"Taxi party" set to protest paving of lot

By Karen Tory
Staff Writer

"Pave paradise, put up a parking lot." Quoting those words from the Jon Mitchell song, "Big Yellow Taxi," John Gadway last week asked the Carbondale Planning Commission to reverse its decision to pave a tree-shaded lot next to the Commercial and Loan Savings and Loan bank. The vacant lot is under the ownership of the First Federal Savings and Loan of Carbondale.

Gadway plans to stage a demonstration he calls the Big Yellow Taxi Party to protest the proposed use of the lot, which is located next to an apartment house Gadway owns at 122 N. Poplar St., Carbondale.

The Planning Commission voted 3-2 to pave the lot. The City Council approved First Federal's request for the paving, and the City Council approved First Federal's request for the paving.

Gadway, a former SIUC employee, is quoted as saying, "I have been called an enemy of progress. But I don't see progress here. I see a disaster."
Washington (AP) - Despite an increase in the number of civilians murdered in El Salvador's political violence, Secretary of State George P. Shultz told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Wednesday that the Reagan administration continues to support the Salvadoran government and to oppose its opponents.

"The State Department's policy on El Salvador remains the same," Shultz said through his press secretary, Mark Salter. "We remain opposed to all internal violence, whether committed by the government or the guerrillas.

Shultz was responding to a question from Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., who asked for an update on the department's policy toward El Salvador.

"Our policy continues to be to support the government of El Salvador," Shultz said. "We continue to believe that the government of El Salvador is the only legitimate government in that country, and that it has made some progress in recent months.

Lugar asked about the department's support for the government's human rights record.

"We continue to believe that the government of El Salvador has made progress in recent months," Shultz said. "We have seen improvements in some areas, such as the release of political prisoners and the implementation of the international human rights standards.

"However, there is still much work to be done," Shultz added. "We continue to urge the government to make further progress in this area, and to take all necessary steps to protect the human rights of all its citizens.

"We remain committed to our policy ofnon-intervention in the internal affairs of El Salvador," Shultz concluded.

Shultz's statement came as the department was preparing to release its annual human rights report, which is expected to contain a critical assessment of the Salvadoran government's record.

Funeral services to be held for Joseph Penn, educator

Funeral services for Joseph C. Penn of Carbondale, former educator, will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday at Bethel AME Church, 301 N. Main St., in Carbondale. Interment will be in the National Cemetery in Mount City.

Penn died at 10:30 a.m. Monday in Memorial Hospital of Carbondale.

A former assistant superintendent of public instruction for the state of Illinois, Penn was active in educational work for 42 years. He served as principal of Du Bond High School in Tazewell, and as director of the former Attucks Elementary Schools and Attucks High School in Carbondale.

Rentals must be checked every 18 months, he said.

There is discussion of giving a signed certificate at the time of the regular inspection. Yow said: "We want to approach it in a way that we don't get bogged down in paperwork." He said the USO was "throwing its full support" behind regular 18-month inspections and placement of a sticker giving the date of the inspection on the window or door of the unit. Loughton said that effective tenants can check for the sticker to see if the unit has passed inspection.

Ex-student dead, suicide suspected

A 22-year-old former SIUC student was found dead in a tent at 530 E. Park St., in Carbondale early Wednesday morning.

Daniel J. Deberty, II, of Marion, was found with a hand gun wound to the head in his room at the time of the shooting, police said.

Although the incident is still under investigation, Tom McNamara, Carbondale police spokesman, said the death appeared to be a suicide. Deberty had not been enrolled in the University since fall 1982.

Stokes said once the House votes a reprimand, and it becomes a part of the official record.

Rep. Nick Joe Raball II, 19-W.Va., said the two congressmen have suffered enough, adding: "None of us has a monopoly on virtue."

"We are not a jury," he said. "We are here to repair the integrity of the United States House of Representatives."
Salvadoran horror seen in farmer's tragic tale

WASHINGTON — Nothing was mystifying about Fer­ net's inability to reach the SIU's administrators. He had no intention of doing so because the salaries of the most highly paid workers there are lowest in the state.

The defense minister publicly promised — in a case where the salaried facts were well known — that a full investigation would occur. That is how it went. Today with Garcia Guadalupe in jail, an "excellcnt" officer by superiors, remains unmissed, the killing of one 18-year-old peasant, or even the murder of 72 peasants, is only a drop in the bucket of Salvadoran massacre.

The country is ruled by military wishes. The army is dominated by... commanders who operate like feudal chiefs.

Chancellor at the wheel

Chancellor Shaw: During fiscal year 1986, the state was necessary to increase your budget so you can make some home improvements. Wasn't your salary of $60,486 sufficient to do that? If so, why? I acknowledge this critical time of fiscal year 1986 budget. I am very pleased you have given yourself yet another raise. If you are professors receiving a cut in pay or having lost their jobs and administrators working with smaller budgets, I have been led to believe that SIU employees are putting their pennies in every way they can. This is happening not only in a few departments, but university-wide. SIU is not immune to the nationwide cutbacks in education. While certain programs do not suffer from those losses, how can you justify giving yourself a $3,406 increase in pay, President Somes a $3,129 increase and President Lipton a $15,000 increase in this critical time of fiscal year 1986 budget? Can you please explain how you arrived at your decision to give yourself yet another raise?"
Housing unit seeking solutions

Many people have never read the city housing code and aren't aware of housing laws. That may lead to problems, according to Stone, chair-, man of the Landlord-Tenant Core Committee.

"It's like lack of product knowledge," Stone said Tuesday at a Citizens Advisory Committee meeting. "We haven't read the warranty."

Stone said his committee has identified problems, including drug use, and is trying to find workable solutions.

"There are all kinds of laws to protect the landlord as well as all kinds of laws to protect the tenant," he said. "What often happens is the landlord is taking steps in the wrong direction."

Stone said one of the things his committee has done is read the city code.

"If everyone knew what codes were, we probably wouldn't have any problems," Stone said. "Landlords don't know what code enforcement officials can do so they're terrified to let them in. Tenants don't know what code officials can do so they're terrified let them in," he said.

Many people would be surprised to learn that much of the code is left up to the interpretation of the code official, Stone said.

The Landlord-Tenant Core Committee has identified common problems of tenants and landlords.

"It's like lots of laws to be shown at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in 201 Lawton Hall. Officer nominations for the fall and spring semesters will be held.

AN AFTERNOON at the beach, part of the "Sunday Fun Days for Jan's Birthday."

Many people are aware of housing laws, but not being made after what code enforcement officials can do. Stone said.

Many statutes require landlords to return a deposit to the tenant within 30 days with a list of charges that were deducted, he said.

The committee identified non-payment of rent, breaking of leases and damage to property as the basic problems from the landlord's point of view, Stone said.

Many times the problems are related, and the tenant doesn't pay the rent because repairs are not made, but not paying the rent is illegal, he said.

Doris Turner, an academic adviser in the Department of Education since 1972, a founder and first chairperson of the Women's Caucus, will retire from her University job in August and move to Phoenix, Ariz.

The Women's Caucus is an outgrowth of a meeting that was held in 1971 with President Warren Brandt and 11 women to discuss problems of women on the SIUC campus, she said. A few months after the initial meeting, Turner became the first chairperson and coordinator of the caucus, a support group for women in the University community.

As far as her academic achievements, Turner's master's work at SIU was a truly pioneering effort.

Upon graduating from the University of Illinois with a bachelor's degree in psychology, she came to the State University with a master's degree in education since 1972. She was a founder and first chairperson of the Women's Caucus.

The council selected the Illinois Farmers Union-CETA, Inc. as the grant recipient and administrative body to provide financial support and management activities for the federal Job Training Partnership Act in the five-county area.

Preliminary estimates indicate that approximately 5% of the SIU employees could not also be employed by the University.

Gus Pappelis Fusion

to jazz up Turley Park

The latest model of an old Carbondale favorite, the Gus Pappelis Fusion, will unleash their jazz-fusion sounds at 8 p.m. Thursday at Turley Park. The current line-up includes Pappelis on keyboards, John Zurek on bass, and John Moulder on drums. Joining them are such well known artists as George Gershom, Ramsey Lewis, Patrice Rushen, and Jeff Lorber. The band’s repertoire includes many original pieces and covers of the group’s, as well as compositions by Weather Report, Yellowjacket and Chick Corea.

Jewelry, tools exhibit opens

Sydney Jo Scherr and Ken Coleman will hold their Master of Fine Arts Thesis Exhibition in Mitchell Gallery, beginning Thursday, with an opening reception from 6 to 8 p.m. Scherr creates unique jewelry by combining Cloissoné and Appliqué enamels with etched precious metals. Coleman’s work consists of knives and derringers that are carefully designed with subtle, flowing curvilinear lines, intricate designs of slight surface decoration and a simplicity of form. Although Coleman is in the metals area of the School of Art, he works with a variety of materials that include such exotic materials as gold, silver, bronze, copper, nickel and plastic.

The Saluki international tennis connection has taken on another addition. He is Roeland Kort, an Aruba native who has won five singles championships on the island of the Netherlands Antilles in the West Indies.

According to SIUC tennis coach Dick LeFevre, de Kort has played extensively in South and Central America, but is virtually unknown to many major U.S. tennis colleges.

"No one else knows much about him," said LeFevre. "He has had to study for the Dutch national exams this summer so he has been unable to compete for several months."

de Kort, lives on an island that is under Dutch rule, and like other natives there must pass their national exam before graduating from what we in the United States know as high school. In the school system on the island of Aruba, located off the coast of Venezuela, only 15 percent of the top students are allowed into higher education, according to LeFevre.

"We expect him to play around his national rank or somewhere," said LeFevre. "We're looking forward toward a good season this fall and expect he be ready for the spring when the matches count toward NCAA standings."

For example, Hartog cited a cross-country team that might have as many as 15 walk-ons try out, but few are ready to be competitive, but as few as two might stick with the team. Nevertheless, he said, if the others failed to graduate they still show up in the report even though they were outside the influence of Hartog and men's athletics.

He said men's athletics was doing a good job of helping its athletes considering the budget with which they have to work. When the athletics department lost its academic advisor last year it could not afford to hire a new one.

"I think our coaches are doing an outstanding job considering the circumstances," he said. "Any help we can get, we welcome since we don't have the resources here."

West, whose athletes generally came off well in the report, said the program was not necessary.

"I don't fully endorse the recommendations made," she said. "My personal opinion is that the University has the mechanisms for helping students. We don't want special provisions."

"One must be careful for overproviding to select and elite students."

Ex-Saluki receiver
at Cleveland camp

By Dan Devine
Sports Editor

Marvin Hinton, batting for a spot on the Cleveland Browns' opening-day roster in training camp this month, has one thing going for him.

One, the skills and need that made him an All-American and the most dangerous outside receiver last year. And second, and more important, the dearth of proven pass catchers on the Cleveland depth chart.

"I think I got a good chance," said Hinton,still signed up for the training camp Wednesday. "I feel real good.

"He has been playing well and getting good feedback from his coaches, especially wide-receiving coach Joe Daniel. The Browns' wide receiving corps—bartered by retirements, absences and untimely injuries—has also held out encouragement.

His hopes have been lifted by the knowledge that Cleveland is hungry for people to catch the ball.

"I knew they needed receivers," said Hinton. "I come in real confident thinking I had a good chance."

In public relations assistant Chuck Fisher, who handles all the receivers, has been the focus of fan, media and front-office attention.

"We went into the draft prepared to face the loss of Joey Pearson, the wide receiver who the Browns had traded to San Diego. Ron Brown, who has not reported to camp by Tuesday, was the team's other wide receiver choice and been a star.

Cleveland thought they had the right, the number one wide receiver choice, Ron Brown. But Brown has not reported to camp and may have been traded to San Francisco when the Browns' tight end, former Saluki receiver, was chosen in the second round of the draft.

"We're going to get them out of the hole and it's a tough situation. I've been picking things up. Once you reach freshman you can easily learn split ends.

Hinton was SIU-C's top wide receiver in 1971 and 1972 and was also a top notch sprinter for the track team. He caught 28 passes in each of his best years and had 90 career receptions.

He ran a 10.7 in the 100-meter dash and 21.8 in the 200-meter event.

Hinton said he wouldn't give up his dream of playing pro football even if he gets cut. The USFL is a possibility, he said, until he can develop. The team has not told him what will happen next season.

"I keep myself motivated telling myself I want to make the NFL," he said. "It's all I wanted in life."

That attitude gives Hinton three things going for him.

Late inning home run
sinks Cubs

CHICAGO (AP)—San Francisco Giants Manager Joe Altobelli was particularly interested in statistics Wednesday when he wanted his team to beat the Chicago Cubs.

When informed that the game-winning home run hit that lesser Lee Smith, .34, gave up to Jack Clark was the first homer Smith had allowed in 89 2-3 innings, Altobelli was nonplussed.

"I don't think he'll ever look at me with a grin," he said. "It's all I wanted in life."

Clark's 15th homer of the season came in the top of the 10th inning for the 5-4 win over Chicago. It was San Francisco's second win in as many days over the Cubs, with both victories coming by the same score and in 10 innings. In addition, Giants' reliever Greg Nappi, 4-6, claimed both victories.

For his part, Smith said he was just "not feeling down," he said. "The guy hit a good pitch. I'm not going to second guess myself."

Smith added that he was surprised Clark went for the pitch because it was a fastball away from the plate and Smith usually goes for lower pitches.

Welch-appointed to monitor academic progress of athletes

The Saluki loyalists have an important day this week. The subcommittee report, released at the last academic progress meeting, said that graduation rates were lower than an earlier University report had shown.

Of 228 male students who were listed on Missouri Valley Conference eligibility rolls from 1975 to 1977 only 47 percent received bachelor's degrees. During the same period, 71 percent of eligible female athletes graduated. However, their graduation rate declined from 82 percent in 1975 to 60 percent in 1977.

The subcommittee recommended that a program of academic advisement be established and that administration informed to serve student-athletes.

The committee urged that the supervisor of any program report directly to Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs. Swinburne responded to the request by expanding Welch's responsibilities to include overseeing the new program.

Swinburne and Welch will meet next week with Men's Athletics Director Lew Hartung, Women's Athletics Director Charlotte West and sub-committee members Larry Matten, Margaret Matthias, Seymour Broyan and Dick Bortz to discuss the direction of the new program.

Welch said a major concern will be funding. Earlier this week, he said that he had not formulated the exact amount of money he will need and that Swinburne had not promised him any specific sums yet.

"I'm confident that we'll get at the entire resources of the University we can come up with the support that we need," he said.

Welch said that he will consult with the AAIC subcommittee on monitoring academic progress of athletes.
