Hemphill battles state for workers' benefits

By John Ambrosia
Staff Writer

Mark Hemphill, the former SIU-C football player paralyzed in an injury last October, is fighting a legal battle with the Illinois Attorney General's office and the University over the right of a scholarship athlete to collect worker's compensation benefits.

Hemphill, who was paralyzed from the neck down following an injury in a game Oct. 6, filed a motion with the Illinois Industrial Commission June 9 asking for the right to collect workman's compensation.

Hemphill's attorney claimed that he had been injured "on the job" because he was a scholarship athlete and was being "paid" by the University to play football.

Two weeks later, the Illinois Attorney General's office filed a counterclaim asking that Hemphill's request be denied because he wasn't technically an employee of the University. The University is named in Hemphill's claim.

Attorneys for both sides agree that the case is the first of its kind in Illinois, and that it has the potential to set precedent in state law. Similar cases have been tried in other states.

The case will be heard Oct. 8 before state arbitrator Ray Doody, representing the Chicago-based Industrial Commission, in the New State Building in Marion, according to Nancy Anderson, assistant to the Illinois Industrial commissioner.

Reagan supporters planning to campaign door to door

By Karen Gullø
Staff Writer

Southern Illinois Republicans will launch their 24th District campaign for Ronald Reagan in October by going door to door to drum up support.

Two possible visits in to Southern Illinois in October by GOP presidential candidate Reagan and his running mate, George Bush, will also be a major part of the campaign in this area, according to campaign organizers.

Dick Dethrow, co-chairman of Reagan's campaign in the 24th Congressional District, said Monday that door-to-door campaigning and follow-up telephoning are part of Reagan's nationwide campaign. Dethrow said he attended a statewide Reagan campaign meeting in Chicago last week.

An SIU-C student in political science, Thomas Mansmith, was appointed this week to head the Reagan youth campaign on campus.

Meanwhile, GOP candidate for the 24th District seat in the U.S. House, John T. Anderson, met with Reagan, Bush and other GOP candidates on the

Chris Holthause, a St. Louis attorney representing Hemphill said, "Mark was definitely an employee of the school. He was being paid in the form of tuition, books, room and board and other items. But he still was being 'paid' to perform a service. And that was to play football."

In the claim, Holthause is asking for $190,000 in compensation pay, the equivalent of $90 a week for the rest of Hemphill's life expectancy, and also a yet undetermined amount for medical expenses.

"In describing the case, I'm using the 'magic' words contained within the Illinois compensation laws," Holthause said. "Mark was 'injured' in an 'accident' while performing a 'service' for his employers. Now that entitles him to benefits."

The argument is whether playing college football can be considered as employment in the "most liberal application of the word," Holthause said. If that is established then Hemphill will be entitled to benefits, he added.

"There are two schools of thinking here," he said. "One is what I call the realistic viewpoint of the situation, and the other is the traditional viewpoint. Realism says Mark deserves the benefits; tradition says he doesn't."

The "realistic" viewpoint may win in this case because Illinois compensation laws are liberally written and defined, Holthause said.

"The major problem here is that there is no other way to take care of a kid who goes to college and in effect has his head amputated," he said.

Jim Powless, assistant attorney general, disagreed, stating, "The state has taken a position that there isn't an employment relationship between Hemphill and the University. As far as we're concerned, this shouldn't even be going into a hearing."

Powless said there have been situations where a scholarship athlete has been given an on-campus job in addition to his sports participation and was rightfully awarded compensation. But he added that Hemphill only played football and is not entitled to the benefits.

"Hemphill's attorney has tried to claim that there are precedents from other states on which to base a decision favorable to Mark," Powless said. "But remember those were other states with other situations. A crippled college athlete has never done the same thing Hemphill is attempting to do."

The state's counterclaim says that in Illinois "an employment relationship does not exist" for a scholarship or grant-in-aid and the granting institution." The motion also cited two past Illinois cases in which similar claims were denied.

steps of the Capitol in Washington. Reagan and other Republican leaders signed a pledge called the "Capitol Compact" which says that if elected, Reagan will cut domestic spending and taxes while creating jobs and bolstering U.S. defenses.

Anderson said Monday in a telephone interview from Washington that he and other Republican leaders met with marketing research specialists who briefed the candidates on the issues which are the most important to the American people. The specialists told them that polls show Americans still view inflation, high interest rates and unemployment as the most prominent issues of the campaign, Anderson said.

Referring to his Democratic opponent, U.S. Rep. Paul Simon, Anderson said that his bid for Simon's congressional seat is not a matter of party politics any more.

"My candidacy isn't a matter of being a Republican," Anderson said. "It has to do with being on the grassroots level, being a native of Marion and Southern Illinois businessman."

Anderson criticized Simon's recent appearance in Carbondale with a Department of Energy coal official.

"For the last three terms, Simon has appeared with some Washington official and says he's doing something about coal production in Southern Illinois, and then he goes back to Washington and votes for tougher environmental regulations on the coal industry," Anderson said. "He's talking out of both sides of his mouth."

Gus says that'll be Reagan's fingers with fingers on the doorbells, to be followed by Carter's crowd and perhaps Anderson's army.

With a kiss and a tuck from Greg Campbell, Linda Koschoreck, junior in Radio TV, is on her way to dreamland. Campbell, coordinator of the Pleasant Dreams Tuck-in service, and a freshman in architecture, said the service was to comfort lonesome and homesick females.

Nighty-night...

Volunteers offering a tuck-in and a kiss

By Linda Albert
Staff Writer

For a small fee of 25 cents, female SIU-C students can now buy a bedtime story, the temporary use of a teddy bear—and a little comfort and companionship.

man in architecture and coordinator of the Pleasant Dreams Tuck-in Service.

Designed to comfort lonesome and homesick females and help them adjust to college life, Campbell's service consists of a staff of male volunteers who—dressed in pajamas and bathrobes—will visit women's residences, and "tuck them in" bed with a teddy bear, a bedtime story of their choice, and even a goodnight kiss.

"We just wanted to give the girls a sense of security and let them know that somebody really cares about them and their feelings," Campbell explained. "We thought it would be fun and thought it would be a good chance to meet more girls too."

Campbell said that since September, when the 21 volunteers from the all-male floor of Neely Hall began their tucking-in, about 15 women have used the service.

"We're really interested in changing our image of being a rowdy floor," Campbell said. "We like it on the 15th floor and would like to stay there next year."

He said that all profits from the service will be used to sponsor parties and outings for Neely Hall residents.

After a woman makes an appointment for the service, a volunteer will negotiate a contract between the tucker (tuck-in volunteer) and the tuckee (the woman).

"The contract lays down the guidelines of the rights and responsibilities of both parties," Campbell said. If a situation arises that the tuckee doesn't approve of, she can report it to Stan Ervin, an SIU law student and 15th floor resident assistant who helped develop the project, he said.

With the contract signed, the 15-minute service begins. "We'll read them anything they want to hear in any way they want to have it read," Campbell said. "We've even been asked to read some pornographic versions of fairy tales."

Although Pleasant Dreams is not the only service of its kind on campus, Campbell claims that the 15th floor Neely crew was the first to develop one. Because of competition, Campbell said they were forced to reduce their service rate from the original 99 cents.

"At first we had a hard time recruiting guys to help with the service," Campbell said. "But after 10 tuck-in customers during the first few nights of operation, gathering volunteers was no problem."

"Most of the girls really like our project," Campbell said. "The very first tuck-in I did was a real experience. When I walked in the room, there they were—their faces covered in mud packs and cold cream."

"It was real appetizing," he added, laughing. "From the closet I could hear giggling. So, I just invited them to come out and listen to the bedtime story with us. Out of that small closet came five girls. And one of them was a resident assistant!"

"I understand that there is a group of girls on another floor of Neely who also have a tuck-in service," Campbell said with a smile. "I may give them a call. It sounds interesting."

Cuba tells homesick refugees they made 'one way trip' to U.S.

MIAMI (AP) — In a statement hailed by U.S. officials, the Castro government warned Cuban refugees that they made "a one-way trip" to the United States. It said those who hijack planes to return home face "drastic penal measures" and could be extradited.

"The scum have become disillusioned. Thousands have had bitter experiences in the Yankee paradise and now want to come back to Cuba," the Communist Party newspaper Granma said in a front-page article which was read over Radio Havana and monitored in Miami.

Cuban authorities had previously said hijackers would be prosecuted, but Tuesday's statement gave a stronger warning, of "drastic penal measures" or "return to the United States to be judged in that country."

It was the Cuban's closest step yet toward cooperation since the current spate of nine hijackings to Cuba — nearly all blamed on homesick refugees — began on Aug. 10.

U.S. officials earlier had complained that Cuban authorities weren't providing information on the hijackers' fates, thus encouraging rumors among Cuban exiles here that hijackers were being released to their families.

Secretary of State Edmund Muskie, in a statement issued in Washington, said the United States "welcomes the decision just announced by the Cuban government" and called it "a positive step" in combating terrorism.

The Cuban newspaper article rejected U.S. efforts to organize a "reverse airlift" for the dissatisfied refugees.

Fire forces employees to leave Tribune Tower

CHICAGO (AP) — Part of the complex housing the Chicago Tribune was evacuated Tuesday after a fire that began in the basement foundry of Tribune Towers annex spread through a ventilating shaft, officials said.

Smoke then poured from the shaft into the Tribune Tower, which houses the paper's newsroom and main offices.

Tribune President Clayton Kirkpatrick said there were no injuries and no estimate of damage to the complex, which is an architectural landmark on Michigan Avenue just north of downtown.

"At this point we will publish," Assistant Managing Editor Bernie Judge said about 7:45 p.m. CDT. The fire was struck out by new Fire Commissioner William Blair at about the same time.

Blair said employees "may not be able to go back in" the foundry, or stereotype room, where metal plates for the printing presses are processed from molten lead. "But they say they have enough (plates made) to go tonight."

Robert Depenbrok, an employee in the foundry, said, "We heard this big explosion. It sounded like thunder. All of a sudden we saw the blaze and it was burning like crazy." He said the fire began shortly after 6 p.m.

Child psychologist Jean Piaget dies

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Jean Piaget, Swiss psychologist often called the father of modern child psychology, died Tuesday in Geneva. He was 84.

Dr. Piaget earned the nickname "giant in the nursery" for his pioneer research in the field of child development, expounded in more than 30 volumes that have been published in seven languages.

He had been at various times director of the International Office of Education, president of the Swiss Society of Psychology, co-editor of the Revue Suisse de Psychologie and member of the executive council of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. With the help of the Rockefeller Foundation, Piaget in 1955 established in Geneva the International Center of Genetic Epistemology, a meeting ground for psychologists and philosophers.

Piaget never obtained a university degree in psychology. He received a doctoral degree in zoology from the University of Neuchatel in 1918.

Grenades fired at U.S. Embassy

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Terrorists fired three anti-tank rocket grenades at the U.S. Embassy on Tuesday, causing some damage but apparently no injuries, security forces reported.

They said the grenades probably were fired from a building about 50 yards away from the fenced embassy compound. "Something put a hole in one of our upper stories but as far as we can tell, nobody was hurt," said an embassy spokesman contacted by telephone.

Another embassy employee said the damage was on the third floor, which houses the office of Ambassador Robert White, but White was not in the embassy at the time.

OPEC: Price hike progress made

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Ministers of the world's oil cartel said they were making progress on a long-term plan to boost prices by small amounts every three months. But Saudi Arabia said it wants militant members to lower their prices for the first time in OPEC's history before the scheme takes effect.

Oil, finance and foreign ministers of the 13-nation Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries spent a second day discussing the plan to link oil prices to world inflation, economic growth and currency fluctuations.

Suicide threat ends when man coaxed inside

By Michael Monson
Staff Writer

An SIU-C student threatening to jump Monday from a 17th-story ledge at Schneider Hall was persuaded to come back inside by a small group of friends, counselors, family and University officials.

A close friend of the student and counselors from Synergy and the Network were "super helpful" in persuading the student not to take his life, according to Vice President for Student Affairs Bruce Swinburne, who was among the group helping the student.

Swinburne said a phone conversation the student had with his parents while on the ledge also helped the student. He said the student was on the ledge from about 8:30 to 11:50 p.m. Swinburne said he talked "only very casually" with the student.

"Basically, it was a situation where many people were using the best judgement that they could," Swinburne said. "We kept a dialogue going with him the whole time."

There was no indication that the student was under the influence of drugs or alcohol, according to University News Service.

After the incident, the student was taken to the Health Service for observation, and then to the Anna Mental Health and Development Center for hospitalization.

Rally spurred inmate strike, officials say

By Dean Athans
Staff Writer

The work stoppage at the U.S. Penitentiary at Marion continued Tuesday and was caused by the recent demonstration near the prison by a prisoners' rights group, prison spokesman Ron Beai said.

Beai said Tuesday that the prison administration "believes the work stoppage was undertaken because inmates feel they have the support of outside groups."

The prison staff is maintaining basic services at the prison while investigating the cause of the strike, Beai said.

"Staff have received indications from inmates that it may have been done because of the rally," Beai said. He said the prison administration has received no list of demands in connection with the demonstration or the work stoppage, which began Monday at 7:35 a.m. It has closed both of the prison's factories and halted the work details of about 320 inmates, Beai said. He said he didn't know how long the stoppage would last.

Over the weekend, about 250 demonstrators rallied near the prison, protesting the use of Marion's control unit, solitary confinement, and the alleged use of violent punishment and behavior modification at the prison.

The protesters, many of whom walked in a protest march from East St. Louis to the prison, were sponsored by the National Committee to Support the Marion Brothers. MPRP attorneys, who attended the rally in support of their inmate clients, will send a representative to the prison to talk with inmates about grievances on Wednesday, a project spokesperson said.

Martha Easter-Wells, an attorney for the Carbondale-based prison support group, said the organization had not yet received any mail or telephone calls from inmates stating demands or reasons for the strike.

In last spring's 23-day work strike at Marion, which led to U.S. Department of Justice and FBI investigations, inmates demanding the creation of an inmate council. They also wanted more telephone, mail, food and television privileges and more freedom to move in the prison.

Easter-Wells said inmates have since received an additional telephone allowance of one call per month and have been granted less strict controls on their movement.

During the last strike, inmates reportedly expressed fear of reprisal to MPRP attorneys.

"This time," Easter-Wells said, "they won't be as leery to come forward with demands. The climate inside now is that inmates have the feeling they have to speak up."

Disclosure of athletics audit delayed

By John Ambrosia
Staff Writer

Presentation of an internal audit of the athletics program to the Board of Trustees, expected last Thursday, has been delayed until next month, according to Chancellor Kenneth Shaw.

The audit had been requested by the board in December following approval of a $10 increase in the athletics fee. The board approved the increase with the stipulation that it be reassessed through the use of an internal budget audit prior to December 1980.

The board agreed last year that if action to make the fee increase permanent isn't taken by December, after examination of the audit, the increase will be abolished for the 1981-82 school year.

According to Shaw, the audit, completed in July, won't be ready for presentation to the board until comments on the findings are received from several top administrators. SIU-C President Albert Somit has the audit and said he expects to return it to Shaw this week. The audit has been reviewed by George Mace, vice president for university relations and athletics program head, and Gale Sayers, men's athletics director.

Shaw said the board is expected to discuss the audit at its October or November meeting.

Although the audit's findings were expected to become public record earlier this month, the postponement in the presentation also delayed the release of the information for at least two or three weeks, Shaw said.

Mace had requested a permanent fee increase, but board member and current Chair

William Norwood suggested, instead, approval of a temporary fee increase and an internal audit of athletics program spending.

During discussions on the increase, student constituency groups argued that there were too many unanswered questions concerning the athletics budget for a permanent fee increase to be instituted.

But University officials claimed that the increase was needed immediately if the athletics program was to be maintained.

The audit investigated spending and management needs in the department, but wasn't unique from audits regularly undertaken in other areas, said Jack Simmons, SIU-C internal auditor. Simmons declined to discuss any findings of the study.

work and financial assistance, filed depositions stating that Hemphill wasn't called upon to perform any tasks unusual to playing college football.

Powless said, "The whole case is going to turn on that employment question."

Richard Higginson, University legal counsel, said, "He was a student and clearly these benefits are for people injured on the job. It's very unfortunate, what happened to Mark, but he doesn't deserve workman's comp."

Robert Skilton, visiting professor at the SIU School of Law, said that under current state law it is possible for Hemphill to be considered an employee of the University.

Carter should debate for the public's sake

If Jimmy Carter persists in his refusal to take part in the first League of Women Voters debate, the big loser will be the public.

There is no denying that all three candidates are trying to use the debates in the way most advantageous to them. But is that really what the debates should be for?

The League-sponsored debates are not designed to benefit the candidates. They are designed to introduce the candidates to the public. Their main function should be to give the American people the chance to judge the major candidates side by side.

Except for the debates, the candidates will rarely give the public a chance to watch them together. The debates therefore give the public the chance to closely compare the candidates, and that comparison should include all the candidates.

No doubt, Mr. Carter feels he has very sound reasons for not taking part. There is nothing wrong with looking out for one's best interests in a presidential campaign.

Yet, if the incumbent president refuses to take part, it is the American people who lose out.

The League plans to go ahead with the debate even if Mr. Carter declines to attend. That decision is truly in the best interest of the public. The debates should be used as a chance to at least compare John Anderson and Ronald Reagan.

Both of those candidates see participating in these debates as the politically sound thing for them to do. Mr. Carter doesn't consider debating Anderson and Reagan to be in his own best interest. Yet the debates should be in the best interests of the public, not the politicians.

Mr. Carter may not be making a mistake by not taking part, but he is cheating the public of the chance to compare the three candidates. The November election will determine the correctness of that decision.

The public deserves the right to compare the three candidates running for such an important position and make a choice based on knowledge of the candidates. The debates offer a very good vehicle for making that choice.

Mr. Carter should take part in the debates.

Christians' beliefs aren't archaic

In response to Mr. Philipp's letter in which he accuses Christians of "holding on to archaic beliefs that have outlived their usefulness," we would like to present the following case.

In Matthew 5:17-18, Jesus Christ says, "Do not think that I came to abolish the Law or the Prophets, I did not come to abolish but to fulfill. For truly I say to you, until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter or stroke shall pass away from the Law until all is accomplished." Thus, in one sweeping statement, Jesus verified the whole Old Testament. And in His discourse to the disciples, He promised to bring a New Testament.

St. Paul, in one of his messages, speaks thus: "Men ... I observe that you are very religious in all respects. For while I was passing through and examining the objects of your worship, I also found an altar with the inscription 'To an Unknown god.' What therefore you worship in ignorance, this I proclaim to you: ... Being then the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the divine Nature is like gold, silver or stone, an image formed by the art and thought of man. Therefore having overlooked the times of ignorance, God is now declaring to men that all everywhere should repent, because He has fixed a day in which He will judge the world in righteousness through a Man whom He has appointed, having furnished proof to all men by raising Him from the dead." (Acts 17:22-23, 29-31)

The Bible stands as one of the most authenticated documents of this day. We have more extant copies of Scripture than we do original copies of the writings of Plato and Caesar.

In closing, Jesus states in John 14:6, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life, no one comes to the Father but through Me."—Gleam Klipp, Graduate, Communications, Phil Fish, Senior, Aviation Management

Halloween ban might be good

"Why can't I buy bottled beer?"

"Is it really necessary that I drink inside the bars?"

"How come I have to be off the strip at 2:00?"

These are questions many of us have asked with regards to the restrictions placed on Halloween '80. I was dissatisfied with the City Council's decisions on phasing out SIU's Halloween extravaganza; however, my opinion changed and my questions were answered as I sat in the emergency room at Carbondale Memorial Hospital last Thursday night.

While sitting with my sister who was being treated for gastroenteritis, I watched the emergency room handle three cases of barroom "accidents." I looked on as the doctor on duty sutured a thigh that was cut to the bone by the knife of an unknown assailant. A woman who had been drinking since early evening acquired a deep laceration across her knee—from what, where or whom, she wasn't quite sure. A young man arrived from uptown with a severe head wound and a couple of very fat lips. Judging from the state he was in, I don't believe he knew what hit him.

These incidents occurred on Thursday night. Granted, Thursday night is a profitable one for most bars on the strip. But Thursday's crowd is nothing compared to Friday's or Saturday's crowds, or even Halloween's for that matter.

If we—as participants in the celebration of Halloween—cannot conduct ourselves in an acceptable manner now, how can we expect the City of Carbondale to trust us on the night most noted for its "wild and crazy" times?—Lori C. Sackman, Senior, Speech Education

Control Unit ruins humans

I would like to make a few corrections in the description of the Marion Control Unit given in the "Complaints by prison guards" article on Sept. 12. The control unit is not just small cells, it is cells totally cut off from light and sound. The control unit is being locked in total isolation 23½ hours a day. The control unit is the use of drugs and sophisticated psychological techniques to destroy human beings.

As for housing the "most dangerous prisoners" as the article would have us believe, I ask dangerous to whom or what? Many prisoners in the control unit are political or religious dissidents whose dangerousness lies in their commitment to leading movements for social change.

Kreskin's show is not so amazing

My intention for writing this letter is not to degrade Kreskin's performances but to tell the public the truth.

There is nothing really amazing about the Amazing Kreskin. To me, he is one of the stage hypnotists, magicians, and tricksters. The saddest thing is that he denied all these and called himself a mentalist.

Any professional psychiatrist, psychologist or hypnotist or those of us who have experienced hypnotism before would agree with me that the performances he did were stage hypnotism. He tried to convince the public he was not one of them by saying that normally a hypnotist needs a coin for the subject to concentrate, and he did not need one.

Let me tell you from the beginning. There are many ways one can hypnotize a subject. The one Kreskin did was to convince a subject that none of his action involved hypnotism. Upon hearing this, the subject willingly came up to the stage to be in the act. This willingness is an advantage to Kreskin because the subject subconsciously will do whatever he says. In place of the coin, Kreskin asked the subject to concentrate on his hands.

During the performance, the subjects seemed to be awake, but in reality they were not. They did not know anything that was going on. If there was a movie camera taking their picture, I bet they would be surprised to see themselves acting that way.

Also during the performance, the audience was asked to relax, close their eyes and regress back to their childhood years. Simultaneously, he asked the audience to think of any odd numbers between one and 50 that he was writing down. Of course then he will say any number and those who had the number he said coincidentally said they got the "mentalist effect." Wow—what an amazing feat!

The reason he asked the people to relax and clear their minds was to be able to tune into their minds telepathically. There is nothing amazing about that because anyone can do that if one learns the technique.

Let us hope none of us will be tricked and used again. I am brave enough to say all this because I have experimented with them and get the same result that Kreskin did. Thank you.—Mohammad Hami, Senior, Physics

Mad? Vote Republican

Mad as hell? Vote Republican.

At one time in my life I might have been mad. I have also been angry, but never to the point of voting Republican. No, for me to vote for Reagan would be cynical. It is mad to think that generating fear by increasing military strength will straighten out the world's problems. It is mad to think that America is free from blame for the unrest because, in many cases, we are the cause through our intervention (the CIA, for instance).

Mad as hell? Vote Republican. Stir the coals. Add fuel to the fire. Climb to your rooftops and play your violins.—Patrick Collier, Graduate, English

City police cracking down on law-breaking bicyclists

By Andrew Strang
Staff Writer

Bicycle riders, beware!
The Carbondale police department last week began giving out tickets to bicyclists who violate the bicycle laws in Carbondale. Lt. William Rypkema said.

"The major offenses that will be looked for are failure to stop for red lights and stop signs, riding the wrong way on a street and riding on the sidewalks," Rypkema said.

"This is a conscious effort to straighten out the bike traffic," Rypkema said.
At the beginning of the semester the police first tried to give verbal warnings to cyclists about bicycle violations, and then tried issuing warning tickets, which do not carry a fine, according to Rypkema. However, these warning methods were not very effective, so "hard" tickets are now being issued, he said. He added that the police try to issue warning tickets in hopes of decreasing bicycle violations every year, but every year there is no significant decrease in the number of violations until "hard" tickets are issued.

A ticket for a moving violation on a bicycle carries the same consequences as a ticket for a moving violation in a car. For example, riding a bicycle on the sidewalk on Illinois Avenue carries a $35 fine, the same as driving a car on the sidewalk. Also, violations are recorded on the person's driving record.

Theoretically, a person with three bicycle moving violations on their driving record could get their drivers license suspended by the secretary of state, Rypkema said. He added that he has not yet seen this happen.

He also added that it is not a good idea for a person to try to ride away from an officer in order to avoid a ticket because this changes the incident from a ticket to an arrest for obstructing a policeman. The only two people who did try to get away this semester were caught.

He said that tickets were not yet being given for not having license plates on the bike, because SIU-C does not have any license plates. He recommended that people still attempt to register their bikes at the Carbondale police station so that if their bicycle gets stolen and recovered, the police can determine whose bike they have.

"We've got a whole room full of bikes and we can't return them because there is no way to contact the owners."

The Carbondale police auction more than 100 bikes a year because they cannot find the owners, he said. He added that most of the stolen bikes that the police recover were originally stolen in Carbondale, and that if the owners had registered the bikes, they probably would have gotten their bikes back.

USO creates organization to give students more voice

By Randy Roguski
Staff Writer

In an effort to provide students with an additional avenue to student government, the Undergraduate Student Organization is creating the Union of Colleges, a USO system of representation based on academic units.

"We have recognized a need for more adequate representation of undergraduate concerns," USO President Paul Matalonis said. "This way students will have someone within their colleges to stick up for them."

The function of the board, Matalonis said, will be to identify student concerns at the college level and report directly to the USO Academic Affairs Commission.

Matalonis said the Union of Colleges will be an "experiment to determine whether we can get some vital information that we haven't gotten in the past."

"If the Union is successful," he said, "the Student Senate may choose to alter the USO constitution and by-laws to allow for college representation in the Senate."

Matalonis said the current senatorial system, representation according to housing districts, serves a limited purpose. He said he hopes the new board, working alongside the senatorial system, will be a "more comprehensive" liaison between students and USO.

"Board members will have direct contact with their constituency," Matalonis said. "They will be in classes with their constituency every day."

Bob Quane, USO vice president, said the Union of Colleges will "provide much more control." Not only will students be better able to communicate their concerns to USO, he said, but USO will be better able to communicate its activities to students.

"The communication aspect is crucial," Quane said. "It's a matter of cooperation."

Matalonis said he will appoint one representative from each of the University's 10 colleges to sit on the board. He said he will choose appointments from recommendations made by the deans of each college.

Appointments will be based on the student's number of years at the University, experience with organizations, academic ability and personal rapport with students and faculty, Matalonis said.

Matalonis had hoped to implement the Union of Colleges by Sept. 1, and had asked deans for their recommendations in July. He said, however, that he has received responses from only the School of Science, the School of Technical Careers and the School of Liberal Arts.

"We're very disappointed. We want to get this show on the road," Matalonis said. "But we realize the possibility that something may have been lost in the bureaucratic system."

Matalonis said he made follow-up contacts to most of the remaining colleges last week.

Bullies a problem? Hire 'My Bodyguard'

By Dean Athans
Staff Writer

Nearly everyone had problems in school with bullies who tried to pick a fight for no apparent reason. But was any sophomore in high school logical and "adult" enough to think of the obvious solution? Did you ever think of hiring a bodyguard?

In "My Bodyguard," a very realistic film about teen-age lifestyles, Cliff Peache (played by newcomer Chris Makepeace) does just that.

Much like 1978's surprisingly successful "Breaking Away," this film treats teens as human beings with complex problems rather than the cartoon characters they are made out to be in such films as "Hog Wild" or Mad Magazine's "Up The Academy."

Cliff, whose father (Martin Mull) manages the classy Ambassador East Hotel in Chicago, lives in style. But he soon finds that the Chicago Public School System isn't the same as the private prep school he had been going to.

He is harassed by Melvin Moody (Matt Dillon, the super stud of "Little Darlings"). Moody forces him, and other kids, to use their lunch money as protection-extortion money.

Moody contends that his gang is protecting everyone from Ricky Linderman (Alan Baldwin); a hulking, unshaven Fonzie-of-the-ghetto who everyone in the school fears. There are terrible rumors surrounding Linderman and these scare his fellow classmates. However, Cliff doesn't believe the innuendo Cliff's bodyguard, which leads to a great scene in the local deli where Cliff humiliates Moody and his friends in front of the whole school.

But after this, Cliff has problems convincing Linderman to continue as his bodyguard. He still doesn't believe he's a killer and so tries to befriend him.

There is a long series of scenes with the two walking through junk yards in search of a piston that Linderman has never been able to find for his rebuilt motorcycle. Cliff finds one and they ride through the city streets and parks.

Moody was tougher than Cliff all along and he also has tougher friends. Moody gets a bodyguard, too. This bodyguard's name is Mike, a bald, sumo wrestler-type built like a fire hydrant.

The first confrontation between Linderman and Mike is an awful scene only because of the feeling you get watching it. Maybe you've seen it or felt it before, but it has seldom been done so realistically on film. Mike is cruel. And now that Linderman's character is built, you pity his fear as he doesn't fight back and feel his hatred as his most valued possession—his motorcycle—is pushed in a river.

However, the film takes on a heroic "Rocky-type" turn when the diminutive Cliff builds back Linderman's confidence. Cliff's support and Linderman's revelation lead to a final climactic battle with his enemies.

"My Bodyguard" succeeds in much the same fashion as "Rocky" and "Breaking Away" did; movies to which it has been compared numerous times. It is not a kiddie movie.

The plot and resolution are as classic as those in the other two films. It is a story of the strength of the human spirit, but it is not a rehash of those movies. "My Bodyguard" may even reach the status the other two already have.

Review

and refuses to pay the confidence money. In return he is hassled every day by Moody.

But Linderman is watching, (by coincidence we are to assume) each time Cliff is threatened. Linderman's presence is threatening to Mooney, however, which is relieving to an audience who is expecting Cliff's body to get broken into three pieces at any moment.

Cliff finally approaches Linderman, offering to give him his lunch money in return for protection from the school's real danger—Moody. After one more of Moody's "jokes" (stuffing Cliff in a locker) Linderman decides to become

Du Quoin has reason to smile as record number go to fair

By Karen Clare
Staff Writer

The Du Quoin State Fair is staying true to its motto "Bigger and Better Every Year." Final attendance figures show that the 1980 fair drew the largest crowds ever.

Norbert Bartosik, president and general manager of the fair, said the 1980 fair drew a record-breaking 222,749 patrons. This is a five percent increase over last year's total, he added.

Hambletonian Day was the biggest attendance day, when more than 30,000 people entered the fairgrounds. The Kenny Rogers-Dottie West concert drew the largest crowd ever to see a night show—14,000 in all, he said.

Last year, the Willie Nelson show was the largest single night show attended," he said. This year, however, Nelson broke yet another record. His 1980 performance drew the largest opening night audience in fair history.

Many different factors played a part in the 1980 Du Quoin State Fair's success story, Bartosik explained.

"We go to great lengths to attract the people of Southern Illinois," Bartosik said. "People were pleased with the fact that we were able to book top entertainment. And with the economic situation this year, people stayed close to home instead of taking a vacation."

Bartosik also credits the Livestock and Farm and Home Show with helping to draw the record-breaking crowds.

"The Livestock and Farm and Home Show had been separated into two divisions for the last five years," he explained. "This year, the Livestock and Farm and Home Show were back together again."

"And up until Labor Day afternoon, the weather was fantastic," he added.

Although the Hambletonian won't be held at Du Quoin next year, Bartosik said he has high hopes of success for its replacement—the new World Trotting Derby, which will be run at the fairgrounds the last week in August.

"With publicity and a good advertising campaign on the new World Trotting Derby, in a short time we will be able to overcome any disadvantage," he added. "The only thing that changes is the name."

Free concert to feature Leo Kottke

Leo Kottke—a folk, country and blues artist with a string of critically acclaimed albums—will perform a free outdoor concert at the racquetball courts near the Arena at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

The concert, sponsored by the Student Programming Council, Consorts Committee, the Undergraduate Student Organization and House Councils, has been designated as a wrap-up event to Carbondale Clean-Up Day, said Eric Karaffa, chairman of SPC Consorts.

In case of rain, Karaffa said the concert will be moved indoors to Shryock Auditorium where two shows will be performed at 8:30 and 10:30 p.m. One dollar per person will be charged to cover rental of the auditorium if the concert is moved indoors, he added. Changes in schedule due to rain will be announced over local radio stations.

Kottke, a master of both the 12-string and six-string classical guitar, has released over a dozen albums, including "Greenhouse," "Burnt Lips" and a live set titled "My Feet Are Smiling," mostly for the Chrysalis and Capricorn Record labels.

His instrumental ability and lyrics are said to be the product of a transient childhood.

"Balance," Kottke's latest release, marks the artist's first work with a rhythm section and includes two non-original tunes: Buddy Holly's "Learning the Game" and "Embryonic Journey," written by Jorma Kaukonen of Jefferson Airplane fame.

Kottke has been named Guitar Player Magazine's Best Acoustic Guitarist of the year five times. He was Performance Magazine's Best Instrumentalist of 1976 and received a German Grammy Award in 1977 for Best Instrumentalist. His music was also part of the soundtrack of the Academy Award-winning film "Days of Heaven."

Leo Kottke will perform a free outdoor concert at the racquetball courts near the Arena at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Booking concerts into Shryock is hard work, not all glamour

By Bill Crowe
Entertainment Editor

Meeting musicians such as Chrissie Hynde, Off Broadway and Leo Kottke may be great, but booking concerts into Shryock Auditorium entails hours of negotiation and a lot of dedication to bringing better music to SIU-C.

Eric Karaffa, chairman of the Student Programming Council's Consort Committee, has already booked acts into Shryock Auditorium and the Student Center and has scheduled an outdoor Kottke concert at the racquetball courts near the Arena for Saturday.

Such a fast start for the committee this semester doesn't come about through inefficiency.

"I love doing it, but people don't realize the work that goes into it," Karaffa said. "Part of it is PR; part of it is being a diplomat."

Karaffa spends quite a bit of his free time on the phone calling concert promoters, trying to sign acts that will be enjoyed by students and will also sell tickets. He said he strives for "as diverse a program as possible."

Karaffa explained, "Our ultimate goal is to make money, but our primary objective is to book the widest variety of music possible."

The Pretenders-English Beat concert held last week, was an ambitious beginning for the committee. The bill for the show totaled about $10,000, including food, lighting, sound and all other expenses, according to Karaffa.

"That's about the highest we can go for a single show. We can go a little higher if we do two shows," Karaffa said.

A typical contract for a concert performance includes much more than just an agreement to appear. Requirements for performers' dressing room accommodations, equipment set-up and even food orders are incredibly specific and detailed.

Almost one full page of the Pretenders' contract was devoted to food alone, for example.

"There's always a bunch of little things you can never account for," Karaffa said. "It's very important to make those people happy because when they're happy, you're happy and everyone's happy."

The committee appears to have achieved its goals so far. The Pretenders concert was a complete sell-out. Off Broadway's free show last Friday was well attended and Karaffa expects between 6,000 and 3,000 people for the Kottke show.

The list of tentative concerts which the committee has planned for October and November includes a diverse group of performers. Among the concert hopefuls are Albert Collins in the ballrooms Oct. 24; a double-header of Ultravox and a guest star on Halloween night and Arlo Guthrie Nov. 1 both in Shryock, and a jazz package featuring Sonny Rollins and the Heath Brothers in Shryock Nov. 18.

Two concerts Halloween weekend when everyone is busy cavorting in costumes downtown? Karaffa feels the influx of people from out of town will help out ticket sales.

"I think that'll help us; with everybody down. A concert is a perfect way to kill some time," he said.

Eddie Money was booked for a Sept. 25 concert in Shryock, but he backed out at the last minute to tour with Foghat.

There are no specific requirements to join the consort committee, which presently has 15 full-time members and eight people serving on an advisory staff. However, Karaffa said committee members must display "a willingness for hard work, a definite interest in music and some knowledge of music." Karaffa has a couple of "dream concerts" which he would like to book. Among them are the Clash, which he terms as "iffy" to book in elegant Shryock, and the Kinks, which he would probably have to book for two shows at a relatively high ticket price.

The Ramones were booked by the committee last spring and placed in the ballrooms due to their raucous nature. "Heavy metal" artists probably won't find their way into Shryock either, Karaffa said.

"I couldn't see doing a heavy metal band in there. I think it would be too crazy. You have to draw the line somewhere," he said.

Career Day to be bigger than ever

By Melody Cook
Staff Writer

Over 100 firms and agencies will be represented at SIU-C's Career Day 1980 Sept. 23 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Student Center.

"Just about all aspects of employment will be represented. It is a big, big year for the students," said Larry Crouch, counselor at the Career Planning and Placement Center.

Organizations sending representatives to Career Day include IBM; Caterpillar; WCIL Radio; U.S. Marine Corps.; Sears, Roebuck and Co.; Zenith; USDA Soil Conservation; Eastern Airlines and the FBI.

The event will be an informal, walk-through program for students in any major and with any kind of job interests. Agencies will set up display booths in Ballrooms B, C and D with representatives able to answer questions about career trends, job opportunities, training programs and application procedures, Crouch said.

The program also provides a way of establishing initial rapport with firms which will begin holding formal job interviews on campus in late September, Crouch said.

Hour-long workshops, held in the Kaskaskia and Missouri rooms of the Student Center, will also be part of the day's program. At 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. workshops will be held on resume and letter writing and at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. interviewing skills will be discussed.

Giant City Interpretive Center to put $15,000 grant to use

By Colleen Moore
Staff Writer

The Giant City Interpretive Center, in Giant City Park, is planning to improve its services with a $15,000 grant from the Department of Education's Institute of Museum Services.

Although the center has been notified of the grant, Tim Merriman, an interpreter at the center, estimates that the funds will not be available for use until January or February 1981.

"We got the same grant last year and are still using it," Merriman said.

He said some of last year's grant of $14,185, and the new grant, will be used to build a one-third-mile trail that will open in the spring.

The grants are providing for a solar greenhouse that also will be ready this spring, Merriman said. The solar greenhouse is being added to the back of the center.

Interpreter Jim Wieser, of the center, said a pioneer cabin is being upgraded. He added that they may bake bread in the cabin and give free samples.

"We'll also be spending a lot of money on a special event for the handicapped next spring," Merriman said.

Wieser said the special event program, which may last 10 days, will deal with health, safety and rescue procedures. A detailed plan of the program has not been prepared, he said.

Rescue, safety and audio-visual equipment will be purchased with the new grant, Merriman said.

The center used last year's award amount to dig a pond for aquatic study and occasional fishing derbies, Wieser said.

In addition to the grant, Merriman said, the center has a $7,000 annual budget for operating expenses.

The center's museum houses nature exhibits such as a live beehive and snakes. Hiking, bird banding, candle making, puppet and snake shows are some of the programs offered at the center.

Merriman said that when he began working for the center in 1973, his instructions were to tear everything out of the building. The center has never stopped improving, he said.

Research on schedule for city solar project

By Melody Cook
Staff Writer

Research is proceeding on schedule on the organization of a solar energy service project for Carbondale, said Chris Robertson of Shawnee Solar Project.

The concept being studied is of a municipal solar utility, which would perform energy-related functions including installing, maintaining and financing privately owned solar energy systems. Shawnee Solar Project, a Carbondale-based non-profit organization, is looking at reports issued by cities with MSUs.

A comprehensive report is expected to be presented to the City Council by late September, said Robertson, the project manager.

Parts of the reports being studied include the organization and financing methods of MSUs, as well as products and services provided and the actual costs and benefits to the city. Since the concept is still relatively new, reports by other cities are only now being released, he said.

"We are in kind of a waiting position," he said.

Preliminary studies have shown that a solar utility could provide water, space and swimming pool heating as well as more complex functions such as total energy systems, Robertson said.

An MSU is also expected to be able to overcome technical and economic risks, including performance, durability and financial problems encountered by persons wishing to invest in solar energy systems, he said.

The study, phase one of the entire research project, was financed by a grant from the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources and city funds.

Phase two, which will begin immediately after the completion of phase one, will involve direct research for planning a project specifically for Carbondale, including financing options, costs and project benefits.

A funding plan for phase two is currently being considered by the IINR, Robertson said.

DIVISION III — PURPOSE, RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES AND JURISDICTION

Section 3-101—Purpose
Southern Illinois University at Carbondale is dedicated not only to learning, research, and the advancement of knowledge, but also to the development of ethically sensitive and responsible persons. It seeks to achieve these goals through a sound educational program and policies governing individual conduct that encourage independence and maturity. By accepting membership in this University, an individual joins a community characterized by free expression, free inquiry, intellectual honesty, respect for others, and participation in constructive change. All rights and responsibilities exercised within this academic environment shall be compatible with these qualities.

The University community has a responsibility to provide for its members those privileges, opportunities and protections which best promote and strengthen the learning process. In striving to achieve these goals, participants must remain cognizant of the rights of others.

Therefore, the regulations contained herein and the sanctions for violation of the same are for the purpose of providing and maintaining an environment conducive to the educational development of students on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

All regulations shall seek the best possible reconciliation of the principles of maximum academic freedom and necessary order.

To the maximum extent feasible, all University community members shall participate in the formulation and revision of regulations governing conduct. Every regulation shall be brief, clear and specific as possible. Disciplinary sanctions shall be commensurate with the seriousness of the offense. Repeated violations may justify increasingly severe disciplinary sanctions. All regulations governing student conduct shall be made public in an appropriate manner. Procedures and sanctions used in adjudicating violations of this code are designed for their educational significance and protection of the educational environment rather than their punitive effect. In all cases, appropriate appellate channels will be available.

Section 3-103—Jurisdiction
This code shall apply to conduct occurring on property owned or controlled by the University. When a student has been apprehended elsewhere for the violation of a law the University will not request special consideration for that individual because of his status as a student. The University will cooperate fully with law enforcement and other agencies with the purpose of aiding in the rehabilitation of the student. Although ordinarily the University will not impose further sanctions after a law enforcement agency has disposed of the case, the University reserves the right to initiate disciplinary action if the student's conduct has substantially interfered with its educational functions. Any disciplinary action taken on this basis shall conform to the provisions of this code, including appeal.

DIVISION V — INITIATION OF DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS

In matters of academic misconduct disciplinary proceedings will be initiated and carried out with the academic unit in which the alleged offense occurred.

Any member of the University community may initiate disciplinary proceedings, except in cases of academic misconduct, by filing a complaint within 20 days of discovery of conduct which violates the Student Conduct Code. The complaint must be made in writing and submitted to the Student Life Office. The individual against whom the complaint has been made shall be notified within a reasonable period of time. The Student Life Office shall make a preliminary investigation of the complaint. If, after a preliminary investigation by the Student Life Office, no grounds are found for proceeding with disciplinary action, the complainant shall be notified. If the complainant wishes to proceed with a charge, a request for action must be filed in writing with the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs within ten days of receipt of the notification letter. The Student Life Office may convene a disciplinary proceeding if sufficient evidence has been obtained to warrant a charge being filed against a student for violation of the code without a request for initiation first having been made. Final authority to discontinue or initiate shall rest only with the appropriate hearing officer or judicial board.

DIVISION VI — DISCIPLINARY SANCTIONS

A record of any disciplinary sanction specified in this code whether imposed by the Student Affairs Area or the Academic Affairs Area, shall be included in a respective student's personal file maintained by the Student Affairs Area.

While an individual is on disciplinary probation or under disciplinary suspension, the University shall include a statement of that fact on the official transcript for the duration of the sanction. An individual who is given a disciplinary sanction may petition for an early termination of that disciplinary sanction.

Restitution, where reasonable, will be imposed as a result of damage to or misappropriation of property.

Sanctions which may be imposed for violation of this code shall include the following:

Section 6-101—Disciplinary Censure

Disciplinary Censure is a sanction applied in writing for violations of University regulations. In the event of further violation of any University regulations while under Disciplinary Censure, the violator may expect to receive a more severe disciplinary sanction. The censure shall be imposed for a specific period of time or until specified conditions are met.

Section 6-102—Disciplinary Probation

Disciplinary Probation is a sanction under which a student shall lose certain privileges. The probation shall last for a stated period of time or until specific conditions have been met. All conditions must be clearly related to the offense and must be specified by the hearing officer or judicial board.

Any misconduct during the probationary period will bring further disciplinary action and may result in suspension. Disciplinary Probation includes loss of good standing for the duration of the sanction. (It should be noted that this status may result in the loss of some types of financial assistance.)

Section 6-103—Disciplinary Suspension

Disciplinary Suspension is an involuntary separation of the student from the University for a stated period of time or until a stated condition is met, after which readmission will be permitted.

Section 6-104—Indefinite Suspension

Indefinite Suspension is an involuntary separation of the student from the University which would require a written petition to the appropriate administrative official before readmission will be considered.

Section 6-105—Academic Sanctions

Sanctions for academic misconduct not specified in this code but appropriate to and customary in academic settings may be applied.

DIVISION VII — ALTERNATIVE MEASURES

Alternative measures may be imposed for violations of this code only when mitigating circumstances make a disciplinary sanction inappropriate.

Section 7-101—Written Reprimand

In cases of minor violations of the Student Conduct Code, a written warning may be substituted for official disciplinary action. The purpose of the reprimand shall be to call to the student's attention the responsibility of meeting certain minimal community standards. Records of reprimands will be maintained only at the area level and shall be used only in cases of further violations of the code.

Section 7-102—Involuntary Withdrawal

After consultation by the hearing officer with medical, psychological or other professional personnel, an individual may be separated from the University if such action is judged to be in the best interests of the student and of the University.

If the involuntary withdrawal is accomplished by conditions, then the individual shall be readmitted to the University only upon a determination by a hearing officer that the conditions have been satisfied. Any conditions must be clearly related to the circumstances causing the withdrawal and must be specified by the hearing officer.

Section 7-103—Interim Separation

In the case the President or his designee has reasonable cause to believe that a serious and direct threat to the safety and well-being of the members and/or property of the University community will be present if an individual is permitted to remain an active member of the community, an interim separation may be imposed, but only after a preliminary hearing or the opportunity of a preliminary hearing is afforded. If it is impossible or unreasonable to schedule a second preliminary hearing prior to the interim separation, the individual shall be afforded such a preliminary hearing at the earliest practical time. The purpose of the preliminary hearing will be to determine if there is justification for withholding the interim separation. During the preliminary hearing the student will be provided a statement of the reasons for interim suspension and an opportunity to remain an active member of the University and shall be enforced only until the completion of a full disciplinary hearing. A full disciplinary hearing shall be provided within a reasonable period of time.

All judicial board hearings will be heard by a panel drawn from those boards and each panel shall consist of seven members with two alternates. A decision shall be made by a majority vote of the seven member panel. Any full-time student (as defined by the Registrar's Office) who is currently enrolled may serve on a judicial board if that student is in good academic and disciplinary standing during the term of his appointment.

All appointments to an area judicial board shall be the joint responsibility of the area executive council with representatives from University Housing staff and the Student Life staff participating in the selection process. Prior to ratification of these appointments, a review shall be conducted by the Dean of Student Life to insure that the appointees meet the minimal standards of service set forth in this code. If no appointments are forthcoming from either constituency within a reasonable period of time, the Assistant Dean of Student Life shall make the appropriate appointments necessary to complete the membership.

All voting members of the board shall be students, and each board shall have an administrative advisor. Any matter of dispute in organization, procedure or selection of members may be referred to the Campus Judicial Board or the Dean of Student Life.

2. Campus Judicial Board—The Campus Judicial Board shall be comprised of both graduate and undergraduate students. These students shall be appointed by the respective student governance constituency heads with the advice and consent of the appropriate constituency bodies. Prior to ratification of these appointments, a review shall be conducted by the Dean of Student Life to insure that the appointees meet the minimal standards of service set forth in this code. If no appointments are forthcoming from either constituency within a reasonable period of time, the Dean of Student Life shall make the appropriate appointments necessary to complete the membership.

The board may consider appellate cases from all area judicial boards or area administrative hearing officers, and such original cases may be referred to it by the Dean of Student Life or his designee. The board shall have an administrative advisor. The organization of the board, the tenure of its members, and operating procedures in matters of judicial concern, consistent with this policy statement, shall be determined by the board with the concurrence of the Dean of Student Life. 3. Student Conduct Review Board—The Student Conduct Review Board shall be comprised of undergraduate and graduate students and be jointly appointed by the respective governance constituency heads with the advice and consent of the appropriate bodies. Prior to ratification of the student appointments by the constituency bodies, a review shall be conducted by the Dean of Student Life to insure that the appointees meet the minimal standards of service set forth in this code. If no appointments are forthcoming from any of the constituency bodies within a reasonable period of time, the President or his designee shall make the appropriate appointments necessary to complete the membership. The Board shall have an administrative advisor. The organization of the board, the tenure of its members, and operating procedures in matters of judicial concern, shall be determined by the board with the concurrence of the President or his designee consistent with this policy statement. The Student Conduct Review Board may consider appellate cases and other matters referred to it by the President.

D. Professional Staff (Administrative) Hearing Officer Structure

1. Area-Level Administrative Hearing Officers—Judicial hearings at the residential level will be the responsibility of the Assistant Dean of Student Life or his designee. All rights and options available as provided for herein will be observed during administrative hearings at this level.

2. Campus-Level Administrative Hearing Officers—Judicial hearings at the campus level (both appeals of area discipline actions and appropriate cases of original jurisdiction) shall be the responsibility of the Dean of Student Life or his designee. All rights and options available as provided for herein will be observed during administrative hearings at this level.

3. President's—Level of Administrative Adjudication—Judicial hearings at the President's level shall be the responsibility of the President or his designee. All rights and options available as provided for herein will be observed during administrative hearings at this level.

DIVISION X — JUDICIAL PROCEDURE

Section 10-101

A. The rights and responsibilities of students charged with acts of academic misconduct shall be specified by the appropriate academic unit.

B. The following is the format of rights and responsibilities to be utilized during judicial proceedings unrelated to academic misconduct. Any exclusion, modification, and/or deletion of the following must be requested from, and approved by, the Dean of Student Life.

1. Prior to a hearing a student charged in violation of the Student Conduct Code is entitled to:

- A notice of charges
- Be apprised of all relevant evidence
- Choose between administrative staff or judicial board hearing authority
- Choose between open or closed hearing
- A notice of time, place, and format of the hearing

(1) The hearing will be held no sooner than five days after notification of the charges.

(2) Under exceptional circumstances, changes in the hearing date may be granted by petitioning the Dean of Student Life.

Any student charged with a violation of the Student Conduct Code is expected to participate fully in the established judicial program. Prompt response to all delivered correspondence is necessary in order to expedite judicial matters and result in the most efficient application of the adjudication process. Notice of charges will be considered to have been delivered if the notice has been sent to the current local address of the charged as provided to the Admissions and Records Office of the University by the student. Thus, failure to notify the University of changes of address could result in a hearing being held in absentia.

Failure to respond to delivered correspondence regarding the hearing option will result in referral of the charges to the appropriate judicial board.

2. During a hearing

- The charged is entitled to:
- Advisory assistance. The advisor may be any individual of the student's choice. The role is advisory in nature, and the advisor may not directly participate in the proceedings as a principal.
 - Present witnesses and any information relevant to the case.
 - Present written statements or depositions which may be taken from persons(s) that are unable to attend hearings.
 - Hear and question all witnesses and have access to all relevant information and evidence.
- The option to have the hearing tape recorded in all cases of initial jurisdiction. However, official records will be made of all hearings, and all appellate cases and open hearings shall be tape recorded.
- Challenge hearing panel members for cause. The removal of a panel member will be at the discretion of the remaining panel members.
 - Remain silent.

The University is entitled to challenge hearing panel members for cause. The removal of a panel member will be at the discretion of the remaining panel members.

It is the policy of all hearing agents that statements, evidence, or comments given during hearings will be held in strictest confidence by members of the board and its advisors. No public statements shall be made by the members of the hearing panel before or during the hearing, or before, during or after deliberation. In all hearings, at all levels, no individual will be required to offer evidence which may be self-incriminating.

3. After the hearing
The charged is entitled to a written statement within a reasonable time, of the decision of the board specifying all judicial actions. Such notice shall include the options and procedures for making an appeal.

a. If the hearing was closed, the decision of the hearing and any recommended sanctions will be available only to those charged.

b. If the hearing was open, the decision of the hearing and any recommended sanctions will be posted in the Student Life Office for a period of 24 hours commencing with the time the individual was formally notified of that decision.

4. Appeal of decisions and/or sanction
Any decision or sanction may be appealed to the next higher level of the judicial structure. However, the right of appeal does not entitle a student to a full rehearing of his entire case. Rather, the appeal board should limit its review of the hearing board's record to four issues:

- Were the judicial procedures correctly followed?
- Did the accused have an adequate opportunity to prepare and present a defense?
- Did the evidence presented at the hearing justify a decision against the student?
- Was the sanction imposed in keeping with the gravity of the violation?

An appeal may be denied for insufficient grounds. However, if the appeal is granted, the appeal agent may:

- Accept the report and decision of the hearing agent.
- Reverse the hearing agent's decision and dismiss the case.
- Accept the decision of the hearing board but reduce the sanction imposed. The appeal agent may not increase the sanction. The University has the right to appeal rulings that affect the applicability of evidence.

DIVISION XI — DIVISIBILITY AND AMENDING PROCEDURE

Section 11-101—Divisibility

Should any division, section, or subsection of these regulations be declared unconstitutional or void by any court of competent jurisdiction, the remainder of these regulations shall remain in effect. Under such circumstances, the President or his designee shall have the authority to establish a new division, section, or subsection of that which has been declared void or unconstitutional, in order to give full force and effect to the intent and purpose of these regulations. New divisions, sections, or subsections shall be submitted through the amending procedure and filed with the Board of Trustees.

Section 11-102—Amending Procedure

At the request of any recognized constituency or the appropriate Vice President, the President or his designee shall appoint an ad hoc committee to consider amendments to this code. The committee shall consist of two undergraduate students, one graduate student, one faculty member, one representative from the University Housing Office and one representative from the Student Life Office. The student and faculty members shall be designated by their appropriate constituencies.

The President may propose amendments to the code to the Board. Whenever the circumstances allow he shall give due consideration to the advice of the committee provided for in the preceding paragraph. Amendment will be accomplished by the regular procedures for amendment of Board policy.

Any amendment of the code shall become effective only after general notice of such change has been given to the student body, faculty and administrative staff. General notice shall include, but not be limited to, public notification of approved amendments twice successively published in the DAILY EGYPTIAN in their entirety within seven days after approval of said amendments by the President of the University.

"A Tribute to Alfred Hitchcock"

Earlier this year Alfred Hitchcock died while directing what was to be his 54th film. In a career that stretches from the silent era, his work consistently reached for a unique visual quality. In honor of his monumental contributions to the cinema, we present four selections from that career.

Search on for fearless journalists

By University News Service
The School of Journalism is looking for some journalists who weren't afraid to stick their necks out for something they believed in.

Vernon A. Stone, director of the School of Journalism, announced Thursday that the school is accepting nominations for the 1980 Elijah Parish Lovejoy Award for Courage in Journalism. Nominations will be accepted until Oct. 15.

Established in 1956, and presented in all but three years since, the Lovejoy Award commemorates editor Lovejoy, an ardent abolitionist who died while defending his press from amob in 1837 in Alton.

Among past winners have been Hazel Brannon Smith of the Lexington (Miss.) Advertiser, Thomas Gish of the Whitesburg (Ky.) Mountain Eagle and Wilson Mihor of the Jackson (Miss.) Reporter.

Nominations should cover the period from July 1, 1979, to date.

and should include evidence from issues of the nominee's newspaper and at least three testimonials to the qualifications.

Nominations should be sent to the School of Journalism, Communications Building.

Health insurance now available for
SIU-C graduates

By Carol Knowles
Staff Writer

Extended health insurance is now available for students graduating from SIU-C who find themselves without jobs.

Sam McVay, administrative director of student health programs, said the coverage is available to both graduate and undergraduate students who are graduating and do not plan to further their education at the university.

Policy coverage, offered by Manchester Life Insurance Co. of St. Louis, includes hospital care, emergency room treatment and ambulance services. Joe Upchurch, the local insurance agent, said. The policy offers three options for six months of coverage: $75 for $5,000, $105 for $10,000 and $150 for $20,000, he said.

To remain covered by the University insurance policy, a student must notify the company 30 days prior to graduation, Upchurch said. Only graduating students can continue the insurance coverage.

Students who graduated at the end of summer semester can, however, participate in the program because it began after the end of the term, according to McVay.

The program is the result of a resolution passed by the Graduate Student Council Jan. 30 requesting the extended coverage.

No students have requested the coverage since its implementation, Upchurch said.

"A definite need was shown by students who did not have jobs lined up after graduation," Brown said. "This policy will give students one less thing to worry about while looking for a job."

Any student who is interested in the extended coverage can participate by contacting Upchurch Insurance Agency in Carbondale.

'Student Records' to be picked up

By University News Service

Students who have not yet picked up their copies of the "New Student Record" should do so now at the Alumni Office, Room 2179, Faner Hall.

The "New Student Record" is a photographic essay on freshmen and transfer students that is published annually by the Student Alumni Board.

"More than 1,500 books were sold this year and we have about 400 books left at the Alumni Office," said Debbie Wood, editor of the book. "The students already have ordered and paid for the books so it would be a shame if they didn't come and pick them up."

Extra copies are available for purchase, Wood said. The cost is $6 for a soft cover book and $7 for the hard cover version.

The Student Alumni Board is a student service organization sponsored by the SIU-C Alumni Association. Bob Saltzman, assistant director of the Alumni Association, is the group's adviser.

City OKs sale of 13 vacant lots on northeast side to developers

By Tony Gordon
Staff Writer

Thirteen vacant lots on the city's northeast side that the City Council has been trying to sell for five years will be sold soon to two local developers.

The City Council approved the sale of the land, which is zoned for single-family housing, at its meeting Monday night.

The land, acquired by the city under the Neighborhood Development Program in 1975, will be sold at a set price per-square-foot. The price will range from $1,100 to $2,240 per lot.

Mayor Hans Fischer said at the meeting that "the price of the land is not a bid price, it is sold to on a first come, first serve basis. The purpose of this price is to make the house available to the buyer at a lower cost."

Developers J.C. Smith Construction of Carbondale and Cook Construction of Carterville will build homes on the lots which are expected to market for an estimated $40,000 each. The Smith firm will purchase nine lots for a total of $14,850 and Cook will buy five lots for $6,915. The contract between the city and the developers stipulates that homes must be built within 18 months of the sale, or the land is returned to the city.

City Manager Carroll Fry said the city bought the land in 1975 and the two recent purchase offers were "the first nibbles we've had on any of the lots." He added that he felt the move was sure to result in some housing.

Councilman Charles Watkins said, "This land has been here and available for sale every day for five years to anyone wanting to buy it. Our interest is in getting some single-family housing built in this community and this sale does appear that it will help us achieve that goal."

All of the houses built on the properties will be required by contract to comply with the Carbondale energy standards that take effect January 1.

Councilman Archie Jones questioned whether the additional cost of building the houses to comply with the standards would price them beyond the reach of low-income families.

Fry said he estimated energy standard compliance would add $2,500 to the cost of each home, but said the additional insulation and other improvements required by the standards would be "hedging against our energy costs four or five years from now."

"The projections are that utility costs will go sky-high in the future. If that is true, then we are really doing the people a favor by requiring that the homes be built that way to begin with," Fry said.

A resident of the northeast side, Robert Crim, asked the council to delay the sale of the lots because he was concerned that people who now live in the area would not be able to afford the homes the developers propose. "I consider a $40,000 home to be extremely above the capability of the average northeast side resident," he said.

Crim asked the council to give him enough time to gather other northeast side residents into a non-profit oriented development program that would "meet the application, promises or deed of any person who has offered to buy those properties," he said.

"I will insure that the dwellings built will be priced well below $40,000 and well within the means of citizens who live in the area," he said.

Fischer and Watkins told Crim the city has many other parcels of land available on the northeast side and encouraged him to look into the possibility of purchasing them.

Aggies look for dry weather

 "We ran fairly well at South-west Louisiana, but were just fair against UTEP," Krueger said. "Our offense hasn't been consistent and moving like I want it to."
 Krueger doesn't know what he'll do defensively against the Salukis.
 "Defense is our strong suit," Krueger said. "But I'm not sure really what we'll do defensively. We know when John Cernak is in, we can key more to the pass since he is not a great runner. Gerald Carr runs a good option, and he's not a bad thrower, either."

 The strongest defensive areas of the Aggies are the linebackers and secondary.
 "Anthony Watson is by far the best defensive back in the conference," Krueger said of the junior, a second-team All-MVC selection last year. "He plays his free safety position like a linebacker."

Leading the linebackers in New Mexico State's 5-2 defense is sophomore Leo Barker. Classmates Glen Ingram and Bo Lutrick share the other spot.
 "The UTEP game last week was our 'big' game of the year since they're only 40 miles away," Krueger said. "But Southern Illinois means a lot to us since they've beat us the last two years."
 The Salukis won 43-39 in 1978 and 45-28 last year.

Armstrong finds holes despite Bears' victory

CHICAGO (AP) — It would seem that Coach Neil Armstrong would have little to complain about this week after the Chicago Bears had defeated the New Orleans Saints 22-3 for their first victory of the season, but such was not the case.
 "I feel a lot better than I did last week after we had lost to Green Bay," said Armstrong at his press conference Tuesday, "but if we're going to be a better team we have to improve in some departments."
 Surprisingly, one of the departments in which Armstrong seeks improvement is the running game which is anchored by Walter Payton who rushed for 183 yards against New Orleans but 130 of those yards came on two plays.
 "We have to improve our running game," said Armstrong. "We'll take the big days from Walter but we still need more."

against New Orleans.
 "Obviously, our passing game has to improve," said Armstrong. "Mike does not like to throw interceptions. Like everyone else, he'd like more touchdowns. Three interceptions in one game and 7 of 24 completions in another is not good. Mike knows it, I know it."
 "The pass protection has been good although the pocket protection has given a little and maybe that's the reason Mike has had a few passes batted down," said Armstrong. "But, again, maybe they've been batted down because he has been holding the ball too long. I don't know, but we'll have to correct it."
 Armstrong couldn't complain about the defense which is now ranked No. 1 in the National Football League and has yet to yield a touchdown in two games.
 The Bear defense has yielded but 433 yards in total offense in two games, intercepted three passes and sacked would-be passers 10 times.
 "New Orleans did not look like the team it is," said Armstrong. "I hope our defense had something to do with it."
 Noting that Minnesota, next Sunday's opponent, lost to Philadelphia 42-7 last week, Armstrong warned "The Vikings don't lose two games in a row often."

NFL surprises include Lions', 49ers' victories

By The Associated Press
 The Detroit Lions and San Francisco 49ers have won two games apiece this season. They also won two games apiece last season—except it took each of them 16 games to do it then.
 They are the turnaround teams in the National Football League this year, along with the Buffalo Bills, who won only seven games in 1979.
 Neither Detroit nor San Francisco is doing it with mirrors. It's being done with basics—running and passing. In the Lions' case, both ingredients were missing last year. Then they drafted Billy Sims No. 1 and got quarterback Gary Danielson back from a serious injury. The 49ers had a ton of passing last year—Steve DeBerg broke the NFL records for attempts and completions—but Paul Hoyer is giving them a more balanced attack with his rushing.
 Sims rushed for 134 yarr's and a touchdown Sunday against Green Bay to give him 287 yards and four TDs in his brief pro career. He also turned a short toss from Danielson into an 87-yard touchdown pass play.
 The real story, though, was Danielson, who overcame the immense tragedy of the death last Thursday night of his 9-day-old daughter, Kaity, who succumbed to a virus which damaged her heart lining.
 Danielson completed 11 of 17 passes for 236 yards.
 "Gary deserves a lot of credit," Coach Monte Clark said of Danielson. "What he did was beyond the call of duty by coming to practice Friday. Then to come here and do the job he did under adverse conditions is just remarkable."

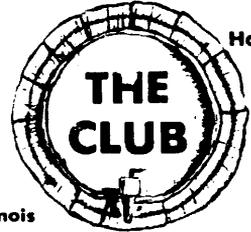

Those two plays accounted for nearly half of Payton's total of 248 yards this season while Dave Williams is averaging 1.9 yards per carry and rookie Matt Suhey is averaging less than a yard a carry.
 Not surprisingly, Armstrong wants improvement in the passing game. Mike Phipps has completed only 44 percent of his passes. He was intercepted three times in the Green Bay game and completed only 7 of 24

They said it . . .

Bob Uecker — On a Little League game in which his son Bobby Jr., now 14, played: "He struck out three times and lost the game for his team when a ball went through his legs at third base. Parents were throwing things at our car and swearing at us as we left the parking lot. Gosh, I was proud. A chip off the old block."

teams have dropped out of their division, so they get automatic wins."

Teams with 3-0 slates going into last weekend in men's Division B are Hey Ha, Nuclear Hamsters, Bohemian Diehards, Average White Team and the Social Darwinists.

Paratore hopes by the end of the week she will have the standings posted, but said that it was hard to keep up to date with games being played everyday.

Paratore said the only problem encountered so far in the young season has been the lack of experienced officials.

"A lot of our officials from last year forgot to send in their ACTs, so we couldn't use them," Paratore said. "But now the ACTs are starting to come in, and we are getting more experienced officials."

The coordinator felt the carpet system of calling balls and strikes that has been put into effect this year has worked "real well" so far. Paratore said she has not received any complaints and added that it has helped the officials.

Besides softball, Paratore has also been busy with floor hockey leagues. "There are 44 teams entered this year, that is more than we had last year," Paratore said.

In the intramural golf tournament held Sept. 9, at the Midland Hills Golf Club in Makanda, a record 22 contestants were entered in the men's division.

Coming on top with a low scratch score of 76 over 18 holes was Andy Aylsworth. Amy Sobiech captured the women's division with a low scratch score of 99 for 18 holes.

The tournament was divided into three flights according to the golfers' handicaps.

In the A flight, Joe Husar finished with a low score of 60 to take top honors. In Flight B, Mark Lauritzen won with a low score of 62.

It was in the C flight that Ron Eschbach surprised everybody. Despite shooting a scratch score of 103, Eschbach finished with a handicap score of 44.

Closest to the pin honors went to Tom Lemna. Lemna hit a shot on the par-3 second hole that landed only four feet, 4 1/2 inches from the pin.

Cubs score four in eighth-inning to defeat Cards

CHICAGO (AP) — Cliff Johnson drilled a three-run home run in the bottom of the eighth inning Tuesday to lift the Chicago Cubs to a 6-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Trailing, 4-3, the Cubs built their winning rally when pinch-hitter Jim Tracy and Bill Buckner singled. After Dave Kingman flied out, Johnson lined a 2-1 delivery off loser John Littlefield, 5-4, into the left field bleachers for his 10th Cub homer.

St. Louis pulled to within 6-5 when Keith Hernandez led off the ninth with a solo homer off winning pitcher Bill Caudill, 2-5. It was Hernandez' 15th homer of the season.

Ken Oberkfell's sacrifice fly in the top of the eighth inning had given the Cards a 4-3 lead.

Two SIU cyclists win first places at Arkansas

A quartet of SIU Cycling Club members had notable performances in last weekend's National Classic in Little Rock, Ark.

Linda Elgart, a graduate student, was successful in all three races she entered and was named overall women's champion. Elgart won the 36-mile road race, the seven-mile time trial and the 20-mile criterium.

Senior Dan Casebeer set a new course record in the men's seven-mile time trial with his first-place clocking of 14:51. He also finished third in the 35-mile criterium and qualified for the National Criterium Championships in New Jersey.

Brian Van, a junior, finished 14th overall in the senior division, while freshman Eric Uner was fourth overall in the junior division.

The club is sponsored by Phoenix Cycles of Carbondale, and will be in action again Sept. 28 at the Boone County races in Columbia, Mo.

Dry weather is wish of Aggies' grid coach

By Rod Smith
Sports Editor

New Mexico, "The Land of Enchantment," hasn't been so enchanting yet to the Aggie football team and Coach Gil Krueger. He is hoping that this Saturday's game with the Salukis will finally give his quarterbacks a chance to throw a dry football.

"We've played two games in the rain, so we haven't really had a chance to see what we can do offensively," Krueger, the third-year coach of New Mexico State, said.

The Aggies, 3-8 last year, were defeated by future Saluki opponent Southwestern Louisiana, 14-12, in their season opener but edged rival Texas-El Paso, 6-3, last week. The Salukis will be New Mexico State's first Missouri Valley foe.

For the third straight week, the Saluki secondary will be a busy unit.

"We'll be prepared to put the ball up in the air," Krueger said. "We've improved our offensive line and we have some good receivers.

"The SIU secondary has been playing a man-to-man coverage which is very difficult," Krueger said. "You have to be experienced to play that type of defense and the Salukis aren't. It's nice for the pros, but it's hard to do in college.

"We're planning that they will play that man-to-man and we know how to play against it," Krueger warned. "Playing that type of coverage, you've got to play good to not get hurt. Since we know what to expect, we should be able to move against it."

Although Krueger isn't bashful in admitting that passes will be sailing across Aggie Memorial Stadium, he doesn't yet know who will be throwing them. Butch Kelly, a 6-3, 200-pound senior and the No. 1 man most of last year started the Aggies' first game, while sophomore Jamie McAlister started against UTEP.

As a freshman last year, McAlister burned the Salukis in the season's final game for 328 yards, completing 25 of 42 passes for three touchdowns in the Aggies' 45-28 loss.

Krueger would like to see his receivers get their hands on the ball. Sophomore Bobby Humphrey, who runs the 100 in 9.3, is the team's biggest threat. He averaged 26.6 yards per catch last year and is also capable of breaking away on kickoff returns.

Junior Javier Holguin is the other wide receiver. He sat out last season as well as spring practice to play baseball, but has been impressive in practices.

"Holguin runs some great patterns," Krueger said. "He is an outstanding runner once he catches the ball. Unfortunately, neither Jamie nor Butch has really had a chance to get our ends the ball."

As a result, the Aggies have relied on two sophomore running backs, 5-5 tailback Rudy Rudison and fullback Terry Haynes. Haynes was the Aggies' No. 2 rusher last Cage assistant accepts position at Youngstown St.

By Scott Stahmer

Associate Sports Editor

SIU-C basketball Assistant Coach Bill Dailey has accepted the interim head coaching position at Youngstown (Ohio) State University, it was announced Tuesday.

Dailey, 26, was hired as the Penguins' interim head coach because veteran Head Coach Dom Roselli recently suffered a heart attack. Roselli currently is in the hospital and it is not known when he will be well enough to resume his duties. When Roselli recovers, Dailey will be his assistant.

Youngstown State currently is a Division II school, but the Penguins will move into Division I next year when they join the Ohio Valley Conference. The team finished 17-10 last year.

"It's a good situation," Dailey said. "They have Division II All-American Dave Ziegler coming back this year. The Ohio Valley is a good basketball conference.

When Roselli recovers, Dailey will be a full-time assistant with recruiting responsibilities. At SIU-C, Dailey was a part-time assistant, and the NCAA recently passed a rule prohibiting part-time assistants from recruiting.

"It was a change of responsibilities," he said. "There would have been more floor coaching involved here. But at Youngstown, I'll get both floor coaching and recruiting experience."

Bill Dailey

Dailey said he'll be the Penguins' only assistant coach.

With the Salukis, he was one of three assistants under Head Coach Joe Gottfried.

"I'm excited about the job, yet the timing is bad for Coach Gottfried as far as my leaving," Dailey said. "I do enjoy the players. It's tough leaving such outstanding young men."

Before joining the SIU-C staff in 1979, Dailey was an administrative assistant with the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association. A 1977 graduate of the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater, he also served as a graduate assistant at Western University.

Gottfried said, "Any time a coach in a part-time position as Coach Dailey was gets the opportunity to move into a full-time position, I'm very happy for him. I've always considered Dom Roselli one of the finest people to work for; unfortunately, he had the heart attack and Bill will have to handle the head coaching position until he is back.

"He relates well to kids, and he's an aggressive, enthusiastic individual," Gottfried added. "These are the qualities Coach Roselli was looking for when he called about Bill."

Gottfried said SIU-C will not fill the open position because it is late in the year. The head coach and his two remaining assistants, Rob Spivery and Tim Somerville, will take over Dailey's responsibilities.

Good weather, carpet beneficial to IM softball

By Glenn Jewett

With the fall semester barely three weeks old, intramurals are in full swing with leagues under way in 12-inch softball and floor hockey, and a golf tournament completed.

Twelve-inch softball has been going strong since the first weekend in September, according to Jean Paratore, coordinator of intramurals.

"Softball has been going very nicely so far this year," Paratore said. "We have been very lucky with the weather. If the weather holds up, we should be able to start the playoffs on Sept. 30.

"We want to get the playoffs over with as soon as possible because we have flag football coming up in the first week of October," Paratore added.

Paratore was surprised at the low number of softball teams registered. After expecting close to 300 teams, only 195 are registered in the mens', womens' and coed leagues. Last year there were 215 teams.

Going into last weekends action, all divisions were "up for grabs," according to Paratore, with many teams still undefeated.

"It is hard to say which are going to be the best teams this early in the season," Paratore said. "Their have been a lot of forfeits and most of the teams have not played more than once or twice."

Three of the top teams in men's Division A are Crimes Against Nature, Burt's Sandwich Shop and the TKE fraternity. All three teams have records of 2-0.

The leading team in men's Division B is Midlo-Connection Plus with a record of 4-0.

"They probably don't even know they are doing that well," Paratore said of Midlo-Connection Plus. "A couple of

Mark Furlong, a 23-year-old accounting major, completes his swing during a 12-inch softball game Monday. Furlong, a native of Ottawa, plays
