GOP senators to push for S. Africa sanctions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Key Republican senators warned President Reagan Monday that Congress will push for sanctions against South Africa unless he quickly adopts a more aggressive anti-apartheid policy that gets results.

The president met with the GOP leaders as a prelude to an address on South Africa scheduled Tuesday afternoon — a speech that will be missing what had been touted as its capstone, the announcement that a black had been selected as the new U.S. ambassador to Pretoria.

Brown declines Pretoria post

The diplomatic exclamation point, planned as a symbolic gesture by the administration and a bid to open communications with black leaders in South Africa, was erased Monday when Robert Brown, a black North Carolina businessman, withdrew his name from consideration as successor to Herman Nickle, the present ambassador to South Africa.

In the speech, to be delivered to a foreign policy group at the White House, Reagan will reiterate his view that apartheid is repugnant, aides said, but will not announce any major departure from the policy he calls "constructive engagement."

Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas, who has warned South Africa is becoming "a domestic civil rights issue," told reporters after a 45-minute Oval Office meeting with Reagan, "I would say the status quo is unacceptable."

"I think there has to be some new, credible initiative," said Dole, adding he had suggested Reagan send a special envoy to Pretoria and the president said that was "a good idea."

Also at the meeting were Sens. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., head of a subcommittee on Africa, who has drawn up a package of possible sanctions to be invoked against the white-minority government.

Gus says that if Reagan doesn't adopt a black-and-white policy on S. Africa, Congress will do it for him.

Patrick Harris, internal auditor at SIU-C, was named Outstanding Civil Service Employee of the Year Monday at the 17th Annual Civil Service Awards Ceremony.

Yvonne Harris accepted the award for her husband, who is in the hospital for hip surgery.

Nine employees were honored for 30 years of service: Harold E. Braswell, printing and duplicating service; Shelby J. Garner, Rehabilitation Institute; Lora

E. Henson, disbursements; Gloria Stokes, Campus Services; Barbara Jean Waldrop, admissions and records; Henrietta Miller, library affairs; Norman L. Gibbs, physical plant; Harvey F. Moon, physical plant; and Charles F. Williams, physical plant.

Certificates were also presented to 22 Civil Service Employees for 25 years of service and 64 employees were honored for 20 years of service.

MAPP condemns recipients of SDI grant for research

By Nola J. Cowser

Members of Mid-America Peace Project and other students on campus Monday condemned Stelios Thomopoulos and Ramanara Viswanathan during a rally at the School of Technical Careers for accepting a $362,000 research grant from the Office of Naval Research for the Strategic Defense Initiative.

Thomopoulos and Viswanathan are both assistant professors of electrical engineering. The students were armed with umbrellas to symbolize what they called the "insanity" of developing a shield against nuclear weapons.

Tim Larsen, a member of People Living the Dream, told the group of about 20 people that SIU-C had just given birth to two new "Star Warriors." He added that although Thomopoulos and Viswanathan have the right to accept the grant, students have the right to say it is wrong to accept the grant.

He said the professors may not be building the actual destructive components of "Star Wars," but they are just as responsible.

Larsen also said he disagrees with the professors' and President Albert Somi's hope that "good science" will benefit from this research. "Star Wars" is wrong and "Star Wars" does not become right because SIU is getting money from it," he said.

Larsen also announced the "Star Wars" opponents' alternative defense system — the Strategic Umbrella

Volunteers pitch in to clean spillway

By Nola J. Cowser

Clean-up day at the Kincaid Lake Spillway made a difference, says Ron Collins, senior in industrial technology and member of Students for Pollution Control, co-sponsor of the clean-up.

The Wildlife Society Student Chapter and Student Environmental Center were also sponsors of the Spillway clean-up day.

The Spillway is a popular attraction on hot days and many people had been complaining about the trash that was left behind.

Brian Gardner, a Carbondale resident, said, "I complain about the trash so much that I felt compelled to come out and clean it up."

"You could really see the difference on the way down to the Spillway," Collins said. "It was a lot cleaner."

About 30 people worked for three hours Saturday picking up beer tabs, cans and other garbage.

The Department of Conservation goes to the Spillway about twice a week to pick up trash, but there is not enough time or manpower to pick up beer tabs and smaller items, said Raymond Higgins, Department of Conservation employee.

"We're very proud of the volunteers helping us out," Higgins said. "A lot of students volunteered to clean it up because they like to come here and have a nice, clean place."

Collins said he thinks some people will be more aware and pick up their own trash in the future because of the hard work the volunteers put in. He said a few people who came out to swim found out about the effort and pitched in.

Israeli head embarks on Two-day visit to Morocco

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Prime Minister Shimon Peres flew Monday to Morocco to meet with King Hassan II for the first official talks between an Israeli leader and an Arab head of state in eight years, Israeli armed forces radio said. The radio quoted "diplomatic sources in Jerusalem" as saying Peres would spend 48 hours in Morocco and probably meet with the king at his residence in Eifrana in central Morocco.

Allies briefed on U.S. arms control proposals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration briefed U.S. allies Monday on what was described as a conciliatory American response to recent Soviet arms proposals, designed to enhance the prospects for a superpower summit. Arms negotiators Paul Nitze and Edward Rowny embarked on separate trips to allied capitals, bearing guidelines approved late last week by President Reagan for his formal reply to Moscow.

Botha meets Tutu, refuses to lift emergency

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — President Pieter Botha met Monday with anti-apartheid leader Bishop Desmond Tutu and refused Tutu's requests to lift a month-old state of emergency and release jailed black activists. Tutu, emerging from the 45-minute meeting in Pretoria, said Botha refused to lift the emergency because the president believes it is helping to stem a two-year wave of racial violence in the nation's black townships.

California rocked by more major earthquakes

BISHOP, Calif. (UPI) — Two strong earthquakes shook California Monday, snapping power lines and sewers, destroying about two dozen homes and a bank building in the Sierra foothills and swaying highrise buildings in Los Angeles and San Francisco. No injuries were reported. Seismologists measured the quakes at 6.2 and 5.2 on the Richter scale and placed the epicenter 15 miles north of Bishop in the Lake Crowley area of Mono County near the Nevada border where a 5.5 temblor hit only 24 hours earlier.

Three more nations withdraw from Games

LONDON (UPI) — Cyprus, Sri Lanka and the Seychelles pulled out of the Commonwealth Games Monday, swelling the list of boycotters to 27 and threatening to make a shambles of the event over Britain's refusal to impose sanctions against South Africa. The near landslide, which has seen nearly half the originally scheduled countries and territories withdraw from this week's Games, posed an embarrassment to Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher on the eve of her foreign minister's peace mission to South Africa.

Bolivian cocaine traffic stopped, officials say

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — U.S. troops and a Bolivian narcotics strike force have temporarily stopped cocaine production in Bolivia and have drug traffickers on the run, a government spokesman said Monday. "Right now, we have the drug trafficking (industry) totally at loose ends," said Information Minister Herman Antelo.

Illinois farmers send hay to drought-stricken South

MOLINE (UPI) — Another shipment of nearly 900 bales of donated Illinois hay was flown to South Carolina Monday to help drought-stricken farmers feed their starving animals. Responding to an appeal from South Carolina Gov. Dick Riley, western Illinois farmers brought hay to the Quad-City Airport last weekend, where the bales were loaded aboard an Air Force transport plane and flown to South Carolina Monday.

Oscar Mayer says baloney to union wages

CHICAGO (UPI) — Officials at Oscar Mayer Foods Corp. Monday locked out all 685 union production workers who rejected the company's last wage-freeze contract offer and began hiring replacement workers. Union members voted 367-146 Sunday to reject the short-term contract that would have frozen wages at $10.67 an hour for 10 months and allowed the company to bring Chicago workers' wages in line with employees at other plants around the country.

Love Rhino charges crowd with blaring horns

By Maureen Cavanagh
Entertainment Editor

As the heat broiled, seven thick-skinned mammals cooked on stage.

The band members of "Love Rhino" took the audience by the horns and charged at the third to last Sunset Concert at Evergreen Park Thursday.

And, like horses to water, the audience seemed more than ready to welcome one of its own. The popular party band, which played under 400-watt lights in temperatures swinging around 100 degrees, fed off the enthusiasm. Their horns served more like antennae in sensing the crowd's appetite.

As lead guitarist Dan Schingel says, "the crowd is our boss." That comment seems to sum up the key to Love Rhino's popularity.

The band came up with the name Love Rhino because their primary strength is gained through blaring horns, which is a rarity these days.

As Eddie Chapa, bass player, put it, "I can really appreciate the audience because they're rhino lovers and rhinos are an endangered species."

The rhinos replaced Quintessence at the concert. Love Rhino is a dance band characterized not only by the horn section but a manic stage presence. Since forming last year, the band has routinely played at South Illinois Avenue nightclubs Hangar 9 and Gatsby's.

The band members, mostly distilled from the School of Music, create a sound as well-blended as Folger's coffee. The result doesn't drip automatically, either.

The sum of the Love Rhino instruments is greater than the parts: Schingel; Chapa; John Casterjohn on rhythm guitar and harmonica; drummer Mark Gaetto; and John Phillips plays saxophone. Dan Ward plays trumpet and Jim Owens plays keyboard and trombone.

The band is able to branch out and play a variety of music, ranging from Robert Palmer and reggae to Talking Heads and Fishbone.

During the two-hour performance, Big Larry Williams took the stage and belted out two painful blues tunes, which proved that no type of music is immune to the rhinos.

As Casterjohn says, "We don't try to copy anybody. We just try to play. Everybody agrees. With seven or eight in the band, we're like a family. Everybody brings in songs.

It's a real democratic-type process."

Love Rhino will play at Fitzgerald's nightclub.

'Carousel' captures thrills of musical theater

By Debra Keen-Cooper
Staff Writer

"Carousel," the final production of Summer Playhouse '86, combines the mysticism of carnival life with the estranged love affair typical of Rogers and Hammerstein.

This musical classic, directed by Theresa Larkin and choreographed by George Pinney, captures all the thrills of musical theater. The acting is professional. The music is high quality and the dancing is spectacular.

THE FINAL performances of "Carousel" will be at 8 p.m. Thursday through Sunday at McLeod Theater. Tickets are $7 for Friday and Saturday shows, and $6 for Thursday and Sunday shows. "Rush" tickets are available for $3 to students with a valid I.D. from 7:30 to showtime. Discounts are available to SIU alumni, senior citizens and groups of ten or more.

The story is based on the life of quick-tempered carousel barker Billy Bigelow, played by Kenneth Lee of Dyersburg, Tennessee. Billy is given a second chance by the Starkeeper to do some good in his life which will gain his entry into Heaven.

LEE BRINGS A strong baritone voice that swells with operatic training to the McLeod stage.

Playing opposite Lee, as Julie Jordan, is Laura Reinhardt of Chicago. Julie and Billy meet on the carousel and fall in love while trying to convince each other they'll never marry, singing "If I Loved You."

Reinhardt, a graduate of Western Illinois University, brings a wealth of experience to the McLeod stage. She has performed in the musicals "Guys and Dolls," "Cinderella," "Annie" and "Fiddler On the Roof." She also portrayed Constance in "Amadeus" and Ethel in "George M!" earlier this summer.

"CAROUSEL" BEGINS in a flashback, at the backyard of heaven, with a Starkeeper asking Billy, "Is there anything on Earth you've left unfinished? Is there anything you're sorry for?" The Starkeeper is played by Joe Bowman of Springfield, Mo.

The play re-enacts a portion of Billy's life when his behavior goes from bad to worse.

After Billy's encounter with the Starkeeper, the set unfolds into a dreamlike array of carnival life. The orchestra, under the direction of Mike Hanes, carries the audience through a menagerie of jugglers, barkers and belly dancers, all portrayed in mime.

JULIE'S BEST friend, Carrie Pipperidge, is played by Kelly Wilmoth of Columbia, Mo. It is Carrie's friendship, meshed with a bit of silliness, that enables Julie to carry on in her life.

Carrie is promised to Mr. Snow, who is played by Brian Gaston of Germantown, Tenn.

The story continues as preparations for the first clam bake of the season get underway. Nettie Fowler, Julie's aunt, leads the company in "June Is Bustin' Out All Over." Nettie is played by Karen Driver of Carbondale.

As in most Rogers and Hammerstein musicals, the smaller parts and walk-ons in "Carousel" often get the funniest lines and action.

JIGGER, ONE OF Billy's wayside seafaring friends, is portrayed by Bryan Smith of Centralia. Jigger's bad manners and care-free attitude make people dislike him.

A STRONG CHORAL arrangement of "You'll Never Walk Alone," the well-known muscular dystrophy telethon theme, brings down the curtain in a touching, well-staged production.

Caregivers' group meeting slated

The support group for caregivers of elderly person's 60 years and older will meet from 6:30 to 8 p.m. July 28 at Franklin Hospital Skilled Care Facility, 201 Bailey Lane, Benton.

The purpose of the group is to provide mutual support and to identify specific needs and concerns of caregivers.

Anyone interested in attending the meeting should contact Peggy Ford, Rehabilitation Institute, SIU after 5 p.m. at 549-4338.

A look at the facts dispels SDI fiction

THE RECENT CRITICISM BY Mid-America Peace Project, SIU faculty and others of SIU-C's Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI) funding stems from emotion rather than logical substantiation of facts. And emotion tends to distort the facts.

Fact One: No classified defense projects can be researched on this campus. In other words, no secret weapons can be worked on here. According to the Office of Research and Development and Administration, University policy forbids researchers to accept grants for classified projects. This policy is a direct outgrowth from public concern over the amount of military research done on American campuses during the Vietnam conflict.

Fact Two: SINCE THE PROPOSED research is not classified, its results will be available for civilian applications. The two researchers who will work on the project, which will involve integration of data from various radar and other detection facilities, say the research will prove helpful to airlines in improving air traffic control.

Fact Three: The University does accept military funding, but it is hardly a regular habit. From July 1984 to July 1985, the University received $9.3 million for research. Only $144,000 of that figure was contributed by the military.

Taking these three facts into consideration, the $362,000 grant the two SIU-C electrical engineering professors received from the military for SDI research doesn't seem such a bad turn of events. For one, the University could certainly use some research money for the sciences. Good research breeds more grant money.

WHICH BRINGS UP AN INTERESTING point. One argument that opponents of the proposed SDI research use is that other acclaimed research institutions such as the University of Illinois have sworn off Star Wars research on ethical grounds. They contend that SIU should do the same.

It's easy for the U of I to swear off SDI research money, since it already has so much other Defense Department money to play with, much more than the $362,000 SIU-C has for its research project. With that kind of money, it is easy to be "moral."

And how did schools such as the U of I get such large endowments for the sciences? Probably by working on classified and non-classified military projects. So how can such a school be used as a moral example of how to conduct research?

BUT ASIDE FROM THE MORAL ISSUE, there is the issue of whether or not SDI is just another Reagan pipe dream. Maybe it is. If so, why not just let the research go on? The technology needed for such an undertaking surely could be beneficial in other areas after the project collapses.

But the research reputation at SIU will be secure, even if SDI's future is not. Let the money for research flow, and let the results speak for themselves.

As one of the engineers working on the project remarked, "I thought it (the project) was just another grant. I am not sure why it is drawing all this attention."

Hartley AIDS jokes ?

It's time someone spoke for the pro-taste faction here at SIU-C. We recognized the famous Hartley letter as satire, but just didn't think it was funny. Got any good AIDS jokes, Bill? — Joseph Kelly, senior, English.

Letters

Afghans modernized by Soviets

A recent letter in the DE from Jeff Thomason claimed that Soviet occupation forces are in effect carrying out genocide against the Afghan populace. He further claimed that the American left shies away from this issue.

Authentic leftists greet the 1979 Soviet invasion of Afghanistan by saying, "Hail, Red Army." In the December 1985 issue of the West German news magazine Der Spiegel, an interview was conducted with a peasant woman who came right to the point, saying "we were waiting for someone to invade us!"

Prior to the Soviet intervention, Afghanistan probably represented the world's most backward country. Medieval features such as chattel slavery, the bride's price and a theocratic police state characterized the Afghan society.

The Soviet Union has catapulted this country into the 20th century by building schools, hospitals and electric power stations. These actions have laid the basis for the Afghan people to practice self-determination.

As the Soviet government stated, "you don't discuss the sovereignty of a nation, you defend it!"

Finally, you're not going to find a more hideous collection of murderous thugs and terrorists than Thomason's Afghan freedom fighters. They regularly shoot women for attending school and want to establish an Islamic dictatorship such as Iran's.

But not to worry. The Red Army is mopping up these CIA dupes, to the delight of the majority of Afghan people. — Gary Keenan, Carbondale.

Bedfellows separate over sexuality

Mr. Phillips is correct in his assertion that fundamentalists and feminists make strange bedfellows in the battle over pornography (DE, July 16). He neglects to mention one clear ideological difference between the two groups. While some feminists oppose pornography, we do not oppose healthy, lusty sex.

Pornography is reductionist. Its message is that we — men and women — are no more than the sum of our anatomically exaggerated parts. An increasing and disturbing trend in pornography is the use of violent and sadistic images to arouse men. The social scientific evidence is mixed on whether pornography causes violence towards women. The question will continue to be debated.

Phillips' sweeping indictment of feminism as he sets up the pins to make his argument about sexual fascism — "anti-male feminist advocates of reverse sexism" — is a cheap shot. Being "pro-woman" does not translate necessarily into "anti-male." Neither is it anti-male, in my book, to dare to be critical of the sad, tired and infantile Playboy philosophy (two girls for every boy) or, at the other end of the spectrum, to oppose the sale of women's bodies for someone's ephemeral pleasure.

I, too, am alarmed by the fundamentalist's campaign on "smut." Looking at pornography as an issue of sexual morality alone obscures a more important question: How does pornography effect our understanding of and respect for one another? — Beth Hartung, lecturer, Sociology.

Sidewalks need fixed for handicapped use

Is Carbondale as accessible to the handicapped as people think it is? The answer is both yes and no.

Carbondale did win a national award for being one of the most accessible cities. This is not the "be all and end all" of the accessible question in Carbondale. One of the crucial needs of the wheelchair handicapped is accessible sidewalks. It is not hard to believe that some of the sidewalks are inaccessible. Just walk down West Cherry or West College streets. Neither of these streets are very accessible to those in wheelchairs. Some of the intersections on these streets have ramps, but not all, and not even on the same side of the street.

Even those intersections that do have ramps and are accessible have sidewalks full of large bumps, holes and cracks. This forces the wheelchairs into the streets. If something is not done soon to correct this situation, the city may have a large liability problem on its hands, and I do not mean just a broken wheelchair or someone falling out of one, either.

Those in wheelchairs and other concerned individuals must speak out to correct this dangerous situation. — David J. Madlener, Carbondale.

S. Africa ambassador position still open as Brown withdraws

HIGH POINT, N.C. (UPI) — Black businessman Robert Brown, promising he will not forsake his "South African brothers and sisters," asked President Reagan Monday to withdraw his name from consideration as ambassador to South Africa.

Brown, a public relations executive, had been on the top of Reagan's list of possible selections for the sensitive post in Pretoria, but administration officials turned cool on the idea after questions were raised that could have tangled his confirmation by the Senate.

In a statement, Brown said, "I sincerely thank President Reagan and Secretary of State George Shultz for considering me as a nominee for the post of ambassador to South Africa."

"I am deeply grateful to people from all walks of life and of all colors who wrote telegrams, sent letters of support and prayed for me during this past week," he said. "Today, I have asked the White House to withdraw my name from further consideration."

Brown said he made his decision after "careful consideration and deliberation with my family."

The withdrawal, Brown said, does not mean he is forsaking blacks in South Africa, where the white-minority government's racial separation policy called apartheid has sparked increasing violence in recent months.

"My commitment to help my South African brothers and sisters is as strong as it was before there was a possible nomination," Brown said. "It is my belief that President Reagan sincerely wants peace in South Africa. My prayers are with him as he embarks upon the task of bringing black and white South Africans together to save that country and bring freedom to all its people."

"Until all are free in South Africa, no one will be truly free," he said.

Although administration officials said Reagan decided last week to name Brown to succeed Herman Nickel as ambassador, a background check turned up potentially embarrassing business dealings by Brown. Brown, who headed President Nixon's "black capitalism" program, has been linked to a Nigerian official accused of corruption.

In addition, congressional hearings were held in 1977 to look into a partnership Brown was involved in that in 1972 received a Small Business Administration contract intended for disadvantaged minority companies. At the time Brown was Nixon's aide on minority affairs.

Brown also has been criticized by union leaders who say his company, B&C Associates, has engaged in union-busting activities in North Carolina.

Brown has denied any wrongdoing.

"I have met and worked with the major union people in South Africa, and they want freedom and I want freedom for them," Brown said in an earlier interview. "So I don't understand a lot of what these people said. A great deal of it has not been true."

Scientists explore Titanic's stern

WOODS HOLE, Mass. (UPI) — Explorers descended to the bottom of the sea Monday for the first close-up look at the sunken luxury liner Titanic's stern, a large section of wreckage they were surprised to find intact.

Expedition leader Robert Ballard headed a three-man team that departed from the research vessel Atlantis II at about 8:30 a.m. aboard the mini-submarine Alvin for a 2 1/2-hour journey to shipwreck's watery grave.

"It should be a fascinating day. We'll finally get a shot at the stern," said Ballard in a ship-to-shore radio conversation with the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution before departing.

Officials at the institution expected another call from Ballard Monday night with a report on the day's activity, which will be the eighth dive with the Alvin since the expedition began. Eleven dives are planned.

The researchers planned to deploy a lawnmower-sized camera nicknamed Jason Jr. to get close-up video of the stern section and possibly enter the wreckage.

The research team on Saturday photographed the intact section of the stern some 13,000 feet below the surface using a remote controlled camera system known as Angus. They realized they had found the stern when they analyzed the pictures on Sunday.

The 200- to 250-foot piece of wreckage was jammed in the sand but appeared to be upright in an 800-foot area filled with other debris, including boilers and engine room telegraph equipment.

"We were surprised after looking at all the wreckage in the debris field to find that much intact," said Ballard, who was accompanied Monday by Ralph Hollis and Ken Stewart.

Pictures taken when a French-American team headed by Ballard first found the wreckage some 400 miles south of Newfoundland in September indicated that only the bow was intact. The remainder of the ship appeared to be broken up and spread around a large area nearby.

Britain gears up for Royal wedding

LONDON (UPI) — Preparations for the royal wedding moved into high gear Monday as London prepared for the pageantry Wednesday that will turn commoner Sarah Ferguson into Her Royal Highness the Princess Andrew.

Ferguson, known as "Fergie," and Prince Andrew rehearsed the ceremony in private at Westminster Abbey, which was closed to the public for the first time. Prince Edward, Andrew's best man, tried to fool photographers by wearing a sling on his right arm going in — and then on his left coming out.

Thereafter the Abbey was abandoned to television lighting men and 42 flower arrangers — chosen by lot from around the country — who worked feverishly with 20,000 blooms whose colors the bride asked to be kept secret.

By mid-day Monday seven people were already jammed on the sidewalk across from the Abbey, vowing to remain there until the wedding is over.

Alumnus killed in car accident

An SIU-C alumnus was killed in a automobile accident on New Route 13 and Giant City Road around 12:18 a.m. Saturday, according to a Carbondale Police report.

Anthony J. Bleyer, 26, of Carbondale, was a passenger in a car driven by Tina M. Perotta of Herrin. Perotta made a left turn off Main Street onto Giant City Road in the path of a car driven by Gordon L. Yearian of Murphysboro.

Bleyer died from a broken neck, according to the report.

Perotta was taken to Memorial Hospital with internal injuries and fractures and is in satisfactory condition.

Yearian was treated and released from Memorial Hospital Saturday.

Livengood is still a Wyoming candidate

By Steve Merritt
Assistant Sports Editor

Even though SIU-C Athletics Director Jim Livengood has returned from Wyoming with the same declaration that he left with — that he is not interested in a job as athletics director at the University of Wyoming — he has not yet withdrawn his name from the pool of finalists.

According to Kevin McKinney, sports information director and head of Wyoming's athletics director search committee, Livengood is still among the four final candidates.

"In no way did Jim withdraw his name or indicate that he wanted his name taken from consideration," McKinney said Monday afternoon. "We still consider him to be among our group of finalists."

Livengood was unavailable for comment.

McKinney said a sub-committee of the board of trustees would meet on Thursday to prepare a final recommendation for the rest of the board. The board, which will make the final decision along with outgoing university president Don Veal, will meet on Saturday to make the ultimate decision.

Jim Livengood

In the last two searches for an athletics director, the search committee's final recommendation was not accepted by the board. This time, the search committee was not asked for a final recommendation, which made the search committee more of a screening committee.

Both the board and the search committee interviewed all four of the final candidates. Livengood was in Laramie July 16 and 17 for interviews. Before making the trip, Livengood called his visit a "courtesy gesture" and insisted that he was not interested in the position at Wyoming.

Brown issues 4-game suspensions

NEW YORK (UPI) — Manager Pat Corrales of the Cleveland Indians and pitcher Dave Stewart of the Oakland A's were suspended for four games by American League President Bobby Brown Monday for their part in a bench-clearing brawl at Oakland July 1.

Point guard enrolls at SIU-C but will sit out for one season

By Steve Merritt
Assistant Sports Editor

Even though most people at SIU-C had thought that 6-foot guard Sterling Mahan of St. Joseph's High School in Westchester had been lost as a potential basketball recruit through the new NCAA academic guidelines, the highly-touted point player has enrolled at SIU-C for the fall semester.

Late in the spring semester, it was discovered that Mahan did not have the required core curriculum classes, rendering him ineligible to play as a freshman at the Division I level. Mahan later did not make the required scores on ACT tests and it was thought that he was lost as a potential Saluki.

But according to a published report Friday in the Chicago Tribune, Mahan has enrolled for the fall semester at SIU-C.

Apparently, Mahan will come to SIU-C and will concentrate on academics while sitting out his freshman year. By sitting out the first year, Mahan will still have four years of athletic eligibility remaining.

If Mahan meets all academic requirements during his freshman year at SIU-C, he will be offered a scholarship at the beginning of next fall and will be ready to suit up for the 1987-88 basketball season.

As a third guard, Mahan averaged 15.7 points and 5.3 rebounds for St. Joseph's last season. He played in the shadows of all-star Tony Freeman, who signed with Indiana, and Billy Stanback, who signed with Western Michigan.

At the recent Prairie State Games, Mahan averaged 26 points per game and led the Windy City team in scoring in two of three games.

Mahan will sit out the season along with another recruit, Eric Griffin, of Carrier Mills, who is being redshirted for athletic and not academic reasons.

A third Saluki basketball recruit, Darryl Liberty of Chicago King High School, will be required to graduate from a junior college before being eligible to receive a Division I scholarship.

Liberty was reported to be contemplating enrollment at an area junior college, such as John A. Logan in Carterville or Rend Lake College in Ina. It is not known if Liberty will ever don a Saluki uniform

The MVC will make a ruling on Bradley post-season plans

By Steve Merritt
Assistant Sports Editor

The Missouri Valley Conference committee on infractions will meet in late August to determine whether the Bradley Braves, recently hit with sanctions by the NCAA for recruiting violations, will be allowed to play in the Valley's post-season tournament.

According to Joe Mitch, an MVC administrator, the Valley would lose its automatic berth in the NCAA playoffs if Bradley won the post-season tournament. Mitch said the MVC tournament counts as regular-season play instead of post-season play.

If Bradley were to win the tournament and thus lose the MVC's automatic berth to the NCAA's, it would mean a loss of revenue for all the MVC schools, who divide monies made from post-season appearances.

Bradley was investigated by the NCAA and all sanctions were made by the NCAA. The MVC now has to decide if those sanctions are sufficient or if more sanctions should be imposed.

"We have a couple of options," Mitch said. "We can now either accept what the NCAA has handed down or the infractions committee can make further sanctions."

The NCAA hit Bradley with a

Moyer hurls Chicago to a 6-1 victory

CHICAGO (UPI) — Jamie Moyer made an impressive bid to stay on the Chicago Cubs' roster Monday.

Moyer threw eight innings of shutout ball to lead the Cubs to a 6-1 victory over the San Diego Padres.

The rookie southpaw, shelled in his last outing against Los Angeles when he didn't last the first inning, limited the Padres to five hits. He gave way to Lee Smith, who pitched the ninth and permitted a RBI double by Steve Garvey to spoil the shutout.

Moyer, 2-2, who had a 9.37 ERA entering the game, did not allow a San Diego runner past second base. The loss was the Padres' fourth straight and dropped them one game below .500.

"It's really up to the club whether they trade me, send me down or what," Moyer said. "My job is to go out there and do the best I can, try to improve and get better."

Jerry Mumphrey went 4-for-4 and Ron Cey drove in two runs with a sacrifice fly in the sixth and a RBI double in the eighth to lead the 13-hit attack.

LaMarr Hoyt, 5-5, suffered the loss.

In the bottom of the first inning, Dunston led off with a double over third base, went to third on Ryne Sandberg's infield out and scored on Thad Bosley's grounder to second.

Saluki track, swimming athletes successful at Prairie State meet

By Steve Koulos
Sports Editor

Members of the SIU-C women's track and men's swimming teams experienced the most success last weekend in the Prairie State Games at Champaign.

Four members of the women's track team helped the South region win the goal medal in the women's track open division.

The Salukis' quartet of Darcie Stinson, Kathy Raske, Brenda Beatty and Felicia Veal won the 400-meter relay in 49.17 seconds and the 1,600-meter relay in four minutes, 2.44 seconds. The South region women's track team was coached by Don DeNoon, who is the SIU-C women's track coach.

In men's open swimming, Gib Eshoo and Tom Nye, seniors on the Saluki men's swimming team, turned in first-place performances.

Eshoo won the 100-meter breaststroke in 1:11.13 and the 200-meter breaststroke in 2:37.80. The 400-meter medley relay team, consisting of Eshoo, Nye, and SIU-C graduate students Barry Hahn and David Sims, won the event in 4:15.87.

Ron Harrer, a member of the SIU-C men's track team, competed for the Blackhawk region and won the discus with a 168-8 effort.

In open women's volleyball, the South region won the silver medal. The South fell to the Blue Gray team in the championship game by the scores of 15-7 and 15-7.

Six former members and four current members of the SIU-C volleyball team competed for the South team, who were coached by Saluki assistant volleyball mentor Sonya Locke.

In open women's basketball, the South region finished fourth, losing the bronze medal game to Blackhawk in overtime, 78-77. Current Saluki basketball players Cathy Kampwerth and Anne Thouvenin scored 17 and six points, respectively. Former Saluki Char Warring contributed 13 points.

Of the eight regional teams competing in the Prairie State Games, the North Shore region won the Governor's Cup with 670 points. The South finished in a sixth-place tie with West Central with 295 points.

Three SIU-C grid players make pre-season All-America team

Three members of the SIU-C football team — tailback Bryon Mitchell, inside linebacker Rick Spielman, and strong safety John Field — were named on The Sporting News 1986 Preseason Division I-AA All-America Checklist.

The checklist speculates on which collegiate players have the best chance of receiving All-America honors in the fall.

Mitchell, a 5-foot-11, 178-pound junior from St. Louis, gained 1,211 yards in 171 attempts last season.

Spielman, a 6-foot, 227-pound senior from Massillon, Ohio, led the Salukis in tackles last fall with 105.

Field, a 5-foot-10, 200-pound senior from Berlin Heights, Ohio, had a solid 1985 season. He finished behind Spielman with 100 tackles, had five quarterback sacks and added two interceptions. Field received first-team All-America honors last fall by The Football News.

two-year probation, a one-year ban on off-campus recruiting and no post-season play in 1986-87. In addition, Bradley coach Dick Versace will not be offered a new contract after the 1986-87 season.

This year, Bradley and Tulsa played three NCAA tournament games, netting $300,000 that was divided among all the MVC schools, except SIU-C which was on probation for the Kenny Perry pay-off scandal that surfaced in the spring of 1985.

That probation cost the SIU-C basketball program $50,000 in television revenues and another $33,333 in post-season monies.

Mitch said that he did not know whether any economic sanctions would be placed on Bradley. The NCAA penalties did not include any economic sanctions.

The Bradley Braves 1985-86 basketball season was certainly a stellar one, as the Braves compiled an overall record of 32-3, won the regular-season MVC title and made a two-game venture into the NCAA tournament. Point guard Jim Les was named as the conference player of the year and Versace won the conference coach of the year award.

In the Perry situation at SIU-C, the MVC made sanctions that were then upheld by the NCAA. In the Bradley-Webster case, however, the NCAA handed down the sanctions, which are now subject to scrutiny by the MVC infractions committee.

Bradley is the third MVC team to be placed on probation for recruiting violations since 1981. Besides SIU-C in 1985 and Bradley in 1986, Wichita State was placed on probation in 1981 for basketball and in 1982 for football.

Carbondale Post 514 advances to semifinals

The Carbondale American Legion baseball team Post 514 defeated top-seeded Murphysboro 5-3 in second-round action of the district 25 tournament held in West Frankfort Sunday night.

Carbondale advanced to Friday's semifinals in the winners bracket, but its opponent will not be known until Wednesday night.

Carbondale routed Pinckneyville 10-4 Saturday in first-round action to advance to the second round.

In Sunday's game against Murphysboro, the score was tied 2-2 until the bottom of the fourth inning when Carbondale scored two runs.

Years of sweat pay off for Herrin bodybuilder

By Jockie Johnston
Student Writer

Nine years of sweat and dedication paid off for Randall Steinmetz of Herrin when he captured the 1986 Amateur Athletics Union Novice Mr. Southern Illinois Bodybuilding Championship title.

During Saturday's competition at the Marior Civic Center, Steinmetz, a 27-year-old correctional officer at the Marion Penitentiary, reached the goal he set four years ago. He had placed fifth in the contest the past two years.

Steinmetz won the short class division and then defeated middle class winner Kevin Nejedlo of Addison and tall class winner Daniel Ellinghausen of Tinley Park in the overall competition.

The winners of each height category competed for the Mr. Southern Illinois title.

Steinmetz was one of 39 bodybuilders who flexed their muscles in a display of muscular development and definition, symmetry and the ability to put their movements into a posing routine before 450 admiring spectators. Steinmetz said he spent countless hours at Piper's Gym in Herrin where he lifts weights and received nutritional counseling from Randy Dawson, owner of SI Fitness Center in Benton, and Stacey Hosman, a friend. Both helped him with his diet, which is a crucial factor in bodybuilding competition, Steinmetz said.

"The diet was 75 percent," Steinmetz said. Although calorie intake was cut throughout the diet, the last week before the contest was crucial in terms of water depletion, he added.

He said his water depletion consisted of 32 ounces Monday through Wednesday, 25 ounces on Thursday and Friday, and only 6 ounces on Saturday before the contest.

The strenuous diet takes its toll physically and mentally and now Steinmetz says he deserves a break. He said he is looking forward to relaxation and food during a vacation to the Ozark Mountains.

After his vacation, Steinmetz plans to train for next year. He said he hopes to gain 10 pounds of muscle mass and compete for the Mr. Illinois title.

Steinmetz said he felt the crowd was behind him and that the trophies he received are great, but the real thrill of winning was the support and recognition he received from the audience. Joseph LaChiana, Carbondale, placed second in the middle class division. After competing for the first time, LaChiana said, "It was fun. A person would have to go through it to really understand it."

LaChiana said he dieted for three months in preparation for the contest. Toward the end of the diet, he said he barely had enough energy to make it through the day — let alone through the strenuous workouts.

Taking a one-day break, he'll return to the Recreation Center to train with former Mr. Southern Illinois Jeff Harrison, who is helping him train for the National Physical Council Tristate Open, LaChiana said.

Winners in each height class were: Tom Shimak of Tinley Park placing second to Steinmetz in the short class. John Santoro of Chicago was third, followed by Tim Franke of Tinley Park and Aaron Chiarvalle of Peoria.

Daniel McAfoose was third in the middle class.

Church threatens to punish nuns

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican singled out two American nuns and threatened them with formal disciplinary measures Monday for signing an abortion advertisement that appeared in The New York Times during the 1984 presidential campaign.

Sisters Barbara Ferraro and Patricia Hussey, who operate a shelter for the homeless in Charleston, W.Va., were among 27 members of Roman Catholic religious communities who signed the ad that ran Oct. 7, 1984.

All 27 originally faced expulsion from their orders for signing the controversial ad, which held that the church's total ban on abortion was not "the only legitimate Catholic position."

Ferraro and Hussey are members of the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur, whose leadership last month asked the two women to explain their position on the abortion issue.

In Charleston, Ferraro said the Vatican's announcement disappointed but did not surprise them.

Initiative "Our research has protect more than SDI. Wars," he said.

Neil Taylor, MAPP member, said students must be concerned about the future. "It's the future that we have to make," Taylor said, adding that 50 years from now the people working on "Star Wars" will be "cold in the ground."

Taylor also said that the administration is ignoring a majority of students who want the University to refuse grants such as this one and to be a nuclear-free zone.

"We can't provide peace with weapons, we can't provide peace with anger and we can't provide peace by threatening those around us," Taylor said.

The group moved to Thomopoulos' office to present him with an umbrella of his own and to challenge him to a debate about the research.

Thomopoulos said he would consider a debate if it was going to be about science. When asked if he would debate the research on a moral ground, Thomopoulos said, "Everything has a moral argument and it can all be twisted around."

"I thought it was just another grant," Thomopoulos said. "I am not sure why it is drawing all this attention." He said that since the research is not classified, people are making too much of it because it has been labeled SDI. The research has been going on for more than three months.

Another rally to protest the SDI research is scheduled for the first week of the fall semester.

Because of the limited number of examination periods available, no departmental examination times are scheduled for the Summer. The following points are pertinent to the final examination schedule:

1. The class final exam period is scheduled based on the meeting time and days listed on the first line of the class entry in the up-to-date Schedule of Classes book (which should be the same as the first printed line for the section on the registered student's schedule print-out). For example, a class section is listed in the Schedule in the manner:

07:30 - 8:30 T TH
08:40 - 09:40 W F

The scheduled class time for the first line of the entry starts with "07" and the meeting days for that line are "T TH" only. Therefore the exam time is 8:00 - 9:50 a.m. Thursday, July 31, as is indicated on the attached Summer 1986 Final Examination Schedule.

2. Classes should plan to hold their final examination in their regularly scheduled class rooms. The space scheduling section of the Office of Admissions and Records will forward to departments information relative to the location for examinations in their regularly scheduled rooms because of a space conflict. This will be done sufficiently in advance of the final examination days to provide sufficient notice for all.

3. Students who find they have more than three examinations on one day may petition, and students who have two examinations scheduled at one time should petition their academic dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that students may decide to miss the scheduled examination time and expect to make it up during this make-up period. This period is to be used only for students whose petitions have been approved by their dean.

4. Students who must miss a final examination may not take an examination before the time scheduled for the class examination. Information relative to the proper grade to be given students who miss a final examination and are not involved in a situation covered in the preceding paragraph will be found in the mimeographed memorandum forwarded to members of the instructional staff at the time they receive the final grade listing for the recording of grades.

1. One credit-hour courses, and classes scheduled for meeting dates less than the full 8-week session have their examinations during the last regularly scheduled class period prior to the two formal exam days.

2. Other classes (those scheduled for the full 8-week session) should hold their final exams according to the following:
