Water crisis threatens

City gets a taste of Cedar Lake

By Dave Iбата
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Carbondale residents drank their first glasses of water from the new Cedar Lake Friday afternoon, thanks to three pumps pressed into emergency service for the parched city.

But earlier Friday city officials remained uncertain whether the pumps were activated in time to stave off a water shortage and consequent rationing.

"We believe that the crisis will pass within the next 18 hours," City Manager

Fry said 10 a.m. Friday. "If it doesn't, we'll have to go to rationing."

To save water during the crisis, University has stopped sprinkling and is looking into curtailing or even shutting down its water-cooled air-conditioners, according to Bill Boyd, director of public works. Citizens can help by not washing their cars or watering their lawns, Boyd said.

The decision to activate the equipment connecting Cedar Lake with the Carbondale reservoir was made Thursday because of critically low water levels at the reservoir and in the clearwell holding tank at the city water works, Bill Boyd, director of public works, said Friday.

Since July 6, the city has sold more water than it received, Boyd said. The water level at the reservoir lapped at the bottom of the intake portals, and the water level in the clearwell fell from 12 feet on July 1 to 2.5 feet on July 18 Boyd said.

Four feet in the clearwell reserve is the minimum safe level.

Since 9 p.m. Thursday the pumps at Cedar Lake have sent on to the reservoir 15,000 to 17,000 gallons of water a minute, or 21.6 million gallons daily, according to Boyd. Friday afternoon the water level in the reservoir had risen above the intake openings, and the city drew off its first water from Cedar Lake.

This water augments that presently drawn from Crab Orchard Lake. Boyd expressed the hope that by Monday the water level in the clearwell will rise above eight feet. At this point the crisis will have passed, he said.

The water system, once we have this raw water on the line, should serve us for the next 20 years," Boyd said.

Originally the city refused to accept two of the three Cedar Lake pumps because they did not perform up to design standards, Fry said. All three pumps are operating as an emergency measure.

"This will be a test, and after 30 days on the line the pumps may 'run in' and come up to design specifications," Fry said. "If they pass the retest, everybody will be happy."

Part of the crisis is due to the low level of water in the Carbondale reservoir. In the spring city engineers drained the reservoir so that a new pipeline to a city water treatment plant could be installed.

After the completion of the project a dry spell hit the area. The water level in the reservoir remained low, according to Boyd.

Area needs two inches of rain to drown crop-parching drought

By John Russell
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Bob Frank, agricultural extension advisor for Jackson County, said Friday the only word to describe the farm outlook in the county is 'severe.'

"We need rain very seriously right now, at least two inches to pull us out of this drought."

The area between Murphysboro and Vergennes and Carbondale and De Quoin has been hardest hit by the dry, hot weather of recent weeks, Frank said. And the corn crop in this area has been affected the most by the weather.

Since the corn crop was planted late this year because of the rainy spring, the roots have been unable to get down very far into the soil, Frank said. The roots are not able to reach moisture far beneath the surface and carry the moisture up to the rest of the plant, he said.

There is not enough surface water to carry to the plant to keep the leaves moist and prevent them from curling, he said. The pollinating corn has reached a critical period now, Frank said, where the heat stress will have a great effect on the yield.

Soybean crops, also planted late because of spring rains, are in pretty bad shape, too, Frank said.

He said many of the soybeans which have already sprouted are rotting, and there are very thin crops in many of the fields. There are hardly any soybeans blooming now, he said, but there is still a chance for a fairly successful crop if it rains within the next few days.

Unfortunately for area farmers, there is no prediction of rain for the next few days. Weather station officials at the Southern Illinois Airport said Friday the forecast for the weekend is the same as it has been all week—hot and humid with less than 10 per cent chance of precipitation.

Joe Sawicki, assistant manager of Eckert's Orchards, Carbondale, said the heat has slowed down the "pick your own vegetables" market quite a bit.

Twenty per cent of one corn field at the orchard was so dried out that Eckert's never had a chance to try to sell the corn, he said, and a lot of the corn that can be sold hasn't filled out because of lack of rain.

A large portion of the green bean crop has already been dried up by the sun, Sawicki said. There is usually a two to three weeks picking period for green beans, he said, but the picking period this year was only one week.

The corn picking period—usually one week—has been shortened to four days because of the heat and lack of rain, he said.

Sawicki said business has also slowed down because people don't want to go out in the sun and pick the crops. He said Eckert's sells either "pick your own" or corn that has already been picked—at 25 cents more per dozen.

"People are willing to pay the extra quarter," Sawicki said, "rather than go out in the sun and pick it themselves."

The 90-plus temperatures of the past few weeks are also having a drastic effect on energy consumption in the area, according to Central Illinois Public Service (CIPS) officials.

In a statement released Friday, Samuel P. Poe, manager of the CIPS public relations department, said electrical requirements of area CIPS

SIU hopefuls 'on reserve' for students

Students interested in meeting prospective SIU presidential candidates should leave their names with the Student Government office, Student Body President Dennis Sullivan announced Friday.

Workers in the office on the third floor of the Student Center will notify registered students of the time and place of the visits of each possible candidate.

Sue Coonen, executive assistant to Sullivan, said it is uncertain whether each responding student will get to meet all visiting candidates.

Willis Malone, chairman of the committee searching for a president for SIU, told the Board of Trustees in July that his committee planned to bring from seven to ten outside potential candidates to SIU for "as wide exposure to campus constituencies as possible."

Malone said he is hopeful of recommending a new SIU president by September.

2 escapees elude local police

By David Kornblith
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Two Franklin County jail escapees managed to elude SIU police Thursday night after a high speed chase ended when their stolen car overturned and the two men escaped on foot, police said Friday.

Police said Friday the chase began on East Grand Avenue about 7:30 p.m. Security officers spotted a car that had been reported stolen.

When police took up the pursuit, the escapees, Richard Maceri, 25, and Ricky Sledge, 20, picked up speed and headed east on Old Rt. 13, police said.

The escapees' car turned off Rt. 13 onto a gravel road just east of Reed Station Road. With police close behind, the two tried to make a sharp turn about 300 yards northeast of the abandoned Crab Orchard Motel.

The car flipped over, but by the time police were able to get to it, the two had fled on foot.

Police said they fired two shots into the wooded area where the two had vanished, but to no avail.

The two escaped from Franklin County jail in Benton Sunday. They were able to get away when they managed to lock a deputy in a cell and escape through a window.

The two had stolen the car from an elderly Christopher couple Thursday afternoon, police said. The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Avery, were away for the day and returned to find the escapees holed up in their home.

The Averages were bound and gagged and their car was taken. They both suffered minor injuries.

After the chase, local police departments, and state police began an intensive search of the area. When daylight came the motor search turned to a hunt on foot.

The foot and auto searches were aided by a helicopter and a small plane, state police reported.

Law students step up consumer fraud probe

Robert Schulhof, special assistant attorney general for consumer fraud in Southern Illinois, said the Carbondale branch of the Consumer Fraud and Protection Agency will handle about 1,500 cases of consumer fraud this summer.

Schulhof said more cases can be handled because Atty. Gen. William Scott assigned two law students to work in the Carbondale office this summer.

The two are William Novich, University of Illinois law student from Marion, and Charles Theivagt, SIU law student from Carbondale, he said.

Schulhof said Robert Miley of Harrisburg works in the office several days a week. Novick, Theivagt and Miley act as investigators, Schulhof said.

Schulhof said the office handles cases where a merchant fraudulently sells a product for personal or family use.

Most of the disputes, are settled by getting merchant and consumer to talk to each other, and Schulhof

By noon Friday, the aircraft search ended and the motor search was reduced to a skeleton crew, police said. Police were skeptical as to whether the two were still in the area.

Maceri, described as white, 5 feet 11 inches, and weighing about 170 pounds, and Sledge, white, 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing 155 pounds, were both clad in blue jeans, police said.

Police added that they are armed with a shotgun and are considered extremely dangerous.

Welcome home party planned for Ken Gray

The "Welcome Home Ken" rally in honor of retiring Congressman Kenneth J. Gray will begin at noon Sunday at West Frankfort City Park.

Originally scheduled for 2 to 4 p.m. the rally time was changed to accommodate food service for the 3,500 people expected, Wayne DeLap, rally chairman and resident of West Frankfort, said.

Gray, who has served as representative from the 24th Congressional District for 10 terms, attributed his retirement decision to "poor health." The congressman was hospitalized for six weeks last summer for what he said was high blood pressure.

DeLap, a long time friend of Gray, said he and West Frankfort area citizens organized the rally so the 24th District could show its appreciation for Gray's 20 years of service to the area.

In Congress, Gray is a member of the committee on House Administration and a high-ranking member of the Committee on Public Works.

Beginning at 3 p.m., state dignitaries who have been invited to attend the rally will be seated on the welcoming platform. House Minority Leader Clyde Chouteau of Anna, Illinois, will act as master of ceremonies and will introduce each dignitary and invite him to make a short welcome home speech.

Although the rally committee had "little idea" Friday which dignitaries will attend the welcome home party, DeLap said Paul Simon, Democratic candidate for Congress, is expected to attend. Simon hopes to win Gray's former seat this November.

Entertainment and drawings for prizes are planned. Funds for the prizes, which include a portable television, will be taken from the ticket money, DeLap said.

The event will include a Democratic rally, but DeLap said he hopes "everyone, regardless of party, will turn out to honor our congressman."

'Party' girl's back --minus frozen hair

By M.B. Garrison
Daily Egyptian Graduate Assistant

There seem to be two Lesley Gores wandering around this country. One is the Lesley Gore, circa 1963, and the other is the Lesley Gore, circa 1974.

The last time most of us heard of Lesley Gore, she was wearing the type hair spray that froze hair and made it look like sculpture. She was singing songs like "Judy's Turn to Cry" and "It's My Party."

That was her image back in 1963. Now she is still singing, but there is quite a different approach. No more frozen hairdos, and no more music about teen, suffering that sold itself into the hearts (and pocketbooks) of millions of teens.

Lesley has grown up. Since the time of the "It's My Party" and other similar songs, she has matured in many ways. Instead of being an East Coast 16-year-old debutante singer, she is now a refined (but single) composer and singer living in Los Angeles.

One difference, she notes, is in the relevance of the music. "Frankly, I don't believe music was as valid then as it is now. Songs are just better now," she contends.

Lesley is in Carterville for a two-night booking at the S.I. Playhouse, a new bowling alley-nightclub complex on Rt. 13 east of Carbondale.

Her current act reflects these personal changes. She has turned to many modern songs such as "Spinning Wheel" from Blood, Sweat, and Tears, "Sing In The Sunshine" from Gail Garnett, "Keeping the Customer Satisfied" by Paul Simon, and "Jet Plane" by John Denver.

She does her own arrangements, "sketching" the music on paper for her backup musicians. She spends much time rehearsing, trying to make her re-appearance in the live music world a success. She is also currently working toward a new album, her first in several years.

This record will be done quite differently. It will be performed independently with a producer, and if the two like the results, the album will then be taken to a recording company. But it will not go to anyone until Lesley and her producer like it.

Her jump back into music comes as part of what she describes as a cycle. Naturally, work such as the S.I. Playhouse is a means to support her first love, composing.

"I'm writing, but I am curious to see how I do in front of an audience again," she admits. "This is sort of a natural cycle, though."

Until the first of this year she had done limited public work. But so far, she feels her audiences have given a "real nice response."

Most people come to hear those million sellers like "Judy's" or "It's My Party," or even "You Don't Own Me." "She's a Fool," "California Nights," and "Sunshine, Lollipops and Rainbows." So Lesley does a medley to satisfy the dedicated.

But her real interests lie in the new material.

"I listen to everything these days," she says. "I know there are certain people that I can expect a certain caliber of work, though, and I look at them first."

Outside of music, the Lesley Gore of today is also active in politics. She has no outspoken political beliefs, but she does participate in such organizations as Common Cause; she does endorse candidates and work for them. She is an avid tennis buff, too.

Lesley finished high school in 1964, after she had become a big rock star. She slowly disappeared into Sara Lawrence College in New York for four years and emerged in 1968. Most of her "aging" came in recent years, however, she says.

She still sees about half of the close friends she made when she was big in pop music, remaining close to musicians such as Quincy Jones and many of the producers and executives of record companies.

With her new musical philosophy, she is quite a different personality. She still takes command, though, despite her soft voice, when she is on stage. There is this one definite characteristic standing out of the two Lesleys, and that is her voice.

50 locals of teachers okay pact

By Gary Houy
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The resolution of the Southern 45 teacher organization has been approved by 50 out of 70 participating locals of the Illinois Education Association (IEA), Robert Barrow, chairman of the Southern 45 said Friday.

Representatives of the locals met in Salem Thursday to report on results of discussions between local members concerning the Southern 45 concept.

There are more locals in the 45 Southern Illinois counties than are actively participating in the organization, Barrow said. Of the 50 to 55 locals reporting Thursday, "about two" rejected the resolution totally. Twenty other locals were not represented. Barrow said he did not know whether those 20 could not attend the meeting, or whether they would adopt the resolution.

The resolution provides that the teacher locals in Southern Illinois would help each other in negotiations. "If a local can't agree to a contract with the district board, and is forced out, other locals will go on strike," Barrow said. "No one would go back to their jobs until all negotiations are settled."

It also provides that locals that have already settled will help others with sympathy strikes, personnel and money. But at the same time, locals will continue to have a voice in what to do at any part of the game," Barrow said.

The last thing the Southern 45 wants is a strike, Barrow said. The main benefit of the organization is in doing away with costly and time consuming negotiations between each local and each board, he said.

"Teachers are standing up today for their rights," Barrow said. Of the Southern 45's future, he said, "We're here now, and we'll be here next year."

The Southern 45 will hold an informal meeting after the IEA leadership conference August 6-8 at Macomb.

43,000 find Fresh Start by jamming into Ozark Music Festival at Sedalia

SEDALIA, Mo. (AP)—A massive traffic jam that left hundreds of cars stranded on the highway overnight eased during the day Friday as tens of thousands of young people headed for the Ozark Music Festival.

Promoters estimated there were 43,000 on hand at the Missouri State Fairgrounds when a group called the Fresh Start started the music Friday afternoon.

That was already more people than had been expected for the three-day extravaganza. And Sheriff Emmett W. Fairfax of Pettis County, who spent much of the day trying to unstuck traffic, said the crowd "could easily exceed 100,000."

"At this point I expect it to," Fairfax said after a frustrating night on the road.

Few other problems—some shoplifting, a few drug cases—were reported, but the Missouri Highway Patrol said more traffic snarls were likely.

"We don't know what to expect when working people from Kansas City and other nearby areas start pouring in," said a patrol spokesman, adding that many more people would be heading to the festival Friday night and Saturday.

On Thursday night and Friday morning, traffic was stuck for three miles north on U.S. 65 and two miles west on U.S. 50, and many people slept in their cars on the road. Police said one reason for the jam was that fairground gates were closed and drivers would not turn around.

Those two major routes intersect near the fairgrounds, located just west of downtown Sedalia, a city of some 22,000.

Four officers from the Pettis County sheriff's office and 50 highway patrol officers were handling traffic. Inside the fairgrounds, festival officials have more than 300 private security guards and some 40 off-duty policemen from Kansas City and St. Louis to control the crowds.

Leigh Kimball, a festival spokesman, said the amusement section of the park would be open while the festival is in progress.

Council to face hiring issue

The Carbondale City Council will discuss a proposed ordinance that would give City Manager Carroll Fry power to hire and fire police and fire chiefs at its informal meeting Friday.

The council will meet at 7 p.m. in the University City cafeteria.

The council also will discuss spending $449,815 for the construction of Willow and Birch in northeast Carbondale. The street construction is to provide a route from the northeast section of the city to the Erma Hayes center.

OSHA meetings slated for area

Two sessions of an orientation program on the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) are scheduled for the Southern Illinois area next Tuesday and Thursday.

The first will be held in Room 138 at John A. Logan College from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday. The second session will be held at the Holiday Inn in Salem from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Thursday.

Registration information may be obtained from Andrew Marcec, director, Southern Illinois Manpower Consortium, 315 W. Grand, Carbondale, or by calling 453-2395.

customers reached near-record levels last week.

The increase in energy consumption can be attributed to a step-up in the use of air conditioning. Poe said, and an increase in water consumption has taken place because of more bathing and clothes washing brought on by the hot weather.

Poe suggested the following ways to beat the heat while conserving energy and water:

—Cool down oven-like attics by installing ample ceiling insulation and attic exhaust fans;

—Close draperies and window shades during the day to reduce heat gains by as much as 50 per cent. Awnings are also helpful, and storm doors and windows left in place during hot weather help keep indoors cool;

—Keep tree limbs, shrubs and grass trimmed away from the exhaust of cooling units to allow proper operation;

—Save moisture-making jobs (mopping, dishwashing, laundering, bathing) for the cooler early morning or nighttime hours;

—Turn off lights, television sets, radios, cooking units and other heat-producing appliances when they are not in use.

Bomber not needed

To the Daily Egyptian:

In the recent flurry of public concern about Nixon's summit in the USSR, prominent people expressed worry about the security of the United States being "sold out." Perhaps it would be more appropriate to worry that our human needs are being "sold out" to make dubious contributions to national security.

A case in point is that of the B-1 bomber. In early June, Sen. George McGovern's amendment to cut the appropriation for this arms development program was defeated. Had there been more public exposure and debate about the B-1 project, the amendment might have been passed. I hope with this letter to make the B-1 bomber program and its consequences more visible.

The B-1 bomber is designed to replace the aging and obsolete (so says the aerospace industry) B-52 bombers. It will be used for both conventional (Vietnam-type) and nuclear wars, carrying twice the bomb tonnage of a B-52 and a possible "laser death ray." The military-industrial complex sees development of the B-1 as essential to maintaining strategic flexibility, deterrence and superiority with regard to the USSR. In addition, the B-1 is regarded as another "bargaining chip" in the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks.

The current $450-500 million that is being asked for B-1 appropriations, is to be spent just to see if the B-1 can take off and land without falling apart. The intricate and expensive electronic equipment, not to mention the armaments, for the bombers will not be available or even tested until 1976—while Congress will be asked to approve production of the bombers in 1975. Nor will the B-1 approve production of the bombers in 1975. Nor will the B-1 be in use until 1979 or 1980. The B-1 program may well become the most expensive weapons system in history—costing anywhere from $43 billion (Air Force estimate) to $75 billion (Princeton University study estimate).

Consider also these points: The B-52 can remain operational for 20 or more years—according to both a Boeing Corp. study and the House Appropriations Committee. The B-1 may be obsolete before it is built—its sole use will be to bomb empty missile silos or population centers. The B-1 is another example of the twisted priorities of the U.S. government; the Congress is being asked to buy 241 B-1 bombers, when the cost of six B-1s would be enough to provide nutrition programs for the elderly, to maintain and supply 20 badly-needed health centers, and to build 12 typical high schools. Not only will the B-1 be designed for future Vietnam, but it will undoubtedly perpetuate the arms race.

I urge the citizens of the Carbondale and SIU communities to write to members of Congress, and to have community groups take a stand on the B-1 project. The B-1 project can be stopped—not just a cutting of funds, but a complete curtailment of this wasteful and unnecessary program. As Sen. William Proxmire has stated: "The fact is that among intelligent defense experts, the B-1 is a joke. It is a public works project for the aerospace industry rather than a needed weapon for the defense of the United States."

Consumer awareness needed

To the Daily Egyptian:

This is in reference to "Ignorance of False Baiting" appearing in the DE on July 17, 1974. The author points out the lack of knowledge on the part of the consumers. The author also felt that the Federal Trade Commission is not justified in taking action against Sears, Roebuck & Co. for using the illegal "bait and switch" tactics.

The truth is, consumers are an ignorant group! They lack awareness of their rights and responsibilities, as well as, product qualities, accounting techniques (with which to figure finance charges and check accuracy of billings) and techniques of basic psychology. This ignorance and lack of awareness is the prime reason consumers need protection.

Businessmen, especially those with college degrees, have been trained and educated in these matters. The business people know how to tempt the consumer. How to lure the consumer in the store. They even know how to charm the consumer into feeling compelled to purchase an item he knows he does not need or really want.

Most consumers have had little chance for any formal education or training. Knowledgeable consumers are those that have learned through experience, observation and often at great expense. Until the time comes when ALL consumers are thoroughly informed, we must rely on others, like the Federal Trade Commission, to protect us from unfair and illegal business tactics, like "bait and switch" advertising.

As of now the market place is a tournament—professionals (business people) versus amateurs (consumers).

"GREETINGS FROM THE GOOD OLD USA, NUTSY!"

It happened in Carbondale

Distinguished homes on Walnut

By Marion Mitchell
(Eleventh in a Series)

In 1887, Dr. Daniel B. Parkinson and Professor Hull purchased the block where St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church now stands. Dr. Parkinson took the east half of the block and his share immediately started work on a large two-story house. His architect, Isaac Rapp, designed a beautiful house in the then fashionable Queen Anne style.

"There was a stained glass window on the landing of the new kind of stairway and colored glass over the front door and pieces of the brightest glass in the plaster decorating the large front gable. . . there was no water or electricity in town, so there were pretty hanging lamps. An elaborate mantle around the grate, and big base-burner stoves, and a coal cooking stove in the kitchen. A pump for the cistern was on the back porch. Immediately back of the house was an equally well-built house which contained a very comfortable furnished plastered servant's room. A board walk under a grape arbor led past a well equipped shop with bench & tools, to the outdoor toilet. It was plastered and painted. A curtained window. Two regular seats with a rag rug on the scrubbed floor.

On the other side of the building was a room for coal and behind it, under the same roof a place to store wood, and benches for the wash tubs where the laundry was done except in real cold weather.

Behind this building was a barn for the horse and cow and a pump over a well. There was an adequate horse lot a nice garden plot and a cold frame early lettuce and starting tomato plants, etc. They planted pear peach and apple trees all about (the) house."

McIntosh

Within a decade after the Parkinson house was built, running water and electricity were both to become available in Carbondale. Consequently, Ornate chandeliers replaced the hanging oil lamps and a bathroom was added. A furnace was installed in the basement and another bedroom was built. By now, Parkinson was the president of S.I.N.U. and, as such, expected to do a good deal of high-powered entertaining—often of overnight guests. Receptions and dinners were commonplace, and so the house was enlarged.

"The (Parkinson) house at 401 West Walnut was never owned by anyone but Professor Parkinson and his daughter (MRS. D. E. Fveirich)"

—McIntosh

The home at 511 West Walnut is another house of some prestige. Built in 1862, it housed Dr. Allyn briefly before he moved into his remodeled home at 505 West Walnut.

The beautiful columned mansion at 605 West Walnut was built about 1900 by another distinguished S.I.N.U. instructor. It was the renowned Southern Illinois historian Dr. George Washington Smith who was responsible for its construction. According to the memory of some old-timers in the vicinity, it cost the monstrous sum of about $1,500.00 to complete.

And so it was that West Walnut Street grew into the prestigious neighborhood which, to a great extent, it still is.

Editorial

It's the intention that counts

SIU is a beautiful campus. We all know that. With its scenic Lake-on-the-Campus, skillfully landscaped grounds, and natural wooded areas. The buildings on campus are tastefully designed to enhance the beauty of the area and the campus as a whole.

The buildings around Old Main Park are full of historic beauty. Altgeld Hall looks like a castle and serves its purpose for the music students. Shryock Auditorium is the most beautiful building on campus in my opinion and is a great place to have a concert. All the other buildings in the area serve their purpose well and are easy to find; outside and inside.

But the Faner Building is not a very pretty looking building, in fact, I think it is rather ugly. From the top view I imagine it is architecturally pretty, but to the eye it is rather crude and bleak. The cement structure just doesn't look finished yet. It looks like the marble was stolen off of it, like the old days in Rome.

The Faner Building just doesn't compare to the other beautiful brick buildings scattered around campus. I thought the inside might be nicer, but it has the same bleak look.

Throwing looks aside, it is really hard to find your way around in the Faner Building. Allow plenty of time to find a room or a teacher inside, because it is a real maze once you get inside.

With these exterior marks against it, I hope the Faner Building will be used to its full intentions in the betterment of the University and the students. I guess it's not what's on the outside that counts, but what the intentions on the inside are.

Flowering

Gardeners will get a look Sunday at the brilliant colors of summer at the annual summer Flower Garden Open House of the SIU plant and soil science department. Checking some of the flowers that will be seen are department Chairman Gerald D. Courts (left) and Robert L. Holmes, assistant superintendent. Open house will be from 1 to 8 p.m. at two locations. One will be near the greenhouses at the former Federal Small Fruits Station one-fourth mile south of Chautauqua Road, about a mile west of campus. The second will be at the Horticultural Experiment Station headquarters on West Chautauqua Road. (Staff photo by Steve Sumner.)

Retailers to meet, discuss legislation

Hugh Muncy, president and chief executive for the Illinois Retail Merchants Association (IRMA), will meet with retail merchants of Carbondale and Murphysboro at 10 a.m. July 31 at the Carbondale Ramada Inn.

M.E. Van Metre, executive vice-president for the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce, said the meeting will give local merchants an opportunity to ask Muncy about retail sales on a state and national basis and Muncy's viewpoints on where the state and federal legislatures are going.

Topics to be discussed include the new lottery, legislation, minimum wage laws, taxes and federal regulations.

Van Metre said there are only seven members of IRMA in Carbondale. He said IRMA does a lot of lobbying, spends a lot of time with legislators and observes wage laws that effect retailers. Van Metre said. The meeting is sponsored by the Carbondale and Murphysboro Chamber of Commerce. Van Metre said it will be informal and open to the general public. He said membership in IRMA or local Chambers of Commerce is not required.

Coach-administrator named at school despite objections

By Gary Houy
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Two Carbondale Community High School board members have questioned the judgement of the CCHS administration in recommending combination of the positions of assistant principal and head football coach.

By a 5-2 vote, the board approved the nomination Thursday of Thomas O'Boyle, SIU instructor in health education, to fill both positions. O'Boyle's appointment as CCHS-Central assistant principal and head football coach is subject to proper certification by the Office of the state superintendent of public instruction.

The two dissenting votes were cast by Roy Weshinsky and Board President Charles Hindersman. Weshinsky read his opinion at the Thursday board meeting and Hindersman signed his agreement to it.

Weshinsky emphasized that his disapproval was not with O'Boyle, but with combining the positions.

"It's both an educational and administrative mistake," Weshinsky said Friday in summarizing his statement. "One person can't do justice to both jobs."

It would be a "rare individual" who could fill both positions effectively, Weshinsky said. "And, if we pay him $18,500 for the position of assistant to Principal Arthur Black, plus the head football coach salary of $1,200, his total salary will be $19,700—$905 higher than the salary of Margaret Hollis, principal of CCHS-East."

Weshinsky said he was surprised O'Boyle was the only candidate offered by the administration. "If the administration thinks this is a satisfactory means to hire someone, they are more optimistic than I."

In recommending the appointment of one person to fill both jobs, the administration's judgement is "called into question," Weshinsky said.

At the Thursday meeting, the board approved Lawrence R. Lub-way as a vocal instructor in the CCHS music department and Ruth Youngberg as a secretary in the guidance department. Both are replacement appointments.

The rate for substitute teacher was increased from $20 to $25 per day. An agreement to allow SIU student teachers to instruct CCHS classes was ratified by the board. About 15 to 25 student teachers assist CCHS teachers each year, said Supt. William Holder.

The board approved a recommendation by Comptroller Cecil Hollis to make an engineering study of CCHS-Central as part of the fire safety program. Much of the school's plumbing is "held together principally by rust," Hollis told the board. He said he hoped to have an improvement program ready in the next 60 days.

Area artists will compete

All Southern Illinois artists are invited to participate in the Southern Illinois Artists Open Competition Exhibition, according to Mary Lou Parker, a noted area artist and chairman of the exhibition.

The competition exhibition is being held from Oct. 29 to Nov. 17 and entry blanks are available by writing the Mitchell Art Museum in Mt. Vernon.

First prize in a $500 best of show purchase award property of the Mitchell Art Museum, second is a $300 Schweinfurth purchase award property of Carl Lincoln Schweinfurth, and there are also six $50 merit awards.

An entry fee of $5 is being charged for each work submitted, and each artist may enter three works. All entries, which must be original and have been produced within the past three years, must be handed in along with the entry fees by Sept. 14. Art works in oil, acrylic, water color, pastels, caesin, gouache and mixed media will be acceptable. Exhibits must be properly framed, wired and ready for hanging, and no wider than six feet.

Judging the Southern Illinois Artists Open Competition Exhibition will be Edward Betts, Glen Bradshaw and Billy Morrow Jackson, all painters and professors of art at University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana.

City expects Illinois Grant to finance Cedar Lake ramp

Fishermen may be launching boats from a city ramp at Cedar Lake by fall 1975.

The city expects to receive a $100,000 grant in the next two weeks from the Illinois Department of Conservation, City Planning Director James Rayfield said Friday.

The boat launch will be the first of many projects proposed at the lake site.

"As soon as we have the zoning ordinance behind us, the development of a recreational and land use plan for Cedar Lake will be a top priority," Rayfield said.

The City Council has voted to allow fishing boats with up to 10 horsepower motors to use the lake. Swimming and camping facilities are in the long range plans, Rayfield said.

Development of the lake facilities will be spread out over a 10-year period, he said.

SIU graduate students in geography, forestry and geology have been working since spring on possible land use plans for the 750-acre lake.

Rayfield said he hopes the Planning Division and Planning Commission can work out a proposed plan for the council to act on by late this fall.

He said the Planning Commission probably would schedule public hearings to get suggestions from Carbondale residents about recreational uses of the new lake.

Hertler's Market is a landmark for the road leading to the lake located about a mile off Route 51 three miles south of Carbondale.

Dedication of Cedar Lake is scheduled for early September at the pumping station on the east side of the lake.

Social security head lists 1973 payments

At the close of 1973, social security benefits were being paid to 6,810 Jackson county residents at a total rate of $89,000 a month, according to Paul Shearouse, social security acting manager in Carbondale.

Sherouse explained that although most social security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 60. In Jackson county, 1,530 people under age 60 are collecting social security payments each month. Nearly 780 are under age 18, and receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is receiving social security disability or retirement benefits.

Most of the 205 beneficiaries in Jackson county between 18 and 22 years of age are receiving student's benefits under a provision in the social security law permitting the continuation of a child's benefits beyond his 18th birthday, and up to age 22, if the child is attending school full time.

Also, some of the recipients in the 18-22 age group, Shearouse said, are children of retired, disabled or deceased workers who became disabled before they reached age 22 and who will probably never be able to work and become self-supporting. The monthly benefits of these young people, severely handicapped by physical or mental disabilities, will continue indefinitely.

Since December, 1973, Shearouse said, social security benefits have increased 11 per cent, with seven per cent of the amount payable in March 1974, and four per cent payable in June 1974.

Tank car explosion injures 100

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—A string of tank cars exploded and burst into flames in a Decatur railroad yard Friday injuring more than 100 persons, causing extensive damage and widespread evacuation.

Hospitals said 120 persons were treated and 15 were admitted. No deaths were reported.

Three victims were rushed to a burn center in Springfield, 60 miles west of Decatur, a community of about 100,000 residents 200 miles south of Chicago.

Windows were shattered several blocks from the blast site and some houses were reported extensively damaged. A high school gymnasium under construction collapsed.

The first explosion at 5:03 a.m. in the Norfolk and Western Railway yards on the northeast side, derailed about 100 cars, a railroad spokesman said. Several cars reportedly contained liquid propane gas. The cause of the explosion was not determined.

"It shook the house," said Patty Calfee who lives 10 blocks from the yards. "I never felt anything like it. You can almost have a heart attack when you're sound asleep and you almost get blown out of your bed." Flames erupted over the large rail yard and continued burning six hours after the first blast. There was mandatory evacuation in an area a mile on all sides of the yard and officials urged persons to stay at least three miles from the center of the blast.

Scores of homes and a trailer park were evacuated; many banks and large retail stores in the downtown area closed early as a precaution. Six schools conducting summer sessions also closed. There were no injuries at the schools.

Firemen from Decatur and a dozen outlying districts fought to restrain the flames from reaching boxcars loaded with dynamite and other flammable materials.

Gov. Daniel Walker toured the damaged area by plane and on the ground and said at noon, "The danger appears to be isolated at this time. There is no further threat to life or property."

There was no estimate of damage. Two specialists from the state Environmental Protection Agency were dispatched to check air samples for possible toxicity. They also concerned about the city's water supply from Lake Decatur.

School budget will be displayed

The budget for the 1974-75 school year for the Carbondale elementary school district will be on display at the district's Administrative Office on Aug. 15.

Superintendent Laurence W. Martin said Friday he could not estimate how much higher the budget will be than the 1973-74 budget until the board has had time to work on the figures suggested by the administration.

A board work session to discuss the budget is scheduled for Aug. 5.

Physiology class offered in Marion

A course on "Special Problems in Physiology" will be offered at the Marion Veterans Administration Hospital beginning this fall, according to Richard Bradley, dean of continuing education at SIU.

The three-hour course, Physiology 493, will be geared toward paramedical personnel and will include topics on practical human physiology such as body compartments, body water, water relations and control, formation of urine, and function and regulation of the kidney system.

Teacher will be Donald M. Miller, associate professor in physiology, beginning at 6 p.m. Aug. 28 in Room 126 of the VA Hospital.

Persons wishing to register should attend the first class meeting and pay tuition and fees of $74.25.

Questions should be directed to the Division of Continuing Education.

Mary Jane Schnieder

Course on kids to be offered

If you are a volunteer worker with children and are looking for new ideas and creative ways to stimulate the interests of children, the department of elementary education and the Division of Continuing Education at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale may have just the right thing for you.

A one credit-hour course—"Working Creatively With Children"—will be offered on consecutive Tuesdays from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. July 30 and Aug. 6 at the Carterville Catholic church, 316 Pine St.

Registration forms may be obtained from the Division of Continuing Education, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill. 62901. Deadline for mailed registrations is July 25. A check of $15 payable to SIU-C should accompany the pre-registration.

DeMolay to offer pick-up service

The E.R. Carman chapter, Order of DeMolay, in Carbondale will be picking up recyclable materials on Saturday to take to the Recycle Center.

The chapter is sponsoring the pick-up as a service project to complete Doug Wilson's term as master councilor.

All paper, glass and cans should be in separate sacks, with the paper on the cans removed and the cans smashed flat.

Persons who are interested in the service should call Doug Wilson at 457-5167 or Gale Boyd at 549-7856.

Weekly newspaper editors elect first woman president

The International Society of Weekly Newspaper Editors wrote a new page in its 20 year history Thursday by electing Mary Jane Schnieder, editor of the Boyertown (Penn.) Times, the ISWNE's first woman president.

The new chief executive, who was a Democratic candidate for Congress in the spring, was installed in office for a one year term at a banquet Thursday night at Pere Marquette State Park near Grafton, site of the ISWNE's 20th annual conference.

Although Schnieder is the society's first female president, there have been women in the organization and on its governing board since it began in 1954.

Garrett Ray, editor of the Littleton (Colo.) Independent, was elected vice president. Wendell Crow, SIU School of Journalism faculty member, was retained as acting secretary-treasurer.

Elected to the board of governors were: Rick Friedman, editor of the Tinley Park (Ill.) Star-Tribune, Jim Mayer, editor of the Anamosa (Iowa) Journal, Bill Rotch, editor of the Milford (N.H.) Cabinet, and William Rannie, editor of the Beamsville (Ont.) Post.

Phil McLaughlin, of The Miami (County) Republican of Paola, Kan., was named at the banquet as winner of the ISWNE's 1974 Golden Quill Award for an editorial he wrote taking the state governor to task for defending Kansas as a tourist attraction.

Edgar Trotter and Ralph Johnson, School of Journalism faculty and judges for the award, said they had expected McLaughlin to be a wisened, grey-haired newspaper veteran.

Spiritual leader to be guest

The founder and executive director of the Rosebud Indian House of Friendship of St. Francis, South Dakota will speak in Our Savior Lutheran Church, 501 West Main St., Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The Reverend Robert W. Witthoef, known as "Father Bob" in the Sioux Indian community he serves, will discuss his role as spiritual leader of the House of Friendship, which provides shelter and food to 25 homeless Indian boys.

Pastor Witthoef does most of the cooking in the house, though not always on a regular schedule. His main purpose is "to encourage the boys to grow into productive citizens. Having three meals a day is a white man's idea anyway," he said.

The Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod clergyman will also speak at Herrin Monday at 7:30 p.m. and Immanuel Lutheran Church in Murphysboro Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The general public is invited to hear Pastor Witthoef at all three speaking engagements.

Arm woes give chill to Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers have lost the pitcher who leads the club in victories and much of a 10½ game lead this week.

Last year's best pitcher on the staff hasn't won in 14 starts, and the torrid hitting that matched the National League's most effective pitching staff cooled off in June.

A year ago, the Dodgers led Cincinnati by 11½ games in June, 5½ at the All-Star break and finished the season 3½ games behind in second place.

Will history repeat? Are the Dodgers going to fail again to bring their first pennant home since 1966?

The hitting perked up earlier this week, but left-handed Tommy John ruptured a ligament in his elbow Wednesday night and took his 13-3 record to the disabled list for at least 21 days.

Don Sutton, 18-10 last year but 6-7 this season, starts Saturday night against Philadelphia at Dodger Stadium. With John sidelined, Sutton's future showings could be crucial.

The Dodgers turn to their farm system. They called up 20-year-old right-hander Rex Hudson, who was 13-3 at Albuquerque of the Pacific Coast League. Next week they'll probably call up another hurler to replace reliever Jim Brewer, whom General Manager Al Campanis said is going on the disabled list with a back injury.

Carol Mann fires par 72 to tie U.S. Women's Open tournament

LA GRANGE (AP)—Steady golf under a broiling sun carried former champion Carol Mann and Curtis Cupper Debby Massey into a first-place tie with collapsing Kathy Ahern as the United States Women's Golf Tournament reached the halfway mark Friday.

One of the early finishers as the field of 108 pros and 41 amateurs struggled over La Grange Country Club's stubborn course, Miss Mann, the 1965 open champion, was one of a handful to match par 72, while Miss Massey's 73 also gave her a 36-hole total of even par 144.

Miss Ahern, who opened Thursday with a record-matching meet first-round four-under-par 68, managed to hang on at 144 with a faltering 76 as she ran into all kinds of trouble on a windy, 95-degree day.

In blowing her three-stroke lead, Miss Ahern three-putted three greens, including the par four 16th which she double-bogeyed after hooking her drive behind some trees.

"I didn't putt that badly, the ball just didn't go in the hole, and I think I'm still hitting the ball well enough to have a chance to win this," said Miss Ahern.

Two strokes off the pace at 146 were Sandra Haynie, the year's No. 4 money winner, and amateur Bonnie Lauer, last year's intercollegiate champion from Michigan State. Miss Haynie tapped her second straight 73 and Miss Bauer, also a Curtis Cupper, added a par 72 to her opening 74.

Pert Diane Patterson, pro from Longview, Texas, scored an unorthodox hole-in-one into a concessionaire's pocket—in the second round.

Miss Patterson's fourth shot out of a bunker at the 18th green, sailed over the green, hit a male spectator and bounced directly into the apron pocket of a concessionaire as he was serving a soft drink in a refreshment tent.

A penalty drop alongside the tent left Miss Patterson with a tough pitch over a tree and she took a double bogey seven on the hole. She had been two-under-par on the back nine and finished with a 38-36-74 for a 36-hole total of 153. Miss Patterson had been a 26th alternate and got into the tourney on a last-minute withdrawal by an ailing amateur entry.

The concessionaire, Johnny Cole, also is a Texan from Ft. Worth.

Defending champion Susie Berning, pursuing an unprecedented third straight open title, was disgruntled after more than a five-hour round gave her a disappointing 77 and a halfway total of 150.

Like Miss Ahern, Miss Berning ran into big trouble on the 395-yard 16th which she also double-bogeyed and three-putted.

"It was a very long day, it was hard to concentrate," said Susie, who is gunning for her fourth open crown. "I played fast for awhile and then waited for awhile. It was almost an endurance contest. The USGA should have qualifying for this tournament, like the men do for their open. The field is too big."

The heat and the tricky greens took their toll for the second straight day, with the field well behind the triple leaders. The cutoff for Saturday's third round came at 155 for the top 50 finishers.

Bracketed at 147, three strokes behind, were Donna Caponi Young, Open winner in 1968 and 1969, Joann Washam and amateur Peggy Conley, whose 74 was the best of the trio. Miss Washam shot 75 and Mrs. Young took a 76, contending "I played too good to have that kind of round, but maybe it's my bad round of the tournament."

stroke back at 136. Iverson, Fleisher and Hayes all shared the 18-hole lead and all had 70s in the second round. Collins, a sophomore struggler who has qualified for the final two rounds only twice before, had a 67.

Australian Bruce Crampton scored the day's best round, a 66, and joined four others at 137, two shots out of the lead. He was tied with Lee Elder, Forrest Fezler, Richie Karl and Mike Wynn. Karl had a 67, Wynn a 69, Elder a 70 and Fezler a 71.

A stroke behind at 148 was Sandra Spuzich, 1966 open champ, rapping her second successive 74, while among the contenders at 149 was Joann Carner, 1971 champion and No. 2 money winner this year, who rallied for a par-matching 72 after an opening 77.

Miss Mann, who Thursday shared fourth placed with amateur Cynthia Hill four strokes behind Miss Ahern, tapped in three birdies to three bogeys for her par 72.

NFL Redbirds sign free agent

NORMAL (AP)—The National Football League's St. Louis Cardinals signed free agent Dan Crooks, a cornerback from Wisconsin, Friday, bringing to 46 the number of players in training camp.

Crooks signed after a tryout earlier this week. He had played semi-professional football the last two seasons.

The Cards, meanwhile, continued twice-daily workouts in preparing for their preseason opener against the Buffalo Bills July 27 in the Hall of Fame game at Canton, Ohio, which still is scheduled despite a strike by NFL veteran players.

Sifford captures golf lead

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP)—Curtis Sifford shouldered his way out of a bulging logjam of players with a four-under-par 67 and established a one-stroke lead Friday after the second round of the $150,000 B.C. Open Golf Tournament.

Sifford, a nephew of pro Charles Sifford, put together a two-round total of 135, seven under par, on the windswept 6,804-yard En Joie Golf Club course.

Don Iverson, Bruce Fleisher, rookie Mark Hayes and Tim Collins were two
