Greeks Race In McAndrew Stadium

The latest word from Athens is that a mass of toga clad Greeks driving chariots will invade McAndrew Stadium tonight.

The message went on to say that there was no need for alarm since these are friendly Greeks and they're only going to take over the stadium for one night.

The track meet for fraternities and sororities will begin tonight at 5:30 p.m. in McAndrew Stadium according to co-chairmen Dave Welte, Sigma Pi and Barb Schally, Sigma Sigma Sigma.

Heavy events such as the shop put, discus throw and softball throw will open up the evening's events. Races will begin at approximately 6:30 p.m.

In addition to the usual track and field events, there will also be a sorority tricycle race; a "fat man's 100-yard dash" for all males "boasting" a 39 inch waist or larger; and a chariot race. This year the chariots must have sides for competition.

An added feature this year is a tug-of-war for the fraternities and sororities.

Admission is free and the student body is invited.

Fourteen Coeds Seeking Miss Southern Acres Title

Fourteen SIU coeds are entered in the annual Miss Southern Acres Beauty Contest which is scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday in Muckelroy Auditorium.

Contestants will appear first in formals, then in bathing suits. Judging will be based on beauty, poise and gracefulness, according to Carl Roll, chairman of the Miss Southern Acres contest. Roll said apparel for the evening will be slacks, shirt and tie. No one will be admitted to the contest unless properly dressed, he said.

The five finalists will be named Thursday evening, but the winner will not be announced until the Miss Southern Acres Coronation Dance in Lentz Hall Saturday night. The Ron Baker band will provide music for the dance from 8 p.m. to midnight. Dress for the event is semi-formal.

The queen will be presented with a loving cup and a dozen red roses at the coronation. The four attendants will receive smaller loving cups and white carnations. There is no admission charge to the dance, Roll said, and everyone is invited.

The 14 candidates for Miss Southern Acres are Linda Van Hoorbeke of Sesser, Jane Miller of Dongola, Lynn Hewette of Carbondale, Dee Dee Vogler of Carmi, Julie England, of Springfield, Julia Ann Wilson of Steeleville, Diana Brashier of Carmi, Barbara Hurt of Taylorville.

The three judges of the beauty contest will be guests at a dinner in the Mississippi Room of the University Center at 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

Annual Campus Chest Drive Seeks Money, Books, Clothes

The annual Campus Chest drive will get underway Monday and will continue through the 27th.

This year's campaign will be highlighted by a Bucket Drive, a book and clothing drive, a meager meal, films, and entertainment on the University Center patio.

The purpose of this year's campaign is to raise funds to help students in foreign countries get a college education.

The clothing and funds brought in by the Campus Chest will be given to such organizations as the World Clothing Fund Inc., the Japanese National Christian University Foundation, and the World University Service.

The headquarters of the Campus Chest will be in the Student Government Office in the University Center. Anyone who will not be on campus, and wishing to make a donation, books, clothing or money, is urged to call 453-2002 to make arrangements to have their donation picked up.

Foreign students will be present in Room H of the Activities Development Center all day Monday, Wednesday and Friday to informally chat with students and to tell them how their countries have been helped by funds of the nature being collected.

Also on these days a film, "Their Future is Our Future," will be shown from 10 to 11 a.m. in the same room. This film will also be shown on the Sigma Sigma Sigma patio Tuesday at 9 p.m. and at Lentz Hall on Thursday at 9 p.m. As an added incentive to see the film, convocation credit will be given at the Lentz Hall showing of the film.

On Monday, Wednesday, and Friday during the noon hours a Bucket Drive will be held at the corner of Grand and University Avenues.

Entertainment will be presented on the University Center patio Tuesday and Thursday from 10 to 11 a.m. to make students aware of the Campus Chest activities.

Friday night, April 26, several houses at Group Housing will have a meager meal serving only cheese, crackers and milk. The money that would have originally been spent on the meal will be given to the Campus Chest.

Saturday, April 27, a book and clothing drive, both on campus and in Carbondale will be held between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Two Casts For Wolfe Play

"Look Homeward, Angel," which won the Pulitzer Prize in 1958, has been selected as the next production by the Southern Players, Sherwin Abrams, faculty advisor, announced.

The play is a dramatization of Thomas Wolfe's novel of the same name.

In order to utilize the experienced and talented students available, "Look Homeward, Angel" will have two casts.

"This is an extremely demanding play emotionally. Even professionals found it difficult to sustain his part night after night," Abrams said. "Therefore, using the alternating cast, the student does not have to key himself up for each night's performance."

The play will be produced May 10-12 and 14-18.

Members of the cast are Bob Meyer, Gerry Shriver, Carol Plonkey, Bonnie West, Maureen Carroll, Robert Hunt, Marjorie Lerstrom, Susan Pennington, Fred Mitsch, and Thomas Stack.

Also David Davidson, Joanna Hogan, Sharon Hooker, Merle Ann Stahlberg, Judith Packard, Gart Stewart, William McHughes, Kenneth Staaf, Mary Burroughs, Gerry Boughan, and Lewis Ameel.

Season ticket holders may make reservations by mail starting April 26. The box office opens Friday, May 5.

Propose 5 Per Cent State Income Tax

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.

The Illinois Revenue Study Commission adopted Wednesday a proposed amendment to the state Constitution which would permit the legislature to levy a 5 per cent flat rate income tax.

Under the proposal, personal property taxes would have to be eliminated within four years after adoption of an income tax by the legislature.

The 8-6 vote climaxed months of repeated efforts by the commission to reach agreement on a proposal for amending the state's revenue article.

If passed by a two-thirds vote of both houses, the proposal would be placed before the voters in a statewide referendum in 1964.

October Release:

University Press To Mark Publication Of 100th Book

The University Press will celebrate the publication of its 100th book next October, according to Vernon Sternberg, director of the Press.

The 100th book will be "Philosophy in Process" by Paul Weiss.

Sternberg said the event would be celebrated because "having our 100th book published under the imprint of the SIU Press is a landmark in the publishing field."

"We began by publishing five books a year in 1956 and now we are publishing 30 books a year," Sternberg said.

The SIU Press became a member of the Association of American University Press in June, 1958.

Sternberg said that a new fall catalogue will be out this June.

"This fall alone we will have 18 titles published," he added.

"We are setting new publishing records all the time," Sternberg said. "March is our best month. We publish heavily in English literature and 40% of all our books are written by our own faculty here at SIU."

"We advertise in 'Saturday Review,'" continued Sternberg. "Ten per cent of our business is done abroad. We have nine commissioned salesmen and three foreign representatives who handle our books for us."

"We use 5,000 square feet of floor space in the University Center as a warehouse to store our 60,000 volumes of our books. We ship over 25,000 volumes a year throughout the United States and foreign countries. The books themselves act as ambassadors to SIU."

"The Library will do a display on 'Philosophy in Process' next fall," he said. "The book itself will actually be published in 12 fascicles of 64 pages each. The complete edition will take three years to complete."

"Weiss' 629 page book, 'Modes of Being,' has been our most noteworthy book so far. It has sold 20,000 copies thus far."

Southern will be represented by 13 students, Hileman and Ross at the convention.

The student delegates are Larry McCoy of Newman, Garry Finch of Carmi, Fred Peleate of East St. Louis, Stan Allen of Arcola, Harry Bickelhaupt of Waterloo, Claude (Ed) Cox of Tuscola, Ed Wilson of Karnak, Clare

Plochmann Art To Be Exhibited At Vanderbilt

Seventeen recent paintings by Carolyn Gassan Plochmann of Carbondale will be exhibited at the Vanderbilt University art gallery, Nashville, Tenn., for three weeks starting April 21.

Mrs. Plochmann, formerly supervisor of art at the University School, is the wife of George Kimball Plochmann, philosophy professor.

This is Mrs. Plochmann's eighth large show. She will share the Nashville exhibit with one other artist, but has previous had one-man shows in Carbondale, St. Louis, Toledo, Milwaukee and Evansville. In these she has received critical acclaim for her striking use of color, for composition and design, and for communication of human emotions.

Her show at Vanderbilt contains several large paintings having religious and moral themes and a number of smaller, drawings and paintings more lighthearted and casual in their tone. Nearly all of them depict human beings in various poses and attitudes—a departure from the contemporary trend of abstractionism in paintings.

McClughan of Taylorville, Don Burnett of Granite City, Robert Alexenburg of Chicago, Roger Alexander of Carbondale, Gary Kilgus of Kankakee and Max Williamson of Wyoming, Ill.

Alexenburg, Wilson, Cox and Jean Tindall of Chester have been in New York participating in the "Inside Advertising Week" April 14-19 sponsored by the New York Advertising Club.

Judicial Council Upholds Election of Bruno Klaus

The Campus Judicial Board has decided that the election of Bruno Klaus to the position of senior class president was valid and affirmed the seating of Klaus on the Student Council.

John Reznick, head of the Judicial Board, said the decision was reached at a meeting Monday night when the board considered a petition of protest, claiming that a special election should never have been held to fill the vacant position.

The protest was grounded on a provision of the Student Government constitution which calls for other class officers to select from among themselves a president, if a class president is unable to serve.

Reznick said the senior class officers in the case in question had decided they did not want to serve in the office of president and wanted a special election. Special elections are also provided for in the constitution, he said.

In other action Monday, the board considered a petition from Bill Fenwick, student body president, questioning the validity of votes of the Student Council while John Burnette was seated on the Council. The Judicial Board last week declared the election of Burnette as fraternity senator was invalid and he was unseated.

Reznick said the Judicial Board did not rule on this matter.

Campus Development Is Lecture Topic

"Future Campus Developments" will be discussed by Carl E. Bretscher of the University Architect's Office at a meeting Thursday of Psi Chapter, Iota Lambda Sigma. The discussion will start at 8 p.m. in the Studio Auditorium, University School.

Off-Campus Presidents' Council Now Headed By Roger Hanson

Roger Hanson, newly elected Off-Campus President, is drawing up a new constitution for the Off-Campus Presidents' Council.

Hanson has also received approval of the Housing Office to charge a $1 fee to all students living in supervised off-campus housing.

The fee will cover three quarters and will entitle the student to a membership card, free admission to all nine of the dances to be held next year, and also a free copy of the "Southern Independent," a bi-weekly off-campus publication.

The fee will go into effect for all supervised off-campus housing next fall.

Hanson said that "this proposal will unite the Off-Campus Presidents' Council much more effectively than is being done at present. We hope to bring in some of the big name bands and give the students some high class entertainment."

Hanson said that the executive council of Householders Association has approved the fee and feels the step will be quite beneficial to off-campus social functions.

"There are approximately 6,500 students living off campus," said Hanson. "The potential is there, but so far we haven't used an ounce of it. We are like the analogy about the sleeping tiger. It's time we woke up."

For Outstanding Teachers

A committee of Student Government members and faculty are continuing with plans to increase the number of faculty members at Southern receiving recognition.

It is hoped the program can be initiated next spring, with the presentation of up to ten awards. All faculty members, professors, assistant and associate professors, instructors, lecturers and graduate students would be eligible.

Nominations would come from the student body upon their own initiative. The committee felt that the success of the program would be higher if students came to a nominating booth of their own accord rather than being asked to fill out blanks at the time they vote during spring elections.

The outstanding teachers to be awarded would be selected from those nominated by a committee of six students and three outstanding visiting professors. Criteria will be the teacher's knowledge of and attitude toward his subject, his communicative ability, his personal attributes, his use of tests and recognition received in other areas.

The committee has suggested that the faculty recognition program replace the "most popular faculty member" program, which with the alumni award has been the only means of extending recognition to teachers at SIU doing the most to further the aims of education.

One of the criticisms of higher education today is directed at the increasing emphasis placed upon research and writing for publication. The "outstanding faculty members" program being planned would enhance the prestige of and give recognition to teachers who do an outstanding job of teaching.

One of the drawbacks of a program such as this is how to keep it exclusive enough so that the award is a real honor while at the same time attempting to give recognition to the multitude of SIU teachers deserving an award.

The "outstanding faculty members" program deserves the support of the students and faculty of Southern.

Sit Back, Relax, It's TV Time

Second In A Series:

What is instructional television? Would you be content to spend half of your school day hovering over your television deciphering the words of wisdom being transmitted to you from the robot on the other side of your screen? Will your thirst and desire for an education be satisfied through this mechanical student-teacher relationship?

Television as a tool of education undoubtedly has its enthusiastic supporters and violent opponents. It has become a vital part of some school systems, and has been rejected by others. It has been seen as a solution to many of our major problems of education, and just another complication in an already complicated field. The pressures of the times, the growth and expansion of this university, deny to education the luxury of making a costly error, either an error of omission or commission to such an instrument.

Instructional television can be used for good and evil purposes, depending upon the people at the controls. It opens the window of the world to you and to the entire community by bringing far-away people and places into the dormitory or living room. If properly applied, it can enrich the life of the entire nation by bringing vivid and vigorous reports of local, national, and world events to the individual by authorities who can interpret these events in an intelligent and objective manner.

We cannot deny that television is one of the most powerful and persuasive means of communication ever devised by man, and that it has already produced a profound revolution in American education and the life of man. If properly used, it can help relieve the present problems and approaching crisis confronting SIU. If continued to be used in its present condition, the result will prove a worthless expense. The success of instructional television is largely dependent on recognizing the fact that it has not one, but many variant applications, and on exploiting the right one in the right situation.

We must decide what is more important, what we teach, or how we teach it.

Too Good For The Average Man

by Lucius Beebe

-Territorial Enterprise, Virginia City, Nev.

There is a good deal of boohoo going the rounds in academic circles of the land about the decline of students in the fields of the liberal arts and the ever increasing enrollments in technical schools and colleges. Specially lamented by the academicians are vocational high schools where students in their teens learn to be automobile repairmen or glasscutters with hardly a nod in the direction of grammar and no exposure at all to history. Educators and exponents of the humanities like Dr. Robert Hutchins, contend that this trend toward the most debased and ignorant pursuits of organized society are "because we are too lazy to live like human beings." Eventually, say the educators, this sort of things fits its graduates for nothing more than bleak existence in a slave state of the mind and body.

Granting this to be true, is it necessarily evil? For at least the last half century, thoughtful educators have occasionally found themselves wondering if the wholesale outshopping of educated Pygmals by our schools and universities has any eventual justification. Of what proper use is a concept of the theory of values to a man headed for the turret lathe? And is a knowledge of Tacitus really useful to a steamfitter? Haven't our colleges, in a word, undertaken the education and shaping of more gentlemen than society can absorb?

It may be that the removal of liberal education from the realm of quasi-democratic exploitation, where it has often been mistakenly worn like a tailcoat on a millhand, will restore genuine learning and scholarship to the estate of privilege and respect they have always deserved and until very recently occupied. What special justification, many distinguished thinkers have asked, is there for making Homer--any more than caviar or dancing pumps--available to what passes as "the common man?" There never has been enough of the truly rare and good things of life to go 'round and education is certainly one of them.

The truly privileged classes of all time have not been the possessors of seagoing yachts, Alban villas or seats in the House of Lords, or coat armor, boxes at the opera or shooting ledges in Scotland.

They have been the few to whom the realms of the spirit, or imagination, beauty and wisdom have been opened by long and diligent study of the best examples of the intellect in literature, the fine arts, classical humanities, philosophy and history.

If, willingly and of their own accord, without coercion and contrary to the every invitation or society, an overwhelming number of young people renounce these privileges and abdicate all claim on the good way of life, why attempt to argue them out of a fixed determination to be inferior? If education, once the most prized symbol of freedom and of free men, is going begging, why not leave it to the wise and perceptive who cherish it? It always was, like birth control and fole gras, in the words of the Cole Porter lyric, too good for the average man.

If a ponderable proportion of society actually prefers to live in the night of the spirit and inhabit the subcellars of an industrial age, and of its own volition rejects the best that is freely available to it, why bother? The loss to the many is the inestimable gain of the perceptive and happy few.

Letter To The Editor:

Students Believe Much Assigned Work

Is Irrelevant To Education Courses

In the last few issues of the Egyptian much has been said about the inadequate preparation of our students for the task of teaching. Unfortunately we must agree with all that has been said.

It is a well known fact that most of the work assigned in education courses is completely irrelevant to the subject matter. For instance, what is the point of spending hours at the library writing reports which are of no value in learning how to teach. Up to this date in our college careers, we neither one have learned anything which will be of value in teaching. The most helpful course in the education series is the one methods course in the student's major field. However, this course is not really that helpful since the student does not receive actual classroom teaching experience. We suppose that student teaching is considered actual teaching experience, but why should students in the surrounding area be the guinea pigs for student teachers who are not adequately prepared to teach.

For years English professors have been wondering why students in the 100 level English course write such poor themes and are so poor in simple grammar. To us, one of the biggest reasons for the lack of good everyday grammar is the fact that these students were taught by teachers, who had no conception as to what grammar is and how it should be taught.

In other words we feel that no busy work and more practice should be the motto of the education courses on this campus as well as every other campus of the United States. We also feel that there is a great need for the correct teaching of grammar to all future teachers because it is essential that all teachers use correct grammar at all times.

Saluki Netmen Face Wisconsin In Quest Of 9th Straight Win

Seeking its ninth victory of the season against no setbacks, SIU's tennis squad faces the University of Wisconsin today at the University Tennis Courts in a 2 p.m. match.

The Salukis, who took advantage of a five day rest after playing three days in a row, hope to keep their eight game winning streak on the line. Coach Dick LeFevre's netmen have a winning streak of nine dating back to last year when they beat Western Michigan.

The Badgers finished a disappointing seventh in last year's strong Big Ten tennis tournament, but are expected to field a stronger outfit this season. The Salukis have already knocked off three Big Ten foes, Ohio State, Minnesota and Iowa. Only the Hawkeyes were able to score points against SIU, losing to the Salukis 7-2.

LeFevre was correct when he said "They can possibly beat us at the number one and two spots but not at the four, five and six positions." The Spengelmeier brothers, Bob and Roy, have gone undefeated at the number three and four singles, posting records of 8-0. The five and six spots have been manned by Wilson Burge and George Domenech with both players turning in unblemished 7-0 slates.

LeFevre has finally settled on his doubles combinations and has gone three matches with the duos of Castillo-R. Spengelmeier, Lumsden-B. Spengelmeier and Burge-Domenech.

The latter two tandems have gone undefeated in those three matches against Notre Dame, Iowa and Western Michigan. But Castillo and Roy Spengelmeier were downed in three tough sets to Iowa's Wilkinson and Dave Strauss.

The Salukis meet one of the strongest tennis teams in the country tomorrow and Saturday, when they host Lamar Tech in afternoon matches.

SIU Team Second In Midwest Judo Meet

SIU finished second in the Midwest College Judo Association Tournament held here last week.

Ohio State University was the team winner and Roosevelt University (Chicago) finished third.

In the white belt division Southern had three individual winners, Terrill Wercom won the 140 pounds and under division. Mike Mitchell placed third in this division for Southern.

Robert Blum finished second in white belt's 141-60 pound class. The division was won by Frans Thuyns of Ohio State.

Frank Bates took first place for Southern in the 161-80 pound class.

SIU swept the first three places in the 181 pounds and over category. Gene Schmidt, Robert Cepuder and Ed Purcell finished one-two-three respectively.

In the brown belt division Southern did not score. Ohio State took one first place as did St. Louis University.

There was no black belt competition because SIU had the only participants. They didn't want to compete against each other so the division was scratched.

SIU would have won the team championship if its two black belts had elected to compete, according to Cecil Franklin, who is the advisor to the team.

Franklin added that Cepuder was outstanding as a beginning white belt in defeating one of Ohio State's brown belt entries. He also said that Frank Bates looked good in beating a brown belt in the five-man team competition.

Southern has only dropped three match points thus far, with two losses coming in singles play and one in doubles competition. Ironically, LeFevre's number one and number two singles players have been handed losses. Lance Lumsden was defeated by Iowa's Steve Wilkinson in two sets and captain Pacho Castillo lost in a singles match to Tulsa University.

Student Leader Help Wanted

SIU students who want to help further Southern's friendly gestures to new students, are urged to sign up now to help in the Student Leader program.

Bonnie Garner, chairman of the New Student Week Leaders, said applications for assignments in the Fall Quarter will be taken at the University Center Information desk.

Requests for information on acetone research conducted at SIU have been received from 28 countries, according to J. W. Neckers, chairman of the Department of Chemistry.

Student leaders write personal letters to prospective students during the summer and act as guides when the new students arrive on campus.

Saluki Freshman Baseball Squad Opens Season Against Belleville

BOB SPACKMAN

SIU Trainer Writes Book On Baseball

Bob Spackman, SIU trainer, has written a book on the teaching of baseball fundamentals and techniques which will be published this month.

The book will be published by the U.S. Naval Institute and will be added to the Naval sports library. The Navy library consists of books on each sport and the fundamentals and techniques of each.

Spackman wrote the book while he was playing eight years of minor league baseball. He took the pictures for the book while he was a trainer with the St. Louis Browns (now Baltimore Orioles) of the American League.

Cost of the book is not known.

Athletics Lead Faculty Bowling

Chemistry II challenged Athletics in the SIU faculty men's bowling league but now wish they hadn't.

Athletics couldn't field a team Monday evening so the Chemistry team thought it would be more inspiring to meet head-on.

As it turned out the only inspiration was to Athletics as they coasted to two game victories. Athletics also received the series point by a margin of 137 pins.

Four teams have been mathematically eliminated from title contention in the league. The teams are Air Force, Agriculture, Forest Service and Economics.

Athletics still has a firm hold on first place with 61 points. Chem II is second, four and one-half points behind the league leaders. Rehabilitation Institute is third with 54 1/2.

Industrial Education is fourth with 49 points. In fifth place is Chemistry I, one and one-half points behind.

Industrial Education rolled the team high series with 2860 pins and the team high game of 1053. Bill Shields bowled the individual high series of 562. James Mowry rolled the high game of 210.

Galbreath Named Editor

Edwin C. Galbreath, associate professor of zoology, has recently been appointed editor of the "Transactions of Illinois Academy of Science."

The scientific quarterly is comprised of scientific papers written primarily by the Illinois Academy of Science, an association of a number of Illinois scientists.

The majority of the papers cover all fields of science.

SIU's freshman baseball team is preparing for its season opener. The first year Salukis open their season Tuesday at Belleville Junior College.

Dave Tosh and Bob Hardcastle are coaching the first-year men. Tosh is a former catcher and Hardcastle an infielder.

"We have a six-game schedule," Tosh said after a practice session earlier this week. "We will play Belleville two doubleheaders and Paducah (Ky.) a twin-bill."

"We are preparing the athletes for next year in hopes they can help the varsity," Tosh added. "What it really amounts to is a training program where they learn the fundamentals and techniques of Glenn Martin's baseball strategy."

"It also gives the boys a chance to play baseball which they enjoy," Tosh said.

Midland Hills Golf Course Opens Saturday

The Midland Hills golf course will open for all golfers April 27. The new course is located five and one-half miles south of Carbondale on U. S. highway 51.

The course has been renovated by Carbondale Community high school coaches, John Cherry, Reid Martin and Gordon Butler. It has been idle for 20 years.

The new nine-hole course will have green fees of $1.25 for the first nine. Then if the golfers want to go again a charge of 75 cents will be made.

On weekends green fees will be $1.50 and $2.50.

The course is in fine shape," John Cherry said. "It has a good growth of grass and once we get the fairways rolled it will be in great shape."

The longest hole for the golfers will be a 450-yard par 5. It is uphill all the way and will match wits with the best golfers.

Par for the nine hole course will be 35.

Cherry, Martin and Butler started building the course last summer and have completed it in time for the golfing season.

Warden Addresses Dairy Society Meet

Warden Ross V. Randolph of the Menard Branch, Illinois State Penitentiary, will be guest speaker April 18 at a Mt. Vernon meeting of the Southern Illinois Dairy Technology Society, says David Wieckert, associate professor of animal industries who is acting secretary.

The organization, composed of representatives from dairy products plants in southern Illinois, will meet at 7 p.m. in the L&N cafe.

Randolph, who plans to discuss prison management, has headed the Menard staff for ten years. A central Illinois native, he has been in law enforcement work since 1932 when he accepted a deputy sheriff position at Clinton, Ill.

He also spent 11 years with the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a special agent.

SIU's freshman squad was cut from 40 men to 25 Tuesday.

"After our season ends we will send some of the more deserving and capable players up to the varsity for the remainder of the season," Tosh commented. "In this way they will become more familiar with Mr. Martin's strategy and gain valuable experience by working with the varsity."
