The non-competitive placement test for those interested in applying for Peace Corps service, lasts from 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 hours. It is the first step in applying.

To take the test, applicants should bring with them a completed Peace Corps questionnaire if they have not previously mailed one to Peace Corps headquarters.

The questionnaire and further information about the Peace Corps may be obtained from Thomas Oliver, supervisor of the Counseling and Testing Center. Questionnaires may also be obtained from the Carbondale Post Office.

Basic requirements for all applicants are that they be American citizens and at least 18 years of age.

There is no upper age limit. Married couples may apply if they have no dependents under 18. A college degree is not required, but college or vocational training increases an applicant's potential contribution.

Dudman Raps Latin Policy Of Johnson

The Johnson Administration has made a number of serious "bungles" in handling Latin American affairs in recent months, a foreign correspondent charged in a campus speech.

Richard Dudman, foreign correspondent for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, warned that if the administration doesn't stop dwelling on free enterprise in its dealings with Latin American countries it will "sweeten the pot" for Castro and others who are trying to swing Latin America into the leftist camp.

Dudman spoke to some 300 persons at the first Journalism Week banquet in the University Center Ballroom Thursday night. The banquet was jointly sponsored by the Southern Illinois Editorial Association and the Department of Journalism.

In recounting what he called the administration's "bungles," Dudman cited the United States' quick recognition of the military government that seized control of Brazil recently.

"Both President Johnson and Secretary of State Rusk said publicly that it was a fine constitutional change in government," Dudman recalled. "Actually it was a military (Continued on Page 8)

Commission Defers Rezoning, Passes Construction Requests

Southern's request for rezoning of the South East section of Carbondale was deferred till October by the Carbondale Plan Commission at a two hour session Wednesday night April 15.

This action was taken at the request of John Rendleman, SIU general counsel, in anticipation of putting that area under urban renewal.

"If urban renewal is successful, dismiss the request entirely," said Rendleman.

Earlier in the discussion, John I. Wright expressed concern that delaying the zoning of that area "was a way of getting the property cheaper." He objected to designating the area a blight area.

William Buins, director of Community Conservation Board, explained that "people who feel that the University can purchase property cheaper from urban renewal authority are 100 per cent mistaken." He pointed out that the part that would go to property owners would be based on "proper market value."

In another action, the commission passed a motion by Mrs. Barbara Rendleman, chairman of the zoning committee, to approve two requests for dormitory construction. Approval was given to the Egyptian Dormitory Land Trust to build a dormitory at 508 to 510 S. University to be joined to the existing dormitory. It will house about 80 students. Stearn Clark's request for a 64 student dormitory at 418 to 420 S. Graham was also approved.

The commission also accepted a report on a bond issue for recreational facilities in Carbondale. Kenneth R. Miller, chairman of the plan on bond issue, outlined the plan which calls for $375,000 on bond.

"This will not give us the community building and swimming pool we need," Miller said. He expressed a hope that in about 1 1/2 years, a bond issue for these facilities would be taken.

The plan calls for neighborhood park facilities of three categories: for little children, teenagers and young people, and for adults.

FOUR EXAMPLES (ABOVE) OF FINK'S WORKS, IN MITCHELL GALLERY

"I TRY TO MAKE EACH LINE SAY AS MUCH AS IT CAN SAY," FINK SAID

How 'Real' Is Artist's View of Things?

Herbert L. Fink of SIU Discusses 'Painting', 'Landscapes'

By Rona L. Talcott

Why would an artist choose to paint in a way different from what appears as reality?

This is a frequent question for many people when looking at abstract forms.

"The artist is constantly looking for new ways of saying things," says Herbert L. Fink, chairman of the Art Department. His work is currently on exhibit in the Mitchell Gallery.

"I have been painting seriously since '38," Fink said. "The more you become involved in a discipline, the more real it becomes. Paintings are not paintings, but actual landscapes."

Fink walked over to a large painting that was done in blacks and browns, a composition with calligraphic line quality. It was part of his Mounds series, paintings he had been inspired to do by a group of men in Mounds, Ill., who played jazz music with combs, kazooos, and home made instruments.

He pointed to lines in the painting. There were people, horses, instruments, and tools. "If you have eyes to see," he said, "you can follow the lines of the painting and see or feel the Mounds setting."

"I try to make each line say as much as it can say." Although some of his drawings and lithographs in the show were detailed and portrait-like, Fink said, "As much can be communicated with a single line as with a

Discussing the intricacy of his work, Fink said, "I try to make the complexity of my work equal the complexity of life. But at the same time, I try to bring order to life."

Fink's show includes drawings, prints, and paintings. Although he has won several awards for his prints, he has not done a print in a year and a half.

"The use of different media is a cyclic thing. Right now, I am doing a series of paintings composed of black areas and white lines. There is a problem in getting true blacks and true whites," he said.

The general direction of Fink's work is determined by each work. A print or painting is started with an idea, but the work will take its own form and direction. Evaluating his present work, Fink gets ideas for the next. "One work begets another."

With Fink's rigorous schedule as chairman of Southern's growing Art Department, it is difficult to conceive that he finds any time for his own art.

"You don't find time...you make it. I start by getting up very early. Before the day even begins, I have been working in my studio for two hours," Fink said.

"At home I become husband, father, what have you." When his children are in bed and his wife is reading, he continues his work in a quiet studio in his home.

ARTIST CHECKS HIS WORK - The Painting above illustrates Fink's statement: "Paintings are not paintings but actual landscapes." At

Surgery on DeGaulle Termed Successful

PARIS--President Charles de Gaulle underwent surgery Friday for a prostate gland disease.

A bulletin issued by three doctors described the 73-year-old president's condition afterward as "very satisfactory."

A communique issued at Elysee Palace, said that De Gaulle "underwent an operation this morning for a disease of the prostate. This surgical intervention had been decided several weeks ago."

A medical bulletin said: "The operation took place normally. The condition of Gen. de Gaulle is very satisfactory."

It was signed by Drs. Pierre Aboulker, Roger Parlier and Jean Lassner.

Aboulker, one of the country's leading urologists, performed the operation, assisted by Parlier and Lassner.

The announcement did not disclose the length of the operation, but some well-informed sources said it lasted as long as an hour and 50 minutes.

The news, which caught the nation by surprise, recalled in dramatic fashion the precarious nature of the country's one-man rule. Only Thursday night, millions saw and heard the president, in evident good form, on a prerecorded nationwide radio-television broadcast.

Medical authorities in Paris say De Gaulle will have to remain in the hospital a week or 10 days and then rest for two to four weeks. There was no sign that he intended to step out of the presidency. According to the signs, he intends to seek another seven-year term in next year's national elections.

In his recorded speech, he spoke with customary vigor and seemed in good physical condition. The speech was broadcast at 8 p.m., and an hour later the president was entering the Left Bank Cochon Hospital to prepare for the operation.

Mrs. de Gaulle, who accompanied her husband to the hospital, was staying near him. A strong police guard sealed off one floor of the hospital wing where De Gaulle was treated.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam--U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrived Friday and declared South Viet Nam will have peace when Red China and Communist North Viet Nam "have been taught to leave their neighbors alone." He pledged continued U.S. aid.

Rusk immediately opened talks with U.S. officials.

Robert Manning, assistant secretary of state for public affairs, told reporters Rusk will leave Monday morning instead of noon Sunday as had been originally planned.

Rusk went from the airport to the U.S. Embassy in downtown Saigon to confer with U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and the commander of the American military forces in Saigon.

A private citizen nine years ago his arrival marked the first time a secretary of state had put foot on Vietnamese soil while in office.

Second Beckwith Murder Trial Also Ends in Deadlocked Jury

JACKSON, Miss.--A second white Mississippi jury deadlocked Friday in the Byron De La Beckwith murder trial and Circuit Judge Leon Hendrick again declared a mistrial.

It marked the end of the state's second effort to convict Beckwith, a dedicated segregationist, of the murder of Negro integration leader Medgar Evers.

The jury said it was hopelessly deadlocked after 10 hours of deliberation. It gave no breakdown of how it stood.

Beckwith's first trial ended Feb. 7 with the jury split 6-6.

Judge Hendricks called the jurors into the courtroom at 11:30 a.m. and polled them as to whether they thought there was any chance of a verdict.

The emphatic replies ranged from "It doesn't look too good" to "I wouldn't think so" and "No, sir."

"I have never been in favor of forcing a verdict," the silver-haired 69-year-old judge said. "I have never been in favor of wearing out 12 men such as you are. You are dismissed."

Hendrick ordered Beckwith remanded to the sheriff and returned to jail.

The judge said the case would be continued to May term of court.

Khrushchev Expresses Hope For Peking Reconciliation

MOSCOW -- On his 70th birthday, Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared Friday he will never break relations with Red China but will "always leave an opportunity for rapprochement and understanding."

It was his second speech of a day that saw many of his old friends and leaders of the Soviet bloc gathered about him in the Kremlin. Earlier in the day he received his country's highest medal, Hero of the Soviet Union. At that ceremony, he made a fumbling little talk saying that a man of his age has little time left. But he promised to work on for the people, declaring no one should yield to old age. Then after receiving the highest decorations of the Soviet bloc nations, Khrushchev launched into the issue uppermost in the minds of world communism--the angry dispute with Peking.

Unlike his speech on Wednesday, when he denounced Mao Tse-tung and other Red leaders by name, Khrushchev did not mention the Chinese directly. He said the Soviet Communist party had always worked for Communist unity.

Red China joined other nations in sending birthday greetings to Khrushchev, predicting their differences will pass. But Moscow radio never got around to mentioning it until noon and it has not yet appeared in the papers.

Committee Cuts Defense Funds

WASHINGTON--The House Appropriations Committee steered clear of the Pentagon controversy over relative U.S. and Soviet military might as it recommended $46,759,267,000 in new funds for the Defense Department for the fiscal year starting July 1.

This is $711,733,000 less than President Johnson requested but enough, the committee said in its report, "to continue the maintenance of the strongest military establishment in the peacetime history of the United States."

Long-Smoldering Rail Crisis Near Showdown

Compiled by Associated Press

The current railroad strike threat is no sudden, unforeseen crisis.

The dispute has been smoldering for four years. Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson all have had to deal with the possibility of a general rail strike over the work rules controversy which brought the railroads to within 87 minutes of a nation-wide shutdown just a week ago.

Intense negotiations have been in progress this week not far from the watchful eye of President Johnson.

The end of a 15-day moratorium will come at midnight next Friday; if no agreement has been reached, the strike will begin at one minute after midnight.

The dispute began when the carriers demanded the elimination of certain diesel firemen's jobs and a reduction in the size of certain crews. "Feather-bedding," the carriers claimed, is costing them hundreds of millions of dollars annually.

Jim Berryman, Washington Star

"WHATEVER YOU PITCH, DON'T MAKE IT A STRIKE!"

Last August, when the railroads prepared to put the controversial work rules changes into practice, the unions threatened a strike.

A shutdown was averted when Congress intervened, banning a strike for six months and referring the two major issues to a special arbitration board.

In November the board ruled that the railroads could eliminate 90 per cent of the firemen's jobs and referred the question of the size of crews to further arbitration by individual railroads.

The unions challenged the award and it was upheld by the U.S. Court of Appeals and then taken on up to the Supreme Court.

The unions have been trying to break the united front of the railroads by maneuvering for individual contracts. Such a move against the Illinois Central Railroad 10 days ago precipitated the present crisis.

Public opinion seems to be with the railroads. Many impartial observers have voiced a belief that most of the disputed jobs constitute little more than featherbedding, from which the railroads deserve relief.

A strike could have a serious effect on the national economic situation.

About 200,000 rail workers would be directly involved, and another 500,000 carrier employees would be out of work if the lines shut down.

At least 3 million other persons probably would be laid off in industries relying on rail transportation. Mail service would be curtailed, shortages of some consumer goods would occur and exports would begin to drop.

Administration economists believe a 30-day walkout would reduce the gross national product by $75 billion, and even with a quick rebound at the strike's end, the GNP would show a $25 billion loss for the quarter in which the strike occurred.

The probable effects of a nationwide strike are quite serious. Because of this, Congress may again be called on to enact arbitration legislation if the unions and railroad management cannot come to an agreement themselves.

Trade With Cuba

LONDON - A report that a British steel company is negotiating to sell Cuba heavy cranes has threatened a new dispute between the United States and Britain.

The Daily Mail reported the British firm, Steel & Co., was negotiating a $1.4-million contract with Fidel Castro's government.

The Cummins Engine Co., of Columbus, Ind., whose British subsidiary has supplied Steel & Co. with a dozen diesel engines in the past year, announced that if the Cuban deal goes through it will stop selling to the British firm.

A spokesman for Steel & Co. retorted that "We could use other makes if we wanted to." The report also brought a protest from the U.S. Embassy that such a deal would be "a contravention of U.S. Treasury and export regulations."

Presidential Race

WASHINGTON -- Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon appears headed for another shot at the White House, newspaper editors from across the nation forecast.

They think Minnesota Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey or Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy will team up with President Johnson on the Democratic ticket.

Nixon, Humphrey and Kennedy were rated the front-runners in an informal Associated Press poll of 150 editors, here Thursday for the convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

But many of the newsmen said they couldn't hazard a guess at this stage of the 1964 political wars.

Only a few expect either Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to win the Republican nomination.

Henry Cabot Lodge, the ambassador to South Viet Nam, ranked second to Nixon—but with fewer than half as many editors in his column.

Johnson at Far-Ranging Press Parley Indicates He'll Run

WASHINGTON - At a far-ranging news conference Thursday President Johnson came closer than ever before to confirming that he'll run for president in November.

The conference was heavily attended, and, as he took note, was well-advertised in advance. It was carried live on radio and television.

Johnson also said that the economy and defense are both in good shape and called again for prompt passage of the civil rights bill now being debated in the Senate.

"We will pass the civil rights bill because it is morally right," he said.

At the same time he deplored extreme measures that would seek to dramatize their cause by civil disobedience tactics.

"We do not, of course, condone violence or taking the law into your own hands, or threatening the health or safety of our people," he said. "You really do the civil rights cause no good when you go to this extent."

"We do not think the violation of one right, or the denial of one right, should permit the violation of another right."

Johnson seemed relaxed and confident as he talked, slowly and often with a half-smile, of the problems facing him as president and declared:

"I'm enjoying the job and I'm prepared to continue."

That was one of several references tying him closer to the almost universally accepted belief that the Democrats will nominate him in August to run for president in November. Up to Thursday, however, he hadn't admitted even the possibility he might run.

He said at one point that he expects the presidential campaign to be "a hard fight, a difficult one." But he quickly added with a grin: "I would hope that it wouldn't be too close, but it may be."

Johnson opened his news conference with the joking reassurance that "I did not drive myself over here," a reference to the stories that have been coming out about his fast driving on Texas roads.

He also said:
1. The nation's Gross National

Williams, Detroit Free Press

"WHO'S THE WISE-GUY?"

Product rose in the first quarter of 1964 to an annual rate of $608.5 billion, up $8.5 billion from the fourth quarter of 1963. The Gross National Product is the sum of all goods and services produced in the nation.

2. "We are making real progress in cutting down unemployment. We had a net gain of 1.5 million jobs from a year ago. The jobless rate dropped from 5.8 to 5.4 per cent."

One early question dealt with the public argument revolving around Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Air Force Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, with LeMay saying the U. S. edge over Russia has been narrowing.

"I am pleased with our strength," Johnson replied. "I think we have made great gains during the last three years."

In discussing the national economy, the President remarked that while employment and production have climbed to record highs, prices have remained firm.

Labor has gained more than four million jobs and $56 billion annual income, he went on, while business has gained a 50 per cent profit after tax. At the same time, he said, prices have remained more stable than anywhere else in the world.

American business under the circumstances does not need high price levels, Johnson said. So he said he looks to responsible business and labor to help maintain price stability and lead the way to a balanced budget and a strong enough competitive stance in world trade to wipe out the balance-of-payments deficit.

Scholarship Program

Johnson announced he is establishing a program of presidential scholars, for secondary school graduates, public and private. This is to encourage precious brainpower and intellectual pursuits, he said.

The scholars would be chosen by a presidential commission, headed by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, Leonard Bernstein, Katherine Anne Porter, and others.

He said the commission would operate with complete independence and would be named in May of this year.

Game at Arkansas State

Vincent Will Lead On Mound Today

A pair of strong-armed righthanders, John Hotz and Gene Vincent, may dominate Southern's pitching chores this season if they continue to perform in the same manner that they have since the Salukis returned home from their spring tour.

With the regular season just four games old, Hotz and Vincent already have worked 30 of SIU's 34 innings and are likely choices to draw starting assignments when the Salukis challenge Arkansas State in a double header tomorrow at Blytheville, Ark.

The Hotz-Vincent combination has been amazing this season as it has limited the opposition to a scant six runs and 16 hits while gaining credit for all four SIU victories. Hotz, a junior from Webster Groves, Missouri, has yet to allow an earned run in 17 innings on the mound while Vincent, a Rockport, Indiana, sophomore, has given up just three earned runs in 13 frames.

The hot Saluki pitching duo fared well against Arkansas State last season when they posted identical 4-1 won-loss records. Hotz claimed a 1-0 shutout over the Indians and Vincent a 3-1 triumph.

Offensively, outfielders John Siebel and Kent Collins and infielders Bob Bernstein, Jim

Long and Gib Snyder have been playing key roles for Coach Glenn (Abe) Martin's undefeated club.

Siebel, Southern's number hit collector last season when he had 30 safeties in 100 times at bat, was a major factor in last Saturday's twin victories over Kentucky Wesleyan, The Lemay, Mo., junior went 2-for-5 in Vincent's 9-2 opening win and 3-for-4 during Hotz's 13-0 shutout.

Bernstein, a junior from Chicago, currently leads the Salukis in batting with a solid .467 average and has shown veteran poise at his third base position.

JOHN HOTZ

ASSISTANT BASEBALL COACH Bob Hardcastle, former Saluki star, now mans the third base line for the Salukis as an assistant to Abe Martin.

Cost of the trip will be $112 for students and $120 for others.

The price will include a round-trip airline fare on a chartered airline; five days and four nights lodging at a New York hotel; admission to the hotel swimming pool; admission to the World's Fair; tickets to Radio City Music Hall and a television broadcast; yacht tour around Manhattan Island; lecture tour of United Nations; bus transfer service between hotel and airport; and complete handling of luggage and tips.

Undefeated SIU Golfers Play Evansville College on Monday

SIU's undefeated golf team, 3-0 in dual match competition this season, travels to Evansville, Ind., Monday for an afternoon meet with Evansville College's Purple Aces.

Coach Lynn Holder's Salukis, bolstered by the return of veteran Gene Carello, will challenge a weak Evansville squad which has won only one of three contests this season.

The undefeated Southern crew met Washington University of St. Louis here Friday afternoon at the Crab Orchard Golf Course but the results of the meet were not known in time for publication in today's Daily Egyptian.

Heading the Saluki attack against the Purple Aces are stalwart veterans Gene Carello, John Krueger and Jim Place. Carello, a West

Tennis Star Lance Lumsden Invited to Play in Davis Cup

Lance Lumsden, varsity member of the SIU tennis team, has been invited to participate in the Davis Cup tournament in Venezuela early next month.

Lumsden, a native of Jamaica, received a long-distance telephone call this week inviting him to return this year. He played in the tournament a year ago, in which his team lost to Ecuador, 3-2.

Teams from all over the world participate in the tournament. Jamaica, Lumsden's home, is a member of the Caribbean Island group, which sends three players to the tournament.

The Davis Cup tournament is considered the top tennis tournament and is the highest level of competition for tennis players. "It's like the Olympics," Lumsden exclaimed.

His participation in the event would require his absence for about 10 days, he said, and would mean that he would be forced to miss two SIU matches, one with Indiana, a top competitor.

coup and nothing else."

He added that it quickly turned into a military dictatorship which has taken away constitutional guarantees of a number of important persons in Brazil "many of whom were no further left than liberal."

Another "bungle," according to Dudman, was Johnson's quibbling over the language involved in statements concerning our differences with Panama recently.

"The President was too inflexible in refusing a commitment to revise the Panama Canal Treaty when everyone knows we are to revise the treaty," Dudman said.

Dudman said that although the State Department and the administration have denied it, the United States obviously has embarked upon a new policy toward Latin America.

Under the policy we have indicated that we will no longer withhold recognition in cases of a military coup.

"Brazil is the first major application of that new policy," Dudman said. "Our recognition of the new military government is an indication that because of American investments in Latin America, we are going to pay less attention to democracy in Latin American countries and more attention to stability."

Dudman, who recently returned from a tour of Latin America, said the United States continues to push "free enterprise" in Latin America although to those nations it is synonymous with Yankee imperialism.
