was convicted of a $12,000 robbery at the Exchange April 12, 1967 and sentenced to the penitentiary. The August robbery remains unsolved.

Fraternity Taping Material for Blind

Eighteen members of the Phi Kappa Tau pledge class are taping books for the benefit of blind students.

Working through the Audio-Visual department in the library, the pledges have been donating their time. Each pledge records one side of one tape, or about 35 pages of printed material.

The project chairman is John Roberts. The purpose of the project is to aid Morris Library in building up a tape library of textbooks for the use of blind students.

Obelisk Orders

Taken This Week

The SIU yearbook, the Obelisk, will be sold in Area H of the University Center this week.

Orders will be taken today, Friday, and Monday through Thursday of next week. The price is $3.

Students enrolled last term may purchase Obelisks for $2 since they have already paid one activity fee. Delivery will be made sometime in late May.

Women's Club Hosts Show Of American, Foreign Glass

Fish and birds, powder boxes and salve jars, cake plates, tumblers and paperweights all made themselves at home in Ballroom B of the University Center Wednesday afternoon.

But vases and toothpick holders and cracker jars were there to keep them company as 800 glassware items were displayed at an "Antique American and European Glass Show" sponsored by the SIU Women's Club.

Mrs. Naomi Brammell displayed a Sandwich star spill dated about 1830. The spill made its perch near the fireplace in early American homes so the gentleman of the house could reach inside for a slip of paper to use in lighting his pipe.

Etched cut glass salt cellars were displayed by Mrs. Neil Hosley. The cellars had been a wedding gift to her daughter from an Alaskan housewife who herself had received the cellars as a wedding gift in 1895.

Mrs. William Nagel, a co-chairman of the event, said glassmakers geared their products to the needs of the people. When water wells were used to keep butter and milk cool, both butter dishes and pitchers were accompanied by lids. Now that home refrigerators are commonplace, the lids no longer always accompany these items, she said.

Also displayed was oatmeal glass or pressed glass that originated as a premium during the days of the Depression.

The Old and New European glass category included French Lalique birds, an Austrian beer stein, Irish tumblers, Venetian glass dolphins and English wine glasses.

Mrs. Thomas Baldwin who displayed a pressed glass sugar, creamer and spoon holder said, referring to the articles, "I never buy anything I don't use."

ing to Richard Karr, a member of the national and local board of the Young Republicans organization.

Booths will be set up from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. today and from 9 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. Friday in Room C of the University Center and Young Republicans will be posted to register students.

The rally will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the St. Louis Arena. Proceeds from the rally will be used for national campaign funds.

Peace Committee Continues Efforts

Members of the Southern Illinois Peace Committee (SIPC) will hold open debate and discussion on the war in Vietnam today and Friday in Rooms C and D in the University Center, William Moffet, chairman of SIPC announced.

The all-day sessions begin at 8 a.m. and will last until 5 p.m. They are an extension of the peace demonstrations by the committee Tuesday and Wednesday in front of the Student Government Office in the University Center.

Thanks to Senate for Redefinition

To the Editor:

What we have to say is simple, for nothing more complex than sincerity can come from the heart. What we have to say is easily said for there is no difficulty in the realization of conviction.

We the members of the University Park Area Executive Council, having read and understood both the words and ramifications of recent proposals passed through our Student Senate proposals concerning the basic rights and liberties of the student body, do hereby publicly declare ourselves one with them in spirit and intent.

Furthermore, we would like to express our appreciation to the Senate for redefining with their actions the oft-misread term Student Government.

Noon Closings

To the Editor:

What happens every weekday at noon? Anyone who has tried to accomplish something in a University office knows.

Every bureaucrat in this University goes out to lunch. Every office which services students closes down. A student can not request a transcript, make an interview appointment, cash a check or even pay a bill between noon and 1 p.m. on weekdays.

Granted everyone, even bureaucrats, should be allowed a lunch hour. But couldn't the lunch periods be staggered so there will be at least a skeleton force available to handle student needs?

Surely some brilliant administrator can construct a work schedule which would not overwork our civil service employees and still keep the University open and functioning during the noon hour.

This is a relatively innocuous request in comparison to some of the projects undertaken on the students' behalf. But I think it would prove very useful to the student who is only slightly affected by these projects.

Zip Along With Zip--Maybe

The U.S. Post Office Dept. must have something in mind in creating Zip Codes. Whatever it is, the zip at present doesn't speed up the ordinary citizen's first class letters.

Last week, we confirmed our suspicions.

We wrote five letters to our intelligence agent in Hollywood, Calif., addressing them identically except for the zip code. We then mailed them in the box on Main St. next to Workman's Studio. The mailbox label said the next mail would be picked up at 1:07 p.m. (Sunday, Dec. 10).

To keep our friends at the post-office from catching on, we interspersed the letters with a lot of other first class mail.

Here is how the letters were addressed:

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF., 90027
(This is the correct zip code.)

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF., 80120

(This is Littleton's zip code.)

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF., 33020
(This is the zip for Hollywood, Florida.)

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF.
(No zip code used.)

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF., 98078
(This zip number chosen at random.)

Now which letter do you suppose arrived first?

Last Friday we got the answer. All five letters reached the recipient in the same delivery on Dec. 12. In sending the results, our intelligence agent added a sarcastic comment: "All letters arrived at the same time. But does that prove anything—but that you are right?"

We suspect that the zip code will be used some day in handling mass mailings, such as junk mail or big magazines. By persuading people to use zip codes now, the government may hopefully get zips for the mass mailers or for big-city sorting machines.

But why doesn't the post office take us by the hand and confide in us? This mistrust of the public has gone on for a generation. Citizens were induced to buy Savings Bonds during World War II to "finance the fighting." (The real reason was to take cash out of circulation to hold down inflation). Gas rationing was imposed, but not to save gas. (The tire supply had to last for the duration, and by restricting the average motorist to four gallons a week, this was accomplished.)

All of us want to cooperate with the government. But we like honest answers. The Credibility Gap is bad for a democracy.

Foreign Students and Tuition

To the Editor:

Southern Illinois University has a tuition-fees assessment of $80.50 per quarter for students who are residents of Illinois. International students, however, pay $210 tuition per quarter. From strictly a financial viewpoint, I feel international students deserve at least a little more consideration than is given the ordinary resident student.

The housing regulations of SIU are a particular case in point which merits some discussion. SIU feels its undergraduates are immature and need supervision. Most international students are somewhat more sophisticated than the average student, therefore more mature.

I'm sure there isn't any parents in the world who would let his children travel and study in another country unless he felt the child would conduct himself in a proper manner.

From this viewpoint, I really don't feel that this change in price is asking too much. This is supposed to be the golden land of opportunity and freedom. The University, I realize, has to have rules and regulations to operate in an orderly manner.

No one has a right to disrupt these necessary guidelines. Southern Illinois University rules, as a whole, are fair and completely necessary, and I am more than willing to conduct myself in accordance with these rules.

I feel that American universities should offer international students more scholarships. Such extra assistance would tend to enhance America's image in the mind of the international student.

Any special considerations given to the international students should be considered as investments in future foreign relations.

Despite Equal Opportunity Whites Still Get Top Jobs

By Stephen M. Aug
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A series of government reports shows that whatever may have been done to employment discrimination on the lower levels, the key to the executive suite is still tagged mainly for the white, Anglo-Saxon Christian.

The reports, by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, are to be made public at hearings in New York City next week. The hearings were called to explore employment discrimination on the white collar level in some of the nation's largest businesses.

This is the first time in the commission's 2 1/2 year history that it has moved primarily into big business white collar employment, although it tackled drug industry discrimination last fall.

The commission has prepared at least four reports to back up its findings, and is prepared to listen to industry representatives explain what they have done to try to eliminate racial, religious and sexual discrimination in employment.

The commission studies are based on data which employers were required by law to submit concerning their employment patterns in 1966 and 1967. The reports are focused on New York City.

One report details the employment patterns of 100 major New York City corporations—and these firms, while headquartered in New York City, account for nearly 16 per cent of the nation's total output of goods and services and employ about 10 per cent of the 26 million persons covered under the commission's employment reporting system.

Separate reports cover the financial industry—banks, insurance companies, brokerage firms—and the communications industry: advertising, book publishing, newspapers, magazines, radio and television.

There also is a report dealing with charges of discrimination against Jews in top level management.

Although the commission would not release the reports prior to the hearings, sources indicated these are some of the findings:

—Although the New York City population is about 18 per cent Negro, and its total work force is 8.8 per cent Negro, among the firms reporting to the commission Negroes represented only 6.7 per cent of white collar employment in banking and 5.9 per cent in insurance. Puerto Ricans, at 10 per cent of the population, held 5.1 per cent of the white collar banking jobs and only 2.8 per cent of insurance jobs. Most of these posts are at the clerical level.

—The commission found that the 100 major companies headquartered in New York City "fail to match their economic leadership role with leadership in equal employment opportunities." Negroes held only 2.6 per cent of their white collar jobs, and Puerto Ricans 2 per cent. The commission said that while these corporations have large resources which would make it possible to recruit on a broad scale, they "are, in fact, the laggards."

—The communications industry also employs few Negroes and Puerto Ricans. But the commission found that opportunities for women above the clerical level generally are better in this area, although the financial industry comes close to treating women as well. It found the communications media also provide generally better opportunities at all levels than do the 100 largest corporations.

—The commission found that the city's Jewish population—New York City is about one-quarter Jewish—is under-utilized at the management level in all industries, and its tiny representation among corporate executives contrasts sharply with the high educational level of the Jewish community.

RED, WHITE AND BLUE POWER

Diary: Wild World of Tom Gable

By Tom Gable
Copley News Service

Making the adjustment from civilian to military life is one of the strangest sociological experiences I have ever come across.

It is more than learning to live with a shaved head, weird clothes and strange hours. It is more than learning to march, salute and make a bunk.

All in all, it is developing an entirely new set of habits and thought patterns. As one drill instructor said to me: "You ain't back on the block anymore. You're a trainee. Shut your mouth and open your ears and eyes."

Those, more or less, were the first words I heard from my drill instructor when I moved into the barracks for basic training at Ft. Bliss, Tex.

From there, I learned that my brain was as big as a bird seed, that I couldn't walk and chew gum at the same time and that if my D.I. had felt like me he would have sued his parents for damages. To distinguish my right from my left, he gave me a rock to carry in my left hand wherever I went.

Other than marching, one of my first problems of adjustment was learning not to put trash in the trash can. It was a brand new trash can in the middle of our barracks and it had to be shined like silver for daily inspections.

Another problem was saluting. Some of the trainees had mental blocks against it. They would become petrified whenever an officer came within 100 yards of them. One afternoon a friend of mine was walking through the company area and an officer came by.

"Good morning, sergeant," my friend said. He automatically assumed the pushup position. Not only did he get the rank wrong, he forgot what time of day it was.

Two other trainees actually saluted the company commander left-handed. They spent the next hour standing nose-to-nose alternately chanting "I'm stupid." "Me too."

The same two had been caught talking in class one day so they spent an entire afternoon walking around holding hands. They held hands in the mess hall, in classes and even marching in formation.

But the Army did not limit its scope to purely military matters. It also became deeply involved in nature.

West Texas is one of the most barren places in the world but our company happened to have a small patch of grass in front of each barracks. Signs were posted all over saying "Keep Off" and a detail watered it three times a day.

One day an officer caught a trainee taking a shortcut across the grass. He was put in the pushup position, nose-to-nose with the "Keep Off" sign and made to do 50 pushups, chanting after each one "I will obey you Mister Sign. I will obey you Mister Sign."

For the next two weeks he had to salute the sign each time he walked by it and was responsible for its maintenance, which meant waxing and dusting it each morning at 5.

I don't know how educators would look at these methods of initiating adjustment, but apparently they work.

Nobody ever walked on the grass again. I still won't use a trash can or a drinking fountain.

The only problem is that I still carry a rock in my left hand. It is a little hard to explain at church, dinners and formal affairs.

But, people just look at my funny hair and weird clothes and shrug it off. At least I am not still holding hands with another guy with funny hair.

National Telephone Services Set Emergency Dialing Plan

In the not too distant future Carbondale residents will be able to dial 911 for any emergency as part of the implementation of a universal emergency telephone number. Once it is established, a person anywhere in the country will be able to dial 911 to summon police, firemen, medical help and other types of aid.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Co., parent of the Bell System, has instituted the new emergency number at the request of the federal government, and will bear the entire $50 million cost.

Although no deadline has been set for completing the universal system, FCC chairman Rosel H. Hyde reports that some cities will have the 911 call system in effect by the end of the year.

Harold Howe, a local sales representative for the General Telephone Co., said that the new system seems logical from the standpoint of his company, and that General will try to get its equipment to conform.

Howe added that General Telephone is interested in the emergency number system and is proceeding "full steam ahead." He gave no definite date, however, when General Telephone expects the new system to be in effect.

When it is established the 911 call system will operate from public pay phones, but no coins will be needed to make the emergency calls.

Behavioralist Will Discuss Conditioning

John Randolph, a researcher in behavior modification, will speak at SIU tonight under the sponsorship of the Behavior Modification Program of SIU's Rehabilitation Institute.

His topic, "A Short Ratio Phenomenon," will deal with his experiments with animals in manipulating their routines to elicit a conditioned response which is the opposite of that which would be expected under non-clinical conditions.

Randolph, who received his doctoral degree at the University of Alabama, is currently associated with Abbott Laboratories, drug manufacturers. He formerly was with the Institute for Behavioral Research in Silver Spring, Md.

The talk, at 8 p.m. in Room 112 of the Communications Bldg., is open to Rehabilitation Institute staff members, students and invited guests.

State of the Union

Higher Taxes, Massive Spending Predicted

Declaring that aggression never will prevail and that American patience and perseverance will match U.S. power, the President said that: "But our goal is peace—and peace at the earliest possible moment."

As the core of U.S. policy at this point, Johnson listed the San Antonio foundation. This was a reference to a speech he made Sept. 29 in San Antonio, Tex., in which he said bombings would stop if talks would "take place promptly and with reasonable hopes they would be productive."

To that he then added that this would carry an assumption that the enemy would not take advantage of the halt.

As he put it in his State of the Union message, Johnson omitted the word "assume" and said that "the other side must not take advantage of our restraint as they have in the past."

Right now, Johnson said, the administration still is exploring the meaning of a recent statement by Hanoi's foreign minister that once the bombing stops it will be possible for talks to begin.

"If a basis for peace talks can be established of the San Antonio foundations—and it is my hope and my prayer that they can—we would consult with our allies and with the other side," Johnson said, "to see if a complete cessation of hostilities—a really true cease fire—could be made the first order of business. I will report at the earliest possible moment the results of our explorations."

Looking back over the past year, Johnson saw what he termed several welcome developments in the international area but also noted a number of crises.

He said this country will do all in its power to help Middle Eastern nations to "find the terms of living together in stable peace and dignity."

And a cease-fire was achieved, he said, without a major power confrontation.

While the United States and the Soviet Union have taken a number of important steps toward international cooperation, Johnson said serious differences remain between the two powers.

The President held out a not unfriendly hand to Communist China, where he said turmoil continues after a year of violent disruption and where extremism of the government has isolated the people from the world.

The United States, he said, remains willing to permit travel of journalists between the two countries, to permit cultural and educational exchanges and to discuss the exchange of basic foods.

Nevertheless, Johnson insisted, the United States must and does have a military force capable of deterring any threat by any means of aggression. "We shall maintain it," he said.

For the 1969 fiscal year Johnson said he is calling for a defense budget of $77.2 billion, up $2.9 billion over the current year.

He said violence has erupted in some cities, crime on the streets increases, farm income is far behind that of city people, hospital and medical costs are high and rising, and he declared that all of this cannot be changed in a day.

But he said he knows that a change can be brought about and believes it will be.

The first essential, he said, is more jobs—particularly for 500,000 persons now unemployed in the major cities.

To get these people into jobs in private industry within the next three years, Johnson said he is proposing a $2.1 billion manpower training program—25 per cent more than this year.

Most of the increase will go into starting a partnership between government and private industry to train and hire the hard core unemployed.

Declaring the rebuilding of cities is essential, Johnson urged Congress to provide $1 billion for this, in contrast with the $662 million it authorized and the $312 million it actually appropriated last year.

Listing more housing now as another essential, Johnson said that:

"Surely a nation that can go to the moon can place a decent home within the reach of its families."

Johnson set a goal of 300,000 starts on housing units for low and middle income families next year—triple this year's total—and urged Congressional consideration of a 10-year, six-million unit building campaign.

Reinforcing his bid for Congress to pass the Safe Streets Act and other crime legislation he recommended last year, Johnson said he is asking for an additional 100 FBI agents, 100 more assistant U.S. attorneys to help prosecute criminal cases, and more federal drug and narcotics control officials.

He said he will propose later a drug control act carrying stricter penalties for those trafficking in LSD and other dangerous drugs.

On the question of riots, safe streets and crime, Johnson said violence will not bring progress.

"Those who preach disorder and violence," he said, "must know that local authorities are able to resist them swiftly, sternly and decisively."

And Congress also is going to get recommendations from time to time for such things as raising farmers' income and helping them bargain more effectively for fair prices, an air safety program, measures to stem rising costs of medical care, and reversing Congress' refusal to provide the full $2.2 billion he asked for the antipoverty program.

With reference to his surtax proposal, Johnson admonished Congress to act responsibly and early to provide it. While asserting it would amount to about a penny of each dollar's income for the average individual, Johnson said it must be adopted as a temporary measure expiring in less than two years. He said Congress could repeal it sooner if the need passed.

Some opponents of the surtax have voiced fears that increase would become permanent.

Again, the President spoke of a need for legislation to help slash the nation's balance of payments deficit. One step he is recommending is to reduce the deficit in overseas travel from $2 billion to $1.5 billion.

But he offered assurances that Americans still will be traveling abroad more than ever, and that there will be no penalty on travel of teachers, business people, students and Americans having relatives abroad.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland

Renewed Viet Cong Action Predicted by Westmoreland

SAIGON (AP)— Gen. William C. Westmoreland said Wednesday a renewal of enemy activity can be expected soon, though the Communists "seem to have temporarily run out of steam."

The commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam expressed belief in an interview the next major campaign will develop in the 1st Corps area just below the demilitarized zone, where increased signs of enemy movement have been detected lately.

U.S. bombers and Marine battalions form the major shield there against a mass invasion from the north by the 35,000 or so Red regulars Hanoi is estimated to have standing by.

The ground war was in one of its periodic lulls after heavy fighting over two weeks which, while levying a relatively high toll on allied units and materiel, was reported to have cost the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese more than 5,000 dead.

"The enemy is callous to casualties," Westmoreland said. "He makes reports out of Hanoi that he is winning great victories."

The general said he anticipates "a resurgence of enemy initiatives just before or after Tet," the Vietnamese lunar new year due with the new moon Jan. 30.

B52s struck Wednesday morning at North Vietnamese bunkers within the DMZ three miles northwest of Gio Linh, a U.S. Marine outpost.

U.S. headquarters said fighter-bombers and artillery attacked a detachment of 30 enemy troops spotted crossing an open area several miles farther west Tuesday night and aerial observers reported 16 were killed.

In scattered clashes elsewhere American troops reported they killed 49 of the enemy at a cost of five dead and 24 wounded.

U.S. troops raided an enemy supply complex near the Cambodian border, taking over from Communists who fled so hurriedly they left wet washing on the line and abandoned some holiday greeting cards from President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam.

The Americans seized nearly two tons of food, 122 pounds of tobacco and assorted supplies, including uniforms.

Various explosions marked enemy operations:

A bomb blasted a hole about four feet square in an outside wall of an American billet in Da Nang. None of the 15 Americans inside was hurt. Six Vietnamese in nearby homes were wounded.

Explosion of Viet Cong road mines killed 13 Vietnamese civilians and injured 17 aboard two buses on a road about 90 miles southwest of Saigon in the Mekong Delta.

A water mine exploded in a convoy of boats on the My Thanh River 107 miles southwest of Saigon, killing a civilian and a sailor and wounding four civilians. A rice cargo boat was sunk.

Guatemalan Police Search for Assassins

GUATEMALA (AP)—Police made large numbers of arrests Wednesday in the hunt for the assassins of two U.S. military officers who were machine-gunned from a speeding car.

A clandestine communique signed by Rebel Armed Forces —FAR—a Castroite group, claimed it killed the two Americans Tuesday because they were associated with Guatemalan army groups who "dedicated themselves to sow terror and death."

U.S. Army Col. John D. Webber Jr., 47, Houston, Tex., head of the U.S. military advisory group in Guatemala since 1966, and Lt. Cmdr. Ernest A. Munro, 40, Rockland, Maine, head of the U.S. naval section, were gunned down near Guatemalan air force headquarters.

Marine Sgt. Harry L. Green, 41, Omaha, Neb., the group's communications adviser, was wounded and was reported in fair condition. Army Sgt. Maj. John R. Forster, 42, a native of Seattle, Wash., was struck in the arm by shattered glass but was released from the hospital after treatment.

The police roundup was carried out under a decree of modified martial law declared shortly after the Americans were killed. They were the first U.S. victims of the wave of rightist and leftist terror that has claimed more than 1,000 lives in the last year and a half.

The government tightened security around the U.S. Embassy and other American installations. President Julio Mendez Montenegro sent regrets over the slayings to Washington.

The Rebel Armed Forces typewritten communique asserted the U.S. military mission has "ordered the Guatemalan army to create groups of assassins" against guerrillas.

These groups, the communique charged, had engaged in "genocidal work" that had resulted in the death of nearly 4,000 Guatemalans. Therefore, it added, FAR had "decided to mete out justice."

Tuesday was a bloody day in this Central American nation and in all five persons were killed.

Sen. Percy Asks Backers To Return Contributions

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Charles H. Percy, R.-Ill., asked three businessmen Wednesday to return all the contributions they received as organizers of a controversial $100,000 fund to defray his office expenses.

Richard Duchossois, president of Thrall-Car Manufacturing Co., a maker of railway express cars, said that he, Robert W. Galvin, a Motorola Corp., executive, and Arthur C. Nielsen Jr., of the market rating service, have agreed to the request.

In a letter to the three men, Percy said that he discussed the activity on radio and television and pointed out that the fund would not be under his control. He said, "Not one cent of the funds raised has been used for my office expenses, nor were they to be until a budget and a program for such expenditures... were approved."

"Despite all these efforts," the senator said, "to guarantee the full integrity of the fund and its use, there has been widespread concern about it."

"Therefore, until such time as the Congress has clearly defined a set of rules for activities of this type, I am respectfully requesting that you return all contributions received."

Duchossois said that the names of the contributors will be released. Percy requested this in his letter, saying, "release their names so the public is made fully aware of the quality and good character of the contributors."

Anti-U.S. Japanese Battle with Police

SASEBO, Japan (AP)—Beaten back trying to invade the U.S. Navy base here, 800 leftist Zengakuren students left Sasebo by train Wednesday. They promised to return for new demonstrations against the visit of the American nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise.

In Tokyo, about 8,000 Zengakuren students demonstrated in a park near the U.S. Embassy and the residence of the prime minister. About 20 persons were injured when a clash broke out between students and police near the prime minister's home. Others staged a sit-in outside the U.S. Embassy but were removed by the police.

Helmeted students, who arrived from Hakata after a three-hour train ride, used staves and rocks in a pitched battle with 1,000 police who fought back with fire hoses and tear gas. The incidents, bloodiest in Sasebo's history, took place at Hirase Bridge just outside the base entrance.

By police count, 135 students, police and onlookers were injured. Twenty of them were hospitalized with serious injuries from beatings about the head and body.

Another 500 were treated at a nearby hospital for heavy doses of tear gas.

Twenty-seven students were arrested.

Drenched and beaten after the three-hour battle, the students retreated to Sasebo station and boarded a train back to Hakata, their assembling point.

Salukis, Michigan Match Experience

One of SIU's closest rivals in the march to the NCAA Gymnastics Championship last season was Michigan State.

Both teams have returned the nucleus of those squads and will tangle Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Arena.

The Spartans have always been a Saluki nemesis. They were the last gymnasts to beat SIU in a regularly scheduled dual meet—that was in 1961—and last season the Salukis triumphed by a mere .65.

Bill Meade, SIU's coach, remembers that meet well. SIU was ahead by two-tenths of a point and only the still rings event remained. Competing were SIU's Fred Denard and Michigan State's national champ Ed Gunny. Dennis won, assuring Southern of the victory.

"And from the looks of their scores and personnel this season," Meade observed, "we should pick up at exactly that spot. It should be as close or closer."

The Salukis and Spartans have matched records in dual competition. SIU has collected wins over Illinois and Iowa State, the latter a 187.10 to 177.45 runaway.

Michigan State, with 12 returning lettermen, has breezed past Ohio State 186.10 to 165.75, and Indiana, 181.65 to 160.25.

One of the Spartan veterans is Dave Thor, who tied for the Big Ten championship and is a member of the US PanAm team. He competes all-around.

Spartan Dave Croft tied for the Big Ten all-around championship last season after winning the event outright two years ago.

Also present will be a prospective lion tamer. MSU's Ed Gunny wrote in an athletic questionnaire at State that his career ambition was to become "an animal trainer of tigers and lions."

Gunny also competes in the long horse and on the horizontal bar. He won the NCAA rings title in 1966 when he was a sophomore.

SNOWBALL?—Despite the unseasonable weather Saluki baseball team is currently going through daily workouts in preparation for the diamond season beginning this spring.

Baseball Team Practices Despite Winter's Snows

By Dave Palermo

Despite the ski caps, sweat-suits, and gloves those are not hockey players on the arena blacktop. They're members of Coach Joe Lutz's baseball team.

While only a few fans may be thinking in terms of the pennant race, the 40-man group is working out daily in preparation for another hopefully successful diamond season.

"We're very optimistic," says Coach Lutz. "We're stronger pitching wise and with a little hitting we could have a very good season."

"We've got more speed than last year and a good defense," adds Coach Lutz. "All we need is some hitting," he said. "You can't steal first base."

The Salukis were hit hard by the major league draft last year with the shortstop-second base combination of Rich Hacker and John Mason latching on with the New York Mets and Boston Red Sox respectively.

"The loss of Hacker and Mason is undoubtedly the biggest factor we must overcome," says Lutz. "If we can fill these two positions adequately it would really help."

There is a strong indication that righthander Don Kirkland, who anchored last year's pitching staff with a 9-4 record and a 1.96 earned run average, would be moved to the shortstop spot.

"We're playing with that move pretty strongly," says the Saluki mentor. "Kirkland can play the position pretty well."

The moving of Kirkland from future mound duty shouldn't hamper the Saluki pitching a great deal with the return of junior southpaw Skip Pitlock. Pitlock had a fine '67 season finishing with a won-lost record of 7-1 and an earned run average of 2.96.

"We think we have one of the top collegiate pitchers in the country in Pitlock," said Lutz. "He matured a great deal and had a fine summer."

Hurling for Lincoln, Pitlock did indeed have a good summer.

Finishing the season with a 10-2 record, the slim lefthander was named to the Central Illinois Collegiate All-star team. He led the league with 119 strikeouts and had an earned run average of 1.76.

Other starting hopefuls for the Salukis are senior first baseman Dwight Clark, who closed the '67 season with a .290 batting average, and junior Barry O'Sullivan, who batted .284 and knocked in 26 runs.

MSU THREAT—Dave Thor, one of Michigan State University's best gymnasts, shows his form on the side horse. He and the rest of his teammates will challenge SIU Friday.

Wichita State's Athletic Director Quits Post

(AP)—Dr. Noah Allen resigned earlier this week as athletic director of Wichita State University whose football program has been under investigation by the NCAA.

Acceptance of the resignation, effective immediately, on behalf of President Emory Lindquist of Wichita State, was announced at a news conference by a University spokesman.

At the news conference, Allen listed several reasons but said it was "basically a difference in administrative philosophy."

"I primarily am a progressive," he said. "I like to get things done. But it has been necessary here to be a conservative. I am not a conservative person."

"I disagreed with the procedure in the NCAA allegations which we had to answer."

The university has never officially given out what the allegations are.

Allen said, "certain members of the administration felt the athletic director could keep the allegations from becoming fact."

"I do accept part of the responsibility for the NCAA allegations," he said, adding that "some of the allegations are serious."

New Football Rules Adopted by NCAA

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The sucker shift, clipping along the line of scrimmage and faked fair catches were outlawed in college football Wednesday by the rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The committee also yielded to a strong demand from collegiate coaches and abolished a one-year-old rule allowing only ends and backs to go downfield under punts with the snap of the ball.

Committee chairman Ivan B. Williamson, athletic director of the University of Wisconsin, said the new regulations "will make football a safer game."

The sucker shift was eliminated by prohibiting interior linemen from moving once they assumed a position in the line. Under the old rule, the linemen frequently shifted for the purpose of drawing the opposition players off-sides.

The committee said it led to frequent injuries, and caused one fatality last season in California, because players pulled off-sides sometimes a hit before they can return to their positions and get set for the play.

In the past, clipping has been legal in a zone along the line of scrimmage. Many flankers took advantage of this rule by starting wide, then cutting back into the neutral zone to clip a linebacker.

Under the new rule no player five yards or more outside this zone may enter it at the snap of the ball.

The new rule on fair catches prohibits the man who signals from throwing a block while the ball is in play.

Williamson said the fake fair catch signal was being used more and more often so that the signals could block enemy players coming down field. He said this was considered unfair because the signaler cannot be touched by players on the other side and injuries were resulting.

Under the new rule on punt coverage, all players on the kicking team are free to go downfield when the ball is snapped.

College football coaches had protested bitterly against the rule used last season for fear that it would result in a rash of injuries among the ends and backs. This didn't happen. Williamson said the committee returned to the 1966 rules because so many of the coaches want it.

Hartman Expects Tough Wichita Press

By George Knemeyer
 Coach Jack Hartman was asked at a press conference Wednesday if he thought Wichita State would try to press the Salukis in Saturday's 12:45 p.m. encounter at the Arena.
 "Yes," Hartman replied, "emphatically, "and vigorously."
 It has been no secret to anyone who has watched his team that the press has bothered Hartman's forces this season.
 "We've got to do a better job against the full court press, no question about that," Hartman said.
 "The press is based a great deal on emotional and psychological factors," Hartman continued. "In the past we've been able to take advantage of it."

The past Hartman was referring to specifically was the second meeting of the Shockers and Salukis in December of 1965.
 "Two years ago," Hartman said, "we tore them apart when they used their press."
 The score of that game was 89-68, with SIU outscoring the Shockers 24-1 at one point in the contest.
 "This season it is hard for us not to be able to run away from a press," Hartman said. "I guess people expect us to blow a few teams off the court, but with the schedule we play, we're not going to do it."
 In fairness to the Salukis, not all of the presses of other teams have bothered SIU. The Salukis had a minimum of trouble with the Kentucky Wesleyan press when SIU defeated the Panthers last week.

 The Shockers are averaging 87.2 points per game, but their defense has given up 87.7 points. Hartman calls the Shockers an "extremely quick team."
 Hartman had a chance to scout Wichita during last Saturday's game with Michigan State, another future SIU opponent.
 "During the first 10 to 12 minutes of the ball game," Hartman said, "Wichita looked as good as any team I'd ever seen, especially with its press."
 Wichita built up a substantial lead in the first half and held on to defeat Michigan State, 90-80. The Shockers played a zone defense throughout half the game.
 The Salukis will go into the Wichita game with an 8-4 record, and the same lineup that has won their last four games in a row. Hartman is pleased that he may finally have found a set starting lineup.

FINE POINT-SIU Basketball Coach Jack Hartman was intent on making a point in this shot taken during a recent cage contest. His team plays Wichita State in a regionally-televised game at 12:45 Saturday afternoon. It will be blacked out in the Carbondale area due to NCAA restrictions.

Garrett Takes Aim At Cage Records

Dick Garrett has apparently set his sights on a few records at SIU before he graduates.
 In the last five games he has played, the 6'-3" forward has poured in 116 points for an average of 23.2 per outing. While his overall average for the season is 18.4, it must be remembered that during the first two games he scored only 10 points.

Garrett has raised his field goal percentage to 52 per cent. If he keeps the pace up, he could possibly take over the SIU mark when he graduates. George McNeil holds the record of 48 per cent.

The Centralia junior has also hit 86 per cent of his free throws, which should put him back in the top 20 across the nation. He had been as high as 13th on the list.

Garrett holds almost all of the individual game highs for the season, scoring the most points (28), sinking the most field goals (12), and making the most free throws (eight, twice).

Chuck Benson has come on in the last two games to take the number two scoring spot from Willie Griffin. Benson is averaging 11.8 per game and is the Salukis leading rebounder with an average of 9.5.

Against St. Cloud Monday, Benson hit seven for seven from the free throw line, pushing his free throw percentage to an even 50 per cent.

Griffin is averaging 11.1 and is the Salukis' second leading rebounder with an average of 5.7.

Bruce Butchko has tumbled from the 13.3 average he held going into the Sun Carnival to 7.3. His shooting percentage has also fallen to 41.9 per cent.

Bobby Jackson, who has come on strong in the last four games to earn a starting spot, is shooting 51.2 from the field and 60.9 from the charity stripe to account for his average of 6.4 per game.

As a team the Salukis are averaging 63.5 points per game while giving up 62.5. On January 9, SIU was ranked 16th in the country in total defense, with a mark of 63.4.

"Naturally a set lineup is best," Hartman said. "You like to have your starting five set. This allows for better communication among the players. If you've got a variety of men in the lineup, you lose some of the communication," Hartman pointed out.

While the Salukis have played bad ball sporadically throughout the season, Hartman said that "it is definitely not because of a lack of desire."

"I would think that it would be obvious that we (SIU) have been trying too hard," Hartman said. "It could be we're concerned with execution of plays. This overconcern may mean that we're not able to see the situation that is developing on the court."

Naughton Resigns For Big Ten Job

Defensive Coach Pat Naughton is leaving the SIU football team and has accepted a similar position with Northwestern University, a member of the Big Ten conference.

Coach Naughton will replace Larry Van Dusen, who resigned recently to accept a football assistantship with Kent State.

A veteran of 13 years in collegiate coaching, Naughton came to SIU in 1966 when Ellis Rainsberger took over as head coach for the Salukis. Rainsberger had been a pupil of Naughton's at Kansas State, where Naughton coached after two years at the University of Detroit.

The announcement by Northwestern officials came late Wednesday after rumors had been circulated that the 44-year-old coach was leaving.

Several unidentified players had said that Naughton "has quit and is going to a Big Ten school."

Head Coach Dick Towers could not be reached for comment. He was expected to arrive in Carbondale Wednesday night after a trip to Iowa for recruiting purposes.

Naughton, a native of Chicago, started his coaching career at the high school level, coaching DePaul Academy and Fenwick High School in Chicago.
